For each of the taxable years beginning after December 31, 1960 and prior to January 1, 1971, the term "gross income" in its application to individuals, estates, and trusts, shall mean the adjusted gross income as computed for federal income tax purposes as defined in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1970 for the applicable taxable year, with the modifications specified in this section.

For each of the taxable years beginning after December 31, 1970, the term "gross income" in its application to individuals, estates, and trusts shall mean the adjusted gross income as computed for federal income tax purposes as defined in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through the date specified herein for the applicable taxable year, with the modifications specified in this section.

References to the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 in clauses (a), (b) and (c) following shall mean the code in effect for the purpose of defining gross income for the applicable taxable year.

(a) Modifications increasing federal adjusted gross income. There shall be added to federal adjusted gross income:

(1) Interest income on obligations of any state other than Minnesota or a political subdivision of any such other state exempt from federal income taxes under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954;

(2) Interest income on obligations of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States, which the laws of the United States exempt from federal income tax, but not from state income taxes;

(3) Income taxes imposed by this state or any other taxing jurisdiction, to the extent deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income and not credited against federal income tax;

(4) Interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry securities the income from which is exempt from tax under this chapter, to the extent deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income;

(5) Amounts received as reimbursement for an expense of sickness or injury which was deducted in a prior taxable year to the extent that the deduction for such reimbursed expenditure resulted in a tax benefit;

(6) The amount of any federal income tax overpayment for any previous taxable year, received as refund or credited to another taxable year's income tax liability, proportionate to the percentage of federal income tax that was claimed as a deduction in determining Minnesota income tax for such previous taxable year.

The overpayment refund or credit, determined with respect to a husband and wife on a joint federal income tax return for a previous taxable year, shall be reported on joint or separate Minnesota income tax returns. In the case of separate Minnesota returns, the overpayment shall be reported by each spouse proportionately according to the relative amounts of federal income tax claimed as a deduction on his or her separate Minnesota income tax return for such previous taxable year;

(7) In the case of a change of residence from Minnesota to another state or nation, the amount of moving expenses which exceed total reimbursements and which were therefore deducted in arriving at federal adjusted gross income;

(14) The amount of any excluded gain realized by a trust on the sale or exchange of property as defined in section 641(c)(1).

(b) Modifications reducing federal adjusted gross income. There shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income:

(1) Interest income on obligations of any authority, commission or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income tax under the laws of the United States;

(2) The portion of any gain, from the sale or other disposition of property having a higher adjusted basis for Minnesota income tax purposes than for federal income tax purposes, that does not exceed such difference in basis; but if such gain is considered a long-term capital gain for federal income tax purposes, the modification shall be limited to fifty per centum of such portion of the gain. This modification shall not be applicable if the difference in basis is due to disallowance of depreciation pursuant to section 290.101.

(3) Interest or dividend income on securities to the extent exempt from income tax under the laws of this state authorizing the issuance of such securities but includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes;

(4) Losses, not otherwise reducing federal adjusted gross income assignable to Minnesota, arising from events or transactions which are assignable to Minnesota under the provisions of sections 290.17 to 290.20, including any capital loss or net operating loss carryforwards or carrybacks resulting from such losses;

(5) If included in federal adjusted gross income, the amount of any credit received, whether received as a refund or credit to another taxable year's income tax liability, pursuant to chapter 290A, and the amount of any overpayment of income tax to Minnesota, or any other state, for any previous taxable year, whether such amount is received as a refund or credited to another taxable year's income tax liability;

(6) To the extent included in federal adjusted gross income, notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the amount received by any person (i) from the United States, its agencies or instrumentalities, the Federal Reserve Bank or from the state of Minnesota or any of its political or governmental subdivisions or from any other state or its political or governmental subdivisions, or a Minnesota volunteer firefighter's relief association, by way of payment as a pension, public employee retirement benefit, or any combination thereof, or (ii) as a retirement or survivor's benefit made from a plan qualifying under section 401, 403, 404, 405, 408 or 409 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1977. The maximum amount of this subtraction shall be $7,200 less the sum of (a) social security retirement benefits received during the taxable year, (b) railroad retirement benefits received during the taxable year, and (c) the amount by which the individual's federal adjusted gross income exceeds $13,000. In the case of a volunteer firefighter who receives an involuntary lump sum distribution of his pension or retirement benefits, the maximum amount of this subtraction shall be $7,200 less the sum of social security retirement benefits and railroad retirement benefits; this subtraction shall not be reduced by the amount of the individual's federal adjusted gross income in excess of $13,000;

(7) In the case of property acquired on or after January 1, 1973, the amount of any credit to the taxpayer's federal tax liability under section 38 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1976, but only to the extent that the credit is connected with or allocable against the production or receipt of income included in the measure of the tax imposed by this chapter;

(8) The amount of any distribution from a qualified pension or profit sharing plan included in federal adjusted gross income in the year of receipt to the extent of any contribution not previously allowed as a deduction by reason of a change in federal law which was not adopted by Minnesota law for a taxable year beginning in 1974 or later; and

(9) Interest, including payment adjustment to the extent that it is applied to interest, earned by the seller of the property on a family farm security loan executed after December 31, 1977 and before January 1, 1982 that is guaranteed by the commissioner of agriculture as provided in sections 41.51 to 41.60 ; and

(10) The amount of any income earned for personal services rendered prior to the date when the taxpayer became a resident of Minnesota .

(c) Modifications affecting shareholders of electing small business corporations under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, or section 290.972 of this chapter.

(1) Shareholders in a small business corporation, which has elected to be so taxed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not made an election under section 290.972 of this chapter, shall deduct from federal adjusted gross income the amount of any imputed income from such corporation and shall add to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any loss claimed as a result of such stock ownership. Also there shall be added to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any distributions in cash or property made by said corporation to its shareholders during the taxable year.

(2) In cases where the small business corporation has made an election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not elected under section 290.972 of this chapter and said corporation is liquidated or the individual shareholder disposes of his stock and there is no capital loss reflected in federal adjusted gross income because of the fact that corporate losses have exhausted the shareholders basis for federal purposes, such shareholders shall be entitled, nevertheless, to a capital loss commensurate to their Minnesota basis for the stock.

(3) In cases where the election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 antedates the election under section 290.972 of this chapter and at the close of the taxable year immediately preceding the effective election under section 290.972 the corporation has a reserve of undistributed taxable income previously taxed to shareholders under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, in the event and to the extent that such reserve is distributed to shareholders such distribution shall be taxed as a dividend for purposes of this act.

Items of gross income includible within these definitions shall be deemed such regardless of the form in which received. Items of gross income shall be included in gross income of the taxable year in which received by a taxpayer unless properly to be accounted for as of a different taxable year under methods of accounting permitted by section 290.07, except that (1) amounts transferred from a reserve or other account, if in effect transfers to surplus, shall, to the extent that such amounts were accumulated through deductions from gross income or entered into the computation of taxable net income during any taxable year, be treated as gross income for the year in which the transfer occurs, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act, and (2) amounts received as refunds on account of taxes deducted from gross income during any taxable year shall be treated as gross income for the year in which actually received, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act.

(d) Modification in computing taxable income of the estate of a decedent. Amounts allowable under section 291.07, subdivision 1 (2) in computing Minnesota inheritance tax liability shall not be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable income of the estate unless there is filed within the time and in the manner and form prescribed by the commissioner a statement that the amounts have not been allowed as a deduction under section 291.07 and a waiver of the right to have such amounts allowed at any time as deductions under section 291.07. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply with respect to deductions allowed under section 290.077 (relating to income in respect of decedents). In the event that the election made for federal tax purposes under section 642(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 differs from the election made under this paragraph appropriate modification of the estate's federal taxable income shall be made to implement the election made under this paragraph in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.095, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [COMPUTATION AND MODIFICATIONS.] The following modifications shall be made in computing a net operating loss in any taxable year and also in computing the taxable net income for any taxable year before a net operating loss deduction shall be allowed:

(a) Deductions otherwise allowable in computing taxable net income, but which are not attributable to the operation of a trade or business regularly carried on by the taxpayer, shall be allowed only to the extent of the amount of the gross income, not derived from such trade or business, included in computing such taxpayer's taxable net income.

(b) There shall be included in computing the gross income used in computing taxable net income the amount of the interest, excludable from gross income under section 290.08, that would be treated as assignable to this state, decreased by the amount of interest paid or accrued to purchase or carry the investments earning such interest to the extent that such interest would not have been deductible in computing the taxpayer's taxable net income.

(c) No deduction shall be allowed for or with respect to losses connected with income producing activities if the income therefrom would not be required to be either assignable to this state or included in computing the taxpayer's taxable net income which constitute tax preference items as set forth in section 290.17, subdivision 1.

(d) A net operating loss deduction shall not be allowed.

(e) The amount deductible on account of losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall not exceed the amount includible on account of gains from sales or exchanges of capital assets. The deduction for long-term capital gains provided by section 290.16, subdivision 4, shall not be allowed.

(f) Renegotiation of profits for a prior taxable year under the renegotiation laws of the United States of America, including renegotiation of the profits with a subcontractor, shall not enter into the computation.

(g) Federal income and excess profits taxes shall not be allowed as a deduction.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.17, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

290.17 [GROSS INCOME, ALLOCATION TO STATE.] Subdivision 1. [INCOME OF RESIDENT INDIVIDUALS, ESTATES AND TRUSTS.] (a) The gross income of individuals during the period of time when they are residents of Minnesota and the gross income of resident estates and trusts shall be their gross income as defined in section 290.01, subdivision 20, except that the amount of otherwise deductible losses incurred in connection with income derived from sources outside the state shall be reduced by the sum of the taxpayer's items of tax preference as defined in section 57 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1978, which are attributable to losses incurred in connection with sources of income outside the state.

(b) Deductions for losses incurred in connection with income derived from sources outside the state which is included in an individual's gross income pursuant to this subdivision, may be taken only to the extent of the amount of income derived from sources outside the state in the taxable year during which the loss was incurred.

(c) Any deductions for losses which could not be taken in the three immediately preceding taxable years because of the provisions of clause (b), may be taken to reduce any net income derived from sources outside the state which remain after application of clause (b) for income earned and deductions for the current taxable year; provided, however, that any deductions allowable pursuant to this clause (c) may be taken only to the extent of the amount of net income remaining after the application of clause (b).

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.23, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 16. [INCOME FROM OUT-OF-STATE PROPERTY.] There shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable net income of a trust or an estate the amount of income or gains from tangible personal or real property having a situs outside this state allocated to this state according to the provisions of section 290.17, subdivision 1.

"IMPORTANT NOTICE

Your lease or rental agreement will set forth your rights and duties as well as the rights and duties of this mobile home park.

You may stay in the park for the term of your lease as long as it is in operation and you meet your financial obligations, obey state and local laws regarding mobile home parks, abide by park rules or regulations, meet any other obligations in the agreement and do not substantially annoy or endanger other tenants or substantially damage the park premises.

You cannot be evicted until you have received written notice for the eviction and have been given

(a) the time the ordinance, law or regulation provides to comply with a local ordinance, state law or regulation relating to mobile homes or a reasonable time if the ordinance, law or regulation provides no time, or

(b) 30 days to comply with the terms and conditions of the lease or rental agreement, except for nonpayment of rent.

If you have substantially annoyed or endangered other tenants or have caused substantial damage to the mobile home park premises, you will have 30 days after receipt of written notice to move out of the park. However, if during the 30 day period you substantially annoy or endanger other tenants or damage the park premises, you may be evicted immediately.

If the judge or jury decides in your favor, you may stay within the park. However, if the judge or jury decides in favor of the park owner, a sheriff may move you and your belongings out of the park within 24 hours.

The mobile home park must give you 60 days written notice of any change in the terms or conditions of the agreement.

Rules or regulations of the park must not be unreasonable.

Changes made in rules or regulations after you enter into this agreement will not apply to you if they substantially change your agreement.

The mobile home park may not charge you more for utilities than the rate which is charged to single-family dwellings in the same utility service area for comparable service or more than the rate which you could pay directly for the same utility service from some other comparable source in the same market area.

The park may charge you no fee for a space or lot except rent plus reasonable charges for goods and services furnished you at the expense of the park in setting up your home on the space or lot.

Security deposits for damage to property or for default in the agreement may not exceed two months' rent.

If you decide to sell your mobile home and it is more than 15 years old, the park owner may insist that you move your home from the park after its sale.

You may not be evicted or have your rent increased or your services decreased for reporting to the Minnesota department of health, the Minnesota attorney general or other appropriate governmental agency any violation of law or health or building code.

You must receive written notice six months in advance if the park voluntarily ceases or partially ceases operation or 90 days' written notice if your home must be moved to enable the park owner to make improvements to the park premises.

State laws governing mobile home park rentals and leases may be enforced by the Minnesota attorney general."

H. F. No. 261: A bill for an act relating to municipal industrial development; amending the definition of project; requiring a notice and hearing; amending Minnesota Statutes 1978, Sections 474.01, Subdivision 7a, and by adding a subdivision; 474.02, Subdivision 1c, and by adding a subdivision; and 474.12.

Mr. Humphrey moved to amend H. F. No. 261, as amended pursuant to Rule 49, adopted by the Senate May 3, 1979, as follows:

(The text of the amended House File is identical to S. F. No. 859.)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

"Section 1. [462C.01] [AUTHORIZATION.] Subdivision 1. A statutory or home rule charter city may develop and administer programs of making or purchasing mortgage loans to finance the acquisition of single family housing by low and moderate income persons and families anywhere within its boundaries upon the following conditions:

(a) The city develops a housing plan as required by section 2;

(b) A public hearing is held thereon after one publication of notice in a newspaper circulating generally in the city, at least 30 days before the hearing, after which the plan may be adopted by resolution of the governing body with or without amendment; and

(c) The plan is submitted to and approved by the Minnesota housing finance agency.

Subd. 2. "Single family housing" in sections 1 to 6 means real property and improvements thereon or an apartment as described in chapter 515 or any amendatory or supplemental law, which is owned or to be owned and occupied by one person or family as a residence.

Sec. 2. [462C.02] [CITY HOUSING PLAN.] Subdivision 1. The housing plan shall set forth:

(a) The housing needs of the city and the data demonstrating those needs;

(b) The plan of the city to meet identified housing needs, and the specific methods to be used to carry out the plan;

(c) Target areas of the city for each method;

(d) The financing program or programs to be included in the plan;

(e) The number and qualifications of lenders eligible to participate in the program;

(f) The estimated amount of mortgage loans to be made or purchased in each program and the estimated amounts and timing of the sale of revenue bonds required to finance such loans, fund appropriate reserves, and pay costs of issuance;

(g) Methods for monitoring the implementation by participants to insure that the programs will be consistent with the plan and its objectives;

(h) The administrative capacity of the city to monitor and supervise housing finance programs;

(i) The cost to the city, including administrative costs; and

(j) An analysis of how the programs will meet the needs of low and moderate income families in the city.

Subd. 2. For each program limits on gross income for persons and families to be served shall be established. The moderate income limit may not exceed 110 percent of the median family income as estimated by the United States department of housing and urban development for the nonmetropolitan county or standard metropolitan statistical area, as the case may be, in which the city is located; except that if a city proposes special target areas in which redevelopment requires reestablishment of a proper balance of income levels among residents or target areas with a high concentration of incomes below the HUD median, loans with higher income limits or no limits may be proposed for such an area, provided that the total amount of such loans shall not exceed 20 percent of the aggregate amount of all loans in all programs included in the plan. The Minnesota housing finance agency shall provide the relevant income data to any city requesting the data.

Subd. 3. The plan shall establish maximum purchase prices or appraised values for homes eligible for mortgage loans in each program. The maximum price allowable shall not exceed three times the median family income established for any area served except for special target areas as provided in subdivision 2. The maximum purchase price for special target areas shall be three times the income limit, if any, established for the area.

Subd. 4. Any financial institution as defined in section 47.0151, doing business within the city which is an approved FHA/VA or FNMA/FHLMC lender shall be eligible for consideration for origination of loans in any city housing finance program. Other lenders may be eligible as provided in the program. Origination of loans in the program may not be limited to a single lender unless other eligible lenders are not interested in participating or the program clearly sets forth why a public purpose would be served by confining participation to one lender.

Subd. 5. Financing under a single family housing bond issue may not be provided to a developer or builder or restricted to housing provided by one developer or builder.

Sec. 3. [462C.03] [PLAN REVIEW.] Upon receiving a city's housing plan, the Minnesota housing finance agency shall determine whether the plan appears to:

- (a) Further local, regional and statewide housing policies;
- (b) Be capable of implementation without material adverse effect on financing programs of the agency, and without exceeding the limitation provided in section 5;
- (c) Provide for administrative and bond issuance costs which are reasonable;
- (d) Meet adequately the stated housing needs of the city; and
- (e) Comply with all other requirements of sections 1 to 6.

Sec. 4. [462C.04] [MULTIFAMILY HOUSING DEVELOPMENTS.] Subdivision 1. A statutory or home rule charter city may also plan, administer, and make a loan or loans to finance one or more multifamily housing developments within its boundaries, of the kinds and upon the conditions set forth in this section. A multifamily housing development is an apartment house or a group of townhouses which include four or more dwelling units, each to be rented or sold to a person or family for use as a residence. A loan may be made for the acquisition and preparation of a site and the construction of a new development, or for the acquisition of an existing building and site and the rehabilitation thereof, provided that:

(a) The cost of rehabilitation of an existing building is estimated to equal at least $5,000 per dwelling unit or 50 percent of the appraised value of the original building and site, whichever is less;

(b) At least a substantial portion of such rehabilitation cost is estimated to be incurred for compliance with building codes or conservation of energy;

(c) Each development upon completion shall comply with all applicable code requirements;

(d) A loan or loans may be made for either the construction or the long term financing of a development, or both, including the financing of the acquisition of dwelling units and interests in common facilities provided therein, by persons to whom such units and facilities may be sold as contemplated in chapter 515 or any supplemental or amendatory law thereof; and

(e) Substantially all of the proceeds of each loan shall be used to pay the cost of a multifamily housing development, including property functionally related and subordinate to it; but nothing herein prevents the construction of the development over, under, or adjacent to, and in conjunction with facilities to be used for purposes other than housing.

Subd. 2. A development may be designed for occupancy by persons and families of low or moderate income, and by other persons and families to the extent determined to be necessary in furtherance of the policy of economic integration stated in section 462A.02, subdivision 6, with housing assistance payments for the benefit of the renters of at least 10 percent of the dwelling units under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended, or another amendatory or supplemental law of the United States.

Subd. 3. A development may be located within a redevelopment project area established pursuant to chapter 462 or within a development district established pursuant to chapter 472A or within an industrial development district established pursuant to section 458.191 without regard to the limitations and conditions set forth in subdivision 2.

Subd. 4. A development may be designed for rental primarily to elderly or handicapped persons without regard to the limitations and conditions set forth in subdivision 2.

Subd. 5. Each plan for a multifamily housing development or developments described in subdivision 1 shall be adopted after public hearing and approved by the agency as provided in section 1, on the basis of the considerations stated in section 3.

Subd. 6. The plan shall demonstrate need for the development or developments, describe the method of financing proposed, state whether the development is to be constructed pursuant to subdivision 2, 3, or 4, and state the applicable limitations on gross income, if any, of the occupants.

Sec. 5. [462C.05] [HOUSING REVENUE BONDS.] Subdivision 1. To finance programs or developments described in any plan the city council may, upon approval of the plan as provided in section 1, subdivision 1, clause (c), issue and sell revenue bonds or obligations which shall be payable exclusively from the revenues of the programs or developments. In the purchase or making of single family housing loans and the making of multifamily housing loans and the issuance of revenue bonds or other obligations the city may exercise or authorize an existing agency or one created by ordinance to exercise, within the corporate limits of the city, any of the powers the Minnesota housing finance agency may exercise under chapter 462A.

Subd. 2. The aggregate principal amount of revenue bonds or other obligations issued by a city pursuant to this section shall not exceed an amount equal to $1,000 times its population on the effective date of this section until otherwise provided by law. Its population shall be determined by the last state or federal census, or by the last official estimate of the metropolitan council, for a city in the metropolitan area, whichever is most recent.

Sec. 6. [462C.06] [OTHER HOUSING LEGISLATION.] Sections 1 to 6 do not impair or otherwise affect the validity or provisions for the security of any obligations issued or agreements made pursuant to law before the effective date of these sections. Sections 1 to 6 do not preclude or affect or limit the institution or financing or character of a housing program, project or development permitted for any city by any special law in effect on the effective date of these sections, except that no such city or agency thereof may issue obligations after January 1, 1980, for the purpose of financing a housing program or development of any kind referred to in sections 1 and 4, unless its plan therefor has previously been reviewed and approved by the agency, and all such obligations issued by them after January 1, 1980, shall be subject to the limitations set forth in section 5, subdivision 2.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 474.01, Subdivision 7a, is amended to read:

Subd. 7a. No municipality or redevelopment agency shall undertake any project authorized by this chapter unless its governing body finds that the project furthers the purposes stated in this section, nor until the commissioner of securities has approved the project, on the basis of preliminary information which the commissioner may require, as tending to further the purposes and policies of this chapter. Approval shall not be deemed to be an approval by the commissioner of securities or the state of the feasibility of the project or the terms of the revenue agreement to be executed or the bonds to be issued therefor, and the commissioner shall state this in communicating approval.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 474.01, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 7b. Prior to submitting an application to the commissioner of securities requesting approval of a project pursuant to subdivision 7a, the governing body of the municipality or redevelopment agency shall conduct a public hearing on the proposal to undertake and finance the project. Notice of the time and place of hearing, and stating the general nature of the project and an estimate of the principal amount of bonds or other obligations to be issued to finance the project, shall be published at least once not less than 15 days nor more than 30 days prior to the date fixed for the hearing, in the official newspaper and a newspaper of general circulation of the municipality or redevelopment agency. The notice shall state that a draft copy of the proposed application to the commissioner of securities, together with all attachments and exhibits thereto, shall be available for public inspection following the publication of such notice and shall specify the place and times where and when it will be so available. At the time and place fixed for the public hearing, the governing body of the municipality or the redevelopment agency shall give all parties who appear at the hearing an opportunity to express their views with respect to the proposal to undertake and finance the project. Following the completion of the public hearing, the governing body of the municipality or redevelopment agency shall adopt a resolution determining whether or not to proceed with the project and its financing and may thereafter apply to the commissioner of securities for approval of the project.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 474.02, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 1d. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter, the term "project" shall not include any property to be sold or to be affixed to or consumed in the production of property for sale, and shall not include any housing facility to be rented or used as a permanent residence.

Sec. 10. [EFFECTIVE DATE.] *This act is effective the day following final enactment. Sections 7 and 8 do not apply to a project which has been given preliminary approval by the governing body of a municipality or redevelopment agency before the effective date. (2) Issue revenue bonds, in anticipation of the collection of revenues of such project, to finance, in whole or in part, the cost of the acquisition, construction, reconstruction, improvement, betterment, or extension thereof;

(3) Issue revenue bonds to pay, purchase or discharge all or any part of the outstanding indebtedness of a contracting party engaged primarily in the operation of one or more nonprofit hospitals or nursing homes, theretofore incurred in the acquisition or betterment of its existing hospital or nursing home facilities, including, to the extent deemed necessary by the governing body of the municipality or redevelopment agency, any unpaid interest on such indebtedness accrued or to accrue to the date on which such indebtedness is finally paid; and any premium the governing body of the municipality or redevelopment agency determines to be necessary to be paid to pay, purchase or defease such outstanding indebtedness; if revenue bonds are issued for this purpose, the refinancing and the existing properties of the contracting party shall be deemed to constitute a project under section 474.02, subdivision 1c. Industrial revenue bonds shall only be available under this provision if the commissioner of securities has been shown that a reduction in debt service charges to patients and third party payors will occur. These industrial revenue bonds may not be used for any purpose not consistent with the provisions of sections 145.71 to 145.83 or chapter 256B;

Nothing in this subdivision is intended to prohibit the use of revenue bond proceeds to pay outstanding indebtedness of a contracting party to the extent now permitted by law;

(4) Enter into a revenue agreement with any person, firm, or public or private corporation or federal or state governmental subdivision or agency in such manner that payments required thereby to be made by the contracting party shall be fixed, and revised from time to time as necessary, so as to produce income and revenue sufficient to provide for the prompt payment of principal of and interest on all bonds issued hereunder when due, and the revenue agreement shall also provide that the contracting party shall be required to pay all expenses of the operation and maintenance of the project including, but without limitation, adequate insurance thereon and insurance against all liability for injury to persons or property arising from the operation thereof, and all taxes and special assessments levied upon or with respect to the project and payable during the term of the revenue agreement, during which term a tax shall be imposed and collected pursuant to the provisions of section 272.01, subdivision 2, for the privilege of using and possessing the project, in the same amount and to the same extent as though the contracting party were the owner of all real and personal property comprising the project;

(5) Pledge and assign to the holders of such bonds or a trustee therefor all or any part of the revenues of one or more projects and define and segregate such revenues or provide for the payment thereof to a trustee, whether or not such trustee is in possession of the project under a mortgage or otherwise;

(6) Mortgage or otherwise encumber such projects in favor of the municipality or redevelopment agency, the holders of such bonds, or a trustee therefor, provided that in creating any such mortgages or encumbrances a municipality or redevelopment agency shall not have the power to obligate itself except with respect to the project;

(7) Make all contracts, execute all instruments, and do all things necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers herein granted, or in the performance of its covenants or duties, or in order to secure the payment of its bonds; including, but without limitation, a contract entered into prior to the construction of the project authorizing the contracting party, subject to such terms and conditions as the municipality or redevelopment agency shall find necessary or desirable and proper, to provide for the construction, acquisition, and installation of the buildings, improvements, and equipment to be included in the project by any means available to the contracting party and in the manner determined by the contracting party and without advertisement for bids as may be required for the construction or acquisition of other municipal facilities;

(8) Enter into and perform such contracts and agreements with other municipalities, political subdivisions, and state agencies, authorities, and institutions as the respective governing bodies of the same may deem proper and feasible for or concerning the planning, construction, lease, purchase, mortgaging or other acquisition, and the financing of a project, and the maintenance thereof, including an agreement whereby one municipality issues its revenue bonds in behalf of one or more other municipalities, which contracts and agreements may establish a board, commission, or such other body as may be deemed proper for the supervision and general management of the facilities of the project; provided, no municipality or redevelopment agency shall enter into or perform any contract or agreement with any school district under which the municipality or redevelopment agency issues its revenue bonds or otherwise provides for the construction of school facilities and the school leases or otherwise acquires these facilities;

(11) Issue revenue bonds to refund, in whole or in part, bonds previously issued by such municipality or redevelopment agency under authority of this chapter;

(12) If so provided in the revenue agreement, terminate the agreement and re-enter or repossess the project upon the default of the contracting party, and operate, lease, or sell the project in such manner as may be authorized or required by the provisions of the revenue agreement or of the resolution or indenture securing the bonds issued for the project; any revenue agreement which includes provision for a conveyance of real estate to the contracting party may be terminated in accordance with the revenue agreement, notwithstanding that such revenue agreement may constitute an equitable mortgage provided that no municipality or redevelopment agency shall have power otherwise to operate any project referred to in this chapter as a business or in any manner whatsoever, and nothing herein authorizes any municipality or redevelopment agency to expend any funds on any project herein described, other than the revenues of such projects, or the proceeds of revenue bonds and notes issued hereunder, or other funds granted to the municipality or redevelopment agency for the purposes herein contemplated, except as may be otherwise permitted by law and except to enforce any right or remedy under any revenue agreement or related agreement for the benefit of the bondholders or for the protection of any security given in connection with a revenue agreement, provided that the public cost of redevelopment of land paid by a city or its redevelopment agency shall not be deemed part of the cost of any project situated on such land;

(13) Invest or deposit, or authorize a trustee to invest or deposit, any money on hand in funds or accounts established in connection with a project or payment of bonds issued therefor, to the extent they are not presently needed for the purposes for which such funds or accounts were created, in accordance with section 471.56, as amended; and

(14) Waive or require the furnishing of a contractors payment and performance bond of the kind described in section 574.26 and if such bond shall be required, then the provisions of chapter 514 relating to liens for labor and materials, shall not be applicable in respect of any work done or labor or materials supplied for the project, and if such bond be waived then the said provisions of chapter 514 shall apply in respect of work done or labor or materials supplied for the project."

“ARTICLE I FOUNDATION AID PROGRAM

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 124.11, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. Each year, beginning in 1978, based on current year tax data reported in the abstracts of tax lists, the commissioner of revenue shall determine the distribution to each school district of the amount of revenue lost as a result of the reduction in property taxes provided in section ~~273.132~~ 5 of this article. On or before July 15, 1978, and on or before July 15 of each year thereafter, the commissioner of revenue shall certify the amounts so determined to the department of education. Beginning in 1978, the department of education shall pay each school district one-half of its distribution in August and the remaining one-half in the following November, as part of the foundation aid payment to each district in those months.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 124.17, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

124.17 [DEFINITION OF PUPIL UNITS.] Subdivision 1. Pupil units for each resident pupil in average daily membership shall be counted as follows:

(1) In an elementary school:

(a) For handicapped pre-kindergarten pupils, as defined in section 120.03, enrolled in programs approved by the commissioner, one-half pupil unit;

(b) For kindergarten pupils enrolled in one-half day sessions throughout the school year or the equivalent thereof, one-half pupil unit; and

(c) For other elementary pupils, one pupil unit.

(2) In secondary schools, one and four-tenths pupil units. Pupils enrolled in the seventh and eighth grades of any school shall be counted as secondary pupils.

(4) To meet the problems of educational overburden caused by broken homes, poverty and low income, each pupil in clauses (1) and (2) from families receiving aid to families with dependent children or its successor program who is enrolled in the school district on October 1 shall be counted as an additional five-tenths pupil unit. By March 1 of each year the department of public welfare shall certify to the department of education, and to each school district to the extent the information pertains to it, that information concerning children from families with dependent children who were enrolled in the school district on the preceding October 1 which is necessary to calculate pupil units. Additional aids to a district for such pupils may be distributed on a delayed basis until the department of education publicly certifies that the information needed for paying such aids is available on such a timely basis that such aids may be paid concurrently with other foundation aids.

(5) In every district where the number of pupils from families receiving aid to families with dependent children or its successor program exceeds five percent of the total actual pupil units in the district for the same year, as computed in clauses (1) and (2), each such pupil shall be counted as an additional one-tenth of a pupil unit for each percent of concentration over five percent of such pupils in the district. The percent of concentration shall be rounded down to the nearest whole percent for purposes of this clause, provided that in districts where the percent of concentration is less than six, no additional pupil units shall be counted under this clause for pupils from families receiving aid to dependent children or its successor program and provided further that no such pupil shall be counted as more than one and one-tenth additional pupil units pursuant to clauses (4) and (5). Such weighting shall be in addition to the weighting provided in clauses (1), (2), (3), and (4). School districts are encouraged to allocate a major portion of the aids that they receive on account of clauses (4) and (5) to primary grade programs and services, particularly to programs and services that involve participation of parents. Each district receiving aids on account of both clauses (4) and (5) shall establish and maintain accounts separate from all other district accounts for the receipt and disbursement of all such aids received.

(6) Where the total pupil units of a district are used as a multiplier in determining foundation aids and spending and levy limitations and where the actual number of pupil units has decreased from the prior year, the number of pupil units shall equal the greater of (a) the quotient obtained when the sum of the numbers of actual pupil units in the district for the two prior years and the current year and one quarter of the number of actual pupil units in the district for the third prior year, is divided by 3.25 or (b) the number of actual pupil units for the current year increased by .6 times the difference between the actual pupil units for the prior year and the current year. Only pupil units as computed in clauses (1) and (2) shall be included for purposes of computations made pursuant to this clause. A district shall base its count of pupil units on the greater number obtained from either subclause (a) or (b) of this clause. Only pupil units as computed in clauses (1) and (2) shall be included for purposes of the computation made pursuant to this clause.

(a) Where the total pupil units of a district are used as a multiplier in determining foundation aids and spending and levy limitations and where the actual number of pupil units is less than the average of actual pupil units in the district for the three prior years and the current year, the number of pupil units shall equal the average of actual pupil units for three prior years and the current year.

(b) Where the total pupil units of a district are used as a multiplier in determining foundation aids and spending and levy limitations and where the actual number of pupil units has decreased from the prior year, the number of pupil units shall equal the number of actual pupil units for the current year increased by .6 times the difference between the actual pupil units for the prior year and the current year.

(7) In districts maintaining classified secondary schools where the actual number of pupil units has increased from the prior year by two percent or more, the additional pupil units over the prior year, as computed in clauses (1) and (2), shall be multiplied times one-tenth for each percent of increase over the prior year and a number of pupil units equal to the product shall be added to the other units for the district. The percent of increase shall be rounded up to the next whole percent for purposes of this clause, provided that in districts where the percent of increase is less than two, no additional pupil units shall be added to the other units for the district and provided further that the number of pupil units of increase over the prior year shall under no circumstances be multiplied by more than five-tenths.

(8) Only pupil units in clauses (1) and (2) shall be used in computing adjusted maintenance cost per pupil unit.

(9) A district shall base its count of pupil units on the greater number obtained from clauses (1) and (2) or the greater number obtained from either clause (6) or (7).

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 124.19, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 2. In an elementary school where the number of instructional hours in the school day is greater than the number of instructional hours prescribed in the rules of the state board for the school day, the excess number of instructional hours for those days may be calculated to fulfill the requirements of subdivision 1, provided that the school is in session for not less than 160 days during the school year, and provided that no instructional hours are included from half-day sessions or any school day which has less instructional hours than the number of instructional hours prescribed in the rules of the state board.

Any prior year adjustments shall also be certified in the abstracts of tax lists. The commissioner of revenue shall review such certifications to determine their accuracy. TRANSPORTATION AID PROGRAM

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 120.17, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR NON-RESIDENT CHILDREN.] When a school district provides instruction and services outside the district of residence, ~~transportation or board~~ and lodging, and any tuition to be paid, shall be paid by the district of residence. Transportation costs shall be paid by the district providing the transportation, and the state shall reimburse the district within the limits provided by law. The tuition rate to be charged for any handicapped child shall be the actual cost of providing special instruction and services to the child including a proportionate amount for capital outlay and debt service minus the amount of special aid for handicapped children received on behalf of that child. If the boards involved do not agree upon the tuition rate, either board may apply to the commissioner to fix the rate. The commissioner shall then set a date for a hearing, giving each board at least ten days' notice, and after the hearing the commissioner shall make his order fixing the tuition rate, which shall be binding on both school districts.

For the purposes herein, any school district may enter into an agreement, upon such terms and conditions as may be mutually agreed upon, to provide special instruction and services for handicapped children. In that event, one of the participating units may employ and contract with necessary qualified personnel to offer services in the several districts, and each participating unit shall reimburse the employing unit a proportionate amount of the actual cost of providing the special instruction and services, less the amount of state special education aid, which shall be claimed in full by the employing district.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 120.17, Subdivision 6, is amended to read:

Subd. 6. [PLACEMENT IN ANOTHER DISTRICT; RESPONSIBILITY.] The responsibility for special instruction and services for a handicapped child temporarily placed in another district for care and treatment shall be determined in the following manner:

(a) The school district of residence of such a child shall be the district in which his parent resides, if living, or his guardian, or the district designated by the commissioner of education if neither parent nor guardian is living within the state.

(b) The district providing the instruction shall maintain an appropriate educational program for such a child and shall bill the district of the child's residence for the actual cost of providing the program, as outlined in subdivision 4, except that the board, lodging, and treatment costs incurred in behalf of a handicapped child placed outside of the school district of his residence by the commissioner of public welfare or the commissioner of corrections or their agents, for reasons other than for making provision for his special educational need shall not become the responsibility of either the district providing the instruction or the district of the child's residence.

(c) The district of residence shall pay tuition and other program costs to the district providing the instruction and the district of residence may claim foundation aid for the child as provided by law. Special transportation costs shall be paid by the district of the child's residence providing the transportation and the state shall reimburse the district for such costs within the limits set forth in section 124.32, subdivision 3 provided by law.

