House File No. 307 is an invasion of privacy of the constitutional right of citizens to secure privately owned premises from uninvited solicitors and other callers.

Ct. 479).

For the above, and other pertinent reasons, the undersigned wish to make the foregoing a matter of public record and, therefore, call for this dissent to be spread on the pages of the Senate Journal.

The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply with respect to deductions allowed under section 290.077 (relating to income in respect of decedents). In the event that the election made for federal tax purposes under section 642(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1970 differs from the election made under this paragraph appropriate modification of the estate's federal taxable income shall be made to implement the election made under this paragraph in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

PROTEST AND DISSENT

Pursuant to the provisions of Article IV, Section 16, of the Minnesota Constitution, the undersigned requests that the following dissent and protest be spread on the Journal of the Senate.

The undersigned member of the Senate, dissents and protests the action of the Senate on Senate File No. 488, for the following reasons:

Prior to passage of Senate File No. 488 I advised the Senate that in my opinion it is unconstitutional to exempt any particular race from a criminal statute and that even if it were constitutional, it would not be good legislation. No one disputed the fact that such a classification is unconstitutional and I protest the passage of such laws.

For the above, and other pertinent reasons, the undersigned wishes to make the foregoing a matter of public record and, therefore, call for this dissent to be spread on the pages of the Senate Journal.

Dated: April 9, 1973

The notice shall state the time and place of hearing, the general nature of the proposed improvement, the estimated cost thereof and the method by which the cost of the improvement is to be paid, including the cost to be allocated to each affected municipal corporation or the state of Minnesota or any department thereof. Not less than ten days before the hearing, notice by mail shall be given to the director and to the municipal corporations wholly or partly within the improvement project area, but failure to give mailed notice or defects in the notice shall not invalidate the proceedings. At the time and place specified in the notice the managers shall hear all parties interested in the proposed project

S. F. No. 1353: A bill for an act relating to community corrections; authorizing a state subsidy to local units of government for providing community based corrections services; prescribing the powers of the commissioner of corrections; appropriating funds therefor.

Reports the same back with the recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof:

“Section 1. Subdivision 1. [PURPOSE.] For the purpose of more effectively protecting society and to promote efficiency and economy in the delivery of correctional services, the commissioner is hereby authorized to make grants to assist counties in the development, implementation, and operation of community based corrections programs including, but not limited to preventive or diversionary correctional programs, probation, parole, community corrections centers, and facilities for the detention or confinement, care and treatment of persons convicted of crime or adjudicated delinquent.

Subd. 2. [DEFINITION.] For the purposes of this act, “commissioner” means the commissioner of corrections or his designee.

Sec. 2. Any county, or group of contiguous counties situated within the same region designated pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Sections 462.381 to 462.396, may qualify for a grant as provided in section 1 by the enactment of appropriate resolutions creating and establishing a corrections advisory board and providing for the preparation of a comprehensive plan for the development, implementation and operation of the correctional services described in section 1 of this act, including the assumption of those correctional services other than the operation of state institutions presently provided in such counties by the department of corrections, and providing for centralized administration and control of those correctional services described in section 1 of this act.

Where counties combine as authorized in this section, they shall comply with the provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Section 471.59.

Sec. 3. The commissioner shall, as provided in Minnesota Statutes, Sections 15.0411 to 15.0422, promulgate rules for the implementation of this act, and shall provide consultation and technical assistance to counties to aid them in the development of comprehensive plans.

Sec. 4. Any county or group of counties electing to come within the provisions of this act may (a) acquire by any lawful means, including purchase, lease or transfer of custodial control, the lands, buildings and equipment necessary and incident to the accomplishment of the purposes of this act, (b) determine and establish the administrative structure best suited to the efficient administration and delivery of the correctional services described in section 1, and (c) employ a director and such other officers, employees and agents as deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of this act. To the extent that participating counties shall assume and take over state correctional services presently provided in such counties, preference shall be given to the employment of those state officers, employees and agents thus displaced; if hired by a county, such employment shall, to the extent possible, be deemed a transfer in grade with all of the benefits enjoyed by such officer, employee or agent while in the service of the state.

Sec. 5. Any county or group of counties electing to come within the provisions of this act, may, through their governing bodies, use unexpended funds, accept gifts, grants and subsidies from any lawful source, and apply for and accept federal funds.

Sec. 6. No county or group of counties electing to provide correctional services pursuant to this act shall be eligible for the subsidy herein provided unless and until its comprehensive plan shall have been approved by the commissioner. To remain eligible for subsidy the county or group of counties shall substantially comply with the operating standards established by the commissioner. The commissioner shall review annually the comprehensive plans submitted by participating counties, including the facilities and programs operated under the plans. He is hereby authorized to enter upon any facility operated under the plan, and inspect books and records, for purposes of recommending needed changes or improvements.

When the commissioner shall determine that there are reasonable grounds to believe that a county or group of counties is not in substantial compliance with minimum standards, at least 30 days notice shall be given the county or counties and a hearing held to ascertain whether there is substantial compliance or satisfactory progress being made toward compliance. The commissioner may suspend all or a portion of any subsidy until the required standard of operation has been met.

Sec. 7. Subdivision 1. The corrections advisory board provided in section 2 of this act shall consist of no more than 17 members, who shall be representative of law enforcement, prosecution, the judiciary, education, corrections, ethnic minorities, the social services, and the lay citizen, and shall be appointed as follows:

(1) the law enforcement representation shall consist of a sheriff, and a chief of police (selected by the chiefs of police of the county), or their respective designees;

(2) the prosecution representative shall be either the county attorney or his designee;

(3) the judiciary representatives shall be designated by the chief judge of each district and county court district, and shall include judges representative of courts having felony, misdemeanor and juvenile jurisdiction respectively;

(4) education shall be represented by an academic administrator appointed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners with the advice and consent of the members of the board;

(5) the director of a county welfare board or his designee;

(6) the public defender or his designee;

(7) with the advice and consent of the other members of the county board, the chairman shall appoint the following additional members of the corrections advisory board:

(a) one parole or probation officer;

(b) one correctional administrator;

(c) a representative from a social service agency, public or private;

(d) an ex-offender;

(e) a licensed medical doctor;

(f) at least four citizens, provided, however, that if the ethnic minorities resident in the county exceed the percentage of ethnic minorities in the state population, at least two of the citizen members shall be members of an ethnic minority group.

Subd. 2. Members of the corrections advisory board appointed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners shall serve for terms of two years from and after the date of their appointment, and shall remain in office until their successors are duly appointed. The other members of the corrections advisory board shall hold office at the pleasure of the appointing authority.

Subd. 3. Where two or more counties combine to come within the provisions of this act the joint corrections advisory board shall contain representation as provided in subdivision 1, but the members comprising the board may come from each of the participating counties as may be determined by agreement of the counties. The board may elect its own officers.

Subd. 4. The corrections advisory board provided in this act shall actively participate in the formulation of the comprehensive plan for the development, implementation and operation of the correctional program and services described in section 1 of this act, and shall make a formal recommendation to the county board or joint board at least annually concerning the comprehensive plan and its implementation during the ensuing year.

Sec. 8. Failure of a county or group of counties to elect to come within the provisions of this act shall not effect their eligibility for any other state subsidy for correctional purposes otherwise provided by law. Any comprehensive plan submitted pursuant to this act may include the purchase of selected correctional services from the state by contract, including the temporary detention and confinement of persons convicted of crime or adjudicated delinquent; confinement to be in an appropriate state institution as otherwise provided by law. The commissioner shall annually determine the costs of the purchase of services under this section and deduct them from the subsidy due and payable to the county or counties concerned; provided that no contract shall exceed in cost the amount of subsidy to which the participating county or counties are eligible.

Sec. 9. [CORRECTIONS EQUALIZATION FORMULA.] To determine the amount to be paid participating counties during the biennium ending June 30, 1975, the commissioner of corrections will apply the following formula:

(1) All 87 counties will be ranked in accordance with a formula involving four factors:

(a) per capita income;

(b) per capita taxable value;

(c) per capita expenditure per 1,000 population for correctional purposes, and;

(d) percent of county population aged six through 30 years of age according to the most recent federal census.

“Per capita expenditure per 1,000 population” for each county is to be determined by multiplying the number of adults and “youthful offenders” under supervision in each county at the end of the current year by $350. To the product thus obtained will be

(i) the number of presentence investigations completed in each county for the current year multiplied by $50;

(ii) the annual cost to the county for county probation salaries for the current year; and

(iii) 33 1/3 percent of such annual cost for probation officers' salaries.

The total figure obtained by adding the foregoing items is then divided by the total county population according to the most recent federal census.

(2) The percent of county population aged six through 30 years shall be determined according to the most recent federal census.

(3) Each county is then ranked as follows:

(a) on the basis of per capita income the ranking is from the lowest to the highest;

(b) per capita taxable value is ranked from lowest to highest;

(c) per capita expenditure is ranked from highest to lowest.

(d) percent of county population aged six through 30 years is ranked from highest to lowest.

(4) The ranking given each county on each of the foregoing four factors is then totaled and the counties ranked in numerical order according to score.

(5) The total score for each county thus determined is then divided into a median total score. The median total score is the score obtained by that county ranked number 44 in the final ranking. The quotient thus obtained then becomes the computation factor for the county. This computation factor is then multiplied by a "dollar value", as fixed by the appropriation pursuant to this act, times the total county population. The resulting product is the amount of subsidy to which the county is eligible under this act. Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, the commissioner of corrections, after notifying the committees on finance of the senate and appropriations of the house of representatives, may, at the end of any fiscal year, transfer any unobligated funds in any appropriation to the department of corrections to the appropriation under this act, which appropriation shall not cancel but is reappropriated for the purposes of this act.

Sec. 10. The comprehensive plan submitted to the commissioner for his approval shall include those items prescribed by regulation of the commissioner, which may require the inclusion of the following:

(a) the manner in which presentence and postsentence investigations and reports for the district courts and social history reports for the juvenile courts will be made; (b) the manner in which probation and parole services to the courts and persons under jurisdiction of the youth conservation commission and the adult corrections commission will be provided; (c) a program for the detention, supervision and treatment of persons under pre-trial detention or under commitment; (d) delivery of other correctional services defined in section 1; (e) proposals for new programs, which proposals must demonstrate a need for the program, its purpose, objective, administrative structure, staffing pattern, staff training, financing, evaluation process, degree of community involvement, client participation and duration of program.

Sec. 11. Participating counties shall not diminish their current level of spending for correctional expenses as defined in section 1, to the extent of any subsidy received pursuant to this act; rather the subsidy herein provided is for the expenditure for correctional purposes in excess of those funds currently being expended. Should a participating county be unable to expend the full amount of the subsidy to which it would be entitled in any one year under the provisions of this act, the commissioner shall retain the surplus, subject to disbursement in the following year wherein such county can demonstrate a need for and ability to expend same for the purposes provided in section 1.

Sec. 12. Each participating county will be charged a sum equal to the per diem cost of confinement of those persons committed to the commissioner or the youth conservation commission after the effective date of this act, and confined in a state institution. Provided, however, that no charge shall be made for those persons convicted of offenses for which the penalty provided by law exceeds five years, nor shall the amount charged a participating county for the costs of confinement exceed the amount of subsidy to which the county is eligible. The commissioner shall annually determine costs and deduct them from the subsidy due and payable to the respective participating counties. All charges shall be a charge upon the county of commitment.

Sec. 13. Upon compliance by a county or group of counties with the prerequisites for participation in the subsidy prescribed by this act, and approval of the comprehensive plan by the commissioner, the commissioner shall determine whether funds exist for the payment of the subsidy and proceed to pay same in accordance with applicable rules and regulations.

Sec. 14. Subdivision 1. On or before the end of each calendar quarter, participating counties shall submit to the commissioner certified statements detailing the amounts expended and costs incurred in providing the correctional services provided in this act. Upon receipt on certified statements, the commissioner shall, in the manner provided in sections 9 and 11, determine the amount each participating county is entitled to receive, and certify same to the state auditor who shall thereupon draw his warrant upon the state treasurer in favor of the chief fiscal officer of each participating county for the amount shown to be due each county. Thereafter, the state auditor shall transmit the warrant to the appropriate fiscal officer, together with a copy of the certificate prepared by the commissioner.

Subd. 2. The commissioner shall biennially review the ranking accorded each county by the equalization formula provided in section 9 and compute the subsidy rate accordingly."

And when so amended the bill do pass and be re-referred to the Committee on Finance. Amendments adopted. Report adopted.

Subd. 2. (a) Faced with the continuation of mounting costs of health care coupled with its inaccessibility to large segments of the population, the legislature has determined that there is a need to explore alternative methods for the delivery of health care services, with a view toward achieving greater efficiency and economy in providing these services.

(b) It is, therefore, the policy of the state to eliminate the barriers to the organization, promotion, and expansion of health maintenance organizations; to provide for their regulation by the state board of health; and to exempt them from the operation of the insurance and nonprofit health service plan corporation laws of the state except as hereinafter provided.

(c) It is further the intention of the legislature to closely monitor the development of health maintenance organizations in order to assess their impact on the costs of health care to consumers, the accessibility of health care to consumers, and the quality of health care provided to consumers.

Sec. 2. [DEFINITIONS.] Subdivision 1. For the purposes of this act, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the terms defined in this section shall have the meaning here given them.

Sec. 14. [EXAMINATIONS.] Subdivision 1. For any district which receives any other state grants, refunds or aids not available to each and every school district and designed to compensate for nontaxable valuation, except for aids under section 124.801, the foundation aid for the 1971-1972 and 1972-1973 school years shall be reduced by 10 percent of the previous year's payments to the district of such additional aids. Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 275.125, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 2a. (1) In 1973, a school district may levy for all general and special school purposes, an amount equal to the amount raised by the number of mills, not to exceed 30, times the 1972 adjusted assessed valuation of the district that bears the same relation to 30, as the greater sum computed pursuant to section 5, clause (2) of this act, bears to $812.

(2) In 1974, a school district may levy for all general and special school purposes, an amount equal to the amount raised by the number of mills, not to exceed 30, times the 1973 adjusted assessed valuation of the district that bears the same relation to 30, as the sum of the greater sum computed pursuant to section 5, clause (2) of this act, and the greater of (a) one half of the difference that results when such greater sum is subtracted from $852, or (b) $40, bears to $852.

(3) The levy authorized by clauses (1) or (2) may be increased in any amount which is approved by the voters of the district at a referendum called for the purpose. Such a referendum may be called by the school board or shall be called by the school board upon written petition of qualified voters of the district. The referendum shall be held on a date set by the school board. Only one such election may be held in a single school year. The question on the ballot shall be whether a specific amount may be added to that authorized by clauses (1) or (2). If approved, the additional amount shall be authorized for each year until revoked by the voters of the district at a subsequent referendum, which may be called by the school board and which shall be called by the school board upon the written petition of qualified voters of the district unless the petition for revocation is submitted in the same year in which a levy has been increased by the voters pursuant to this clause (3). A petition authorized by this clause shall be effective if signed by a number of qualified voters in excess of 25 percent of the total number of votes cast at the most recent school board election. A referendum invoked by petition shall be held within three months of submission of the petition to the school board unless the petition for revocation is submitted in the same year in which a levy has been increased by the voters pursuant to this clause (3). Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, the approval of 50 percent plus one of those voting on the question is required to pass a referendum.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 275.125, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 3a. In addition to the levy authorized by section 7 of this act, a qualifying district may levy additional amounts as follows:

(2) For authorized school transportation services, an amount not to exceed the amount raised by a levy of one mill times the adjusted assessed valuation of the taxable property of the district for the preceding year.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in clause (5), in 1973, an amount not to exceed the amount per pupil unit, exclusive of post secondary vocational units equal to the difference that results when $812 is subtracted from the district's 1970-1971 adjusted maintenance cost per pupil unit increased by $149, provided that the per pupil unit amount authorized herein shall be reduced by the amount of reimbursement entitlement per pupil unit in average daily membership for 1970-1971 school year programs for handicapped children.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in clause (5), in 1974, an amount not to exceed the amount per pupil unit, exclusive of post secondary vocational units equal to 98 percent, rounded upwards to the next full dollar, of the difference that results when $852 is subtracted from the district's 1970-1971 adjusted maintenance cost per pupil unit increased by $189, provided that the per pupil unit amount authorized herein shall be reduced by the amount of reimbursement entitlement per pupil unit in average daily membership for 1970-1971 school year programs for handicapped children and one-half the state reimbursement attributable to maintenance costs entitlement per pupil unit in average daily membership for 1972-1973 school year secondary vocational programs, and shall be further reduced by the amount of state aid paid for 1973-1974 which but for the operation of section 2 of this act would not have been paid.

(5) For a district having boundaries coterminous with the boundaries of a city of the first class, an amount not to exceed the amount raised by 1.5 mills times the adjusted assessed valuation of the district for the preceding year, provided that beginning with the levy made in 1974, the levy authorized by this clause shall be reduced each year from the amount authorized in the preceding year by $\frac{3}{100}$ of a mill times the adjusted assessed valuation of the district for the preceding year, until the levy authorized in this clause is reduced to zero.

School districts are encouraged to allocate a major portion of the aids that they receive on account of this clause to primary grade programs and services, particularly to such programs and services that involve participation of parents.

If an employer other than the state or any municipal subdivision thereof fails to insure or self-insure his liability for compensation to his injured employees and their dependents, an injured employee, or his legal representatives or, if death results from the injury, any dependent may elect to claim compensation under this chapter or to maintain an action in the courts for damages on account of such injury or death. In such action it is not necessary to plead or prove freedom from contributory negligence. The defendant may not plead as a defense that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow servant, that the employee assumed the risk of his employment, or that the injury was due to the contributory negligence of the employee, unless it appears that such negligence was wilful on the part of the employee. The burden of proof to establish such wilful negligence is upon the defendant. For the purposes of this chapter the state and each municipal subdivision thereof is treated as a self-insurer when not carrying insurance at the time of the injury or death of an employee. The exemption from liability given an employer by this section shall also extend to such employer's carrier and to all employees, officers or directors of such employer or carrier, provided the exemption from liability given an employee, officer or director of an employer or carrier shall not apply in any case where the injury or death is proximately caused by the willful and unprovoked physical aggression of such employee, officer or director."

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 40.02, is amended to read:

40.02 [PUBLIC POLICY; PURPOSE.] As a guide to the interpretation and application of this chapter, the public policy of the state is declared to be as follows. Improper land-use practices have caused and contributed to serious erosion of farm and grazing lands of this state by wind and water and that thereby topsoil is being washed out of fields and pastures and has speeded up the removal of the absorptive top soil causing exposure of less absorptive and less protective, but more erosive, subsoil; and that land occupiers have failed to cause the discontinuance of such practice as creates this condition, and the consequences there of have caused the deterioration of soil and its fertility and the deterioration of crops grown thereon, and declining yields therefrom, and diminishing of the underground water reserve, all of which have caused water shortages, intensified periods of drought, and crop failure, and thus brought about suffering, disease, and impoverishment of families and the damage of property from floods and dust storms; and that all of these effects may be prevented by land-use practices contributing to the conservation of top soil by carrying on of engineering operations such as the construction of terraces, check dams, dikes, ponds, ditches, and the utilization of strip cropping, lister furrowing, contour cultivating, land irrigation, seeding and planting of waste, sloping, abandoned, or eroded lands to water-conserving and erosion-preventing plants, trees, and grasses, and that rapid shifts in land use from agricultural and rural to nonagricultural and urbanizing uses, changes in farm and ranch enterprises, operations, and ownership, construction of housing, industrial, and commercial developments, streets, highways, recreation areas, schools and universities, public utilities and facilities, and other land disturbing activities and accelerated and process of soil erosion and sediment deposition resulting in pollution of the waters of the state and damage to domestic, agricultural, industrial, recreational, fish and wildlife, and other resource uses.

It is, therefore, further declared to be the policy of sections 1 to 13 of this act to strengthen and extend the present erosion and sediment control activities and programs of this state for both rural and urban lands, and to establish and implement, through the state soil and water conservation commission, hereinafter referred to as the "commission", and the soil and water conservation districts, hereinafter referred to as "districts", in cooperation with counties, municipalities and other local governments and subdivisions of this state, and other public and private entities, a statewide comprehensive and coordinated erosion and sediment control program to conserve and protect land, water, air, and other resources of the state. In recognition of the ever increasing demands on the natural resources of the state and of the need to preserve, protect, and develop such resources at such a rate and at such levels of quality as will meet the needs of the people of the state, it is hereby declared that it is for the public welfare, health, and safety of the people of Minnesota to provide for the conservation of the soil and soil water resources of this state, and for the control and prevention of soil erosion and resulting sedimentation, for land use resource planning and development, and for implementation of land protective practices that effectively reduce siltation and loss of the land base through activities associated with farming, mining, construction, forestry, and other activities of man, and for flood prevention or the conservation development, utilization, and disposal of water, including but not limited to, measures for fish and wildlife and recreational development, and thereby ~~preserve~~ conserve and develop natural resources, control floods, assist in the control of pollution, prevent impairment of dams and reservoirs, assist in flood plain and shoreland management, assist in maintaining the navigability of rivers and harbors, ~~preserve~~ conserve natural beauty and wildlife, assist in promoting the development of the recreational potential, protect the tax base, and protect public lands by land-use practices, and protect and promote the health, safety, and general welfare of the people of this state, as herein provided for. It is further declared to be the policy of this state to authorize soil and water conservation districts established under Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 40, to serve as one of the local units of government responsible for the conservation and utilization of the natural resources of this state and competent to administer, in close cooperation with land owners and occupiers, with other local governmental units, and with agencies of the government of this state and the United States, projects, programs, and activities suitable for effectuating the policy of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 40.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 40, is amended by adding a section to read:

[40.031] [SEDIMENT CONTROL ORDINANCE.] Subdivision 1. [RULES AND REGULATIONS.] On or before July 1, 1974, the state soil and water conservation commission after consultation with the Minnesota pollution control agency and in accordance with the administrative procedure act, shall promulgate regulations governing land disturbing activities to control soil erosion and sedimentation. To assist in the development of such program, the commission shall name an advisory board of not less than seven nor more than eleven members, representing such interests as housing, financing, industry, agriculture, recreation, and local governments, and their planning, transportation, health, public works, and zoning commissions or agencies. The regulations shall:

(a) be based upon relevant physical and developmental information concerning the watersheds and drainage basins of the state, including, but not limited to, data relating to land use, soils, hydrology, geology, size of land area being disturbed, proximate water bodies and their characteristics, transportation, and public facilities and services;

(b) include such survey of lands and waters as may be deemed appropriate by the commission or required by any applicable law to identify areas, including multijurisdictional and watershed areas, with critical erosion and sediment problems;

(c) contain conservation standards for various types of soils and land uses, which standards shall include criteria, techniques, and methods for the control of erosion and sediment resulting from land-disturbing activities; and

(d) include a model sediment control ordinance which may be adopted by a county, or a city, village, or borough, hereinafter referred to as municipalities, as its sediment control ordinance, or which may be modified or adopted by a county or municipality to meet its particular needs; provided that every county or municipal sediment control ordinance shall meet the minimum requirements of the regulations of the state soil and water conservation commission.

The regulations shall be made available for inspection at the office of the commission.

Subd. 2. [REVIEW AND RECOMMENDATIONS.] Each district in the state shall by January 1, 1975, review the regulations for erosion and sediment control and the program for implementation of the regulations as promulgated by the commission, and shall make specific recommendations to the counties, cities, villages and boroughs within the district concerning the inclusion of sediment and erosion controls as part of the land and water use controls of the county, city, village or borough.

Subd. 3. [COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL ORDINANCES PERMITTED.] After July 1, 1975, any county that has not enacted a sediment control ordinance for unincorporated areas, and any municipality that has not enacted a sediment control ordinance for incorporated areas meeting the minimum requirements of the regulations provided for in subdivision 1 relating to practices other than agricultural and forest practices may be ordered by the commission, after notice and hearing, to enact such an ordinance. Upon the request of a county or municipality, the commission shall assist in the preparation of the county's or municipality's ordinance. Upon adoption of its ordinance, the county or municipality shall submit the program to the district and to the commission for review and approval. If a county or municipality fails to enact a sediment control ordinance within six months after ordered to do so by the commission, or if the commission at any time thereafter, after notice and hearing as provided in section 105.44, finds that a county or municipality has adopted a sediment control ordinance that fails to meet the minimum standards specified in this subdivision, the commission shall adopt the model sediment control ordinance provisions relating to practices other than agricultural and forest practices to the county or municipality. The commission shall hold at least one public hearing on the proposed ordinance in the manner provided in section 394.26 or 462.357, as applicable, after giving notice as provided in section 394.26 or 462.357, as applicable. The ordinance is effective for the county or municipality on the date and in accordance with such regulations relating to compliance as the commission shall prescribe. Any costs incurred by the commission in adopting the model sediment control ordinance to the county or municipality shall be paid by the county or municipality and such costs may be collected in the manner prescribed in section 105.485, subdivision 5. The governing body of a county or municipality may levy a tax in such amount as may be required to pay the costs of complying with an order of the commission to adopt a sediment control ordinance, including the costs of complying with the provisions of sections 1 to 13 of this act. This tax shall be levied in excess of any limitation as to rate or amount, but shall not cause the amount of other taxes which are subject to any limitation to be reduced in any amount whatsoever.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 40, is amended by adding a section to read:

[40.032] [PROHIBITED LAND-DISTURBING ACTIVITIES.] Subdivision 1. Where a county or municipality has enacted a sediment control ordinance meeting the minimum requirements of section 5 of this act and any regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, and subject to the exceptions provided in subdivision 6 of this section, no person may engage in any land-disturbing activity until he has submitted to the county, for activities in unincorporated areas, or to the municipality, for activities in incorporated areas, a plan for erosion and sediment control for such land-disturbing activity and such plan has been reviewed and approved by the county or municipality, except that (1) when proposed land-disturbing activities are to be performed on state lands or by or on behalf of a state agency, plans for erosion and sediment control shall be submitted to the commission instead of the county or municipality for review and approval, and (2) where land-disturbing activities involve lands in more than one county or municipality, plans for erosion and sediment control may, as an alternative to submission to each county or municipality concerned, be submitted to the commission for review and approval.

Subd. 2. Upon submission of an erosion and sediment control plan to a county or municipality or to the commission:

(a) the county or municipality shall review plans submitted to it and shall approve any such plan if it determines that the plan meets the conservation standards of the county or municipality, and if the person responsible for carrying out the plan certifies that he will properly perform the erosion and sediment control measures included in the plan and will conform to the provisions of sections 1 to 13 of this act;

(b) the commission shall review plans submitted to it and shall approve any such plan if it determines that the plan is adequate in consideration of the commission's guidelines and the conservation standards of the counties or municipalities involved, and if the person responsible for carrying out the plan certifies that he will properly perform the conservation measures included in the plan and will conform to the provisions of sections 1 to 13 of this act.

Subd. 3. When a plan submitted for approval under this section is found, upon review by a county or municipality, or the commission, to be inadequate, the county, municipality, or the commission, as the case may be, may require such modifications, terms, and conditions as will permit approval of the plan.

Subd. 4. Plans shall be acted upon at the first reasonable opportunity. If a plan is not acted upon by the county, municipality, or commission within 35 days after it is submitted, the plan shall be deemed to be approved.

Subd. 5. An approved plan may be changed by the county or municipality which has approved the plan or by the commission when it has approved the plan, where:

(a) inspection has revealed the inadequacy of the plan to accomplish the erosion and sediment control objectives of the plan, and appropriate modifications to correct the deficiencies of the plan are agreed to by the plan-approving authority and the person responsible for carrying out the plan; or

(b) the person responsible for carrying out the approved plan finds that because of changed circumstances or for other reasons the approved plan cannot be effectively carried out, and proposed amendments to the plan, consistent with the requirements of this act, are agreed to by the plan-approving authority and the person responsible for carrying out the plan.

Subd. 6. (a) Any person owning, occupying, or operating private agricultural and forest lands who has a soil and water conservation plan approved by the district and is implementing and maintaining such plan with respect to normal agricultural and forestry activities, shall not be deemed to be engaged in prohibited land-disturbing activity. If there is not available to any such owner, operator, or occupier at least 50 percent cost-sharing assistance or adequate technical assistance for the installation of erosion and sediment control measures required in an approved farm or ranch plan, or for measures to conform agricultural and forestry practices to conservation standards established pursuant to sections 1 to 13 of this act, any such owner, occupier, or operator who shall fail to install erosion and sediment control measures required in an approved soil and water conservation plan, or to conform his agricultural and forestry practices to such conservation standards, shall not be deemed to be engaged in prohibited land-disturbing activity subject to penalties under section 12 of this act.

(b) A state agency or political subdivision owning public lands that are being managed in accordance with a soil and water conservation plan approved by the district or that are being managed in accordance with a resource management plan that is in conformance with the conservation standards established pursuant to sections 1 to 13 of this act, shall not be deemed to be engaged in prohibited land-disturbing activity.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 40, is amended by adding a section to read:

[40.033] [APPROVED PLAN REQUIRED FOR ISSUANCE OF GRADING, BUILDING, OR OTHER PERMITS.] Where a county or municipality has enacted a sediment control ordinance meeting the minimum requirements of section 5 of this act and any regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, no agency or officer authorized under any other law to issue grading, building, or other permits for activities involving land-disturbing activities may issue any such permits unless the projects comply with an erosion and sediment control plan approved by the district, or by the commission where appropriate, and his certification that such plan will be followed. These requirements are in addition to all other provisions of law relating to the issuance of such permits and are not intended to otherwise affect the requirements for such permits.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 40, is amended by adding a section to read:

[40.034] [MONITORING, REPORTS, AND INSPECTIONS.] Subdivision 1. [LAND-DISTURBING ACTIVITIES WHERE PERMIT IS ISSUED.] With respect to approved plans for erosion and sediment control in connection with land-disturbing activities which involve the issuance of a grading, building, or other permit, the district shall provide for periodic inspections of the land-disturbing activity to insure compliance with the approved plan, and to determine whether the measures required in the plan are effective in controlling erosion and sediment resulting from the land-disturbing activities. Notice of such right of inspection shall be included in the permit. If the permit-issuing authority determines that the permittee has failed to comply with the plan, the authority shall immediately serve upon the permittee by registered mail to the address specified by the permittee in his permit application a notice to comply. Such notice shall set forth the measures needed to come into compliance with such plan and shall specify the time within which such measures shall be completed. If the permittee fails to

Subd. 2. [OTHER LAND-DISTURBING ACTIVITIES EXCEPT AGRICULTURAL AND FORESTRY OPERATIONS.] With respect to approved plans for erosion and sediment control in connection with all other land-disturbing activities except agricultural and forestry operations, the county, municipality, or the commission in connection with plans approved by it, may require of the person responsible for carrying out the plan such monitoring and reports, and may make such on-site inspections after notice to the resident owner, occupier, or operator, as are deemed necessary to determine whether the soil erosion and sediment control measures required by the approved plan are being properly performed, and whether such measures are effective in controlling soil erosion and sediment resulting from the land-disturbing activity. Such resident owner, occupier, or operator shall be given an opportunity to accompany the inspectors. If it is determined that there is failure to comply with the approved plan, the county, municipality, or the commission where appropriate, shall serve upon the person who is responsible for carrying out the approved plan a notice to comply, setting forth the measures needed to be taken and specifying the time in which such measures shall be completed. Such notice shall be by registered mail to the person responsible for carrying out the plan at the address specified by him in his certification at the time of obtaining his approved plan. Upon failure of such person to comply within the specified period, he will be deemed to be in violation of sections 1 to 13 of this act and subject to the penalties provided by section 12 of this act.

Subd. 3. [AGRICULTURAL AND FORESTRY OPERATIONS.] With respect to agricultural and forestry operations, the county or municipality shall have authority to make on-site inspections to determine if the approved soil and water conservation plan is being followed, or where there is no such plan, to determine if the agricultural and forestry practices are being carried out in conformance with conservation standards established pursuant to sections 1 to 13 of this act. On-site inspections may be made after notice to the resident owner, operator, or occupier of the land involved, and such person shall be given an opportunity to accompany the inspector. If such inspections reveal that an owner, operator, or occupier of agricultural or forestry lands is not complying with the approved soil and water conservation plan or is not carrying out his agricultural and forestry practices in conformance with conservation standards established pursuant to sections 1 to 13 of this act, such owner, operator, or occupier shall be notified by registered mail addressed to him at his usual abode or customary place of business of the measures needed for compliance. Such notice shall require that such resident owner, occupier, or operator shall commence such measures within six months from the date of the notice and shall complete the same within 12 months of such date. Upon failure to comply with such notice, the owner, occupier, or operator will be deemed in violation of sections 1 to 13 of this act and subject to the penalties provided by section 12 of this act.

Reports the same back with the recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert:

"Section 1. [DEFINITIONS.] Subdivision 1. For the purposes of sections 1 to 48, the terms defined in this section shall have the meanings given them.

