Mild-mannered Rep. George A. French is one of the key strategists among house conservatives, highly skilled in the parliamentary jousting that so often means victory or defeat for a legislative proposal.

The Minneapolis lawyer is French back for his ninth consecutive term from the city's 33rd district.

French, 55, has had experience on practically every committee in the house. During conservative control he regularly headed the insurance committee and sat on the influential rules committee.

He also was a member of the legislative research committee, and was chairman of it from 1951 to 1953.

He is a graduate of Minneapolis West high school, received both engineering and law degrees from the University of Minnesota and was admitted to the bar in 1925. He has been active in the Republican party, serving in various offices including roles as delegate to county and state conventions. Mpls. Star
