"Section 1. [SCIENTIFIC ADVISORY TASK FORCE.]

The public utilities commission shall appoint a scientific advisory task force for the purpose of conducting a research project that would identify the potential for, and examine the actual effects of current in the earth, originating from the utility distribution systems, on dairy cow production and health. The task force shall be advisory to the commission and consist solely of representatives selected by the commission from the scientific community as described in section 2. The task force may not include representatives from the utilities or other parties with a financial interest in the outcome of the research.

The public utilities commission may only contract with independent researchers to conduct research recommended by the scientific advisory task force. "Independent" is defined as researchers who have not been employed or contracted by, or received funding from, either public or municipal utilities, or cooperative electric associations for purposes of research or investigation of stray voltage.

Sec. 2. [TASK FORCE; MEMBERSHIP AND RESPONSIBILITIES.]

(a) The commission shall appoint a representative from the scientific community to serve as executive director of the task force. The executive director shall provide administrative oversight and direction to the task force in fulfilling its responsibilities under this act. The executive director shall consult with, and make recommendations to, the commission regarding its appointment of task force members.

(b) The task force shall consist of at least five members. The task force shall include members with education and scientific specialties that include, but are not limited to: physics, electrical engineering, animal physiology, veterinary medicine, physiological psychology, soil science specializing in the electrical nature of soil, and epidemiology.

(c) The task force created under this act shall:

(1) review existing information from other sources, including other states and dairy producers or farm organizations, on the use of the earth for carrying current and its effects on animal health and production and on human health;

(2) study the use of the earth for carrying current and its effects on animal health and production;

(3) determine the qualifications of researchers and make recommendations to the public utilities commission on their selection;

(4) explore the availability of nonstate and nonutility funds for new research under clause (2);

(5) recommend, set scope of, and oversee the conduct of new research under clause (2);

(6) submit study results for proper scientific peer review; selection; and

(7) make findings or recommendations regarding potential actions to mitigate or eliminate any effects found from current in the earth on dairy cow production or health.

Sec. 3. [SCHEDULE; REPORTING.]

(a) Before June 30, 1995, the task force shall:

(1) complete the review of existing information under section 2, paragraph (c), clause (1); and

(2) complete items required under section 2, paragraph (c), clauses (3) and (4).

(b) By January 1, 1995, the task force shall recommend to the legislature the design, scope, and estimated cost of the study of the earth for carrying current under section 2, paragraph (c), clause (2).

(c) Before June 30, 1996, the task force shall complete the study required under section 2, paragraph (c), clause (2), upon approval of the legislature based on recommendations presented under paragraph (b).

Sec. 4. [SURVEY OF FACILITIES.]

The public utilities commission shall determine, by survey or questionnaire, or other appropriate methods, the age and condition of electric distribution facilities in the state. The task force shall determine the extent to which these facilities use the earth as a conductor of electric current, whether intentionally or unintentionally, and shall study the risks to dairy animal health and welfare associated with the practice of bonding distribution system conductors to the earth in connection with a study conducted under section 2. The commission may, in accordance with Minnesota Statutes, chapter 13, order the production of any records, maps, plans, or any other documents, testimony, or recollections, relating to stray voltage, ground current, or similar phenomenon, of any owner or operator of any distribution facility or any employee of any owner or operator or any other person with knowledge related to the issue of using the earth to conduct electric current.

Sec. 5. [DATA PREPARATION.]

A dairy producer or group of producers receiving funding for data preparation under section 7, shall complete the preparation of its data for review by the task force under section 2, paragraph (c), clause (1), and submit applicable reports and recommendations to the task force within 90 days of receiving financial assistance.

Such information presented for review shall be considered public.

Sec. 6. [STRAY VOLTAGE ASSESSMENT TEAM.]

A stray voltage assessment team shall be formed to deal rapidly with emergency situations possibly associated with the effects of stray voltage. The public utilities commission shall configure an interdisciplinary team to be paid for under contracts for service. The team must be responsive to the individual needs of farmers and address stray voltage problems including assessment of distribution lines. The team may also assist the farmer in farm management. A stray voltage team must include at least one farmer experienced in stray voltage problems.

Sec. 7. [ASSESSMENT.]

To provide funding for the commission's activities under this act, the public utilities commission shall assess a total of up to $750,000 under Minnesota Statutes, section 216B.62, against entities that transmit electric current in the state that are public utilities, cooperative electric associations, or municipal utilities. The assessment must be deposited in the general fund. This is intended to be over and above the amounts already authorized under Minnesota Statutes, section 216B.62, subdivision 3.

Sec. 8. [APPROPRIATIONS.]