Subd. 2. "Added reparation benefits" means benefits provided by optional added reparation insurance.

Subd. 3. "Basic reparation benefits" means benefits providing reimbursement for net loss suffered through injury arising out of the maintenance or use of a motor vehicle, subject, where applicable, to the limits, deductibles, exclusions, disqualifications, and other conditions provided in this act. Basic reparation benefits shall be subject to a maximum payment of $46,000 to any one person as the result of any accident.

Subd. 4. "Basic reparation insured" means:

(1) a person identified by name as an insured in a contract of basic reparation insurance complying with this act; and

(2) while residing in the same household with a named insured, the following persons not identified by name as an insured in any other contract of basic reparation insurance complying with this act: a spouse or other relative of a named insured; and a minor in the custody of a named insured or of a relative residing in the same household with a named insured. A person resides in the same household if he usually makes his home in the same family unit, even though he temporarily lives elsewhere.

Subd. 5. "Injury" and "injury to person" mean accidentally sustained bodily harm to a person and that person's sickness, disease, or death.

Subd. 6. "Loss" means accrued economic detriment consisting only of allowable expense, work loss, replacement services loss, and, if injury causes death, survivor's economic loss and survivor's replacement services loss. Noneconomic detriment is not loss. However, economic detriment is loss although caused by pain and suffering or physical impairment.

(1) "Allowable expense" means reasonable charges incurred for reasonably needed products, services, and accommodations, including those for medical care, rehabilitation, rehabilitative occupational training, and other remedial treatment and care. The term includes a reasonable charge for expenses in any way related to funeral, cremation, and burial. It does not include that portion of a charge for a room in a hospital, clinic, convalescent or nursing home, or any other institution engaged in providing nursing care and related services, in excess of a reasonable and customary charge for semi-private accommodations, unless intensive care is medically required. It does not include any amount includable in work loss, replacement services loss, survivor's economic loss, or survivor's replacement services loss. Allowable expense includes non-medical remedial care and treatment rendered in accordance with a recognized religious method of healing.

(2) "Work loss" means loss of income the injured person would have received from work he would have performed if he had not been injured, and expenses reasonably incurred by him in obtaining substitute services to avoid part or all of the loss of income, reduced by any income from substitute work actually performed by him. Work loss does not include loss of income attributable to the injured person's unreasonable failure to perform other work or to engage substitute services of another. "Loss of income" includes income that would have been lost but for any income continuation plan providing income to the injured person.

(3) "Replacement services loss" means expenses reasonably incurred in obtaining ordinary and necessary services in lieu of those the injured person would have performed, not for income but for the benefit of himself or his family, if he had not been injured.

(4) "Survivor's economic loss" means loss after decedent's death of contributions of things of economic value to his survivors, not including services they would have received from the decedent if he had not suffered the fatal injury, less expenses of the survivors avoided by reason of decedent's death.

(5) "Survivor's replacement services loss" means expenses reasonably incurred by survivors after decedent's death in obtaining ordinary and necessary services in lieu of those the decedent would have performed for their benefit if he had not suffered the fatal injury, less expenses of the survivors avoided by reason of the decedent's death and not subtracted in calculating survivor's economic loss.

Subd. 7. "Maintenance or use of a motor vehicle" means maintenance or use of a motor vehicle as a vehicle, including, incident to its maintenance or use as a vehicle, occupying, entering into, and alighting from it. Maintenance or use of a motor vehicle does not include (1) conduct within the course of a business of repairing, servicing, or otherwise maintaining motor vehicles unless the conduct occurs off the business premises, or (2) conduct in the course of loading and unloading the vehicle unless the conduct occurs while occupying, entering into or alighting from it.

Subd. 8. "Motor vehicle" means:

(1) a vehicle having four or more wheels of a kind required to be registered under Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 168, excluding mobile homes and house trailers, as defined in Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 168.011, Subdivision 8; or

(2) a vehicle having four or more wheels, including a trailer, designed for operation upon a public roadway by other than muscular power, except a vehicle used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks. "Public roadway" means a way open to the use of the public for purposes of automobile travel.

Subd. 9. "Net loss" means loss less benefits or advantages, from sources other than basic and added reparation insurance, required to be subtracted from loss in calculating net loss.

Subd. 10. "Noneconomic detriment" means pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, and other nonpecuniary damage recoverable under the tort law of this state. The term does not include punitive or exemplary damages.

Subd. 11. "Owner" means a person, other than a lienholder or secured party, who owns or has title to a motor vehicle or is entitled to the use and possession of a motor vehicle subject to a security interest held by another person. The term does not include a lessee under a lease not intended as security.

Subd. 12. "Reparation obligor" means an insurer, self-insurer, obligated government or assigned claims bureau providing basic or added reparation benefits under this act.

Subd. 13. "Survivor" means a person identified in Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 573.02, Subdivision 1, as one entitled to receive benefits by reason of the death of another person.

Subd. 14. Other definitions appearing in this act and the sections in which they appear are:

- (1) Basic reparation insurance—section 7, subdivision 9.
- (2) Obligated government—section 7, subdivision 7.
- (3) Secured vehicle—section 7, subdivision 8.
- (4) Security covering the vehicle—section 7, subdivision 8.
- (5) Self-insurer—section 7, subdivision 7.

Sec. 2. [RIGHT TO BASIC REPARATION BENEFITS.] Subdivision 1. If the accident causing injury occurs in this state, every person suffering loss from injury arising out of maintenance or use of a motor vehicle has a right to basic reparation benefits.

Subd. 2. If the accident causing injury occurs outside this state, the following persons and their survivors suffering loss from injury arising out of maintenance or use of a motor vehicle have a right to basic reparation benefits:

- (1) basic reparation insured, and
- (2) the driver and other occupants of a secured vehicle, other than (a) a vehicle which is regularly used in the course of the business of transporting persons or property and which is one of five or more vehicles under common ownership, or (b) a vehicle owned by an obligated government other than this state, its political subdivisions, municipal corporations, or public agencies.

Sec. 3. [OBLIGATION TO PAY BASIC REPARATION BENEFITS.] Subdivision 1. Basic reparation benefits shall be paid without regard to fault.

Subd. 2. Basic reparation obligors and the assigned claims plan shall pay basic reparation benefits, under the terms and conditions stated in this act, for loss from injury arising out of maintenance or use of a motor vehicle. This obligation exists without regard to immunity from liability or suit which might otherwise be applicable.

Sec. 4. [PRIORITY OF APPLICABILITY OF SECURITY FOR PAYMENT OF BASIC REPARATION BENEFITS.] Subdivision 1. In case of injury to the driver or other occupant of a motor vehicle, if the accident causing the injury occurs while the vehicle is being used in the business of transporting persons or property, the security for payment of basic reparation benefits is the security covering the vehicle or, if none, the security under which the injured person is a basic reparation insured.

Subd. 2. In case of injury to an employee, or to his spouse or other relative residing in the same household, if the accident causing the injury occurs while the injured person is driving or occupying a motor vehicle furnished by the employer, the security for payment of basic reparation benefits is the security covering the vehicle or, if none, the security under which the injured person is a basic reparation insured.

Subd. 2A. In the case of any other person whose injury arises from the maintenance or use of a motor vehicle described in subdivisions 1 or 2, the security for payment of basic reparation benefits is the security covering the vehicle, or, if none, the security under which the injured person is a basic reparation insured.

Subd. 3. In all other cases, the following priorities apply.

(1) The security for payment of basic reparation benefits applicable to injury to a basic reparation insured is the security under which the injured person is a basic reparation insured.

(2) The security for payment of basic reparation benefits applicable to injury to the driver or other occupant of an involved motor vehicle who is not a basic reparation insured is the security covering that vehicle.

(3) The security for payment of basic reparation benefits applicable to injury to a person not otherwise covered who is not the driver or other occupant of an involved motor vehicle is the security covering any involved motor vehicle. An unoccupied parked vehicle is not an involved motor vehicle unless it was parked so as to cause unreasonable risk of injury.

Subd. 4. If two or more obligations to pay basic reparation benefits are applicable to an injury under the priorities set out in this section, benefits are payable only once and the reparation obligor against whom a claim is asserted shall process and pay the claim as if wholly responsible, but he is thereafter entitled to recover contribution pro rata for the basic reparation benefits paid and the costs of processing the claim. Where contribution is sought among reparation obligors responsible under clause (3) of subdivision 3, proration shall be based on the number of involved motor vehicles.

Subd. 5. Where a reparation obligor pays basic reparation benefits which another reparation obligor is obligated to pay under the priority provided in this section, the reparation obligor is subrogated to all rights of the person to whom benefits are paid, including the rights to recover interest and attorney's fees for basic reparation benefits paid.

Sec. 5. [LIMITATION OF GENERAL DAMAGES.] Subdivision 1. In any action in tort brought as a result of bodily injury, sickness or disease arising out of the operation, ownership, maintenance or use of a motor vehicle in the manner described in section 2, there shall be no damages recoverable for pain, suffering, mental anguish and inconvenience, except as provided in subdivision 2.

Subd. 2. The general limitation prescribed in subdivision 1 shall not apply in cases in which the injured person, (a) dies; (b) sustains permanent disfigurement, dismemberment or permanent loss of a bodily function; or (c) sustains an injury resulting in disability rendering the injured person incapable of performing his principal activity and a substantial portion of his other daily activities for not less than 90 days.

Sec. 6. [SUBROGATION AND ARBITRATION BETWEEN OBLIGORS.] Subdivision 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, where a reparation obligor has paid benefits provided under this act to an injured person, the obligor paying such benefits is, to the extent of such payments, subrogated to any right of action for damages by the injured person against the alleged wrongdoer. However, where such wrongdoer is covered by a policy of liability insurance or other plan of security underwritten by another reparation obligor, the right of the subrogated obligor shall be exercisable only as provided in subdivision 2.

Subd. 2. Every company licensed to write insurance in this state is deemed to have agreed, as a condition of doing business in the state or maintaining its license after the effective date of this act, that (a) where its insured is or would be held legally liable for damages or injuries sustained by any person to whom basic or added reparation benefits have been paid by another obligor or person, it will reimburse such other obligor or person to the extent of such benefits, but not in excess of the amount of damages so recoverable for the types of loss covered by such benefits, or in excess of the limits of its liability under its contract of insurance, or other plan of reparation security; (b) where its insured is or would be held legally liable for property damage or destruction sustained by any claimant to whom payment has been made by another person, it will reimburse such other person to the extent of such payment, but not in excess of the amount of damages so recoverable for the types of loss covered by such reparation security or insurance or in excess of the limits of its liability under its contract of insurance or plan of reparation security; and (c) that the issue of liability for such reimbursement and the amount thereof must be decided by mandatory, good faith, and binding inter-obligor arbitration procedures approved by the commissioner of insurance. Such procedure shall utilize determinations of the comparative negligence of those insureds represented by a reparation obligor at the arbitration proceeding.

Subd. 3. Any evidence or decision in the arbitration proceedings is privileged and is not admissible in any action at law or in equity by any party.

Subd. 4. If any reparation obligor in such an arbitration proceeding also has provided coverage to the same policyholder for collision or upset arising out of the same occurrence, such obligor shall also submit the issue of recovery of any payments thereunder to the same mandatory and binding arbitration proceedings as herein provided.

Subd. 5. Arbitration proceedings need not await final payment of benefits, and the award, if any, shall include provision for reimbursement of subsequent benefits, but no question of fact decided by a prior award shall be reconsidered in any such subsequent arbitration hearing.

Sec. 6A. [MANDATORY ARBITRATION OF CERTAIN CLAIMS; SUPREME COURT TO PROMULGATE RULES OF PROCEDURE.] Subdivision 1. The supreme court and the several courts of general trial jurisdiction of this state may, on or before the effective date of this act, by rules of court or other constitutionally permissible device, provide for the mandatory submission to arbitration of all cases at issue where a claim in an amount of $5,000 or less is made by motor vehicle accident victim, whether in a tort action to collect special or general damages for the allegedly negligent operation, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle within this state, or against any reparation obligor for benefits as provided in this act. In the promulgation of such arbitration provisions, the courts may evaluate, adopt, or adapt for the purposes of this act procedures employed by the American Arbitration Association.

Subd. 2. The determination of whether the amount in controversy is $5,000 or less shall be based upon a statement made in good faith and filed with the district court by the attorney for the plaintiff or by the plaintiff himself.

Subd. 3. The rules of court may provide that cases which are not at issue and whether or not suit has been filed may be referred to arbitration by agreement of reference signed by counsel for both sides, or by the parties themselves. Such agreement of reference shall define the issues involved for determination by arbitration and, when agreeable, shall also contain stipulations with respect to facts submitted or agreed or defenses waived. In such cases, the agreement of reference shall take the place of the pleadings in the case and be filed of record.

Sec. 7. [SECURITY COVERING MOTOR VEHICLE.] Subdivision 1. This state, its political subdivisions, municipal corporations, and public agencies shall continuously provide pursuant to subdivision 4 security for the payment of basic reparation benefits in accordance with this act for injury arising from maintenance or use of motor vehicles owned by those entities.

Subd. 2. The United States and its public agencies and any other state, its political subdivisions, municipal corporations, and public agencies who own motor vehicles operated in this state with their permission may provide pursuant to subdivision 4 security for the payment of basic reparation benefits in accordance with this act for injury arising from maintenance or use of those motor vehicles.

Subd. 3. Except for entities described in subdivisions 1 and 2, every owner of a motor vehicle registered in this state, or operated in this state by him or with his permission, shall continuously provide with respect to the motor vehicle while it is either present or registered in this state, and any other person may provide with respect to any motor vehicle, by a contract of insurance or by qualifying as a self-insurer, security for the payment of basic reparation benefits in accordance with this act and security for payment of tort liabilities, arising from maintenance or use of the motor vehicle.

Subd. 4. Security may be provided by a contract of insurance or by qualifying as a self-insurer or obligated government in compliance with this act.

Subd. 5. Self-insurance, subject to approval of the commissioner of insurance of the state of Minnesota, is effected by filing with the commissioner in satisfactory form:

(1) a continuing undertaking by the owner or other appropriate person to pay tort liabilities or basic reparation benefits, or both, and to perform all other obligations imposed by this act;

(2) evidence that appropriate provision exists for prompt and efficient administration of all claims, benefits, and obligations provided by this act; and

(3) evidence that reliable financial arrangements, deposits, or commitments exist providing assurance, substantially equivalent to that afforded by a policy of insurance complying with this act, for payment of tort liabilities, basic reparation benefits, and all other obligations imposed by this act.

Subd. 6. An entity described in subdivision 1 or 2 may provide security by lawfully obligating itself to pay basic reparation benefits in accordance with this act.

Subd. 7. A person providing security pursuant to subdivision 5 is a "self-insurer." An entity described in subdivision 1 or 2 that has provided security pursuant to subdivision 4 is an "obligated government."

Subd. 8. "Security covering the vehicle" is the insurance or other security so provided. The vehicle for which the security is so provided is the "secured vehicle."

Subd. 9. "Basic reparation insurance" includes a contract, self-insurance, or other legal means under which the obligation to pay basic reparation benefits arises.

Sec. 8. [OBLIGATIONS UPON TERMINATION OF SECURITY.] Subdivision 1. An owner of a motor vehicle registered in this state who ceases to maintain security as required by the provisions on security may not operate or permit operation of the vehicle in this state until security has again been provided as required by this act.

Subd. 2. An insurer who has issued a contract of insurance and knows or has reason to believe the contract is for the purpose of providing security shall immediately give notice to the registrar of motor vehicles of the termination of the insurance.

Subd. 3. If the commissioner of insurance withdraws approval of security provided by a self-insurer or knows that the conditions for self-insurance have ceased to exist, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the registrar of motor vehicles.

Subd. 4. The requirements of subdivisions 2 and 3 may be waived or modified by rule of the registrar of motor vehicles.

Sec. 9. [INCLUDED COVERAGES.] Subdivision 1. An insurance contract which purports to provide coverage for basic reparation benefits or is sold with representation that it provides security covering a motor vehicle has the legal effect of including all coverages required by this act.

Subd. 2. Notwithstanding any contrary provision in it, every contract of liability insurance for injury, wherever issued, covering ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle, except a contract which provides coverage only for liability in excess of required minimum tort liability coverages, includes basic reparation benefit coverages and minimum security for tort liabilities required by this act, while the vehicle is in this state, and qualifies as security covering the vehicle.

Subd. 3. An insurer authorized to transact or transacting business in this state may not exclude, in any contract of liability insurance for injury, wherever issued, covering ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle, except a contract providing coverage only for liability in excess of required minimum tort liability coverage, the basic reparation benefit coverages and required minimum security for tort liabilities required by this act, while the vehicle is in this state.

Sec. 10. [REQUIRED MINIMUM TORT LIABILITY INSURANCE AND TERRITORIAL COVERAGE.] Subdivision 1. The requirement of security for payment of tort liabilities is fulfilled by providing:

- (1) liability coverage of not less than $25,000 for all damages arising out of bodily injury sustained by any one person as a result of any one accident applicable to each person sustaining injury caused by accident arising out of ownership, maintenance, use, loading, or unloading, of the secured vehicle, subject to a limitation of $100,000 as to any one accident.

(2) liability coverage of not less than $10,000 for all damages arising out of injury to or destruction of property, including the loss of use thereof, as result of any one accident arising out of ownership, maintenance, use, loading, or unloading, of the secured vehicle; and

(3) that the liability coverages apply to accidents during the contract period in a territorial area not less than the United States of America, its territories and possessions, and Canada.

Subd. 2. The tort liability coverages required by this act need not include coverage for the tort liability of a converter. For the purposes of this section, a person is not a converter if he uses the motor vehicle in the good faith belief he is legally entitled to do so.

Subd. 3. Subject to the provisions on approval of terms and forms, the requirement of security for payment of tort liabilities may be met by a contract the coverage of which is secondary or excess to other applicable valid and collectible liability insurance. To the extent the secondary or excess coverage applies to liability within the minimum security required by this act, it must be subject to conditions consistent with the system of compulsory liability insurance established by this act.

Subd. 4. (1) No automobile liability insurance contract shall contain an exclusion of liability for damages for bodily injury solely because the injured person is a resident or member of an insured's household or related to the insured by blood or marriage.

(2) No automobile liability insurance contract shall contain an exclusion of liability for damages for bodily injury sustained by any person who is a named insured.

Subd. 5. Every motor vehicle liability insurance contract shall be subject to the following provisions which need not be contained therein:

(1) The liability of the insurance carrier shall become absolute whenever injury or damage covered by the motor vehicle liability contract occurs; the contract may not be canceled or annulled as to such liability by any agreement between the insurance carrier and the insured after the occurrence of the injury or damage; no statement made by the insured or on his behalf and no violation of the contract shall defeat or void the contract.

(2) The satisfaction by the insured of a judgment for an injury or damage is not a condition precedent to the right or duty of the insurance carrier to make payment on account of the injury or damage.

(3) The insurance carrier has the right to settle any claim covered by the contract, and if the settlement is made in good faith, the amount thereof shall be deductible from the limits of liability specified in the insurance contract for the accident out of which the claim arose.

Sec. 11. [CALCULATION OF NET LOSS.] Subdivision 1. All benefits or advantages reduced by reasonably incurred collection costs a person receives or is entitled to receive because of the injury from social security, workmen's compensation, and any state-required temporary, nonoccupational disability insurance are subtracted in calculating net loss.

Subd. 2. If a benefit or advantage received to compensate for loss of income because of injury, whether from basic reparation benefits or from any source of benefits or advantages subtracted under subdivision 1, is not taxable income, the income tax saving that is attributable to his loss of income because of injury is subtracted in calculating net loss. Subtraction may not exceed 15 percent of the net loss of taxable income and shall be in a lesser amount if the claimant furnishes to the insurer reasonable proof of a lower value of the income tax advantage.

Sec. 12. [STANDARD REPLACEMENT SERVICES LOSS EXCLUSION.] All replacement services loss sustained on the date of injury and the first seven days thereafter is excluded in calculating basic reparation benefits.

Sec. 13. [STANDARD WEEKLY LIMIT ON BENEFITS FOR CERTAIN LOSSES.] Basic reparation benefits payable for work loss, survivor's economic loss, replacement services loss, and survivor's replacement services loss arising from injury to one person and attributable to the calendar week during which the accident causing injury occurs and to each calendar week thereafter may not exceed $200. If the injured person's earnings or work is seasonal or irregular, the weekly limit shall be equitably adjusted or apportioned on an annual basis.

Sec. 14. [OPTIONAL DEDUCTIBLES AND EXCLUSIONS.] Subdivision 1. At appropriately reduced premium rates, basic reparation insurers shall offer each of the following deductibles and exclusions, applicable only to claims of basic reparation insureds and, in case of death of a basic reparation insured, of his survivors:

(1) deductibles in the amounts of $100, $300, and $500 from all basic reparation benefits otherwise payable, except that if two or more basic reparation insureds to whom the deductible is applicable under the contract of insurance are injured in the same accident, the aggregate amount of the deductible applicable to all of them shall not exceed the specified deductible, which amount where necessary shall be allocated equally among them;

(2) an exclusion, in calculation of net loss, of ten percent of work loss and survivor's economic loss;

(3) an exclusion, in calculation of net loss, of all replacement services loss and survivor's replacement services loss; and

(4) a deductible, in the amount of $1000 per accident from all basic reparation benefits otherwise payable for injury to a person which occurs while he is operating or is a passenger on a two-wheeled motor vehicle.

Subd. 2. Subject to the provisions on approval of terms and forms, basic reparation insurers may offer the following additional exclusions, applicable only to claims of some or all basic reparation insureds and, in case of death of a basic reparation insured, of his survivors:

(1) exclusions, in calculation of net loss, of a part of replacement services loss and survivor's replacement services loss; and

(2) exclusions, in calculation of net loss, of any of those amounts and kinds of loss otherwise compensated by benefits or advantages a person receives or is unconditionally entitled to receive from any other specified source, if the other source has been approved specifically or as to type of source by the commissioner of insurance by rule or order adopted upon a determination by the commissioner (1) that the other source or type of source is reliable and that approval of it is consonant with the purposes of this act, and (2) if the other source is a contract of insurance, that it provides benefits for accidental injuries generally and in amounts at least as great for other injuries as for injuries resulting from motor vehicle accidents.

Sec. 15. [PROPERTY DAMAGE EXCLUSION.] Basic reparation benefits do not include benefits for harm to property.

Sec. 16. [BENEFITS PROVIDED BY OPTIONAL ADDED REPARATION INSURANCE.] Subdivision 1. Basic reparation insurers may offer optional added reparation coverages providing other benefits as compensation for injury or harm arising from ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle, including benefits for loss excluded by limits on hospital charges and funeral, cremation, and burial expenses, loss excluded by limits on work loss, replacement services loss, survivor's economic loss, and survivor's replacement services loss, harm to property, loss of use of motor vehicles, and noneconomic detriment. The commissioner of insurance may adopt rules requiring that specified optional added reparation coverages be offered by insurers writing basic reparation insurance.

Subd. 2. Basic reparation insurers shall offer the following optional added reparation coverages for physical damage to motor vehicles:

(1) a coverage for all collision and upset damage, subject to a deductible of $100;

(2) a coverage for all collision and upset damage to the extent that the insured has a valid claim in tort against another identified person or would have had such a valid claim but for the abolition of tort liability for damages for harm to motor vehicles; and

(3) the same coverage as in clause (2), but subject to a deductible of $100;

Subd. 3. Subject to the provision on approval of terms and forms, basic reparation insurers may offer other optional added reparation coverages for harm to motor vehicles or their contents, or both, or other like coverages subject to different deductibles or without deductibles.

Subd. 4. An insurer of the insured's choice may write separately coverages for harm to motor vehicles.

Subd. 5. All added reparation coverages offered apply to injuries or harm arising out of accidents and occurrences during the contract period in a territorial area not less than the United States, its territories and possessions, and Canada.

Sec. 17. [APPROVAL OF TERMS AND FORMS.] Terms and conditions of contracts and certificates or other evidence of insurance coverage sold or issued in this state providing motor vehicle tort liability, basic reparation, and added reparation insurance coverages, and of forms used by insurers offering these coverages, are subject to approval and regulation by the commissioner of insurance. The commissioner shall approve only terms and conditions consistent with the purposes of this act and fair and equitable to all persons whose interests may be affected. The commissioner may limit by rule the variety of coverages available in order to give insurance purchasers reasonable opportunity to compare the cost of insuring with various insurers.

Sec. 18. [ASSIGNED CLAIMS.] Subdivision 1. A person entitled to basic reparation benefits because of injury covered by this act may obtain them through the assigned claims plan established pursuant to the provisions relating thereto and in accordance with the provisions on time for presenting claims under the assigned claims plan if:

(1) basic reparation insurance is not applicable to the injury for a reason other than those specified in the provisions on converted vehicles and intentional injuries;

(2) basic reparation insurance is not applicable to the injury because the injured person converted a motor vehicle and if the conversion occurred while he was under 15 years of age;

(3) basic reparation insurance applicable to the injury cannot be identified;

(4) basic reparation insurance applicable to the injury is inadequate to provide the contracted-for benefits because of financial inability of a reparation obligor to fulfill its obligation; or

(5) a claim for basic reparation benefits is rejected by a reparation obligor for a reason other than that the person is not entitled under this act to the basic reparation benefits claimed.

Subd. 2. If a claim qualifies for assignment under clauses (3), (4), or (5) of subdivision 1, the assigned claims bureau or any reparation obligor to whom the claim is assigned is subrogated to all rights of the claimant against any reparation obligor, its successor in interest or substitute, legally obligated to provide basic reparation benefits to the claimant, for basic reparation benefits provided by the assignee.

Subd. 3. Except in case of a claim assigned under subdivision 1 (4), if a person receives basic reparation benefits through the assigned claims plan, all benefits or advantages he receives or is entitled to receive as a result of the injury, other than by way of succession at death, death benefits from life insurance, or in discharge of familial obligations of support, are subtracted in calculating net loss.

Subd. 4. An assigned claim of a person who does not comply with the requirement of providing security for the payment of basic reparation benefits, or of a person as to whom the security is invalidated because of his fraud or willful misconduct, is subject to (1) all the optional deductibles and exclusions to the maximum required to be offered under this act and (2) a deduction in the amount of $500 for each year or part thereof of the period of his continuous failure to provide security, applicable to any benefits otherwise payable.

Sec. 19. [ASSIGNED CLAIMS PLAN.] Subdivision 1. Reparation obligors providing basic reparation insurance in this state may organize and maintain, subject to approval and regulation by the commissioner of insurance, an assigned claims bureau and an assigned claims plan and adopt rules for their operation and for assessment of costs on a fair and equitable basis consistent with this act. If they do not organize and continuously maintain an assigned claims bureau and an assigned claims plan in a manner considered by the commissioner of insurance to be consistent with this act, he shall organize and maintain an assigned claims bureau and an assigned claims plan. Each reparation obligor providing basic reparation insurance in this state shall participate in the assigned claims bureau and the assigned claims plan. Costs incurred shall be allocated fairly and equitably among the reparation obligors.

Subd. 2. The assigned claims bureau shall promptly assign each claim and notify the claimant of the identity and address of the assignee of the claim. Claims shall be assigned so as to minimize inconvenience to claimants. The assignee thereafter has rights and obligations as if he had issued a policy of basic reparation insurance complying with this act applicable to the injury or, in case of financial inability of a reparation obligor to perform its obligations, as if the assignee had written the applicable basic reparation insurance, undertaken the self-insurance, or lawfully obligated itself to pay reparation benefits.

Sec. 20. [TIME FOR PRESENTING CLAIMS UNDER ASSIGNED CLAIMS PLAN.] Subdivision 1. Except as provided in subdivision 2, a person authorized to obtain basic reparation benefits through the assigned claims plan shall notify the bureau of his claim within the time that would have been allowed for commencing an action for those benefits if there had been identifiable coverage in effect and applicable to the claim.

Subd. 2. If timely action for basic reparation benefits is commenced against a reparation obligor who is unable to fulfill his obligations because of financial inability, a person authorized to obtain basic reparation benefits through the assigned claims plan shall notify the bureau of his claim within six months after discovery of the financial inability.

Sec. 21. [CONVERTED MOTOR VEHICLES.] Except as provided for assigned claims, a person who converts a motor vehicle is disqualified from basic or added reparation benefits, including benefits otherwise due him as a survivor, from any source other than an insurance contract under which the converter is a basic or added reparation insured, for injuries arising from maintenance or use of the converted vehicle: If the converter dies from the injuries, his survivors are not entitled to basic or added reparation benefits from any source other than an insurance contract under which the converter is a basic reparation insured. For the purpose of this section, a person is not a converter if he uses the motor vehicle in the good faith belief that he is legally entitled to do so.

Sec. 21A. A person who

- (1) is occupying a motor vehicle while used as a temporary or permanent living quarters; or
- (2) is injured while operating a motor vehicle in the course of an officiated, conducted racing or speed contest, or in practice or preparation therefor;

is disqualified from basic or added reparation benefits, including benefits otherwise due him as a survivor.

Sec. 22. [INTENTIONAL INJURIES.] A person intentionally causing or attempting to cause injury to himself or another person is disqualified from basic or added reparation benefits for injury arising from his acts, including benefits otherwise due him as a survivor. If a person dies as a result of intentionally causing or attempting to cause injury to himself, his survivors are not entitled to basic or added reparation benefits for loss arising from his death. A person intentionally causes or attempts to cause injury if he acts or fails to act for the purpose of causing injury or with knowledge that injury is substantially certain to follow. A person does not intentionally cause or attempt to cause injury (1) merely because his act or failure to act is intentional or done with his realization that it creates a grave risk of causing injury or (2) if the act or omission causing the injury is for the purpose of averting bodily harm to himself or another person.

Sec. 23. [REPARATION OBLIGOR'S DUTY TO RESPOND TO CLAIMS.] Subdivision 1. Basic and added reparation benefits are payable monthly as loss accrues. Loss accrues not when injury occurs, but as work loss, replacement services loss, survivor's economic loss, survivor's replacement services loss, or allowable expense is incurred. Benefits are overdue if not paid within 30 days after the reparation obligor receives reasonable proof of the fact and amount of loss realized, unless the reparation obligor elects to accumulate claims for periods not exceeding 31 days and pays them within 15 days after the period of accumulation. If reasonable proof is supplied as to only part of a claim, and the part totals $100 or more, the part is overdue if not paid within the time provided by this section. Allowable expense benefits may be paid by the reparation obligor directly to persons supplying products, services, or accommodations to the claimant.

Subd. 2. Overdue payments bear interest at the rate of 12 percent per annum.

Subd. 3. A claim for basic or added reparation benefits shall be paid without deduction for the benefits which are to be subtracted pursuant to the provisions on calculation of net loss, and to the exclusions authorized under section 14, subdivision 2, clause (2), if these benefits have not been paid to the claimant before the reparation benefits are overdue or the claim is paid. The reparation obligor is entitled to reimbursement from the person obligated to make the payments or from the claimant who actually receives the payments.

Subd. 4. A reparation obligor may bring an action to recover benefits which are not payable, but are in fact paid, because of an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact, upon which the reparation obligor relies, by the insured or by a person providing an item of allowable expense. The action may be brought only against the person providing the item of allowable expense, unless the insured has intentionally misrepresented the facts or knew of the misrepresentation. An insurer may offset amounts he is entitled to recover from the insured under this subdivision against any basic or added reparation benefits otherwise due.

Subd. 5. A reparation obligor who rejects a claim for basic reparation benefits shall give to the claimant prompt written notice of the rejection, specifying the reason. If a claim is rejected for a reason other than that the person is not entitled to the basic reparation benefits claimed, the written notice shall inform the claimant that he may file his claim with the assigned claims bureau and shall give the name and address of the bureau.

Sec. 24. [FEES OF CLAIMANT'S ATTORNEY.] Subdivision 1. If overdue benefits are recovered in an action against the reparation obligor or paid by the reparation obligor after receipt of notice of the attorney's representation, a reasonable attorney's fee for advising and representing a claimant on a claim or in an action for basic reparation benefits shall be paid by the reparation obligor to the attorney. No part of the fee for representing the claimant in connection with these benefits is a charge against benefits otherwise due the claimant. All or part of the fee may be deducted from the benefits otherwise due the claimant if any significant part of his claim for benefits was fraudulent or so excessive as to have no reasonable foundation.

Subd. 2. In any action brought against the insured by the reparation obligor, the court may award the insured's attorney a reasonable attorney's fee for defending the action.

Sec. 25. [FEES OF REPARATION OBLIGOR'S ATTOR-

NEY.] A reparation obligor shall be allowed a reasonable attorney's fee for defending a claim for benefits that is fraudulent or so excessive as to have no reasonable foundation. The fee may be treated as an offset to benefits due or which thereafter accrue. The reparation obligor may recover from the claimant any part of the fee not offset or otherwise paid.

