To State Government Finance and Policy Committee Members
From Colbey Sullivan, Legislative Analyst
Subject Agencies Within the Committee's Jurisdiction

This document provides a brief summary of agencies within the jurisdiction of the State Government Finance and Policy Committee, including a guide to the major laws governing the organization and duties of each agency.

Legislature

The legislative branch consists of three separately funded entities: the House, the Senate, and the bicameral Legislative Coordinating Commission (LCC).

The LCC oversees joint legislative offices and commissions such as the Legislative Reference Library, the Office of the Legislative Auditor, and the Revisor of Statutes. By law, leadership of the LCC rotates between the House and Senate every two years. For the 2025-2026 legislative session, the speaker of the House chairs the LCC.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Constitution, article IV

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 3

Governor and Lieutenant Governor

The legislature funds the Offices of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor as a single joint entity.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Constitution, article V

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 4

State Auditor

The state auditor conducts audits and other activities related to the oversight of local government finances. The constitutional Office of the State Auditor is separate from the Office of the Legislative Auditor, which is an office within the legislative branch that reviews the programs and finances of state government entities.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Constitution, article V

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 6

Attorney General

The attorney general is responsible for representing the state's legal interests in court and in other legal proceedings. The law requires a particular focus for the attorney general's office on consumer issues. The attorney general may also assist local county attorneys in the prosecution of criminal matters, at the county attorney's request.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Constitution, article V

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 8

Secretary of State

The secretary of state's highest-profile role is the administration of elections, but the secretary is also responsible for a variety of other programs and functions, including overseeing business registrations, notaries public, the Safe at Home program, the state's open appointments process, and the receipt and maintenance of certain official state documents.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Constitution, article V

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 5 (including general duties and business filings)

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 5C (Safe at Home program)

Minnesota Statutes, chapters 200-212 (Elections administration)

State Board of Investment

The State Board of Investment is responsible for managing the investment of state assets, including state pension funds, consistent with goals and duties provided by law. The board consists of the governor, state auditor, secretary of state, and the attorney general.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Constitution, article XI, section 8

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 11A

Office of Administrative Hearings

The Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) is an executive branch agency that performs a variety of functions related to the implementation of administrative law. This includes overseeing rulemaking procedures, conducting contested case proceedings, hearing complaints and claims related to government data practices, political campaign practices, and worker's compensation laws, and considering requests for municipal boundary adjustments. Much of this work is conducted in hearings conducted by an administrative law judge (ALJ). In some respects, these hearings have the look and feel of a traditional district court, but the scope of work and jurisdiction of the OAH relies on statutory authority that is significantly more narrow.

The office is led by a chief administrative law judge appointed by the governor.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, section 14.48

Department of Information Technology Services

The Department of Information Technology Services (MNIT) is responsible for managing and overseeing information technology services and projects across state government. Most state agencies, boards, and commissions in the executive branch are now subject to the jurisdiction of MNIT. The department is the product of a law first enacted in 2011 to consolidate all state IT services into a single state agency (prior to the consolidation, each agency was responsible for its own IT staff and services).

The department is led by a commissioner, who also serves as state chief information officer, appointed by the governor.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 16E

Department of Administration

The Department of Administration provides numerous services related to the operation of state government. Many of these services are designed specifically to facilitate the work of other state agencies with more public-facing missions. Among the major duties of the Department of Administration are oversight of state contracting laws, development and enforcement of state grantmaking policies, and management of buildings and facilities that are state-owned or state-leased. The department also houses or facilitates the work of a number of small departments, offices, and services.

The Department of Administration also operates as the pass-through agency for grants to public television and public radio stations in the state.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 16B

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 16C (state contracting)

Capitol Area Architectural and Planning Board

The Capitol Area Architectural and Planning Board (CAAPB) is responsible for preserving and enhancing the State Capitol, and the grounds and buildings immediately adjacent to it.

