“Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1986, section 363.061, is amended to read:

363.061 [ACCESS TO CASE FILES.]

Subdivision 1. [GENERAL PROVISIONS.] Notwithstanding section 13.39, and except as provided in section 363.06, subdivisions 6 and 8, the availability of human rights investigative data to persons other than department employees is governed by this section.

Subd. 2. [ACCESS TO OPEN FILES.] (a) Human rights investigative data on an individual, with the exception of the name and address of the charging party and respondent, factual basis of the allegations, and the statute under which the action is brought, contained in an open case file is classified as confidential. The name and address of the charging party and respondent, factual basis of the allegations, and the statute under which the action is brought are classified as public data unless the commissioner determines that release of the data would be detrimental to the investigative and enforcement process.

(b) Human rights investigative data not on an individual contained in an open case file is classified as protected nonpublic data.

~~(c) Notwithstanding this subdivision, the commissioner may make human rights investigative data contained in an open case file accessible to a person, government agency, or the public if access will aid the investigative and enforcement process.~~

Subd. 3. [ACCESS TO CLOSED FILES.] (a) Human rights investigative data on an individual contained in a closed case file is classified as private, with the exception of the following documents: the name and address of the charging party and respondent, factual basis of the allegations, and the statute under which the action is brought, the part of the summary of the investigation that does not contain identifying data on an individual other than the complainant or respondent, and the commissioner's memorandum determining whether probable cause has been shown.

(b) Human rights investigative data not on an individual contained in a closed case file is classified as nonpublic.

(c) Notwithstanding this subdivision, the commissioner may make human rights investigative data contained in a closed case file inaccessible to the charging party or the respondent in order to protect medical or other security interests of the parties or third persons.

Subd. 4. [COMMISSIONER'S DISCRETION.] Notwithstanding the classifications of data established by this section, the commissioner may make human rights investigative data contained in either an open or closed case file accessible to a person, government agency, or the public if access will aid the investigative and enforcement process.

Subd. 5. [CHARGING PARTY ACCESS.] Data, comprised of materials and documentation provided by a charging party that is part of either an open or closed case file, shall be accessible by the charging party in accordance with Minnesota Statutes, section 13.04, subdivision 3."
