

Reprinted by permission of the Star Tribune (Minneapolis, MN).

REP. EDWARD J. VOLSTAD

Minneapolis' 32nd district

Rep. Edward J. Volstad always seems in a hurry and always busy during a legislative session. The lanky house member from the 32nd district of Minneapolis goes into his eighth straight session, due again to be one of the liberal group's policy-makers, in his appropriations committee spot. Mpls. Star

Volstad

He was vice chairman in 1955 and chairman of the subcommittee that made first-hand inspections of all of the state's hospitals, prisons and teachers colleges.

He is chairman of the public institutions committee, a member of the all-important house rules committee and those on labor, public domain, commercial transportation and veterans and military affairs.

Volstad, 61 on Jan. 2, is a World War I veteran, active in the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, and in World War II was chief air raid warden. He is a Mason, member of the Shriner Legion of Honor, the Holy Trinity Men's club, Y.M.C.A., president of the Pioneers and Soldiers Cemetery association and on the board of governors of the Big Island Veterans Rest camp. Jan. 7 1957

He and his wife, Esther, live at 3327 Twenty-fifth avenue S. Volstad has two married daughters.