[124.224] [TRANSPORTATION AID ENTITLEMENT.]
Subdivision 1. [DEFINITIONS.] (a) "FTE" means each transported authorized full time equivalent student. (b) "Total authorized cost" includes all authorized transportation expenditures in section 124.223. (c) "Total authorized predicted cost" is based on all authorized transportation expenditures in section 124.223 and includes an amount equal to $12\frac{1}{2}$ percent of the original cost of the district's bus fleet as of July 1 of each year plus $33\frac{1}{3}$ percent of the cost to the district as of July 1 of each year for school bus reconditioning done by the department of corrections.

Subd. 2. For the 1979-1980 school year, the state shall pay to each school district for all pupil transportation and related services which the district is authorized by law to receive state aid an amount determined according to a linear regression formula for each planning region determined by the department of education to be within the appropriated amount and to maximize the amount of variance accounted for between the total actual authorized cost per FTE for the 1977-1978 school year and the formula predicted amount for the 1977-1978 school year. This amount shall be adjusted according to the provisions of subdivisions 5 and 7.

Subd. 3. For the 1980-1981 school year the state shall pay to each school district for all pupil transportation and related services which the district is authorized by law to receive state aid an amount determined according to a linear regression formula determined by the department of education to be within the appropriated amount and to maximize the amount of variance accounted for between the total actual authorized cost per FTE for the 1978-1979 school year and the formula predicted amount for the 1978-1979 school year. This amount shall be adjusted according to the provisions of subdivisions 6 and 7.

Subd. 4. To predict the natural logarithm of the total authorized cost per FTE transported authorized by law, the linear regression formula shall use the variables and all cross products of the following logarithmic terms:

(1) The natural logarithm of 1.00 divided by the total authorized FTE transported;

(2) The natural logarithm of the sum of 100 plus the difference between the state average of the square root of the regular and summer school authorized FTE transported per square mile minus the square root of the regular and summer FTE transported per square mile;

(3) The natural logarithm of the ratio of regular and summer school authorized FTE transported to the district's total average daily membership;

(4) The natural logarithm of regular and summer school authorized FTE transported per square mile;

(5) The natural logarithm of the district's average daily membership;

(6) The natural logarithm of the size of the district measured in square miles; and

(7) The natural logarithm of the total FTE transported by the district authorized for aid pursuant to section 124.223 minus the regular and summer school authorized FTE transported.

Subd. 5. The amount predicted per FTE in subdivision 2 for 1977-1978 shall be increased by 17 percent. This amount shall be a district's basic aid for the 1979-1980 school year.

Subd. 6. The amount predicted per FTE in subdivision 3 for 1978-1979 shall be increased by 17 percent. This amount shall be a district's basic aid for the 1980-1981 school year.

Subd. 7. (A) For each school year the department shall apply the formula in subdivision 4 as adjusted by subdivision 5 or 6 to the actual number of FTE transported in each district. The amount predicted by the formula for that year shall then be compared to the total actual expenditure per FTE for authorized transportation for each district for that year.

(B) The comparison in clause (A) shall be used to determine the total aid entitlement for a district.

(C) If the predicted amount is greater than the district's actual expenditure per FTE, its aid entitlement shall equal the predicted amount minus 10 percent of the first $10 of difference between the predicted amount and the actual expenditures; minus 20 percent of the next $20; minus 40 percent of the next $20; minus 60 percent of the next $50; and minus 75 percent of the difference which exceeds $100.

(D) If the predicted amount is less than the district's actual authorized expenditure per FTE, its aid entitlement shall equal the predicted amount plus 10 percent of the first $10 of difference between the predicted amount and the actual expenditure; plus 20 percent of the next $20; plus 40 percent of the next $20; plus 60 percent of the next $50; and plus 75 percent of the difference which exceeds $100.

(E) The aid a district receives pursuant to this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount raised by one mill times the adjusted assessed valuation which is used to compute the transportation levy limitation for the corresponding aid year.

(F) Before August 15 of each year, districts shall provide the department with the information from the previous school year the department determines is necessary to compute the final transportation payment.

Subd. 8. (A) Each district shall report to the department before July 1 of each year an estimate for the next school year of the total number of FTE transported by category and an estimate of the district's total authorized cost.

(B) The department shall determine an estimated total authorized cost per FTE for each district. The department shall compare the basic aid amount predicted according to the formula in subdivision 4 for the appropriate year with the total estimated authorized cost per FTE for authorized transportation for each district for that year.

(C) If the predicted basic aid amount for that year is greater than the estimated authorized cost per FTE, the amount a district receives for that year shall equal the predicted basic aid amount minus 10 percent of the first $10 of difference between the estimated authorized cost per FTE and the predicted basic aid amount minus 20 percent of the next $20; minus 40 percent of the next $20; minus 60 percent of the next $50; and minus 75 percent of the amount which exceeds $100.

(D) If the predicted basic aid amount for that year is less than the estimated authorized cost per FTE, the amount a district receives shall equal the predicted basic aid amount for that year plus 10 percent of the first $10 of difference between the estimated authorized cost per FTE and the predicted basic aid amount plus 20 percent of the next $20; plus 40 percent of the next $20; plus 60 percent of the next $50; and plus 75 percent of the amount which exceeds $100.

(E) The aid a district receives pursuant to this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount raised by one mill times the adjusted assessed valuation which is used to compute the transportation levy limitation for the corresponding aid year.

Subd. 9. Any school district which owns school buses shall transfer annually from its transportation fund to its bus purchase fund an amount equal to 12½ percent of the original cost of each bus until the original cost of each bus is fully amortized plus 33⅓ of the cost to the district as of July 1 of each year for school bus reconditioning done by the department of corrections. Any school district may transfer any amount from its transportation fund to its bus purchase fund.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 124.222, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

Subd. 3. [PAYMENT SCHEDULE.] Except as may be otherwise authorized by the commissioner to accommodate a flexible school year program, the state shall pay to each school district 30 percent of its estimated school transportation aid entitlement for the fiscal year on or before each of the following dates: August 31, December 31, and March 31. ~~The amount of transportation aid for school bus depreciation shall be paid on or before September 30.~~ The final aid distribution to each district shall be made on or before October 31 of the following fiscal year.

Sec. 5. [REPEALER.] Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 124.222, Subdivisions 1a, 1b, 2a, 2b and 6 are repealed.

Sec. 6. [APPROPRIATIONS.] Subdivision 1. There is appropriated from the general fund to the department of education the sums indicated in this section for the fiscal years ending June 30 in the years designated.

Subd. 2. [TRANSPORTATION AID.] For transportation aid there is appropriated:

This amount includes $7,600,700 for aid for fiscal year 1979 payable in fiscal year 1980, and $81,537,300 for aid for fiscal year 1980 payable in fiscal year 1980.

This amount includes $9,000,000 for aid for fiscal year 1980 payable in fiscal year 1981.

Subd. 3. Any unexpended balance remaining from the appropriation in this section for 1980 shall cancel and shall not be available for the second year of the biennium. None of the amounts appropriated in this section shall be expended for a purpose other than the purpose indicated.

(b) For kindergarten pupils enrolled in one-half day sessions throughout the school year or the equivalent thereof, one-half pupil unit; and

(c) For other elementary pupils, one pupil unit.

(2) In secondary schools, one and four-tenths pupil units. Pupils enrolled in the seventh and eighth grades of any school shall be counted as secondary pupils.

(4) To meet the problems of educational overburden caused by broken homes, poverty and low income, each pupil in clauses (1) and (2) from families receiving aid to families with dependent children or its successor program who is enrolled in the school district on October 1 shall be counted as an additional five-tenths pupil unit. By March 1 of each year the department of public welfare shall certify to the department of education, and to each school district to the extent the information pertains to it, that information concerning children from families with dependent children who were enrolled in the school district on the preceding October 1 which is necessary to calculate pupil units. Additional aids to a district for such pupils may be distributed on a delayed basis until the department of education publicly certifies that the information needed for paying such aids is available on such a timely basis that such aids may be paid concurrently with other foundation aids.

(5) In every district where the number of pupils from families receiving aid to families with dependent children or its successor program exceeds five percent of the total actual pupil units in the district for the same year, as computed in clauses (1) and (2), each such pupil shall be counted as an additional one-tenth of a pupil unit for each percent of concentration over five percent of such pupils in the district. The percent of concentration shall be rounded down to the nearest whole percent for purposes of this clause, provided that in districts where the percent of concentration is less than six, no additional pupil units shall be counted under this clause for pupils from families receiving aid to dependent children or its successor program and provided further that no such pupil shall be counted as more than one and one-tenth additional pupil units pursuant to clauses (4) and (5). Such weighting shall be in addition to the weighting provided in clauses (1), (2), (3), and (4). School districts are encouraged to allocate a major portion of the aids that they receive on account of clauses (4) and (5) to primary grade programs and services, particularly to programs and services that involve participation of parents. Each district receiving aids on account of both clauses (4) and (5) shall establish and maintain accounts separate from all other district accounts for the receipt and disbursement of all such aids received.

(6) Where the total pupil units of a district are used as a multiplier in determining foundation aids and spending and levy limitations and where the actual number of pupil units has decreased from the prior year, the number of pupil units shall equal the greater of (a) the quotient obtained when the sum of the numbers of actual pupil units in the district for the two prior years and the current year and one quarter of the number of actual pupil units in the district for the third prior year, is divided by 3.25 or (b) the number of actual pupil units for the current year increased by .6 times the difference between the actual pupil units for the prior year and the current year. Only pupil units as computed in clauses (1) and (2) shall be included for purposes of computations made pursuant to this clause.

(7) In districts maintaining classified secondary schools where the actual number of pupil units has increased from the prior year by two percent or more, the additional pupil units over the prior year, as computed in clauses (1) and (2), shall be multiplied times one-tenth for each percent of increase over the prior year and a number of pupil units equal to the product shall be added to the other units for the district. The percent of increase shall be rounded up to the next whole percent for purposes of this clause, provided that in districts where the percent of increase is less than two, no additional pupil units shall be added to the other units for the district and provided further that the number of pupil units of increase over the prior year shall under no circumstances be multiplied by more than five-tenths.

(8) Only pupil units in clauses (1) and (2) shall be used in computing adjusted maintenance cost per pupil unit.

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 3.924, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

~~(9)~~ (10) One member from each congressional district and ~~one~~ two members at large, shall be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate, none of whom shall be officers, employees or board members of state educational institutions, departments, agencies or boards.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 3.925, is amended to read:

3.925 [PURPOSE.] The legislature of the state of Minnesota expresses concern over the future of elementary and secondary education in this state, its ability to meet the educational needs of the public school students, the professional growth and satisfaction of school staffs, the effectiveness and efficiency of present schools and their learning processes, continuing pupil unit cost escalation and the resulting financial crisis which this brings about. New approaches to the learning process, better utilization of professional staff and community resources, different requirements as to course offerings, course content, grading, graduation and school attendance must be researched and developed. It is believed that revised programs, innovations, new attitudes about learning and the public schools' responsibilities can be effectively achieved if such research and development are performed by the council on quality education and at the local school level by the school's staff and with involvement by the students and their community. Although funds spent now for such purposes can produce substantial educational and cost benefits in the future, such capital type funds are seldom available within any single school district's budget.

The purpose of the council on quality education is, therefore, to encourage, promote, aid, and perform research and development for quality education in Minnesota elementary and secondary schools, to evaluate the results of significant innovative programs and to disseminate information about these programs throughout the state.

To these ends, the council through the state board of education shall establish a venture fund from which grants or loans may be made in support of research and development programs relating to the problems and objectives heretofore described which shall include but not be limited to:

- (1) Effective utilization of community personnel and resources.
- (2) Developing model personnel policies and procedures, and new staffing concepts such as differentiated staffing.
- (3) Assessment and evaluation of education programs.
- (4) Developing a management and unit of instructional objectives design which will provide accountability by relating time and dollars to the amount of learning produced.
- (5) Determining responsibilities to be assumed by the schools exclusively or concurrently with other agencies or individuals.
- (6) Effective dissemination of educational information.
- (7) Developing new knowledge about learning and teaching.
- (8) Developing model educational programs as alternatives to existing educational practices and curricula.
- (9) Model programs and innovations to increase equality of educational opportunities.
- (10) Research and testing of new concepts of educational efficiency, effectiveness and cost benefits.
- (11) Comprehensive interdisciplinary programs in health education and comprehensive programs designed to innovatively coordinate and integrate the delivery of pupil support services.

The council shall not be limited to supporting innovations, programs or procedures supplementary to existing school structures and programs but may assist or research entirely new concepts such as open schools, informal schools and the like. It is the legislature's intent that any supported program shall hold promise of both educational and cost benefits and that the costs and improvements in learning effectiveness introduced thereby shall be measured and related.

The council may also review literature and other information about innovative programs in Minnesota and other states and disseminate the results of this research throughout the state. The council may identify ideas for innovative programs in the course of this research and solicit proposals from school boards for grants for such programs; provided not to exceed ten percent of the funds appropriated to the venture fund in any year may be expended to fund such research and programs.

The council shall make a report by November 15 of each even numbered year to the legislature concerning all research and all proposals received and the dispositions made thereof by the council and the state board of education.

Subd. 2. [POWERS.] The registrar shall have the power to appoint, hire and discharge and fix the compensation of the necessary employees, in the manner provided by law, as may be required to enable him to properly carry out the duties imposed upon him by the provisions of this chapter. As of April 14, 1976, the registrar may appoint, and for cause discontinue, a deputy registrar for any city as the public interest and convenience may require, without regard to whether the county auditor of the county in which the city is situated has been appointed as the deputy registrar for the county or has been discontinued as the deputy registrar for the county, and without regard to whether the county in which the city is situated has established a county license bureau which issues motor vehicle licenses as provided in section 373.32.

Effective August 1, 1976, the registrar may appoint, and for cause discontinue, a deputy registrar for any city as the public interest and convenience may require, if the auditor for the county in which the city is situated chooses not to accept appointment as the deputy registrar for the county or is discontinued as a deputy registrar, or if the county in which the city is situated has not established a county license bureau which issues motor vehicle license as provided in section 373.32. Any person appointed by the registrar as a deputy registrar for any city shall be a resident of the county in which the city is situated.

The registrar may appoint, and for cause discontinue, the county auditor of each county as a deputy registrar. The auditor, with the approval of the director of motor vehicles, may appoint and for cause discontinue, the clerk or equivalent officer of each city or any other person as a deputy registrar as public interest and convenience may require, regardless of his county of residence. Notwithstanding any other provision, a person other than a county auditor or a director of a county license bureau, who was appointed by the registrar before August 1, 1976, as a deputy registrar for any city, may continue to serve as deputy registrar and may be discontinued for cause only by the registrar. The county auditor shall be responsible for the acts of deputy registrars appointed by him. Each such deputy, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall take and subscribe an oath to faithfully discharge his duties and to uphold the laws of the state. If a deputy registrar appointed hereunder is not an officer or employee of a county or city, such deputy shall in addition give bond to the state in the sum of $10,000, or such larger sum as may be required by the registrar, conditioned upon the faithful discharge of his duties as deputy registrar. Each deputy registrar appointed hereunder shall keep and maintain, in a convenient public place within the place for which he is appointed, a registration and motor vehicle tax collection bureau, to be approved by the registrar, for the registration of motor vehicles and the collection of motor vehicle taxes thereon. He shall keep such records and make such reports to the registrar as that officer, from time to time, may require. Such records shall be maintained at the facility of the deputy registrar. The records and facilities of the deputy registrar shall at all times be open to the inspection of the registrar or his agents. He shall report daily to the registrar all registrations made and taxes and fees collected by him. The filing fee imposed pursuant to subdivision 7 shall be deposited in the treasury of the place for which he is appointed, or if such deputy is not a public official, he shall retain the filing fee, but the registration tax and any additional fees for delayed registration he has collected he shall deposit each day in an approved state depository to the credit of the state through the state treasurer. Upon sworn application accompanied by a dishonored instrument presented as conditional payment for registration tax and any additional fees, the registrar shall credit the deputy registrar with the amount of the registration tax and the additional fees and revoke the registration obtained by means of the dishonored instrument. The place for which the deputy registrar is appointed through its governing body shall provide the deputy registrar with facilities and personnel to carry out the duties imposed by this subdivision if such deputy is a public official. In all other cases, the deputy shall maintain a suitable facility for serving the public."

A decree of legal separation shall be granted when the court finds that one or both parties need a legal separation.

Defenses to divorce, dissolution and legal separation, including but not limited to condonation, connivance, collusion, recrimination, insanity, and lapse of time, are abolished.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.06, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

Subd. 3. ~~If a party requests one or both parties petition for a decree of legal separation rather than and neither party contests the granting of the decree nor petitions for a decree of dissolution of marriage, the court shall grant the decree in that form unless the other party objects a decree of legal separation.~~

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.07, is amended to read:

518.07 [RESIDENCE OF PARTIES.] No dissolution or legal separation shall be granted unless (1) one of the parties has resided in this state, or has been a member of the armed services stationed in this state, for not less than 180 days immediately preceding the commencement of the proceeding; or (2) one of the parties has been a domiciliary of this state for not less than 180 days immediately preceding commencement of the proceeding.

If neither party resides in the state and jurisdiction is based on the domicile of one or both of the parties, the proceeding may be brought in the county where either party is domiciled. This venue shall be subject to the power of the court to change the place of hearing by consent of the parties, or when it appears to the court that an impartial hearing cannot be had in the county where the proceedings are pending, or when the convenience of the parties or the ends of justice would be promoted by the change. No summons shall be required if a joint petition is filed.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.10, is amended to read:

518.10 [REQUISITES OF PETITION.] The petition for dissolution of marriage or legal separation shall state and allege:

(1) State the name and address of the petitioner and his attorney and the length of petitioner's residence in this state;

(2) State the place and date of marriage of the parties;

(3) State the name and address, if known, of the respondent and the length of residence in this state;

(2) Has been a member of the armed services and has been stationed in this state for not less than 180 days immediately preceding the commencement of the proceeding, or

(3) Has been a domiciliary of this state for not less than 180 days immediately preceding the commencement of the proceeding;

(e) The name, age and date of birth of each minor or dependent child of the parties;

(h) In the case of a petition for legal separation, that there is a need for a decree of legal separation; and

(i) Any temporary or permanent maintenance, child support, child custody, disposition of property, attorneys' fees, costs and disbursements applied for without setting forth the amounts.

The petition shall be verified by the petitioner or petitioners, and its allegations established by competent evidence.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.12, is amended to read:

518.12 [TIME FOR ANSWERING.] The respondent shall have 30 days in which to answer the petition. In case of service by publication, the 30 days shall not begin to run until the expiration of the period allowed for publication. In the case of a counter-petition for dissolution or legal separation to a petition for dissolution or legal separation, no answer shall be required to the counter-petition and the original petitioner shall be deemed to have denied each and every statement, allegation and claim in the counter-petition.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.13, is amended to read:

518.13 [FAILURE TO ANSWER; FINDINGS; HEARING.] Subdivision 1. If the respondent does not appear after service duly made and proved, the court may hear and determine the proceeding at a general or special term, or in vacation as a default matter.

Subd. 2. If both of the parties by petition or otherwise have stated under oath or affirmation that the marriage is irretrievably broken, or one of the parties has so stated and the other has not denied it, the court, after hearing, shall make a finding whether the marriage is irretrievably broken.

Subd. 3 2. If one of the parties has denied under oath or affirmation that the marriage is irretrievably broken, the court shall consider all relevant factors, including the circumstances that gave rise to the commencement of the proceeding and the prospect of reconciliation, and shall

(a) make a finding whether the marriage is irretrievably broken, or

(b) unless either party objects, continue the matter for further hearing and may suggest to the parties that they seek counseling. At the adjourned hearing, or after a further continuance ordered by the court, the court shall make a finding whether the marriage is irretrievably broken.

A finding of irretrievable breakdown under this subdivision is a determination that there is no reasonable prospect of reconciliation. The finding must be supported by evidence that (i) the parties have lived separate and apart for a period of ~~more~~ not less than 180 days immediately preceding the commencement of the proceeding, or (ii) there is serious marital discord adversely affecting the attitude of one or both of the parties toward the marriage.

Subd. 3. If both parties by petition or otherwise have stated under oath or affirmation that the marriage is irretrievably broken, or one of the parties has so stated and the other has not denied it, the court, after hearing, shall make a finding that the marriage is irretrievably broken.

Subd. 4. The court or judge, upon application, may refer the proceeding to a referee to take and report the evidence therein. Hearings for dissolution of marriage shall be heard in open court or before a referee appointed by the court to receive the testimony of the witnesses, or depositions taken as in other equitable actions. However, the court may in its discretion close the hearing.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 518, is amended by adding a section to read:

[518.131] [TEMPORARY ORDERS AND RESTRAINING ORDERS.] Subdivision 1. In a proceeding brought for custody, dissolution, or legal separation, or for disposition of property, maintenance, or child support following the dissolution of a marriage, either party may, by motion, request from the court and the court may grant a temporary order pending the final disposition of the proceeding to or for:

(a) Temporary custody and visitation rights of the minor children of the parties;

(b) Temporary maintenance of either spouse;

(c) Temporary child support for the children of the parties;

(d) Award the temporary use and possession, exclusive or otherwise, of the family home, furniture, household goods, automobiles and other property of the parties;

(e) Restrain one or both parties from transferring, encumbering, concealing or disposing of property except in the usual course of business or for the necessities of life, and to account to the court for all such transfers, encumbrances, dispositions and expenditures made after the order is served or communicated to the party restrained in open court;

(f) Restrain one or both parties from harassing, vilifying, mistreating, molesting, disturbing the peace, or restraining the liberty of the other party or the children of the parties;

(g) Restrain one or both parties from removing any minor child of the parties from the jurisdiction of the court;

(h) Exclude a party from the family home of the parties or from the home of the other party; and

(i) Require one or both of the parties to perform or to not perform such additional acts as will facilitate the just and speedy disposition of the proceeding, or will protect the parties or their children from physical or emotional harm.

Subd. 2. No temporary order shall:

(a) Deny visitation rights to a noncustodial parent unless the court finds that visitation by the noncustodial parent is likely to cause physical or emotional harm to the child; or

(b) Exclude a party from the family home of the parties unless the court finds that physical or emotional harm to one of the parties or to the minor children of the parties is likely to result.

Subd. 3. A party may request and the court may make an ex parte restraining order which may include any matter that may be included in a temporary order except:

(a) A restraining order may not exclude either party from the family home of the parties except upon a finding by the court of immediate danger of physical harm to the other party or the children of either party; and

(b) A restraining order may not deny visitation to either party or grant custody of the minor children to either party except upon a finding by the court of immediate danger of physical harm to the minor children of the parties.

Subd. 4. Restraining orders shall be personally served upon the party to be restrained and shall be accompanied with a notice of the time and place of hearing for disposition of the matters contained in the restraining order at a temporary hearing. When a restraining order has been issued, a hearing on the temporary order shall be held at the earliest practicable date. The restrained party may upon written notice to the other party advance the hearing date to a time earlier than that noticed by the other party. The restraining order shall continue in full force and effect only until the hearing time noticed, unless the court, for good cause and upon notice extends the time for hearing.

Subd. 5. A temporary order shall continue in full force and effect until the earlier of its amendment or vacation, dismissal of the main action or entry of a final decree of dissolution or legal separation.

Subd. 6. If a proceeding for dissolution or legal separation is dismissed, a temporary custody order is vacated unless one of the parties or the child's custodian moves that the proceeding continue as a custody proceeding and the court finds, after a hearing, that the circumstances of the parties and the best interests of the child require that a custody order be issued.

Subd. 7. The court shall be guided by the factors set forth in sections 518.17 (concerning child support), 518.552 (concerning maintenance) and 518.17 to 518.175 (concerning custody and visitation) in making temporary orders and restraining orders.

Subd. 8. Temporary orders and restraining orders shall be made solely on the basis of affidavits and argument of counsel except upon demand by either party in his motion or responsive motion made within the time limit for making and filing a responsive motion that the matter be heard on oral testimony before the court, or if the court in its discretion orders the taking of oral testimony.

Subd. 9. A temporary order or restraining order:

(a) Shall not prejudice the rights of the parties or the child which are to be adjudicated at subsequent hearings in the proceeding; and

(b) May be revoked or modified by the court before the final disposition of the proceeding upon the same grounds and subject to the same requirements as the initial granting of the order.

Subd. 10. In addition to being punishable by contempt, a violation of a provision of a temporary order or restraining order granting the relief authorized in subdivision 1, clauses (f), (g), or (h) is a misdemeanor.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.145, is amended to read:

518.145 [DECREE.] A decree of dissolution of marriage or of legal separation is final when entered, subject to the right of appeal. An appeal from the decree of dissolution that does not challenge the finding that the marriage is irretrievably broken does not delay the finality of that provision of the decree which dissolves the marriage beyond the time for appealing from that provision. A party may remarry before the time for appeal has run if it is not contested that the marriage is irretrievably broken or if a stipulation that the marriage is irretrievably broken is incorporated in the decree of dissolution.

Sec. 13. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.155, is amended to read:

518.155 [CUSTODY DETERMINATIONS.] Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, a court in which a proceeding for dissolution ~~or~~, legal separation, or child custody has been commenced shall not issue, revise, modify or amend any order, pursuant to sections 518.16, 518.165, 518.168, 518.17, 518.175 or 518.18, which affects the custody of a minor child or the visitation rights of a noncustodial parent unless the court has jurisdiction over the matter pursuant to the provisions of sections 518A.01 to 518A.25.

Sec. 14. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.156, is amended to read:

518.156 [COMMENCEMENT OF CUSTODY PROCEEDING.] Subdivision 1. In a court of this state which has jurisdiction to decide child custody matters, a child custody proceeding is commenced:

(a) by a parent

(1) By filing a petition for dissolution or legal separation; or

(2) Where a decree of dissolution or legal separation has been entered or where none is sought, by filing a petition seeking custody of the child in the county where the child is permanently resident or where he is found; or

(b) By a person other than a parent, by filing a petition seeking custody of the child in the county where the child is permanently resident or where he is found.

Subd. 2. Written notice of a child custody proceeding shall be given to the child's parent, guardian and custodian, who may appear and be heard and may file a responsive pleading. The court may, upon a showing of good cause, permit the intervention of other interested parties.

Sec. 15. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.165, is amended to read:

518.165 [GUARDIANS FOR MINOR CHILDREN.] In all proceedings for child custody or for dissolution or legal separation ~~in which~~ where custody or visitation of a minor child is in issue, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem from a panel established by the court to represent the interests of the child. The guardian ad litem shall advise the court with respect to custody, support and visitation. The court may enter an order for costs, fees and disbursements in favor of the child's guardian ad litem. The order may be made against either or both parties, except that, ~~if the responsible party is indigent, any part of the costs, fees, and disbursements which the court finds the parties are incapable of paying~~ shall be borne by the county.

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.166, is amended to read:

518.166 [INTERVIEWS.] The court may interview the child in chambers to ascertain the child's reasonable preference as to his custodian, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient age to express preference. The court ~~may~~ shall permit counsel to be present at the interview and shall permit counsel to propound reasonable questions to the child either directly or through the court. The court shall cause a record of the interview to be made and to be made part of the record in the case unless waived by the parties.

In contested custody proceedings, and in other custody proceedings if a parent or the child's custodian requests, the court may seek the recommendations of professional personnel whether or not they are employed on a regular basis by the court. The recommendations given shall be in writing and shall be made available by the court to counsel upon request. Counsel may call for cross-examination of professional personnel consulted by the court.

Sec. 17. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.17, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

518.17 [CUSTODY AND SUPPORT OF CHILDREN ON JUDGMENT.] Subdivision 1. "The best interests of the child" means all relevant factors to be considered and evaluated by the court including:

(a) The wishes of the child's parent or parents as to his custody;

(b) The reasonable preference of the child, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient age to express preference;

(c) The interaction and interrelationship of the child with his parent or parents, his siblings, and any other person who may significantly affect the child's best interests;

(d) The child's adjustment to his home, school, and community;

(e) The length of time the child has lived in a stable, satisfactory environment and the desirability of maintaining continuity;

(f) The permanence, as a family unit, of the existing or proposed custodial home; and

(g) The mental and physical health of all individuals involved; ;

(h) The capacity and disposition of the parties to give the child love, affection, and guidance, and to continue educating and raising the child in his culture and religion or creed, if any; and

(i) The child's cultural background.

The court shall not consider conduct of a proposed custodian that does not affect his relationship to the child.

Sec. 18. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.175, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

518.175 [VISITATION OF CHILDREN AND NONCUSTODIAL PARENT.] Subdivision 1. In all proceedings for dissolution or legal separation, subsequent to the commencement of the proceeding and continuing thereafter during the minority of the child, the court shall, upon the request of the noncustodial parent, grant such rights of visitation as will enable the child and the noncustodial parent to maintain a child to parent relationship that will be beneficial to in the best interests of the child unless . If the court finds, after a hearing, that visitation is likely to endanger the child's physical or emotional health or impair his emotional development, the court may restrict visitation by the noncustodial parent as to time, place, duration, or supervision and may deny visitation entirely, as the circumstances warrant. The court shall consider the age of the child and the child's relationship with the noncustodial parent prior to the commencement of the proceeding. A parent's failure to pay support because of the parent's inability to do so shall not be sufficient cause for denial of visitation.

Sec. 19. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.175, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

Subd. 3. The custodial parent shall not move the residence of the child to another state ~~or more than 100 miles within this state~~ except upon order of the court or with the consent of the noncustodial parent, when the noncustodial parent has been given visitation rights by the decree.

Sec. 20. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.176, is amended to read:

518.176 [JUDICIAL SUPERVISION.] ~~(a)~~ Subdivision 1. Except as otherwise agreed by the parties in writing at the time of the custody order, the custodian may determine the child's upbringing, including his education, health care, and religious training, unless the court after hearing, finds, upon motion by the noncustodial parent, that in the absence of a specific limitation of the custodian's authority, the child's physical or emotional health is likely to be endangered or his emotional development impaired.

~~(b)~~ Subd. 2. If both parents or all contestants agree to the order, or if the court finds that in the absence of the order the child's physical or emotional health is likely to be endangered or his emotional development impaired, the court may order the county welfare board or the department of court services to exercise continuing supervision over the case under guidelines established by the court to assure that the custodial or visitation terms of the decree are carried out.

Sec. 21. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.18, is amended to read:

518.18 [MODIFICATION OF ORDER.] (a) Unless agreed to in writing by the parties, no motion to modify a custody order may be made earlier than one year after the date of the ~~order~~ entry of a decree of dissolution or legal separation containing a provision dealing with custody, except in accordance with clause (c).

(b) If a motion for modification has been ~~filed~~ heard, whether or not it was granted, unless agreed to in writing by the parties no subsequent motion may be filed within two years after disposition of the prior motion on its merits, except in accordance with clause (c).

(c) The time limitations prescribed in clauses (a) and (b) shall not prohibit a motion to modify a custody order if the court finds that there is persistent and wilful denial or interference with visitation, or has reason to believe that the child's present environment may endanger his physical or emotional health or impair his emotional development.

(d) If the court has jurisdiction to determine child custody matters, the court shall not modify a prior custody order unless it finds, upon the basis of facts that have arisen since the prior order or that were unknown to the court at the time of the prior order, that a change has occurred in the circumstances of the child or his custodian and that the modification is necessary to serve the best interests of the child. In applying these standards the court shall retain the custodian established by the prior order unless:

(i) The custodian agrees to the modification;

(ii) The child has been integrated into the family of the petitioner with the consent of the custodian; or

(iii) The child's present environment endangers his physical or emotional health or impairs his emotional development and the harm likely to be caused by a change of environment is outweighed by the advantage of a change to the child.

Sec. 22. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.27, is amended to read:

518.27 [NAME OF PARTY.] When a decree of dissolution of marriage is granted in this state, the decree shall completely dissolve the marriage contract as to both parties. If a dissolution is granted, the court shall, if requested by a party whose name was changed by the marriage, change the name of a party who had acquired the name of his spouse back to that person's family name or the name acquired from a prior spouse, and that person shall thereafter be known by that family name and be so designated in the court's decree. In the final decree of dissolution or legal separation the court shall, if requested by a party whose name was changed by the marriage, change the name of that party to another name as the party requests. The court shall grant a request unless it finds that there is an intent to defraud or mislead. The party's new name shall be so designated in the final decree.

Sec. 23. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.54, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. [MARITAL PROPERTY; EXCEPTIONS.] "Marital property" means property, real or personal, including nonforfeitable vested pension benefits or rights, acquired by the parties, or either of them, to a dissolution, legal separation, or annulment proceeding at any time during the existence of the marriage relation between them, or at any time during which the parties were living together as husband and wife under a purported marriage relationship which is annulled in an annulment proceeding. All property acquired by either spouse subsequent to the marriage and before a decree of legal separation is presumed to be marital property regardless of whether title is held individually or by the spouses in a form of co-ownership such as joint tenancy, tenancy in common, tenancy by the entirety, or community property. The presumption of marital property is overcome by a showing that the property is of a type listed in clauses (a) to (f) (e).

"Marital property" does not include "Non-marital property" means property real or personal, acquired by either spouse before, during, or after the existence of their marriage, which (a) is acquired as a gift, bequest, devise or inheritance made by a third party to one but not to the other spouse; (b) is acquired in exchange for property acquired before the marriage or in exchange for property acquired by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance before the marriage ; (c) is acquired in exchange for or is the increase in value of property acquired before the marriage which is described in clauses (a), (b), (d), and (e) ; (d) is acquired by a spouse after a decree of legal separation; ~~(e) is any property transferred from one spouse to the other; or (f) or e is excluded by valid agreement of the parties, including a valid antenuptial contract.~~

Sec. 24. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.55, is amended to read:

518.55 [MAINTENANCE OR SUPPORT MONEY.] Every award of maintenance or support money in a judgment of dissolution or legal separation shall clearly designate whether the same is maintenance or support money, or what part of the award is maintenance and what part is support money. An award of payments from future income or earnings of the custodial parent is presumed to be maintenance and an award of payments from the future income or earnings of the noncustodial parent is presumed to be support money, unless otherwise designated by the court. In a judgment of dissolution or legal separation the court may determine, as one of the issues of the case, whether or not either spouse is entitled to an award of maintenance notwithstanding that no award is then made, or it may reserve jurisdiction of the issue of maintenance for determination at a later date.

Sec. 25. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.551, is amended to read:

[518.551] [MAINTENANCE AND SUPPORT PAYMENTS MADE TO WELFARE AGENCIES.] A court having jurisdiction over proceedings for dissolution or legal separation shall direct that all payments ordered for maintenance and support shall be made to the agency responsible for the welfare payments, when it appears that the party who is to receive the maintenance and support payments will receive public assistance. Amounts received by the agency greater than the amount granted to the party receiving public assistance shall be remitted to that party.

The petitioner shall notify the agency responsible for the welfare payments of all proceedings for dissolution, legal separation or for the custody of a child if either party is receiving aid to families of dependent children or applies for such aid subsequent to the commencement of the proceeding. After receipt of the notice, the agency shall recommend to the court the support that is proper and adequate for the care and support of the child or children before the issuance of the order for judgment and decree in the proceeding.

If the court finds in a dissolution or legal separation proceeding before issuing the order for judgment and decree that notification has not been given to the agency responsible for the welfare payments, the court shall order that notification be made and shall not issue its order for judgment and decree until the agency has made its recommendations. In those proceedings in which no notification has been made pursuant to this section and in which the agency determines that the judgment is not proper and adequate for the care and support of the child or children, it may petition the court for a redetermination of the support payments ordered.

Sec. 26. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.552, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. The maintenance order shall be in amounts and for periods of time as the court deems just, without regard to marital misconduct, and after considering all relevant factors including:

(a) The financial resources of the party seeking maintenance, including marital property apportioned to him, and his ability to meet his needs independently, including the extent to which a provision for support of a child living with the party includes a sum for that party as custodian;

(b) The time necessary to acquire sufficient education or training to enable the party seeking maintenance to find appropriate employment;

(c) The standard of living established during the marriage;

(d) The duration of the marriage;

(e) The age, and the physical and emotional condition of the spouse seeking maintenance; and

(f) The ability of the spouse from whom maintenance is sought to meet his needs while meeting those of the spouse seeking maintenance; and

(g) The contribution of each party in the acquisition, preservation, depreciation, or appreciation in the amount or value of the marital property, as well as the contribution of a spouse as a homemaker.