Sec. 26. [LUMP SUM AND INSTALLMENT SETTLEMENTS.] Subdivision 1. If the reasonably anticipated net loss subject to the settlement does not exceed $2,500, a claim of an individual for basic or added reparation benefits arising from injury, including a claim for future loss other than allowable expense, may be discharged by a settlement for an agreed amount payable in installments, or in a lump sum. If the reasonably anticipated net loss subject to the settlement exceeds $2,500, the settlement may be made with approval of the district court upon a finding by the court that the settlement is in the best interest of the claimant. Upon approval of the settlement, the court may make appropriate orders concerning the safeguarding and disposing of the proceeds of the settlement. A settlement agreement may also provide that the reparation obligor shall pay the reasonable cost of appropriate medical treatment or procedures, with reference to a specified condition, to be performed in the future.

Subd. 2. A settlement agreement for an amount payable in installments may be modified as to amounts to be paid in the future, if it is shown that a material and substantial change of circumstances has occurred or that there is newly-discovered evidence concerning the claimant's physical condition, loss, or rehabilitation, which could not have been known previously or discovered in the exercise of reasonable diligence.

Subd. 3. A settlement agreement may be set aside if it is procured by fraud or its terms are unconscionable.

Sec. 27. [JUDGMENTS FOR FUTURE BENEFITS.] Subdivision 1. In an action by a claimant, a lump sum or installment judgment may be entered for basic or added reparation benefits, other than allowable expense, that would accrue after the date of the award. A judgment for benefits for allowable expense that would accrue after the date of the award may not be entered. In an action for reparation benefits or to enforce rights under this act, however, the court may enter a judgment declaring that the reparation obligor is liable for the reasonable cost of appropriate medical treatment or procedures, with reference to a specified condition, to be performed in the future if it is ascertainable or foreseeable that treatment will be required as a result of the injury for which the claim is made.

Subd. 2. At the instance of the claimant, a court may commute all or part of future losses, other than allowable expense, to a fixed sum, but only upon a finding of one or more of the following:

(1) that the award will promote the health and contribute to the rehabilitation of the injured person;

(2) that the present value of all benefits other than allowable expense to accrue thereafter does not exceed $1,000; or

(3) that the parties consent and the award is in the best interest of the claimant.

Subd. 3. An installment judgment for benefits, other than allowable expense, that will accrue thereafter may be entered only for a period as to which the court can reasonably determine future net loss. An installment judgment may be modified as to amounts to be paid in the future upon a finding that a material and substantial change of circumstances has occurred, or that there is newly-discovered evidence concerning the claimant's physical condition, loss, or rehabilitation, which could not have been known previously or discovered in the exercise of reasonable diligence.

Subd. 4. The court may make appropriate orders concerning the safeguarding and disposing of funds collected under the judgment.

Subd. 5. Appeals from a judgment for basic or added reparation benefits may be taken in accordance with the laws or rules of civil procedure of this state.

Sec. 28. [LIMITATION OF ACTIONS.] Subdivision 1. If no basic or added reparation benefits have been paid for loss arising otherwise than from death, an action therefor may be commenced not later than two years after the injured person suffers the loss and either knows, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence should know, that the loss was caused by the accident, or not later than four years after the accident, whichever is earlier. If basic or added reparation benefits have been paid for loss arising otherwise than from death; an action for further benefits; other than survivor's benefits, by either the same or another claimant, may be commenced not later than two years after the last payment of benefits.

Subd. 2. If no basic or added reparation benefits have been paid to the decedent or his survivors, an action for survivor's benefits may be commenced no later than one year after the death or four years after the accident from which death results, whichever is earlier. If survivor's benefits have been paid to any survivor, an action for further survivor's benefits by either the same or another claimant may be commenced not later than two years after the last payment of benefits. If basic or added reparation benefits have been paid for loss suffered by an injured person before his death resulting from the injury, an action for survivor's benefits may be commenced not later than one year after the death or four years after the last payment of benefits, whichever is earlier.

Subd. 3. If timely action for basic reparation benefits is commenced against a reparation obligor and benefits are denied because of a determination that the reparation obligor's coverage is not applicable to the claimant under the provisions on priority of applicability of basic reparation security, an action against the applicable reparation obligor or the reparation obli-gor to whom a claim has been assigned under the assigned claims plan (section 19) may be commenced not later than 60 days after the determination becomes final or the last date on which the action could otherwise have been commenced, whichever is later.

Subd. 4. Except as subdivisions 1, 2, and 3 prescribe a longer period, an action by a claimant on an assigned claim which has been timely presented may be commenced not later than 60 days after the claimant receives written notice of rejection of the claim by the reparation obligor to which it was assigned.

Subd. 5. A calendar month during which a person does not suffer loss for which he is entitled to basic or added reparation benefits is not a part of the time limited for commencing an action, except that the months excluded for this reason may not exceed 120.

Subd. 6. If a person entitled to basic or added reparation benefits is under legal disability as described in Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 541.15, the period of his disability is not a part of the time limited for commencement of the action.

Sec. 29. [ASSIGNMENT OF BENEFITS.] An assignment of or agreement to assign any right to benefits under this act for loss accruing in the future is unenforceable except as to benefits for:

(1) work loss to secure payment of alimony, maintenance, or child support; or

(2) allowable expense to the extent the benefits are for the cost of products, services, or accommodations provided or to be provided by the assignee.

Sec. 30. [DEDUCTION AND SET-OFF.] Except as otherwise provided in this act, basic reparation benefits shall be paid without deduction or set-off.

Sec. 31. [EXEMPTION OF BENEFITS.] Subdivision 1. Basic or added reparation benefits for allowable expense are exempt from garnishment, attachment, execution, and any other process or claim, except upon a claim of a creditor who has provided products, services, or accommodations to the extent benefits are for allowable expense for those products, services, or accommodations.

Subd. 2. Basic reparation benefits other than those for allowable expense are exempt from garnishment, attachment, execution, and any other process or claim to the extent that wages or earnings are exempt under any applicable law exempting wages or earnings from process or claims.

Sec. 32. [MENTAL OR PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS.] Subdivision 1. If the mental or physical condition of a person is material to a claim for past or future basic or added reparation benefits, the reparation obligor may petition the district court for an order directing the person to submit to a mental or physical examination by a physician. Upon notice to the person to be examined and all persons having an interest, the court may make the order for good cause shown. The order shall specify the time, place, manner, conditions, scope of the examination, and the physician by whom it is to be made.

Subd. 2. If requested by the person examined, the reparation obligor causing a mental or physical examination to be made shall deliver to the person examined a copy of a detailed written report of the examining physician setting out his findings, including results of all tests made, diagnoses, and conclusions, and reports of earlier examinations of the same condition. By requesting and obtaining a report of the examination ordered or by taking the deposition of the physician, the person examined waives any privilege he may have, in relation to the claim for basic or added reparation benefits, regarding the testimony of every other person who has examined or may thereafter examine him respecting the same condition. This subdivision does not preclude discovery of a report of an examining physician, taking a deposition of the physician, or other discovery procedures in accordance with any rule of court or other provision of law. This subdivision applies to examinations made by agreement of the person examined and the reparation obligor, unless the agreement provides otherwise.

Subd. 3. If any person refuses to comply with an order entered under this section the court may make any just order as to the refusal, but may not find a person in contempt for failure to submit to a mental or physical examination.

Sec. 33. [DISCLOSURE OF FACTS ABOUT INJURED PERSON.] Subdivision 1. Upon request of a basic or added reparation claimant or reparation obligor, information relevant to a claim for basic or added reparation benefits shall be disclosed as follows:

(1) An employer shall furnish a statement of the work record and earnings of an employee upon whose injury the claim is based. The statement shall cover the period specified by the claimant or reparation obligor making the request and may include a reasonable period before, and the entire period after, the injury.

(2) The claimant shall deliver to the reparation obligor a copy of every written report, previously or thereafter made, relevant to the claim, and available to him, concerning any medical treatment or examination of a person upon whose injury the claim is based, and the names and addresses of physicians and medical care facilities rendering diagnoses or treatment in regard to the injury or to a relevant past injury, and the claimant shall authorize the reparation obligor to inspect and copy relevant records of physicians and of hospitals, clinics, and other medical facilities.

(3) A physician or hospital, clinic, or other medical facility furnishing examinations, services, or accommodations to an injured person in connection with a condition alleged to be connected with an injury upon which a claim is based, upon authorization of the claimant, shall furnish a written report of the history, condition, diagnoses, medical tests, treatment, and dates and cost of treatment of the injured person, and permit inspection and copying of all records and reports as to the history, condition, treatment, and dates and cost of treatment.

Subd. 2. Any person other than the claimant providing information under this section may charge the person requesting the information for the reasonable cost of providing it.

Subd. 3. In case of dispute as to the right of a claimant or reparation obligor to discover information required to be disclosed, the claimant or reparation obligor may petition the district court for an order for discovery including the right to take written or oral depositions. Upon notice to all persons having an interest, the order may be made for good cause shown. It shall specify the time, place, manner, conditions, and scope of the discovery. To protect against annoyance, embarrassment, or oppression, the court may enter an order refusing discovery or specifying conditions of discovery and directing payment of costs and expenses of the proceeding, including reasonable attorney's fees.

Sec. 34. [REHABILITATION TREATMENT AND OCCUPATIONAL TRAINING.] Subdivision 1. A basic reparation obligor is responsible for the cost of a procedure or treatment for rehabilitation or a course of rehabilitative occupational training if the procedure, treatment, or training is reasonable and appropriate for the particular case, its cost is reasonable in relation to its probable rehabilitative effects, and it is likely to contribute substantially to rehabilitation, even though it will not enhance the injured person's earning capacity.

Subd. 2. An injured person who has undertaken a procedure or treatment for rehabilitation or a course of rehabilitative occupational training, other than medical rehabilitation procedure or treatment, shall notify the basic reparation obligor that he has undertaken the procedure, treatment, or training within 60 days after an allowable expense exceeding $1,000 has been incurred for the procedure, treatment, or training, unless the basic reparation obligor knows or has reason to know of the undertaking. If the injured person does not give the required notice within the prescribed time, the basic reparation obligor is responsible only for $1,000 or the expense incurred after the notice is given and within the 60 days before the notice, whichever is greater, unless failure to give timely notice is the result of excusable neglect.

Subd. 3. If the injured person notifies the reparation obligor of a proposed specified procedure or treatment for rehabilitation, or a proposed specified course of rehabilitative occupational training, and the reparation obligor does not promptly thereafter accept responsibility for its cost, the injured person may move the court in an action to adjudicate his claim, or, if no action is pending, bring an action in the district court, for a determination that the reparation obligor is responsible for its cost. A reparation obligor may move the court in an action to adjudicate the injured person's claim, or, if no action is pending, bring an action in the district court, for a determination that it is not responsible for the cost of a procedure, treatment, or course of training which the injured person has undertaken or proposes to undertake. A determination by the court that the reparation obligor is not responsible for the cost of a procedure, treatment, or course of training is not res judicata as to the propriety of any other proposal or the injured person's right to other benefits. This subdivision does not preclude an action by the basic reparation obligor or the injured person for declaratory relief under any other law of this state, nor an action by the injured person to recover basic reparation benefits.

Subd. 4. If an injured person unreasonably refuses to accept a rehabilitative procedure, treatment, or course of occupational training, a basic reparation obligor may move the court, in an action to adjudicate the injured person's claim, or if no action is pending, may bring an action in the district court, for a determination that future benefits will be reduced or terminated to limit recovery of benefits to an amount equal to benefits that in reasonable probability would be due if the injured person had submitted to the procedure, treatment, or training, and for other reasonable orders. In determining whether an injured person has reasonable ground for refusal to undertake the procedure, treatment, or training, the court shall consider all relevant factors, including the risks to the injured person, the extent of the probable benefit, the place where the procedure, treatment, or training is offered, the extent to which the procedure, treatment, or training is recognized as standard and customary, and whether the imposition of sanctions because of the person's refusal would abridge his right to the free exercise of his religion.

Sec. 35. [AVAILABILITY OF INSURANCE.] Subdivision 1. The commissioner of insurance shall establish and implement or approve and supervise a plan assuring that liability and basic and added reparation insurance for motor vehicles will be conveniently and expeditiously afforded, subject only to payment or provision for payment of the premium, to all applicants for insurance required by this act to provide security for payment of tort liabilities and basic reparation benefits and who cannot conveniently obtain insurance through ordinary methods at rates not in excess of those applicable to applicants under the plan. The plan may be by assignment of applicants among insurers, pooling, other joint insuring or reinsuring arrangement, or any other method that will reasonably accomplish the purposes of this section, including any arrangement or undertaking by insurers that results in all applicants being conveniently afforded the insurance coverages on reasonable and not unfairly discriminatory terms through ordinary markets.

Subd. 2. The plan shall make available optional added reparation and tort liability coverages and other contract provisions the commissioner of insurance determines are reasonably needed by applicants and are commonly afforded in voluntary markets. The plan shall provide for the availability of financing or installment payments of premiums on reasonable and customary terms and conditions.

Subd. 3. All insurers authorized in this state to write motor vehicle liability, basic reparation, or optional added reparation coverages which the commissioner requires to be offered under subdivision 2, shall participate in the plan. The plan shall provide for equitable apportionment, among all participating insurers writing any insurance coverage required under the plan, of the financial burdens of insurance provided to applicants under the plan and costs of operation of the plan.

Subd. 4. Subject to supervision and approval of the commissioner of insurance, insurers may consult and agree with each other and with other appropriate persons as to the organization, administration, and operation of the plan and as to rates and rate modifications for insurance coverages provided under the plan. Rates and rate modifications adopted or charged for insurance coverages provided under the plan shall be first adopted or approved by the commissioner of insurance and be reasonable and not unfairly discriminatory among applicants for insurance under the plan.

Subd. 5. To carry out the objectives of this section the commissioner of insurance may adopt rules, make orders, enter into agreements with other governmental and private entities and persons, and form and operate or authorize the formation and operation of bureaus and other legal entities.

Sec. 36. [TERMINATION OR MODIFICATION OF INSURANCE BY INSURER.] Subdivision 1. Every contract of insurance providing security under this act (section 7) for a motor vehicle which is registered in this state and is not one of five or more motor vehicles under common ownership insured under a single insuring agreement except as provided by subdivisions 2 and 6, may be cancelled, modified, not renewed, or otherwise terminated by the insurer only at specified dates or intervals which may not be less than one year after the inception of coverage or thereafter less than one year apart.

Subd. 2. An insurer may terminate insurance if written notice of termination is mailed or delivered to the insured at least 15 days before the effective date of termination:

- (1) By cancellation at any time within 75 days after the inception of initial coverage; or
- (2) for nonpayment of premium when due.

Subd. 3. Except as permitted in subdivision 2, any termination of insurance by an insurer which is permitted by the insurance contract and not prohibited by subdivisions 1 or 9, including any refusal by the insurer to renew the insurance at the expiration of its term and any modification by the insurer of the terms and conditions of the insurance unfavorable to the insured, is nevertheless ineffective, unless written notice of intention to modify, not to renew or otherwise to terminate the insurance has been mailed or delivered to the insured at least 20 days before the effective date of the modification, expiration, or other termination of the insurance.

Subd. 4. An insurer who has cancelled, refused to renew, or otherwise terminated insurance shall mail or deliver to the insured, within ten days after receipt of a written request, a statement of the reasons for the cancellation, refusal to renew, or other termination of the insurance coverage.

Subd. 5. For purposes of this section only:

(1) "nonpayment of premium when due" includes the nonpayment when due of any installment of premium or of any financial obligation to any person who has financed the payment of the premium under any premium finance plan, agreement, or arrangement; and

(2) a cancellation or refusal to renew by or at the direction of any person acting pursuant to any power or authority under any premium finance plan, agreement, or arrangement, whether or not with power of attorney or assignment from the insured, constitutes a cancellation or refusal to renew by the insurer.

Subd. 6. Except as otherwise stated in subdivision 5, this section does not limit or apply to any termination, modification, or cancellation of the insurance, or to any suspension of insurance coverage, by or at the request of the insured.

Subd. 7. This section does not affect any right an insurer has under other law to rescind or otherwise terminate insurance because of fraud or other willful misconduct of the insured at the inception of the insuring transaction or the right of either party to reform the contract on the basis of mutual mistake of fact.

Subd. 8. An insurer, his authorized agents and employees, and any other person furnishing information upon which he has relied, are not liable for any statement made in good faith pursuant to subdivision 4.

Subd. 9. Nothing contained in this section shall allow an insurer to terminate insurance solely because of the age of the insured or for reasons which are arbitrary or capricious. No insurer shall terminate insurance on the statements or charges of any person made to the insurer concerning alleged unsafe driving habits of an insured unless the insurer shall concurrently disclose to the insured the name and address of the person from whom the insurer received the information.

Subd. 10. Proof of mailing of notice of termination or modification of insurance and, if required herein, the reason or reasons therefor to the named insured at the address shown in the policy, shall be sufficient proof that notice required herein has been given. A certificate of mailing on United States Postal Form 3817, as defined in Part 165 of the United States Postal Manual as now existing or hereafter changed by the United States Postal Department, shall constitute proof of mailing.

Subd. 11. When the insurer notifies the policyholder of termination or modification of insurance, the insurer shall also notify the named insured of his right to complain within 14 days of his receipt of notice to the commissioner of insurance of such action and of the nature of and his possible eligibility for insurance under the plan established in section 35.

Subd. 12. (1) Any individual who believes the termination or modification of his insurance is in violation of law, may, not later than 14 days after receipt of notice thereof, file in writing an objection to such action with the commissioner of insurance.

(2) Upon receipt of a written objection the commissioner of insurance shall notify the insurer of receipt of the objection and of the right of the insurer to file a written response thereto within ten days of receipt of notification. The commissioner of insurance in his discretion may also order an investigation of the objection or complaint, the submission of additional information by the insured or the insurer about the action by the insurer or the objections of the insured, or such other procedure as he deems appropriate or necessary. Within 23 days of receipt of written objection by an insured the commissioner of insurance shall approve or disapprove the insurer's action and shall notify the insured and insurer of his final decision. Either party may institute proceedings for judicial review of the commissioner's decision; provided, however, that the commissioner's final decision shall be binding pending judicial review.

Sec. 37. [PENALTIES.] Subdivision 1. An owner of a motor vehicle who operates the vehicle or permits it to be operated in this state when he knows or should know that he has failed to comply with the requirement that he provide security covering the vehicle, is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction may be fined not more than $300 or imprisoned for not more than 90 days, or both. The court may recommend the suspension of the driver's license or operating privilege of the person so convicted and the commissioner of public safety shall suspend the license or privilege as recommended without the hearing provided for in subdivision 5.

Subd. 2. If an owner of a motor vehicle has operated it or permitted it to be operated in this state when he has failed to comply with the security requirements of section 7, the commissioner of public safety may suspend the driver's license or operating privilege for a period of not more than six months; provided, however, the person shall be eligible for the limited license authorized by Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 171.30.

Subd. 3. When a nonresident's operating privilege is suspended pursuant to this section, the department shall transmit a copy of the record of such action to the official in charge of the issuance of licenses in the state in which the nonresident resides.

Subd. 4. Upon receipt of such notification that the operating privilege of a resident of this state has been suspended or revoked in any other state pursuant to a law providing for its suspension or revocation for failure to deposit security for the payment of judgments arising out of a motor vehicle accident, or for failure to provide security covering a vehicle if required by the laws of that state, the commissioner of public safety shall suspend the license of the resident until he furnishes evidence of compliance with the laws of the other state.

Subd. 5. The commissioner shall not suspend a driver's license or nonresident's operating privilege pursuant to subdivision 2 unless he has first provided the person with notice of the proposed suspension and the reasons therefor and an opportunity for an evidentiary hearing appropriate to the nature of the case, at which the person may contest the commissioner's right to suspend by confronting adverse witnesses and by orally presenting his own arguments and evidence. Notice shall be given either by personal delivery thereof to the person to be so notified or by deposit in the United States mail of such notice in an envelope with postage prepaid, addressed to such person at his address as shown by the records of the department. The giving of notice by mail is complete upon the expiration of 4 days after such deposit of said notice. Any person aggrieved by a final order of the commissioner under this section may review the order in the manner set forth in Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 15.0424, 15.0425, and 15.0426.

Subd. 6. Sec. 40. [RULES OF COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC SAFETY.] Subdivision 1. The commissioner of public safety shall have the power and perform the duties imposed upon him by this act and may adopt rules to implement and provide effective administration of the provisions on evidence of security and termination of security.

Subd. 2. The commissioner of public safety may by rule provide that motor vehicles owned by certain persons may not be registered in this state unless satisfactory evidence is furnished that security has been provided as required by section 7 of this act. If a person who is required to furnish evidence ceases to maintain security, he shall immediately surrender the registration certificate and license plates for the vehicle. These requirements may be imposed if:

(1) The registrant has not previously registered a motor vehicle in this state; or

(2) An owner or operator of the vehicle has previously failed to comply with the security requirements of this act or of prior law; or

(3) The driving record of an owner or operator of the vehicle evidences his continuing disregard of the laws of this state enacted to protect the public safety; or

(4) Other circumstances indicate that such action is necessary to effectuate the purposes of this act.

Sec. 41. [UNIFORMITY OF APPLICATION AND CONSTRUCTION.] This act shall be so applied and construed as to effectuate its general purpose and to make uniform the law with respect to the subject of this act among those states which enact it.

Sec. 42. [SEVERABILITY.] Subdivision 1. Except as provided in subdivision 2, if any provision of this act or application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the act which can be given effect without the involved provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this act are severable.

Subd. 2. If any restriction on the retained tort liability in section 5, subdivision 1, clause (6) or clause (7), or application thereof to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, this act shall be interpreted as if the clause containing the invalid restriction had not been enacted.

Sec. 43. [SHORT TITLE.] Sections 1 to 43 may be cited as the "Uniform Motor Vehicle Accident Reparations Act".

Sec. 44. [DRIVER DEEMED AGENT OF OWNER.] Whenever any motor vehicle shall be operated within this state, by any person other than the owner, with the consent of the owner, express or implied, the operator thereof shall in case of accident, be deemed the agent of the owner of such motor vehicle in the operation thereof.

Sec. 45. [SERVICE OF PROCESS: RESIDENTS: NONRESIDENTS: COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC SAFETY AS AGENT.] Subdivision 1. The use and operation by a resident of this state or his agent, or by a nonresident or his agent of a motor vehicle within the state of Minnesota, shall be deemed an irrevocable appointment by such resident when he has been absent from this state continuously for six months or more following an accident, or by such nonresident at any time, of the commissioner of public safety to be his true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served all legal process in any action or proceeding against him or his executor, administrator, or personal representative growing out of such use and operation of a motor vehicle within this state, resulting in damages or loss to person or property, whether the damage or loss occurs on a highway or on abutting public or private property. Such appointment is binding upon the nonresident's executor, administrator, or personal representative. Such use or operation of a motor vehicle by such resident or nonresident is a signification of his agreement that any such process in any action against him or his executor, administrator, or personal representative which is so served, shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served upon him personally or on his executor, administrator, or personal representative. Service of such process shall be made by serving a copy thereof upon the commissioner or by filing such copy in his office, together with payment of a fee of $2, and such service shall be sufficient service upon the absent resident or the nonresident or his executor, administrator, or personal representative; provided that notice of such service and a copy of the process are within ten days thereafter sent by mail by the plaintiff to the defendant at his last known address and that the plaintiff's affidavit of compliance with the provisions of this chapter is attached to the summons.

Subd. 2. The court in which the action is pending may order such continuance as may be necessary to afford the defendant reasonable opportunity to defend any such action, not exceeding 90 days from the date of filing of the action in such court. The fee of $2 paid by the plaintiff to the commissioner at the time of service of such proceedings shall be taxed in his cost if he prevails in the suit. The said commissioner shall keep a record of all such processes so served which shall show the day and hour of such service.

Sec. 46. [ABSTRACTS; FEES.] The commissioner of public safety shall, upon payment of a $2.50 fee, furnish any person a certified abstract of the operating record of any person, and if there is no record that he has been convicted of violating a law relating to the operation of a motor vehicle or has caused any injury or damage with a motor vehicle, the commissioner shall so certify.

Reports the same back with the recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 325, is amended by adding a section to read:

[325.95] [DEFINITIONS.] Subdivision 1. As used in this act, the terms defined in this section have the meanings given them.

Subd. 2. “Consumer sale” means a sale of new goods, or as regards an express warranty, any goods, purchased primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, and not for agricultural or business purposes.

Subd. 3. “Goods” are as defined in Minnesota Statutes, Section 325.94.

Subd. 4. “New goods” mean those goods which are purchased for the first time other than for purposes of resale.

Subd. 5. “Express warranty” means a written statement arising out of a consumer sale pursuant to which the manufacturer, distributor, or retailer undertakes (1) to preserve or maintain the utility or performance of the goods or provide compensation or replacement if there is a failure in utility or performance; or (2) declares that in the event of any sample or model, that the whole of the goods conforms to the sample or model. It is not necessary to the creation of an express warranty that formal words such as “warrant” or “guarantee” be used or that a specific intention to make a warranty be present, but an affirmation merely of the value of the goods or a statement purporting to be merely an opinion or commendation of the goods does not create a warranty.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 325, is amended by adding a section to read:

[325.96] [IMPLIED WARRANTIES.] Subdivision 1. Unless disclaimed in the manner prescribed in subdivision 2, every consumer sale in this state shall be accompanied by an implied warranty that the goods are merchantable, and, in a consumer sale where the seller has reason to know that the goods are required for a particular purpose and that the buyer is relying on the seller’s skill or judgment to select or furnish suitable goods, an implied warranty of fitness. A seller may, however, limit damages or remedies for breach of implied warranties as provided in Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 336.

Subd. 2. [DISCLAIMER.] No consumer sale on an “as is” or “with all faults” basis shall be effective to disclaim the implied warranty of merchantability, or, where applicable, the implied warranty of fitness, unless a conspicuous writing clearly informs the buyer, prior to the sale, in simple and concise language each of the following:

(1) The goods are being sold on an "as is" or "with all faults" basis; and

(2) The entire risk as to the quality and performance of the goods is with the buyer.

In event of a consumer sale by means of a mail order catalog, the catalog may contain the required writing in lieu of the requirement of notification prior to the sale.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 325, is amended by adding a section to read:

[325.97] [EXPRESS WARRANTIES.] Subdivision 1. [DISCLAIMERS.] No express warranty arising out of a consumer sale of new goods shall disclaim implied warranties of merchantability, or, where applicable, of fitness.

Subd. 2. [HONORING OF EXPRESS WARRANTIES.] The maker of an express warranty arising out of a consumer sale in this state shall honor the terms of the express warranty. In a consumer sale, the manufacturer shall honor an express warranty made by the manufacturer; the distributor shall honor an express warranty made by the distributor; and the retail seller shall honor an express warranty made by the retail seller.

Subd. 3. [LIABILITY OF MANUFACTURER TO RETAILER.] Every manufacturer who makes an express warranty pursuant to a consumer sale, who authorizes a retail seller within this state to perform services or repairs under the terms of the express warranty shall be liable to the retail seller in an amount equal to that which is charged by the retail seller for like service or repairs rendered to retail consumers who are not entitled to warranty protection.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 325, is amended by adding a section to read:

[325.98] [REMEDIES.] A violation of this act shall be treated as a violation of Minnesota Statutes, Section 325.79. The remedies provided by this act are cumulative and shall not be construed as restricting any remedy that is otherwise available.

“Section 1. Subdivision 1. Unless the language or context clearly indicates that a different meaning is intended, the following terms for the purposes of this act shall have the meanings given them.

Subd. 2. [GASOLINE.] “Gasoline” means:

(a) all products commonly or commercially known or sold as gasoline including casinghead and absorption or natural gasoline, regardless of their classification or uses; and

(b) any liquid prepared, advertised, offered for sale or sold for use as or commonly and commercially used as a fuel in internal combustion engines, which when subjected to distillation in accordance with the standard method of test for distillation of gasoline, naphtha, kerosene and similar petroleum products (American society for testing materials designation D-86) shows not less than ten percent distilled (recovered) below 347 degrees Fahrenheit, or 175 degrees centigrade, and not less than 95 percent distilled (recovered) below 464 degrees Fahrenheit, or 240 degrees centigrade; provided however, that “gasoline” shall not include liquified gases which would not exist as liquids at a temperature of 60 degrees Fahrenheit and at a pressure of 14.7 pounds per square inch absolute.

Subd. 3. [FUEL OIL.] “Fuel oil” means any petroleum product other than gasoline as herein defined which when tested in accordance with the methods the American society for testing materials shall not flash below 110 degrees Fahrenheit and which has a viscosity of not more than 40 seconds at 100 degrees Fahrenheit by the Saybolt Universal process.

Subd. 4. [DISTRIBUTOR.] “Distributor” means any person licensed in compliance with Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 296 (a) who receives petroleum products in this state for storage and subsequent distribution by tank car or (b) who produces, manufactures or refines petroleum products in this state, or (c) who imports petroleum products into this state via boat, barge or pipeline for storage and subsequent delivery at, or further transportation from, boat, barge or pipeline terminals in this state, provided that “distributor” does not mean cooperative association as defined in the federal agricultural marketing act.

Subd. 5. [DEALER.] “Dealer” means any person, except a distributor engaged in the business of buying and selling gasoline and other petroleum products in that state and registered in compliance with Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 296.

Subd. 6. [PERSON.] “Person” means any individual, firm, trust, estate, partnership, association, joint stock company or corporation, public or private, or any representative appointed by order of any court.

Subd. 7. [LARGE CONTRACT PURCHASER.] “Large contract purchaser” means any person, except a distributor or dealer, who purchases gasoline or fuel oil in bulk quantities for his own use from a distributor.

Subd. 8. [SUPPLIER.] "Supplier" means any person engaged in the business of storing in Minnesota or supplying to the state the following products

Subd. 9. [ENERGY.] "Energy supplies", or "Energy sources" means gasoline, fuel oil, natural gas, propane, coal, special fuels, and electricity.

Sec. 2. Subdivision 1. A distributor may not discriminate with regard to the price at which he sells gasoline or fuel oil or the price at which the dealer resells the product.

Subd. 2. A distributor who has sufficient supplies to fill all of the orders for purchase of gasoline or fuel oil made in compliance with the requirements of this section shall accept each order and make the sale contained in the order. To constitute an order which a distributor must accept, the order shall:

- (1) be made by a dealer or large contract purchaser;
- (2) be made at least five days prior to the first day of the month in which the purchase is to be made.
- (3) provide that the purchase price shall be determined by the distributor;
- (4) state the price above which the offer is void;
- (5) be accompanied by a deposit of at least 25 percent of the purchase price.

In determining the amount of the deposit, the purchase price shall be computed using the rate charged by the distributor in the month for which the order is made. If the deposit is more than the actual cost of the gasoline or fuel oil sold to the dealer or large contract purchaser during that month, the distributor shall refund the excess payment. There shall be no interest charge if refunded prior to the seventh day of that month. Thereafter the distributor shall pay interest on the excess payment at a rate of one percent per month. Any fraction of a month shall be considered as a month. If a dealer or large contract purchaser has a history of bad credit with a distributor, the distributor may require prepayment of the full purchase price.

Subd. 3. If on the first day of a given calendar month a distributor does not anticipate having a sufficient supply of gasoline or fuel oil to meet all of the orders made in compliance with the requirements of subdivision 1, he shall sell only to dealers or large contract purchasers who have made those orders. The distributor shall fill all of the orders for that month made by health care facilities licensed pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Sections 144.50 through 144.56 and water works, gas works and electric light, heat and power works and shall allocate his remaining supply in the following manner. If during the previous 12 months, less than 90 percent of the distributor's sales were to dealers or large contract purchasers who are owned, controlled by, or otherwise affiliated with the distributor, the distributor's sales shall be made in the following manner. Each dealer or large contract purchaser who submitted an order shall be entitled to purchase the percentage of the distributor's supply for that month which is equal to the percentage of the distributor's total sales purchased by the dealer or large contract purchaser during the previous 12 months. If 90 percent or more of a distributor's sales during the previous 12 months were to dealers or large contract purchasers who are owned, controlled by or otherwise affiliated with the distributor, the distributor's sales shall be made in the following manner.

(a) A percentage of the supply for that month shall be offered for sale to dealers or large contract purchasers not owned, controlled by or otherwise affiliated with the distributor, and who have made orders for that month. This percentage shall be determined by taking the percentage of the total amount ordered for that month which was ordered by dealers or large contract purchasers not owned, controlled, or otherwise affiliated with the distributor and multiplying it by a fraction which has as its numerator the distributor's supply for that month and as its denominator the total amount ordered.