The board consists of the lieutenant governor, four appointees of the governor, three appointees of the mayor of St. Paul, two members of the House of Representatives, and two members of the Senate.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 15B

Minnesota Management and Budget

Minnesota Management and Budget (MMB), formerly referred to as the Department of Finance, is responsible for monitoring and administering state finances, including development and implementation of the biennial state budget and preparation of biannual state budget forecasts. MMB also negotiates state employee labor contracts and manages the State Employee Group Insurance Program.

In addition to appropriations for MMB operations, the state government finance bill includes appropriations for two accounts administered by MMB:

- General Contingent Accounts. The contingent accounts receive small appropriations available for unexpected costs during a fiscal year. Spending from these accounts requires approval of the governor and consultation with the bicameral Legislative Advisory Commission.
- Tort Claims. The tort claims account receives a small appropriation to support payment of state liabilities if an agency is found liable for damages and does not have sufficient resources to pay the full amount of damages owed.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 16A

Department of Revenue

The Department of Revenue is responsible for administering state tax and aid laws. The department collects various taxes, distributes refunds, awards state aid payments to local units of government, oversees the uniform application of state property tax law by local units of government, and collects nontax debt owed to state agencies and local units of government.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 270C

Gambling Control Board

The Gambling Control Board is responsible for a variety of duties related to the regulation of lawful gambling in Minnesota. These duties include the licensing, registration, and permitting of certain gambling activities.

The board consists of seven members: five appointed by the governor, one appointed by the commissioner of public safety, and one appointed by the attorney general.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 349

Racing Commission

The Racing Commission is responsible for overseeing laws governing horse racing and card playing, including issuing licenses to employees of horse racing tracks in the state and ensuring safety standards are met. The commission also promotes horse racing and breeding as a tool for economic development in the state.

The commission consists of nine members appointed by the governor. It maintains offices at Canterbury Park and Running Aces.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 240

State Lottery

The State Lottery promotes, administers, and oversees the integrity of various authorized games of chance, ranging from scratch-off tickets to the major multistate lotto drawings, and the awarding of lottery prizes.

The State Lottery is led by a director appointed the governor.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 349A

Minnesota Amateur Sports Commission

The Minnesota Amateur Sports Commission (MASC) is responsible for promoting the economic and social benefits of amateur sports in Minnesota. The MASC's highest profile activity is its governance of the Amateur Sports Center in Blaine, but it has supported the development of several other sports venues throughout the state. It also organizes the annual "Star of the North" games.

The commission administers Minnesota Skate Park grants and grants for local ice facilities known as the James Metzen Mighty Ducks grant program.

The commission consists of 14 voting members: a total of ten voting members are appointed by the governor, two are appointed by the commission itself, and one each are appointed by the House speaker and Senate majority leader. Additionally, four legislators (one from each caucus within both houses) serve as nonvoting members.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 240A

Minnesota's "Ethnic Councils"

Three councils, often referred to informally as the "Ethnic Councils," exist to provide a voice for implementation of economic, social, legal, and political equality for their constituent communities. Each council is specifically tasked with providing advice to the governor and the legislature on issues confronting their communities, and to serve as a liaison between state government and organizations that serve their communities.

The three Ethnic Councils are as follows:

- Council for Minnesotans of African Heritage
- Council on Latino Affairs
- Council on Asian-Pacific Minnesotans

Each council consists of 15 voting members: 11 are appointed by the governor, and four are legislators appointed by the legislative leadership in each body.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, section 15.0145

Indian Affairs Council

Though sometimes perceived as one of the state's "Ethnic Councils," the Indian Affairs Council is organized under a separate statute. It serves a similar, but still distinct, mission compared to the Ethnic Councils as a liaison between tribal governments and the state.