Sec. 27. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.58, is amended to read:

518.58 [DISPOSITION OF MARITAL PROPERTY.] Upon a dissolution of a marriage, an annulment, a legal separation, or in a proceeding for disposition of property following a dissolution of marriage by a court which lacked personal jurisdiction over the absent spouse or lacked jurisdiction to dispose of the property and which has since acquired jurisdiction, the court shall set aside to each spouse his property and make a just and equitable disposition of the marital property of the parties without regard to marital misconduct, after making findings regarding the disposition of the property. The court shall base its findings on all relevant factors including the length of the marriage, any prior marriage of a party, the age, health, station, occupation, amount and sources of income, vocational skills, employability, estate, liabilities, needs, and opportunity for future acquisition of capital assets, the amount of support, maintenance and income of each party, whether the property award is in lieu of or in addition to maintenance or support. The court shall also consider the contribution or dissipation of each in the acquisition, preservation, depreciation or appreciation in the amount or value of the respective estates marital property, as well as the contribution of a spouse as a homemaker. It shall be presumed that each spouse made a substantial contribution to the acquisition of income and property while they were living together as husband and wife. The court may also award to either spouse the household goods and furniture of the parties, whether or not acquired during the marriage.

If the court finds that either spouse's resources or property, including his portion of the marital property as defined in section 518.54, subdivision 5 are so inadequate as to work an extreme unfair hardship, considering all relevant circumstances, the court may, in addition to the marital property, apportion up to one-half of the property otherwise excluded under section 518.54, subdivision 5, clauses (a) to (e) (d) to prevent the unfair hardship. If the court apportions property other than marital property, it shall make findings in support of the apportionment. The findings shall be based on all relevant factors including the length of the marriage, any prior marriage of a party, the age, health, station, occupation, amount and sources of income, vocational skills, employability, estate, liabilities, needs, and opportunity for future acquisition of capital assets and income of each party.

Sec. 28. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.611, is amended to read:

518.611 [ASSIGNMENTS.] If the person obligated to pay support or maintenance fails to make a required payment, and is given a reasonable opportunity by the court to allege hardship or that the payment has been made, the other party or, in the case of a failure to pay support or support and maintenance combined, the public authority responsible for support enforcement may, after 30 days, move the court to order, and the court, unless hardship is shown, shall order the employer or trustee to withhold from the obligor's periodic earnings or trust income an amount equal to the court's order for support or maintenance. The assignment is binding on the employer, trustee, or other payor of the funds two weeks after upon service upon him of notice that it has been made. The payor shall withhold from the earnings or trust income payable to the person obligated to pay support or maintenance the amount specified in the assignment and shall monthly or more frequently remit the amounts withheld to the other party or, in the case of a public assistance recipient, to the public agency responsible for support enforcement. Amounts received by the public authority responsible for support enforcement which are in excess of public assistance expended for the party or for a child shall be remitted to the party. An employer shall not discharge or otherwise discipline an employee as a result of a wage or salary assignment authorized by this section.

Sec. 29. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.612, is amended to read:

518.612 [INDEPENDENCE OF PROVISIONS OF DECREE OR TEMPORARY ORDER.] Failure by a party to make support payments is not a defense to: interference with visitation rights; or without the permission of the court or the noncustodial parent moving a child more than 100 miles within the state; or removing a child from this state without the permission of the court or of the noncustodial parent. Nor is interference with visitation rights or moving a child more than 100 miles within the state or taking a child from this state without permission of the court or the noncustodial parent a defense to nonpayment of support. If a party fails to make support payments, or interferes with visitation rights, or without permission of the court or the noncustodial parent removes a child from this state or moves a child more than 100 miles within the state, the other party may petition the court for an appropriate order.

Sec. 30. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 518.62, is amended to read:

518.62 [TEMPORARY MAINTENANCE.] Temporary maintenance and temporary support may be awarded as provided in section ~~518.135~~ 518.131. The court may also award to either party to the proceeding, having due regard to all the circumstances and the party awarded the custody of the children, the right to the exclusive use of the household goods and furniture of the parties pending the proceeding and the right to the use of the homestead of the parties, exclusive or otherwise, pending the proceeding. The value of any other property which is exempt from taxation at the time of the request shall be zero and if it subsequently becomes taxable then its original assessed value shall be as most recently assessed pursuant to section 273.18 or, if that assessment was made more than one year prior to the addition of the property to the project, the value which shall be assessed by the assessor at the time of the addition.

Subd. 7. [CAPTURED ASSESSED VALUE.] "Captured assessed value" means any amount by which the current assessed value of a tax increment district exceeds the original assessed value.

Subd. 8. [TAX INCREMENT PROJECT.] "Tax increment project" is a redevelopment project as defined in subdivision 10; an economic development project as defined in subdivision 12, or a housing project as defined in subdivision 11, which is located within a tax increment district. Subd. 10. [REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT.] "Redevelopment project" means a project which is located in an area within which one of the following conditions, reasonably distributed throughout the project area, is found to exist:

(a) The land is predominantly occupied by buildings, utilities or other improvements and more than 50 percent of the buildings, not including outbuildings, are structurally substandard to a degree requiring substantial renovation or clearance. "Structurally substandard" shall mean containing defects in structural elements or a combination of deficiencies in essential utilities and facilities, light and ventilation, fire protection including adequate egress, layout and condition of interior partitions, or similar factors, which defects or deficiencies are of sufficient total significance to justify substantial renovation or clearance. "Predominantly occupied" shall mean at least 50 percent of the parcels comprising at least 50 percent of the acreage;

(b) The land is predominantly occupied by buildings, utilities or other improvements and 20 percent of the buildings are structurally substandard as defined in clause (a) and an additional 30 percent of the buildings are found to require substantial renovation or clearance in order to remove such existing conditions as: inadequate street layout, incompatible uses or land use relationships, overcrowding of buildings on the land, excessive dwelling unit density, obsolete buildings not suitable for improvement or conversion, or other identified hazards to the health, safety and general well being of the community; or

(c) The land is not predominantly occupied by buildings, streets, utilities or other improvements, but at least 80 percent of the total acreage of the vacant parcels has a fair market value upon inclusion in the project which, when added to the estimated cost of preparing the parcel for use including utilities, if any, exceeds its anticipated fair market value after completion of the site preparation.

In the case of a city of the first or second class, a redevelopment project shall not only meet the requirements set forth in this subdivision but also be located within a public improvement district.

Subd. 11. [HOUSING PROJECT.] "Housing project" means a project, or that part of a project, intended for occupancy primarily by persons or families of low and moderate income, as defined in chapter 462A, Title II of the National Housing Act of 1934, the National Housing Act of 1959, the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended, Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, or the regulations promulgated under any of those acts. Residential construction which does not provide housing intended for occupancy primarily by persons or families of low and moderate income may be included in redevelopment or economic development projects.

Subd. 12. [ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROJECT.] "Economic development project" means any project not meeting the requirements found in the definition of "redevelopment project" or "housing project", but which the authority finds to be in the public interest because

(a) It will discourage commerce, industry or manufacturing from moving their operations to another state; or

(c) It will result in preservation and enhancement of the tax base of the municipality.

Subd. 13. [ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES.] "Administrative expenses" means all expenditures of an authority other than amounts paid for the purchase of land or amounts paid to contractors or others providing materials and services, including architectural and engineering services, directly connected with the physical development of the real property in the project, relocation benefits paid to persons residing or businesses located in the project area, or amounts used to pay interest on, fund a reserve for, or sell at a discount bonds issued pursuant to sections 1 to 14.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.73] [ESTABLISHMENT OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT.] Subdivision 1. [FINDINGS.] The governing body of a city of the first or second class may by resolution designate an area within its boundaries to be a public improvement district if it finds that blighting conditions, as described in section 2, subdivision 9, exist throughout the area. Detailed, specific written findings of those conditions shall be made and adopted.

Subd. 2. [PLAN FOR PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT PROGRAMS; CONTENTS.] When designating an area to be a public improvement district, the governing body shall propose a plan for the area. The public improvement district plan shall contain a detailed statement of the objectives of the city for improvement of the public improvement district. The plan shall include a description of proposed public facilities and open space to be created and the proposed use of the property within the district. It shall contain estimates of the following: cost of any private and public projects; sources of revenue to finance these costs including estimates of tax increments for any tax increment projects; amount of bonded indebtedness to be incurred; and the duration of any tax increment projects.

Subd. 3. [OPPORTUNITY FOR PRIVATE ENTERPRISE.] The plan for the public improvement district shall afford maximum opportunity for participation by private enterprise.

Subd. 4. [PUBLIC HEARING.] Before approving a public improvement district plan, the governing body shall hold a public hearing on the plan. Notice of the hearing shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the city at least once not less than ten days nor more than 30 days prior to the date of hearing. The authority shall make the plan available to the public at least 15 days prior to the date of the public hearing.

Subd. 5. [PLANNING AGENCY APPROVAL.] The governing body of the city shall furnish the planning agency or commission of the city with a copy of the public improvement district plan. No plan may be adopted by the governing body until the planning agency or commission has reviewed the tax increment financing plan and commented as to its conformance with the general plan for the development of the city or 60 days have passed from the date of submission of the plan to the agency.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.75] [APPROVAL OF USE OF TAX INCREMENT FINANCING.] Subdivision 1. [APPROVAL BY GOVERNING BODY.] No county auditor shall certify the value of a tax increment district until the tax increment financing plan proposed for that district has been approved by the governing body of the municipality in which the project is proposed to be located. If an authority which proposes to establish a tax increment project and the governing body of the municipality are not the same, the authority shall apply to the governing body of the municipality in which the project would be located and shall obtain the approval of its tax increment financing plan by the governing body before the authority may use tax increment financing.

Subd. 2. [TAX INCREMENT FINANCING PLAN.] In the application, the authority shall furnish the governing body with its plan for the use of tax increment financing. The tax increment financing plan submitted to the governing body for its approval shall include findings made by the authority that the use of tax increment financing in the proposed tax increment district is necessary because of the lack of private investment activity in the area. If the project is proposed to be located in a public improvement district, the plan shall include a finding that the tax increment financing plan conforms to the public improvement district plan of the municipality. The specific factual bases for these findings shall be set forth. The plan shall also contain the following information: a statement by the authority of the objectives of the project; the development program for the project, including a descriptive listing of any agreements which have been concluded between the municipality or the authority and any contractors or developers with respect to the project; estimates of the following: cost of the project, including administrative expenses; amount of bonded indebtedness to be incurred; sources of revenue to finance project costs; the original assessed value of property in the project; and the projected captured assessed value of the project at the time of its completion. If the authority proposes to use only a portion of the captured assessed value of a district for tax increment financing purposes, the plan shall state what portion is proposed to be used. If the municipality elects the method of tax increment computation set forth in section 6, subdivision 3, clause (b), it shall state that election.

Subd. 3. [PUBLIC HEARING.] Before approving a tax increment financing plan the governing body shall hold a public hearing on the plan. Notice of the hearing shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality at least twice no less than ten days nor more than 30 days prior to the date of the hearing. The authority shall make the plan available to the public at least 30 days prior to the date of the public hearing.

Subd. 4. [NOTICE TO LOCAL BOARDS; STATE PLANNING AGENCY.] At least thirty days prior to the date of the public hearing held pursuant to subdivision 3, the school board and board of county commissioners of the school district and county within which the tax increment project is proposed to be located, the state planning agency, and, if the proposed project is located in the metropolitan area defined in section 473.121, subdivision 2, the metropolitan council, shall be furnished with copies of the tax increment financing plan. A representative of each board and agency receiving the plan shall comment on the plan at the public hearing. Absence of comment shall not prevent approval of a plan nor invalidate bonds issued to finance its execution.

Subd. 5. [APPROVAL BY GOVERNING BODY.] No bonds shall be issued to finance a tax increment project unless the authority has concluded an agreement or agreements with one or more developers which provide for the execution of the project plan covering, in the case of a housing or economic development project, 80 percent or, in the case of a redevelopment project, 75 percent of the area of the proposed project and which provide recourse for the authority against the developer should the execution of the project plan fail because of the default of the developer. A copy of the agreement shall be submitted to and approved by the governing body. No plan shall be approved unless the governing body finds that the proposed project will not contribute to urban sprawl. Any proposal to use tax increment financing in relation to any previously unincorporated real property annexed by the municipality pursuant to chapter 414 within three years prior to the date of the application shall be deemed to contribute to urban sprawl. If the authority and the governing body of the municipality are not the same, the governing body shall within 90 days after submission of the application or resubmission as provided herein, give written notice to the authority of its decision with respect to the tax increment financing plan. If approval is not given within 90 days, the application shall be deemed to have been rejected. A plan which has not been approved by the governing body when submitted to it may be again submitted to it with such modifications as are necessary to meet its objections.

Subd. 6. [MODIFICATION OF PLAN.] Any tax increment financing plan may be modified by an authority. Any enlargement or reduction of geographic area, increase in amount of bonded indebtedness to be incurred, increase in the portion of the captured assessed value to be retained by the authority, increase in total estimated tax increment expenditures, or change in use of revenues derived from any district in the municipality, if not included in the original tax increment financing plan, shall be approved by the governing body of the municipality upon notice and after public hearing as are required pursuant to the provisions of subdivision 3.

The original assessed value of any taxable real property added to a tax increment project pursuant to this subdivision shall be the assessed value of that real property as most recently certified by the commissioner of revenue prior to the modification of the financing plan which added the property.

If property which is added to a project pursuant to this subdivision is exempt from taxation at the time of its addition to the project, and subsequently becomes taxable it shall be added to the base at its value as most recently assessed pursuant to section 273.18 or, if that assessment was made more than one year prior to the addition of the property to the project, the value which shall be assessed by the assessor at the time of the addition.

Subd. 7. [ELIMINATION OF TAX-EXEMPT PROPERTY.] If, at any time after certification of the original assessed value of a tax increment district pursuant to section 6, a parcel located within the district becomes exempt from property taxation, an authority may eliminate that property from the district. Upon application of the authority, the county auditor shall reduce the original assessed value of the district by the amount of the value of that parcel at the time of certification of the district.

Subd. 8. [PRIOR PLANNED IMPROVEMENTS.] The authority shall, after due and diligent search, accompany its request for certification to the county auditor pursuant to subdivision 1, or its notice of district enlargement pursuant to subdivision 6, with a listing of all properties within the tax increment financing district or area of enlargement for which building permits have been issued during the 18 months immediately preceding approval of the tax increment financing plan by the municipality. For 12 months after completion of the improvements for which a building permit was issued during that 18 month period, the county auditor shall increase the original assessed value of the district by the assessed valuation of the improvements for which the building permit was issued, as certified by the assessor.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.76] [LIMITATION ON INCREMENTS.] If, after five years from the date of certification of the value of the tax increment district pursuant to section 6, no demolition, rehabilitation or renovation of property or other site preparation, including improvement of a street adjacent to a parcel in the district but not installation of utility service property has been commenced on a parcel located within a project by the authority or by the owner of the property in accordance with the tax increment financing plan, no additional tax increments may be taken from that parcel, and the original assessed value of that parcel shall be excluded from the certified value of the tax increment district. If the authority or the owner of the property subsequently commences demolition, rehabilitation or renovation or other site preparation on that parcel in accordance with the tax increment financing plan, the authority shall certify to the county auditor that the activity has commenced, and the parcel may be added into the tax increment district. The county auditor shall certify the most recently assessed value of that parcel and add it to the original assessed value of the tax increment district.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.77] [COMPUTATION OF TAX INCREMENT.] Subdivision 1. [ORIGINAL ASSESSED VALUE.] After a tax increment financing plan has been approved by the governing body, the auditor of the county in which the district is situated shall, upon request of the authority, certify the original assessed value of the tax increment district as described in the tax increment financing plan. The county auditor shall certify in each year thereafter the amount by which the original assessed value has increased or decreased as a result of a change in tax exempt status of property within the district, or reduction or enlargement of the district. The amount to be added to the original assessed value of the district as a result of previously tax exempt real property within the district becoming taxable, or enlargement of the geographic area of the dis- trict, shall be equal to the assessed value of that real property as most recently certified by the commissioner of revenue as of the date of title transfer or modification of the tax increment financing plan. The amount to be subtracted from the original assessed value of the district as a result of previously taxable real property within the district becoming tax exempt, or a reduction in the geographic area of the district, shall be the amount of original assessed value initially attributed to the property becoming tax exempt or being removed from the district. If the assessed value of property located within a tax increment district is reduced by a court-ordered abatement, the original assessed value of the district shall be reduced by that amount. The county auditor shall have the power to specify the form and content of the request for certification of the authority and any modification thereof pursuant to section 4, subdivision 6.

Subd. 2. [CAPTURED ASSESSED VALUE.] The county auditor shall certify the amount of the captured assessed value to the authority each year. If the plan provides that all the captured assessed value is necessary to finance or otherwise make permissible expenditures under section 8, subdivision 3, the authority may retain the full captured assessed value. If the plan provides that only a portion of the captured assessed value is necessary to finance or otherwise make those expenditures, only that portion should be set aside and the remainder shall be distributed among the affected taxing districts by the county auditor.

Subd. 3. [RELATIONSHIP TO FISCAL DISPARITIES; RE-DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS.]

(a) Unless the governing body elects pursuant to clause (b) of this subdivision the following method of computation shall apply in the case of redevelopment projects subject to the provisions of sections 1 to 14:

(1) The original assessed value shall include any portion thereof which is subject to the area-wide tax imposed by section 473F.08, subdivision 6, in the levy and assessment of taxes in the year the district is certified and the current assessed value shall not be reduced to any extent to reflect the contribution of the municipality to the area-wide tax base pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 2, clause (a);

(2) In each subsequent year, the county auditor shall compute assessed valuation, mill rates and the tax increment as follows:

(i) If the authority retains the full captured assessed value, the county auditor shall include no more than the original assessed value of the real property in the tax increment financing district for purposes of determining assessed value for local mill rates. The county auditor shall compute the mill rates of all taxes levied by the state, the county, the municipality or town, the school district and every other taxing district in which the district is located in whole or in part on that assessed value. The county auditor shall extend all mill rates against the current assessed value, including the captured assessed value, except for that portion of the current assessed value which is subject to the area-wide tax rate determined pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 5. In each year for which the current assessed value exceeds the original assessed value, the county treasurer shall remit to the authority that portion of all taxes paid that year on real property in the district, including taxes paid as a result of the application of the area-wide tax determined pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 5, which exceeds the taxes attributable to the application of local mill rates to the original assessed value. The amount so remitted each year is referred to in this section as the tax increment for that year;

(ii) If the authority retains only a portion of the captured assessed value for its use and returns the remaining portion to the tax rolls of all affected taxing districts, the county auditor shall include the original assessed value which is shared with all the affected taxing districts in determining the assessed value for computing mill rates. He shall compute the mill rates of all taxes levied by the state, county, municipality, school district, and every other taxing district in which the district is located in whole or in part on that assessed value. He shall extend all mill rates against the total current assessed value including that portion of the captured assessed value which the authority is retaining for its exclusive use, except for that portion of the current assessed value which is subject to the area-wide tax rate determined pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 5. In each year for which the current assessed value exceeds the original assessed value, the county treasurer shall remit to the authority that portion of all taxes paid on real property in the district, including taxes paid as a result of the area-wide tax rate determined pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 5, that exceeds the taxes attributable to the application of local mill rates to the original assessed value and to that portion of the captured assessed value which is shared with all the affected taxing districts. The amount so remitted each year is referred to as the tax increment;

(3) In any year in which the current assessed value of the tax increment financing district is less than the original assessed value, the county auditor shall compute and extend taxes against the current assessed value, which is subject to the area-wide tax rate determined pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 5. Taxes, including taxes paid as a result of the application of the area-wide tax rate determined pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 5, shall be distributed from the affected property to each of the taxing jurisdictions as determined by the current levy and there will be no tax increment. In any year subsequent to a year in which there exists a tax increment deficit, the tax increment shall be computed without regard to said deficit;

(b) The governing body may, by resolution approving the tax increment financing plan pursuant to section 4, elect the following method of computation:

(1) The original assessed value shall not include any portion thereof which is subject to the area-wide tax imposed by section 473F.08, subdivision 6, in the levy and assessment of taxes in the year the district is certified and the current assessed value shall not include the portion thereof which is subject to the area-wide tax imposed by section 473F.08, subdivision 6, but shall not otherwise be reduced by the amount of the contribution of the municipality to the area-wide tax base pursuant to section 473F.08, subdivision 2, clause (a);

(2) In each subsequent year, the county auditor shall compute assessed valuation, mill rates and tax increment as follows:

(i) If the authority retains the full captured assessed value, the county auditor shall include no more than the original assessed value of the real property in the tax increment financing district for purposes of determining assessed value for local mill rates. The county auditor shall compute the mill rates of all taxes levied by the state, the county, the municipality or town, the school district and every other taxing district in which the district is located in whole or in part on the aforementioned assessed value. The county auditor shall extend all mill rates against the current assessed value, including the captured assessed value. In each year for which the current assessed value exceeds the original assessed value, the county treasurer shall remit to the authority that proportion of all taxes paid that year on real property in the district which the captured assessed value bears to the current assessed value. The amount so remitted each year is referred to in this section as the tax increment for that year;

(ii) If the authority retains only a portion of the captured assessed value for its use and returns the remaining portion to the tax rolls of all affected taxing districts, the county auditor shall include the original assessed value and that portion of the captured assessed value which is shared with all the affected taxing districts in determining the assessed value for computing mill rates. He shall compute the mill rates of all taxes levied by the state, county, municipality, school district, and every other taxing district in which the district is located in whole or in part on this aforementioned assessed value. He shall extend all mill rates against the total current assessed value including that portion of the captured assessed value which the authority is retaining for its use only. In each year for which the current assessed value exceeds the original assessed value, the county treasurer shall remit to the authority that proportion of all taxes paid on real property in the district that the retained captured assessed value bears to the total current assessed value in the district. The amount so remitted each year is referred to as the tax increment;

(3) In any year in which the current assessed value of the tax increment financing district is less than the original assessed value, the county auditor shall compute and extend taxes against the current assessed value. Taxes shall be distributed from the affected property to each of the taxing jurisdictions as determined by the current levy and there is no tax increment. In any year subsequent to a year in which there exists a tax increment deficit, tax increments shall be computed without regard to said deficit;

(4) An election by the governing body pursuant to part (b) of this subdivision shall be submitted to the county auditor by the authority at the time of the request for certification pursuant to section 4;

(c) The method of computation of tax increment applied to a district pursuant to clauses (a) or (b) of this subdivision, once established, shall remain the same for the duration of the district.

Subd. 4. [RELATIONSHIP TO FISCAL DISPARITIES; ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROJECT.] In the case of an economic development project subject to the provisions of this act, the following method of computation shall apply:

The original assessed value of the district shall not include assessed valuation which is contributed to an area-wide tax base under section 473F.08. Any amount by which the current assessed value of a development district exceeds the original assessed value, other than the contribution required under section 473F.08 of 40 percent of the annual increase in the assessed valuation of the commercial-industrial property located within the district, will be the captured assessed value for the district, subject to the provisions of subdivision 2. The provisions of subdivision 3, clauses (b) (2) and (b) (3) shall apply to the computation of the tax increments for economic development districts.

In the event the tax increments received in any year are insufficient to make the payments of interest and principal due that year on bonds issued in connection with an economic development district subject to the provisions of sections 1 to 14, no general levy shall be made against the property in the municipality for the purpose of making up that deficiency.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.78] [LIMITATION ON TAX INCREMENT DISTRICTS.] Subdivision 1. [PERCENTAGE OF VALUE.] No tax increment district may be certified in a municipality by the county auditor if the sum of the original assessed value of tax increment projects located in the municipality, certification of which has been requested prior to the effective date of sections 1 to 14, plus the estimated original assessed value of a proposed project exceed 2.5 percent of the estimated market value of the municipality. If, on the day following final enactment of sections 1 to 14, the aggregate original assessed value of previously certified projects within a municipality exceeds 2.5 percent of the estimated market value of the municipality, that municipality may, by the certification of one additional project or the addition of property to one existing project pursuant to sections 1 to 14, exceed the current ratio of its aggregate original assessed value of tax increment projects to the municipality's estimated market value by an additional .5 percent.

Subd. 2. [DURATION OF TAX INCREMENT DISTRICTS.] Any pledge of revenues, including tax increments, to the payment of bonds and interest thereon may be discharged and the tax increment district may be terminated if sufficient funds have been irrevocably deposited in the debt service fund or other escrow account held in trust for all outstanding bonds to provide for the payment of the bonds at maturity or date of redemption and interest thereon to such maturity or redemption date, provided that for bonds issued pursuant to sections 10 or 11 the full faith and credit and any taxing powers of the municipality or authority, as the case may be, shall continue to be pledged to the payment of the bonds until the principal of and interest on the bonds has been paid in full.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.79] [TAX INCREMENT PROCEEDS.] Subdivision 1. [ACCOUNTS.] The proceeds of tax increments received with respect to any project shall be segregated by the authority receiving them in a special account or accounts on its official books and records or otherwise established by resolution of the authority to be held by a trustee for the benefit of holders of the bonds.

Subd. 2. [EXCESS INCREMENTS.] In any year in which the tax increments exceed the amount necessary to pay the costs authorized by the tax increment financing plan, including the amount necessary to cancel any tax levy as provided in section 475.61, subdivision 3, the authority shall use the excess amount to prepay any outstanding bonds, discharge the pledge of tax increments therefor or make payment into an escrow account dedicated to the payment of the bonds.

Subd. 3. [LIMITATION ON USE OF TAX INCREMENTS.] Except in the case of a tax increment project or district for which certification was requested prior to the effective date of sections 1 to 14 pursuant to a law which did not at that date require adoption of a tax increment financing plan, revenues derived from tax increments subsequent to the effective date of sections 1 to 14 shall be used only to pay off bonds or to make any other expenditure authorized by the general or special law under which the authority was created or operates, and only as authorized in the tax increment financing plan.

Subd. 4. [LIMITATION ON ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES.] No tax increment shall be used to pay any administrative expenses for a district which exceed five percent of the total tax increment expenditures authorized by the tax increment financing plan or the total tax increment expenditures for that district, whichever is less.

Subd. 5. [LIMITATION ON DURATION OF INCREMENTS.] Tax increments may be taken from parcels comprising a redevelopment project for a period lasting no more than 25 years after receipt of first increments, from parcels comprising a housing project for a period lasting no more than 25 years after receipt of first increments, and from parcels comprising an economic development project for a period lasting no more than ten years after receipt of first increments or twelve years after the approval of the plan pursuant to section 4, whichever is sooner.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.80] [RESTRICTION ON FUTURE BOND ISSUES.] Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, after the effective date of the tax increment financing act, no bonds for payment of which tax increments are pledged shall be issued in connection with any tax increment project or district other than as authorized by sections 10 to 12. Bonds issued pursuant to sections 10 to 12 shall not be included for purposes of computing the net debt of any municipality. The proceeds of any bonds authorized hereby shall be used only in accordance with section 8, subdivision 3, as if the proceeds were tax increments.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.81] [MUNICIPAL GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS.] Subdivision 1. [ISSUANCE.] A municipality may authorize general obligation bonds to finance any expenditure which the municipality or any other authority the jurisdiction of which is wholly or partially within that municipality is permitted to make pursuant to section 8, subdivision 3. The bonds shall be issued, sold and secured in the same manner and subject only to the same conditions as those provided in chapter 475, for bonds financing improvement costs reimbursable from special assessments.

Subd. 2. [PLEDGE.] Any pledge of tax increments, assessments or other revenues for the payment of the principal of and interest on general obligation bonds issued under this section, except when the authority and the municipality are the same, shall be made by written agreement by and between the authority and the municipality and filed with the county auditor. When the authority and the municipality are the same, the municipality may by covenant pledge tax increments, assessments or other revenues for the payment of the principal of and interest on general obligation bonds issued under this section. The resolution containing the covenant shall be filed with the county auditor. When tax increments, assessments and other revenues are pledged, the estimated collections of the tax increments, assessments and other revenues so pledged may be deducted from the taxes otherwise required to be levied before the issuance of the bonds under section 475.61, subdivision 1, or may be certified annually to reduce or cancel the initial tax levies in accordance with section 475.61, subdivision 1 or 3. The pledge of any revenues, including tax increments, to the payment of bonds and interest may be discharged if sufficient funds have been irrevocably deposited in escrow to provide for payment when due of the bonds and interest. The full faith and credit and taxing powers of the municipality shall continue to be pledged to the payment of any general obligation bonds until the principal of and interest on the bonds have been paid in full.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.82] [AUTHORITY GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS.] Subdivision 1. When the authority and the municipality are not the same, an authority may, by resolution, authorize, issue and sell its general obligation bonds to finance any expenditure which that authority is authorized to make by section 8, subdivision 3. The full faith and credit and taxing power of the authority shall be and are hereby pledged to the payment of the bonds and interest thereon. Any revenues, including tax increments and assessments, derived from a tax increment district, may be pledged to the payment of the bonds and interest thereon. The bonds of the authority shall be authorized by its resolution, shall mature as determined by resolution of the authority in accordance with sections 1 to 14. The bonds may be issued in one or more series and shall bear the date or dates, bear interest at the rate or rates, be in the denomination or denominations, be in the form, either coupon or registered, carry the conversion or registration privileges, have the rank or priority, be executed in the manner, be payable in medium of payment at the place or places, and be subject to the terms of redemption, with or without premium, as the resolution, its trust indenture or mortgage may provide. The bonds may be sold at public or private sale at the price or prices as the authority by resolution shall determine. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the bonds shall be fully negotiable. In any suit, action, or proceedings involving the validity or enforceability of any such bonds of the authority or the security therefor, any such bond reciting in substance that it has been issued by the authority to aid in financing a project shall be deemed to have been issued for that purpose, and the project shall be conclusively deemed to have been planned, located, and carried out in accordance with the purposes and provisions of sections 1 to 14.

Subd. 2. [LIABILITY ON BONDS.] Neither the governing body of the authority nor any person executing the bonds shall be liable personally on the bonds by reason of the issuance thereof. The bonds of the authority, as the bonds shall state on their face, shall not be a debt of any municipality, the state or any political subdivision thereof, and neither the municipality nor the state or any political subdivision thereof shall be liable thereon, nor in any event shall the bonds be payable out of any funds or properties other than those of the authority and any tax increments and revenues of a tax increment district pledged therefor.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.83] [REVENUE BONDS.] Subdivision 1. [ISSUANCE.] An authority may, by resolution, authorize, issue and sell revenue bonds payable solely from all or a portion of revenues, including but not limited to tax increment revenues and assessments, derived from a tax increment district located wholly or partially within the municipality to finance any expenditure which that authority is authorized to make by section 8, subdivision 3, and may pledge the revenues to the payment of the bonds and the interest thereon. The bonds shall mature as determined by resolution of the authority in accordance with the provisions of sections 1 to 14 and may be issued in one or more series and shall bear the date or dates, bear interest at the rate or rates, be in the denomination or denominations, be in the form, either coupon or registered, carry the conversion or registration privileges, have the rank or priority, be executed in the manner, be payable in medium of payment at the place or places, and be subject to the terms of redemption, with or without premium, as the resolution, its trust indenture or mortgage may provide. The bonds may be sold at public or private sale at the price or prices as the authority by resolution shall determine. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the bonds shall be fully negotiable. In any suit, action, or proceedings involving the validity or enforceability of any such bonds of the authority or the security therefor, any such bond reciting in substance that it has been issued by the authority to aid in financing a project shall be deemed to have been issued for that purpose, and the project shall be deemed to have been planned, located, and carried out in accordance with the purposes and provisions of sections 1 to 14.

Subd. 2. [LIABILITY ON BONDS.] Neither the governing body of the authority nor any person executing the bonds shall be liable personally on the bonds by reason of the issuance thereof. The bonds may be further secured by a pledge and mortgage of all or any portion of the project in aid of which the bonds are issued and the covenants the authority deems by the resolution to be necessary and proper to secure payment of the bonds. The bonds, as they shall state on their face, shall not be payable from nor charged upon any funds other than the revenues and property pledged or mortgaged to the payment thereof, nor shall the authority issuing the same be subject to any liability thereon or have the powers to obligate itself to pay or to pay the bonds from funds other than the revenues and properties pledged and mortgaged and no holder of the bonds shall ever have the right to compel any exercise of any taxing power of the issuing authority or any other public body, other than as is permitted or required under sections 1 to 14 and pledged therefor hereunder, to pay the principal of or interest on the bonds, nor to enforce payment thereof against any property of the authority or other public body other than that expressly pledged or mortgaged for the payment thereof.

Sec. 13. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.84] [ANNUAL DISCLOSURE.] For all tax increment districts, whether created prior or subsequent to the effective date of the tax increment financing act, on or before July 1 each year, the authority shall submit to the county board, the school board, the state planning agency and, if the authority is other than the governing body, the governing body of the municipality a report on the status of the district. The report shall include the following information: the amount and the source of revenue in the account, the amount and purpose of expenditures from the account, the amount of principal and interest on any outstanding bonded indebtedness, the original assessed value of the district, the captured assessed value retained by the authority, the captured assessed value shared with other taxing districts, the tax increments received and any additional information necessary to demonstrate compliance with any applicable tax increment financing plan. An annual statement showing the tax increments received and expended in that year, the original assessed value, captured assessed value, amount of outstanding bonded indebtedness, and any additional information the authority deems necessary shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality.

Sec. 14. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 273, is amended by adding a section to read:

[273.85] [EXISTING PROJECTS.] The provisions of sections 1 to 14 shall not affect any redevelopment project as defined in section 462.421, subdivision 13, industrial development district as defined in section 458.191, project as defined in section 474.02, subdivision 1 or section 362A.01, subdivision 2, or development district as defined in section 472A.02, subdivision 3 or any special law, for which certification was requested pursuant to those laws prior to the effective date of sections 1 to 14, or any project carried on by an authority pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 462.545, Subdivision 5 with respect to which the governing body has by resolution designated properties for inclusion in the project prior to the effective date of sections 1 to 14, except:

(a) As otherwise provided in sections 1 to 14;

(b) As an authority may elect to proceed with an existing redevelopment project, industrial development district, project or development district under the provisions of sections 1 to 14; or

(c) That any geographic area added to an existing redevelopment project, industrial development district, project or development district as a result of boundary expansion subsequent to the effective date of sections 1 to 14 shall be added in accordance with and be subject to the terms and conditions of sections 1 to 14.

Sec. 15. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 458.192, Subdivision 11, is amended to read:

Subd. 11. Upon or after the creation of an industrial development district under section 458.191 which is not subject to the provisions of sections 1 to 14, the auditor of the county in which it is situated shall upon request of the port authority certify the then most recently determined assessed valuation of all or so much of the taxable real property within the district as is identified by legal description in the request, other than that portion of the valuation which is contributed to an area-wide tax base under chapter 473F. The auditor shall certify to the authority in each year thereafter the amounts and percentages of subsequent increases or decreases in such valuation other than that portion of such increases or decreases which is contributed to an area-wide tax base under chapter 473F. The auditor shall compute the mill rates of taxes against such original valuation but shall extend such rates also against any incremental value and remit the resulting tax increment to the port authority in the same manner as that provided for the computation and remittance of tax increments under section 462.585, subdivisions 2 and 3. The port authority shall segregate tax increments received with respect to any such property district in a special account on its official books and records. Such tax increments shall be remitted to the port authority until the cost of redevelopment of the marginal land within the district, including interest thereon, has been fully reimbursed from the tax increments. When such full reimbursement has been made, it shall be reported by the port authority to the county auditor, who shall thereafter include the entire assessed valuation of the property in the assessed valuations upon which tax mill rates are computed and extended and taxes are remitted to all taxing districts. Any part or all of such tax, if so directed by the city council, shall be pledged and appropriated for the payment of any general obligation bonds of the port authority. Increases in the value of such property, subsequent to certification of the base for computing the tax increment therefrom, shall not be included in the assessed valuation of any taxing district for the purpose of computing any debt or levy limitation or the amount of any state or federal aid to the taxing district, so long as the tax increment therefrom is segregated under the provisions of this section. The provisions of this subdivision shall not apply with respect to any project, certification of which is requested subsequent to the effective date of the tax increment financing act.