(b) The remainder of the supply for that month shall be offered for sale to the dealers or large contract purchasers who had made purchases from the distributor during the previous 12 months and who have made orders for that month. Each dealer or large contract purchaser shall be entitled to purchase the percentage of this remaining supply which is equal to the percentage of the distributor's total sales purchased by the dealer or large contract purchaser during the previous 12 months. Gasoline or fuel oil received by a dealer or large contract purchaser pursuant to clause (a) shall be considered in determining the amount he is eligible to purchase pursuant to clause (b).

Subd. 4. If on the first day of a month a distributor does not anticipate having a sufficient supply of gasoline, or fuel oil to meet all of the orders made in compliance with the requirements of subdivision 1, he shall make a report to the public service commission. The report shall list all orders for that month, the supplies he anticipates having for sale during the month, and his sales for the last 12 month including identification of the dealers or large contract purchasers who made purchases, the monthly amounts of purchases, and the respective prices. This report shall be signed by the distributor and certified that the information contained in the report is accurate to the best of his knowledge. These reports shall be open to public inspection. If a distributor fails to provide a report on or before the seventh day of the calendar month for which the orders were made, he shall be subject to a fine of not more than $1,000. If the distributor makes in the report a false material statement which he does not believe to be true, he shall be guilty of a felony.

If at any time during a calendar month a distributor who had anticipated on the first day of that month having a sufficient supply to meet all of the orders for that month but determines that his supply is in fact not sufficient to meet those orders, he shall within seven days file a report with the public service commission pursuant to this subdivision. He shall allocate his remaining monthly supply pursuant to the provisions of subdivision 2 to the extent possible.

The public service commission shall make all rules and regulations necessary for the implementation of this act.

Sec. 3. No dealer may advertise the brand of his gasoline or fuel oil without the written permission of the distributor.

Sec. 4. [INFORMATION.] Subdivision 1. All suppliers of energy sources shall file with the governor any information pertaining to the supply and distribution of energy sources to be used within the state which is requested by the governor. The information shall be furnished within the times specified by the governor.

Subd. 2. For the six-month periods beginning on April 1 and October 1 of each year, all energy suppliers shall file a statement which indicates any anticipated decrease of energy sources which he will supply to the state for that six-month period. The statement shall be filed at least six months prior to the beginning of any reporting period. If at any time subsequent to filing the statement, the supplier receives any additional information affecting the accuracy of the statement, he shall amend the statement within 15 days of receiving the information. Included in the statement shall be an explanation of the causes for the decrease or changes in distribution patterns.

Sec. 5. Subdivision 1. [PENALTY.] Any person violating any of the provisions of section 2 shall be subject to a 30-day suspension of the license granted him pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 296.

Subd. 2. Any person violating the provisions of section 3 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Subd. 3. Any person violating the provisions of section 4, subdivision 2, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Sec. 6. Subdivision 1. A dealer or large contract purchaser who believes that a distributor has violated the provisions of this act with regard to his transactions with the distributor may submit a written claim to the public service commission. The attorney general shall investigate each claim and shall have the power to conduct a hearing, to subpoena records of distribution and to administer oaths. If the public service commission determines that a distributor has violated this act, the public service commission shall submit its evidence to the county attorney in the county in which the distributor has his principle office.

Subd. 2. In addition to any criminal proceeding authorized by this act, the attorney general or any person aggrieved by a violation of this act may proceed against the person responsible for the violation by means of injunction in the district court in the manner prescribed by law."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof:

"Section 1. [CITATION.] Sections 1 to 8 may be cited as the "Minnesota Family Planning Act".

Sec. 2. [POLICY AND PURPOSE.] The legislature finds that an unwanted pregnancy and subsequent abortion performed for the sole purpose of terminating an unwanted pregnancy is detrimental to the physical, mental and social well being of the citizens of the state. Furthermore, the legislature finds that the establishment of family planning services and the removal of restrictions on contraceptive information and procedures are means of avoiding unwanted pregnancy which are effective and compatible with individual ethical values.

Sec. 3. [DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH; RESPONSIBILITIES.] Subdivision 1. The Minnesota state department of health shall:

(a) compile, keep current and publish a comprehensive directory of board of health approved public and private family planning services available in this state;

(b) offer and provide training programs for state employees who are in regular contact with and counsel persons who do, or are likely to, desire family planning services; these training programs shall be designed to provide employees with complete information regarding family planning and contraception; and

(c) develop family planning programs in consultation and coordination with other family planning agencies in this state.

Subd. 2. [FAMILY PLANNING CENTERS.] The state board of health shall cause the establishment and operation of family planning centers throughout the state. The centers shall provide counseling, contraceptive and referral services as well as outreach programs. The board shall, pursuant to the administrative procedures act, promulgate rules concerning the operation of the centers. The board may operate the centers directly or may contract with public or nonprofit organizations for the provision of services.

Sec. 4. [DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION; RESPONSIBILITIES.] Subdivision 1. Subd. 2. The department of education shall require that local school districts provide family life education and information on family planning and contraceptive procedures which shall be available at each public school upon request by teachers, parents, or students, with the concurrence of the parents.

Sec. 5. [DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE; RESPONSIBILITIES.] The department of public welfare shall, pursuant to the provisions of P.L. 92-603, make available, upon request, contraceptive devices and information concerning family planning services.

Sec. 6. [INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS; MEDICAL PRIVILEGES.] Subdivision 1. The refusal of any person to accept family planning services shall in no way affect the right of such person to receive public assistance of public health services or to avail himself of any public benefit.

Subd. 2. The employees of the agencies engaged in the administration of the provisions of this act shall recognize that the right to make decisions concerning family planning and birth control is a fundamental personal right of the individual, and nothing in this act shall in any way abridge such individual right, nor shall any individual be required to state his reason for refusing the offer of family planning services.

Subd. 3. No condition shall be imposed upon the application for or receipt by any person of family planning services provided by any public department or agency, except that such person may be referred to a licensed physician.

Subd. 4. No unit of state or local government, or any hospital, medical center, clinic or pharmacy which is licensed by or otherwise authorized to do business in this state shall have or impose any policy which shall interfere with the physician-patient relationship of any physician or patient who desires to use or dispense any medically acceptable contraceptive procedure, other than abortion, device or information. Provided, however, that the provisions of this subdivision shall not be construed to require any natural person to provide or consult concerning contraceptive procedures, devices or information.

Sec. 7. [ADVERTISING AND SALE OF CONTRACEPTIVE DEVICES.] Notwithstanding any other provision of law or rule or regulation of any state department, agency, board, commission, or of any political subdivision of the state to the contrary, it shall be lawful for any person to advertise and sell in this state in accordance with federal regulations, any contraceptive device.

Sec. 8. "Prescription device" means any device which is required by federal law or regulation to bear the statement "Caution, federal law restricts this device to sale by or on the order of a physician", or words of similar effect.

Sec. 9. Prescription devices shall be sold or dispensed only by those persons permitted to sell or dispense legend drugs pursuant to subdivisions 1 through 8 of this section, or by a nonprofit organization permitted to do so by rule, pursuant to the administrative procedures act, by the state board of health.

Sec. 10. [APPROPRIATIONS.] Subdivision 1. There is hereby appropriated to the state department of health from the general fund $. for the purposes of this act.

Subd. 2. There is hereby appropriated to the state department of education from the general fund $. for the purposes of this act.

27.001. [PUBLIC POLICY.] The legislature recognizes that perishable agriculture products are important sources of revenue to a large number of citizens of this state engaged in producing, processing, manufacturing, or selling such products and that such products cannot be repossessed in case of default. It is therefore declared to be the policy of the legislature that certain financial protection in the form of a corporate surety bond be afforded those who are producers on the farm; farmer cooperatives exempted from wholesale produce dealers licensed by reason of Laws 1969, Chapter 471; Minnesota licensed wholesale produce dealers, including the retail merchant purchasing produce directly from farmers; ~~and non profit organizations producing agricultural produce for resale and brokers licensed as a wholesale produce dealer to do business in the state.~~ In addition, it is recognized that the farmer is in need of additional financial protection since he must rely upon sound marketing practices of a licensed and bonded wholesale produce dealer who has access to commercial sources of credit references not readily available to farmers. Therefore, additional resources beyond the proceeds of the bond are hereby declared to be made available to farmers when the required Wholesale Produce Dealers Bond is insufficient or where due to insolvency, the available resources are insufficient to cover the claims against the wholesale produce dealer. The provisions of this chapter which relate to perishable agricultural commodities shall be liberally construed to achieve these ends and shall be administered and enforced with a view to carrying out the above declaration of policy.”

S. F. No. 1729: A bill for an act relating to agriculture, dairy promotion act; voting on promotional orders by producer-members of a cooperative association; amending Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 32B.04, Subdivision 4.

Reports the same back with the recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof:

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 32B.04, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. The board of directors shall meet within 15 days after their election has been certified by the commissioner. The commissioner and board of directors shall formulate a promotional order establishing a program for research and development to promote the marketing of milk and milk products including but not limited to marketing, research, processing, distribution and advertising. The order shall provide for the method of collecting fees from milk producers in Minnesota to finance the proposed activities and the fees shall not exceed one percent of the market value of the product sold by the producer. The exact fee must be stated in the promotional order and can be changed only by a referendum vote, conducted in the same manner as the promotional referendum. For the first two years of this promotional order, the fee shall not exceed one half of one percent of market value of the product sold by the producer. The commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board of directors shall hold a public hearing on the promotional order and shall thereafter conduct a referendum on the final promotional order. For purposes of voting in a referendum on a final order, the vote in the name of a cooperative association of producers shall be deemed the vote of all producer-members of that cooperative association. The commissioner with the advice and consent of the board of directors shall schedule and specify procedures for the referendum. A ballot prepared by the board of directors and the commissioner of agriculture shall be sent by each cooperative to its member and non-member producers with a return envelope addressed to the commissioner of agriculture. The ballot shall indicate that the cooperative association intends to vote in favor or in opposition to the question. In the case of member-producers the ballot shall indicate expiration date of the ballot and state that if not returned by said date, the ballot shall be considered to be the vote of the association. The ballot shall be returned to the commissioner of agriculture. A cooperative association shall not be required to bloc vote its producers but in such event it shall inform each producer of its decision and provide each producer with an individual referendum ballot with a return envelope addressed to the commissioner of agriculture.

Each private processor shall file a list of producers who market their production with said private processor with the commissioner. The commissioner of agriculture will mail each producer who markets through a private processor an individual ballot with a return envelope addressed to the commissioner of agriculture. These ballots shall be returned to the commissioner. The commissioner shall count and tabulate all ballots. The promotional order shall become effective if approved by a majority of those voting in the referendum. The promotional order shall provide amongst other things for the collection of fees from producers by the first buyer. Fees collected shall be expended only for the specific purpose for which collected.

Each cooperative and private processor shall file with the commissioner a list of producers, who market the bulk of their production with said cooperative or private processor.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 32B.06, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. A subsequent referendum, using initial voting procedures, shall be held prior to January 1, 1975, 1980, and each five years thereafter. The order shall terminate at the end of the calendar year, if a majority referendum vote is negative.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 32B.09, is amended to read:

32B.09 [REFUND OF FEES; MILK MARKETING PROGRAM.] Any producer may by the use of forms furnished by the commissioner of agriculture have the fee paid pursuant to sections 32B.01 to 32B.13 refunded to him, provided such request for refund is received in the office of the commissioner within ~~60~~ six months following the payment of such fee. The date of payment of such fee shall be defined as the date of producer settlement by the first buyer to the producer.

No. 734: A bill for an act relating to water resources; imposing certain duties in relation thereto on the commissioner of natural resources, department of administration, state planning agency, pollution control agency, department of health, department of economic development, iron range resources and rehabilitation commission, water resources board, department of agriculture, university of Minnesota, state college system, metropolitan council, counties, and municipalities; defining "public waters"; establishing a statewide water information system; providing standards, fees, application procedures, and enforcement for permits for appropriation and use of public waters, and for changing the course, current, or cross-section of public waters; establishing a comprehensive program for control, maintenance, repair, and abandonment of dams and emergency flood levees; establishing a comprehensive program for removal of snags and other debris from streams; appropriating money; amending Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 105.37, by adding subdivisions; 105.38, 105.39, Subdivision 1; 105.40, Subdivisions 7, 8, 10, and 13; 105.41; 105.42; 105.43; 105.44, by adding subdivisions; 105.45; 105.49; 105.50; 105.52; 105.64, Subdivision 1; Chapter 105, by adding sections; 106.021, Subdivision 3; 110.14; 110.36; Chapter 110, by adding sections; 115.01, Subdivision 9; and 361.02, Subdivision 12; repealing Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 113.01 to 113.06.

Reports the same back with the recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof:

"Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 105.41, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

105.41 [APPROPRIATION AND USE OF WATERS.] Subdivision 1. It shall be unlawful for the state, any person, partnership, or association, private or public corporation, county, municipality, or other political subdivision of the state to appropriate or use any waters of the state, surface or underground, without the written permit of the commissioner, previously obtained upon written application therefor to the commissioner.

Subd. 1a. The commissioner may give such permits subject to such conditions as he may find advisable or necessary in the public interest, shall promulgate by July 1, 1974, in the manner provided by chapter 15, rules governing the allocation of waters among potential water users. These rules shall be based on the following priorities for appropriation and use of water:

First priority—Domestic water supply, excluding industrial and commercial uses of municipal water supply.

Second priority—Any use of water that involves consumption of less than 10,000 gallons of water per day. For purposes of this section "consumption" shall mean water withdrawn from a supply which is lost for immediate further use in the area.

Third priority—Power production, involving consumption in excess of 10,000 gallons per day.

Fourth priority—Agricultural irrigation, involving consumption in excess of 10,000 gallons per day.

Fifth priority—Industrial and commercial uses, involving consumption in excess of 10,000 gallons per day.

Sixth priority — Other uses, involving consumption in excess of 10,000 gallons per day.

Appropriation and use of surface water from streams during periods of flood flows and high water levels shall be encouraged subject to consideration of the purposes for use, quantities to be used, and the number of persons appropriating water.

Appropriation and use of surface water from lakes of less than 500 acres in surface area shall be discouraged.

Diversions of water from the state for use in other states or regions of the United States or Canada shall be discouraged, subject to the jurisdiction of the United States government.

No permit shall be issued under this section unless it is consistent with state, regional, and local water and related land resources management plans, provided that regional and local plans are consistent with statewide plans.

Subd. 1b. No permit shall be required for the appropriation and use of less than a minimum amount to be established by the commissioner by regulation. Permits for more than the minimum amount but less than an intermediate amount to be specified by the commissioner by regulation shall be processed and approved at the municipal, county, or regional level based on regulations to be established by the commissioner by January 1, 1976. The regulations shall include provisions for reporting to the commissioner the amounts of water appropriated pursuant to local permits. Fees for permits shall be paid to the agency processing them. Fees paid to the commissioner shall be deposited in the state treasury. Fees paid to municipal, county, and regional agencies shall be deposited in their respective treasuries.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to the use of water for domestic purposes serving at any time less than 25 persons, and nothing in this subdivision shall apply to any beneficial uses and rights, outside the geographical limits of any municipality, in existence on July 1, 1937, or to any beneficial uses and rights, within the geographical limits of any municipality, in existence on July 1, 1959.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 105.42, is amended to read:

105.42 [PERMISSION REQUIRED TO BUILD DAMS.] Subdivision 1. Except in the construction and maintenance of highways when the control of public waters is not affected, it shall be unlawful for the state, any person, partnership, association, private or public corporation, county, municipality or other political subdivision of the state, to construct, reconstruct, remove, or abandon or make any change in any reservoir, dam or waterway obstruction on any public water; or in any manner, other than in the usual operation of dams beneficially using water prior to July 1, 1937, to change or diminish the course, current or cross-section of any public waters, wholly or partly within the state, without a written permit from the commissioner previously obtained. Application for such permit shall be in writing to the commissioner on forms prescribed by him.

Subd. 2b. The commissioner shall promulgate by July 1, 1974, in the manner provided by chapter 15, regulations containing standards and criteria governing the issuance and denial of permits under this section. These standards and criteria shall relate to the diversion of water from other uses and changes in the level of public waters to insure that projects will be completed and maintained in a satisfactory manner. After November 15, 1974, a permit shall be granted under this section only when the project conforms to state, regional, and local water and related land resources management plans, and only when it will involve a minimum of encroachment, change, or damage to the environment, particularly the ecology of the waterway. In those instances where a major change in the resource is justified, permits shall include provisions to compensate for the detrimental aspects of the change.

In unincorporated areas and, after January 1, 1975, in incorporated areas, permits that will involve excavation in the beds of public waters shall be granted only where the area in which the excavation will take place is covered by a shoreland conservation ordinance approved by the commissioner and only where the work to be authorized is consistent with the shoreland conservation ordinance. Each permit that will involve excavation in the public waters shall include provisions governing the deposition of spoil materials.

No permit affecting flood waters shall be granted except where the area covered by the permit is governed by a flood plain management ordinance approved by the commissioner and the conduct authorized by the permit is consistent with the flood plain management ordinance, provided that the commissioner has determined that sufficient information is available for the adoption of a flood plain ordinance. No permit involving the control of flood waters by structural means, such as dams, dikes, levees, and channel improvements, shall be granted until after the commissioner has given due consideration to all other flood damage reduction alternatives. In developing his policy with regard to placing emergency levees along the banks of public waters under flood emergency conditions, the commissioner shall consult and cooperate with the office of civil defense.

No permit that will involve a change in the level of public waters shall be granted unless the shoreline adjacent to the waters to be changed is governed by a shoreland conservation ordinance approved by the commissioner and the change in water level is consistent with that shoreland conservation ordinance. Standards and procedures for use in deciding the level of a particular lake must insure that the rights of all persons are protected when lake levels are changed and shall include provisions for providing technical advice to all persons involved, for establishing alternatives to assist local agencies in resolving water level conflicts, and mechanics necessary to provide for local resolution of water problems within the state guidelines.

Subd. 3. The commissioner, subject to the approval of the county board, shall have power to grant permits under such terms and conditions as he shall prescribe, to establish, construct, maintain and control wharfs, docks, piers, levees, breakwaters, basins, canals and hangars in or adjacent to public waters of the state except within the corporate limits of cities or villages.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 105.44, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 1b. [EXCAVATION CHARGES.] The commissioner shall impose charges for the excavation of minerals from the beds of public waters, as provided in chapter 93.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 105.49, is amended to read:

105.49 [COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES.] The commissioner may cooperate and enter into agreements with the United States government, any department of the state of Minnesota, or any state or country adjacent to the state of Minnesota for the purpose of effecting any of the provisions of sections 105.37 to 105.55. He may cooperate with any department of the government of the United States in the execution of surveys within the state.

Personnel of the pollution control agency, the health department, and county and municipal governments shall cooperate with the commissioner in monitoring and enforcing water permits. It shall be the duty of all county attorneys, sheriffs, and other peace officers and other officers having authority to take all action to the extent of their authority, respectively, that may be necessary or proper for the enforcement of any of the provisions, regulations, standards, orders, or permits specified in sections 105.37 to 105.55.

Sec. 5. [GRANTS IN AID; PRIORITIES.] The commissioner of natural resources with the assistance of the pollution control agency and the state planning agency shall make an assessment of the need for particular kinds of lake improvements including improvements related to pollution problems, high or low water levels, and any other resource management considerations and to develop by January 1, 1974, criteria for allocating state aid funds among proposed projects. Where these relate to control of or studies of sources and effects of waste per se, any grant funds for such work shall be under the pollution control agency directly or subject to the pollution control agency priority system. Provisions shall be included to insure that any federal program of aid to local lake improvement projects serves to reduce the local share of project costs rather than reducing only the state's share.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 113.01; 113.02; 113.03; 113.04; 113.05; and 113.06 are repealed."

Strike the title and insert in lieu thereof:

"A bill for an act relating to water resources; imposing certain duties in relation thereto on the commissioner of natural resources, counties, and municipalities; providing standards for permits for appropriation and use of public waters, and for changing the course, current, or cross-section of public waters; amending Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 105:41, Subdivision 1; 105.42; 105.44 by adding a subdivision; 105.49; repealing Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 113.01 to 113.06."

And when so amended the bill do pass. Amendments adopted. Report adopted.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof:

"Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 84.415, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

84.415 [LICENSES, PERMITS.] Subdivision 1. [UTILITY COMPANIES, PERMIT TO CROSS STATE-OWNED LANDS.] The commissioner of natural resources shall, on or before January 1, 1974, promulgate in the manner provided by Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 15, regulations containing standards and criteria governing the sale of licenses permitting the passage of utilities over public lands and waters. The regulations shall include provisions to insure that all projects for which licenses are sold will have a minimum adverse impact on the environment. The commissioner of natural resources may, at public or private sale and for such price and upon such terms as he may prescribe are specified in the regulations (except where prohibited by law) grant licenses permitting passage over, under, or across any part of any school, university, internal improvement, swamp, tax forfeited or other land or public water under the control of the commissioner of natural resources, or telephone, telegraph, and electric power lines, cables or conduits, underground or otherwise, or mains or pipe lines for gas, liquids, or solids in suspension. Any such license shall be cancelable upon reasonable notice by the commissioner for substantial violation of its terms, or if at any time its continuance will conflict with a public use of the land or water over or upon which it is granted, or for any other cause. All such land or public water shall remain subject to sale or lease or other legal use, but in case of sale, lease or other use there may be excepted from the grant of other disposition of land or public water all rights included in any license over, under, or across it, and the license may contain an agreement that there will be such exception. The commissioner may charge a fee in lieu of but not less than that authorized by subdivision 5 if he issues a license containing an agreement that there will be such an exception. All rights so excepted shall be reserved to the state and be cancelable by the commissioner for the same reasons or cause as they might have been canceled before such sale, lease or other use of the land or water. Upon such cancellation, which shall be only after reasonable notice to the licensee, all rights granted by the license shall be vested in the state and may be granted again by the commissioner on the terms and conditions he may prescribe, but subject to cancellation for the same reasons or causes as they might have been originally canceled unless ownership of the fee and of the license are merged. Any license granted before April 13, 1951, may be governed by it if the licensee and commissioner so agree. Reasonable notice as used in this subdivision means a 90 day written notice addressed to the record owner of the license at the last know address, and upon cancellation the commissioner may grant extensions of time to vacate the premises affected.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 84.415, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. [~~FEE.~~] ~~Such licenses or permits shall provide for a fee of not more than $4 per mile or proportionately for each fraction of a mile, but not less than $1 annually.~~ In the event the construction of such lines causes damage to timber or other property of the state on or along the same, the license or permit shall also provide for payment to the state treasurer of the amount thereof as may be determined by the commissioner.

All money received under such licenses or permits shall be credited to the fund to which other income or proceeds of sale from such land would be credited, if provision therefor be made by law, otherwise to the general fund.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 92.46, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 1a. Effective upon enactment of this subdivision, no new leases shall be made pursuant to subdivision 1. In any case where substantial improvements have been made to land leased pursuant to subdivision 1, the commissioner shall require the lessee to comply with applicable county ordinances for the management of shoreland areas and shall cancel any lease for non-compliance with these standards except those sub-standard uses authorized by the county ordinance.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.021, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

106.021 [POWERS OF COUNTY BOARDS AND OF DISTRICT COURTS.] Subdivision 1. [GENERALLY.] The county boards of the several counties, and the district courts are authorized to make all necessary orders for and cause to be constructed and maintained public drainage systems; to deepen, widen, straighten, or change the channel or bed of any waterway following the general direction thereof, and when practical, terminating therein; to extend the same into or through any municipality for the purpose of securing a suitable outlet; and to construct all needed dikes, dams, and control works and power appliances, pumps, and pumping machinery in the manner set forth by law.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.021, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.021, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [APPLICATION TO COMMISSIONER.] The petitioners for any public ditch, or the board or court may make application to the commissioner of natural resources for the authority required by subdivision 3 or for the determination of the status of meandered lakes basins or natural watercourses required by subdivision 2.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.021, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 6. [CRITERIA FOR PROPOSED DRAINAGE SYSTEMS.] Before January 1, 1974, the commissioner of natural resources shall promulgate, in the manner provided in chapter 15, a list of criteria that county boards must consider when establishing and improving drainage systems. The criteria shall relate to the social, economic, and environmental impact of the proposed drainage system, and shall include but not be limited to the following:

(a) An economic analysis of the public benefits derived from the proposed project;

(b) An analysis of present and anticipated agricultural land acreage availability and use within the county;

(c) An analysis of flooding characteristics of project lands involved;

(d) An analysis of alternative measures for the conservation, allocation, and development of the drainage waters;

(e) An analysis of water quality effects as a result of the proposed project;

(f) An analysis of fish and wildlife resources affected by the proposed project;

(g) An analysis of shallow ground water availability, distribution, and use in the project area;

(h) An analysis of the overall environmental impact of all the criteria in items (a) to (g).

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.081, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

106.081 [PRELIMINARY SURVEY AND REPORT.] Subdivision 1. [SURVEY AND REPORT.] The engineer shall promptly proceed and examine all matters set forth in the petition and order—and make such preliminary survey of the territory likely to be affected by the proposed improvement as will enable him to determine whether the same is necessary and feasible—and report accordingly in compliance with the requirements of Minnesota Statutes, Section 106.021. If some other plan than that described in the petition is found practical, the engineer shall so report, giving such detail and information as is necessary to inform the court or board on all matters pertaining to the feasibility of the proposed plan, either as outlined in the petition or according to a different plan recommended by the engineer. He shall show all changes, whether by extension, adding laterals, or otherwise, that may be necessary to make the plan of the proposed improvement practicable and feasible. If the construction of a ditch or drain is involved in the proposed improvement, the engineer shall examine and report the nature and capacity of the outlet and any necessary extension thereof.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.081, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

Subd. 3. [INCLUSION IN PRELIMINARY REPORT.] If he finds the improvement petitioned for is feasible, and complies with the requirements of section 106.021, he shall include in his report a preliminary plan of the proposed system showing thereon the proposed drain and laterals or other improvements, and the outlet thereof, together with the watershed of such drainage system and the lands and properties likely to be affected, including so far as known the names of the owners thereof. He shall show upon such plan the elevation of the outlet and the controlling elevations of the lands likely to be affected and also the probable size and character of the ditches and laterals necessary to make the plan practicable and feasible. All elevations so far as practical shall be referred to standard sea level datum. He shall show in his report the character of the outlet and the sufficiency thereof and also the probable cost of the drains and improvements shown on his plan, and all other information and data necessary to disclose the practicability, necessity and feasibility of the proposed improvement, including an analysis of the project as required by section 106.021 and such other information as the board or court may order.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.081, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [LIMITATION OF SURVEY.] The engineer shall confine his preliminary survey to the drainage area described in the petition, except to secure outlet, unless authorized by order of the board or court, with the consent of the bondsmen, at a hearing after ten days notice by mail to the petitioners and bondsmen; and any investigation made by the engineer as to outlet, without such order, shall be confined to running the necessary levels to ascertain the distance necessary to secure the proper fall. The preliminary survey shall include an analysis of the social, economic, and environmental impact of the project as required by section 106.021.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.091, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.] ~~Upon request by the board or court the director shall report to the board or court giving his opinion as to sufficiency of the engineer's report and as to the practicability and feasibility of the drainage system or improvements shown therein, together with his comments or recommendations thereon. Such report shall be filed with the auditor or clerk on or before the date fixed for the preliminary hearing or at any continuance thereof. If such report is not requested, the director may, in his discretion, report to the board or court. The commis-~~ sioner of natural resources shall report to the board or court giving his opinion as to the sufficiency and adequacy of the engineer's report. The commissioner shall set forth in his report any matters pertaining to the project which should be further investigated and evaluated in accordance with section 106.021. If the commissioner determines that the report is not adequate and sufficient, he shall so report. The commissioner's initial report shall be filed with the auditor or clerk on or before the date fixed for the preliminary hearing or at any continuance thereof. The commissioner may request additional time for review and evaluation of the engineer's report in cases where such additional time can be shown to be necessary for proper evaluation. However, no request for additional time for filing the commissioner's report may be made after five days from the date of notice by the auditor or clerk that a date is to be fixed for the preliminary hearing. No extension of time shall exceed two weeks from date of the request.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.101, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [HEARING.] The engineer shall attend the hearing and supply such information as may be necessary. The petitioners and all other parties interested may appear and be heard. ~~The director's report, if any, shall be publicly read. Such report shall be deemed advisory only.~~ The commissioner's report on the preliminary plan shall be publicly read and included in the record of proceedings.

Sec. 13. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.101, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [DISMISSAL.] At said hearing or any adjournment thereof, if it shall appear that the proposed improvement is not feasible, or that the adverse environmental impact is greater than the public benefit or utility based upon the requirements and criteria required to be considered by section 106.021, and no plan is reported by the engineer whereby it can be made feasible and acceptable, or that it is not of public benefit or utility for any other reason, or that the outlet is not adequate, the petition shall be dismissed.

Sec. 14. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.101, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. [FINDINGS AND ORDER.] If the board or court shall be satisfied that the proposed improvement as outlined in the petition or as modified and recommended by the engineer is feasible, that there is necessity therefor, that it will be of public benefit and promote the public health, based upon the requirements and criteria required to be considered by section 106.021, and that the outlet is adequate, the board or court shall so find and by such order shall designate the changes that shall be made in the proposed improvement from that outlined in the petition including such changes as are necessary to minimize or compensate for adverse impact on the environment. These changes may be described in general terms and shall be sufficiently described by filing with the order a map outlining the proposed improvement thereon.

Thereafter the petition shall be treated as modified accordingly. When the ditch shall outlet into an existing county or judicial ditch, the board or court may find that the outlet is adequate subject to confirmation and permission being obtained in accordance with section 106.531. In such case the board or court shall assign a number to the ditch and the board or court shall proceed to act in behalf of the ditch to obtain outlet rights in accordance with section 106.531.

Sec. 15. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.121, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [DATA AND REPORT.] The engineer shall prepare and submit the following data and report:

(a) A complete map of the drainage system or improvement drawn to scale, showing thereon (1) the termini and course of each drain and whether open or tile, and the location of all other proposed improvements; (2) the location and situation of the outlet; (3) the watershed of the drainage system and the sub-watershed of main branches, if any, together with the location of existing highway bridges and culverts; (4) all lands and properties affected, together with the names of the owners thereof so far as known; (5) public streets, highways and railways affected; (6) the outlines of any meandered lake basin, wetland and public body of water affected; (7) such other physical characteristics of the watershed as may appear necessary for the understanding thereof.

(b) A profile of all lines of ditch proposed showing graphically, the elevation of the ground and gradient at each 100-foot station, the station number at each section line and at each property line, whether open or tiled, the size of tile and the bottom width and side slope of open ditch sections, and such other information as may appear necessary for the understanding thereof.

(c) Plans for all private bridges and culverts proposed to be constructed by and as a part of the ditch system, together with plans for all other works and items of construction necessary for the completion of the drainage system or improvement. A list showing the required minimum hydraulic capacity of all bridges and culverts at all railway and highway open ditch crossings and at other prospective open ditch crossings where bridges and culverts are not specified to be constructed as a part of the ditch, together with plans and estimates of the cost of highway bridges and culverts required for the information of the viewers in determining benefits and damages.

(d) A tabular statement showing the number of cubic yards of earth to be excavated on all open ditches, the footage of each size of tile on each tile line with the average depth thereof, and all bridges, culverts, works and other construction items required by the plans for the completion of the system, together with the estimated unit cost of each of said items and a summary of the total cost thereof. Such summary shall include an estimate of the cost of fully completing the system, including supervision and other costs thereof.

(e) The acreage which will be required and taken as right of way upon each government lot and 40-acre tract or fraction thereof under separate ownership required for right of way for any open ditch.

(f) Specifications for drain tile shall require that all drain tile used shall comply with the requirements of the American Society for Testing Materials standard specifications for drain tile, except where the depths to which the drains are to be laid or the conditions of the soil, in the opinion of the engineer, require tile of a special and higher quality.

(g) When more economical construction will result, the engineer may recommend that the work be divided into sections and let separately, and that open and tile work or tile and labor thereon be let separately, and the time and manner so far as practicable in which the whole work or any section thereof shall be done.

(h) Such other detail and information as shall appear requisite to fully inform the board or court of the practicability and necessity of the proposed improvements, including a comprehensive examination of all requirements of section 106.021, together with his recommendations thereon.

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.131, is amended to read:

106.131 [AUTHORITY OF COMMISSIONER; COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.] Upon the filing of the engineer's report, a complete copy thereof shall be transmitted to the ~~director~~ commissioner by the auditor or clerk.

