Reported the same back with the following amendments:

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

"Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1976, Chapter 181, is amended by adding a section to read:

[181.81] Subdivision 1. (a) Normal retirement date, when used in this section, means the date, if any, which the employer, or the employer and employee or his representative jointly, designate as the date on which all affected employees must mandatorily cease service unless the employee exercises the option granted by this section to continue service.

(b) It is unlawful for any employer, public or private, excluding the United States government and any of its instrumentalities, to refuse to hire or employ, or to discharge, dismiss, reduce in grade or position, or demote any individual on the grounds that the individual has reached a designated retirement age, except in cases where other state statutes, not including enactments of only local or special application, or federal statutes compel or specifically authorize such action.

(c) Every employer shall notify an employee in writing at least 90 days but no more than 120 days prior to the employee's normal retirement date, if any, of his option to continue employment beyond that date. The notice shall state in a conspicuous manner that the employee must respond to the notice within 30 days or the right to continue employment beyond the normal retirement date may be waived. If the employee notifies the employer in writing within 30 days after the employer's notice to the employee of the employee's desire to continue employment beyond the normal retirement date the employer must allow such employment consistent with the requirements of this section. Such employment shall continue for as long as the employee desires or until the employer demonstrates that the employee no longer can meet the bona fide requirements, consistently applied, for the job or position.

(d) Regardless of whether or not a normal retirement date as defined in clause (a) exists for an employee, if there exists a date on which the accrual of pension benefits or credits, or the contributions therefor by the employee or the employer, or the employee's employment related health and welfare benefits or insurance coverages are diminished or eliminated by virtue of the employee attaining a certain age, the employer shall notify the employee of the changes at least 90 but not more than 120 days prior to the effective date of the change. If a normal retirement date exists for an employee and that date is the same as the date on which pension credit accrual or health and welfare benefits or contributions are modified the notice required by this clause shall be given contemporaneously with the notice required in clause (c). This section, in and of itself, shall not be construed to require any change in funding or benefit levels of any pension or retirement plan, or to require any employer to increase an employer's or employee's payment for the provision of insurance benefits contained in any employee benefit or insurance plan.

Subd. 2. (a) The commissioner of labor and industry shall advise any inquiring parties, employee or employer, of their rights and duties under this section. Further, the commissioner may attempt to conciliate any disputes between employees and employers over the application of or alleged violations of this section.

(b) Any party aggrieved by a violation of this section may bring suit for redress in the district court wherein the violation occurred or in the district court wherein the employer is located. If a violation is found the court in granting relief may enjoin further violations and may include in its award compensation for any period of unemployment resulting from the violation together with actual and reasonable attorneys fees, and other costs incurred by the plaintiff.

(c) When a suit is commenced alleging a violation of this section the plaintiff may in the same suit attempt to show that a violation of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 363, has also occurred and that relief under that chapter is also appropriate, providing all the procedural requirements of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 363, have been met. Alternatively when a charge is filed or a suit commenced alleging a violation of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 363, the plaintiff may in the same suit attempt to show that a violation of this section has occurred and that relief under this section is also appropriate. In either case, when determining whether or not a violation of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 363, has occurred the court shall incorporate the substantive requirements of this section into any duties and rights specified by Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 363.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1976, Section 356.32, is amended to read:

time of mandatory retirement; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall prevent the actuarial reduction of an annuity for which application is made prior to normal retirement age.

Subd. 2. [COVERED FUNDS.] The provisions of this section shall apply to (THE FOLLOWING RETIREMENT FUNDS:)

[AGE.] By law or published retirement policy, a mandatory retirement age may be established without being a violation of chapter 363, provided such an age limit is established pursuant to a requirement or specific authorization found in some other state statute, not including enactments of only local or special application, or federal statute. In determining whether a mandatory retirement violates chapter 363 the provisions of section 181.81 shall be applicable. Nothing in this chapter nor in section 181.81 shall prohibit employee pension and retirement plans from granting pension credit to employees over the age of 65 at a lesser rate than is granted to other employees, provided that in no event may an employee's accumulated pension credits be reduced by continued employment, and further provided that no other state or federal law is violated by the reduced rate of pension credit accrual. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prohibit the establishment of differential privileges, benefits, services or facilities for persons of designated ages if (a) such differential treatment is provided pursuant to statute, or (b) the designated age is greater than 59 years or less than 21 years.