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 462.545, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. [SPECIAL BENEFIT TAX FUND.] In the event the authority shall issue bonds or other obligations to finance a redevelopment project, the authority may, in its discretion, with the consent of the governing body obtained at the time of the approval of the redevelopment plan as required in section 462.521, notify the county treasurer to set aside in a special fund, for the retirement of such bonds and interest thereon, all or part of the real estate tax revenues derived from the real property in the redevelopment area which is in excess of the tax revenue derived therefrom in the tax year immediately preceding the acquisition of such property by the authority, and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer so to do. Such setting aside of funds shall continue until the bonds or other obligations have been retired. The provisions of this subdivision shall not apply with respect to any property which the governing body has not by resolution designated for inclusion in a project prior to the effective date of the tax increment financing act.

Sec. 17. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 462.585, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

462.585 [AGREEMENTS RESPECTING TAX INCREMENTS AND EQUIVALENTS; PLEDGE FOR BONDS.] Sub-

[GENERAL.] In connection with any project of an authority located wholly or partly within the corporate limits of any municipality or other state public body, such body may agree with the authority with respect to the payment by the authority of such sums in lieu of taxes for any year or period of years in accordance with the provisions of section 462.575, but for no longer period than the period of tax exemption provided for under that section. In any case where property owned by the authority in a redevelopment project area is leased or otherwise made available by the authority to a private individual, firm, or corporation which previously owned the same or other property within the area, not for development in connection with the project but for temporary use pending relocation of such former owner's residence or business, the authority may agree to payment of sums in lieu of taxes for any year or period of such temporary use, not exceeding the amount of the annual rentals or other payments it receives for such use, but during such use the property and the authority shall be exempt from all taxes and special assessments as provided in section 462.575, and the provisions of section 272.01, subdivision 2 and of section 273.19 shall not apply to such property or to such use thereof. Any such pledge for the payment of bonds issued by the governing body shall be made by written agreement executed on behalf of the authority and the governing body and filed with the county auditor. The estimated collections of the tax increments and any other revenues so pledged may be deducted from the taxes otherwise required to be levied before the issuance of the bonds under section 475.61, subdivision 1, or the collections thereof may be certified annually to reduce or cancel the initial tax levies in accordance with section 475.61, subdivision 3. When such an agreement is made and filed, the bonds may be issued by the governing body in the same manner and subject only to the same conditions as those provided in chapter 475 for bonds financing improvement costs reimbursable from special assessments. Bonds shall not be issued nor tax increments or other revenues pledged pursuant

Subd. 4. Of the amounts appropriated by subdivision 2 of this section, not more than 15 percent, and of the amounts appropriated by subdivision 3 of this section, not more than five percent, may be expended by the commissioner for staff and independent professional services needed for the grant program.

Sec. 7. [TETTEGOUCHE STATE PARK.] Subdivision 1. Tettegouche state park is established in Lake County.

Subd. 2. The commissioner of natural resources is authorized to acquire by gift or purchase the lands for Tettegouche state park. Those lands commonly referred to as Tettegouche camp and presently the subject of an option agreement between the owners of Tettegouche camp and the Nature Conservancy may be acquired for a sum not to exceed $880,000 plus the actual expenses of the Nature Conservancy in negotiating and acquiring the option in an amount not to exceed $10,000 and any actual interest costs that arise between the time the option is exercised by the Nature Conservancy and the land is acquired by the commissioner. Any land which now is tax-forfeited land and is located within the boundaries of Tettegouche state park is hereby withdrawn from sale and is transferred from the custody, control, and supervision of the county board of the county to the commissioner of natural resources, free from any trust in favor of the interested taxing districts. The transfer of such tax-forfeited land is effective only after an amount equal to the fair market value of the land is paid by the commissioner to the county. Any money appropriated for state park land acquisition may be expended for this payment related to tax-forfeited land. The county auditor shall apportion this money in the manner provided in Minnesota Statutes, Section 282.08 for the apportionment of proceeds from the sale of tax-forfeited lands. The commissioner shall execute a certificate of acceptance of the lands on behalf of the state and shall transmit the same to the county auditor of the county for record as provided by law in the case of tax-forfeited land transferred to the commissioner by resolution of the county board for conservation purposes. All lands within the boundaries of Baptism River state park as it exists on the effective date of this act and which have been acquired for state park purposes are hereby incorporated into and made a part of Tettegouche state park. The previous designation of such lands as Baptism River state park shall be discontinued by the commissioner within three years of the effective date of this act. All lands acquired for Tettegouche state park shall be administered in the same manner as provided for other state parks and shall be perpetually dedicated for such use.

Subd. 3. When the privately owned Tettegouche camp is acquired for inclusion within Tettegouche state park, and when, as a result of the acquisition, taxes are no longer assessed against the tract or improvements thereon, the following amount shall be paid by the commissioner of natural resources to Lake County for distribution to the taxing district: In the first year after taxes are last required to be paid on the property, 90 percent of the last required payment; in the second year, 80 percent; in the third year, 70 percent; in the fourth year, 60 percent; in the fifth year, 50 percent; in the sixth year, 40 percent; in the seventh year, 30 percent; in the eighth year, 20 percent; and in the ninth year, 10 percent. The commissioner shall make such payments from any money appropriated for state park maintenance and operation. The county auditor shall certify to the commissioner of natural resources the total amount due to a county on or before March 30 of the year in which money must be paid pursuant to this section. Money received by a county pursuant to this subdivision shall be distributed to the various taxing districts in the same proportion as the levy of the taxing district bears to the total levy on the property in the last year taxes were required to be paid on the property.

Subd. 4. Within 30 months after the effective date of this act, the commissioner shall offer for sale in the manner provided by law, or declare surplus for sale in the manner provided by law, lands outside the boundaries of Tettegouche state park valued at not less than $880,000 or, in the event the lands known as the Tettegouche camp are valued for purposes of federal matching funds at a higher amount, that higher value. In no case shall the amount of land offered for sale exceed 3,400 acres in total area. All lands offered for sale shall be located in Lake County, to offset the removal from the tax rolls of those private lands acquired for Tettegouche state park after the effective date of this act. The commissioner shall select lands for sale that minimize impact on timber production and public recreation and have maximum potential for private development with minimum public costs or allow consolidation of ownership or road development. The commissioner shall consult with the Lake County board before offering lands for sale or declaring lands surplus. Prior to acquiring the private lands for Tettegouche state park, but in no event later than September 1, 1979, the commissioner shall identify the lands to be offered for sale and submit a list of these lands to the legislative commission on Minnesota resources. The commissioner may modify this list thereafter with the approval of the legislative commission on Minnesota resources.

Subd. 5. The following described lands are located within the boundaries of Tettegouche state park: In Township 57 North, Range 7 West.

Subd. 7. The commissioner may lease land, not to exceed 400 acres, inside the boundaries of Tettegouche state park, on such terms as he deems proper, giving due consideration to insuring the protection of natural resources, for use as an environmental learning center to be constructed and operated by a non-profit group. Mr. Purfeerst moved to amend H. F. No. 982 as follows:

"Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 162.02, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 3a. [VARIANCES, RULES AND ENGINEERING STANDARDS.] The commissioner may grant variances from the rules and from the engineering standards developed pursuant to section 162.07, subdivision 2. A political subdivision in which a county state-aid highway is located or is proposed to be located may submit a written request to the commissioner for a variance for that highway. The commissioner shall publish notice of the request in the state register and give notice to all persons known to the commissioner to have an interest in the matter. The commissioner may grant or deny the variance within 30 days of providing notice of the request. If a written objection to the request is received within 20 days of providing notice, the variance shall be granted or denied only after a contested case hearing has been held on the request. If no timely objection is received and the variance is denied without hearing, the political subdivision may request, within 30 days of receiving notice of denial, and shall be granted a contested case hearing.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 162.07, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [MONEY NEEDS DEFINED.] For the purpose of this section, money needs of each county are defined as the estimated total annual costs of constructing, over a period of 25 years, the county state-aid highway system in that county. Costs incidental to construction, or a specified portion thereof as set forth in the commissioner's rules and regulations may be included in determining money needs. When a county state-aid highway is located over a street in a city having a population of 5,000 or more, only the construction costs of the center 24 feet of the street shall be included in the money needs of that county; provided, that when traffic volumes warrant multiple or divided lane highways the construction costs of the necessary number of 12 foot lanes required for through traffic may be included in the money needs. When a county state-aid highway is located over a street in any city of less than 5,000 population, the construction costs of the entire width of the roadway or street surface shall be included in the money needs of that county. To avoid variances in costs due to differences in construction policy, construction costs shall be estimated on the basis of the engineering standards developed cooperatively by the commissioner and the county engineers of the several counties. Any variance granted pursuant to section 2 shall be reflected in the estimated construction costs in determining money needs.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 162.09, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 3a. [VARIANCES, RULES AND ENGINEERING STANDARDS.] The commissioner may grant variances from the rules and from the engineering standards developed pursuant to section 162.13, subdivision 2. The commissioner shall publish notice of the request in the state register and give notice to all persons known to the commissioner to have an interest in the matter. The commissioner may grant or deny the variance within 30 days of providing notice of the request. If a written objection to the request is received within 20 days of providing notice, the variance shall be granted or denied only after a contested case hearing has been held on the request. If no timely objection is received and the variance is denied without hearing, the political subdivision may request, within 30 days of receiving notice of denial, and shall be granted a contested case hearing.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 162.13, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [MONEY NEEDS DEFINED.] For the purpose of this section money needs of each city having a population of 5,000 or more are defined as the estimated cost of constructing and maintaining over a period of 25 years the municipal state-aid street system in such city. Right of way costs and drainage shall be included in money needs. Lighting costs and other costs incidental to construction and maintenance, or a specified portion of such costs, as set forth in the commissioner's rules and regulations, may be included in determining money needs. When a county locates a county state-aid highway over a portion of a street in any such city and the remaining portion is designated as a municipal state-aid street only the construction and maintenance costs of the portion of the street other than the portions taken over by the county shall be included in the money needs of the city. To avoid variances in costs due to differences in construction and maintenance policy, construction and maintenance costs shall be estimated on the basis of the engineering standards developed cooperatively by the commissioner and the engineers, or a committee thereof, of the cities. Any variance granted pursuant to section 4 shall be reflected in the estimated construction and maintenance costs in determining money needs.

Sec. 6. [RULES.] The commissioner shall adopt rules, no later than January 1, 1980, in accordance with sections 15.041 to 15.052, setting forth the criteria to be considered by the commissioner in evaluating requests for variances under sections 2 and 4. The rules shall include, but are not limited to, economic, engineering and safety guidelines. The engineering standards adopted pursuant to section 162.07, subdivision 2, or section 162.13, subdivision 2, shall be adopted pursuant to the requirements of chapter 15 by July 1, 1980.

"Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.14, is amended to read:

290.14 [GAIN OR LOSS ON DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY, BASIS.] The basis for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property acquired on or after January 1, 1933, shall be the cost to the taxpayer of such property, with the following exceptions:

(1) If the property should have been included in the last inventory, it shall be the last inventory value thereof;

(2) If the property was acquired by gift, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the last preceding owner not acquiring it by gift; if the facts required for this determination cannot be ascertained, it shall be the fair market value as of the date, or approximate date, of acquisition by such last preceding owner, as nearly as the requisite facts can be ascertained by the commissioner;

(3) If the property was acquired by gift through an inter vivos transfer in trust, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the grantor;

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this clause (4), the basis of property in the hands of a person acquiring the property from a decedent or to whom the property passed from a decedent shall, if not sold, exchanged or otherwise disposed of before the decedent's death by such person, be the fair market value of the property at the date of decedent's death.

For the purposes of the preceding paragraph, the following property shall be considered to have been acquired from or to have passed from the decedent:

(a) Property acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance, or by the decedent's estate from the decedent;

(b) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent, with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to revoke the trust;

(c) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to make any change in the enjoyment thereof through the exercise of a power to alter, amend, or terminate the trust;

(d) Property passing without full and adequate consideration under a general power of appointment exercised by the decedent by will;

(e) In the case of a decedent's dying after December 31, 1956, property acquired from the decedent by reason of death, form of ownership, or other conditions (including property acquired through the exercise or non-exercise of a power of appointment), if by reason thereof the property is required to be included in determining the value of the decedent's gross estate for Minnesota inheritance tax purposes. In such case, if the property is acquired before the death of the decedent, the basis shall be the amount determined under the first paragraph of this clause reduced by the amount allowed to the taxpayer as deductions in computing taxable net income under this chapter or prior Minnesota income tax laws for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion on such property before the death of the decedent. Such basis shall be applicable to the property commencing on the death of the decedent. This paragraph shall not apply to annuities described in section 290.08; and property described in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this clause (4).

Clause (4) shall not apply to property which constitutes a right to receive an item of income in respect of a decedent under section 290.077. Nor shall it apply to restricted stock options described in section 290.078 which the employee has not exercised at death.

(5) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, upon an exchange described in section 290.13, subdivision 1, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized upon such exchange under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by section 290.13, subdivision 1, to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of other property, the basis provided in this clause shall be allocated between the properties, other than money, received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. This clause shall not apply to property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration, in whole or in part, for the transfer of the property to it; respect of which loss was not allowed as a deduction under section 290.09, subdivision 5, the basis in the case of property so acquired shall be the same as in the case of the stock or securities so sold or disposed of, increased by the excess of the repurchase price of such property over the sale price of such stock or securities, or decreased by the excess of the sale price of such stock or securities over the repurchase price of such property;

(7) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, as the result of a compulsory or involuntary conversion described in section 290.13, subdivision 5, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property so converted, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer which was not expended in accordance with the provisions of law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made, determining the taxable status of the gain or loss upon such conversion, and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer recognized upon such conversion under the law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made.

(8) Neither the basis nor the adjusted basis of any portion of real property shall, in the case of a lessor of such property, be increased or diminished on account of income derived by the lessor in respect of such property and excludable from gross income under section 290.08, subdivision 14.

If an amount representing any part of the value of real property attributable to buildings erected or other improvements made by a lessee in respect of such property was included in gross income of the lessor for any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1943, the basis of each portion of such property shall be properly adjusted for the amount so included in gross income.

(9) If the property was acquired by the taxpayer as a transfer of property in exchange for the release of the taxpayer's marital rights, the basis of the property shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the person who transferred the property to the taxpayer.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.21, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

(i) 20 percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income in the case of contributions described in clauses (c) and (e); and

Amounts allowable under section 291.07, subdivision 1(2) in computing Minnesota inheritance tax liability shall not be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable income of the estate unless there is filed within the time and in the manner and form prescribed by the commissioner a statement that the amounts have not been allowed as a deduction under section 291.07, and a waiver of the right to have such amounts allowed at any time as deductions under section 291.07. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply with respect to deductions allowed under section 290.077 (relating to income in respect of decedents). In the event that the election made for federal tax purposes under section 642(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 differs from the election made under this paragraph appropriate modification of the estate's federal taxable income shall be made to implement the election made under this paragraph in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

Subd. 3g. [INFLATION-ADJUSTMENT OF CREDITS.] For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1980, the credits provided for individuals in subdivision 3f shall be adjusted for inflation. The commissioner of revenue shall determine the percentage increase for each year in the revised consumer price index for all urban consumers for the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area prepared by the United States department of labor with 1967 as a base year. The commissioner shall determine the percentage increase from August, 1979 to, in 1980, August, 1980 and in each subsequent year, to August of that year, and shall announce the percentage figure by October 1 each year. The dollar amount of each inflation adjusted credit for the prior year in subdivision 3f shall be multiplied by that percentage. The product of the calculation shall be added to the inflation adjusted credit for the prior year to produce the inflation adjusted individual credits for each succeeding year. If the product exceeds a whole dollar amount, it shall be raised to the next highest whole dollar. The commissioner of revenue shall adjust the withholding tax tables annually to take account of the changes in anticipated tax liability which will result from the adjustment provided in this subdivision. The revised tables shall be made available to employers no later than November 30 of 1980 and each year thereafter.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.06, Subdivision 3d, is amended to read:

Subd. 3d. [CREDITS AGAINST TAX.] The taxes due as computed in accordance with section 290.06, subdivisions 2c, 3c, and 3e shall be credited with the following amounts:

(f) A claimant with five or more dependents, with an income of ~~$8,000~~ $10,000 or less.

(e) A claimant with four dependents, with an income of $10,500 or less; and

(f) A claimant with five or more dependents, with an income of $11,000 or less.

(2) In the case of a claimant with an income in excess of that set forth in the appropriate category of clause (1), he may pay a tax equal to 15 percent of that portion of his income that is in excess of the amount set forth in the appropriate category of clause (1), or his tax obligation as it would have been in the absence of section 290.012 and this subdivision, whichever is less.

(3) The total income of the claimant and his spouse, if any, shall be the figure employed for the purposes of this subdivision. No individual dependent upon and receiving his chief support from any other individual may be a claimant under section 290.012 and this subdivision. The commissioner of revenue shall prescribe the additional forms or alterations in existing forms as necessary to comply with the provisions of section 290.012 and this subdivision. All claimants shall submit their returns on these forms.

The commissioner of revenue shall provide alternative tax tables which will include these credits.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.06, Subdivision 3e, is amended to read:

Subd. 3e. [PARENTS' CREDIT.] A credit of $50 may be deducted from the tax due from the taxpayer and his spouse, if any, under this chapter if either the taxpayer or his spouse devotes his time to caring for his children and their home and is not employed outside of the home. A taxpayer would qualify for the credit if

(a) he has a child who is twelve years of age or younger residing in his home at any time during the taxable year; and

(b) if the taxpayer is married, either the taxpayer or his spouse remains unemployed throughout the taxable year for the purpose of caring for the child in the home; and

(c) the combined federal adjusted gross income of the taxpayer and his spouse, if any, is not in excess of $25,000.

A married claimant shall file his income tax return for the year for which he claims the credit either jointly or separately on one form with his spouse. In the case of the married claimant, only one spouse may claim the credit.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.081, is amended to read:

290.081 [INCOME OF NONRESIDENTS, RECIPROCITY.]

(a) The compensation received for the performance of personal or professional services within this state by an individual who resides and has his place of abode and place to which he customarily returns at least once a month in another state, shall be excluded from gross income to the extent such compensation is subject to an income tax imposed by the state of his residence; provided that such state allows a similar exclusion of compensation received by residents of Minnesota for services performed therein, or

(b) Whenever a nonresident taxpayer has become liable for income taxes to the state where he resides upon his net income for the taxable year derived from the performance of personal or professional services within this state and subject to taxation under this chapter, there shall be allowed as a credit against the amount of income tax payable by him under this chapter, such proportion of the tax so paid by him to the state where he resides as his gross income subject to taxation under this chapter bears to his entire gross income upon which the tax so paid to such other state was imposed; provided, that such credit shall be allowed only if the laws of such state grant a substantially similar credit to residents of this state subject to income tax under such laws, or

(c) If any taxpayer who is a resident of this state, or a domestic corporation or corporation commercially domiciled therein, has become liable for taxes on or measured by net income to another state or a province of Canada upon, if the taxpayer is an individual or a resident estate or resident trust, any income, or if it is a corporation, upon income derived from the performance of personal or professional services within such other state or province of Canada and subject to taxation under this chapter he or it shall be entitled to a credit against the amount of taxes payable under this chapter, of such proportion thereof, as such gross income subject to taxation in such state or province of Canada bears to his entire gross income subject to taxation under this chapter; provided (1) that such credit shall in no event exceed the amount of tax so paid to such other state or province of Canada on the gross income earned within such other state and subject to taxation under this chapter, and (2) that such credit shall not be allowed if such other state or province of Canada allows residents of this state a credit against the taxes imposed by such state or province of Canada for taxes payable under this chapter substantially similar to the credit provided for by paragraph (b) of this section, and (3) the allowance of such credit shall not operate to reduce the taxes payable under this chapter to an amount less than would have been payable if the gross income earned in such other state or province of Canada had been excluded in computing net income under this chapter.

(d) The commissioner shall by regulation determine with respect to gross income earned in any other state the applicable clause of this section. When it is deemed to be in the best interests of the people of this state, the commissioner may determine that the provisions of clause (a) shall not apply.

(e) "Tax So Paid" as used in this section means taxes on or measured by net income payable to another state or province of Canada on income earned within the taxable year for which the credit is claimed, provided that such tax is actually paid in that taxable year, or subsequent taxable years.

(f) For the purposes of clause (a), whenever the Wisconsin tax on Minnesota residents which would have been paid Wisconsin without clause (a) exceeds the Minnesota tax on Wisconsin residents which would have been paid Minnesota without clause (a), or vice versa, then the state with the net revenue loss resulting from clause (a) shall receive from the other state the amount of such loss. This provision shall be effective for all years beginning after December 31, 1972. The data used for computing the loss to either state shall be determined on or before September 30 of the year following the close of the previous calendar year.

If an agreement cannot be reached as to the amount of the loss, the commissioner of revenue and the taxing official of the state of Wisconsin shall each appoint a member of a board of arbitration and these members shall appoint the third member of the board. The board shall select one of its members as chairman. Such board may administer oaths, take testimony, subpoena witnesses, and require their attendance, require the production of books, papers and documents, and hold hearings at such places as are deemed necessary. The board shall then make a determination as to the amount to be paid the other state which determination shall be final and conclusive.

Notwithstanding the provisions of section 290.61, the commissioner may furnish copies of returns, reports, or other information to the taxing official of the state of Wisconsin, a member of the board of arbitration, or a consultant under joint contract with the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin for the purpose of making a determination as to the amount to be paid the other state under the provisions of this section. Prior to the release of any information under the provisions of this section, the person to whom the information is to be released shall sign an agreement which provides that he will protect the confidentiality of the returns and information revealed thereby to the extent that it is protected under the laws of the state of Minnesota.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.09, Subdivision 15, is amended to read:

Subd. 15. [STANDARD DEDUCTION.] In lieu of all deductions provided for in this chapter other than those enumerated in section 290.18, subdivision 2, and in lieu of the credits enumerated in section 290.21, subdivision 3, an individual may claim or be allowed a standard deduction as follows:

(a) If his adjusted gross income is $10,000 or more, the standard deduction shall be $1,000.

(b) If his adjusted gross income is less than $10,000 Subject to modification pursuant to clause (b), the standard deduction shall be an amount equal to ten percent thereof of the adjusted gross income of the taxpayer, up to a maximum deduction of $2,000; in the case in which a standard deduction tax table is provided by the commissioner of revenue pursuant to the provisions of section 290.06, subdivision 2, the standard deduction shall be available to individuals with adjusted gross income of less than $20,000 only through the use of such table.

In the case of a husband and wife living together, the standard deduction shall not be allowed to either if the net income of one of the spouses is determined without regard to the standard deduction. The combined maximum standard deduction available to a husband and wife shall not exceed $2,000. The maximum amount available to them may be taken by either of them or divided between them, provided that neither spouse may take a standard deduction which exceeds ten percent of his own adjusted gross income. For the purposes of this paragraph the determination of whether an individual is living with his spouse shall be made as of the last day of the taxable year unless the spouse dies during the taxable year in which case such determination shall be made as of the date of such spouse's death.

(b) For each taxable year beginning after December 31, 1980, the maximum amount of the standard deduction shall be adjusted for inflation. That amount shall be multiplied each year by the percentage increase in the revised consumer price index for all urban consumers for the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area used for purposes of section 290.06, subdivision 3g. The product of the calculation shall be added to the dollar amount of the maximum standard deduction established in clause (a) to produce the inflation-adjusted maximum standard deduction for each succeeding year.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.14, is amended to read:

290.14 [GAIN OR LOSS ON DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY, BASIS.] The basis for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property acquired on or after January 1, 1933, shall be the cost to the taxpayer of such property, with the following exceptions:

(1) If the property should have been included in the last inventory, it shall be the last inventory value thereof;

(2) If the property was acquired by gift, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the last preceding owner not acquiring it by gift; if the facts required for this determination cannot be ascertained, it shall be the fair market value as of the date, or approximate date, of acquisition by such last preceding owner, as nearly as the requisite facts can be ascertained by the commissioner;

(3) If the property was acquired by gift through an inter vivos transfer in trust, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the grantor;

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this clause (4), the basis of property in the hands of a person acquiring the property from a decedent or to whom the property passed from a decedent shall, if not sold, exchanged or otherwise disposed of before the decedent's death by such person, be the fair market value of the property at the date of decedent's death.

For the purposes of the preceding paragraph, the following property shall be considered to have been acquired from or to have passed from the decedent:

(a) Property acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance, or by the decedent's estate from the decedent;

(b) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent, with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to revoke the trust;

(c) Property transferred by decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to make any change in the enjoyment thereof through the exercise of a power to alter, amend, or terminate the trust;

(d) Property passing without full and adequate consideration under a general power of appointment exercised by the decedent by will;

(e) In the case of a decedent's dying after December 31, 1956, property acquired from the decedent by reason of death, form of ownership, or other conditions (including property acquired through the exercise or non-exercise of a power of appointment), if by reason thereof the property is required to be included in determining the value of the decedent's gross estate for Minnesota inheritance tax purposes. In such case, if the property is acquired before the death of the decedent, the basis shall be the amount determined under the first paragraph of this clause reduced by the amount allowed to the taxpayer as deductions in computing taxable net income under this chapter or prior Minnesota income tax laws for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion on such property before the death of the decedent. Such basis shall be applicable to the property commencing on the death of the decedent. This paragraph shall not apply to annuities described in section 290.08; and property described in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this clause (4).

Clause (4) shall not apply to property which constitutes a right to receive an item of income in respect of a decedent under section 290.077. Nor shall it apply to restricted stock options described in section 290.078 which the employee has not exercised at death.

(5) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, upon an exchange described in section 290.13, subdivision 1, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized upon such exchange under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by section 290.13, subdivision 1, to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of other property, the basis provided in this clause shall be allocated between the properties, other than money, received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. This clause shall not apply to property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration, in whole or in part, for the transfer of the property to it;

(6) If substantially identical property was acquired in the place of stocks or securities which were sold or disposed of and in respect of which loss was not allowed as a deduction under section 290.09, subdivision 5, the basis in the case of property so acquired shall be the same as in the case of the stock or securities so sold or disposed of, increased by the excess of the repurchase price of such property over the sale price of such stock or securities, or decreased by the excess of the sale price of such stock or securities over the repurchase price of such property;

(7) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, as the result of a compulsory or involuntary conversion described in section 290.13, subdivision 5, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property so converted, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer which was not expended in accordance with the provisions of law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made, determining the taxable status of the gain or loss upon such conversion, and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer recognized upon such conversion under the law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made.

(8) Neither the basis nor the adjusted basis of any portion of real property shall, in the case of a lessor of such property, be increased or diminished on account of income derived by the lessor in respect of such property and excludable from gross income under section 290.08, subdivision 14.

If an amount representing any part of the value of real property attributable to buildings erected or other improvements made by a lessee in respect of such property was included in gross income of the lessor for any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1943, the basis of each portion of such property shall be properly adjusted for the amount so included in gross income.

(9) If the property was acquired by the taxpayer as a transfer of property in exchange for the release of the taxpayer's marital rights, the basis of the property shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the person who transferred the property to the taxpayer.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.21, Subdivision 3, is amended to read:

Subd. 3. An amount for contribution or gifts made within the taxable year:

(a) to or for the use of the state of Minnesota, or any of its political subdivisions for exclusively public purposes,

(b) to or for the use of any community chest, corporation, organization, trust, fund, association, or foundation located in and carrying on substantially all of its activities within this state, organized and operating exclusively for religious, charitable, public cemetery, scientific, literary, artistic, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual,

(c) to a fraternal society, order, or association, operating under the lodge system located in and carrying on substantially all of their activities within this state if such contributions or gifts are to be used exclusively for the purposes specified in subdivision 3(b), or for or to posts or organizations of war veterans or auxiliary units or societies of such posts or organizations, if they are within the state and no part of their net income inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, or to an employee stock ownership trust as defined in section 290.01, subdivision 25. Where the beneficiaries of a stock ownership trust include the transferor, his spouse, children, grandchildren, parents, siblings or their children, the amount of the deduction shall be reduced by the product of multiplying said amount by their percentage interest in the trust,

(d) to or for the use of the United States of America for exclusively public purposes, and to or for the use of any community chest, corporation, trust, fund, association, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for any of the purposes specified in subdivision 3(b) and (c) no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, but not carrying on substantially all of their activities within this state, in an amount equal to the ratio of Minnesota taxable net income to total net income, provided, however, that for an individual taxpayer, the credit shall be allowed in an amount equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's gross income from sources within the state assignable to Minnesota to the taxpayer's gross income from all sources,

(e) to a political party, as defined in section 200.02, subdivision 7, or a political candidate, as defined in section 210A.01, or a political cause when sponsored by any party or association or committee, as defined in section 210A.01, in a maximum amount not to exceed the following:

(1) contributions made by individual natural persons, $100,

(2) contributions made by a national committeeman, national committeewoman, state chairman, or state chairwoman of a political party, as defined in section 200.02, subdivision 7, $1,000,

(3) contributions made by a congressional district committeeman or committeewoman of a political party, as defined in section 200.02, subdivision 7, $350,

(4) contributions made by a county chairman or a county chairwoman of a political party, as defined in section 200.02, subdivision 7, $150; ,

(f) in the case of an individual, the total credit against taxable net income allowable hereunder shall not exceed 30 percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income as follows:

(i) the aggregate of contributions made to organizations specified in (a), (b) and (d) shall not exceed ten percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income,

(ii) the total credits under this subparagraph for any taxable year shall not exceed 20 percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income. For purposes of this subparagraph, the credits under this section shall be computed without regard to any deduction allowed under subparagraph (i) but shall take into account any contributions described in subparagraph (i) which are in excess of the amount allowable as a credit under subparagraph (i); the sum of:

(i) 20 percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income in the case of contributions described in clauses (c) and (e); and

(g) in the case of an individual, if the amount of the contributions or gifts described in clauses (a), (b) and (d), when added to the amount of contributions described in clauses (c) and (e), payment of which is made in a taxable year, hereinafter referred to in this subdivision as the "contribution year," exceeds 50 percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income for that year, the excess shall be treated as a gift or contribution pursuant to this subdivision, paid in each of the five succeeding taxable years in order of time, but with respect to any succeeding taxable year, only to the extent of the lesser of the following amounts:

(i) the amount by which 50 percent of the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income for such succeeding taxable year exceeds the sum of the contribution and gifts described in this subdivision, payment of which is actually made by the taxpayer within such succeeding taxable year, and the contributions and gifts described in clauses (a), (b) and (d), payment of which was made in taxable years before the contribution year and which are treated pursuant to this clause as having been paid in such succeeding taxable year; or

(ii) in the first succeeding taxable year, the amount of such excess, and in the second, third, fourth and fifth succeeding taxable years, the portion of such excess not treated under this clause as a contribution or gift described in clauses (a), (b) and (d) paid in a taxable year between the contribution year and such succeeding taxable year; or

(iii) if, in a contribution year, the taxpayer's Minnesota gross income exceeds $100,000, clause (g) shall not apply and no contributions or gifts covered by clause (g) shall be carried forward to a subsequent year,

~~(g)~~ (h) in the case of a corporation, the total credit against net income hereunder shall not exceed 15 percent of the taxpayer's taxable net income less the credits allowable under this section other than those for contributions or gifts,

~~(h)~~ (i) in the case of a corporation reporting its taxable income on the accrual basis, if: (A) the board of directors authorizes a charitable contribution during any taxable year, and (B) payment of such contribution is made after the close of such taxable year and on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of such taxable year; then the taxpayer may elect to treat such contribution as paid during such taxable year. The election may be made only at the time of the filing of the return for such taxable year, and shall be signified in such manner as the commissioner shall by regulations prescribe,

~~(i)~~ (j) in the case of a contribution or property placed in trust as described in section 170(f)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1976, a credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to the extent that a deduction is allowable for federal income tax purposes.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.23, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 16. [INCOME FROM OUT-OF-STATE PROPERTY.] There shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable net income of a trust or an estate the amount of income or gains from tangible personal or real property having a situs outside this state allocated to this state according to the provisions of section 290.17, subdivision 1.

Sec. 13. The withholding of tax on wages pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 290.92 shall be suspended for a period of one month. No employer shall withhold any tax from wages paid with respect to any payroll period ending after September 30, 1979 and prior to November 1, 1979.

Sec. 15. [EFFECTIVE DATE.] Sections 1, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 14 are effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1978. Section 2 is effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1977.

ARTICLE II: PROPERTY TAX

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 124.212, Subdivision 10, is amended to read:

Subd. 10. (a) The equalization aid review committee, consisting of the commissioner of education, the commissioner of administration, and the commissioner of revenue, is hereby continued and permanently established. The duty of this committee shall be to review the assessed valuation of the districts of the state. When such reviews disclose reasonable evidence that the assessed valuation of any district furnished by any county auditor is not based upon the market value of taxable property in such district, then said committee shall call upon the department of revenue to ascertain the market value of such property, and adjust such values as required by law to determine the adjusted assessed valuation. The department of revenue shall take such steps as are necessary in the performance of that duty and may incur such expense as is necessary therefor. The commissioner of revenue is authorized to reimburse any county or governmental official for services performed at his request in ascertaining such adjusted valuation. On or before March 15, annually, the department of revenue shall submit its report on the assessed values established by the previous year's assessment to said committee for approval or rejection and, if approved, such report shall be filed not later than the following July 1 with the commissioner of education and each county auditor for those school districts for which he has the responsibility for determination of mill rates. A copy of the adjusted assessed value so filed shall be forthwith mailed to the clerk of each district involved and to the county assessor or supervisor of assessments of the county or counties in which such district is located.

(b) For purposes of determining the adjusted assessed value of agricultural lands for the calculation of 1977 1978 adjusted assessed values and thereafter, the market value of agricultural lands shall be the arithmetic average of (1) the price for which the property would sell in an arms length transaction, and (2) the income which could be derived from its free market gross rental rate capitalized at a rate of nine ten percent. Value determined pursuant to this clause shall be based on comparison of income and assessments from only the most recent applicable year, and shall not be subject to a three-year series of comparisons.

Sec. 2. The 1978 adjusted assessed values determined under the provisions of section 124.212 shall be computed using the assessment ratios for taxes payable in 1980 provided by sections 6 to 10. In the case of adjusted assessed values which are limited under the provisions of section 124.212, subdivision 11, clause (a), the recomputation provided in this section shall be made on the limited value.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 256.82, is amended to read:

256.82 [PAYMENTS BY STATE.] Based upon estimates submitted by the county agency to the state agency, which shall state the estimated required expenditures for the succeeding month, upon the direction of the state agency payment shall be made monthly in advance by the state to the counties of all federal funds available for that purpose for such succeeding month, together with an amount of state funds equal to ~~60~~ 80 percent of the difference between the total estimated cost and the federal funds so available for payments made after December 31, 1979 and before January 1, 1981, and 90 percent of the difference for payments made after December 31, 1980. Adjustment of any overestimate or underestimate made by any county shall be made upon the direction of the state agency in any succeeding month.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 256D.03, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. After December 31, 1979, and before January 1, 1981, state aid shall be paid to local agencies for 50 80 percent and, after December 31, 1980, for 90 percent of all general assistance grants up to the standards of section 256D.01, subdivision 1, according to procedures established by the commissioner. Any local agency may, from its own resources, make payments of general assistance at a standard higher than that established by the commissioner, without reference to the standards of section 256D.01, subdivision 1.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 256D.36, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

256D.36 [1973 CATEGORICAL AID RECIPIENTS; PROVISIONS FOR SUPPLEMENTAL AID.] Subdivision 1. Commencing January 1, 1974, the commissioner shall certify to each local agency the names of all county residents who were eligible for and did receive aid during December, 1973 pursuant to a categorical aid program of old age assistance, aid to the blind, or aid to the disabled. From and after January 1, ~~1974~~ 1980, until January 1, 1981, the state shall pay 80 percent and the county shall each pay ~~one half~~ 20 percent of the supplemental aid calculated for each county resident certified under this section who is an applicant for or recipient of supplemental security income. After December 31, 1980, the state shall pay 90 percent and the county shall pay ten percent of the aid. The amount of supplemental aid for each individual eligible under this section shall be calculated pursuant to the formula prescribed in Title II, Section 212 (a) (3) of Public Law 93-66, as amended.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 273.11, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. ~~(a)~~ For assessments of property for the purpose of determining taxes to be levied in 1979, payable in 1980, the assessor, after determining the value of any property, shall compare the value with that determined in the preceding assessment. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 273.17, the amount of the increase entered in the current assessment shall not exceed ten percent of the value in the preceding assessment or one-fourth one-half of the total amount of the increase in valuation whichever is greater; the excess, together with any increase in value which has occurred since the previous assessment, shall be entered in a subsequent year or years; provided, however, that if the amount of the increase in market value is

~~(i)~~ more than ten percent but no more than 20 percent, the excess shall be entered in the following year;

~~(ii)~~ more than 20 percent but no more than 40 percent, ten percent shall be entered in each subsequent year until the amount remaining to be entered is less than 10 percent in which case the amount remaining will be entered in the next subsequent year; or

~~(iii)~~ more than 40 percent, the excess shall be entered equally in the three subsequent years added to the market value of the property which shall be used for the purpose of determining taxes to be levied in 1980, payable in 1981. In all subsequent assessments, all real property shall be assessed at its full market value.