The ~~director~~ commissioner shall examine the same and within ~~15~~ 30 days make his report thereon to the board or court. If he finds the report incomplete and not in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, he shall so report. If he approves the same as being a ~~practical~~ an acceptable plan for the drainage of the lands affected, he shall so state. If he does not approve the plan, he shall file his recommendations for changes deemed advisable, or, if in his opinion, the proposed system or improvement is not ~~practical~~ of public benefit or utility based upon the requirements or criteria required to be considered by section 106.021, he shall so report. If a soil survey appears advisable, he shall so advise, and in such event the engineer shall make the soil survey and report thereon before the final hearing. The ~~director's~~ commissioner's report shall be directed to the board or court and shall be filed with the auditor or clerk. ~~Such report shall be deemed advisory only.~~

No notice shall issue for the final hearing until the ~~director's~~ commissioner's report shall be filed.

Sec. 17. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.201, is amended to read:

106.201 [ORDER ESTABLISHING.] Subdivision 1. [DISMISSAL.] If it shall appear that the benefits are not more than the total cost, including damages awarded, or that the proposed system will not be of public benefit and utility, or that the same is not practicable, or that the system does not comply with requirements of section 106.021, the board or court shall so find and the petition shall be dismissed.

Subd. 2. [ESTABLISHMENT.] If the board or court shall find that the engineer's and viewers' reports have been made and all other proceedings in the matter had in accordance with law, that the estimated benefits are greater than the total estimated cost, including damages, that the damages and benefits have been duly determined, that the proposed drainage system will be of public utility and benefit, and will promote the public health, that the proposed system is practicable, and that such reports as made or amended are complete, just and correct, and comply with requirements of section 106.021, then the board or court shall by order containing such findings, establish the drainage improvement as reported or amended, and adopt and confirm the viewers' report as made or amended.

Sec. 18. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.221, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [CHANGES DURING CONSTRUCTION.] The contract shall give the engineer the right, with the consent of the board or court, to modify his reports, plans and specifications as the work proceeds and as circumstances may require. It shall provide that the increased cost resulting from such changes will be paid by the county to the contractor at not to exceed the price for like work in the contract. No change shall be made that will substantially impair the usefulness of any part of the drainage system or substantially alter its original character or increase its total cost by more than ten percent of the total original contract price. In no event shall any change be made that will cause the cost to exceed the total estimated benefits found by the board or court, or will cause any detrimental effects to the public interest as set forth in section 106.021.

Sec. 19. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 106.631, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

106.631 [APPEALS.] Subdivision 1. [GROUNDS FOR APPEAL.] Any party aggrieved thereby, may appeal to the district court from an order of the board or court made in any proceeding and entered upon its record determining any of the following matters:

- (1) The amount of benefits determined;
- (2) The amount of damages allowed;
- (3) Relative to the allowance of fees or expenses in any proceeding;
- (4) The sufficiency of the order in meeting the requirements of section 106.021, and any criteria promulgated pursuant thereto.

Subd. 2. Except as provided in subdivision 1, whenever a person who receives or is entitled to receive basic or added reparation benefits for an injury has a claim or cause of action against any other person for breach of an obligation or duty causing the injury, the reparation obligor is subrogated to the rights of the claimant, and has a claim for relief or cause of action, separate from that of the claimant, to the extent that (1) elements of damage compensated for by basic or added reparation insurance are recoverable and (2) the reparation obligor has paid or become obligated to pay accrued or future basic or added reparation benefits.

Subd. 3. A reparation obligor has a right of indemnity against a person who has converted a motor vehicle involved in an accident, or a person who has intentionally caused injury to a person or harm to property, for basic and added reparation benefits paid to other persons for the injury or harm caused by the conduct of that person, for the cost of processing claims for those benefits, and for reasonable attorney's fees and other expenses of enforcing the right of indemnity. "Sec. 38. [EQUITABLE ALLOCATION OF BURDENS AMONG INSURERS.] Subdivision 1. Reparation obligors paying basic or added reparation benefits and owners of motor vehicles suffering uninsured physical damage to the vehicles are entitled to the proportionate reimbursement from other reparation obligors to assure that the allocation of the financial burden of losses will be reasonably consistent with the propensities of different vehicles to affect probability and severity of injury to persons or physical damage to vehicles because the vehicles are of different weight or have different devices for the protection of occupants, other different characteristics, or different regular uses. Reparation obligors paying basic or added reparation benefits for loss arising from injury to persons, and self-insurers who are natural persons bearing equivalent losses arising from their own injuries, are entitled to proportionate reimbursement from basic reparation obligors of other involved vehicles. Insurers paying added reparation benefits for physical damage to vehicles and owners of motor vehicles suffering uninsured physical damage to vehicles are entitled to proportionate reimbursement from reparation obligors who provide property damage liability coverage on other involved vehicles.

Subd. 2. Reparation obligors shall maintain in accordance with rules of the commissioner of insurance statistical records from which can be determined the propensities of different vehicles to affect probability and severity of injury to persons and physical damage to vehicles.

Subd. 3. When the commissioner of insurance determines that adequate supporting information is available he may establish by rule and maintain a system under which rights of reimbursement are determined through pooling, reinsurance, or other form of reallocation procedure in lieu of case-by-case reimbursement. The system may apply to (1) all reparation obligors or (2) all reparation obligors except those who are parties to an agreement entered into under this subdivision and approved by the commissioner of insurance. Two or more reparation obligors, with approval of the commissioner of insurance, may enter into an agreement for settlement of their rights of proportionate reimbursement through a system of pooling, reinsurance, or other reallocation procedure in lieu of case-by-case reimbursement.

Subd. 4. The commissioner of insurance may not approve or establish case-by-case proportionate reimbursement on the basis of fault in cases involving only privately owned passenger motor vehicles designed to carry ten or fewer passengers.

Subd. 5. All claims for case-by-case proportionate reimbursement between insurers, if not settled by agreement, shall be submitted to binding arbitration in accordance with Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 572.

Sec. 39. [ALLOCATION OF BURDENS UNTIL SYSTEM ESTABLISHED.] Subdivision 1. If, in a particular case, there is no applicable system of proportionate reimbursement as authorized by the provisions on equitable allocation of burdens among insurers and the commissioner of insurance has not adopted by rule other criteria for proportionate reimbursement consistent with those provisions, the following standards for case-by-case proportionate reimbursement apply:

(1) In accidents involving motor vehicles in different weight classes, burdens of losses shall be adjusted among reparation obligors, injured persons, and owners of the vehicles in accordance with this section.

(2) The commissioner of insurance shall adopt rules classifying motor vehicles other than two-wheeled vehicles into a number of classes according to weight, including cargo capacity. All passenger vehicles weighing less than 6000 pounds and other vehicles weighing less than 4500 pounds apart from cargo capacity shall be included in a single class. For the purposes of this section, a vehicle in this class is a "low-weight vehicle". The commissioner shall assign by rule to each class, except the low-weight class, a number of percentages determined as hereinafter provided. The highest percentage for a class applies to accidents between vehicles in that class and low-weight vehicles. Other percentages apply to accidents between vehicles of each lighter weight class and vehicles of the class to which the percentage is assigned.

(3) In an accident involving a vehicle of a lighter class and a vehicle of a heavier class, a proportion of costs which would otherwise fall on an injured person as a result of an optional exclusion or deductible, on the owner of the lighter vehicle, or on the reparation obligors paying or obligated to pay added reparation benefits for physical damage to the lighter vehicle or basic or added reparation benefits for injury to the owner, driver, or other occupant of the lighter vehicle is imposed upon the reparation obligor of the heavier vehicle. The proportion of costs to be transferred is the percentage assigned under clause (2). For the purposes of this clause costs are equal to loss in any amount exceeding $250 in the case of injury to a person or $100 in the case of damage to a vehicle, subject only to the subtractions, exclusions and limitations described in sections 11, 12, and 13.

(4) Percentages assigned under clause (2) shall be based on evidence of the average increase in severity of occupant injury and vehicle damage sustained by vehicles of the various lighter classes in accidents involving the class of heavier vehicles to which the percentage is assigned. Percentages shall be set to provide that reparation obligors and owners of vehicles shall bear, on the average, the costs which would result from accidents involving other vehicles of the same class and that reparation obligors and owners of vehicles in each heavier class shall have transferred to them the percentages of costs which on the average arise from the greater weight of vehicles of their class.

(5) Until the commissioner of insurance, in accordance with clause (2), has adopted rules classifying motor vehicles into classes according to weight and assigning percentages to each class, the percentage presumptively applying between a low-weight vehicle and a vehicle not a low-weight vehicle, or between two vehicles not low-weight vehicles, shall be determined by subtracting the weight of the lighter vehicle from the weight of the heavier vehicle, including cargo capacity, dividing the difference by the combined weight of the vehicles, and multiplying by 100 to convert to percentage. However, another percentage applies if a party claiming or defending against a claim for reimbursement under this clause proves that the other percentage is more consistent with allocating the financial burden of losses according to the propensities of vehicles of the different classes to affect probability and severity of injury to persons or physical damage to vehicles.

(6) In accidents involving two-wheeled vehicles burdens of losses shall be adjusted among reparation obligors in accordance with this clause. In an accident involving a two-wheeled vehicle and a low-weight vehicle, 20 per cent of the costs which would otherwise fall on the reparation obligor paying or obligated to pay basic or added reparation benefits of more than $250 for loss arising from bodily injury to any one rider or passenger of the two-wheeled vehicle is imposed upon the reparation obligor of the low-weight vehicle. In an accident involving a two-wheeled vehicle and a vehicle of a heavier class than the low-weight class the costs to be transferred to the reparation obligor of the heavier vehicle shall be the sum which would be transferred if the two-wheeled vehicle were a low-weight vehicle and 20 percent of the costs which would remain on the two-wheeled vehicle if it were a low-weight vehicle.

(7) In accidents involving more than two vehicles each lighter vehicle shall have transferred from it to reparation obligors of the low-weight or heavier vehicles involved the percentage of cost designated for transfer to the heaviest of those vehicles. Reparation obligors of the low-weight or heavier vehicles shall contribute to the transferred cost in proportion to the respective percentages designated for them in accidents with vehicles of the class of the lighter vehicle or two-wheeled vehicle from which the cost is transferred.

(c) To establish and alter such reasonable pollution standards for any waters of the state in relation to the public use to which they are or may be put as it shall deem necessary for the purposes of sections 115.01 to 115.09 chapter 115 and, with respect to the pollution of waters of the state, chapter 116;

To make and alter reasonable orders requiring the discontinuance of the discharge of sewage, industrial waste or other wastes into any waters of the state resulting in pollution in excess of the applicable pollution standard established under this subdivision.

(d) To adopt, issue, reissue, modify, deny, or revoke, enter into or enforce reasonable orders, permits, variances, standards, regulations, schedules of compliance, and stipulation agreements, under such conditions as it may prescribe, in order to prevent, control or abate water pollution, or for the installation or operation of disposal systems or parts thereof, or for other equipment and facilities;

(1) Requiring the discontinuance of the discharge of sewage, industrial waste or other wastes into any waters of the state resulting in pollution in excess of the applicable pollution standard established under this chapter;

(2) Prohibiting or directing the abatement of any discharge of sewage, industrial waste, or other wastes, into any waters of the state or the deposit thereof or the discharge into any municipal disposal system where the same is likely to get into any waters of the state in violation of this chapter and, with respect to the pollution of waters of the state, chapter 116, or standards or regulations promulgated or permits issued pursuant thereto, and specifying the schedule of compliance within which such prohibition or abatement must be accomplished;

(3) Prohibiting the storage of any liquid or solid substance or other pollutant in a manner which does not reasonably assure proper retention against entry into any waters of the state that would be likely to pollute any waters of the state;

(4) Requiring the construction, installation, maintenance, and operation by any person of any disposal system or any part thereof, or other equipment and facilities, or the reconstruction, alteration, or enlargement of its existing disposal system or any part thereof, or the adoption of other remedial measures to prevent, control or abate any discharge or deposit of sewage, industrial waste or other wastes by any person;

(5) Establishing, and from time to time revising, standards or performance for new sources taking into consideration, among other things, classes, types, sizes, and categories of sources, processes, pollution control technology, cost of achieving such effluent reduction, and any non-water quality environmental impact and energy requirements. Said standards of performance for new sources shall encompass those standards for the control of the discharge of pollutants which reflect the greatest degree of effluent reduction which the agency determines to be achievable through application of the best available demonstrated control technology, processes, operating methods, or other alternatives, including, where practicable, a standard permitting no discharge of pollutants. New sources shall encompass buildings, structures, facilities, or installations from which there is or may be the discharge of pollutants, the construction of which is commenced after the publication by the agency of proposed regulations prescribing a standard of performance which will be applicable to such source. Notwithstanding any other provision of the law of this state, any point source the construction of which is commenced after the date of enactment of this Act and which is so constructed as to meet all applicable standards of performance for new sources shall, consistent with and subject to the provisions of section 306(d) of the Amendments of 1972 to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, not be subject to any more stringent standard of performance for new sources during a ten-year period beginning on the date of completion of such construction or during the period of depreciation or amortization of such facility for the purposes of section 167 or 169, or both, of the Federal Internal Revenue Code of 1954, whichever period ends first. Construction shall encompass any placement, assembly, or installation of facilities or equipment, including contractual obligations to purchase such facilities or equipment, at the premises where such equipment will be used, including preparation work at such premises;

(6) Establishing and revising pretreatment standards to prevent or abate the discharge of any pollutant into any publicly owned disposal system, which pollutant interferes with, passes through, or otherwise is incompatible with such disposal system.

(7) Requiring the owner or operator of any disposal system or any point source to establish and maintain such records, make such reports, install, use, and maintain such monitoring equipment or methods, including where appropriate biological monitoring methods, sample such effluents in accordance with such methods, at such locations, at such intervals, and in such a manner as the agency shall prescribe, and providing such other information as the agency may reasonably require.

(8) Notwithstanding any other provision of chapter 115, and with respect to the pollution of waters of the state, chapter 116, requiring the achievement of more stringent limitations than otherwise imposed by effluent limitations in order to meet any applicable water quality standard by establishing new effluent limitations, based upon section 115.01, subdivision (5)(b), including alternative effluent control strategies for any point source or group of point sources to insure the integrity of water quality classifications, whenever the agency determines that discharges of pollutants from such point source or sources, with the application of effluent limitations required to comply with any standard of best available technology, would interfere with the attainment or maintenance of the water quality classification in a specific portion of the waters of the state. Prior to establishment of any such effluent limitation, the agency shall hold a public hearing to determine the relationship of the economic and social costs of achieving such limitation or limitations, including any economic or social dislocation in the affected community or communities, to the social and economic benefits to be obtained and to determine whether or not such effluent limitation can be implemented with available technology or other alternative control strategies. If a person affected by such limitation demonstrates at such hearing that, whether or not such technology or other alternative control strategies are available, there is no reasonable relationship between the economic and social costs and the benefits to be obtained, such limitation shall not become effective and shall be adjusted as it applies to such person.

(9) To modify, in its discretion, any requirement or limitation based upon best available technology with respect to any point source for which a permit application is filed after July 1, 1977 upon a showing by the owner or operator of such point source satisfactory to the agency that such modified requirements will represent the maximum use of technology within the economic capability of the owner or operator and will result in reasonable further progress toward the elimination of the discharge of pollutants.

(e) To require to be submitted and to approve plans and specifications for disposal systems or point sources, or any part thereof and to inspect the construction thereof for compliance with the approved plans and specifications thereof;

~~To issue, continue in effect or deny permits, under such conditions as it may prescribe for the prevention of pollution, for the discharge of sewage, industrial waste or other wastes, or for the installation or operation of disposal systems or parts thereof;~~

~~To revoke or modify any permit issued under sections 115.01 to 115.09 whenever it is necessary, in the opinion of the agency, to prevent or abate pollution of any waters of the state;~~

(f) to prescribe and alter rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, for the conduct of the agency and other matters within the scope of the powers granted to and imposed upon it by sections 115.01 to 115.09 this chapter and, with respect to pollution of waters of the state, in chapter 116, provided that every rule or regulation affecting any other department or agency of the state or any person other than a member or employee of the agency shall be filed with the secretary of state; and

(g) To conduct such investigations, issue such notices, public and otherwise, and hold such hearings as are necessary or which it may deem advisable and necessary for the discharge of its duties under sections 115.01 to 115.09 this chapter and, with respect to the pollution of waters of the state, under chapter 116, including, but not limited to, the issuance of permits, and to authorize any member, employee, or agent appointed by it to conduct such investigations or, issue such notices and hold such hearings;

(h) For the purpose of water pollution control planning by the state and pursuant to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended, to establish and revise planning areas, adopt plans and programs and continuing planning processes, including, but not limited to, basin plans and areawide waste treatment management plans, and to provide for the implementation of any such plans by means of, including, but not limited to, standards, plan elements, procedures for revision, intergovernmental cooperation, residual treatment process waste controls, and needs inventory and ranking for construction of disposal systems;

(i) To train water pollution control personnel, and charge such fees therefor as are necessary to cover the agency's costs. All such fees received shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the water pollution control training fund of the agency, from which the agency shall have the power to make disbursements to pay expenses relating to such training;

Subd. 5. In establishing such standards, consideration should be given to the following factors:

(b) The extent to which suspended solids, colloids or a combination of solids with other substances suspended in water, may be permitted;

(c) The extent to which organism of the coliform group (intestinal bacilli) or any other bacteriological organisms may be permitted in the water;

(d) The extent of the oxygen demand which may be permitted in the receiving waters;

(e) Such other chemical or biological properties necessary for the attainment of the objectives of ~~Laws 1933, Chapter 374 chapter 115 and, with respect to pollution of the waters of the state, chapter 116.~~

(f) Wherever deemed practicable and advisable by the agency, standards specifying the quality and purity, or maximum permissible pollutional content, of effluent entering waters of the state may be established without ~~previously establishing respect to water quality standards; provided, however, that whenever the owner or operator of any point source, after opportunity for public hearing, can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the agency that any effluent limitation proposed for the control of the heat component of any discharge from such source will require effluent limitations more stringent than necessary to assure the protection and propagation of a balanced, indigenous population of fish and wildlife in and on the body of water into which the discharge is to be made, the agency may impose an effluent limitation for such plan, with respect to the heat component of such discharge, taking into account the interaction of such heat component with other pollutants, that will assure the protection and propagation of a balanced, indigenous population of fish and wildlife in and on that body of water; and provided further that notwithstanding any other provision of chapter 115 and, with respect to the pollution of the waters of the state, chapter 116, any point source of a discharge having a heat component, the modification of which point source is commenced after the date of enactment of this act, and which, as modified, meets applicable effluent limitations, and which effluent limitations will assure protection and propagation of a balanced, indigenous population of fish and wildlife in or on the water into which the discharge is made, shall not be subject to any more stringent effluent limitation with respect to the heat component of its discharge during a ten year period beginning on the date of completion of such modification or during the period of depreciation or amortization of such facility for the purpose of section 167 or 169, or both, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, whichever period ends first.~~

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 115.44, Subdivision 8, is amended to read:

Subd. 8. If the agency finds in order to comply with the federal water pollution control act or any other federal law or rule or regulation promulgated thereunder that it is impracticable to comply with the requirements of this section in classifying waters or adopting standards or in meeting any of the requirements thereof, compliance with the requirements of such section are waived to the extent necessary to enable the agency to comply with federal laws and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. The agency may classify waters and adopt criteria and standards in such form and based upon such evidence as it may deem necessary and sufficient for the purposes of meeting requirements of such federal laws, notwithstanding any provisions in chapter 115 or any other state law to the contrary. In the event waters are classified and criteria and standards are adopted to meet the requirements of federal law, the agency shall thereafter proceed to otherwise comply with the provisions of this section which were waived as rapidly as is practicable. This authority shall extend to proceedings pending before the agency on ~~April 20, 1967~~ the effective date of this act.

Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision 4, wherever advisable and practicable the agency may establish standards for effluent ~~of~~ or disposal systems entering discharging into waters of the state regardless of whether such waters are or are not classified.

Sec. 17. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 115.49, Subdivision 1, is amended as follows:

115.49 [COOPERATION BETWEEN MUNICIPALITIES; CONTRACTS.] Subdivision 1. If the agency determines after a hearing on the subject matter that cooperation between two or more municipalities is necessary to provide for areawide waste management and treatment, in accordance with the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended, or to prevent, control, or abate pollution, it may adopt a resolution so declaring and determining whether it will be feasible to secure such cooperation by contract between the municipalities concerned.

Sec. 18. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 115.49, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 9. Any contract ordered by the agency pursuant to this section may be reformed or terminated upon: (a) mutual agreement among all parties to the contract as exhibited by a joint written application to the agency, and approval thereof by the agency; or (b) unilateral application to the agency by registered mail by any party to such a contract, with a copy thereof served by registered mail upon all other parties to the contract, and subsequent order of reformation or termination of the agreement by the agency. The applicant may in its application for reformation or termination seek other relief in addition to said order of reformation or termination, including, but not limited to, an order directing the refund by the municipality operating the disposal system of overpayments made by the municipality being served during the life of the contract, or the further payment by the municipality being served to the municipality operating the disposal system made necessary by the inadequacy of payments made by the municipality being served to the municipality operating the disposal system during the life of the contract. In the event of a unilateral application to the agency, the agency may, after 30 days written notice, hold a public hearing for the purpose of hearing evidence relating to the application. Pursuant to an application under this subdivision, the agency may enter its order reforming or terminating the contract, ordering a refundment of overpayment or payment of underpayment, as aforesaid, or granting any further relief that is reasonable under the circumstances. Any party aggrieved by the Agency's decision may thereafter appeal to district court from the agency's order.

Any documents designated as public records by this section may be inspected by members of the public at all reasonable hours and places under such rules and regulations as the agency shall promulgate.

Subd. 2. Any records or other information obtained by the pollution control agency or furnished to the agency by the owner or operator of one or more air contaminant or water or land pollution sources which are certified by said owner or operator, and said certification, as it applies to water pollution sources, is approved in writing by the director, to relate to (a) ~~production or sales figures~~, (b) processes or methods of production unique to the owner or operator, or (c) information which would tend to affect adversely the competitive position of said owner or operator, shall be only for the confidential use of the agency in discharging its statutory obligations, unless otherwise specifically authorized by said owner or operator. Provided, however, that all such information may be used by the agency in compiling or publishing analysis or summaries relating to the general condition of the ~~outdoor atmosphere~~ state's water, air and land resources so long as such analyses or summaries do not identify any owner or operator who has so certified. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the agency may disclose any information, whether or not otherwise considered confidential which it is obligated to disclose in order to comply with federal law and regulations, to the extent and for the purpose of such federally required disclosure.

the attorney general of the state may bring an action in the name of the state in the appropriate district court for a temporary restraining order to immediately abate or prevent such pollution. Such agency order or temporary restraining order shall remain effective until notice, hearing and determination are effected pursuant to other provisions of law, or, in the interim, as otherwise ordered. Such agency order shall be appealable to the appropriate district court and the provisions of chapter 15 shall govern the procedure and scope of review on such appeal.

Sec. 22. [REPEALER.] Minnesota Statutes 1971, Sections 115.05, Subdivision 2; 115.07, Subdivisions 2, 4, and 6; 115.43; Subdivision 3; 115.45, Subdivision 2; 115.47; 115.81; 116.08; 116.30, and 116.31 are repealed.

Subd. 2. All departments and agencies of the state government shall:

(a) On a continuous basis, seek to strengthen relationships between state, regional, local and federal-state environmental planning, development and management programs;

(b) Utilize a systematic, interdisciplinary approach that will insure the integrated use of the natural and social sciences and the environmental arts in planning and in decision making which may have an impact on man's environment as an aid in accomplishing this purpose there shall be established advisory councils or other forums for consultation with persons in appropriate fields of specialization so as to ensure that the latest and most authoritative findings will be considered in administrative and regulatory decision-making as quickly and as amply as possible;

for new and existing actions and to coordinate the processing of such statements among local, state and federal agencies. The governor may by order delegate to any state agency any or all duties imposed upon him by this section. The governor may require the preparation of an environmental impact statement for any action or project not referred to in its guidelines and regulations. Further, the governor may require the revision of an environmental impact statement which is found to be inadequate.

Subd. 3. Upon the filing with the governor of a petition of not less than 500 persons requesting an environmental impact statement on a particular action, the governor shall review the petition and, where there is material evidence of the need for an environmental review, require the preparation of an environmental impact statement in accordance with provisions of this section.

Subd. 4. Prior to the preparation of a final environmental impact statement, the person responsible for the statement shall consult with and request the comments of every governmental office which has jurisdiction by law or special expertise with respect to any environmental effect involved. Copies of the drafts of such statements and the comments and views of the appropriate offices shall be made available to the governor and the public. The final detailed environmental impact statement and the comments received thereon shall precede final decisions on the proposed action and shall accompany the proposal through an administrative review process.

Subd. 5. (a) Permits for natural resources management and development shall include only permits required by the following sections of Minnesota Statutes: 84.415, utility crossings of public lands and waters; 84.45, aircraft operation in wilderness areas; 84.60 and 84.621, underground storage of gas or liquid; 89.17, use of state forest lands; 89.18, roads through state forests; 90.151, cutting and removal of timber; 93.01 to 93.43, exploration and mining of minerals; 104.04, flood plain management ordinances; 105.41, appropriation and use of waters; 105.42, construction of dams, alteration of shorelines and waterways; 105.43, establishment of lake levels; 105.44 and 113.02, irrigation of agricultural lands; 105.485, shoreland conservation ordinances; 93.13 and 105.64, drainage to facilitate mining; 115.03 and 115.43, water pollution; 116.07 and 116.081, air, solid waste, and noise pollution; 117.47, use of state lands for taconite mining; 117.49, condemnation by pipeline companies; 160.20, connecting drains to highway drains; 360.018, subdivision 6, airport construction.

Subd. 6. No state action significantly affecting the quality of the environment shall be allowed, nor shall any permit for natural resources management and development be granted, where such action or permit has caused or is likely to cause pollution, impairment, or destruction of the air, water, land or other natural resources located within the state, so long as there is a feasible and prudent alternative consistent with the reasonable requirements of the public health.

safety, and welfare and the state's paramount concern for the protection of its air, water, and other natural resources from pollution, impairment, or destruction. Economic considerations alone shall not justify such conduct.

Subd. 7. Regardless of whether a detailed written environmental impact statement is required by the governor to accompany an application for a permit for natural resources management and development, or a recommendation, project, or program for action, officials responsible for issuance of aforementioned permits or for other activities described herein shall give due consideration to the provisions of this act, as set forth in section 3, in the execution of their duties.

Subd. 8. In order to facilitate coordination of environmental decision making and the timely review of agency decisions, the governor shall establish by regulation a procedure for early notice to the governor and the public of natural resource management and development permit applications and other impending state actions having significant environmental effects.

Subd. 9. Prior to the final decision upon any state project or action significantly affecting the environment or for which an environmental impact statement is required, or within 10 days thereafter, the governor may delay implementation of the action or project by notice to the agency or department and to interested parties. Thereafter, within 45 days of such notice, the governor may reverse or modify the decisions or proposal where he finds, upon notice and hearing, that the action or project is inconsistent with the policy and standards of sections 1 through 6. Any aggrieved party may seek judicial review pursuant to Chapter 15.

Sec. 5. [REVIEW OF AUTHORITY, REPORT.] All agencies of the state government shall review their present statutory authority, administrative regulations, and current policies and procedures for the purpose of determining whether there are any deficiencies or inconsistencies therein that prohibit full compliance with the purposes and provisions of sections 1 to 6, and shall propose to the governor not later than July 1, 1974, such measures as may be necessary to bring their authority and policies into conformity with the intent, purposes, and procedures set forth in this act.

Sec. 6. Subdivision 1. Subd. 2. [POLICIES ARE SUPPLEMENTAL.] The policies and goals set forth in sections 1 to 6 are supplementary to those set forth in existing authorizations of state agencies.

Sec. 7. [GOVERNOR, REPORT REQUIRED.] The governor shall transmit to the legislature and make public by November 15 of each year an environmental quality report which shall set forth:

(1) The status and condition of the major natural, man-made, or altered environmental classes of the state, including, but not limited to, the air, the aquatic, and the terrestrial environment, including, but not limited to, the forest, dryland, wetland, range, urban, suburban, and rural environment;

Subd. 2. The state planning officer shall:

(1) Review current programming and future planning of all state departments and agencies.

The commissioner of administration shall furnish the state planning officer the information required by this clause.

(8) Encourage the development of planning programs by state departments and agencies and local levels of government.

(9) Act as the coordinating agency for submission of the environmental impact statements required by the National Environmental Policy Act and the state's comments thereon to the appropriate federal agencies.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 40.02, is amended to read:

40.02 [PUBLIC POLICY; PURPOSE.] As a guide to the interpretation and application of this chapter, the public policy of the state is declared to be as follows. Improper land-use practices have caused and contributed to serious erosion of farm and grazing lands of this state by wind and water and that thereby topsoil is being washed out of fields and pastures and has speeded up the removal of the absorptive top soil causing exposure of less absorptive and less protective, but more erosive, subsoil; and that land occupiers have failed to cause the discontinuance of such practice as creates this condition, and the consequences thereof have caused the deterioration of soil and its fertility and the deterioration of crops grown thereon, and declining yields therefrom, and diminishing of the underground water reserve, all of which have caused water shortages, intensified periods of drought, and crop failure, and thus brought about suffering, disease, and impoverishment of families and the damage of property from floods and dust storms; and that all of these effects may be prevented by land-use practices contributing to the conservation of top soil by carrying on of engineering operations such as the construction of terraces, check dams, dikes, ponds, ditches, and the utilization of strip cropping, lister furrowing, contour cultivating, land irrigation, seeding and planting of waste, sloping, abandoned, or eroded lands to water-conserving and erosion-preventing plants, trees, and grasses.

It is hereby declared that it is for the public welfare, health, and safety of the people of Minnesota to provide for the conservation of the soil and soil resources of this state, and for the control and prevention of soil erosion, for land resources planning and development, for the implementation of land resource use practices that effectively reduce siltation and loss of the land base through activities associated with farming, mining, construction, forestry, and other activities of man, and for flood prevention or the conservation development, utilization, and disposal of water, including but not limited to, measures for fish and wildlife and recreational development, and thereby preserve natural resources, control floods, prevent impairment of dams and reservoirs, assist in maintaining the navigability of rivers and harbors, preserve wildlife, protect the tax base, and protect public lands by land-use practices, as herein provided for.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 104.01, Subdivision 3 is amended to read:

Subd. 3. It is the policy of this state and the purpose of sections 104.01 to 104.07 to reduce flood damages through flood plain management, stressing nonstructural measures such as flood plain zoning and flood proofing, and flood warning practices. It is the policy of this state and the purpose of sections 104.01 to 104.07 not to prohibit but to guide development of the flood plains of this state consistent with the enumerated legislative findings to provide state coordination and assistance to local governmental units in flood plain management, to encourage local governmental units to adopt, enforce and administer sound flood plain management ordinances, and to provide the commissioner of natural resources with authority necessary to carry out a flood plain management program for the state and to coordinate federal, state, and local flood plain management activities in this state.

Sec. 11. [105.405] [WATER SUPPLY MANAGEMENT.] Subdivision 1. The commissioner shall develop and manage water resources to assure a supply adequate to meet long range seasonal requirements for domestic, municipal, industrial, agricultural, fish and wildlife, recreational, power, navigation, and quality control purposes from surface or ground water sources, or from a combination of these.

Subd. 2. No permit authorized by sections 105.37 to 105.55 nor any plan for which the commissioner's approval is required or permitted, involving a diversion of any waters of the state, surface or underground, to a place outside of this state shall be granted or approved until after a determination by the commissioner that the water remaining in this state will be adequate to meet the state's water resources needs during the specified life of the diversion project.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 115.03, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

115.03. [POWERS AND DUTIES.] Subdivision 1. The agency is hereby given and charged with the following powers and duties:

To administer and enforce all laws relating to the pollution of any of the waters of the state;

To investigate the extent, character, and effect of the pollution of the waters of this state and to gather data and information necessary or desirable in the administration or enforcement of pollution laws, and to make such classification of the waters of the state as it may deem advisable;

To establish and alter such reasonable pollution standards for any waters of the state in relation to the public use to which they are or may be put as it shall deem necessary for the purposes of sections 115.01 to 115.09;

To encourage waste treatment, including advanced waste treatment, instead of stream low-flow augmentation for dilution purposes to control and prevent pollution;

To make and alter reasonable orders requiring the discontinuance of the discharge of sewage, industrial waste or other wastes into any waters of the state resulting in pollution in excess of the applicable pollution standard established under this subdivision;

To require to be submitted and to approve plans for disposal systems or any part thereof and to inspect the construction thereof for compliance with the approved plans thereof;

To issue, continue in effect or deny permits, under such conditions as it may prescribe for the prevention of pollution, for the discharge of sewage, industrial waste or other wastes, or for the installation or operation of disposal systems or parts thereof;

To revoke or modify any permit issued under sections 115.01 to 115.09 whenever it is necessary, in the opinion of the agency, to prevent or abate pollution of any waters of the state;

To prescribe and alter rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, for the conduct of the agency and other matters within the scope of the powers granted to and imposed upon it by sections 115.01 to 115.09, provided that every rule or regulation affecting any other department or agency of the state or any person other than a member or employee of the agency shall be filed with the secretary of state; and

To conduct such investigations and hold such hearings as it may deem advisable and necessary for the discharge of its duties under sections 115.01 to 115.09, and to authorize any member, employee, or agent appointed by it to conduct such investigations or hold such hearings.

