“Section 1. [PUBLIC POLICY.] It is hereby declared to be the public policy of the state of Minnesota that:

(1) Public confidence in the integrity of government and the impartiality of its members is a prerequisite of representative democracy. To maintain responsible state government, the legislature must foster a moral climate in which public officials reach judgments based solely on consideration of the public good. To that end, the public interest is best served when full disclosure is made of the identity and expenditures of persons who engage in substantial efforts to persuade governmental officials to take specific actions;

(2) Public officials shall not use their official positions to obtain financial gain for themselves, their households, or any organizations with which they are associated in a manner which violates the public trust;

(3) Major political campaign contributions and expenditures should be fully disclosed to the public;

(4) Disclosure of major political campaign contributions and expenditures serves the public interest by (a) preventing corruption and undue influence and (b) revealing the sources of campaign financing to the public as well as thereby facilitating future informed decisions regarding alternative methods of public and private financing;

(5) Although small individual contributions to a candidate are unlikely to have a corrupting influence, a number of small contributions from an individual or small contributions from a number of associated individuals may when cumulated have a corrupting influence. Thus there is a compelling state interest in requiring the disclosure of all contributions of $50 or more in the case of legislative campaigns and $100 in the case of campaigns for statewide office;

(6) Limitations upon campaign expenditures are necessary to control the spiraling amount of money required to campaign for public office and to ensure that no individual is denied the opportunity to run for public office for financial reasons;

(7) Candidates for public office and elected officials should not be under the influence of those persons who make large contributions to political campaigns.

Any person violating any provisions of this subdivision is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Subd. 8. The treasurer of a political committee or political fund shall not accept a contribution of more than $100 from a political committee or political fund not registered in this state unless the contribution is accompanied by a written statement, stating the name and address of each person who contributed (a) in excess of $50, if the contribution or contributions are made directly to the principal campaign committee of a candidate for legislative office, or (b) in excess of $100 if the contribution or contributions are made to any other political committee or political fund. Notwithstanding subdivision 2, clause (a), a candidate for the nomination to the office of lieutenant governor at the convention of a political party may spend $30,000 or five percent of the amount in subdivision 2, clause (a), prior to the time of nomination. This money shall be in addition to the money which may be expended pursuant to subdivision 2, clause (a).

Subd. 4. Notwithstanding subdivision 2 with respect to the 1974 general election, expenses incurred prior to the effective date of this act shall be counted against the spending limitations imposed by subdivision 2.

No political committee, political fund, or individual, except a political party or the principal campaign committee of a candidate shall make expenditures on behalf of a candidate, or transfer funds to the principal campaign committee of a candidate, in an amount in excess of ten percent of the amount that may be spent by or on behalf of that candidate as set forth in section 28.

For the purpose of this section, the term "price index" means the average over a year of the consumer price index (all items, United States city average published monthly by the United States bureau of labor statistics).