(A) by will, or

but the failure to exercise such a power or the complete release of such a power shall not be deemed an exercise thereof. If a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, has been partially released so that it is no longer a general power of appointment, the exercise of such power shall not be deemed to be the exercise of a general power of appointment if

(a) such partial release occurred before November 1, 1950, or

(b) the donee of such power was under a legal disability to release such power on October 21, 1942, and such partial release occurred not later than six months after the termination of such legal disability.

(2) To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent has at the time of his death a general power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, or with respect to which the decedent has at any time exercised or released such a power of appointment by a disposition which is of such nature that if it were a transfer of property owned by the decedent, such transfer would be taxable under the provisions of this chapter. A disclaimer or renunciation of such a power of appointment shall not be deemed a release of such power. For purposes of this paragraph (2), the power of appointment shall be considered to exist on the date of the decedent's death even though the exercise of the power is subject to a precedent giving of notice or even though the exercise of the power takes effect only on the expiration of a stated period after its exercise, whether or not on or before the date of the decedent's death notice has been given or the power has been exercised.

(3) To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent:

(A) by will, or

exercises a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, by creating another power of appointment which can be validly exercised so as to postpone the vesting of any estate or interest in such property, or suspend the absolute ownership or power of alienation of such property, for a period ascertainable without regard to the date of the creation of the first power.

(4) The term "general power of appointment" means a power which is exercisable in favor of the decedent, his estate, his creditors or the creditors of his estate, except that:

(A) A power to consume, invade, or appropriate property for the benefit of the decedent which is limited by an ascertainable standard relating to the health, education, support, or maintenance of the decedent shall not be deemed a general power of appointment;

(B) A power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(C) In the case of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person:

(a) If the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with the creator of the power, such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(b) If the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with a person having a substantial interest in the property, subject to the power, which is adverse to exercise of the power in favor of the decedent, such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment. For the purposes of this clause a person who, after the death of the decedent, may be possessed of a power of appointment (with respect to the property subject to the decedent's power) which he may exercise in his own favor shall be deemed as having an interest in the property and such interest shall be deemed adverse to such exercise of the decedent's power.

(c) If, after the application of clauses (a) and (b), the power is a general power of appointment and is exercisable in favor of such other person, in such power shall be deemed a general power of appointment only in respect of a fractional part of the property subject to such power, such part to be determined by dividing the value of such property by the number of such persons, including the decedent, in favor of whom such power is exercisable. For purposes of clauses (b) and (c), a power shall be deemed to be exercisable in favor of a person if it is exercisable in favor of such person, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate.

(5) The lapse of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, during the life of the individual possessing the power shall be considered a release of such power. The preceding sentence shall apply with respect to the lapse of powers during any calendar year only to the extent that the property, which could have been appointed by exercise of such lapsed powers, exceeded in value, at the time of such lapse, the greater of the following amounts:

(a) $5,000 or

(b) Five percent of the aggregate value, at the time of such lapse, of the assets out of which, or the proceeds of which, the exercise of the lapsed powers could have been satisfied.

(c) For purposes of this subdivision, a power of appointment created by a will executed on or before October 12, 1942, shall be considered a power created on or before such date if the person exercising such will dies before July 1, 1949, without having republished such will, by codicil or otherwise, after October 21, 1942.

Subd. 4. Whenever any property, real or personal, is held in the joint names of two or more persons, or is deposited in banks or in other institutions or depositories in the joint names of two or more persons payable to either or the survivor, upon the death of one of such persons the right of the survivor or survivors, to the immediate ownership or possession and enjoyment of such property, shall be deemed a transfer and subject to the inheritance tax imposed by this chapter, except such part thereof as may be shown to have originally belonged to the survivor or survivors and never to have been received or acquired by them from the decedent for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth; in which case there shall be excepted only such part as is proportionate to the consideration furnished by the survivor or survivors. Provided, where any property has been acquired prior to April 20, 1935, by the decedent and spouse, as joint tenants, not in excess of one-half of the value thereof shall be taxable. Provided, further, where property has been acquired at any time by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance, by the decedent and any other person or persons, as joint tenants, the taxable portion shall be the value of a fractional part of said property to be determined by dividing the value of the property by the number of joint tenants.

Where personal property is held in joint names, such property shall be deemed to be transferred to the survivors as provided in this subdivision unless it is established to the satisfaction of the commissioner that the decedent intended a different disposition. Upon the showing of evidence of that intent to the commissioner, the right of survivorship shall not be deemed to be a transfer to the named survivors subject to the inheritance tax, provided the survivors make the disposition according to the evidenced intention of the decedent and present to the commissioner statements signed by the transferees acknowledging receipt of the property from the named survivor, the disposition by the survivors to the transferees shall be deemed a transfer from the decedent to the transferees and shall be subject to the inheritance tax imposed by this chapter. This paragraph shall not apply to cases where the aggregate value of joint tenancy assets exceeds $30,000.

Subd. 5. (1) The proceeds of all life or accident insurance policies whether now in force or hereafter issued, payable on account of the decedent's death shall be subject to the tax herein imposed, as follows:

(a) To the extent of the amount receivable by the executor of the decedent as insurance under policies on the life of the decedent.

(b) To the extent of the amount receivable by all other beneficiaries as insurance under policies on the life of the decedent with respect to which the decedent possessed at his death any of the incidents of ownership, exercisable either alone or in conjunction with any other person. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "incident of ownership" includes a reversionary interest (whether arising by the express terms of the policy or other instrument or by operation of law) only if the value of such reversionary interest exceeded five percent of the value of the policy immediately before the death of the decedent. As used in this paragraph, the term "reversionary interest" includes a possibility that the policy, or the proceeds of the policy, may return to the decedent or his estate, or may be subject to a power of disposition by him. The value of a reversionary interest at any time shall be determined (without regard to the fact of the decedent's death) by usual methods of valuation, including the use of tables of mortality and actuarial principles, pursuant to regulations prescribed by the commissioner of internal revenue or his delegates. In determining the value of a possibility that the policy or proceeds thereof may be subject to a power of disposition by the decedent, such possibility shall be valued as if it were a possibility that such policy or proceeds may return to the decedent or his estate.

(2) Such proceeds shall be deemed a transfer within the meaning of that term as used in this chapter and a part of decedent's estate, and shall be taxable to the person or persons entitled thereto.

(3) Every corporation, partnership, association, individual, or order or society authorized to transact life, accident, fraternal, mutual benefit, or death benefit insurance business which shall pay to any person, association, or corporation any insurance or death benefit in excess of $1,000 or shall transfer any unpaid balance of, or any interest in, any annuity contract or deposit, upon the death of a resident of this state, shall give notice of such payment or transfer to the commissioner within ten days from the date thereof. Such notice shall be given on the forms prescribed by the commissioner and such notice shall set forth such information as the commissioner shall prescribe the Minnesota taxable estate of every decedent as prescribed by chapter 291.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.051, is amended to read:

291.051 [MARITAL DEDUCTION] Subdivision 1. For the purposes of this section, the terms defined in this subdivision shall have the meaning given them herein.

"Marital exemption" means 50 percent, but not more than $250,000, of the net taxable value passing to the surviving spouse of a decedent domiciled in Minnesota at the time of his death.

"Net taxable value" means the gross value passing to the surviving spouse, reduced by the value of real property outside Minnesota and tangible personal property permanently located outside Minnesota included in the gross value passing to the surviving spouse, and reduced by the deductions attributable to such gross value pursuant to section 291.07, except subdivision 1, clause (5), but without regard to the exemptions allowed to the surviving spouse by sections 291.05, clauses (1), (2), and (3), and 291.10.

"Marital exemption tax" means a tax imposed at the rates provided by this chapter on the value of property passing to the surviving spouse less the marital exemption, but without regard to the exemptions allowed to the surviving spouse by sections 291.05, clauses (1), (2) and (3) and 291.10.

Subd. 2. If the marital exemption tax on the property passing to the surviving spouse is less than a tax computed on that property under the other provisions of this chapter, the marital exemption tax shall be imposed in lieu of the tax computed under the other provisions. For the purpose of section 3, clause (3), the value of the Minnesota taxable estate shall, except as limited by subsection (b) of Section 2056 of the Internal Revenue Code and by subdivision 2, be determined by deducting from the value of the federal gross estate an amount equal to the value of any interest in property which passes or has passed from the decedent to his surviving spouse, but only to the extent that the interest has a taxable situs in this state and is included in determining the value of the federal gross estate. An interest in property shall be considered as passing from the decedent to his surviving spouse if it is considered as passing from the decedent to the surviving spouse under Section 2056(d) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Subd. 2. [LIMITATION.] The amount of the deduction allowed under this section for a resident decedent shall not exceed the greater of:

(a) $250,000, or

(b) 50 percent of the value of the federal adjusted gross estate as defined in Section 2056(c)(2)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code, reduced by an amount equal to the adjustment made, if any, for federal estate tax purposes with respect to any gift or gifts made by the decedent to his spouse after December 31, 1976 under Section 2056(c)(1)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code, and further reduced by the value of any property passing from the decedent to his surviving spouse which is exempt from estate tax under section 291.065 and is included in determining the value of the federal gross estate. In the case of a nonresident decedent, the amount of the deduction allowed under this section shall be determined without reference to subpart (a) of this subdivision.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.06, is amended to read:

291.06 [CREDIT FOR PREVIOUSLY PAID TAXES.] Where property is transferred to any person described in section 291.03, clauses (1) and (2), which can be identified as having been transferred to the decedent at death from a person who died within five years prior to the death of the decedent, and such transfer to the decedent was within the class of transfer described in said section 291.03, clauses (1) and (2); such property shall be exempt to the extent of the value thereof at the date of death of the prior decedent but not to exceed the value at the date of death of the second decedent. Provided, (1) no such exemption shall be allowed unless an inheritance tax was determined and paid to this state on the transfer thereof from the said prior decedent; (2) the exemption shall be limited to the value of property which is in excess of the amount of the exemption provided in section 291.05 allowed on the transfer to the decedent; (3) unless such previously transferred property is specifically devised or bequeathed, the exempt property for purposes of taxation shall be considered as belonging to the residue of the estate; (4) property exempt under this section shall not be included in computing the rate applicable to other transfers to the beneficiary receiving such exempt property or can be identified as having been acquired in exchange for property so received, a credit for any transfer taxes paid pursuant to the provisions of this act or any inheritance tax paid pursuant to the provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 291 in effect prior to the effective date of this act upon that property during the preceding five years shall be allowed upon the transfer tax at his death. This credit shall not exceed the allocable portion of the tax due with respect to that property for estate tax purposes.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.065, is amended to read:

291.065 [EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT PLANS, EXEMPTION.] To the extent included in the federal gross estate, the value of an annuity or other payment receivable by a surviving spouse or minor or dependent child of the decedent or a trust for their benefit after December 21, 1956, shall be exempt from inheritance estate tax if received under (1) an employees' trust (or under a contract purchased by an employees' trust) forming part of a pension, stock bonus, or profit sharing plan, which at the time of the decedent's separation from employment (whether by death or otherwise), or at the time of termination of the plan if earlier, met the requirement of section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as adapted to the provisions of this chapter under regulations issued by the commissioner of revenue; (2) a retirement annuity contract purchased by an employer (and not by an employees' trust) pursuant to a plan, which at the time of the decedent's separation from employment (by death or otherwise), or at the time of termination of the plan if earlier, met the requirements of paragraph (3) of section 401(a) of such code, as adapted to the provisions of this chapter under regulations issued by the commissioner of revenue; or (3) a retirement annuity contract purchased by an employer which is an organization referred to in section 503(b) (1) (2) or (3) of such code and which is exempt from tax under section 501(a) of such code, as adapted to the provisions of this chapter under regulations issued by the commissioner of revenue any plan, which at the time of the decedent's separation from employment, whether by death or otherwise, or at the time of termination of the plan if earlier, qualified under section 401, 403, 404, 405, 408 or 409 of the Internal Revenue Code; (2) a benefit plan for employees of the United States, its agencies or instrumentalities, the Federal Reserve Bank, the state of Minnesota or any of its political or governmental subdivisions or any other state or its political or governmental subdivisions; or (3) for members of a Minnesota volunteer firefighters' relief association. If such amounts payable after the death of the decedent under a plan described in clause (1) (2) or (3) are attributable to any extent to payments or contributions made by the decedent, no exemption shall be allowed for that part of the value of such amounts in the proportion that the total payments or contributions made by the decedent bears to the total payments or contributions made. For purposes of the preceding sentence, contributions or payments made by the decedent's employer or former employer under a trust or plan described in clause (1) (2) or (3) shall not be considered to be contributed by the decedent.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.07, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

291.07 [DEDUCTIONS.] Subdivision 1. (b) the denominator of the fraction shall be the value of the net estate everywhere reduced by the same class of deductions allowable in subparagraph (a) above;

~~(c)~~ the ratio of the fraction so derived shall be multiplied by the federal estate tax due and payable to the United States Treasury.

~~(d)~~ for purposes of this clause, the net estate is defined as the gross value of the estate on the applicable valuation date reduced by any unpaid mortgages on, or any indebtedness in respect of, property where the decedent's interest therein, undiminished by such mortgage or indebtedness, is included in the value of the gross estate.

~~(8)~~ other taxes which have accrued and are a lien on property in the estate at the time of death

291.33 [PAYMENTS TO COUNTIES.] Subdivision 1. On or before the first of November in each year the commissioner shall determine the net amount of inheritance tax, Minnesota estate tax and interest collected thereon which has been paid to the commissioner during the fiscal year ending June 30 next preceding from estates in each of the several counties of this state wherein probate proceedings have been had or where, if no probate proceedings have been required, wherein are located the probate courts that would have had venue under the provisions of section 524.3-201, had there been assets of decedents subject to probate.

For purposes of this subdivision net amount shall be the total amount paid from each of the several counties under the provisions of this chapter, during the appropriate fiscal year, reduced by the refunds made by the commissioner applicable to each of the several counties under the provisions of this chapter, during the same fiscal year.

Sec. 28. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 352.15, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

352.15 [EXEMPTION FROM PROCESS AND TAXATION.] Subdivision 1. None of the moneys, annuities, or other benefits mentioned herein shall be assignable either in law or in equity or be subject to execution, levy, attachment, garnishment, or other legal process, or to any state income tax or state inheritance estate tax, except that none shall be exempt from taxation under chapter 201, unless transferred to a surviving spouse or minor or dependent child of the decedent or a trust for their benefit. Provided, however, the executive director may pay an annuity, benefit or refund to a banking institution, qualified under chapter 48, that is trustee for a person eligible to receive such annuity, benefit or refund. Upon the request of a retired, disabled or former employee, the executive director may mail the annuity, benefit or refund check to a banking institution, savings association or credit union for deposit to such employee's account or joint account with his spouse. The board of directors may prescribe the conditions under which such payments will be made.

Sec. 29. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 353.15, is amended to read:

353.15 [NONASSIGNABILITY AND EXEMPTION OF ANNUITIES AND BENEFITS FROM JUDICIAL PROCESS AND TAXATION.] No money, annuity, or benefit provided for in this chapter is assignable or subject to a power of attorney, execution, levy, attachment, garnishment, or legal process, including actions for divorce, legal separation, and child support, or to any state income tax or state inheritance estate tax, except that none shall be exempt from taxation under chapter 201, unless transferred to a surviving spouse or minor or dependent child of the decedent or a trust for their benefit. Provided, however, the association may pay an annuity, benefit or refund to a trust company, qualified under chapter 48, that is trustee for a person eligible to receive such annuity, benefit or refund. Upon the request of a retired, disabled or former member, the association may mail the annuity, benefit or refund check to a banking institution, savings association or credit union for deposit to such person's account or joint account with his spouse. The association may prescribe the conditions under which such payment will be made. If in the judgment of the executive director conditions so warrant, payment may be made to a public body in behalf of an annuitant, disabilitant, or survivor upon such terms as the executive director may prescribe.

Sec. 30. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 354.10, is amended to read:

354.10 [FUND NOT SUBJECT TO ASSIGNMENT OR PROCESS; BENEFICIARIES.] The right of a teacher to avail himself of the benefits provided by this chapter, is a personal right only and shall not be assignable. All moneys to the credit of a teacher's account in the fund or any moneys payable to him from the fund shall belong to the state of Minnesota until actually paid to the teacher or his beneficiary pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. Any power of attorney, assignment or attempted assignment of a teacher's interest in the fund, or of the beneficiary's interest therein, by a teacher or his beneficiary, including actions for divorce, legal separation, and child support, shall be null and void and the same shall be exempt from garnishment or levy under attachment or execution and from all taxation by the state of Minnesota, except that none shall be exempt from taxation under chapter 291; unless transferred to a surviving spouse or minor or dependent child of the decedent or a trust for their benefit. Provided however, the board may pay an annuity or benefit to a banking institution, qualified under chapter 48, that is a trustee for a person eligible to receive such annuity or benefit. Upon completion of the proper forms as provided by the board, the annuity or benefit check may be mailed to a banking institution, savings association or credit union for deposit to the recipient's individual account or joint account with his or her spouse. The board shall prescribe the conditions which shall govern these procedures. If in the judgment of the executive director conditions so warrant, payment may be made to a public body in behalf of an annuitant, disabilitant, or survivor upon such terms as the executive director may prescribe. Any beneficiary designated by a teacher under the terms of this chapter, may be changed or revoked by the teacher at his pleasure, in such manner as the board may prescribe. In case a designated beneficiary dies before the teacher designating him dies, and a new beneficiary is not designated, the teacher's estate shall be the beneficiary.

Sec. 31. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 354A.11, is amended to read:

354A.11 [CERTAIN MONEYS AND CREDITS OF TEACHERS EXEMPT.] All moneys deposited by a teacher or member or deposited by any other person or corporation, municipal or private, to the credit of such teacher or member in a corporation organized as a "Teachers Retirement Fund Association" under sections 354A.03 to 354A.10, and all moneys, rights, and interests or annuities due or to become due to such teacher, member, or annuitant, or their beneficiaries, from any such association shall not be assignable, shall be exempt from garnishment, attachment, and execution or sale on any final process issued from any court and shall not be subject to the inheritance estate tax provisions of this state if transferred to a surviving spouse or minor or dependent child of the decedent or a trust for their benefit.

Sec. 32. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 524.3-706, is amended to read:

524.3-706 [DUTY OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE; INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT.] Within three months after his appointment, a personal representative, who is not a special administrator or a successor to another representative who has previously discharged this duty, shall prepare and file with the court or registrar and mail to the surviving spouse, if there be one, and to all residuary distributees an inventory of property owned by the decedent at the time of his death, listing it with reasonable detail, and indicating as to each listed item, its fair market value as of the date of the decedent's death, and the type and amount of any encumbrance that may exist with reference to any item.

The personal representative shall also mail a copy of the inventory to interested persons or creditors who request it, and shall file an executed copy of the Minnesota inheritance tax return with the court or registrar.

Sec. 33. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 524.3-916, is amended to read:

524.3-916 [APPORTIONMENT OF ESTATE TAXES.] (a) For purposes of this section:

(1) "estate" means the gross estate of a decedent as determined for the purpose of federal estate tax and the estate tax payable to this state;

(2) "person" means any individual, partnership, association, joint stock company, corporation, government, political subdivision, governmental agency, or local governmental agency;

(3) "person interested in the estate" means any person entitled to receive, or who has received, from a decedent or by reason of the death of a decedent any property or interest therein included in the decedent's estate. It includes a personal representative, conservator, and trustee;

(4) "state" means any state, territory, or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico;

(5) "tax" means the federal estate tax and the state estate tax determined by the commissioner of revenue pursuant to ~~section 291.34~~ chapter 291 and interest and penalties imposed in addition to the tax;

(6) "fiduciary" means personal representative or trustee.

(b) Unless the will or other written instrument otherwise provides, the tax shall be apportioned among all persons interested in the estate. The apportionment is to be made in the proportion that the value of the interest of each person interested in the estate bears to the total value of the interests of all persons interested in the estate. The values used in determining the tax are to be used for that purpose. If the decedent's will or other written instrument directs a method of apportionment of tax different from the method described in this code, the method described in the will or other written instrument controls.

(c)(1) The court in which venue lies for the administration of the estate of a decedent, on petition for the purpose may determine the apportionment of the tax.

(2) If the court finds that it is inequitable to apportion interest and penalties in the manner provided in subsection (b), because of special circumstances, it may direct apportionment thereof in the manner it finds equitable.

(3) If the court finds that the assessment of penalties and interest assessed in relation to the tax is due to delay caused by the negligence of the fiduciary, the court may charge him with the amount of the assessed penalties and interest.

(4) In any action to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with this code the determination of the court in respect thereto shall be prima facie correct.

(d)(1) The personal representative or other person in possession of the property of the decedent required to pay the tax may withhold from any property distributable to any person interested in the estate, upon its distribution to him, the amount of tax attributable to his interest. If the property in possession of the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax and distributable to any person interested in the estate is insufficient to satisfy the proportionate amount of the tax determined to be due from the person, the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax may recover the deficiency from the person interested in the estate. If the property is not in the possession of the personal representative or the other person required to pay the tax, the personal representative or the other person required to pay the tax may recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with Laws 1975, Chapter 347.

(2) If the property held by the personal representative is distributed prior to final apportionment of the tax, the distributee shall provide a bond or other security for the apportionment liability in the form and amount prescribed by the personal representative.

(e)(1) In making an apportionment, allowances shall be made for any exemptions granted, any classification made of persons interested in the estate and for any deductions and credits allowed by the law imposing the tax.

(2) Any exemption or deduction allowed by reason of the relationship of any person to the decedent or by reason of the purposes of the gift inures to the benefit of the person bearing such relationship or receiving the gift; but if an interest is subject to a prior present interest which is not allowable as a deduction, the tax apportionable against the present interest shall be paid from principal.

(3) Any deduction for property previously taxed and any credit for gift taxes or death taxes of a foreign country paid by the decedent or his estate inures to the proportionate benefit of all persons liable to apportionment.

(4) Any credit for inheritance, succession or estate taxes or taxes in the nature thereof applicable to property or interests includable in the estate, inures to the benefit of the persons or interests chargeable with the payment thereof to the extent proportionately that the credit reduces the tax.

(5) To the extent that property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse or any charitable, public or similar gift or devisee is not an allowable deduction for purposes of the tax solely by reason of an inheritance tax or other death estate tax imposed upon and deductible from the property, the property is not included in the computation provided for in subsection (b) hereof, and to that extent no apportionment is made against the property. The sentence immediately preceding does not apply to any case if the result would be to deprive the estate of a deduction otherwise allowable under section 2053(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, of the United States, relating to deduction for state death taxes on transfers for public, charitable, or religious uses.

(f) No interest in income and no estate for years or for life or other temporary interest in any property or fund is subject to apportionment as between the temporary interest and the remainder. The tax on the temporary interest and the tax, if any, on the remainder is chargeable against the corpus of the property or funds subject to the temporary interest and remainder.

(g) Neither the personal representative nor other person required to pay the tax is under any duty to institute any action to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person until the expiration of the three months next following final determination of the tax. A personal representative or other person required to pay the tax who institutes the action within a reasonable time after the three month period is not subject to any liability or surcharge because any portion of the tax apportioned to any person interested in the estate was collectible at a time following the death of the decedent but thereafter became uncollectible. If the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax cannot collect from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person, the amount not recoverable shall be equitably apportioned among the other persons interested in the estate who are subject to apportionment.

(h) A personal representative acting in another state or a person required to pay the tax domiciled in another state may institute an action in the courts of this state and may recover a proportionate amount of the federal estate tax, of an estate tax payable to another state or of a death duty due by a decedent's estate to another state, from a person interested in the estate who is either domiciled in this state or who owns property in this state subject to attachment or execution. For the purposes of the action the determination of apportionment by the court having jurisdiction of the administration of the decedent's estate in the other state is prima facie correct.

Sec. 34. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 524.3-1001, is amended to read:

524.3-1001 [FORMAL PROCEEDINGS TERMINATING ADMINISTRATION; TESTATE OR INTESTATE; ORDER OF DISTRIBUTION, DECREE, AND GENERAL PROTECTION.] (a) (1) A personal representative or any interested person may petition for an order of complete settlement of the estate. The personal representative may petition at any time, and any other interested person may petition after one year from the appointment of the original personal representative except that no petition under this section may be entertained until the time for presenting claims which arose prior to the death of the decedent has expired. The petition may request the court to determine testacy, if not previously determined, to consider the final account or compel or approve an accounting and distribution, to construe any will or determine heirs and adjudicate the final settlement and distribution of the estate. After notice to all interested persons and hearing the court may enter an order or orders, on appropriate conditions, determining the persons entitled to distribution of the estate, and, as circumstances require, approving settlement and directing or approving distribution of the estate and discharging the personal representative from further claim or demand of any interested person.

(2) In such petition for complete settlement of the estate, the petitioner may apply for a decree. Upon the hearing, if in the best interests of interested persons, the court may issue its decree which shall determine the persons entitled to the estate and assign the same to them in lieu of ordering the assignment by the personal representative. The decree shall name the heirs and distributees, state their relationship to the decedent, describe the property, and state the proportions or part thereof to which each is entitled. In the estate of a testate decedent, no heirs shall be named in the decree unless all heirs be ascertained.

(3) In solvent estates, the hearing may be waived by written consent to the proposed account and decree of distribution or order of distribution by all heirs or distributees, and the court may then enter its order allowing the account and issue its decree or order of distribution.

(4) The court shall have the power in its decree or order of distribution to waive the lien of inheritance estate taxes, find that the taxes have been satisfied by payment or, decree the property subject to the lien; provided, however, where a decree or order for distribution is issued, the personal representative shall not be discharged until all property is paid or transferred to the persons entitled thereto, and has otherwise fully discharged his trust. If objections are filed with the court by the commissioner of revenue, no discharge shall be issued until the objections are determined. ~~The court shall send a copy of the decree, upon issuance, to the commissioner of revenue. If no objection is filed, the court shall have the power to settle and distribute the estate and discharge the personal representative without regard to tax obligations.~~

(b) If one or more heirs or devisees were omitted as parties in, or were not given notice of, a previous formal testacy proceeding, the court, on proper petition for an order of complete settlement of the estate under this section, and after notice to the omitted or unnotified persons and other interested parties determined to be interested on the assumption that the previous order concerning testacy is conclusive as to those given notice of the earlier proceeding, may determine testacy as it affects the omitted persons and confirm or alter the previous order of testacy as it affects all interested persons as appropriate in the light of the new proofs. In the absence of objection by an omitted or unnotified person, evidence received in the original testacy proceeding shall constitute prima facie proof of due execution of any will previously admitted to probate, or of the fact that the decedent left no valid will if the prior proceedings determined this fact.

Sec. 35. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 525.091, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

An appellant, other than the state, the veterans' administration, or a representative appealing on behalf of the estate, shall file in the probate court a bond in such amount as that court may direct, conditioned to prosecute the appeal with due diligence to a final determination, pay all costs and disbursements and abide the order of the court therein. The notice of appeal with proof of service and the bond, if required, shall be filed in the probate court within ten days after the service of such notice and the appellant shall pay to such court the sum of $15, of which $10 shall be transmitted to the clerk of the supreme court, as provided by law for appeals in civil actions.

Such appeal shall stay all proceedings on the order appealed from. (2) Funds shall be distributed to the city of Minneapolis in an amount equal to the amount distributed to that city for 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01.

(3) The funds remaining after distribution has been made pursuant to paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be distributed according to the provisions of this paragraph among the cities and towns, other than the city of Minneapolis, which are subject to the levy limitations imposed pursuant to sections 275.50 to 275.56.

(i) For purposes of the 1980 distribution, the "local revenue base" of a city or town shall be the sum of its levy limitation for taxes levied in 1978 plus the amount of the distribution it received for 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, except that the "local revenue base" of a city of the first class located within the metropolitan area defined in section 473.121, subdivision 2 shall be the sum of its levy limitation for taxes levied in 1978, multiplied by .85, plus the amount of the distribution it received for 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01.

(ii) A preliminary state aid factor shall be established for each city and town by subtracting from the local revenue base, an amount equal to ten mills multiplied by the 1979 taxable valuation of the city or town, adjusted for the contributions and distributions required by chapter 473F in the case of a city or town located within the metropolitan area and less the captured value in any tax increment district, divided by its 1978 aggregate sales ratio as determined by the commissioner of revenue.

(iii) A final state aid factor shall be established for each city and town by adjusting the preliminary state aid factor to comply with the following restrictions:

The final state aid factor for a city or town shall be an amount which is equal to or greater than an amount computed pursuant to the following:

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is 10 or less, the final state aid factor of the city or town shall be at least equal to the amount which the city or town received pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01 for 1979, plus the sum of $1 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is greater than 10 but less than or equal to 20, the final state aid factor of the city or town will be at least equal to the amount which the city or town received pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01 for 1979, plus the sum of $3 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is greater than 20, the final state aid factor of the city or town will be at least equal to the amount which the city or town received pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, for 1979, plus the sum of $5 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

The final state aid factor for any city or town shall not exceed the previous year's distribution under Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01 by more than the following percent: if a city received more than $100 per capita in 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, using the population determined pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.53, 12 percent; if more than $75 per capita but less than or equal to $100 per capita, 15 percent; if more than $50 per capita but less than or equal to $75 per capita, 17 percent; or if less than $50 per capita, 20 percent.

(iv) The amount of the distribution for which a city or a town is eligible under this paragraph shall be determined as follows: For each city or town, its final state aid factor increase shall be the difference between its final state aid factor determined pursuant to this paragraph and the amount of distribution which it received for 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1977, Section 477A.01. The final state aid factor increase of each city or town shall be divided by the sum of the final state aid factor increases for all cities and towns receiving distributions under this paragraph; that quotient shall be multiplied by the amount of the increase in funds available for distribution under this paragraph over the sum of the amounts distributed to those cities and towns for 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1977, Section 477A.01. That product, plus the distribution the city or town received pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1977, Section 477A.01 for 1979, shall equal the distribution to be distributed to the city or town for 1980.

(v) The final distribution made to each city or town pursuant to this paragraph shall be in an amount which is at least equal to the distribution received by that city or town for 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, but which does not exceed the amount of the city's or town's 1979 distribution by more than the following percent: if a city received more than $100 per capita in 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, using the population determined pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.53, 12 percent; if more than $75 per capita but less than or equal to $100 per capita, 15 percent; if more than $50 per capita but less than or equal to $75 per capita, 17 percent; or if less than $50 per capita, 20 percent.

(vi) If the amount distributed to a city or town by paragraph (iv) is limited by paragraph (v) the distribution to other cities and towns that receive aid under paragraph (3) shall be proportionately increased as necessary to absorb the difference. In no event shall a city's or town's distribution exceed the city's or town's 1979 distribution by more than the following percent: if a city received more than $100 per capita in 1979 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, using the population determined pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.53, 12 percent; if more than $75 per capita but less than or equal to $100 per capita, 15 percent; if more than $50 per capita but less than or equal to $75 per capita, 17 percent; or if less than $50 per capita, 20 percent.

(b) The balance of the distributions in 1979 1981 pursuant to subdivision 1 shall be divided among the several cities and towns in the county's territory in the proportion that the product of the city or town's 1970 federal census population or the average of the city's or town's 1970 federal census population and its current population as determined under the provisions of section 275.53, whichever is greater; times

(a) in the case of a city or town outside the metropolitan area as defined in section 473.121, subdivision 2, or a city other than a city of the first class or town inside the metropolitan area, the sum of its average city or town mill rate for the three immediately preceding years divided by three; or

(b) In the case of a first class city located within the metropolitan area, the sum of (i) 60 percent of the dollar amount of its levy limitation and its special levies plus (ii) 40 percent of the dollar amount of its actual levy, divided by its taxable value adjusted for the contributions and distribution required by chapter 473F, for each of the three immediately preceding years divided by three, times its city or town 1977 aggregate sales ratio as determined by the commissioner of revenue bears to the sum of the product of that calculation for all cities and towns in the territory, state as provided herein:

(1) Funds shall be distributed to all cities and towns which are not subject to the levy limitations imposed pursuant to sections 275.50 to 275.56, with the distributions to be based on the average equalized mill rate of each city or town. For purposes of this clause, "average equalized mill rate" shall be defined as the sum of the 1980 mill rate of the city or town plus its 1979 mill rate plus its 1978 mill rate, multiplied by its 1979 aggregate sales ratio as determined by the commissioner of revenue, divided by three.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is 10 or less, the city or town will receive a distribution equal to that which it received pursuant to clause (a) for 1980, plus, in the case of a city, the sum of $1 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is greater than 10 but less than or equal to 20, the city or town will receive a distribution equal to that which it received pursuant to clause (a) for 1980, plus the sum of $4 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is greater than 20, the city or town will receive a distribution equal to that which it received pursuant to clause (a), for 1980, plus the sum of $6 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

(2) The funds remaining after distribution has been made pursuant to paragraph (1) shall be distributed according to the provisions of this paragraph among the cities and towns which are subject to the levy limitations imposed pursuant to sections 275.50 to 275.56.

(i) For purposes of the 1981 distribution, the "local revenue base" of a city or town shall be its local revenue base computed according to clause (a) paragraph (3) for purposes of the 1980 distribution, provided that, in the case of a city which received its 1980 aid distribution pursuant to clause (a), paragraph (2), a local revenue base shall be computed for it according to the provisions of clause (a), paragraph (3); these revenue bases shall be increased as follows:

The 1980 local revenue base will be multiplied by the percentage of increase from June, 1979, to June, 1980 in the revised consumer price index for all urban consumers for the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area prepared by the United States department of labor with 1967 as a base year. The product of that computation will be added to the 1980 local revenue base. The inflation-adjusted base shall also be increased by the percentage increase in the population of the city or town during the preceding year as determined according to section 275.53. After adjustment for population increase the inflation-adjusted local revenue base of each city and town shall also be increased by (1) the amount of its special levies levied in 1979 to pay the costs of principal and interest on bonded indebtedness incurred in 1979 for the purpose of providing capital replacement for streets, curbs, gutters, storm sewers and bridges plus (2) any adjustments made to the levy limit base of the city or town pursuant to section 1 for purposes of refuse collection and street maintenance; and (3) any adjustments made to the levy limit base of the city or town pursuant to section 275.52, subdivision 4, clause (d).

(ii) A preliminary state aid factor shall be established for each city and town by subtracting from the local revenue base, ten mills multiplied by the 1980 taxable valuation of the city or town divided by its 1979 sales ratio as determined by the commissioner of revenue.

(iii) A final state aid factor shall be established for each city and town by adjusting the preliminary state aid factor to comply with the following restrictions:

The final state aid factor for a city or town shall be an amount which is equal to or greater than an amount computed pursuant to the following:

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is 10 or less, the final state aid factor of the city or town shall be at least equal to the amount which the city or town received pursuant to clause (a) for 1980, plus the sum of $1 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is greater than 10 but less than or equal to 20, the final state aid factor for the city or town shall be at least equal to the amount which the city or town received pursuant to clause (a) for 1980, plus the sum of $4 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

If the average equalized mill rate of the city or town is greater than 20, the final state aid factor for the city or town shall be at least equal to the amount which the city or town received pursuant to clause (a) for 1980, plus the sum of $6 multiplied by its population as determined under section 275.53.