Sec. 13. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 116.07, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [ADOPTION OF STANDARDS.] The pollution control agency shall improve air quality by promoting, in the most practicable way possible, the use of energy sources and waste disposal methods which produce or emit the least air-contaminants consistent with the agency's overall goal of reducing all forms of pollution. The agency shall also adopt standards of air quality, including maximum allowable standards of emission of air contaminants from motor vehicles, recognizing that due to variable factors, no single standard of purity of air is applicable to all areas of the state. In adopting standards the pollution control agency shall give due recognition to the fact that the quantity or characteristics of air contaminants or the duration of their presence in the atmosphere, which may cause air pollution in one area of the state, may cause less or not cause any air pollution in another area of the state, and it shall take into consideration in this connection such factors, including others which it may deem proper, as existing physical conditions, zoning classifications, topography, prevailing wind directions and velocities, and the fact that a standard of air quality which may be proper as to an essentially residential area of the state, may not be proper as to a highly developed industrial area of the state. Such standards of air quality shall be premised upon scientific knowledge of causes as well as effects based on technically substantiated criteria and commonly accepted practices. No local government unit shall set standards of air quality which are more stringent than those set by the pollution control agency.

The pollution control agency shall promote solid waste disposal control by encouraging the updating of collection systems, elimination of open dumps, and improvements in incinerator practices. The agency shall also adopt standards for the control of the collection, transportation and disposal of solid waste for the prevention and abatement of water, air and land pollution, recognizing that due to variable factors, no single standard of solid waste control is applicable to all areas of the state. In adopting standard, the pollution control agency shall give due recognition to the fact that elements of control which may be reasonable and proper in densely populated areas of the state may be unreasonable and improper in sparsely populated or remote areas of the state, and it shall take into consideration in this connection such factors, including others which it may deem proper, as existing physical conditions, topography, soils and geology, climate, transportation, and land use. Such standards of solid waste control shall be premised on technical criteria and commonly accepted practices.

The pollution control agency shall also adopt standards describing the maximum levels of noise in terms of sound pressure level which may occur in the outdoor atmosphere, recognizing that due to variable factors no single standard of sound pressure is applicable to all areas of the state. Such standards shall give due consideration to such factors as the intensity of noises, the types of noises, the frequency with which noises recur, the time period for which noises continue, the times of day during which noises occur, and such other factors as could affect the extent to which noises may be injurious to human health or welfare, animal or plant life, or property, or could interfere unreasonably with the enjoyment of life or property. In adopting standards, the pollution control agency shall give due recognition to the fact that the quantity or characteristics of noise or the duration of its presence in the outdoor atmosphere, which may cause noise pollution in one area of the state, may cause less or not cause any noise pollution in another area of the state, and it shall take into consideration in this connection such factors, including others which it may deem proper, as existing physical conditions, zoning classifications, topography, meteorological conditions and the fact that a standard which may be proper in an essentially residential area of the state, may not be proper as to a highly developed industrial area of the state. Such noise standards shall be premised upon scientific knowledge as well as effects based on technically substantiated criteria and commonly accepted practices. No local governing unit shall set standards describing the maximum levels of sound pressure which are more stringent than those set by the pollution control agency."

Subd. 4. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision, the commissioner of aeronautics shall require as a condition of such assistance by the state that the political subdivision, municipality, or public corporation itself make a substantial contribution to the cost of the construction, improvement, maintenance, or operation, such costs are hereinafter referred to as project costs, in connection with which the assistance of the state is sought.

(2) For any airport, whether key, secondary or landing strip, where only state and local funds are to be used, said contribution shall be not less than ~~one-third~~ one-fifth of the sum of:

(a) the said project costs,

(b) acquisition costs of the land and clear zones, hereinafter “acquisition costs.”

Where federal, state and local funds are to be used, said contribution shall not be less than one-tenth of said sum.

(3) The commissioner may pay the total cost of radio and navigational aids.

(4) However, notwithstanding subdivision 4, clause (2) above, the commissioner may pay all of the said project costs of a new landing strip, but not a secondary airport or key airport, or may pay an amount equal to the federal funds granted and used for a new landing strip plus all of the remaining project costs; but the total amount paid by the commissioner for the project costs of a new landing strip, unless specifically authorized by an act appropriating moneys therefor, shall not exceed $50,000.

(5) To receive aid hereunder for acquisition costs the municipality must enter into an agreement with the commissioner giving assurance that said airport will be operated and maintained in a safe, serviceable manner for aeronautical purposes only for the use and benefit of the public for a period of twenty years after the date that the state funds are received by the municipality. The agreement may contain such other conditions as the commissioner deems reasonable.

(6) The commissioner shall establish a hangar construction revolving account which shall be used for the purpose of financing the construction of hangar buildings to be constructed by municipalities owning airports. All municipalities owning airports are authorized to enter into contracts for the construction of hangars, and contracts with the commissioner for the financing of such hangar construction for such amount and period of time as may be determined by the commissioner and municipality. All receipts from the financing contracts shall be deposited in the hangar construction revolving account and are hereby reappropriated for the purpose of financing construction of hangar buildings. The commissioner may pay from the hangar construction revolving account 80 percent of the cost of financing construction of hangar buildings. For purposes of this clause, the "construction" of hangars shall include their design.

(7) The commissioner may pay a portion of the purchase price of any airport maintenance and safety equipment and of the actual airport snow removal costs incurred by any municipality. The portion to be paid by the state shall not exceed ~~one-half~~ two-thirds of the cost of such purchase price of snow removal. To receive such aid such municipality must enter into an agreement of the type referred to in clause (5) above.

(8) This subdivision shall apply only to project costs or acquisition costs of municipally owned airports which are incurred after June 1, 1971."

Subd. 4. "Large electric power generating plant" shall mean electric power generating equipment and associated facilities designed for or capable of operation at a capacity of 50,000 kilowatts or more.

Subd. 5. "Person" shall mean an individual, partnership, joint venture, private or public corporation, association, firm, public service company, cooperative, political subdivision, municipal corporation, government agency, public utility district, or any other entity, public or private, however organized.

Subd. 6. "Utility" shall mean any entity engaged in this state in the generation, transmission or distribution of electric energy including, but not limited to, a private investor owned utility, cooperatively owned utility, and a public or municipally owned utility.

Subd. 7. Construction shall be deemed to have started or commenced as a result of significant physical alteration of a site or route but not including activities incident to preliminary engineering or environmental studies.

Sec. 3. [SITING AUTHORITY.] Subdivision 1. [ESTABLISHMENT.] The Minnesota Environmental quality council is hereby given the authority to provide for power plant site and transmission line corridor and route selection.

Sec. 4. [ADVANCE FORECASTING.] Every utility which owns or operates, or plans within the next 15 years to own or operate large electric power generating plants or high voltage transmission lines shall develop forecasts as specified in this section. On or before July 1 of each even-numbered year, every such utility shall submit a report of its forecast to the council. Such report may be appropriate portions of a single regional forecast or may be jointly prepared and submitted by two or more utilities and shall contain the following information:

(1) Description of the tentative regional location and general size and type of all large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines to be owned or operated by such utility during the ensuing 15 years or such longer period as the council deems necessary;

(2) Identification of all existing generating plants and transmission lines projected to be removed from service during such 15 year period or upon completion of construction of such large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines;

(3) Statement of the projected demand for electric energy for the ensuing 15 years and the underlying assumptions for this forecast, such information to be as geographically specific as possible where this demand will occur;

(4) Description of the capacity of the electric power system to meet such demands during the ensuing 15 years;

(5) Description of the utility's relationship to other utilities and regional associations, power pools or networks; and

(6) Other relevant information as may be requested by the council.

Sec. 5. [DEVELOPMENT OF POWER PLANT SITING AND TRANSMISSION LINE ROUTING CRITERIA; PUBLIC HEARINGS; INVENTORY.] Subdivision 1. [POLICY.] The legislature

hereby declares it to be the policy of the state to site large electric power facilities in an orderly manner compatible with environmental preservation and the efficient use of resources. In accordance with this policy, the environmental quality council shall choose sites that minimize adverse human and environmental impact while insuring continuing electric power system reliability and integrity and insuring that electric energy needs are met and fulfilled in an orderly and timely fashion.

Subd. 2. [INVENTORY CRITERIA; PUBLIC HEARINGS.] The council shall promptly initiate a public planning process where all interested persons can participate in developing the criteria and standards to be used by the council in preparing an inventory of potential large electric power generating plant sites and high voltage transmission line corridors and to guide the site suitability evaluation and selection process. The participatory process shall include, but should not be limited to public hearings. Before substantial modifications of the initial criteria and standards are adopted, additional public hearings shall be held. Such criteria and standards shall be promulgated on or before July 1, 1974.

Subd. 3. [INVENTORY OF POTENTIAL LARGE ELECTRIC POWER GENERATING PLANT SITES AND HIGH VOLTAGE TRANSMISSION LINE CORRIDORS.] On or before July 1, 1975, the council shall assemble and publish an inventory of potential large electric power generating plant sites and high voltage transmission line corridors. A transmission line corridor shall not be less than one mile in width. The inventory report of potential large electric power generating plant sites and high voltage transmission line corridors shall set forth the criteria and standards used in developing the potential site and corridor inventory. After completion of its initial inventory of potential sites and corridors, the council shall have a continuing responsibility to evaluate update and publish its inventory and if, due to changed circumstances or information, a site or corridor is inconsistent with prescribed criteria or does not meet prescribed standards, such site or corridor shall be removed from the inventory of potential sites and corridors.

Sec. 6. [FACILITY DEVELOPMENT PLANS.] After publication by the council of its initial inventory of potential sites and corridors, and the criteria by which such sites and corridors were selected, every utility which owns or operates or plans within the next five years to start construction, own or operate large electric power generating plants or high voltage transmission lines shall develop and annually submit to the council its plans for facilities to meet and fulfill the expected future demands for electric energy during the period covered by such report. Such plans may be appropriate portions of a single regional plan or may be jointly prepared and submitted by two or more utilities, and shall contain the following information:

(1) Description of the general size and type of all large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines to be owned and operated by such utility;

(2) Identification of all existing generating plants and transmission lines intended to be removed from service upon completion of construction of such large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines;

(3) Identification of the location of the tentative preferred site and at least one alternative site for all large electric power generating plants, and the tentative preferred corridors and at least one alternative corridor for all high voltage transmission lines on which construction is intended to be commenced, and preliminary indication of the potential impact of the planned plants and lines on existing environmental values, and how potential adverse effects on such values will be avoided or minimized at least detriment to the public and to the total environment. Such site and corridor identification shall be made from the inventory published by the council pursuant to section 5 or from sites or corridors offered by the utility. In the event a utility identifies a plant site or transmission line corridor not contained in the council's inventory of potential sites and corridors, the utility shall set forth the reasons for such identification and shall make an evaluation of such identified sites and corridors using the council's plant siting and routing criteria.

Sec. 7. [DESIGNATION OF SITES AND CORRIDORS; APPROVAL OF TRANSMISSION LINE ROUTES AND FACILITY CONSTRUCTION; EMERGENCY CERTIFICATION; RESPONSIBILITIES.] Subdivision 1. [DESIGNATION OF SITES AND CORRIDORS SUITABLE FOR SPECIFIC FACILITIES: REPORTS.] Following publication of the inventory of potential sites for large electric power generating plants or corridors for high voltage transmission lines and the submission of the five year development plans of the utilities, any utility may request that the council designate a specific site or corridor for a specific size and type of facility. Following the study, evaluation, and hearings, as provided in this section and sections 8, 9 and 10, on any site or corridor proposed by the utilities and such other sites and corridors as the council deems necessary from the inventory the council shall designate a suitable site or corridor for a specific size and type of facility. This designation by the council shall be made in accordance with the site selection criteria and standards established in section 5 and shall be made in a timely manner in a finding with reasons for such choice, and published no later than one year after the request for designation of a site by the utility or no later than 180 days after the request for designation of a corridor by the utility. The time for designation of a site may be extended for six months by the council for just cause. No site or corridor designation shall be made in violation of the site selection standards established in section 5. The council shall indicate the reasons for any refusal and indicate changes in size or type of facility necessary to allow siting in compliance with the standards. Upon designation of the site or corridor, the council shall issue to the utility a certificate of site compatibility.

Subd. 2. [APPROVAL OF SPECIFIC HIGH VOLTAGE TRANSMISSION LINE FACILITIES, DESIGNS AND ROUTES

WITHIN A DESIGNATED CORRIDOR.] No later than two years after the issuance of a certificate of site compatibility the utility shall apply to the council for a permit for the construction of a high voltage transmission line within the approved corridor. Following study, evaluation and hearings on the type, design, routing, right-of-way preparation and facility construction as identified in the utility's application and alternatives to the utility's corridor development proposal as provided in subdivision 4, the council shall issue a permit for the construction of high voltage transmission lines within the designated corridor. This permit issuance by the council shall be made in a timely manner and published no later than 180 days after the application for a permit by the utility.

Subd. 3. [EMERGENCY CERTIFICATION.] Any utility whose electric power system requires the immediate construction of a large electric power generating plant or high voltage transmission line may make application to the council for an emergency certificate of site compatibility or permit for the construction of high voltage transmission lines, which certificate or permit shall be issued in a timely manner and published no later than 180 days of the application and upon a finding by the council that a demonstrable emergency exists which requires such immediate construction, and that adherence to the procedures and time schedules set forth in sections 4, 5, 6 and 7 hereof would jeopardize such utility's electric power system. A public hearing shall be held within 90 days of the application. The council shall, after notice and hearing, promulgate regulations setting forth the criteria for emergency certification.

Subd. 4. [RESPONSIBILITIES, PROCEDURES, CONSIDERATIONS IN DESIGNATING SITES AND CORRIDORS; APPROVAL OF TRANSMISSION LINE FACILITY CONSTRUCTION.] To facilitate the study, research, evaluation and designation of sites and corridors for large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines and the approval of specific transmission line facilities and their routes the council shall be guided by, but not limited to, the following responsibilities, procedures, and considerations:

- (1) Evaluation of research and investigations relating to the effects on land, water and air resources of large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission line corridors and routes and the effects of water and air discharges from such plants on public health and welfare, vegetation, animals, materials and aesthetic values, including base line studies, predictive modeling, and monitoring of the water and air mass at proposed sites and sites of operating large electric power generating plants, evaluation of new or improved methods for minimizing adverse impacts of water and air discharges and other matters pertaining to the effects of power plants on the water and air environment;

- (2) Environmental evaluation of large electric power generating plant sites and high voltage transmission line corridors and routes proposed for future development and expansion and their relationship to the land, water, air and human resources of the state;

(3) Evaluation of the effects of new electric power generation and transmission technologies and systems related to power plants designed to minimize adverse environmental effects;

(4) Evaluation of the potential for beneficial uses of waste energy from proposed large electric power generating plants;

(5) Analysis of the direct and indirect economic impact of proposed large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines;

(6) Evaluation of adverse direct and indirect environmental effects which cannot be avoided should the proposed site and transmission line corridor or route be accepted;

(7) Evaluation of alternatives to the proposed site and transmission line corridors and routes;

(8) Evaluation of irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources should the proposed site and transmission line corridor or route be approved;

(9) Where appropriate, consideration of problems raised by other state and federal agencies and local entities.

(10) Where rules and regulations of the council as set forth in this act are substantially similar to existing rules and regulations of a federal agency to which the utility in the state is subject, the federal rules and regulations shall be applied by the council.

Sec. 8. [PUBLIC HEARING; NOTICE.] The council shall hold an annual public hearing at a time and place prescribed by regulation in order to afford interested persons an opportunity to be heard regarding its inventory of potential sites and corridors and any other aspects of the council's activities and duties or the policies set forth in this act. The council shall hold at least one public hearing in each county where a site or route is being considered for designation pursuant to Sec. 7 as suitable for construction of a large electric power generating plant or a high voltage transmission line. Notice of public hearings shall be given by the council at least ten days in advance but no earlier than 45 days prior to such hearings. Notice shall be by publication in a legal newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the public hearing is to be held and by mailed notice to chief executives of the regional councils, county and the incorporated municipalities therein.

Sec. 9. Subdivision 1. [ADVISORY COMMITTEE.] The council shall appoint one or more advisory committees to assist it in carrying out its duties. Committees appointed to evaluate plant sites or transmission line corridors considered for designation shall be comprised of as many persons as may be designated by the council, but shall include a majority of public representatives; at least one representative from each of the following: A public or municipally owned utility, a private investor owned utility and a cooperatively owned utility; one representative from the regional council and one from each county and municipal corporation in which a large electric power generating plant site and high voltage transmission line corridor are proposed to be located. Reimbursement for expenses incurred shall be made pursuant to the rules governing state employees.

Subd. 2. [OTHER PUBLIC PARTICIPATION.] The council shall adopt broad spectrum citizen participation as a principal of operation. The form of public participation shall not be limited to public hearings and advisory committees and shall be consistent with the council's rules, regulations and guidelines as provided for in section 16 of this act.

Sec. 10. [PUBLIC MEETINGS; TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS; WRITTEN RECORDS.] Meetings of the council, including hearings, shall be open to the public. Minutes shall be kept of council meetings and a complete record of public hearings shall be kept. All books, records, files, and correspondence of the council shall be available for public inspection at any reasonable time.

Sec. 11. Subdivision 1. [REGIONAL, COUNTY AND LOCAL ORDINANCES, RULES, REGULATIONS; PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITY AND REGULATION OF SITE DESIGNATION, IMPROVEMENT AND USE.] To assure the paramount and controlling effect of the provisions herein over other state agencies, regional, county and local governments, and special purpose government districts, the issuance of a certificate of site compatibility or transmission line construction permit and subsequent purchase and use of such site or route locations for large electric power generating plant and high voltage transmission line purposes shall be the sole site approval required to be obtained by the utility. Such certificate or permit shall supersede and preempt all zoning, building, or land use rules, regulations, or ordinances promulgated by regional, county, local and special purpose government.

Subd. 2. [FACILITY LICENSING.] Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, utilities shall obtain state permits that may be required to construct and operate large electric power generating plants and high voltage transmission lines. A state agency in processing a utility's facility permit application shall be bound to the decisions of the council, with respect to the site designation for the large electric power generating plant or the corridor or route designation for the high voltage transmission line, and with respect to other matters for which authority has been granted to the council by this Act.

Subd. 3. [STATE AGENCY PARTICIPATION.] State agencies authorized to issue permits required for construction or operation of large electric power generating plants or high voltage transmission lines shall participate in and present the position of the agency at public hearings and all other activities of the council on specific site, corridor or route designations of the council, which position shall clearly state whether the site, corridor, or route being considered for designation or permit approval for a certain size and type of facility will be in compliance with state agency standards, regulations or policies. No site or route shall be designated which violates state agency regulations.

Sec. 12. [IMPROVEMENT OF ACQUIRED LARGE ELECTRIC POWER GENERATING PLANT SITES AND HIGH VOLTAGE TRANSMISSION LINE ROUTE LOCATIONS.] Utilities which have acquired a power plant site or transmission line route in accordance with this act may proceed to construct or improve such site or route for the intended purposes at any time, subject to section 11, subdivision 2, provided that if such construction and improvement commences more than four years after a certificate or permit for the site or route has been issued then the utility must certify to the council that such site or route continues to meet the conditions upon which the certificate of site compatibility or transmission line construction permit was issued.

Sec. 13. [EMINENT DOMAIN POWERS; RIGHT OF CONDEMNATION.] Nothing herein shall abrogate or invalidate the right of eminent domain vested in utilities by statute or common law existing as of the effective date of this act. Such right of eminent domain shall continue to exist for utilities and may be used according to law to accomplish any of the purposes and objectives of this act.

Sec. 14. [FAILURE TO ACT.] In the event the council fails to designate in a timely manner large electric power generating plant sites and high voltage transmission line corridors or routes as provided for herein, any affected utility may seek an order of the district court requiring the council to designate a site, corridor, or route.

Sec. 15. [JUDICIAL REVIEW.] Any utility, party or person aggrieved by the issuance of a certificate or emergency certificate of site compatibility or transmission line construction permit from the council or a certification of continuing suitability filed by a utility with the council or by a final order in accordance with any rules and regulations promulgated by the council, may appeal therefrom to any district court where such large electric power generating plant or high voltage transmission line is to be located. Such appeal shall be made and perfected within 60 days after the issuance of the certificate or permit by the council or certification filed with the council or the filing of any final order by the council. The notice of appeal to the district court shall be filed with the clerk of the district court and a copy thereof mailed to the council and affected utility. Any utility, party or person aggrieved by a final order or judgment rendered on appeal to the district court may appeal therefrom to the supreme court in the manner provided in civil actions.

Sec. 16. [RULES AND REGULATIONS.] The council, in order to give effect to the purposes of this act, shall adopt rules and regulations consistent with this act, including promulgation of plant siting and transmission line routing criteria, the description of the information to be furnished by the utilities, establishment of minimum guidelines for public participation in the development, revision, and enforcement of any regulation, plan or program established by the council. Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 15, shall apply to the appeal of rules and regulations adopted by the council to the same extent as it applies to review of rules and regulations adopted by any other agency of state government.

Sec. 17. [SAVINGS CLAUSE.] The provisions of this act shall not apply to the site for the large electric power generating plant evaluated and recommended by the governor's environmental quality council, prior to the date of enactment, and also to high voltage transmission lines, the construction of which will commence prior to July 1, 1974; provided, however, that within 90 days following the date of enactment, the affected utility shall file with the council a written statement identifying such transmission lines, their planned location, and the estimated date for commencement of construction.

Sec. 18. [BIENNIAL REPORT; BUDGET; APPROPRIATION; FUNDING.] Subdivision 1. The council shall prepare and submit to the legislature biennially a report of its power plant and transmission siting operations, activities, findings, recommendations, and undertakings. The report shall also contain information on the council's biennial expenditures, its proposed budget for the following biennium, and the amounts paid in certificate and permit application fees pursuant to subdivision 2 and in assessments pursuant to subdivision 3. The proposed budget for the following biennium shall be subject to legislative review.

Subd. 2. Every applicant for a site certificate or transmission line construction permit shall pay to the council a fee in an amount equal to $500 for each $1,000,000 of production or transmission plant investment in the proposed installation as defined in the Federal Power Commission Uniform System of Accounts. However, the fee shall not be less than $5,000 for each application. The council shall specify the time and manner of payment of the fee. If any single payment requested by the council is in excess of 25% of the total estimated fee, the council shall show that such excess is reasonably necessary. The applicant shall pay within 30 days of notification such additional fees as are reasonably necessary for completion of the plant site, transmission line corridor or route evaluation and selection process by the council. In no event shall the total fees required of the applicant under this subdivision exceed an amount equal to 0.001 of said production or transmission plant investment ($1,000 for each $1,000,000). All money received pursuant to this subdivision shall be deposited in the general fund. So much money as is necessary is annually appropriated from the general fund to pay expenses incurred in processing applications for certificates or permits in accordance with the provisions of this act and in the event such expenses are less than the fee paid, to refund the excess to the applicant.

Subd. 3. The council shall finance its base line studies, general environmental studies, development of criteria, inventory preparation and all other work, other than specific site, corridor, and route selection, from an assessment made annually by the council against all utilities. Each share shall be determined as follows:

(1) the ratio that the annual retail kilowatt-hour sales in the state of each utility bears to the annual total retail kilowatt-hour sales in the state of all such utilities, multiplied by .0667, plus (2) the ratio that the annual gross revenue from retail kilowatt-hour sales in the state of each utility bears to the annual total gross revenues from retail kilowatt-hour sales in the state of all such utilities, multiplied by 0.333, as determined by the council. Such assessment shall be credited to the general fund and shall be paid to the state treasury within 30 days after receipt of the bill, which shall constitute notice of said assessment and demand of payment thereof. The total amount which may be assessed to the several utilities under authority of this subdivision shall not exceed the annual budget of the council for carrying out the purposes of this subdivision.

Subd. 4. There is hereby appropriated to the environmental quality council from the general fund in the state treasury $500,000 for the biennium ending June 30, 1975, as the budget for carrying out the provisions of subdivision 3 of this section.

Sec. 19. This act is effective the day following its final enactment.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 69.011, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [QUALIFICATION FOR STATE AID.] (1) Any municipality in this state having for more than one year an organized fire department and officially established by the governing body of the municipality or an independent nonprofit fire fighting corporation created under the nonprofit corporation act of this state and operating exclusively for fire fighting purposes and providing retirement and relief benefits to its members or having a separate subsidiary incorporated firemen's relief and pension association providing retirement and relief benefits may qualify to receive state aid if it meet the following minimum requirements or equivalent as determined by the state fire marshal by July 1, 1972:

(a) Ten paid or volunteer firemen including a fire chief and assistant fire chief, and

(b) Regular scheduled meetings and frequent drills including instructions in fire fighting tactics and in the use, care, and operation of all fire apparatus and equipment, and

(c) A motorized fire truck equipped with a motorized pump, 250 gallon or larger water tank, 300 feet of one inch or larger fire hose in two lines with combination spray and straight stream nozzles, five-gallon hand pumps—tank extinguisher or equivalent, dry chemical extinguisher or equivalent, ladders, extension ladders, pike poles, crow bars, axes, lanterns, fire coats, helmets, boots, and

(d) Apparatus suitably housed in a building of good construction with facilities for care of hose and equipment, and

(e) A reliable and adequate method of receiving fire alarms by telephone or with electric siren and suitable means of sounding an alarm, and

(f) If response is to be provided outside the corporate limits of the municipality wherein the fire department is located, the municipality has another piece of motorized apparatus to make the response, and

(g) Other requirements the commissioner establishes by rule.

(2) Any municipality in this state having for more than one year an organized police department established by the governing body of the municipality or any municipality contracting with the county for police protection service by county sheriff, as evidenced by written police protection agreement filed with the commissioner may qualify to receive state aid.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 69.021, Subdivision 7, is amended to read:

Subd. 7. [APPORTIONMENT OF AID TO MUNICIPALITIES AND FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATIONS BY COUNTY AUDITOR.] (1) The county auditor shall apportion the state aid received by him relative to the premiums reported on the Minnesota Fire-town Premiums Reports filed pursuant to this chapter to each municipality and/or firemen's relief association certified to him by the commissioner for the fire service in the same manner that state aid is apportioned to the counties, one half in proportion to the population and one half in proportion to the assessed property valuation of the fire towns in the county for which aid is proportioned. The county auditor shall apportion the amount of aid to each municipality and/or firemen's relief association in an amount not less than 100 percent nor more than 150 percent of the average state aid calculated for apportionment to the municipality and/or firemen's relief association. Provided that if the amount of aid so calculated is either greater or less than the amount of aid available as calculated in subdivision 5 each municipality's and/or firemen's relief association's proportionate share of the state aid shall be reduced or increased on a percentage basis so that the amount of aid apportioned shall not exceed the amount of tax collected. No municipality or firemen's relief association shall receive less than provided for under this subdivision.

In the case of municipalities or independent fire departments qualifying for the state aid the county auditor shall calculate the state aid for the municipality or relief association on the basis of the population and the assessed property valuation of the area furnished fire protection service by the fire department as evidenced by duly executed and valid fire service agreements filed with him. If one or more fire departments are furnishing contracted fire service to a city, village, town or township only the population and valuation of the area served by each fire department shall be considered in calculating the state aid and the fire departments furnishing service shall enter into an agreement apportioning among themselves the percent of the population and the assessed property valuation of each service area. Agreement shall be in writing and filed with the commissioner in duplicate. The commissioner shall forward one copy of the agreement to the county auditor of the county wherein the fire department is located and retain one copy.

In the case of cities of the first and second class the state aid calculated shall be paid directly to the treasurer of the relief association. A probate court, which shall be a court of record having a seal, and, except in the counties of Hennepin, and Ramsey and St. Louis shall also be a county court, is established in each county. Subd. 3. The following probate and county court districts are established: Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods; Marshall, Red Lake and Pennington; Norman, Clearwater and Mahnomen; Cass and Hubbard; Wadena and Todd; Mille Lacs and Kanabec; Wilkin, Big Stone and Traverse; Swift and Stevens; Pope, Grant and Douglas; Lac qui Parle, Yellow Medicine and Chippewa; Lincoln and Lyon; Murray and Pipestone; Jackson and Cottonwood; Rock and Nobles; Dodge and Olmsted; Lake and Cook; Aitkin and Carlton; Sibley, Meeker and McLeod; Martin, Watonwan and Faribault; Houston and Fillmore; Nicollet and Le Sueur; Winona and Wabasha; Pine, Isanti and Chisago; Sherburne, Benton and Stearns.

A combined county court district may be separated into single county courts by the concurrence of the county boards of the respective counties affected. Vacancies in the office of judge created by such a separation shall be filled in the manner herein provided for the selection of other county court judges.

The single county court districts so created by such separation shall each be entitled to one judge, subject to the provisions of subdivision 5, clause (5), provided, however, that if the number of judges of the combined county court district exceeds the number of counties, then, upon separation into single county court districts, the county having the largest population determined by the last United States census shall be entitled to two judges and in the event there are more judges than counties remaining, the county having the largest population determined by the last United States census shall also be entitled to two judges.

In each other county except Hennepin, and Ramsey and St. Louis, the probate court of the single county is also the county court of the county and shall be governed by the provisions of sections 487.01 to 487.39.

Subd. 4. The provisions of sections 487.01 to 487.39 do not apply to the counties of Hennepin, and Ramsey and St. Louis.

Subd. 5. Each county court district shall elect one county court judge except:

(1) The district consisting of St. Louis county shall elect six judges; two of the county court judges shall reside and serve in and be elected at large by the voters of St. Louis county; two of the county court judges shall reside and serve in and be elected by the voters in that part of St. Louis county south of the following described line; South of the south line of township 55; the area to be known as the south district; one county court judge shall reside and serve in and be elected by the voters of an area to be known as the northwest district, which area lies within the following described lines in St. Louis county; North of the south line of township 55 and west of the west line of range 18 and excluding that part of Portage township west of the west line of range 18; and one county court judge shall reside and serve in and be elected by the voters of an area to be known as the northeast district, which area lies within the following described lines in St. Louis county: North of the south line of township 55 and east of the west line of range 18 and including that part of Portage township west of the west line of range 18.

(4) (5) The number of judges to be elected may be increased by the county board of the affected county or by the concurrence of the county boards of those affected counties combined into districts.

Subd. 6. For the more effective administration of justice, two or more county court districts may combine their respective county court districts into a single county court district by concurrence of the county boards of the respective counties affected. If districts are combined, the office of a judge may be terminated at the expiration of his term and he shall be eligible for retirement compensation under the provisions of section 487.06.

Subd. 7. When the judicial business of a county court permits, the chief justice of the supreme court, upon the recommendation of all of the county boards of a county court district may, by order filed in the office of the secretary of state, reduce the number of county court judges. The office of any judge shall not be terminated until the expiration of his term and the judge shall be eligible for retirement compensations under the provisions of section 487.06.

Subd. 8. All municipal courts and magistrate courts existing pursuant to a municipal ordinance, charter, or legislative act located in counties covered by sections 487.01 to 487.39 are hereby abolished as of July 1, 1972, except the courts located in St. Louis county are hereby abolished as of January 1, 1974, unless an earlier date is designated by a county board or county boards pursuant to Laws 1971, Chapter 951, Section 45, and no additional municipal courts shall be formed therein pursuant to the provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 488.

Subd. 9. (1) All probate judges in office on July 1, 1972 shall be the county court judges of their respective counties and shall continue in office as such for the balance of the terms for which they were last elected and shall be eligible for reelection to office. In counties hereby combined into county court districts and for which only one judge is provided, the probate judge of the county having the largest population determined by the last United States census shall be the judge of the county court if he consents, and files his consent prior to July 1, 1972 in the office of the secretary of state. If he does not consent, the probate judge of the smaller county shall be the judge of the county court. In counties combined into county court districts for which only one judge is provided, a probate judge in any of the affected counties who at the effective date of this act is, or before or at the expiration of his then current term of office will become, eligible for retirement pursuant to section 487.06 shall not become county court judge upon the effective date of this act, but he shall serve as a judicial officer until his retirement which shall occur not later than the expiration of his then current term of office. If all probate judges in such a county court district will qualify for retirement pursuant to section 487.06 at or before the expiration of their current term of office as of the effective date of this act, the county court judge shall be selected according to the population of the respective counties in the county court district as hereinbefore provided in subparagraph 1. The probate judge who is not hereby designated as judge of the county court shall continue in office until the expiration of his term and become a part time judicial officer of the county court, hearing and trying matters assigned to him by the judge of the county court but, if he is not learned in the law, then he shall hear and try only matters assigned to him by the judge of the county court he was heretofore authorized by law to hear and try.