The council consists of eleven members designated to represent the federally recognized Tribes of Minnesota, and seventeen nonvoting members representing various departments of state government, including the legislature.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, section 3.922

Council on LGBTQIA2S+ Minnesotans

Established in 2023, the Council on LGBTQIA2S+ Minnesotans consists of 16 voting members: 12 public members appointed by the governor; and four legislators appointed by the leadership in each body. The council's duties include advising the governor and legislature and working for the implementation of economic, social, legal, and political equality for Minnesota's community of people who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, gender expansive, queer, intersex, asexual, or two-spirit.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, section 15.0147

Minnesota Historical Society

The Minnesota Historical Society (MNHS) is a nonprofit corporation, originally chartered in 1849 by Minnesota's then-territorial legislature. The society maintains a large collection of historic artifacts related to Minnesota's history, including the official state archives, and supports or operates numerous museums and historic sites across the state, including the Minnesota History Center and the State Capitol. It is engaged in ongoing preservation and educational work related to state history. The MNHS's operations are supported by a state appropriation in addition to private donations and sponsorships.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Historical Society Charter (1849)

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 138

Minnesota Board of the Arts

The State Arts Board is responsible for stimulating and encouraging the creation, performance, and appreciation of arts within the state. Among other activities, the board supports or administers several arts-related grant programs, including grants from the Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund authorized as part of the 2008 state constitutional amendment commonly referred to as the "Legacy" amendment.

The board consists of 11 members appointed by the governor.

Major governing laws:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 129D

Minnesota Humanities Center

The Minnesota Humanities Center is a nonprofit organization established by law, directed to "advance the study of humanities and enhance the work of schools, colleges, and cultural organizations throughout the state." In addition to appropriations provided by law, Humanities Center programs are supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the state constitution's Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund. The Humanities Center also administers grant programs to facilitate programs and activities related to the work of the humanities by private organizations.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, section 138.991

Board of Accountancy

The Board of Accountancy is the regulatory body with oversight over the practice of accounting by Certified Public Accountants, Registered Accounting Practitioners, and others. It adopts standards of practice, including continuing education requirements, issues certifications and registrations, and has authority to enforce the laws governing the practice of accounting.

The board consists of nine members appointed by the governor.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 326A

Board of Architecture, Engineering, Land Surveying, Landscape Architecture, Geoscience, and Interior Design

The Board of Architecture, Engineering, Land Surveying, Landscape Architecture, Geoscience, and Interior Design (AELSLAGID) adopts professional standards, issues licenses and certifications, and enforces the laws and rules governing the practice of the various professions within its jurisdiction.

The board consists of 21 members appointed by the governor.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, sections 326.02-326.15

Board of Cosmetologist Examiners

The Board of Cosmetologist Examiners adopts professional standards and enforces laws governing the practice of cosmetology. It issues licenses for cosmetologists, nail technicians, estheticians, eyelash technicians, hair technicians, advanced practice estheticians, salon managers, and instructors. It also issues licenses for salons offering cosmetology services. Individuals engaged in the practice of hair braiding are exempt.

The board consists of seven members, appointed by the governor.

Major governing law:

Minnesota Statutes, chapter 155A

Board of Barber Examiners

The Board of Barber Examiners adopts professional standards and enforces laws governing the practice of barbering. It administers the registration process for barbers, barber shops, and barber schools providing services in the state.

The board consists of five members, appointed by the governor.

Major governing law:

Minnesota State Pension Plans

Direct state aid for the major state pension plans is generally supported through appropriations in the state government finance bill. Most new policy funding provisions for the state's pensions plans are contained in a separate pension policy bill, and staff typically track those costs separately. In general, a pension bill is recommended to the legislature each session by the Legislative Commission on Pensions and Retirement, a joint commission of the LCC.

State pension plans receiving appropriations in the state government finance bill are:

- Minnesota State Retirement System (MSRS)
- Public Employees Retirement Association (PERA)
- Teachers Retirement Association (TRA)
- St. Paul Teachers Retirement Fund