The final state aid factor for any city or town shall not exceed the previous year's distribution under section 477A.01 by more than the following percent: if a city received more than $100 per capita in 1980 pursuant to clause (a) of this subdivision using the population determined pursuant to section 275.53, 12 percent; if more than $75 per capita but less than or equal to $100 per capita, 15 percent; if more than $50 per capita but less than or equal to $75 per capita, 17 percent; or if less than $50 per capita, 20 percent.

(iv) The amount of the distribution for which a city or town is eligible under this paragraph shall be determined as follows: For each city or town, its final state aid factor increase shall be the difference between its final state aid factor determined pursuant to this paragraph and the amount of distribution which it received pursuant to clause (a). The final state aid factor increase of each city or town shall be divided by the sum of the final state aid factor increases for all cities and towns receiving distributions under this paragraph; that quotient shall be multiplied by the amount of the increase in funds available for distribution under this paragraph over the amount distributed under clause (a), paragraphs (2) and (3). That product, plus the distribution the city or town received pursuant to clause (a), shall equal the distribution to be distributed to the city or town for 1981.

(v) The final distribution made to each city or town pursuant to this paragraph shall be in an amount which is at least equal to the distribution received by that city or town for 1980 pursuant to clause (a), but which does not exceed the amount of the city's or town's 1980 distribution by more than the following percent: if a city received more than $100 per capita in 1980 pursuant to clause (a) of this subdivision using the population determined pursuant to section 275.53, 12 percent; if more than $75 per capita but less than or equal to $100 per capita, 15 percent; if more than $50 per capita but less than or equal to $75 per capita, 17 percent; or if less than $50 per capita, 20 percent.

(vi) If the amounts distributed to a city or town by paragraph (iv) is limited by paragraph (v) the distribution to other cities and towns who receive aid under paragraph (2) shall be proportionately increased as necessary to absorb the difference. In no event shall a city's or town's distribution exceed the city's or town's 1980 distribution by more than the following percent: if a city received more than $100 per capita in 1980 pursuant to clause (a) of this subdivision using the population determined pursuant to section 275.53, 12 percent; if more than $75 per capita but less than or equal to $100 per capita, 15 percent; if more than $50 per capita but less than or equal to $75 per capita, 17 percent; or if less than $50 per capita, 20 percent.

Sec. 8. [REIMBURSEMENT FOR CERTAIN EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS.] Subdivision 1. On or before March 1 each year, the clerk or chief administrative officer of each municipality shall prepare and shall certify to the commissioner of finance the amount of employer contributions made during the preceding calendar year by the municipality from municipal revenue sources (1) to the public employees retirement association, except for the public employees police and firefighters' fund, or (2) to the Minneapolis municipal employees retirement fund, or (3) to a local police or firefighters' relief association enumerated in section 69.77, subdivision 1a which has filed an annual financial report pursuant to section 69.051, subdivision 1, and which has complied with the requirements of section 69.77. Within 30 days after receipt of the required certification, the commissioner of finance shall reimburse the municipality for an amount equal to 20 percent of the certified amount of employer contributions made to the funds listed in clauses (1) and (2) and 15 percent of the certified amount of employer contributions made to the funds listed in clause (3) during the preceding taxable year. Payments shall be made pursuant to this section in the manner indicated in Minnesota Statutes, Section 477A.01, Subdivision 4b.

Subd. 2. [APPROPRIATION.] The moneys required to make the reimbursement provided for in subdivision 1 are appropriated annually to the commissioner of finance from the general fund in the state treasury.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.03, is amended to read:

477A.03 [APPROPRIATION.] A sum sufficient to discharge the duties imposed by section 477A.01, subdivisions 1, 2 and 4e is annually appropriated from the general fund to the commissioner of revenue.

Sec. 10. [APPROPRIATION.] The sum of $30,000 is appropriated to the state planning agency to meet the cost of providing the population estimates required in section 29.

Sec. 11. [REPEALER.] Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 477A.01, Subdivisions 3 and 4a are repealed.

ARTICLE VII: RAILROADS

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.80] [DEFINITIONS.] Subdivision 1. The following words and phrases when used in sections 1 to 13, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section.

Subd. 2. "Railroad company" means any company which as a common carrier operates a railroad or a line or lines of railway situated within or partly within Minnesota.

Subd. 3. "Operating property" means all property, excluding land, owned or used by a railroad company in the performance of railroad transportation services, including without limitation franchises, rights-of-way, bridges, trestles, shops, docks, wharves, buildings and structures.

Subd. 4. "Nonoperating property" means and includes all property other than property defined in subdivision 3. Nonoperating property shall include real property which is leased or rented or available for lease or rent to any person which is not a railroad company. Vacant land shall be presumed to be available for lease or rent if it has not been used as operating property for a period of one year preceding the valuation date.

Subd. 5. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of revenue.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.81] [TAXATION AND ASSESSMENT OF RAILROAD PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. The operating property of every railroad company doing business in Minnesota shall be valued by the commissioner in the manner prescribed by sections 1 to 13.

Subd. 2. The nonoperating property of every railroad company doing business in Minnesota shall be assessed as otherwise provided by law.

Subd. 3. The commissioner shall have exclusive primary jurisdiction to determine what is operating property and what is nonoperating property. In making such determination, the commissioner shall solicit information and opinions from outside his department and afford all interested persons an opportunity to submit data or views on the subject in writing or orally. Local assessors may submit written requests to the commissioner, asking that he determine the nature of specific property owned by a railroad and located within their assessing jurisdiction. Any determination made by the commissioner may be appealed by the assessor to the tax court pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 271.

Subd. 4. In no event shall property owned or used by a railroad, whether operating property or nonoperating property, be subject to tax hereunder unless such property is of a character which would otherwise be subject to tax under the provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 272.

Subd. 5. Prior to the promulgation of permanent rules the commissioner may exercise temporary rule-making authority as provided in section 15.0412, subdivision 5, to implement the provisions of this act. The commissioner shall solicit information and opinions from outside his department as provided in section 15.0412, subdivision 6, before adopting these rules. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 15.0412, subdivision 5, rules adopted pursuant to this section shall be effective until permanent rules are adopted pursuant to chapter 15 or until May 1, 1980, whichever occurs first.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.82] [REPORTS OF RAILROAD COMPANIES.] Subdivision 1. Every railroad company doing business in Minnesota shall annually file with the commissioner on or before April 30 a report under oath setting forth the information prescribed by the commissioner to enable him to make the valuation and equalization required by sections 1 to 13.

Subd. 2. The commissioner for good cause may extend the time for filing the report required by subdivision 1.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.83] [EXAMINATIONS AND INVESTIGATIONS.] Subdivision 1. The commissioner shall have the power to examine or cause to be examined any books, papers, records, or memoranda revelant to the determination of the valuation of operating property as herein provided. The commissioner shall have the further power to require the attendance of any person having knowledge or information in the premises, to compel the production of books, papers, records, or memoranda by persons so required to attend, to take testimony on matters material to such determination and administer oaths or affirmations.

Subd. 2. For the purpose of making such examinations, the commissioner may appoint such persons as he may deem necessary. Such persons shall have the rights and powers of the examining of books, papers, records or memoranda, and of subpoenaing witnesses, administering oaths and affirmations, and taking of testimony, which are conferred upon the commissioner hereby. The clerk of any court of record, upon demand of any such person, shall issue a subpoena for the attendance of any witness or the production of any books, papers, records, or memoranda before such person. The commissioner may also issue subpoenas for the appearance of witnesses before him or before such persons. Disobedience of subpoenas so issued shall be punished by the district court of the district in which the subpoena is issued for a contempt of the district court.

Subd. 3. If any railroad company shall refuse or neglect to make the report required by this section to the commissioner, or shall refuse or neglect to permit an inspection and examination of its property, records, books, accounts or other papers when requested by the commissioner, or shall refuse or neglect to appear before the commissioner or a person appointed under subdivision 2 when required so to do, the commissioner shall make the valuation provided for by sections 1 to 13 against the railroad company according to his best judgment on available information.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.84] [ANNUAL VALUATION OF OPERATING PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. The commissioner shall annually between April 30 and July 31 make a determination of the fair market value of the operating property of every railroad company doing business in this state as of January 2 of the year in which the valuation is made. In determining the fair market value of the portion of operating property within this state, the commissioner shall value the operating property as a unit, taking into consideration the value of the operating property of the entire system, and shall allocate to this state that part thereof which is a fair and reasonable proportion of said entire system valuation. If the commissioner uses original cost as a factor in determining the unit value of operating property, no depreciation or obsolescence allowance shall be permitted. However, if the commissioner uses replacement cost as a factor in determining the unit value of operating property, then a reasonable depreciation and obsolescence allowance may be used.

The commissioner shall give a report to the legislature in February 1980 and in February 1981 on the formula which he has used to determine the unit value of railroad operating property pursuant to this act. This report shall also contain the valuation for payable 1980 and 1981 by company and the taxes payable in 1980 and 1981 by company based upon the valuation of operating property. The legislature may review the formula, the valuation, and the resulting taxes and may make changes in the formula that it deems necessary.

Subd. 2. After the commissioner has determined the fair market value of the operating property of each railroad company, he shall give notice by first class mail to the railroad company of the valuation.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.85] [REVIEW OF VALUATION.] A railroad company may within 15 days of receipt of the notice of valuation file a written request for a conference with the commissioner relating to the value of its operating property. The commissioner shall thereupon designate a time and place for the conference which he shall conduct, upon commissioner's entire files and records and such further information as may be offered. Said conference shall be held no later than 30 days after mailing of the commissioner's valuation notice. At a reasonable time after such conference the commissioner shall make a final determination of the fair market value of the operating property of the railroad company and shall notify the company promptly thereof.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.86] [APPORTIONMENT OF VALUATION.] Upon determination by the commissioner of the fair market value of the operating property of each railroad company, he shall apportion such value to the respective counties and to the taxing districts therein in conformity with fair and reasonable rules and standards to be established by the commissioner pursuant to notice and hearings, except as provided in section 2. In establishing such rules and standards the commissioner may consider (a) the physical situs of all station houses, depots, docks, wharves, and other buildings and structures with an original cost in excess of $10,000; (b) the proportion that the length and type of all the tracks used by the railroad in such county and taxing district bears to the length and type of all the track used in the state; and (c) other facts as will result in a fair and equitable apportionment of value.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.87] [CERTIFICATION TO COUNTY ASSESSORS.]

When the commissioner has made his annual determination of the fair market value of the operating property of each company in each of the respective counties, and in the taxing districts therein, he shall certify the fair market value to the county assessor, which shall constitute the fair market value of the operating property of the railroad company in such county and the taxing districts therein upon which taxes shall be levied and collected in the same manner as on the commercial and industrial property of such county and the taxing districts therein.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.88] [PROCEEDINGS AND APPEALS.] The commissioner's final determination under section 6 and his certification to county assessors under section 8 shall be final orders appealable to the tax court in accordance with chapter 271. Appeals by railroad companies under this act shall be taken against the commissioner and not against the county or taxing district to which payment is made. Upon the filing of any appeal by a railroad company, the commissioner shall give notice thereof by first class mail to each county which would be affected by the appeal.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.89] [APPLICABILITY OF OTHER PROVISIONS.] Section 297A.25, subdivision 1, clause (1) shall remain applicable to railroad companies subject to this act.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.90] [PAYMENT OF TAXES IN 1980 AND 1981 ONLY.] For the years 1979 and 1980 only, after the commissioner has determined the market value of the operating property of each company under the provisions of sections 5 and 6, he shall compute the assessed value of the operating property by applying the classification percentage contained in section 273.13, subdivision 9. By March 1, 1980 and 1981, the commissioner shall compute the tax due from each company by applying the average statewide mill rate. The statement of taxes shall be sent to each company on or before April 1, 1980 and 1981, and shall indicate the assessed value of operating property, the mill rate applied in determining the taxes and the total amount of taxes due and payable. That amount shall be compared to the amount of gross earnings tax imposed under section 13 of this act. If the amount paid pursuant to section 13 is less than the amount computed in this section, the additional tax shall be payable to the commissioner and shall be deposited by him in the general fund of the state treasury. The provisions of section 279.01 pertaining to due dates and penalties for late payment of taxes for nonhomestead property shall be applicable to the taxes payable under this section. If the amount paid pursuant to section 13 exceeds the amount computed in this section, the commissioner shall refund the amount of excess within 60 days. The amounts necessary to make the refunds provided in this section are appropriated to the commissioner from the general fund in the state treasury.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 272.02, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

272.02 [EXEMPT PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. Except as provided in other subdivisions of this section or in section 272.025, all property described in this section to the extent herein limited shall be exempt from taxation:

- (1) All public burying grounds;

- (8) All natural cheese held in storage for aging by the original Minnesota manufacturer;
- (9) (a) Class 2 property of every household of the value of $100, maintained in the principal place of residence of the owner thereof. The county auditor shall deduct such exemption from the total valuation of such property as equalized by the revenue commissioner assessed to such household, and extend the levy of taxes upon the remainder only. The term "household" as used in this section is defined to be a domestic establishment maintained either (1) by two or more persons living together within the same house or place of abode, subsisting in common and constituting a domestic or family relationship, or (2) by one person.
(b) During the period of his active service and for six months after his discharge therefrom, no member of the armed forces of the United States shall lose status of a householder under paragraph (a) which he had immediately prior to becoming a member of the armed forces.

In case there is an assessment against more than one member of a household the $100 exemption shall be divided among the members assessed in the proportion that the assessed value of the Class 2 property of each bears to the total assessed value of the Class 2 property of all the members assessed. The Class 2 property of each household claimed to be exempt shall be limited to property in one taxing district, except in those cases where a single domestic establishment is maintained in two or more adjoining districts.

Bonds and certificates of indebtedness hereafter issued by the state of Minnesota, or by any county or city of the state, or any town, or any common or independent school district of the state, or any governmental board of the state, or any county or city thereof, shall hereafter be exempt from taxation; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as exempting such bonds from the payment of a tax thereon, as provided for by section 291.01, when any of such bonds constitute, in whole or in part, any inheritance or bequest, taken or received by any person or corporation.

(10) Farm machinery manufactured prior to 1930, which is used only for display purposes as a collectors item;

(11) The taxpayer shall be exempted with respect to, all agricultural products, inventories, stocks of merchandise of all sorts, all materials, parts and supplies, furniture and equipment, manufacturers material, manufactured articles including the inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and contractors; and the furnishings of a room or apartment in a hotel, rooming house, tourist court, motel or trailer camp, tools and machinery which by law are considered as personal property, and the property described in section 272.03, subdivision 1 (c), except personal property which is part of an electric generating, transmission, or distribution system or a pipeline system transporting or distributing water, gas, or petroleum products or mains and pipes used in the distribution of steam or hot or chilled water for heating or cooling buildings and structures. Railroad docks and wharves which are part of the operating property of a railroad company as defined in section 1 are not exempt.

ARTICLE VIII: PAYMENTS IN LIEU

Section 1. [DEFINITIONS.] Subdivision 1. For the purpose of sections 1 to 5, the terms defined in this section have the meanings given them.

Subd. 2. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of natural resources.

Subd. 3. "Acquired natural resources land" means any land presently administered by the commissioner in which the state acquired by purchase, condemnation, or gift, a fee title interest in lands which were previously privately owned.

Subd. 4. "Other natural resources land" means any other land presently owned in fee title by the state and administered by the commissioner, or any tax-forfeited land, other than platted lots within a city, which is owned by the state and administered by the commissioner or by the county in which it is located.

Sec. 2. There is annually appropriated to the commissioner of natural resources from the general fund for payment to counties within the state an amount equal to $3 multiplied by the number of acres of acquired natural resources land, 75 cents multiplied by the number of acres of county-administered other natural resources land, and 37.5 cents multiplied by the number of acres of commissioner-administered other natural resources land located in each county as of July 1 of each year. Lands for which payments in lieu are made pursuant to section 97.49, subdivision 7, and Laws 1973, Chapter 567, shall not be eligible for payments under this section. Each county auditor shall certify to the department of natural resources during July of each year the number of acres of county-administered other natural resources land within his county. The department of natural resources may, in addition to the certification of acreage, require descriptive lists of land so certified. The commissioner of natural resources shall determine and certify the number of acres of acquired natural resources land and commissioner-administered natural resources land within each county.

Sec. 3. Payments to the counties shall be made from the general fund during the month of January of the year next following certification. There shall be deducted from amounts paid any amounts paid to a county or township during the preceding year pursuant to sections 84A.51, 89.036, 97.49, subdivision 3, and 272.68, subdivision 3 with respect to the lands certified pursuant to section 2.

Sec. 4. Forty percent of the total payment to the county shall be deposited in the county general revenue fund to be used to provide property tax levy reduction. The remainder shall be distributed by the county in the following priority:

(a) 37.5 cents for each acre of county-administered other natural resources land shall be deposited in a resource development fund to be created within the county treasury for use in resource development, forest management, game and fish habitat improvement, and recreational development and maintenance of county-administered other natural resources land. Any county receiving less than $5,000 annually for the resource development fund may elect to deposit that amount in the county general revenue fund;

(b) From the funds remaining, each organized township shall receive 30 cents per acre of acquired natural resources land and 7.5 cents per acre of other natural resources land located within its boundaries. Payments for natural resources lands not located in an organized township shall be deposited in the county general revenue fund. Payments to counties and townships pursuant to this paragraph shall be used to provide property tax levy reduction. Provided that, if the total payment to the county pursuant to section 2 is not sufficient to fully fund the distribution provided for in this clause, the amount available shall be distributed to each township and the county general revenue fund on a pro rata basis; and

(c) Any remaining funds shall be deposited in the county general revenue fund. Provided that, if the distribution to the county general revenue fund exceeds $50,000, the excess shall be used to provide property tax levy reduction.

(4) the amount levied in 1976 payable 1977 pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1976, Section 275.50, Subdivision 5, Clause (g) for the administrative costs of public assistance programs or county welfare systems, plus

(5) one-half of the amount of the special levy authorized under section 275.50, subdivision 5, clause (n) shall be added to the permanent levy limit base of the governmental subdivision in the year following the year in which it has been discontinued as a special levy pursuant to the provisions of section 275.50, subdivision 5, clause (n).

(b) The sum computed in clause (a) shall be increased annually in the manner provided in section 275.52 to derive the levy limit base for successive years.

(c) For taxes levied in 1978 payable 1979 and subsequent years, the levy limit base is the levy limit base which was computed for the immediately preceding year under the provisions of this section increased according to the provisions of section 275.52. Any amount levied in 1976 payable 1977 under the provisions of section 275.50, subdivision 5, clauses (a), (c), (d), (e) or

The resulting figure is the amount of property taxes which a governmental subdivision may levy for all purposes other than those for which special levies and special assessments are made.

(1) Shareholders in a small business corporation, which has elected to be so taxed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not made an election under section 290.972 of this chapter, shall deduct from federal adjusted gross income the amount of any imputed income from such corporation and shall add to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any loss claimed as a result of such stock ownership. Also there shall be added to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any distributions in cash or property made by said corporation to its shareholders during the taxable year.

(2) In cases where the small business corporation has made an election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not elected under section 290.972 of this chapter and said corporation is liquidated or the individual shareholder disposes of his stock and there is no capital loss reflected in federal adjusted gross income because of the fact that corporate losses have exhausted the shareholders basis for federal purposes, such shareholders shall be entitled, nevertheless, to a capital loss commensurate to their Minnesota basis for the stock.

(3) In cases where the election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 antedates the election under section 290.972 of this chapter and at the close of the taxable year immediately preceding the effective election under section 290.972 the corporation has a reserve of undistributed taxable income previously taxed to shareholders under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, in the event and to the extent that such reserve is distributed to shareholders such distribution shall be taxed as a dividend for purposes of this act.

Items of gross income includible within these definitions shall be deemed such regardless of the form in which received. Items of gross income shall be included in gross income of the taxable year in which received by a taxpayer unless properly to be accounted for as of a different taxable year under methods of accounting permitted by section 290.07, except that (1) amounts transferred from a reserve or other account, if in effect transfers to surplus, shall, to the extent that such amounts were accumulated through deductions from gross income or entered into the computation of taxable net income during any taxable year, be treated as gross income for the year in which the transfer occurs, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act, and (2) amounts received as refunds on account of taxes deducted from gross income during any taxable year shall be treated as gross income for the year in which actually received, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act.

(d) Modification in computing taxable income of the estate of a decedent. Amounts allowable under section 291.07, subdivision 1(2) in computing Minnesota inheritance tax liability shall not be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable income of the estate unless there is filed within the time and in the manner and form prescribed by the commissioner a statement that the amounts have not been allowed as a deduction under section 291.07 and a waiver of the right to have such amounts allowed at any time as deductions under section 291.07. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply with respect to deductions allowed under section 290.077 (relating to income in respect of decedents). In the event that the election made for federal tax purposes under section 642(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 differs from the election made under this paragraph appropriate modification of the estate's federal taxable income shall be made to implement the election made under this paragraph in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

ARTICLE VI ENERGY CREDITS

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.06, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 13. [RESIDENTIAL ENERGY CREDIT.] A credit of 20 percent of the first $10,000 of renewable energy source expenditures, made by the taxpayer on a Minnesota building of six dwelling units or less in a taxable year, may be deducted from the tax due under this chapter for the taxable year.

(a) Expenditures which qualify for the federal renewable energy credit, pursuant to Section 44C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1978, and any regulations promulgated pursuant thereto;

(b) Expenditures for earth sheltered dwelling units. For purposes of this credit, an "earth sheltered dwelling unit" shall mean a structure which complies with applicable building standards and which is constructed so that:

(1) 80 percent or more of the roof area is covered with a minimum depth of 12 inches of earth;

(2) 50 percent or more of the wall area is covered with a minimum depth of 12 inches of earth; and

Expenditures for equipment, materials, or devices which are a part of the normal heating, cooling, or insulation system of a building are not eligible for the credit.

If a credit was allowed to a taxpayer under this subdivision for any prior taxable year with respect to a dwelling unit by reason of energy conservation expenditures or renewable energy source expenditures, the dollar amount of the credit allowable for each kind of expenditure for the current taxable year shall be reduced by the amount of expenditures of that kind taken into account in prior years.

The credit provided in this subdivision shall not be allowed in a taxable year if the amount of the credit would be less than $10. The credit shall not exceed the amount of tax due under chapter 290.

If the credit allowable under this subdivision exceeds the amount of tax due in a taxable year, the excess credit may be carried forward to the succeeding taxable year and added to the credit allowable for that year. No amount may be carried forward to a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1984.

A shareholder in a family farm corporation and each partner in a partnership operating a family farm shall be eligible for the credit provided by this subdivision in the same manner and to the same extent allowed a joint owner of property under clause (a). Sec. 4. [290B.04] [NEW BUSINESS FACILITY.] Subdivision 1. (a) A facility qualifies as a new business facility if:

(a) the facility is used by the taxpayer in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise, other than the leasing of the facility to another person;

(b) the facility has not, for one year prior to the date it begins operations, been operating in a revenue producing enterprise in which the products produced or sold, the services performed, or activities conducted were of the same character and were for the same type of customers as the revenue producing enterprise for which the taxpayer operates the facility; and

(c) the facility is not a replacement facility.

Subd. 2. For purposes of subdivision 1, clause (a) only, if a taxpayer leases a part of a facility to another person and operates the remainder of the facility in a revenue producing enterprise, the part of the facility which the taxpayer operates in a revenue producing operation may qualify as a new business facility.

Subd. 3. If a taxpayer expands an existing facility by making a capital investment that exceeds the lesser of:

(1) $1,000,000; or

(2) the amount of his capital investment in the existing facility;
the taxpayer may consider the expansion as a separate facility for purposes sections 1 to 6.

Sec. 5. [290B.05] [DEFERRAL OF CREDIT.] Subdivision 1. A taxpayer may elect to defer claiming the credit for not more than three taxable years after the taxable years in which he begins operating the new business facility.

Subd. 2. The taxpayer may make the election by filing a notice with the department, which notice must contain the date the taxpayer began operations at the new business facility and the taxable year for which the election is made. The notice must be filed before the end of the taxable year for which the election is made.

Subd. 3. Except as provided in subdivision 4, if a taxpayer fails to properly make the deferral election in a taxable year, he is entitled to claim the credit only in that taxable year and in the nine taxable years immediately following that taxable year.

Subd. 4. If a taxpayer terminates the operation of a revenue producing enterprise at a new business facility during the ten year period in which he is entitled to the credit, he is entitled to claim the credit for the number of taxable years remaining in the ten year period if he later resumes operation of the new business facility in the same or in a different revenue producing enterprise.

Sec. 6. [290B.06] [TRANSFER OF FACILITY.] Subdivision 1. If a taxpayer who is entitled to the credit under sections 1 to 6 transfers all or a part of his new business facility to a related taxpayer, the taxpayer may elect either to continue claiming the credit himself, or to allow the related taxpayer to claim the credit for the part of the new business facility transferred to that related taxpayer. The taxpayer shall make the election under this section during the taxable year in which the transfer is made and must file notice of that election with his income tax return for that taxable year. If the taxpayer retains the credit for himself he may include the related taxpayer's average number of qualified employees and average new business facility investment for purposes of computing his credit under sections 1 to 6. However, the taxpayer may not include the related taxpayer's state income tax liability for purposes of computing his credit under sections 1 to 6. If the related taxpayer is allowed to claim the credit under sections 1 to 6 he shall compute the credit as if the part of the new business facility transferred to him is a separate new business facility. However, he may only claim the credit for the number of years remaining in the ten year period during which the taxpayer could claim the credit.

Subd. 2. If an individual taxpayer who is entitled to the credit dies during the ten year period in which he may claim the credit, the credit may be claimed for the remainder of the ten year period by the taxpayer's estate or by the beneficiary who receives the new business facility from the estate. However, the total new business facility investment of the estate and the beneficiaries may not exceed the deceased taxpayer's new business facility investment.

Sec. 7. Sections 1 to 6 are effective January 1, 1980 and apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1979.

[270.84] [ANNUAL VALUATION OF OPERATING PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. The commissioner shall annually between April 30 and July 31 make a determination of the fair market value of the operating property of every railroad company doing business in this state as of January 2 of the year in which the valuation is made. In determining the fair market value of the portion of operating property within this state, the commissioner shall value the operating property as a unit, taking into consideration the value of the operating property of the entire system, and shall allocate to this state that part thereof which is a fair and reasonable proportion of said entire system valuation. If the commissioner uses original cost as a factor in determining the unit value of operating property, no depreciation or obsolescence allowance shall be permitted. However, if the commissioner uses replacement cost as a factor in determining the unit value of operating property, then a reasonable depreciation and obsolescence allowance may be used.

The commissioner shall give a report to the legislature in February 1980 and in February 1981, on the formula which he has used to determine the unit value of railroad operating property pursuant to this act. This report shall also contain the valuation for payable 1980 and 1981 by company and the taxes payable in 1980 and 1981 by company based upon the valuation of operating property. The legislature may review the formula, the valuation, and the resulting taxes and may make changes in the formula that it deems necessary.

Subd. 2. After the commissioner has determined the fair market value of the operating property of each railroad company, he shall give notice by first class mail to the railroad company of the valuation.

Said conference shall be held no later than 30 days after mailing of the commissioner's valuation notice. At a reasonable time after such conference the commissioner shall make a final determination of the fair market value of the operating property of the railroad company and shall notify the company promptly thereof.*

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.87] [CERTIFICATION TO COUNTY ASSESSORS.] When the commissioner has made his annual determination of the fair market value of the operating property of each company in each of the respective counties, and in the taxing districts therein, he shall certify the fair market value to the county assessor, which shall constitute the fair market value of the operating property of the railroad company in such county and the taxing districts therein upon which taxes shall be levied and collected in the same manner as on the commercial and industrial property of such county and the taxing districts therein.

Sec. 9. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.88] [PROCEEDINGS AND APPEALS.] The commissioner's final determination under section 6 and his certification to county assessors under section 8 shall be final orders appealable to the tax court in accordance with chapter 271. Upon the filing of any appeal by a railroad company, the commissioner shall give notice thereof by first class mail to each county which would be affected by the appeal.

Sec. 10. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.89] [APPLICABILITY OF OTHER PROVISIONS.] Section 297A.25, subdivision 1, clause (1) shall remain applicable to railroad companies subject to this act.

Sec. 11. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 270, is amended by adding a section to read:

[270.90] [PAYMENT OF TAXES IN 1980 AND 1981 ONLY.] For the years 1979 and 1980 only, after the commissioner has determined the market value of the operating property of each company under the provisions of sections 5 and 6, he shall compute the assessed value of the operating property by applying the classification percentage contained in section 273.13, subdivision 9. By March 1, 1980 and 1981, the commissioner shall compute the tax due from each company by applying the average statewide mill rate. The statement of taxes shall be sent to each company on or before April 1, 1980 and 1981, and shall indicate the assessed value of operating property, the mill rate applied in determining the taxes and the total amount of taxes due and payable. That amount shall be compared to the amount of gross earnings tax imposed under section 13 of this act. If the amount paid pursuant to section 13 is less than the amount computed in this section, the additional tax shall be payable to the commissioner and shall be deposited by him in the general fund of the state treasury. The provisions of section 279.01 pertaining to due dates and penalties for late payment of taxes for nonhomestead property shall be applicable to the taxes payable under this section. If the amount paid pursuant to section 13 exceeds the amount computed in this section, the commissioner shall refund the amount of excess within 60 days. The amounts necessary to make the refunds provided in this section are appropriated to the commissioner from the general fund in the state treasury.

Sec. 12. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 272.02, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

272.02 [EXEMPT PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. Except as provided in other subdivisions of this section or in section 272.025, all property described in this section to the extent herein limited shall be exempt from taxation:

The term "household" as used in this section is defined to be a domestic establishment maintained either (1) by two or more persons living together within the same house or place of abode, subsisting in common and constituting a domestic or family relationship, or (2) by one person.

Any such equipment or device shall meet standards, regulations or criteria prescribed by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, and must be installed or operated in accordance with a permit or order issued by that agency. The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency shall upon request of the commissioner furnish information or advice to the commissioner. If the commissioner determines that property qualifies for exemption, he shall issue an order exempting such property from taxation. Sec. 13. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 295.02, is amended to read:

The payments of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes upon the property and franchises so taxed.

Such returns shall be filed with the commissioner, in such form as he shall prescribe, and the provisions of chapter 294 and acts amendatory thereto, shall be applicable to such railroad companies and to the returns and the taxes submitted therewith by them.

(1) Shareholders in a small business corporation, which has elected to be so taxed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not made an election under section 290.972 of this chapter, shall deduct from federal adjusted gross income the amount of any imputed income from such corporation and shall add to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any loss claimed as a result of such stock ownership. Also there shall be added to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any distributions in cash or property made by said corporation to its shareholders during the taxable year.

(2) In cases where the small business corporation has made an election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not elected under section 290.972 of this chapter and said corporation is liquidated or the individual shareholder disposes of his stock and there is no capital loss reflected in federal adjusted gross income because of the fact that corporate losses have exhausted the shareholders basis for federal purposes, such shareholders shall be entitled, nevertheless, to a capital loss commensurate to their Minnesota basis for the stock.

(3) In cases where the election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 antedates the election under section 290.972, of this chapter and at the close of the taxable year immediately preceding the effective election under section 290.972 the corporation has a reserve of undistributed taxable income previously taxed to shareholders under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, in the event and to the extent that such reserve is distributed to shareholders such distribution shall be taxed as a dividend for purposes of this act.

Items of gross income includible within these definitions shall be deemed such regardless of the form in which received. Items of gross income shall be included in gross income of the taxable year in which received by a taxpayer unless properly to be accounted for as of a different taxable year under methods of accounting permitted by section 290.07, except that (1) amounts transferred from a reserve or other account, if in effect transfers to surplus, shall, to the extent that such amounts were accumulated through deductions from gross income or entered into the computation of taxable net income during any taxable year, be treated as gross income for the year in which the transfer occurs, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act, and (2) amounts received as refunds on account of taxes deducted from gross income during any taxable year shall be treated as gross income for the year in which actually received, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act.

(d) Modification in computing taxable income of the estate of a decedent. Amounts allowable under section 291.07, subdivision 1(2) in computing Minnesota inheritance tax liability shall not be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable income of the estate unless there is filed within the time and in the manner and form prescribed by the commissioner a statement that the amounts have not been allowed as a deduction under section 291.07 and a waiver of the right to have such amounts allowed at any time as deductions under section 291.07. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply with respect to deductions allowed under section 290.077 (relating to income in respect of decedents). In the event that the election made for federal tax purposes under section 642(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 differs from the election made under this paragraph appropriate modification of the estate's federal taxable income shall be made to implement the election made under this paragraph in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

Such a trust and its shareholders and beneficiaries shall be subject to all of the provisions of sections 857 and 858 of the Code which are applicable under this chapter, in determining their respective taxable net incomes, provided that the excess amount determined and subjected to available for the alternative tax under section 857(b) (3) (A) (ii) of the Code shall be included in gross income subject to the deduction provided by section 290.16, subdivision 4.

290.091 [MINIMUM TAX ON PREFERENCE ITEMS.] (a) In addition to all other taxes imposed by chapter 290 there is hereby imposed for each taxable year ~~beginning after December 31, 1976,~~ a tax which, in the case of a resident individual, estate or trust, shall be equal to 40 percent of the amount of the taxpayer's minimum tax liability for tax preference items pursuant to the provisions of sections 56 55 to 58 and 443(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 as amended through December 31, 1976 1978 except that for purposes of the tax imposed by this section, excess itemized deductions as defined in section 57(b) shall not include any deduction taken for Minnesota income tax paid and capital gains as defined in section 57(a) of the Internal Revenue

Code shall not include that portion of any gain occasioned by sale, transfer or the granting of a perpetual easement pursuant to any eminent domain proceeding or threat thereof as described in section 290.13, subdivision 5. This modification shall apply to the years in which the gain or reduction in loss is actually included in federal adjusted gross income even though amounts received pursuant to the eminent domain proceedings were received in prior years. In the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation, an amount equal to one-half of the net capital gain for the taxable year shall be used as the definition of capital gain in place of the deduction determined under section 1202 of the Internal Revenue Code. In the case of a resident individual, estate or trust having preference items which could not be taken to reduce income from sources outside the state pursuant to section 290.17, subdivision 1, or any other taxpayer the tax shall equal 40 percent of that federal liability, multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is the amount of the taxpayer's preference item income allocated to this state pursuant to the provisions of sections 290.17, subdivision 1, to 290.20, and the denominator of which is the taxpayer's total preference item income for federal purposes.

The provisions of section 57 (a) (9) (A) and (D) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1978 shall be effective for the same time during 1978 that these provisions became effective for federal income tax purposes.

(b) In the case of a resident individual, estate or trust having preference items in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1976, and before January 1, 1978, which are not allocable to Minnesota under the provisions of sections 290.17 to 290.20 in effect for such years, the tax shall equal 40 percent of the taxpayer's federal minimum tax liability, multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is the amount of the taxpayer's preference items allocable to Minnesota under the provisions of sections 290.17 to 290.20 in effect for such years and the denominator of which is the taxpayer's total preference items for federal purposes.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.095, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

In the case of a taxpayer which has a product liability loss (as defined in section 172(i) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 as amended through December 31, 1978) for a taxable year beginning after September 30, 1979 (referred to as 'loss year'), the product liability loss shall be a net operating loss carryback to each of the 10 taxable years preceding the loss year.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.14, is amended to read:

290.14 [GAIN OR LOSS ON DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY, BASIS.] The basis for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property acquired on or after January 1, 1933, shall be the cost to the taxpayer of such property, with the following exceptions:

- (1) If the property should have been included in the last inventory, it shall be the last inventory value thereof;

(2) If the property was acquired by gift, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the last preceding owner not acquiring it by gift; if the facts required for this determination cannot be ascertained, it shall be the fair market value as of the date, or approximate date, of acquisition by such last preceding owner, as nearly as the requisite facts can be ascertained by the commissioner;

(3) If the property was acquired by gift through an inter vivos transfer in trust, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the grantor;

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this clause (4), the basis of property in the hands of a person acquiring the property from a decedent or to whom the property passed from a decedent shall, if not sold, exchanged or otherwise disposed of before the decedent's death by such person, be the fair market value of the property at the date of decedent's death.