(1a) The probate judges of St. Louis county probate court in office on January 1, 1974 shall be county court judges of the county court of St. Louis county and shall continue in office as such for the balance of the terms for which they were last elected and shall be eligible for reelection to office.

(2) Except as provided in subparagraph 1, the judges required by the application of this section shall be appointed by the governor from among the municipal court judges or magistrates serving pursuant to a municipal ordinance, charter, or legislative act other than special municipal court judges serving within the county who are learned in the law and consent thereto. A judge so appointed shall serve for the balance of the term for which he was last elected until his successor is elected and qualifies. If there are no serving municipal court judges, such county court judges shall be elected at the next general election following July 1, 1972.

(2a) Except as provided in subparagraph (1a), the judges required by the application of this section in the south district of the county court of St. Louis county shall be appointed by the governor from among the full time judges of the municipal court of the city of Duluth in office on January 1, 1974, and a judge so appointed shall serve until his successor is elected and qualifies; and the judges required in the northwest and northeast districts of the county court of St. Louis county shall be appointed by the governor from among persons learned in the law residing in each district, and a judge so appointed shall serve until his successor is elected and qualifies."

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.53, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

Subd. 3. [CITIES FIRST CLASS.] Unless its charter permits a greater net debt a city of the first class may not incur a net debt in excess of five $1\frac{2}{3}$ percent of the full and true valuation market value of all taxable property therein. If the charter of the city permits a net debt of the city in excess of five $1\frac{2}{3}$ percent of its valuation, it may not incur a net debt in excess of ten $3\frac{1}{2}$ percent of the full and true valuation market value of the taxable property therein. In any event, unless the charter of the city or an existing law otherwise provides, in calculating the net debt each of the following obligations shall be deducted from its gross debt:

(1) Obligations issued for improvements which are payable wholly or partly from the proceeds of special assessments levied upon property specially benefited thereby, including those which are general obligations of the municipality issuing them, if the municipality is entitled to reimbursement in whole or in part from the proceeds of the special assessments.

(2) Warrants or orders having no definite or fixed maturity.

(3) Obligations payable wholly from the income from revenue producing conveniences.

(4) Obligations issued to create or maintain a permanent improvement revolving fund.

The county auditor, at the time of preparing the tax list of the city, shall compile a statement setting forth the total assessed value and the total full and true valuation market value of each class of taxable property in such city for such year.

Sec. 5, Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.53, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [SCHOOL DISTRICTS.] Except as otherwise provided by law, no school district shall be subject to a net debt in excess of ten percent of the actual market value of all taxable property and of exempt property referred to in section 275.49, situated within its corporate limits, as computed in accordance with this subdivision. The county auditor of each county containing taxable real or personal property situated within any school district shall certify to the district upon request the adjusted market value of all such property and the ratio of such value to the market value of all such property, as most recently ascertained and reported to him in accordance with section 272.03, subdivisions 8 and 12 and sections 273.11 and 276.04. The county auditor of each county containing exempt property referred to in section 275.49, situated within any school district, shall certify to the district upon request the total adjusted market value of all such property as determined under section 275.49. If 20 percent or more in value of the taxable property in any school district consists of property on which taxes are paid into the state treasury under gross earnings tax laws applicable to common carrier railroads, the public service commission shall certify to the district upon request the adjusted market value of railroad property within the district as most recently determined by the commission. The commissioner of taxation shall certify to each school district upon request the ratio most recently determined by Whenever the state equalization aid review committee, in accordance with section ~~124.211, subdivision 3~~ 124.212, subdivision 10, to exist between has determined that the assessed valuation of ~~the any~~ district furnished by county auditors ~~and the correct assessed valuation is not based upon the market value of taxable property in the district, the commissioner of taxation shall certify to the district upon request the ratio most recently ascertained to exist between such value and the actual market value of property within the district.~~ The actual market value of property within a district, on which its debt limit under this subdivision is based, is ~~that~~ (a) the value determined by dividing the adjusted market value of all taxable and exempt property within the district, as certified by the county auditors and, where applicable, by the public service commission, by the ratios certified by the county auditors with respect to properties in their counties, or (b) this value divided by the ratio certified by the commissioner of taxation, whichever results in a higher value.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.53, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. [CERTAIN INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICTS.] No independent school district located wholly or partly within a city of the first class shall issue any obligations unless first authorized by a two-thirds vote of the governing body of such city. 475.56 [INTEREST RATE.] Any municipality issuing obligations under any law may issue obligations bearing interest at a single rate or at rates varying from year to year which may be lower or higher in later years than in earlier years. Such higher rate for any period prior to maturity may be represented in part by separate coupons designated as additional coupons, extra coupons, or B coupons, but the highest aggregate rate of interest contracted to be so paid for any period shall not exceed the maximum rate authorized by such law. Such higher rate may also be represented in part by the issuance of additional obligations of the same series, over and above but not exceeding two percent of the amount otherwise authorized to be issued, and the amount of such additional obligations shall not be included in the amount required by section 475.59 to be stated in any bond resolution, notice, or ballot, or in the sale price required by section 475.60 or any other law to be paid; but if the principal amount of the entire series exceeds its cash sale price, such excess shall not, when added to the total amount of interest payable on all obligations of the series to their stated maturity dates, cause the average annual rate of such interest to exceed the maximum rate authorized by law. This section does not authorize a provision in any such obligations for the payment of a higher rate of interest after maturity than before.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.58, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

Subdivision 1. [APPROVAL BY MAJORITY OF ELECTORS; EXCEPTIONS.] Obligations authorized by law or charter may be issued by any municipality upon obtaining the approval of a majority of the electors voting on the question of issuing the obligations, but an election shall not be required to authorize obligations issued:

(1) to pay any unpaid judgment against the municipality;

(2) for refunding obligations;

(3) for an improvement, which obligation is payable wholly or partly from the proceeds of special assessments levied upon property specially benefited by the improvement, or of taxes levied upon the increased value of property within a district for the development of which the improvement is undertaken, including obligations which are the general obligations of the municipality, if the municipality is entitled to reimbursement in whole or in part from the proceeds of such special assessments levied upon such property or taxes and not less than 20 percent of the cost of the improvement is to be assessed against benefited property or is estimated to be received from such taxes within the district;

(4) payable wholly from the income of revenue-producing conveniences;

(5) under the provisions of a home rule charter which permits the issuance of obligations of the municipality without election; and

(6) under the provisions of a law which permits the issuance of obligations of a municipality without an election.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.58, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [FUNDING, REFUNDING.] Any city of the fourth class, village, town or school district whose outstanding gross debt exceeds 20 obligations, including all items referred to in section 475.51, subdivision 4, exceed in amount $6\frac{2}{3}$ percent of its assessed value may issue bonds under this subdivision for the purpose of funding or refunding such indebtedness or any part thereof. A list of the items of indebtedness to be funded or refunded shall be made by the recording officer and treasurer and filed in the office of the recording officer. The initial resolution of the governing body shall refer to this subdivision as authority for the issue, state the amount of bonds to be issued and refer to the list of indebtedness to be funded or refunded. This resolution shall be published once each week for two successive weeks in a legal newspaper published in the municipality or if there be no such newspaper, in a legal newspaper published in the county seat. Such bonds may be issued without the submission of the question of their issue to the electors unless within ten days after the second publication of the resolution a petition requesting such election signed by ten or more voters who are taxpayers of the municipality, shall be filed with the recording officer. In event such petition is filed, no bonds shall be issued hereunder unless authorized by a majority of the electors voting on the question.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.61, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 5. When all conditions exist precedent to the issuance of obligations of any municipality in any amount for any purpose authorized by law, and the municipality has applied for a grant or loan of state or federal funds to aid in payment of cost incurred for the authorized purpose, its governing body may by resolution issue and sell temporary obligations not exceeding the total amount authorized, maturing within not more than three years from the date such obligations are issued. In this event the proceeds of the grant or loan when received shall be irrevocably appropriated to the sinking fund for the temporary obligations, and the estimated amount thereof may be deducted from the tax which would otherwise be required by subdivision 1 to be levied. Any amount of the temporary obligations which cannot be paid at maturity, from the proceeds of the grant or loan or from any other funds appropriated by the governing body for the purpose, shall be paid from the proceeds of definitive obligations to be issued and sold before the maturity date; or if sufficient funds are not available for payment in full of the temporary obligations at maturity, the holders thereof shall have the right to require the issuance in exchange thereof of definitive obligations secured in the manner provided in subdivision 1 and bearing interest at the maximum rate permitted by law.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.66, is amended to read:

475.66 [SINKING FUND; SURPLUSES.] All sinking funds shall be deposited and secured as provided in chapter 118, except for amounts invested as authorized in this section, and may be deposited in interest bearing accounts, and such deposits may be evidenced by certificates of deposit with fixed maturities. There shall always be retained in any sinking fund sufficient cash to provide for the annual payments of principal and interest on the obligations for which the fund was created. Subject to the provisions of any resolutions of the governing body relating to the maintenance of reserves of cash or investments for the security of holders of such obligations, any surplus in any sinking fund above such amount may be invested under the direction of the governing body in any general obligation of the United States, the state of Minnesota or any of its municipalities, and in securities issued by ~~the following agencies any agency or instrumentality of the United States: Federal Home Loan Banks, Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, Federal Land Banks, Banks for Cooperatives, and the Federal National Mortgage Association.~~ Such surplus may also be used to purchase any obligation, whether general or special, of the issue for which the fund is created, at such price, which may include a premium, as shall be agreed to by the holder, or may be used to redeem any obligation of said issue prior to maturity in accordance with its terms. The obligations representing any such investment may be sold or hypothecated by the governing body at any time, but the money so received remains a part of such fund until used for the purpose for which the fund was created. Any obligation held in the sinking fund from which it is payable may be cancelled at any time when moneys in such fund are sufficient to pay all other obligations issued prior to July 1, 1961, payable therefrom with interest to maturity or to their earliest redemption dates. Any obligation issued after July 1, 1961, held in the sinking fund from which it is payable may be cancelled at any time unless otherwise provided in the other obligations payable from such fund or in a resolution or ordinance authorizing their issuance.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 475.71, is amended to read:

475.71 [REGISTRATION OF BONDS.] If the purchaser or holder of negotiable bonds issued by a city shall so request, the governing body, by a resolution prescribing the method and terms of exchange, may authorize the proper officers to issue registered bonds in lieu thereof, in such denominations as may be desired. [84.90] [LIMITATIONS ON THE OPERATION OF RECREATIONAL MOTOR VEHICLES.] Subdivision 1. For the purposes of this section the following terms have the meanings given them: (a) "Recreational motor vehicle" means any self-propelled vehicle and any vehicle propelled or drawn by a self-propelled vehicle used for recreational purposes, including but not limited to snowmobile, trail bike or other all-terrain vehicle, hovercraft, or motor vehicle licensed for highway operation which is being used for off-road recreational purposes. (b) "Snowmobile" has the same meaning given by section 84.81, subdivision 3.

Subd. 2. Within the seven county metropolitan area, no person shall enter and operate a recreational motor vehicle on lands not his own, except where otherwise allowed by law, without the written or oral permission of the owner, occupant, or lessee of such lands. Written permission may be given by a posted notice of any kind or description that the owner, occupant, or lessee prefers, so long as it specifies the kind of vehicles allowed, such as by saying "Recreational Vehicles Allowed", "Snowmobiles Allowed", "Trail Bikes Allowed", "All-Terrain Vehicles Allowed", or words substantially similar.

Subd. 3. Outside the seven county metropolitan area, no person shall enter on any land not his own for the purpose of operating a recreational motor vehicle after being notified, either orally or by written or posted notice, by the owner, occupant, or lessee not to do so. Where posted notice is used, signs shall bear letters not less than two inches high and shall state one of the following: "Recreational Vehicles Prohibited", "Snowmobiles Prohibited", "Trail Bikes Prohibited", "All-Terrain Vehicles Prohibited", or words substantially similar. In lieu of the above notice an owner, occupant or lessee may post any sign prohibiting recreational motor vehicles which has been adopted by rule or regulation of the commissioner of natural resources. The notice or sign shall be posted at corners and ordinary ingress and egress to the property and when so posted shall serve so as to raise a conclusive presumption that a person operating a recreational motor vehicle thereon had knowledge that he had entered upon such posted lands. Failure to post notice as provided in this subdivision shall not deprive a person of the right to bring a civil action for damage to his person or property as otherwise provided by law.

Subd. 4. It is unlawful for a person to post, mutilate, or remove any notice or sign provided in this section upon any lands or waters over which he has no right, title, interest, or license. It is unlawful for a person other than a duly constituted legal authority to so post any public lands, including but not limited to tax forfeited lands, as above described.

Subd. 5. No person shall enter or leave the lands of another with a recreational motor vehicle, or pass from one portion of such lands to another portion, through a closed gate, without returning the gate to its original position. No person shall enter or leave the lands of another with a recreational motor vehicle by cutting any wire or tearing down or destroying any fence.

Subd. 6. Nothing in this section shall limit or otherwise qualify the power of municipalities, counties, school districts, or other political subdivisions of the state or any agency of the state to impose additional restrictions or prohibitions on the operation of recreational motor vehicles on property not owned by the operator in accordance with law.

Subd. 7. A person violating the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Mr. Arnold from the Committee on Natural Resources and Agriculture, to which was referred

S. F. No. 506: A bill for an act relating to agriculture; collective bargaining; providing for mandatory bargaining between producers or associations and handlers; providing criteria.

Reports the same back with the recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "agricultural marketing and bargaining act of 1973."

Sec. 2. [DECLARATION OF POLICY.] Since agricultural products are produced by numerous and often scattered individual producers, the marketing and bargaining position of individual producers will be adversely affected unless they are free to join together voluntarily in cooperative associations or other associations as authorized by law. Membership of a producer in such a cooperative association or other association can only be meaningful if a handler of agricultural products is required to bargain in good faith with an agricultural cooperative association or other association as the representative of the members of such association. Production and marketing of agricultural commodities constitute a basic and essential industry. Agricultural producers do not now enjoy the opportunity, comparable to that of industrial workers and those in many other forms of enterprise or employment, to organize and bargain effectively. Neither is adequate government provision available to assure that the bargaining process shall be fair both to producers and handlers and in the public interest.

Sec. 3. Subdivision 1. For the purpose of sections 1 to 12, the terms defined in this section have the meanings given them.

Subd. 2. "Association" means an association of producers, or federation of cooperative association of producers engaged in producing, marketing, bargaining, shipping or processing functions of an agricultural commodity on behalf of its members who are producers of such agricultural commodity, which has been accredited by the commissioner.

Subd. 3. "Person" means an individual, partnership, corporation or association.

Subd. 4. "Producer" means any person, who in any one calendar year within the previous two calendar years, produces or causes to be produced any agricultural commodity in quantity beyond his own family use, and who is able to transfer, during the calendar year, to a handler or an association a merchantable title to the agricultural commodity or provide management, labor, machinery, facilities, or any other production input, with the assumption of risk, for the production of the agricultural commodity under a written contract.

Subd. 5. "Agricultural commodity" includes all agricultural goods produced under contract for marketing as defined by the commissioner of agriculture. It does not include any commodity sold by a producer to another producer for his own exclusive use and not for resale. The kinds, types and subtypes of products to be classed together as an agricultural commodity for the purposes of this act shall be determined by the commissioner on the basis of common usage and practice.

Subd. 6. "Handler" means a person, other than an association, engaged in the business or practice or acquiring agricultural commodities from producers or associations for processing or sale; grading, packaging, handling, storing or processing agricultural commodities received from producers or associations; contracting or negotiating contracts or other arrangements with producers or associations with respect to the production of any agricultural commodity; or acting as an agent broker for a handler in the performance of any function or act specified above. It does not include a producer who sells at a retail establishment which he owns and operates or who sells at a produce market, agricultural commodities produced by him and agricultural commodities produced by another producer subject to value limitation established by the commissioner.

Subd. 7. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of agricultural of the state of Minnesota or his designated authority.

Subd. 8. "Marketing year" shall mean, generally, any time between the second day of February of the previous calendar year and the first day of February of the subsequent year, unless the commissioner shall determine an alternative time period for a specific agricultural commodity to be designated as its marketing year.

Sec. 4. [ACCREDITATION.] Subdivision 1. Any association accredited under this section may engage in bargaining as provided for under this act.

(1) An association desiring accreditation shall file with the commissioner in the form required by the commissioner. The request shall contain properly certified evidence that the association meets the standards for accreditation and shall be accompanied by a report of the names and addresses of member producers, the name of each handler to whom the member producer delivered or contracted to deliver the agricultural commodity during the previous 2 calendar years and the quantity delivered or acreage grown. A fee to cover the costs of the commissioner in processing the request shall be established pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 15, and paid by the association when the request is filed.

(2) The commissioner may require all handlers of an agricultural commodity produced in a bargaining unit area as individuals or through their trade association to file with the board within 30 days following such a request, a report, properly certified, showing the correct names and addresses of all producers of the agricultural commodity who have delivered the agricultural commodity to the handler during the two calendar years preceding the filing of the report and the quantities of the agricultural commodity received by the handler from each named producer during those periods. The information contained in the individual reports of handlers filed with the commissioner shall not be made public by the commissioner nor available to any person for private use.

Subd. 2. In determination of accreditation, the commissioner shall determine whether bargaining shall be appropriate by plant, processor, or company. This determination shall be the unit area for the bargaining provisions of this act as is applicable to associations and handlers. In making his determination, the commissioner shall define as appropriate the largest bargaining unit area in terms of the quantity of the agricultural commodity produced, the definition of the agricultural commodity, geographic area covered and number of producers included as is consistent with the following criteria:

(a) The community of interest of the producers included;

(b) The potential serious conflicts of interests among members of the proposed unit;

(c) The effect of exclusions on the capacity of the association to effectively bargain for the bargaining unit as defined;

(d) The kinds, types and subtypes of products to be classed together as agricultural commodity for which the bargaining unit is proposed;

(e) Whether the producers eligible for membership in the proposed bargaining unit meet the definition of "producer" for the agricultural commodity involved;

(f) The wishes of the producers;

(g) The pattern of past marketing of the commodity.

Subd. 3. An association shall be accredited only if it complies with the following:

(a) The association meets the requirements of the Capper-Volstead Act, 7 U.S.C. 291-2.

(b) The association has submitted a copy of its bylaws which provide that: each member of the association shall have one vote in all votes of the membership of the association; that officers or directors shall be elected by a majority of the members voting or by delegates representing a majority of the membership; and that all elections shall be by secret ballot.

(c) The association would have marketing and bargaining contracts for the current or next marketing year with more than 50 percent of the producers of an agricultural commodity who are in the bargaining unit area and these contracts would cover more than 50% of the quantity of that commodity produced by producers in that bargaining unit area. The commissioner may determine the quantity produced by the bargaining unit area using information on production in the prior year, current marketing information, and projections on production during the current marketing year. The commissioner shall exclude from the quantity of the agricultural commodity contracted by producers with producer owned and controlled processing cooperatives and any quantity produced by handlers. An association whose main purpose is bargaining but which processes a surplus into a form which is not the subject of bargaining is not a processing cooperative. The contracts with members shall specify the agricultural commodity and that the members have appointed the association as their exclusive agent in negotiations with handlers for prices and other terms of trade with respect to the sale and marketing of the agricultural commodity and obligate them to dispose of their production or holdings of the agricultural commodity through or at the direction of the association.

Subd. 4. Within 60 days of the filing date of the request for accreditation by an association, the commissioner shall determine whether the association shall be accredited. If the commissioner determines that insufficient evidence was filed by the association, the commissioner may permit the association to file an amended request for accreditation within 30 days following the determination and notification of the association. The commissioner shall then determine, within 30 days of the filing of the amended request, whether the association shall be accredited. An association which is denied accreditation after filing of an amended request may not file another request for accreditation for a period of one year.

Subd. 5. Accreditation of the association by the commissioner shall be effective 30 days after the notice of accreditation.

Subd. 6. [REVOCAION OF ACCREDITATION.] The commissioner shall consider revocation of accreditation upon any of the following conditions:

(a) Upon receipt of a request from an accredited association for its own disaccreditation.

(b) Upon receipt of a petition requesting that the accredited association be disaccredited and bearing the signatures of at least 10 percent of the producers of an accredited association in the bargaining unit. Following the receipt of a petition bearing the signatures of at least 10 percent of the producers of an accredited association in a bargaining unit the board shall order the commissioner to initiate a referendum among the members of the accredited association and if in the referendum a majority of the producers, producing 50 percent of the commodity approve, the association accreditation shall be revoked by the board.

Subd. 7. The accredited association shall represent all member producers who are in the bargaining unit area and it shall act as exclusive sales agents for the bargaining unit area in negotiations with handlers. The association may not assess, bargain for, or claim to represent those producers who choose not to be represented by the association or choose not to have a bargaining committee bargain for them.

Sec. 5. [MARKETING AND BARGAINING COMMITTEE.]
Subdivision 1. After accreditation of the association, the association shall establish and authorize a marketing and bargaining committee to negotiate, as the association's exclusive agent, with handlers for the sale and marketing of the agricultural commodity for which the association was accredited.

Subd. 2. This committee shall be comprised of members of the association elected by the association in a secret ballot election, except that the association may contract with legal counsel who shall, at the discretion of the association, be eligible for membership on the committee.

Subd. 3. The production of the agricultural commodity shall comprise a significant portion of the total producing operation of each committee member.

Subd. 4. Members who have any quantity contracted with a producer owned and controlled processing cooperative are not eligible to serve on a marketing and bargaining committee for such a commodity.

Sec. 6. Subdivision 1. Producers of agricultural commodities are free to join together voluntarily in associations as authorized by law without interference by handlers. A handler shall not engage in any of the following practices, defined as unfair practices:

(a) To coerce a producer in the exercise of his right to join and belong to or to refrain from joining or belonging to an association or to refuse to deal with a producer because of the exercise of his right to join and belong to an association.

(b) To discriminate against a producer with respect to price, quantity, quality or other terms of purchase, acquisition or other handling of agricultural products because of his membership in or contract with an association.

(c) To coerce or intimidate a producer to breach, cancel or terminate a membership agreement or marketing contract with an association or a contract with a handler.

(d) To pay or loan money, give anything of value or offer any other inducement or reward to a producer for refusing or ceasing to belong to an association.

(e) To make or circulate unsubstantiated reports about the finances, management or activities of associations or other handlers.

(f) To conspire, combine, agree or arrange with any other person to do or aid or abet the doing of any practice which is in violation of this act.

(g) To refuse to bargain with an association with whom the handler has had prior dealings or with an association whose producers in the bargaining units have had dealings with the handler prior to the effective date of this act.

Subd. 2. An association shall not engage nor permit an employee or agent to engage in the following practices, defined as unfair practices:

(a) To enter into a contract which discriminates against a producer represented by that association.

(b) To act in a manner contrary to the bylaws of the association.

(c) To coerce or intimidate a handler to breach, cancel or terminate an agreement or marketing contract with an association or a contract with a producer.

(d) To make or circulate unsubstantiated reports about the finances, management or activities of other associations or handlers.

(e) To conspire, combine, agree or arrange with another person to do or aid or abet the doing of any practice which is in violation of this act.

Sec. 7. Subdivision 1. As used in this act, "bargaining" means the mutual obligation of a handler and an association or their designated representatives to meet at reasonable times and confer and negotiate in good faith. Negotiations may include all terms relative to trading between handlers and producers of the agricultural commodity, such as:

- (a) prices and terms of sale
- (b) quality specifications
- (c) quantity to be marketed by acreage or weight
- (d) transactions involving products and services utilized by one party and provided by the other party.

Subd. 2. The association shall notify the commissioner of the commencement of negotiations.

Subd. (3) (a) If no agreement is reached at the expiration of ten days after service of such notice to the commissioner, the association may, at any time thereafter, petition the commissioner to assume supervision over the dispute, except as provided for by clause (e).

(b) The commissioner shall then set a time and place for conference with the parties to present facts representing each party's case and hearing arguments. The commissioner shall take such steps, in accordance with rules promulgated under this act, as he deems expedient to affect a voluntary, amicable and expeditious adjustment and settlement of the differences between the handler and the association.

(c) At any time prior to 15 days before the first day of the marketing year in dispute, if any agreement on the issues in dispute between the association and the handler has not been reached, the handler may elect not to purchase, directly or indirectly, any quantity of the agriculture commodity produced by the association during that marketing year; or, the affected producers may elect not to sell, directly or indirectly, any quantity of the agricultural commodity produced by the association during that marketing year; or, the affected producers may elect not to sell, directly or indirectly, any quantity of the agricultural commodity to the handler during that marketing year.

(d) If either party makes an election, the other party is not under an obligation to continue bargaining with the party so electing for terms during the marketing period in dispute. Both parties may, however, engage immediately in bargaining for the following marketing year.

(e) If the petition requesting the commissioner to assume supervision over a dispute is presented 15 days or less before the marketing year in dispute, then the commissioner shall exercise his discretionary authority, according to rules promulgated under this act, in determining which disputes are arbitrable before the start of the marketing year in dispute.

Sec. 8. All decisions of mediation and bargaining which result from section 7 shall be based upon the following factors:

(a) Prices or projected prices for the agricultural commodity paid by the competing handlers in the market area or competing market areas.

(b) Amount of the commodity produced or projections of production in the production area or competing marketing areas.

(c) Relationship between the quantity produced and the quantity handled by the handler.

(d) The producers cost of production including the cost which would be involved in paying farm labor a fair wage rate and providing them with adequate housing.

(e) The average consumer prices for goods and services, commonly known as the cost living.

(f) The impact of the award on the competitive position of the handler in the marketing area or competing areas.

(g) The impact of the award on the competitive position of the agricultural commodity in relationship to competing commodities.

(h) A fair return on investment.

(i) Kind, quality or grade of the commodity involved.

(j) Stipulation of the parties.

(k) Such other factors which are normally or traditionally taken into consideration in determining prices, quality, quantity and the costs of other services involved.

Sec. 9. The commissioner shall announce his findings of fact and decisions in all cases in which he has assumed supervision during the year previous to the marketing year in dispute by the fifteenth day of the marketing year in dispute. To expedite his decisions, the commissioner may engage the services of the bureau of mediation services, whose recommendations he shall consider in his final determination.

Sec. 10. Subdivision 1. For the purpose of this act, the commissioner may receive complaints with respect to violations or threatened violations. The commissioner may make all necessary investigations, examinations or inspections of any violation or threatened violation specified in the sworn complaint filed with the commissioner. If, upon such investigation, the commissioner considers that there is reasonable cause to believe that the person charged has committed a practice in violation of this act, the commissioner shall issue and cause to be served a complaint upon the person. The complaint shall summon the person to a hearing before the commissioner at the time and place fixed.

Subd. 2. If the commissioner determines that the person complained of has committed a practice in violation of this act, he shall state his findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on the person an order requiring him to cease the violation and shall order further affirmative action as will effectuate the policies of this act.

Subd. 3. If the commissioner is of the opinion that the person complained of has not committed a practice in violation of this act, he shall make his findings of fact and issue an order dismissing the complaint.

Subd. 4. Until the record in a case has been filed in a court the commissioner may, at any time upon reasonable notice and in such manner as he deems proper, modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any finding or order he has made or issued, with jurisdiction for such a change specified in additional findings of fact.

Subd. 5. The commissioner may request the attorney general of the state of Minnesota to seek the appropriate temporary relief or restraining order of injunction in district court to insure the enforcement of his findings.

Sec. 11. The commissioner may promulgate rules necessary for the administration of this act in accordance with this act and Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 15.

Sec. 22. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 444.075, is amended to read:

444.075 [WATERWORKS SYSTEMS, MAIN SEWERS, SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANTS.] Subdivision 1. [AUTHORIZATION.] Any city, except cities of the first class operating under a home rule charter, or any village is hereby authorized and em- powered to build, construct, reconstruct, repair, enlarge, improve, or in any other manner obtain waterworks systems, including mains, valves, hydrants, service connections, wells, pumps, reservoirs, tanks, treatment plants, and other appurtenances of a waterworks system, and sewer systems, sewage treatment works, disposal systems, and other facilities for disposing of sewage, industrial waste, or other wastes, all hereinafter called facilities, and to maintain and operate the same inside or outside its corporate limits, and to acquire by gift, purchase, lease, condemnation or otherwise any and all land and easements required for that purpose. The authority hereby granted shall be in addition to all other powers with reference to such facilities otherwise granted by the laws of this state or by the charter of any such city. Counties, except counties in the seven-county metropolitan area, shall have the same authority granted to cities by this subdivision except for areas of the county organized into cities or villages and areas of the county incorporated within a sanitary district established by special act of the legislature.

Subd. 2. [FINANCING.] For the purpose of paying the cost of building, constructing, reconstructing, repairing, enlarging, improving, or in other manner obtaining such facilities or any portion thereof, any such city or village or county may issue and sell its general obligations, which may be made payable primarily from taxes or from special assessments to be levied to pay the cost of the facilities or from net revenues derived from water or sewer service charges or from any other nontax revenues pledged for their payment under charter or other statutory authority, or from any two or more of such sources; or it may issue special obligations, payable solely from such taxes or special assessments or from such revenues, or from any two or more of such sources. Real estate tax revenues should be used only, and then on a temporary basis, to pay general or special obligations when the other revenues are insufficient to meet the obligations. All such obligations shall be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 475. When special assessments are pledged for the payment of such obligations, they shall be authorized and issued in accordance with the further provisions of chapter 429, or of the municipality's charter if it authorizes such obligations and the governing body determines to proceed thereunder. When net revenues are pledged to the payment of the obligations, together with or apart from taxes and special assessments, such pledge shall be made in accordance with the further provisions of subdivision 3.

Subd. 3. [CHARGES; NET REVENUES.] For the purpose of paying for the construction, reconstruction, repair, enlargement, improvement, or other obtainment and the maintenance operation and use of such facilities, the governing body of any such city or village or county shall have authority to impose just and equitable charges for the use and for the availability of such facilities and for connections therewith and to make contracts for such charges as hereinafter provided. Such charges may be imposed with respect to facilities made available by agreement with other municipalities or counties or private corporations or individuals, as well as those owned and operated by the city or , village or county itself. Charges made for service directly rendered shall be as nearly as possible proportionate to the cost of furnishing the same, and sewer charges may be fixed on the basis of water consumed, or by reference to a reasonable classification of the types of premises to which service is furnished, or by reference to the quantity, pollution qualities and difficulty of disposal of sewage produced, or on any other equitable basis including, but without limitation, any combination of those referred to above. Minimum charges for the availability of water or sewer service may be imposed for all premises abutting on streets or other places where municipal or county water mains or sewers are located, whether or not connected thereto. Charges for connections to the facilities may in the discretion of the governing body be fixed by reference to the portion of the cost thereof which has been paid by assessment of the premises to be connected, in comparison with other premises, as well as the cost of making or supervising the connection. The governing body may make any such charges a charge against the owner, lessee, occupant or all of them and may provide and covenant for certifying unpaid charges to the county auditor with taxes against the property served for collection as other taxes are collected. The governing body may fix and levy taxes for the payment of reasonable charges to the municipality or county itself for the use and availability of the facilities for fire protection and for maintaining sanitary conditions in public buildings, parks, streets, and other public places. In determining the reasonableness of the charges to be imposed, the governing body may give consideration to all costs of the establishment, operation, maintenance, depreciation and necessary replacements of the system, and of improvements, enlargements and extensions necessary to serve adequately the territory of the city or , village , or county including the principal and interest to become due on obligations issued or to be issued therefor. When net revenues have been appropriated to the payment of the cost of the establishment, or of any specified replacement, improvement, enlargement or extension thereof, or to pay the principal and interest due on obligations to be issued for such purpose, no charges imposed to produce net revenues adequate for such purpose shall be deemed unreasonable by virtue of the fact that the project to be financed has not been commenced or completed, if proceedings therefor are taken with reasonable dispatch and the project, when completed, may be expected to make service available to the premises charged which will have a value reasonably commensurate with such charges. All such charges, when collected, and all moneys received from the sale of any facilities or equipment or any by-products thereof, shall be placed in a separate fund, and shall be used first to pay the normal, reasonable and current costs of operating and maintaining the facilities. The net revenues from time to time received in excess of such costs may be pledged by resolutions of the governing body, or may be used though not so pledged, for the payment of principal and interest on obligations issued as provided in subdivision 2, or to pay such portion of said principal and interest as may be directed in such resolutions, and net revenues derived from any facilities of the types listed in subdivision 1, whether or not financed by the issuance of such obligations, may be pledged or used to pay obligations issued for other facilities of any such types. In resolutions authorizing the issuance of either general or special obligations and pledging net revenues thereto, the governing body may make such covenants for the protection of holders of the obligations and taxpayers of the municipality or county as it deems necessary, including, but without limitation, a covenant that the municipality or county will impose and collect charges of the nature herein authorized at the times and in the amounts required to produce, together with any taxes or special assessments designated as a primary source of payment of the obligations, net revenues adequate to pay all principal and interest when due on the obligations and to create and maintain such reserves securing said payments as may be provided in said resolutions. When such a covenant is made it shall be enforceable by appropriate action on the part of any holder of the obligations or any taxpayer of the municipality or county in a court of competent jurisdiction, and the obligations shall be deemed to be payable wholly from the income of the system whose revenues are so pledged, within the meaning of Minnesota Statutes, Sections 475.51 and 475.58.

