Absentee Balloting in the 2010 General Election

This report was prepared in accordance with Minnesota Statutes, section 203B.28 which requires that the Office of the Minnesota Secretary of State prepare a statistical report related to absentee voting in the most recent general election. In 2010, new legislation was implemented that fundamentally altered the way that absentee ballots are processed in Minnesota. The fact that these changes, which are outlined below, had a positive impact on absentee voting in Minnesota is clearly illustrated in the numbers provided in this report. For instance, the success rate for all absentee voters who submitted an absentee ballot before Election Day was 97%. Of the military and overseas voters who submitted their ballots prior to Election Day, the success rate was 99%. While this report concerns itself primarily with the numbers of absentee ballots accepted and rejected and the reasons for rejection, the voters who benefitted from these legislative changes included the 3,960 voters who had one or more initial ballots rejected, but who were ultimately successful in casting an absentee ballot. It is these experiences, combined with the high number of ballots submitted and accepted prior to Election Day, which point towards progress in Minnesota's absentee balloting process.

The 2010 legislative changes streamlined the absentee balloting process while creating stricter standards for acceptance. For example, voters now must strictly comply with the instructions for completing the absentee ballot certificate found on the absentee ballot envelope. In the past, local election officials may have provided voters with some leeway, if for example a husband and wife served as witnesses for each other's ballots and neglected to provide their address in the witness section (since it is the same as the voter's address that already appears on the envelope) or the voter forgot to date his or her signature. This is no longer an option. If voters fail to provide any of the required information, their ballots must be rejected. As one would expect, this led to an increase in the percentage of ballots that were initially rejected.

However, provisions of the law which allow election officials to more quickly review and process absentee ballots and to thereby quickly issue replacement ballots to voters who had initially erred, helped to make up for this high initial rejection rate. Local election officials are now required to have teams of specially-trained election judges, known as absentee ballot boards, review the absentee ballots envelopes within days of arrival to determine whether they met the legal requirements for acceptance or whether the voter had made an error that would require the ballot to be rejected. If a voter's ballot was rejected more than five days before the election, the local election official was required to send the voter a new "replacement" ballot, along with an explanation of the error that had caused the ballot to be rejected. Thus giving the voter another chance to get their ballot counted. 3,960 voters benefited from this new practice and had an absentee ballot accepted and counted, after having their initial ballot rejected. If a voter's ballot was rejected in the last five days before the election, the local election official was required to attempt to notify the voter by phone or email. 378 voters whose absentee ballots were rejected must have received this notification because they managed to go to their polling places and cast their ballots in person.

Another significant change to the absentee ballot process was ending the primary reliance on having election officials match signatures on the absentee ballot application with the voter's signature on the absentee ballot certificate, replacing it with matching identification numbers instead. This change was adopted for domestic voters after it worked well for military and overseas voters starting in 2008. Local election officials and election judges are not trained in handwriting analysis and found determining whether signatures matched a challenging and subjective task. Matching identification numbers, on the other hand, is objective. Domestic absentee voters are now asked for a Minnesota driver's license number, a state-issued identification card number, or the last four digits of their Social Security Number, or to indicate that they do not have any of these numbers, on both their absentee ballot application and the certificate printed on their absentee ballot envelope. Matching the identification numbers is one step in accepting or rejecting an absentee ballot. If the numbers do not match, absentee ballot board members then compare the signatures. If neither match, the ballot must be rejected.

Changes to the absentee voting process for military and overseas absentee voters began prior to the 2008 election. At that time, the legislature enacted nearly all of the recommendations of the U.S. Department of Defense for streamlining the voting process for these voters, the most important of which was authorizing the electronic transmission of ballots to voters (the ballots must be printed out and returned by mail). As a result, the success rate of military and overseas voters improved greatly in the 2008 election.

In the 2010 election, there were two additional and significant changes that impacted this population of voters. One was the adoption of U.S. Department of Defense's final major recommendation: move the primary to a date earlier in the year to provide at least a 45-day absentee ballot period. The legislature moved the primary to the second Tuesday in August. This amount of time is the minimum necessary to transmit ballots to many overseas voters, if they are going to have any chance of returning them prior to Election Day. A longer absentee balloting period allowed more voters to return their ballots by Election Day with fewer ballots arriving after Election Day. In 2010, only 140 ballots from military and overseas voters arrived after Election Day; compare this to 535 in 2008.

The other significant change affecting military and overseas voters relates to the length of time for which an absentee ballot application is valid. Prior to 2010, absentee ballot applications for military and overseas voters were good for two federal election cycles or four years. In 2010, this was changed by Congress and in state statute so that voters now must submit an application each calendar year in which they are interested in voting. As one would expect, the number of voters who received ballots for the 2010 election was significantly lower than the number who received them for the last mid-term election, since voters who applied to vote in the 2004 presidential election automatically received ballots in 2006. However, the percent of those who received ballots and returned them by Election Day increased dramatically: from 24.8% to 63.6%.

The 2010 legislative changes to the way in which absentee ballots are processed also required that in state elections all ballots must be tracked in the Statewide Voter Registration System. This has allowed this Office to develop an on-line tool so that voters can look up the status of their absentee applications and ballots. This allowed thousands of voters the ability to quickly know if a ballot had been accepted or rejected and to equally as quickly, respond accordingly. The other benefit of using the Statewide Voter Registration System is that it makes a report such as this possible. Please note that this report reflects the data entered by county auditors and municipal clerks and can only be as accurate as their data entry.

This mandated report is concerned with the number of absentee ballots accepted and rejected and the reasons for rejection. While these numbers are important to know, it is equally important, if not more important, to know how many voters were ultimately able to cast ballots, and how many found the new requirements insurmountable. As such, this report provides both the number of rejected ballots by county and precinct as well as the number of voters who were ultimately not successful at having an absentee ballot accepted and counted. Because some voters have more than one ballot rejected before successfully casting an absentee ballot, these numbers provide clearer insight into how these 2010 legislative changes translated into successful voting rates for absentee voters. In this set of numbers, to ensure that voters are only accounted for once, a voter who had multiple ballots rejected will only be counted in the category in which their latest ballot was rejected. If their last ballot was not rejected, but received late, they are instead accounted for in that category.