For the purposes of the preceding paragraph, the following property shall be considered to have been acquired from or to have passed from the decedent:

(a) Property acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance, or by the decedent's estate from the decedent;

(b) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent, with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to revoke the trust;

(c) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to make any change in the enjoyment thereof through the exercise of a power to alter, amend, or terminate the trust;

(d) Property passing without full and adequate consideration under a general power of appointment exercised by the decedent by will;

(e) In the case of a decedent's dying after December 31, 1956, property acquired from the decedent by reason of death, form of ownership or other conditions (including property acquired through the exercise or non-exercise of a power of appointment), if by reason thereof the property is required to be included in determining the value of the decedents' gross estate for Minnesota inheritance tax purposes. In such case, if the property is acquired before the death of the decedent, the basis shall be the amount determined under the first paragraph of this clause reduced by the amount allowed to the taxpayer as deductions in computing taxable net income under this chapter or prior Minnesota income tax laws for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion on such property before the death of the decedent. Such basis shall be applicable to the property commencing on the death of the decedent. This paragraph shall not apply to annuities described in section 290.08; and property described in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this clause (4).

Clause (4) shall not apply to property which constitutes a right to receive an item of income in respect of a decedent under section 290.077. Nor shall it apply to restricted stock options described in section 290.078 which the employee has not exercised at death.

(5) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932 upon an exchange described in section 290.13, subdivision 1, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized upon such exchange under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by section 290.13, subdivision 1, to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of other property, the basis provided in this clause shall be allocated between the properties, other than money, received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. This clause shall not apply to property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration, in whole or in part, for the transfer of the property to it;

(6) If substantially identical property was acquired in the place of stocks or securities which were sold or disposed of and in respect of which loss was not allowed as a deduction under section 290.09, subdivision 5, the basis in the case of property so acquired shall be the same as in the case of the stock or securities so sold or disposed of, increased by the excess of the repurchase price of such property over the sale price of such stock or securities, or decreased by the excess of the sale price of such stock or securities over the repurchase price of such property;

(7) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, as the result of a compulsory or involuntary conversion described in section 290.13, subdivision 5, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property so converted, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer which was not expended in accordance with the provisions of law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made, determining the taxable status of the gain or loss upon such conversion, and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer recognized upon such conversion under the law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made.

(8) Neither the basis nor the adjusted basis of any portion of real property shall, in the case of a lessor of such property, be increased or diminished on account of income derived by the lessor in respect of such property and excludable from gross income under section 290.08, subdivision 14.

If an amount representing any part of the value of real property attributable to buildings erected or other improvements made by a lessee in respect of such property was included in gross income of the lessor for any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1943, the basis of each portion of such property shall be properly adjusted for the amount so included in gross income.

(9) The basis of property subject to the provisions of section 1034 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1978 (relating to the rollover of gain on sale of principal residence) shall be the same as the basis for federal income tax purposes. The basis shall be increased by the amount of gain realized on the sale of a principal residence outside of Minnesota, while a nonresident of this state, which gain was not recognized because of the provisions of section 1034.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.26, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

(C) Any termination of an election under subparagraph (A) by reason of the affirmative refusal of any person to consent to such election shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation in which such person becomes a shareholder in the corporation and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation. or, if later, the first taxable year for which such election would otherwise have been effective, and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation.

(2) [REVOCAION.] An election under subdivision 1 made by a small business corporation may be revoked by it for any taxable year of the corporation after the first taxable year for which the election is effective. An election may be revoked only if all persons who are shareholders in the corporation on the day on which the revocation is made consent to the revocation. A revocation under this paragraph shall be effective

(A) for the taxable year in which made, if made before the close of the first month of such taxable year,

(B) for the taxable year following the taxable year in which made, if made after the close of such first month, and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation. Such revocation shall be made in such manner as the commissioner shall prescribe by regulation.

(3) [CEASES TO BE SMALL BUSINESS CORPORATION.] An election under subdivision 1 made by a small business corporation shall terminate if at any time

(A) after the first day of the first taxable year of the corporation for which the election is effective, if such election is made on or before such first day, or

(B) after the day on which the election is made, if such election is made after such first day,

Such termination shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation in which the corporation ceases to be a small business corporation and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation.

(4) [FOREIGN INCOME.] An election under subdivision 1 made by a small business corporation shall terminate if for any taxable year of the corporation for which the election is in effect, such corporation derives more than 80 percent of its gross receipts from sources outside the United States. Such termination shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation in which it derives more than 80 percent of its gross receipts from sources outside the United States, and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation.

(5) [PASSIVE INVESTMENT INCOME.] (A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), an election under subdivision 1 made by a small business corporation shall terminate if, for any taxable year of the corporation for which the election is in effect, such corporation has gross receipts more than 20 percent of which is passive investment income. Such termination shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation in which it has gross receipts of such amount, and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation.

(B) Subparagraph (A) shall not apply with respect to a taxable year in which a small business corporation has gross receipts more than 20 percent of which is passive investment income, if

(i) such taxable year is the first taxable year in which the corporation commenced the active conduct of any trade or business or the next succeeding taxable year; and

(ii) the amount of passive investment income for such taxable year is less than $3,000.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "passive investment income" means gross receipts derived from royalties, rents, dividends, interest, annuities, and sales or exchanges of stock or securities (gross receipts from such sales or exchanges being taken into account for purposes of this paragraph only to the extent of gains therefrom). Gross receipts derived from sales or exchanges of stock or securities for purposes of this paragraph shall not include amounts received by an electing small business corporation which are treated under section 331 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1976 (relating to corporate liquidations), as payments in exchange for stock where the electing small business corporation owned more than 50 percent of each class of the stock of the liquidating corporation.

ARTICLE XII

PROPERTY TAX

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 273.11, is amended to read:

273.11 [VALUATION OF PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. Except as provided in subdivisions 2 and subdivision 6 or section 273.17, subdivision 1, all property shall be valued at its market value. In estimating and determining such value, the assessor shall not adopt a lower or different standard of value because the same is to serve as a basis of taxation, nor shall he adopt as a criterion of value the price for which such property would sell at auction or at a forced sale, or in the aggregate with all the property in the town or district; but he shall value each article or description of property by itself, and at such sum or price as he believes the same to be fairly worth in money. In assessing any tract or lot of real property, the value of the land, exclusive of structures and improvements, shall be determined, and also the value of all structures and improvements thereon, and the aggregate value of the property, including all structures and improvements, excluding the value of crops growing upon cultivated land. In valuing real property upon which there is a mine or quarry, it shall be valued at such price as such property, including the mine or quarry, would sell for a fair, voluntary sale, for cash. In valuing real property which is vacant, the fact that such property is platted shall not be taken into account. An individual lot of such platted property shall not be assessed in excess of the assessment of the land as if it were unplatted until the lot is improved with a permanent improvement all or a portion of which is located upon the lot, or for a period of three years after final approval of said plat whichever is shorter. When a lot is sold or construction begun, the assessed value of that lot or any single contiguous lot fronting on the same street shall be eligible for reassessment. All property, or the use thereof, which is taxable under sections 272.01, subdivision 2, or 273.19, shall be valued at the market value of such property and not at the value of a leasehold estate in such property, or at some lesser value than its market value.

Subd. 2. (a) The assessor after determining the value of any property shall compare the value with that determined in the preceding assessment. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 273.17, the amount of the increase entered in the current assessment shall not exceed ten percent of the value in the preceding assessment or one fourth of the total amount of the increase in valuation whichever is greater; the excess shall be entered in a subsequent year or years; provided, however, that if the amount of the increase in market value is

(i) more than ten percent but no more than 20 percent, the excess shall be entered in the following year;

(ii) more than 20 percent but no more than 40 percent, ten percent shall be entered in each subsequent year until the amount remaining to be entered is less than 10 percent in which case the amount remaining will be entered in the next subsequent year; or

(iii) more than 40 percent, the excess shall be entered equally in the three subsequent years.

(b) In the case of property described in section 273.13, subdivisions 6, 7, 7b, 10, 12, 17, 17b and 19, plus all agricultural property and all real estate devoted to temporary and seasonal residential occupancy for recreational purposes which was not subject to the five percent limitation in valuation increase for the 1973 or the 1974 assessment that was previously provided pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1974, Section 273.11, Subdivision 2, the value to be used for levying the 1976 taxes payable in 1977 shall be set at the average percent of market value used for the respective class of property in the 1975 tax levies in its assessment district if the market value as determined by the assessor pursuant to section 273.11, subdivision 1 exceeds by more than ten percent the limited market value established for that class of property. Such property shall subsequently increase in value for property tax purposes as prescribed in clause (a).

Subd. 5. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the limitation contained in subdivisions subdivision 1 to 5 shall also apply to the authority of the local board of review as provided in section 274.01, the county board of equalization as provided in section 274.13, and the state board of equalization and the commissioner of revenue as provided in section 270.11, 270.12 and 270.16; and any increase effected by these boards over the valuation currently being used in computing taxes shall be added to the previous assessed valuation in annual increments as provided in subdivision 2.

Subd. 6. For purposes of property taxation, the market value of real and personal property installed prior to January 1, 1984, which is a solar, wind, or agriculturally derived methane gas system used as a heating, cooling, or electric power source of a building or structure shall be excluded from the market value of that building or structure if the property is not used to provide energy for sale.

273.122 [FLEXIBLE HOMESTEAD BASE VALUE.] Subdivision 1. [HOMESTEAD BASE VALUE.] For ~~1975 and prior years~~ the 1979 assessment, the homestead base value shall mean ~~$12,000~~ $30,000 of market value of any property other than property assessed pursuant to section 273.13, subdivisions 6 and 6a which qualifies as homestead property for assessment purposes. For the 1979 assessment, the homestead base value shall mean $50,000 of market value of any property assessed pursuant to section 273.13, subdivisions 6 and 6a which qualifies as homestead property for assessment purposes. The homestead base value shall be increased in any subsequent assessment year as provided in subdivision 2.

Subd. 2. [HOMESTEAD BASE VALUE INDEX.] In assessment years subsequent to ~~1975~~ 1979, the homestead base value shall be adjusted pursuant to the homestead base value index. The homestead base value index shall be computed by the equalization aid review committee for each year immediately preceding an assessment year. This index is computed in the following manner. The annual statewide average market value of homestead property as indicated by bona fide real estate sales during the year shall be divided by the statewide average market value of all homestead property sold in ~~1974~~ 1978. This quotient is multiplied by 100. For each increase of a full three and one-half points in the index the homestead base value shall be increased ~~$500~~ $1,000 in the following assessment year. On or before December 1 of any year preceding an assessment year the commissioner of revenue shall certify the homestead base value for that year.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 273.13, Subdivision 4, is amended to read:

Subd. 4. [CLASS 3.] (a) Tools, implements and machinery of an electric generating, transmission or distribution system or a pipeline system transporting or distributing water, gas, or petroleum products or mains and pipes used in the distribution of steam or hot or chilled water for heating or cooling buildings, which are fixtures, all agricultural land, except as provided by classes 1, 3b, 3c, all buildings and structures assessed as personal property and situated upon land of the state of Minnesota or the United States government which is rural in character and devoted or adaptable to rural but not necessarily agricultural use shall constitute class 3 and shall be valued and assessed at $33\frac{1}{3}$ percent of the market value thereof, except as provided in clause (b). Except as provided in subdivision 5a, all real property devoted to temporary and seasonal residential occupancy for recreational purposes, and which is not devoted to commercial purposes for more than 200 days in the year preceding the year of assessment, shall be class 3 property and assessed accordingly. For this purpose, property is devoted to commercial use on a specific day if it is used, or offered for use, and a fee is charged for such use.

(b) For taxes ~~assessed~~ levied in ~~1977~~ 1979, payable in ~~1978~~ 1980 and subsequent years, agricultural land and real property devoted to temporary and seasonal residential occupancy for recreation purposes which is classified as class 3 shall be assessed at 31 25 percent of its market value, and for taxes assessed in 1978, payable in 1979 and thereafter, it shall be assessed at 30 percent of its market value.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 273.13, Subdivision 6, is amended to read:

Subd. 6. [CLASS 3B.] Agricultural land, except as provided by class 1 hereof, and which is used for the purposes of a homestead shall constitute class 3b and shall be valued and assessed at 10 15 percent of the market value thereof in 1977 1979, for taxes payable in 1978 1980, and at 16 percent thereafter subsequent years. The property tax to be paid on class 3b property as otherwise determined by law not exceeding 120 240 acres less any reduction received pursuant to section 273.135, regardless of whether or not the market value is in excess of the homestead base value, shall be reduced by 45 50 percent of the tax; provided that the amount of said reduction shall not exceed $325 $525. Valuation subject to relief in 1977 for taxes payable in 1978 shall be limited to 120 acres of land, most contiguous surrounding, or bordering the house occupied by the owner as his dwelling place, and, such other structures as may be included thereon utilized by the owner in an agricultural pursuit. For taxes levied in 1978 payable 1979 and subsequent years, Valuation subject to relief shall be limited to 160 240 acres of land, most contiguous surroundings, or bordering, or closest to the house occupied by the owner as his dwelling place, and such other structures as may be included thereon utilized by the owner in an agricultural pursuit. If the market value is in excess of the homestead base value, the amount in excess of that sum shall be valued and assessed at 31 25 percent of its market value in 1977, 1979 for taxes payable in 1978, 1980 and at 30 percent thereafter subsequent years. The first $12,000 market value of each tract of real estate which is rural in character and devoted or adaptable to rural but not necessarily agricultural use, used for the purpose of a homestead shall be exempt from taxation for state purposes; except as specifically provided otherwise by law.

Agricultural land as used herein, and in section 273.132, shall mean contiguous acreage of ten acres or more, primarily used during the preceding year for agricultural purposes. Agricultural use may include pasture, timber, waste, unusable wild land and land included in federal farm programs.

Real estate of less than ten acres used principally for raising poultry, livestock, fruit, vegetables or other agricultural products, shall be considered as agricultural land, if it is not used primarily for residential purposes.

Subd. 6a. [HOMESTEAD OWNED BY FAMILY FARM

CORPORATION OR PARTNERSHIP.] (a) Each family farm corporation and each partnership operating a family farm shall be entitled to class 3b assessment and shall be eligible for the credit provided in subdivision 6 for one homestead occupied by a shareholder or partner thereof who is residing on the land and actively engaged in farming of the land owned by the corporation or partnership. Such a homestead shall not exceed 160 240 acres, and shall be assessed as provided in subdivision 6, notwithstanding the fact that legal title to the property may be in the name of the corporation or partnership and not in the name of the person residing thereon. "Family farm corporation" and "family farm" shall mean as defined in section 500.24.

(b) In addition to property specified in paragraph (a), any other residences owned by corporations or partnerships described in paragraph (a) which are located on agricultural land and occupied as homesteads by shareholders or partners who are actively engaged in farming on behalf of the corporation or partnership shall also be assessed as class 3b property, and be entitled to the credit provided in subdivision 6, but the property eligible shall be limited to the residence itself and as much of the land surrounding the homestead, not exceeding one acre, as is reasonably necessary for the use of the dwelling as a home, and shall not include any other structures that may be located thereon.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 273.13, Subdivision 7, is amended to read:

Subd. 7. [CLASS 3C, 3CC.] All other real estate and class 2a property, except as provided by classes 1 and 3cc, which is used for the purposes of a homestead, shall constitute class 3c, and shall be valued and assessed at 22 20 percent of the market value thereof in 1977, 1979 for taxes payable in 1978, 1980 and at 20 percent thereafter subsequent years. The property tax to be paid on class 3c property as otherwise determined by law, less any reduction received pursuant to section 273.135, regardless of whether or not the market value is in excess of the homestead base value, shall be reduced by 45 50 percent of the amount of such tax; provided that the amount of said reduction shall not exceed \$325 \$525. If the market value is in excess of the sum of the homestead base value, the amount in excess of that sum shall be valued and assessed at 36 33- $\frac{1}{3}$ percent of market value in 1977, 1979 for taxes payable in 1978, 1980 and at 33- $\frac{1}{3}$ percent thereafter subsequent years. Class 3cc property shall include only real estate which is used for the purposes of a homestead by (a) any blind person, if such blind person is the owner thereof or if such blind person and his or her spouse are the sole owners thereof; or (b) any person (hereinafter referred to as veteran) who: (1) served in the active military or naval service of the United States and (2) is entitled to compensation under the laws and regulations of the United States for permanent and total service-connected disability due to the loss, or loss of use, by reason of amputation, ankylosis, progressive muscular Class 3cc property shall be valued and assessed at five percent of the market value thereof. Permanently and totally disabled for the purpose of this subdivision means a condition which is permanent in nature and totally incapacitates the person from working at an occupation which brings him an income. The property tax to be paid on class 3cc property as otherwise determined by law, less any reduction received pursuant to section 273.135, regardless of whether or not the market value is in excess of the homestead base value, for all purposes shall be reduced by 45 50 percent of the amount of such tax; provided that the amount of said reduction shall not exceed \$325 \$525. If the market value is in excess of the sum of \$28,000 \$30,000, the amount in excess of that sum shall be valued and assessed at 24 25 percent in 1977, 1979 for taxes payable in 1978 1980 and 30 percent thereafter subsequent years, in the case of agricultural land used for a homestead and 36 33-1/3 percent in the case of all other real estate used for a homestead for taxes payable in 1978 and 33-1/3 percent for taxes payable in 1979 1980 and subsequent years.

Sec. 8. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 273.132, is amended to read:

273.132 [STATE PAID AGRICULTURAL CREDIT.] The county auditor shall reduce the tax for school purposes on all property receiving the homestead credit pursuant to section 273.13, subdivision 6, by an amount equal to the tax levy that would be produced by applying a rate of 15 mills on the property. The county auditor shall reduce the tax for school purposes on all other agricultural lands and all real estate devoted to temporary and seasonal residential occupancy for recreational purposes, but not devoted to commercial purposes, by an amount that would be produced by applying a rate of ten 12 mills on the property. The amounts so computed by the county auditor shall be submitted to the commissioner of revenue as part of the abstracts of tax lists required to be filed with the commissioner under the provisions of section 275.29. Any prior year adjustments shall also be certified in the abstracts of tax lists. The commissioner of revenue shall review such certifications to determine their accuracy. He may make such changes in the certification as he may deem necessary or return a certification to the county auditor for corrections.

273.17 [ASSESSMENT OF REAL PROPERTY.] Subdivision 1. In every year, on January 2, the assessor shall also assess all real property that may have become subject to taxation since the last previous assessment, including all real property platted since the last real estate assessment, and all buildings or other structures of any kind, whether completed or in process of construction, of over $1,000 in value, the value of which has not been previously added to or included in the valuation of the land on which they have been erected. The newly assessed property shall be valued initially at a value not exceeding the average percent of market value used in the tax levies for its respective class of property in its assessment district if the market value as determined by the assessor pursuant to section 273.11, subdivision 1 exceeds by more than ten percent the limited market value established for that class of property. The assessment shall be increased to market value in annual increments as provided in section 273.11, subdivision 2 until such time as the property is reassessed. He shall make return thereof to the county auditor, with his return of personal property, showing the tract or lot on which each structure has been erected and the market value added thereto by such erection. Every assessor shall list, without revaluing, in each year, on a form to be prescribed by the commissioner of revenue, all parcels of land that shall have become homesteads or shall have ceased to be homesteads for taxation purposes since the last real estate assessment, and other parcels of land when the use of the land requires a change in classification or the land has been incorrectly classified in a previous assessment.

The county auditor shall note such change in the assessed valuation upon the tax lists, caused by a change in classification, and shall calculate the taxes for such year on such changed valuation. In case of the destruction by fire, flood, or otherwise of any building or structure, over $100 in value, which has been erected previous to the last valuation of the land on which it stood, or the value of which has been added to any former valuation, the assessor shall determine, as nearly as practicable, how much less such land would sell for at private sale in consequence of such destruction, and make return thereof to the auditor.

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290A.04, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

The commissioner of revenue shall determine and announce by September 1, 1981, the percentage increase from June, 1980, to June, 1981, in the revised all urban consumer price index for the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area prepared by the United States department of labor with 1967 as a base year. The commissioner of revenue shall determine and announce by September 1, 1982, and each succeeding year, the percentage increase from June, 1981, to June, 1982, in the revised all urban consumer price index for the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area prepared by the United States department of labor with 1967 as a base year. The income amounts in subdivisions 2, 2a and 2b, as adjusted the previous year, shall be increased by that percentage rounded to the nearest dollar to produce the inflation adjusted income amounts for claims based on property taxes payable in 1983 and rent constituting property taxes paid in 1982 and each succeeding year.

ARTICLE XIII

LEVY LIMITS

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.11, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. In any city or statutory or home rule charter city, except those organized according to Chapter 8, Laws of 1895, in addition to the levy provided for in subdivision 1, an additional levy may be made for general and special fund purposes as herein provided:

If the Revised Consumer Price Index, as published by the United States Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, for the city of Minneapolis (or if no such index is published for the city of Minneapolis, for the nearest city to Minneapolis for which such index is published), as of December 15 of any year (or for the date nearest to December 15 if no such index is published as of December 15), shall be above 102 (using the average for the years 1947-1949 as a base), the maximum levy limit shall, subject to the restrictions of this subdivision, be increased by 3½ percent for each of the first 6 points that said index may be increased and by one percent for each additional point increased above 6. A fractional point increase shall be disregarded if less than one-half point and treated as one point if one-half point, or more. In any city where more than 25 percent of the assessed valuation consists of iron ore and in any statutory city, the levy permitted by this paragraph shall be in addition to any statutory or charter limitations. In any other city, the levy authorized by this paragraph shall be made within charter limitations.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.50, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary for taxes levied in 1977 1978 payable in 1978 1979 and thereafter, "special levies" means those portions of ad valorem taxes levied by governmental subdivisions to:

(a) satisfy judgments rendered against the governmental subdivision by a court of competent jurisdiction in any tort action,

or to pay the costs of settlements out of court against the governmental subdivision in a tort action when substantiated by a stipulation for the dismissal of the action filed with the court of competent jurisdiction and signed by both the plaintiff and the legal representative of the governmental subdivision, but only to the extent of the increase in levy for such judgments and out of court settlements over levy year 1970, taxes payable in 1971;

(b) pay the costs of complying with any written lawful order initially issued prior to January 1, 1977 by the state of Minnesota, or the United States, or any agency or subdivision thereof, which is authorized by law, statute, special act or ordinance and is enforceable in a court of competent jurisdiction, or any stipulation agreement or permit for treatment works or disposal system for pollution abatement in lieu of a lawful order signed by the governmental subdivision and the state of Minnesota, or the United States, or any agency or subdivision thereof which is enforceable in a court of competent jurisdiction. The commissioner of revenue shall in consultation with other state departments and agencies, develop a suggested form for use by the state of Minnesota, its agencies and subdivisions in issuing orders pursuant to this subdivision;

(c) pay the costs to a governmental subdivision for their minimum required share of any program otherwise authorized by law, including the administrative costs of social services but not administrative costs of public assistance programs or of county welfare systems, for which matching funds have been appropriated by the state of Minnesota or the United States, but only to the extent that the costs to the governmental subdivision for the program exceed those expended in calendar year 1970, subject to rules promulgated by the commissioner of revenue pursuant to the administrative procedures act. Amounts levied pursuant to this clause which are in excess of the amount necessary to meet the minimum required share of a program shall be deducted from the general levy made in the following year;

(d) pay the costs not reimbursed by the state or federal government, of payments made to or on behalf of recipients of aid under any public assistance program authorized by law;

(e) pay the costs of principal and interest on bonded indebtedness, or, effective for taxes levied in 1973 and years thereafter, to reimburse for the amount of liquor store revenues used to pay the principal and interest due in the year preceding the year for which the levy limit is calculated on municipal liquor store bonds;

(f) pay the costs of principal and interest on certificates of indebtedness, except tax anticipation or aid anticipation certificates of indebtedness, issued for any corporate purpose except current expenses or funding an insufficiency in receipts from taxes or other sources or funding extraordinary expenditures resulting from a public emergency;

(g) fund the payments made to the Minnesota state armory building commission pursuant to section 193.145, subdivision 2, to retire the principal and interest on armory construction bonds;

(h) provide for the bonded indebtedness portion of payments made to another political subdivision of the state of Minnesota;

(i) pay the amounts required to compensate for a decrease in revenues from public service enterprises, municipal liquor stores, licenses, permits, fines and forfeits and no other, to the extent that the aggregate of revenues from these sources in the calendar year preceding the year of levy are less than the aggregate of revenues from these sources in calendar year 1971. "Revenues" from a public service enterprise or a municipal liquor store shall mean the net income or loss of such public service enterprise or municipal liquor store, determined by subtracting total expenses from total revenues, and before any contribution to or from the governmental subdivision. "Fines" for a municipal court means the net amount remaining after subtracting total municipal court expenses from total collections of municipal court fines. A governmental subdivision shall qualify for this special levy only if the decrease in aggregate revenues as computed herein and divided by the population of the governmental subdivision in the preceding levy year is equal to or greater than two percent of the per capita levy limitation for the preceding levy year;

(j) pay the amounts required to compensate for a decrease in mobile homes property tax receipts to the extent that the governmental subdivision's portion of the total levy in the current levy year, pursuant to section 273.13, subdivision 3, as amended, is less than the distribution of the mobile homes tax to the governmental subdivision pursuant to section 273.13, subdivision 3, in calendar year 1971;

(k) pay the amounts required, in accordance with section 275.075, to correct for a county auditor's error of omission in levy year 1971 or a subsequent levy year, but only to the extent that when added to the preceding year's levy it is not in excess of an applicable statutory, special law or charter limitation, or the limitation imposed on the governmental subdivision by sections 275.50 to 275.56 in the preceding levy year;

(l) pay amounts required to correct for an error of omission in the levy certified to the appropriate county auditor or auditors by the governing body of a city or town with statutory city powers in a levy year, but only to the extent that when added to the preceding year's levy it is not in excess of an applicable statutory, special law or charter limitation, or the limitation imposed on the governmental subdivision by sections 275.50 to 275.56 in the preceding levy year;

(m) pay the increased cost of municipal services as the result of an annexation or consolidation ordered by the Minnesota municipal board in levy year 1971 or a subsequent levy year, but only to the extent and for the levy years as provided by the board in its order pursuant to section 414.01, subdivision 15. Special levies authorized by the board shall not exceed 50 percent of the levy limit base of the governmental subdivision and may not be in effect for more than three years after the board's order;

(n) pay the increased costs of municipal services provided to new private industrial and nonresidential commercial development, to the extent that the extension of such services are not paid for through bonded indebtedness or special assessments, and not to exceed the amount determined as follows. The governmental subdivision may calculate the aggregate of:

(1) The increased expenditures necessary in preparation for the delivering of municipal services to new private industrial and nonresidential commercial development, but limited to one year's expenditures one time for each such development;

(2) The amount determined by dividing the overall levy limitation established pursuant to sections 275.50 to 275.56, and exclusive of special levies and special assessments, by the total taxable value of the governmental subdivision, and then multiplying this quotient times the total increase in assessed value of private industrial and nonresidential commercial development within the governmental subdivision. For the purpose of this clause, the increase in the assessed value of private industrial and nonresidential commercial development is calculated as the increase in assessed value over the assessed value of the real estate parcels subject to such private development as most recently determined before the building permit was issued. In the fourth levy year subsequent to the levy year in which the building permit was issued, the increase in assessed value of the real estate parcels subject to such private development shall no longer be included in determining the special levy.

The aggregate of the foregoing amounts, less any costs of extending municipal services to new private industrial and nonresidential commercial development which are paid by bonded indebtedness or special assessments, equals the maximum amount that may be levied as a "special levy" for the increased costs of municipal services provided to new private industrial and nonresidential commercial development. In the levy year following the levy year in which the special levy made pursuant to this clause is discontinued, one-half of the amount of that special levy made in the preceding year shall be added to the permanent levy base of the governmental subdivision;

(o) recover a loss or refunds in tax receipts incurred in non-special levy funds resulting from abatements or court action in the previous year pursuant to section 275.48;

(p) pay amounts required by law to be paid to reduce unfunded accrued liability of public pension funds, including interest thereon, in accordance with the actuarial standards and guidelines specified in sections 69.71 to 69.776 and 356.215 reduced for levy year 1977 and subsequent years by 106 percent of the amount levied for that purpose in 1976, payable in 1977. For the purpose of this special levy, the estimated receipts expected from the state of Minnesota pursuant to sections 69.011 to 69.031 or any other state aid expressly intended for the support of public pension funds shall be considered as a deduction in determining the required levy for the normal costs of the public pension funds. No amount of these aids shall be considered as a deduction in determining the governmental subdivision's required levy for the reduction of unfunded accrued liability of public pension funds;

(q) ~~the amounts allowed under section 174.27 to establish and administer a commuter van program as allowed under section 174.27;~~

(r) pay reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in preventing, preparing for or repairing the effects of a natural disaster. For purposes of this clause, "natural disaster" means the occurrence of or the threat of an occurrence of widespread or severe property damage, injury or loss of life resulting from natural causes, limited to fire, flood, earthquake, windstorm, wave action, oil spill, or other water contamination requiring action to avert danger or damage, volcanic activity, drought or air contamination. The emergency services division of the department of public safety shall formulate standards defining the level of property damage, injury or loss of life that has occurred or that would occur if preventive action were not taken, which will be deemed a natural disaster;

(s) pay the cost of complying with a law enacted by the 1971 or a subsequent legislature that directly requires a new or altered activity of the government after levy year 1977, taxes payable in 1978, but only to the extent of the increased cost of the activity resulting from legislatively mandated changes initially effective after levy year 1977, taxes payable in 1978; and

(t) pay the cost of complying with the social security amendments of 1977, Pub. L. 95-216, 91 Stat. 1509, but only to the extent of the resulting increased social security costs after levy year 1977, taxes payable in 1978.

Sec. 3. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.50, Subdivision 6, is amended to read:

Subd. 6. The cost to a governmental unit of implementing section 18.023, including sanitation and reforestation, as defined in section 18.023, subdivision 1, is a "special levy" and is not subject to tax levy limitations including those contained in sections 275.50 to 275.56 and in Laws 1969, Chapter 593, as amended by Laws 1974, Chapter 108, commencing with the levy made in 1976, payable in 1977, and terminating with the levy made in 1978 1980, payable in 1979 1981. A governmental subdivision may make a supplementary levy in 1977, payable in 1978, for all costs of implementing section 18.023 incurred in calendar year 1977 for which a levy was not made in 1976, payable in 1977. For the purpose of calculating the tax levy limit base under section 275.51, for levy year 1977, taxes payable 1978, there shall be subtracted from the levy limit base of any governmental subdivision an amount equal to 112 percent of the amount levied under section 18.023 in levy year 1974, taxes payable 1975, and included in the levy limit base of the governmental subdivision as a result of Laws 1976, Chapter 437.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.51, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 3e. The property tax levy limitation for governmental subdivisions in 1979 payable in 1980 and subsequent years shall be calculated as follows:

(a) The sum of the following amounts shall be computed:

(1) the property tax permitted to be levied in 1978 payable 1979 computed pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.51, Subdivision 3d, plus

(2) the amount of any state aids the governmental subdivision was entitled to receive in calendar year 1979 pursuant to sections 477A.01; 298.26; 298.28, subdivisions 1 and 1a; 298.281, subdivision 1; 298.282; and 294.26, plus

(3) one-half of the amount of the special levy authorized under section 275.50, subdivision 5, clause (i) shall be added to the permanent levy limit base of the governmental subdivision in the year following the year in which it has been discontinued as a special levy pursuant to the provisions of section 275.50, subdivision 5, clause (i).

(b) The sum computed in clause (a) shall be increased annually in the manner provided in section 275.52 to derive the levy limit base for successive years.

(c) For taxes levied in 1980 payable 1981 and subsequent years, the levy limit base is the levy limit base which was computed for the immediately preceding year under the provisions of this section increased according to the provisions of section 275.52. Any amount levied in 1976 payable 1977 under the provisions of section 275.50, subdivision 5, clauses (a), (c), (e) or (f) of the 1976 edition of Minnesota Statutes, to meet the costs of programs, services or legal requirements which cease to exist in a subsequent year shall be subtracted from the levy limit base in the year in which the programs, services or legal requirements for which the levy was made cease to exist.

(d) The levy limit base shall be reduced by the total amount of state formula aids pursuant to section 477A.01 and taconite taxes and aids pursuant to sections 294.26; 298.26; 298.28, subdivision 1; and 298.282, to be paid in the calendar year in which property taxes are payable. As provided in section 298.28, subdivision 1, for taxes payable in 1980 and thereafter, one cent per taxable ton of the amount distributed under section 298.28, subdivision 1, clause (4)(c) shall not be deducted from the levy limit base of the counties that receive that aid. The resulting figure is the amount of property taxes which a governmental subdivision may levy for all purposes other than those for which special levies and special assessments are made.

Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.52, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. The levy limit base, as adjusted for previous increases pursuant to this section, may be increased each year by the governing body of the governmental subdivision affected thereby in the amount not to exceed ~~six~~ eight percent of the previous year's levy limit base for levy years 1978 and 1979 and in an amount not to exceed six percent of the previous year's base for subsequent years.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.52, Subdivision 5, is amended to read:

Subd. 5. For taxes levied in ~~1977~~ 1979 payable in ~~1978~~ 1980 or for taxes levied in ~~1978~~ 1980 payable in ~~1979~~ 1981 a city other than a city of the first class, town, or county not containing a city of the first class which, in the preceding levy year, levied at least 98 percent of its total limited levy amount, may determine to levy in excess of the limitation provided in sections 275.50 to 275.56 by not to exceed 10 percent of its levy limit base by passing a resolution setting forth the amount by which the levy limit is proposed to be exceeded. The resolution shall be published for four successive weeks in the official newspaper of the governmental subdivision or if there is no official newspaper, in a newspaper of general circulation therein, together with a notice fixing a date for a public hearing on the proposed increase which hearing shall be held not less than four weeks nor more than six weeks after the first publication of the resolution. Following the public hearing, the governing body may determine to take no further action, or in the alternative, adopt a resolution authorizing the levy as originally proposed, or adopt a resolution approving a levy in such lesser amount as it so determines. The resolution shall be published in the official newspaper of the governmental subdivision or if there is no official newspaper, in a newspaper of general circulation therein. If within 30 days thereafter, a petition signed by voters equal in number to five percent of the votes cast in the governmental subdivision in the last general election or 2,000 voters, whichever is less, requesting a referendum on the proposed resolution is filed with the clerk or recorder of the governmental subdivision if the governmental subdivision is a city or town, or with the county auditor if the governmental subdivision is a county, the resolution shall not be effective until it has been submitted to the voters at a general or special election and a majority of votes cast on the question of approving the resolution are in the affirmative. The commissioner of revenue shall prepare a suggested form of question to be presented at any such referendum. A levy increased pursuant to this subdivision, whether not challenged or approved at a referendum held at a special or general election held prior to October 1 in any levy year, increases the allowable levy in that same levy year and provides a permanent adjustment to the levy limit base of the governmental subdivision for future levy years. There shall be no reduction in distributions of formula aids to the governmental subdivision as a result of the additional levy.

Sec. 7. [REPEALER.] Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 275.51, Subdivision 3d, is repealed.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.01, is amended to read:

291.01 [TAX IMPOSED.] Subdivision 1. A tax shall be and is hereby imposed upon any the transfer of property, real, personal or mixed, or any interest therein, or income therefrom in trust or otherwise, to any person, association or corporation, except county, town or municipal corporation within the state, for strictly county, town or municipal purposes, in the following cases:

(1) When the transfer is by will or by the intestate laws of this state from any person dying possessed of the property while a resident of this state;

(2) When a transfer is by will or intestate law, of property within the state or within its jurisdiction and the decedent was a non-resident of the state at the time of his death;

(3) When the transfer is of property made by a resident or by a nonresident when such nonresident's property is within this state, or within its jurisdiction, by deed, grant, bargain, sale or gift, made in contemplation of the death of the grantor, vendor, or donor, or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after such death; any transfer of the material part of the property of a deceased in the nature of a final disposition or distribution thereof made within three years prior to death, without adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth, shall, unless shown to the contrary, be deemed to have been made in contemplation of death; but no such transfer made prior to such three year period shall be deemed or held to have been made in contemplation of death; and

(4) Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as imposing a tax upon any transfer, as defined in this chapter, of intangibles, however used or held, whether in trust or otherwise, by a person, or by reason of the death of a person, who was not a resident of this state at the time of his death.