Subd. 4. [LEVY ASSESSMENTS.] The governing body of any such city or, village or county may also levy assessments against property within the city or, village or county limits benefited by such facilities under the procedure authorized by law or charter with reference to other assessments for benefits of local improvements, may transfer and use for the purposes hereof surplus funds of the city or, village or county not specifically dedicated to any other purpose, and may levy taxes on property within the city or, village or county limits for such purposes within the limitations of section 275.11; except that of the taxes so levied, including taxes initially levied under section 475.61 for the payment of the bonds issued therefor and interest thereon, an amount equal to 35 percent of the total cost of the construction, reconstruction, repair, enlargement, improvement, or other obtainment of any such facilities, plus an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds issued in an amount equal to 35 percent of the total cost of the construction, reconstruction, repair, enlargement, improvement, or other obtainment of any such facilities, shall not be included in computing the levies subject to the limitations of such section 275.11. Any such city or, village or county may contract with any person, company or corporation for the purposes and under the restrictions set forth in subdivision 5. Any such contract shall be binding upon the parties thereto for the full term agreed upon but in no event more than 30 years, and shall not be changed by either party without the consent of the other party.

Subd. 5. [CONNECTION WITH FACILITIES; CHARGES.] Any such city or, village or county is hereby authorized to permit any person, company or corporation located and doing business inside or outside of the city or, village or county limits to connect with such facilities and make use of the same upon such terms and upon the payment of such fees and charges therefor as may be prescribed or contracted for by the city or, village or county, and to contract with any such person, company or corporation for the payment by such person, company or corporation of a part of the cost of construction, maintenance or use of such facilities and to receive from such person, company or corporation doing business inside or outside of the city ~~or~~, village or county limits payment in cash or installments of such portion of the cost of the construction, maintenance or use thereof as may be agreed upon or contracted for with the city ~~or~~, village or county and devote the money so received to the purpose of such construction, maintenance or use. The proportionate cost of construction, maintenance or use of such facilities to be paid by such person, company, or corporation may be made payable in installments due at not greater than annual intervals for a period not to exceed 30 years. Any such person, company or corporation which may pay any part of the cost of construction, maintenance or use of such facilities in the manner aforesaid, shall thereafter have the right to use such facilities for the disposal or treatment of his, their or its sewage, industrial waste, or other wastes, by the city ~~or~~, village or county upon the payment of reasonable charges for the use of such facilities or the charges contracted for in case there is a contract as herein provided. Any such city ~~or~~, village or county may contract with any other city ~~or~~, village or county for the joint or cooperative obtainment or use of such facilities without limitation of time.

Strike everything after the enacting clause, and insert in lieu thereof:

“Section 1. [CITATION.] This act shall be known as the critical areas act of 1973.

Sec. 2. [POLICY.] The legislature finds that the development of certain areas of the state possessing important historic, cultural, or esthetic values, or natural systems which perform functions of greater than local significance, could result in irreversible damage to these resources, decrease their value and utility for public purposes, or unreasonably endanger life and property. The legislature therefore determines that the state should identify these areas of critical concern and assist and cooperate with local units of government in the preparation of plans and regulations for the wise use of these areas.

Sec. 3. [DEFINITIONS.] Subdivision 1. As used in sections 1 to 14, the terms defined in this section have the meanings ascribed to them.

Subd. 2. “Council” means the environmental quality council.

Subd. 5. “Regional development commission” means any regional development commission created pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 462.381 to 462.396 inclusive and the metropolitan council created by Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 473B.

Subd. 6. A “development permit” includes any building permit, zoning permit, water use permit, discharge permit, permit for dredging, filling or altering any portion of a watercourse, plat approval, re-zoning, certification, variance or other action having the effect of permitting any development as defined in this act.

Subd. 7. "Development" means the making of any material change in the use or appearance of any structure or land including but not limited to:

(a) a reconstruction, alteration of the size, or material change in the external appearance of a structure on the land.

(b) a change in the intensity of use of the land.

Subd. 9. "Parcel" of land means any quantity of land capable of being described with such definiteness that its location and boundaries may be established, which is designated by its owner or developer as land to be used or developed as a unit, or which has been used or developed as a unit.

Subd. 10. "Developer" means any person, including a governmental agency, undertaking any development as defined in this act.

Subd. 11. "Structure" means anything constructed or installed or portable, the use of which requires a location on a parcel of land. It includes a movable structure while it is located on land which can be used for housing, business, commercial, agricultural, or office purposes either temporarily or permanently. Structure also includes fences, billboards, swimming pools, poles, pipelines, transmission lines, tracks, and advertising signs.

Sec. 4. [RULES AND REGULATIONS.] The council shall adopt such rules and regulations pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 15, as are necessary for the administration of this act.

Sec. 5. [CRITERIA FOR THE SELECTION OF AREAS OF CRITICAL CONCERN.] The council shall in the manner provided in Chapter 15, prepare criteria for the selection of the areas of critical concern which have the following characteristics:

(1) An area significantly affected by, or having a significant effect upon, an existing or proposed major government development which is intended to serve substantial numbers of persons beyond the vicinity in which the development is located and which tends to generate substantial development or urbanization.

(2) An area containing or having a significant impact upon historical, natural, scientific, or cultural resources of regional or statewide importance.

Sec. 6. [DESIGNATION.] Subdivision 1. (a) The council shall periodically study and assess the resources and development of the state and shall recommend to the governor those areas that should be designated as areas of critical concern in accordance with criteria established in section 5. In its recommendations, the council shall specify the boundaries of the proposed area of critical concern, state the reasons why the particular area proposed is of critical concern to the state or region, the dangers that would result from uncontrolled or inappropriate development of the area and the advantages that would be achieved from the development of the area in a coordinated manner and shall recommend specific principles for guiding the development of the area.

(b) Each regional development commission may from time to time recommend to the council areas wholly or partially within its jurisdiction that meet the criteria for areas of critical concern as defined in Section 5 of this act. Each regional development commission shall solicit from the local units of government within its jurisdiction suggestions as to areas to be recommended. A local unit of government in an area where no regional development commission has been established may from time to time recommend to the council areas wholly or partially within its jurisdiction that meet the criteria for areas of critical concern as defined in Section 5 of this act. The council shall provide the regional development commission or local unit of government with a written statement of its decision and the reasons therefore.

(c) Prior to submitting any recommendation to the governor, under subd. 1 of this section, the council shall conduct a public hearing, in the manner provided in Chapter 15, on the proposed designation at a location convenient to those persons affected by such designation.

Subd. 2. (a) The governor may designate by written order all or part of the recommended areas as areas of critical concern and specify the boundaries thereof and shall notify all local units of government in which any part or parts of a designated area or areas of critical concern are located.

(b) The order designating an area of critical concern shall (1) describe the boundaries of the area of critical concern, (2) indicate the reason that a particular area is of critical concern, (3) specify standards and guidelines to be followed in preparing and adopting plans and regulations required in section 7, and (4) indicate what development, if any, shall be permitted consistent with the policies of this act pending the adoption of plans and regulations.

(c) The order designating an area of critical concern shall be effective for no longer than one year pending approval by the legislature of such designation. A designated area, or any part of the area, not receiving the necessary legislative approval may not be redesignated by the Governor for a period of less than 5 years from the date of the Governor's order.

Sec. 7. [PREPARATION, REVIEW, AND APPROVAL OF PLANS AND REGULATIONS.] Subdivision 1. (a) Within 30 days of receiving notification of the designation of an area or areas of critical concern within its jurisdiction, the local unit of government shall submit existing plans and regulations which deal with or affect the area or areas so designated to the appropriate regional development commission or to the council if no regional development commission has been established.

(b) If no plans or regulations exist, the local unit of government shall upon receiving notification of the designation of an area or areas of critical concern within its jurisdiction:

(1) Within 6 months of said notification prepare plans and regulations for the designated area or areas of critical concern and submit them to the appropriate regional development commission for review; or

(2) Within 30 days of said notification request that the appropriate regional development commission prepare plans and regulations for the area or areas of critical concern. Within six months of receipt of such request, the regional development commission shall prepare said plans and regulations and submit them to the council for review. If no regional development commission has been established, the local unit of government may request that the council prepare plans and regulations for adoption by the local unit of government.

Subd. 2. Within 45 days of receiving plans and regulations from the local unit of government under the provisions of subdivision 1 of this section, the regional development commission shall review the plans and regulations to determine their consistency with regional objectives and the provisions of the order designating the areas of critical concern and transmit its recommendations, together with the plans and regulations, to the council.

Subd. 3. (a) Within 45 days of receiving plans and regulations from a local unit of government or a regional development commission, the council shall review the plans and regulations to determine their consistency with the provisions of the order designating the area, the recommendations of the regional development commission, and the review comments of such state agencies as the council shall deem appropriate, and shall either approve the plans and regulations by written order or return them to the local unit of government or regional development commission for modification along with a written explanation of the need for modification.

(b) Plans and regulations which are returned to the local unit of government or regional development commission for modification shall be revised consistent with instructions of the council and resubmitted to the council within 60 days of their receipt; provided that final revision need not be made until a formal meeting has been held with the council on the plans and regulations if requested by the local unit of government or regional development commission.

(c) Plans or regulations prepared pursuant to this section shall become effective when enacted by the local unit of government or, following legislative approval of the designation, upon such date as the council may provide in its order approving said plans and regulations.

Sec. 8. [EXCEPTIONS.] (a) If, in the opinion of the council, the local unit of government is making a conscientious attempt to develop plans and regulations for the protection of a designated area or areas of critical concern within its jurisdiction, but the scope of the project is of a magnitude that precludes the completion, review, and adoption of the plans and regulations within the time limits established in section 7, the council may grant an appropriate extension of time.

(b) If the council determines that a designated area or areas of critical concern is of a size and complexity that precludes the development of plans and regulations by a local unit of government or a regional development commission, or that the development of plans and regulations requires the assistance of the state, the council shall direct the appropriate state agency or agencies to assist the local unit of government and the regional development commission in preparing the plans and regulations in accordance with a time schedule established by the council.

Sec. 9. [FAILURE TO PREPARE AND SUBMIT PLANS AND REGULATIONS.] Subdivision 1. Except as otherwise provided in section 8, if any local unit of government fails to prepare plans and regulations that are acceptable to the council within one year of the order designating an area or areas of critical concern within its jurisdiction, the council shall prepare and, after conducting a public hearing in the manner provided in chapter 15 at a location convenient to those persons affected by such plans and regulations, adopt such plans and regulations applicable to that government's portion of the area of critical concern as may be necessary to effect the purposes of this act. If such plans and regulations are adopted, they shall apply and be effective as if adopted by the local unit of government. Notice of any proposed order issued under this section shall be given to all units of government having jurisdiction over the area of critical concern.

Subd. 2. Plans and regulations adopted by the council under this section shall be administered by the local unit of government as if they were part of the local ordinance.

Subd. 3. At any time after the preparation and adoption of plans and regulations by the council, a local unit of government may submit plans and regulations pursuant to section 7 which, if approved by the council as therein provided, supercede any plans and regulations adopted under this section.

Subd. 4. If the council determines that the administration of the local plans and regulations are inadequate to protect the state or regional interest, the council may institute appropriate judicial proceedings to compel proper enforcement of the plans and regulations.

Sec. 10. [UPDATING AND RE-EVALUATION OF PLANS AND REGULATIONS.] Subdivision 1. If a local unit of government finds it necessary or desirable to amend or rescind plans and regulations that have been approved by the council, it shall re-submit its plans and regulations, together with any recommended changes thereto, for review and approval by the council.

Subd. 2. Two years from the initial date of the council's approval of the plans and regulations of a local unit of government, or from the date of a review conducted under the provisions of subdivision 1, the local unit of government shall re-submit its plans and regulations, together with any recommended changes thereto, for review and approval by the council.

Subd. 3. Approval of amendments or rescission shall become effective only upon approval thereof by the council in the same manner as for approval of the original plans and regulations as provided in section 7.

Sec. 11. [SUSPENSION OF DEVELOPMENT.] Except as provided in section 12, upon the designation of an area of critical concern, no local unit of government or state agency shall grant a development permit affecting any portion of the area except as otherwise specified in the order designating the area.

Sec. 12. [DEVELOPMENT PERMITS.] Subdivision 1. If an area of critical concern has been designated by the governor pursuant to section 6, a local unit of government shall grant a development permit only in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Subd. 2. If no plans and regulations for the area of critical concern have been adopted under the provisions of section 7, the local unit of government shall grant a development permit only if

(a) the development is specifically permitted by the order designating the area of critical concern or is essential to protect the public health, safety, or welfare because of an existing emergency; and

(b) a local ordinance has been in effect immediately prior to the designation of the area of critical concern and a development permit would have been granted thereunder.

Subd. 3. If plans and regulations for an area of critical concern have become effective under the provisions of section 7, the local unit of government shall permit development only in accordance with those plans and regulations.

Subd. 4. The local unit of government shall notify the council of

(a) any application for a development permit in any area of critical concern for which no plans or regulations have become effective under the provisions of section 7; or

(b) any application for a special development permit in any area of critical concern for which plans and regulations have become effective under the provisions of section 7.

Sec. 13. [PROTECTION OF LANDOWNERS' RIGHTS.] Subdivision 1. Nothing in this act authorizes any governmental agency to adopt a rule or regulation or issue any order that is unduly restrictive or constitutes a taking of real or personal property without the payment of full compensation in violation of the constitution of this state or of the United States.

Subd. 2. Neither the designation of an area of critical concern nor the adoption of any regulations for such an area shall in any way limit or modify the rights of any person to complete any development that has been authorized by registration and recordation of a subdivision pursuant to state laws, or by a building permit or other authorization to commence development on which there has been reliance and a change of position, and which registration or recordation was accomplished, or which permit or authorization was issued, prior to the date of the notice for public hearing as provided by section 6 of this act. If a developer has by his actions in reliance on prior regulations obtained vested or other legal rights that in law would have prevented a local government from changing those regulations in a way adverse to his interests, nothing in this act authorizes any governmental agency to abridge those rights.

Subd. 3. Any person having a fee interest in land, of which the full use and enjoyment thereof has been prohibited or restricted by this act, may petition a court of competent jurisdiction to determine whether the prohibition diminishes the use of the property so as to require compensation under the Constitution of this state or of the United States for the loss and the amount of compensation to be awarded therefor.

Sec. 14. [PLANNING GRANTS.] The council shall prepare guidelines for dispersing funds to local units of government or regional development commissions for as much as 100 percent but not less than 50 percent of the non-federal cost of preparing, adopting and enforcing plans and regulations for areas of critical concern pursuant to section 7 of this act, for a period not to exceed five years from such date as the legislature may approve the designation of an area of critical concern.

Sec. 15. [SPECIAL LEVY.] The governing body of any local unit of government may levy a tax in such amount as may be required for the purpose of complying with the provisions of this act. Such tax shall be in addition to any tax or levy limitations otherwise imposed by law or home rule charter or the provisions of Minnesota Statutes Sections 275.50 to 275.56."

And when so amended the bill do pass. Amendments adopted. Report adopted.

352.12 [REFUNDMENT AFTER DEATH OF EMPLOYEE OR FORMER EMPLOYEE.] Subdivision 1. [DEATH BEFORE TERMINATION OF SERVICE.] If an employee dies before his state service has terminated and neither a survivor annuity nor a reversionary annuity is payable or if an employee who has filed a valid application for an annuity or disability benefit prior to the termination of his state service dies before the benefit has become payable, the director shall make a refundment to his last designated beneficiary or, if there be none, to his surviving spouse or, if none, to the representative of his estate in an amount equal to his accumulated contributions plus interest thereon after the first year of coverage to the date of death at the rate of ~~three and one-half~~ five percent per annum compounded annually. In the event an employee dies who has received a refundment which he had subsequently repaid in full, interest shall be paid on such repaid refundment only from the date of repayment. If the repayment was made in installments, interest shall be paid only from the date installment payments began. The designated beneficiary, surviving spouse or representative of the estate of an employee who had received a disability benefit shall not be entitled to interest upon any balance remaining to his credit in the fund at the time of death.

Sec. 28. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 352.22, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

352.22 [REFUNDMENTS OR DEFERRED ANNUITIES.] Subdivision 1. [SERVICE TERMINATION.] Any employee who ceases to be a state employee by reason of termination of state service, shall be entitled to a refundment provided in subdivision 2 or a deferred retirement annuity as provided in subdivision 3. Application for a refundment may be made 60 or more days after the termination of state service if the applicant has not again become a state employee required to be covered by the system; except that employees of the University of Minnesota, having attained the age of 68 years or more, and employees of other departments and agencies of the state having attained the age of 70 years or more, whose state service is terminated by operation of law, or by direction of the appointing authority, who attain mandatory retirement age and are required to retire and who are not eligible to receive an annuity under sections 352.115 or 352.72, may apply for refundment without any waiting period.

Sec. 29. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 352.22, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [AMOUNT OF REFUNDMENT.] Except as provided in subdivision 3, any person who ceased to be a state employee after June 30, 1973, by reason of termination of state service shall receive a refundment in an amount equal to his accumulated contributions without interest, except that an employee terminating state service at the age of 65 or more shall receive a refundment in an amount equal to his accumulated contributions plus interest thereon to the date of termination at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum compounded annually if the employee due to age could not qualify for an annuity upon reaching compulsory retirement age had he continued in covered employment after one year of coverage to the date of termination of state service at the rate of five percent per annum compounded annually. Interest shall not be paid on any contributions for service rendered prior to age 63.

Sec. 30. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 352.23, is amended to read:

352.23 [TERMINATION OF RIGHTS.] When any employee accepts a refundment as provided in section 352.22, all existing service credits and all rights and benefits to which the employee was entitled prior to the acceptance of such refundment shall terminate and shall not again be restored until the former employee acquires not less than one year's allowable service credit subsequent to taking his last refundment. In that event, he may repay all refundments which he had taken from the retirement fund. Repayment of refundments will entitle the employee only to credit for service covered by (a) salary deductions, (b) payments made in lieu of salary deductions, and (c) payments made to obtain credit for service as permitted by laws in effect at the time payment was made. If an employee before taking one or more refundments had credit for prior service or for military service without payment in either case, he may obtain credit for such forfeited service prior to July 1, 1929, and for such forfeited military service by making payments at a contribution rate of three percent of his average salary upon which deductions for the retirement fund were based, for the three year period immediately preceding repayment of refundment for service credit prior to July 1, 1929, and on the salary received by him at the time of entering military service to restore his military service credit. All such payments and repayment of refundments are to be paid with interest at ~~four~~ six percent per annum compounded annually.

Sec. 31. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Section 352.27, is amended to read:

352.27 [CREDIT FOR MILITARY SERVICE.] Any employee given a leave of absence to enter military service who returns to state service upon discharge from military service as provided in section 192.262, may obtain credit for his period of military service but he shall not be entitled to credit for any voluntary extension of military service at the instance of the employee beyond the initial period of enlistment, induction or call to active duty, nor to credit for any period of service following a voluntary return to military service. Such employee may obtain such credit by paying into the fund an employee contribution based upon his salary at the date of return from military service. The amount of this contribution shall be the applicable amounts required in section 352.04, subdivision 2, plus interest at ~~four~~ six percent per annum compounded annually. In such cases the matching employer contribution and additional contribution provided in section 352.04 shall be paid by the department employing such employee upon his return to state service from funds available to such department at the time and in the manner provided in section 352.04.

Sec. 32. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 352, is amended by adding a section to read:

[352.90] [CORRECTIONAL EMPLOYEES.] It is the policy of the legislature to provide special retirement benefits and contributions for certain correctional employees who, because of the nature of their employment, are required to retire at an early age. Except as otherwise provided, the provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 352, apply to covered correctional employees.

Sec. 33. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 352, is amended by adding a section to read:

[352.91] [COVERED CORRECTIONAL SERVICE] Covered correctional service means: (a) services performed before or after July 1, 1973, by a state employee, as defined in section 352.01, as an attendant guard, attendant guard supervisor, correctional captain, correctional counselor I, correctional counselor II, correctional counselor III, correctional counselor IV, correctional lieutenant, cor-

Sec. 34. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 352, is amended by adding a section to read:

[352.92] [CORRECTIONAL EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTIONS.] Subdivision 1. [EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTIONS.] Beginning with the first full pay period after June 30, 1973, in lieu of employee contributions payable under section 352.04, subdivision 2, contributions by covered correctional employees shall be in an amount equal to six percent of salary.

Subd. 2. [EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS.] Beginning with the first full pay period after June 30, 1973, in lieu of employer contributions payable under section 352.04, subdivision 3, the employer shall contribute for covered correctional employees (1) an amount equal to $1\frac{1}{2}$ times the deduction from salaries of covered correctional employees on each payroll abstract, plus (2) an additional amount of five percent of salaries of covered correctional employees on each payroll abstract.

Sec. 35. Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 352, is amended by adding a section to read:

For the purpose of this section, average salary means the average of the monthly salary during the employees' highest five successive years of salary as a correctional employee.

Subd. 2. The monthly annuity under this section shall be determined by multiplying the average monthly salary by the number of years, or completed months, of covered correctional service by 2.5 percent for the first 20 years of correctional service and two percent for each year thereafter; provided however, the monthly annuity shall not exceed 75 percent of the average monthly salary.

Subd. 3. The annuity under this section shall begin to accrue as provided in section 352.115, subdivision 8, and shall be paid for an additional 84 full calendar months and then be reduced to the amount as calculated under section 352.115, except that if this amount, when added to the social security benefit based on state service the employee is eligible to receive at such time, is less than the benefit payable under subdivision 2, the retired employee shall receive an amount that when added to such social security benefit will equal the amount payable under subdivision 2. When an annuity is reduced under this subdivision, the percentage adjustments, if any, that have been applied to the original annuity under Minnesota Statutes, Section 11.25, prior to the reduction, shall be compounded and applied to the reduced annuity.

Subd. 4. A former employee who has both regular and correctional service shall, if qualified, receive an annuity based on both periods of service under applicable sections of law but no period of service shall be used more than once in calculating the annuity.

Subd. 5. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision 1 an employee who was in a covered correctional position on July 1, 1973; was employed in a position covered by Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 352, prior to reaching age 60; and was required to retire because of the lowering of the mandatory age, shall be entitled to an annuity under this section even though he does not have ten years of covered service under Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 352.

Subd. 6. This section shall apply to qualified employees who retire on or after July 1, 1973, but the annuity payable hereunder shall not begin to accrue until July 1, 1974.

[352.95] [DISABILITY BENEFITS.] An employee who becomes totally and permanently disabled while in a covered correctional position shall have his disability benefit rights determined under section 352.113 except that when such person becomes 55 years of age he shall be deemed to be retired and shall be entitled to receive the benefit provided under section 352.113, subdivision 3, whether or not disabled at such age. An employee who receives a disability benefit shall not be entitled to an annuity under section 35 of this act, even though otherwise qualified, until reemployed in a covered correctional position for a period of at least one year.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. [INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICTS: VOCATIONAL OR COOPERATIVE CENTERS.] Subdivision 1. [ESTABLISHMENT.] Notwithstanding any law or other provision to the contrary, two or more independent school districts may enter into an agreement to establish a cooperative center to provide for vocational education and other educational services upon the vote of a majority of the full membership of each of the boards of the districts entering into the agreement. When a resolution approving such action has been adopted by the board of a district, the resolution shall be published once in a newspaper of general circulation in the district. If a petition for referendum on the question of said district entering into such agreement, containing signatures of qualified voters of said district equal to five percent of the number of voters at the last annual school election, is filed with the clerk of the board within 60 days after publication of such resolution, the board shall not enter into the agreement until the question of whether the district shall enter into the agreement has been submitted to the voters of the district at a special election. Said election shall be conducted and canvassed in accordance with Minnesota Statutes, Section 123.32. If a majority of the total number of votes cast on the question within said district is in favor of the proposition, the board may thereupon enter into an agreement to establish the center for purposes herein described.

Subd. 2. [NAME; FISCAL AGENT.] A public corporation so created shall be known as (insert name) cooperative center no. _____ and shall have an identification number assigned pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 123.03.

Subd. 3. [GOVERNING BOARD.] (a) The center shall be operated by a center board of not less than five members which shall consist of members from school boards of each of the participating school districts within the center, appointed by their respective school boards. Each participating school district shall have at least one member on the board. The board shall choose an administrative officer to direct board activities who shall serve as an ex officio member of the board but shall not have a vote.

(b) The terms of office of the first members of the board shall be determined by lot as follows: one-third of the members for one year, one-third for two years, and the remainder for three years, all terms to expire on June 30 of the appropriate year. Thereafter the terms shall be for three years commencing on July 1 of each year. If a vacancy occurs on the center board, it shall be filled by the appointing school board. A person appointed to the center board shall qualify as a board member by filing with the chairman a written certificate of appointment from his school board.

(c) The first meeting of a center board shall be at a time mutually agreed upon by board members. At such meeting, the center board shall choose its officers and conduct such other organizational business as may be necessary. Thereafter the center board shall meet on the first Saturday of July of each year or as soon thereafter as practicable pursuant to notice sent to all center board members by the chief executive officer of the center.

(d) The officers of the center board shall be a chairman, vice chairman, clerk and treasurer, no two of whom when possible shall be from the same school district. The chairman shall preside at all meetings of the center board except in his absence the vice chairman shall preside. The clerk shall keep a complete record of the minutes of each meeting and the treasurer shall be the custodian of the funds of said center. Insofar as applicable, Minnesota Statutes, Sections 123.33 and 123.34, shall apply to the board and officers of the center.

(e) Each participating school district shall have equal voting power with at least one vote. A majority of the center board shall be a quorum. Any motion other than adjournment shall pass only upon receiving a majority of the votes of the entire center board.

Subd. 4. [POWERS AND DUTIES.] (a) The center board shall have the general charge of the business of the center and the ownership of facilities. Where applicable, Minnesota Statutes, Section 123.36, shall apply. The center board may not issue bonds in its behalf. Each participating district shall issue its bonds for the purpose of acquisition and betterment of center facilities in the amount certified by the center board to such participating district in accordance with Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 475.

(b) The center board (1) shall furnish vocational offerings to every eligible person residing in any participating district and (2) may provide special education for the handicapped and disadvantaged.

(c) The center board shall certify to each participating district, the amount of necessary funds assessed to such district as its proportionate share required for the conduct of the educational programs, payment of indebtedness, and all other proper expenses of the center.

(d) The center board shall employ and contract with necessary qualified teachers and administrators and may discharge the same for cause pursuant to section 125.12. The board may employ and discharge other necessary employees and may contract for other services deemed necessary. Employees of the center board shall have all the rights and benefits they would have if employed by a participating district.

(e) The center board shall provide an educational program for high school and adult vocational phases of instruction. The high school phase of its educational program shall be offered as a component of the comprehensive curriculum offered by each of the participating school districts. Graduation shall be from the student's resident high school district. Insofar as applicable, Minnesota Statutes, Sections 123.35 to 123.40, shall apply.

(f) The center board may prescribe rates of tuition for attendance in its programs by adults and nonmember district secondary students.

Subd. 5. [FINANCING.] (a) Any center board established pursuant to this act is a public corporation and agency and may receive and disburse federal, state, and local funds made available to it. No participating school district shall have any additional individual liability for the debts or obligations of the center except that assessment which has been certified as its proportionate share in accordance with subdivision 5 (b) and subdivision 4 (a) and (c). A member of the center board shall have such liability as is applicable to a member of an independent school district board. Any property, real or personal, acquired or owned by the center board for its purposes shall be exempt from taxation by the state or any of its political subdivisions.

(b) The center board may, in each year, for the purpose of paying any administrative, planning, operating, or capital expenses incurred or to be incurred, assess and certify to each participating school district its proportionate share of any and all expenses. Such share shall be based upon the pupils enrolled in the center from each participating district as verified by the state commissioner of education. Each participating district shall remit its assessment to the center board within 30 days after receipt. The assessments shall be paid within the maximum levy limitations of each participating district.

Subd. 6. [STATE BOARD APPROVAL.] Prior to the commencement of the operation of any center the agreement entered into by participating districts shall be approved by the state board of education.

Subd. 7. [LAWS GOVERNING INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICTS APPLICABLE.] As of the effective date of the creation of any center as contained in the agreement establishing such center, the organization, operation, maintenance, and conduct of the affairs of such center shall be governed by the general laws relating to independent school districts of the state unless provided otherwise herein or by statute passed hereafter.

Subd. 8. [ADDITION AND WITHDRAWAL OF DISTRICTS.]
Upon approval by majority vote of a school board, of the center board, and of the state board of education, an adjoining school district may become a member in the center and be governed by the provisions of this act and the agreement in effect.

Any participating district may withdraw from the center and from the agreement in effect upon mutual consent of a majority vote of the full board membership of such participating school district desiring withdrawal and according to provisions within the agreement establishing the center. Upon receipt of such withdrawal resolution, the center board shall file a certified copy of its resolution reciting the necessary facts with the county auditors of the counties affected. Such withdrawal shall become effective at the end of the next following school year but such withdrawal shall not affect the continued liability of the withdrawing district for bonded indebtedness it incurred prior to the effective withdrawal date.

Subd. 9. [EXISTING CENTERS.] Centers approved by the state board of education prior to enactment of this act shall be subject to its provisions except section 1, subdivision 1. Changes necessary in center agreements operating under Minnesota Statutes, Section 471.59, shall be completed within six months after the effective date of this act and filed with the state board by the administrator of each existing center.

STATEMENT BY SENATOR JOHN MILTON

I asked my colleagues in the Senate to excuse me from voting on H. F. No. 479, a resolution memorializing Congress to initiate a constitutional amendment affirming the value of human life.

I am opposed to abortion, the termination of pregnancy and a denial of the right to life. My view of this has not changed since 1965.

Nevertheless, great efforts are being made to have these resolutions passed by our State Legislatures and some proponents seem willing to employ any tactic to ensure passage, even risking that abortions may be sanctioned without proper medical care unless the entire legislative package can be secured. This, in my judgment, is a distorted concern for life.

My refusal to vote is a protest against this kind of insensitivity and against the attempt to measure my humanity and concern for life by the flick of an electronic button.

Let those who are genuinely concerned for all living things manifest this in all of their words and actions, not just in their support for H. F. No. 479.

John Milton

A MEMORIAL PRAYER

Senate of the State of Minnesota

April 30, 1973

Our Lord and our God. It is fitting that on this day we pause in the midst of our busy schedules to remember those former members of the Minnesota State Senate who since the last session have been taken by death. We bring before your throne of grace these men who were not only servants of the state but servants of God and of man as well:

The Honorable Daniel S. Feidt

The Honorable A. C. Gooding

The Honorable James Keller

The Honorable Henry McKnight

The Honorable Harold S. Nelson

The Honorable John Simonson

The Honorable Alfred Solstad

The Honorable Arne Wanvick

We thank you, O God, for their many years of service in this body and for their dedication toward the never ending task of improving the welfare of persons in this state and in this nation. We pray that the constructive things which they accomplished will remain alive in the people they touched and that their contributions will inspire each of us to higher ideals and better citizenship and will stimulate us to strive to make this state a state where justice will indeed roll down like waters and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream. We further thank you, O God, for the privilege of having known and worked with these men. Our lives were enriched by their presence and by the goodness and truth which flowed from their beings. We remember with gratitude their loyalty and friendship and we would but ask that as individuals and as a body we might inspire such loyalty and radiate such friendship. O Lord, we pray that you would be with their loved ones and may they be strengthened by the memory of their good works and by the love which they shared. May the families of these men accept our thanks for sharing with us these men who were so near and dear to them. And may they be comforted by the knowledge that the Lord has extended his hand to these, his servants and has said to them "Come now, come and be with me for you have fought the good fight, you have finished the race, you have kept the faith."

And, in lasting tribute to these departed, may we who remain in the race, continue to fight the good fight, may we continue to keep the faith so that the Lord may look down upon us this day and every day and say, "Well done, well done my good and faithful servants."

Mr. Coleman moved that the memorial prayer be printed in the Journal and that the Secretary of the Senate transmit a formal copy of this memorial prayer to the widows of the deceased Senators or their next of kin. Which motion prevailed.