Subd. 2. Such tax shall be imposed when any such person or corporation becomes beneficially entitled, in possession or expectancy, to any property or the income thereof, by any such transfer whether made before or after the passage of this chapter.

Subd. 3. A taxable transfer under the provisions of this chapter shall be deemed to have been made:

(1) To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent has at the time of his death general power of appointment, created on or before October 21, 1942, is exercised by the decedent

(A) by will, or

but the failure to exercise such a power or the complete release of such a power shall not be deemed an exercise thereof. If a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, has been partially released so that it is no longer a general power of appointment, the exercise of such power shall not be deemed to be the exercise of a general power of appointment if

(a) such partial release occurred before November 1, 1950, or

(b) the donee of such power was under a legal disability to release such power on October 21, 1942, and such partial release occurred not later than six months after the termination of such legal disability.

(2) To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent has at the time of his death a general power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, or with respect to which the decedent has at any time exercised or released such a power of appointment by a disposition which is of such nature that if it were a transfer of property owned by the decedent, such transfer would be taxable under the provisions of this chapter. A disclaimer or renunciation of such a power of appointment shall not be deemed a release of such powers. For purposes of this paragraph (2), the power of appointment shall be considered to exist on the date of the decedent's death even though the exercise of the power is subject to a precedent giving of notice or even though the exercise of the power takes effect only on the expiration of a stated period after its exercise, whether or not on or before the date of the decedent's death notice has been given or the power has been exercised.

(3) To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent:

(A) by will; or

exercises a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, by creating another power of appointment which can be validly exercised so as to postpone the vesting of any estate or interest in such property, or suspend the absolute ownership or power of alienation of such property, for a period ascertainable without regard to the date of the creation of the first power.

(4) The term "general power of appointment" means of power which is exercisable in favor of the decedent, his estate, his creditors or the creditors of his estate; except that:

(B) A power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(C) In the case of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person:

(a) If the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with the creator of the power, such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(b) If the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with a person having a substantial interest in the property, subject to the power, which is adverse to exercise of the power in favor of the decedent, such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment. For the purposes of this clause a person who, after the death of the decedent, may be possessed of a power of appointment (with respect to the property subject to the decedent's power) which he may exercise in his own favor shall be deemed as having an interest in the property and such interest shall be deemed adverse to such exercise of the decedent's power.

(c) If, after the application of clauses (a) and (b), the power is a general power of appointment and is exercisable in favor of such other person, in such power shall be deemed a general power of appointment only in respect of a fractional part of the property subject to such power, such part to be determined by dividing the value of such property by the number of such persons, including the decedent, in favor of whom such power is exercisable. For purposes of clauses (b) and (c), a power shall be deemed to be exercisable in favor of a person if it is exercisable in favor of such person, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate.

(5) The lapse of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, during the life of the individual possessing the power shall be considered a release of such power. The preceding sentence shall apply with respect to the lapse of powers during any calendar year only to the extent that the property, which could have been appointed by exercise of such lapsed powers, exceeded in value, at the time of such lapse, the greater of the following amounts:

(a) $5,000 or

(b) Five percent of the aggregate value, at the time of such lapse, of the assets out of which, or the proceeds of which, the exercise of the lapsed powers could have been satisfied.

(6) For purposes of this subdivision, a power of appointment created by a will executed on or before October 12, 1942, shall be considered a power created on or before such date if the person executing such will dies before July 1, 1940, without having republished such will, by codicil or otherwise, after October 21, 1942.

Subd. 4. Whenever any property, real or personal, is held in the joint names of two or more persons, or is deposited in banks or in other institutions or depositories in the joint names of two or more persons payable to either or the survivor, upon the death of one of such persons the right of the survivor or survivors, to the immediate ownership or possession and enjoyment of such property, shall be deemed a transfer and subject to the inheritance tax imposed by this chapter, except such part thereof as may be shown to have originally belonged to the survivor or survivors and never to have been received or acquired by them from the decedent for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth; in which case there shall be excepted only such part as is proportionate to the consideration furnished by the survivor or survivors. Provided, where any property has been acquired prior to April 29, 1935, by the decedent and spouse, as joint tenants, not in excess of one half of the value thereof shall be taxable. Provided, further, where property has been acquired at any time by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance, by the decedent and any other person or persons, as joint tenants, the taxable portion shall be the value of a fractional part of said property to be determined by dividing the value of the property by the number of joint tenants.

Where personal property is held in joint names, such property shall be deemed as to be transferred to the survivors as provided in this subdivision unless it is established to the satisfaction of the commissioner that the decedent intended a different disposition. Upon the showing of evidence of that intent to the commissioner, the right of survivorship shall not be deemed to be a transfer to the named survivors subject to the inheritance tax; provided the survivors make the disposition according to the evidenced intention of the decedent and present to the commissioner statements signed by the transferees acknowledging receipt of the property from the named survivors; the disposition by the survivors to the transferees shall be deemed a transfer from the decedent to the transferees and shall be subject to the inheritance tax imposed by this chapter. This paragraph shall not apply to cases where the aggregate value of joint tenancy assets exceeds $29,000.

Subd. 5. (1) The proceeds of all life or accident insurance policies whether now in force or hereafter issued, payable on account of the decedent's death shall be subject to the tax herein imposed, as follows:

(a) To the extent of the amount receivable by the executor of the decedent as insurance under policies on the life of the decedent.

(b) To the extent of the amount receivable by all other beneficiaries as insurance under policies on the life of the decedent with respect to which the decedent possessed at his death any of the incidents of ownership, exercisable either alone or in conjunction with any other person. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "incident of ownership" includes a reversionary interest (whether arising by the express terms of the policy or other instrument or by operation of law) only if the value of such reversionary interest exceeded five percent of the value of the policy immediately before the death of the decedent. As used in this paragraph, the term "reversionary interest" includes a possibility that the policy, or the proceeds of the policy, may return to the decedent or his estate, or may be subject to a power of disposition by him. The value of a reversionary interest at any time shall be determined (without regard to the fact of the decedent's death) by usual methods of valuation, including the use of tables of mortality and actuarial principles, pursuant to regulations prescribed by the commissioner of internal revenue or his delegate. In determining the value of a possibility that the policy or proceeds thereof may be subject to a power of disposition by the decedent, such possibility shall be valued as if it were a possibility that such policy or proceeds may return to the decedent or this estate.

(2) Such proceeds shall be deemed a transfer within the meaning of that term as used in this chapter and a part of decedent's estate, and shall be taxable to the person or persons entitled thereto.

(3) Every corporation, partnership, association, individual, order or society authorized to transact life, accident, fraternal, mutual benefit, or death benefit insurance business which shall pay to any person, association, or corporation any insurance or death benefit in excess of $1,000 or shall transfer any unpaid balance of, or any interest in, any annuity contract or deposit, upon the death of a resident of this state, shall give notice of such payment or transfer to the commissioner within ten days from the date thereof. Such notice shall be given on the forms prescribed by the commissioner and such notice shall set forth such information as the commissioner shall prescribe the Minnesota taxable estate of every decedent as prescribed by chapter 291.

Sec. 6. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.051, is amended to read:

291.051 [MARITAL DEDUCTION.] Subdivision 1. For the purposes of this section, the terms defined in this subdivision shall have the meaning given them herein.

"Marital exemption" means 50 percent, but not more than $250,000, of the net taxable value passing to the surviving spouse of a decedent domiciled in Minnesota at the time of his death.

"Net taxable value" means the gross value passing to the surviving spouse, reduced by the value of real property outside Minnesota and tangible personal property permanently located outside Minnesota included in the gross value passing to the surviving spouse, and reduced by the deductions attributable to such gross value pursuant to section 291.07, except subdivision 1, clause (5), but without regard to the exemptions allowed to the surviving spouse by sections 291.05, clause (1), (2), and (3), and 291.10.

"Marital exemption tax" means a tax imposed at the rates provided by this chapter on the value of property passing to the surviving spouse less the marital exemption, but without regard to the exemptions allowed to the surviving spouse by sections 291.05, clauses (1), (2) and (3) and 291.10.

Subd. 2. If the marital exemption tax on the property passing to the surviving spouse is less than a tax computed on that property under the other provisions of this chapter, the marital exemption tax shall be imposed in lieu of the tax computed under the other provisions. For the purpose of section 3, clause (3), the value of the Minnesota taxable estate shall, except as limited by subsection (b) of Section 2056 of the Internal Revenue Code and by subdivision 2, be determined by deducting from the value of the federal gross estate an amount equal to the value of any interest in property which passes or has passed from the decedent to his surviving spouse, but only to the extent that the interest has a taxable situs in this state and is included in determining the value of the federal gross estate. An interest in property shall be considered as passing from the decedent to his surviving spouse if it is considered as passing from the decedent to the surviving spouse under Section 2056(d) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Subd. 2. [LIMITATION.] The amount of the deduction allowed under this section for a resident decedent shall not exceed the greater of:

(a) $250,000, or

(b) 50 percent of the value of the federal adjusted gross estate as defined in Section 2056(c)(2)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code, reduced by an amount equal to the adjustment made, if any, for federal estate tax purposes with respect to any gift or gifts made by the decedent to his spouse after December 31, 1976 under Section 2056(c)(1)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code, and further reduced by the value of any property passing from the decedent to his surviving spouse which is exempt from estate tax under section 291.065 and is included in determining the value of the federal gross estate. In the case of a nonresident decedent, the amount of the deduction allowed under this section shall be determined without reference to subpart (a) of this subdivision.

Sec. 7. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 291.06, is amended to read:

291.06 [CREDIT FOR PREVIOUSLY PAID TAXES.] Where property is transferred to any person described in section 291.03, clauses (1) and (2), which can be identified as having been transferred to the decedent at death from a person who died within five years prior to the death of the decedent, and such transfer to the decedent was within the class of transfer described in said section 291.03, clauses (1) and (2), such property shall be exempt to the extent of the value thereof at the date of death of the prior decedent but not to exceed the value at the date of death of the second decedent. Provided, (1) no such exemption shall be allowed unless an inheritance tax was determined and paid to this state on the transfer thereof from the said prior decedent; (2) the exemption shall be limited to the value of property which is in excess of the amount of the exemption provided in section 291.05 allowed on the transfer to the decedent; (3) unless such previously transferred property is specifically devised or bequeathed, the exempt property for purposes of taxation shall be considered as belonging to the residue of the estate; (4) property exempt under this section shall not be included in computing the rate applicable to other transfers

If such amounts payable after the death of the decedent under a plan described in clause (1) (2) or (3) are attributable to any extent to payments or contributions made by the decedent, no exemption shall be allowed for that part of the value of such amounts in the proportion that the total payments or contributions made by the decedent bears to the total payments or contributions made. For purposes of the preceding sentence, contributions or payments made by the decedent's employer or former* employer under a trust or plan described in clause (1) (2) or (3) shall not be considered to be contributed by the decedent.

354A.11 [CERTAIN MONEYS AND CREDITS OF TEACHERS EXEMPT.] All moneys deposited by a teacher or member or deposited by any other person or corporation, municipal or private, to the credit of such teacher or member in a corporation organized as a "Teachers Retirement Fund Association" under sections 354A.03 to 354A.10, and all moneys, rights, and interests or annuities due or to become due to such teacher, member, or annuitant, or their beneficiaries, from any such association shall not be assignable, shall be exempt from garnishment, attachment, and execution or sale on any final process issued from any court and shall not be subject to the inheritance estate tax provisions of this state if transferred to a surviving spouse or minor or dependent child of the decedent or a trust for their benefit.

Sec. 32. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 524.3-706, is amended to read:

524.3-706 [DUTY OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE; INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT.] Within three months after his appointment, a personal representative, who is not a special administrator or a successor to another representative who has previously discharged this duty, shall prepare and file with the court or registrar and mail to the surviving spouse, if there be one, and to all residuary distributees an inventory of property owned by the decedent at the time of his death, listing it with reasonable detail, and indicating as to each listed item, its fair market value as of the date of the decedent's death, and the type and amount of any encumbrance that may exist with reference to any item.

The personal representative shall also mail a copy of the inventory to interested persons or creditors who request it, and shall file an executed copy of the Minnesota inheritance tax return with the court or registrar.

Sec. 33. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 524.3-916, is amended to read:

524.3-916 [APPORTIONMENT OF ESTATE TAXES.] (a) For purposes of this section:

(1) "estate" means the gross estate of a decedent as determined for the purpose of federal estate tax and the estate tax payable to this state;

(2) "person" means any individual, partnership, association, joint stock company, corporation, government, political subdivision, governmental agency, or local governmental agency;

(3) "person interested in the estate" means any person entitled to receive, or who has received, from a decedent or by reason of the death of a decedent any property or interest therein included in the decedent's estate. It includes a personal representative, conservator, and trustee;

(4) "state" means any state, territory, or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico;

(5) "tax" means the federal estate tax and the state estate tax determined by the commissioner of revenue pursuant to ~~section 291.34~~ chapter 291 and interest and penalties imposed in addition to the tax;

(6) "fiduciary" means personal representative or trustee.

(b) Unless the will or other written instrument otherwise provides, the tax shall be apportioned among all persons interested in the estate. The apportionment is to be made in the proportion that the value of the interest of each person interested in the estate bears to the total value of the interests of all persons interested in the estate. The values used in determining the tax are to be used for that purpose. If the decedent's will or other written instrument directs a method of apportionment of tax different from the method described in this code, the method described in the will or other written instrument controls.

(c)(1) The court in which venue lies for the administration of the estate of a decedent, on petition for the purpose may determine the apportionment of the tax.

(2) If the court finds that it is inequitable to apportion interest and penalties in the manner provided in subsection (b), because of special circumstances, it may direct apportionment thereof in the manner it finds equitable.

(3) If the court finds that the assessment of penalties and interest assessed in relation to the tax is due to delay caused by the negligence of the fiduciary, the court may charge him with the amount of the assessed penalties and interest.

(4) In any action to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with this code the determination of the court in respect thereto shall be prima facie correct.

(d) (1) The personal representative or other person in possession of the property of the decedent required to pay the tax may withhold from any property distributable to any person interested in the estate, upon its distribution to him, the amount of tax attributable to his interest. If the property in possession of the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax and distributable to any person interested in the estate is insufficient to satisfy the proportionate amount of the tax determined to be due from the person, the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax may recover the deficiency from the person interested in the estate. If the property is not in the possession of the personal representative or the other person required to pay the tax, the personal representative or the other person required to pay the tax may recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with Laws 1975, Chapter 347.

(2) If property held by the personal representative is distributed prior to final apportionment of the tax, the distributee shall provide a bond or other security for the apportionment liability in the form and amount prescribed by the personal representative.

(e) (1) In making an apportionment, allowances shall be made for any exemptions granted, any classification made of persons interested in the estate and for any deductions and credits allowed by the law imposing the tax.

(2) Any exemption or deduction allowed by reason of the relationship of any person to the decedent or by reason of the purposes of the gift inures to the benefit of the person bearing such relationship or receiving the gift; but if an interest is subject to a prior present interest which is not allowable as a deduction, the tax apportionable against the present interest shall be paid from principal.

(3) Any deduction for property previously taxed and any credit for gift taxes or death taxes of a foreign country paid by the decedent or his estate inures to the proportionate benefit of all persons liable to apportionment.

(4) Any credit for inheritance, succession or estate taxes or taxes in the nature thereof applicable to property or interests includable in the estate, inures to the benefit of the persons or interests chargeable with the payment thereof to the extent proportionately that the credit reduces the tax.

(5) To the extent that property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse or any charitable, public or similar gift or devisee is not an allowable deduction for purposes of the tax solely by reason of an inheritance tax or other death estate tax imposed upon and deductible from the property, the property is not included in the computation provided for in subsection (b) hereof, and to that extent no apportionment is made against the property. The sentence immediately preceding does not apply to any case if the result would be to deprive the estate of a deduction otherwise allowable under section 2053(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, of the United States, relating to deduction for state death taxes on transfers for public, charitable, or religious uses.

(f) No interest in income and no estate for years or for life or other temporary interest in any property or fund is subject to apportionment as between the temporary interest and the remainder. The tax on the temporary interest and the tax, if any, on the remainder is chargeable against the corpus of the property or funds subject to the temporary interest and remainder.

(g) Neither the personal representative nor other person required to pay the tax is under any duty to institute any action to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person until the expiration of the three months next following final determination of the tax. A personal representative or other person required to pay the tax who institutes the action within a reasonable time after the three month period is not subject to any liability or surcharge because any portion of the tax apportioned to any person interested in the estate was collectible at a time following the death of the decedent but thereafter became uncollectible. If the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax cannot collect from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person, the amount not recoverable shall be equitably apportioned among the other persons interested in the estate who are subject to apportionment.

(h) A personal representative acting in another state or a person required to pay the tax domiciled in another state may institute an action in the courts of this state and may recover a proportionate amount of the federal estate tax, of an estate tax payable to another state or of a death duty due by a decedent's estate to another state, from a person interested in the estate who is either domiciled in this state or who owns property in this state subject to attachment or execution. For the purposes of the action the determination of apportionment by the court having jurisdiction of the administration of the decedent's estate in the other state is prima facie correct.

524.3-1001 [FORMAL PROCEEDINGS TERMINATING ADMINISTRATION; TESTATE OR INTTESTATE; ORDER OF DISTRIBUTION, DECREE, AND GENERAL PROTECTION.]

(a) (1) A personal representative or any interested person may petition for an order of complete settlement of the estate. The personal representative may petition at any time, and any other interested person may petition after one year from the appointment of the original personal representative except that no petition under this section may be entertained until the time for presenting claims which arose prior to the death of the decedent has expired. The petition may request the court to determine testacy, if not previously determined, to consider the final account or compel or approve an accounting and distribution, to construe any will or determine heirs and adjudicate the final settlement and distribution of the estate. After notice to all interested persons and hearing the court may enter an order or orders, on appropriate conditions, determining the persons entitled to distribution of the estate, and, as circumstances require, approving settlement and directing or approving distribution of the estate and discharging the personal representative from further claim or demand of any interested person.

(2) In such petition for complete settlement of the estate, the petitioner may apply for a decree. Upon the hearing, if in the best interests of interested persons, the court may issue its decree which shall determine the persons entitled to the estate and assign the same to them in lieu of ordering the assignment by the personal representative. The decree shall name the heirs and distributees, state their relationship to the decedent, describe the property, and state the proportions or part thereof to which each is entitled. In the estate of a testate decedent, no heirs shall be named in the decree unless all heirs be ascertained.

(3) In solvent estates, the hearing may be waived by written consent to the proposed account and decree of distribution or order of distribution by all heirs or distributees, and the court may then enter its order allowing the account and issue its decree or order of distribution.

(4) The court shall have the power in its decree or order of distribution to waive the lien of inheritance estate taxes, find that the taxes have been satisfied by payment or, decree the property subject to the lien; provided, however, where a decree or order for distribution is issued, the personal representative shall not be discharged until all property is paid or transferred to the persons entitled thereto, and has otherwise fully discharged his trust. If objections are filed with the court by the commissioner of revenue, no discharge shall be issued until the objections are determined. ~~The court shall send a copy of the decree, upon issuance, to the commissioner of revenue. If no objection is filed, the court shall have the power to settle and distribute the estate and discharge the personal representative without regard to tax obligations.~~

(b) If one or more heirs or devisees were omitted as parties in, or were not given notice of, a previous formal testacy proceeding, the court, on proper petition for an order of complete settlement of the estate under this section, and after notice to the omitted or unnotified persons and other interested parties determined to be interested on the assumption that the previous order concerning testacy is conclusive as to those given notice of the earlier proceeding, may determine testacy as it affects the omitted persons and confirm or alter the previous order of testacy as it affects all interested persons as appropriate in the light of the new proofs. In the absence of objection by an omitted or unnotified person, evidence received in the original testacy proceeding shall constitute prima facie proof of due execution of any will previously admitted to probate, or of the fact that the decedent left no valid will if the prior proceedings determined this fact.

Sec. 35. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 525.091, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

An appellant, other than the state, the veterans' administration, or a representative appealing on behalf of the estate, shall file in the probate court a bond in such amount as that court may direct, conditioned to prosecute the appeal with due diligence to a final determination, pay all costs and disbursements and abide the order of the court therein. The notice of appeal with proof of service and the bond, if required, shall be filed in the probate court within ten days after the service of such notice and the appellant shall pay to such court the sum of $15, of which $10 shall be transmitted to the clerk of the supreme court, as provided by law for appeals in civil actions.

Such appeal shall stay all proceedings on the order appealed from. When a party in good faith gives due notice of appeal from such order and omits through mistake to do any other act necessary to perfect the appeal, or to stay proceedings, the court may permit an amendment on such terms as may be just. ARTICLE XVIII GIFTS TO MINORS

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 292.04, is amended to read:

292.04 [EXEMPTIONS.] The following transfers by gift shall be exempt from and excluded in computing the tax imposed by this chapter:

(1) Gifts to or for the use of the United States of America or any state or any political subdivision thereof for exclusively public purposes;

(2) Gifts to or for the use of any fund, foundation, trust, association, organization or corporation operated within this state for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes exclusively, including the promotion of the arts, or the conduct of a public cemetery, if no part thereof inures to the profit of any private shareholder or individual. Gifts to or for the use of any corporation, fund, foundation, trust, or association operated for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, including the promotion of the arts, or the conduct of a public cemetery, no part of which inures to the profit of any private shareholders or individual, shall be exempt, if at the date of the gift, the laws of the state under the laws of which the donee is organized or existing either (1) do not impose a gift tax in respect of property transferred to a similar corporation, fund, foundation, trust, or association, organized or existing under the laws of this state, or (2) contain a reciprocal provision under which gifts to a similar corporation, fund, foundation, trust, or association organized or existing under the laws of another state are exempt from gift taxes if such other state allows a similar exemption to a similar corporation, fund, foundation, trust, or association, organized or existing under the laws of such state;

(3) Gifts to a fraternal society, order, or association operating under the lodge system, but only if such gifts are to be used exclusively for the purposes designated in clause (2);

(6) The first $3,000 in value of gifts (other than of future interests in property) made to any person by the donor during any calendar year. No part of a gift to a minor donee shall be considered a gift of future interest in property for purposes of this clause if it complies with the provisions of the Minnesota uniform gifts to minors act, chapter 527, or if it is a transfer for the benefit of a minor, and if the property and income therefrom:

(a) May be expended by or for the benefit of the donee before his attaining the age of 18 21 years; and

(b) Will to the extent not so expended

(1) pass to the donee on his attaining the age of 18 21 years and

For each of the taxable years beginning after December 31, 1960 and prior to January 1, 1971, the term "gross income" in its application to individuals, estates, and trusts, shall mean the adjusted gross income as computed for federal income tax purposes as defined in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through December 31, 1970 for the applicable taxable year, with the modifications specified in this section.

For each of the taxable years beginning after December 31, 1970, the term "gross income" in its application to individuals, estates, and trusts shall mean the adjusted gross income as computed for federal income tax purposes as defined in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended through the date specified herein for the applicable taxable year, with the modifications specified in this section.

The provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1976, P.L. 94-455, which affect adjusted gross income shall become effective for purposes of chapter 290 at the same time they become effective for federal income tax purposes. References to the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 in clauses (a), (b) and (c) following shall mean the code in effect for the purpose of defining gross income for the applicable taxable year.

(a) Modifications increasing federal adjusted gross income. There shall be added to federal adjusted gross income:

(1) Interest income or obligations of any state other than Minnesota or a political subdivision of any such other state exempt from federal income taxes under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954;

(2) Interest income on obligations of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States, which the laws of the United States exempt from federal income tax, but not from state income taxes;

(3) Income taxes imposed by this state or any other taxing jurisdiction, to the extent deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income and not credited against federal income tax;

(4) Interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry securities the income from which is exempt from tax under this chapter, to the extent deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income;

(c) Modifications affecting shareholders of electing small business corporations under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, or section 290.972 of this chapter.

(1) Shareholders in a small business corporation, which has elected to be so taxed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not made an election under section 290.972 of this chapter, shall deduct from federal adjusted gross income the amount of any imputed income from such corporation and shall add to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any loss claimed as a result of such stock ownership. Also there shall be added to federal adjusted gross income the amount of any distributions in cash or property made by said corporation to its shareholders during the taxable year.

(2) In cases where the small business corporation has made an election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, but has not elected under section 290.972 of this chapter and said corporation is liquidated or the individual shareholder disposes of his stock and there is no capital loss reflected in federal adjusted gross income because of the fact that corporate losses have exhausted the shareholders basis for federal purposes, such shareholders shall be entitled, nevertheless, to a capital loss commensurate to their Minnesota basis for the stock.

(3) In cases where the election under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 antedates the election under section 290.972 of this chapter and at the close of the taxable year immediately preceding the effective election under section 290.972

the corporation has a reserve of undistributed taxable income previously taxed to shareholders under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, in the event and to the extent that such reserve is distributed to shareholders such distribution shall be taxed as a dividend for purposes of this act.

Items of gross income includible within these definitions shall be deemed such regardless of the form in which received. Items of gross income shall be included in gross income of the taxable year in which received by a taxpayer unless properly to be accounted for as of a different taxable year under methods of accounting permitted by section 290.07, except that (1) amounts transferred from a reserve or other account, if in effect transfers to surplus, shall, to the extent that such amounts were accumulated through deductions from gross income or entered into the computation of taxable net income during any taxable year, be treated as gross income for the year in which the transfer occurs, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act, and (2) amounts received as refunds on account of taxes deducted from gross income during any taxable year shall be treated as gross income for the year in which actually received, but only to the extent that such amounts resulted in a reduction of the tax imposed by this act.

(d) Modification in computing taxable income of the estate of a decedent. Amounts allowable under section 291.07, subdivision 1(2) in computing Minnesota inheritance tax liability shall not be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable income of the estate unless there is filed within the time and in the manner and form prescribed by the commissioner a statement that the amounts have not been allowed as a deduction under section 291.07 and a waiver of the right to have such amounts allowed at any time as deductions under section 291.07. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply with respect to deductions allowed under section 290.077 (relating to income in respect of decedents). In the event that the election made for federal tax purposes under section 642(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 differs from the election made under this paragraph appropriate modification of the estate's federal taxable income shall be made to implement the election made under this paragraph in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 290.14, is amended to read:

290.14 [GAIN OR LOSS ON DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY, BASIS.] The basis for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property acquired on or after January 1, 1933, shall be the cost to the taxpayer of such property, with the following exceptions:

- (1) If the property should have been included in the last inventory, it shall be the last inventory value thereof;
- (2) If the property was acquired by gift, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the last preceding owner not acquiring it by gift; if the facts required for this determination cannot be ascertained, it shall be the fair market value as of the date, or approximate date, of acquisition by such last preceding owner, as nearly as the requisite facts can be ascertained by the commissioner;

(3) If the property was acquired by gift through an inter vivos transfer in trust, it shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the grantor;

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this clause (4), the basis of property in the hands of a person acquiring the property from a decedent or to whom the property passed from a decedent shall, if not sold, exchanged or otherwise disposed of before the decedent's death by such person, be the fair market value of the property at the date of decedent's death.

For the purposes of the preceding paragraph, the following property shall be considered to have been acquired from or to have passed from the decedent:

(a) Property acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance, or by the decedent's estate from the decedent;

(b) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent, with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to revoke the trust;

(c) Property transferred by the decedent during his lifetime in trust to pay the income for life to or on the order or direction of the decedent with the right reserved to the decedent at all times before his death to make any change in the enjoyment thereof through the exercise of a power to alter, amend, or terminate the trust;

(d) Property passing without full and adequate consideration under a general power of appointment exercised by the decedent by will;

(e) In the case of a decedent's dying after December 31, 1956, property acquired from the decedent by reason of death, form of ownership, or other conditions (including property acquired through the exercise or non-exercise of a power of appointment), if by reason thereof the property is required to be included in determining the value of the decedent's gross estate for Minnesota inheritance tax purposes. In such case, if the property is acquired before the death of the decedent, the basis shall be the amount determined under the first paragraph of this clause reduced by the amount allowed to the taxpayer as deductions in computing taxable net income under this chapter or prior Minnesota income tax laws for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion on such property before the death of the decedent. Such basis shall be applicable to the property commencing on the death of the decedent. This paragraph shall not apply to annuities described in section 290.08; and property described in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this clause (4).

Clause (4) shall not apply to property which constitutes a right to receive an item of income in respect of a decedent under section 290.077. Nor shall it apply to restricted stock options described in section 290.078 which the employee has not exercised at death.

(5) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, upon an exchange described in section 290.13, subdivision 1, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized upon such exchange under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by section 290.13, subdivision 1, to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of other property, the basis provided in this clause shall be allocated between the properties, other than money, received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. This clause shall not apply to property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration, in whole or in part, for the transfer of the property to it;

(6) If substantially identical property was acquired in the place of stocks or securities which were sold or disposed of and in respect of which loss was not allowed as a deduction under section 290.09, subdivision 5, the basis in the case of property so acquired shall be the same as in the case of the stock or securities so sold or disposed of, increased by the excess of the repurchase price of such property over the sale price of such stock or securities, or decreased by the excess of the sale price of such stock or securities over the repurchase price of such property;

(7) If the property was acquired after December 31, 1932, as the result of a compulsory or involuntary conversion described in section 290.13, subdivision 5, the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property so converted, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer which was not expended in accordance with the provisions of law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made, determining the taxable status of the gain or loss upon such conversion, and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer recognized upon such conversion under the law applicable to the year in which such conversion was made.

(8) Neither the basis nor the adjusted basis of any portion of real property shall, in the case of a lessor of such property, be increased or diminished on account of income derived by the lessor in respect of such property and excludable from gross income under section 290.08, subdivision 14.

If an amount representing any part of the value of real property attributable to buildings erected or other improvements made by a lessee in respect of such property was included in gross income of the lessor for any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1943, the basis of each portion of such property shall be properly adjusted for the amount so included in gross income.

(9) If the property was acquired by the taxpayer as a transfer of property in exchange for the release of the taxpayer's marital rights, the basis of the property shall be the same as it would be if it were being sold or otherwise disposed of by the person who transferred the property to the taxpayer.

Sec. 3. [EFFECTIVE DATE.] This article is effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1978."

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 473.417, is amended to read:

473.417 [ADDITIONAL EMPLOYER OBLIGATION TO AMORTIZE UNFUNDED ACCRUED LIABILITIES.] In order to amortize the additional unfunded accrued liability incurred by the Minnesota state retirement system as a result of the consolidation of the metropolitan transit commission—transit operating division employees retirement fund, and to place the metropolitan transit commission on an equivalent basis with the other employing units and agencies having employees covered by the Minnesota state retirement system, the metropolitan transit commission shall make an annual contribution to the Minnesota state retirement system in addition to the employer contribution specified in section 352.04, subdivision 3. Sec. 17. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 473.418, is amended to read:

473.418 [DISABILITY AND SURVIVORSHIP COVERAGE.] From and after the effective date of Laws 1978, Chapter 538, the metropolitan transit commission shall provide for all active employees of the transit operating division of the metropolitan transit commission disability and survivorship coverage which, when added to the disability benefit or the survivorship benefit payable from the Minnesota state retirement system pursuant to sections 352.113 or 352.12, subdivision 2, will at least equal the disability benefit or the survivorship benefit which that employee at the time of disability or the employee's surviving spouse at the time of the death of the employee while on active duty would have been entitled to receive under the disability benefit or survivor of active employee deceased while on active duty benefit provisions of the metropolitan transit commission—transit operating division employees retirement fund plan document in effect on December 31, 1977. The metropolitan transit commission shall not be required to provide any supplementary disability benefit coverage or benefit amount to replace the amount of any reduction in any disability payable from the Minnesota state retirement system due to the receipt of benefits under the workers' compensation law unless no offset of the amount of workers' compensation benefits from the amount of a disability benefit was required pursuant to the provisions of article ten of the metropolitan transit commission-transit operating division employees retirement fund plan document in effect on December 31, 1977. The metropolitan transit commission may elect to provide the additional disability and survivorship coverage either through contract with an insurance carrier or through self insurance. A summary description of the essential terms of the contract shall be provided by the commission to the labor organization which is the exclusive bargaining agent representing employees of the transit operating division of the metropolitan transit commission and to each active employee of the transit operating division. The determination of whether the disability or survivorship insurance coverage meets the minimum requirements of this section shall

If the disability or survivorship coverage provided by the metropolitan transit commission fails at any time after the effective date of Laws 1978, Chapter 538 to meet the requirements of this section as to the level of disability or survivorship coverage to be provided, the deficiency in the actual benefits provided shall continue to be an obligation of the commission. Notwithstanding any provisions of chapter 179 to the contrary, the labor organization which is the exclusive bargaining agent representing employees of the transit operating division of the metropolitan transit commission may meet and bargain with the commission on an increase in the level of disability or survivor of active employee deceased while on active duty coverage to be provided by the commission at the same time that wages and other terms and conditions of employment are considered.

Retirement shall be based on 2-½ percent per year of average salary for 20 years of service and two percent per year thereafter, to a maximum of 35 years. The minimum age at which retirement benefits may be drawn is the age of 55 years, except that a member with 18 years of service on July 1, 1967, may draw retirement benefits at the age of 50 years.

The amount of the monthly payments under the deferred pension certificate shall be the proportion of the monthly pension to which he would be entitled if he had the necessary minimum age and minimum years of service for retirement at the time of withdrawal, as his actual years of service at the time of withdrawal bear to the minimum years of service required for retirement. The monthly annuity payments shall commence upon the date the withdrawing member would have first been entitled to a retirement annuity had he continued his employment.

In the case of the death before commencement of payments to a holder of a deferred pension certificate, his contributions on which the certificate was based shall be paid to his surviving spouse, if living, otherwise to his designated beneficiary, if any, otherwise to his heirs. The surviving spouse or a person appointed by the

In default of the two physicians so selected to agree upon a third, the third shall be appointed within one month by the chief judge of the judicial district in which the city of Moorhead is located. The decision of the board of physicians shall be final. The costs of the panel of physicians shall be paid by the city. 79.25 [BUREAU TO FIX PREMIUM RATES.] Subdivision 1. When any ~~such~~ rejected risk is called to its attention and it ~~appearing~~ appears that the risk is in good faith entitled to coverage the bureau shall fix the initial premium therefor and may fix an additional charge to compensate the agent of record for his services and, upon its payment, the bureau shall designate a member, whose duty it shall be to issue a policy containing the usual and customary provisions found in such policies therefor, but for which undertaking all members of the bureau shall be reinsurers as among themselves in the amount which the compensation insurance written in this state during the preceding calendar year by that member bears to the total compensation insurance written in this state during the preceding year by all the members of the bureau.

Subd. 2. An insurer that issues a policy pursuant to this section shall not receive an expense allowance that exceeds an expense allowance approved by the commissioner for other insurers.

Sec. 16. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.33] [ADDITIONAL DUTIES OF THE COMMISSIONER.] In addition to other duties prescribed to the commissioner, he shall: (a) establish a maximum wage base, relative to maximum benefits, upon which premiums are calculated; (b) study the feasibility of extending the experience rating system to employers who are not covered by it; and (c) require insurers when establishing reserves to use life expectancy tables, when available, that are appropriate for persons with equivalent disabilities. If these life expectancy tables are not available, the commissioner shall require insurers to develop them unless their development is not feasible.

Sec. 17. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.34] [CREATION OF REINSURANCE ASSOCIATION.] Subdivision 1. An unincorporated, nonprofit association known as the workers' compensation reinsurance association is created. Each insurer as defined by section 79.01, subdivision 2, shall as a condition of its authority to transact workers' compensation insurance in this state, be a member of the reinsurance association. Employers who self insure pursuant to section 176.181, subdivision 2 shall also be members. Each member shall be bound by the plan of operation of the reinsurance association.

Subd. 2. The reinsurance association shall provide and each member shall accept indemnification for 100 percent of the amount of ultimate loss sustained under chapter 176 in excess of $200,000 in each loss occurrence. Ultimate loss means the actual loss amounts that a member is obligated to pay and that are paid or payable by the member and does not include claim expenses. An ultimate loss is incurred by the reinsurance association on the date when the loss occurs.

Subd. 3. An insurer may withdraw from the reinsurance association only upon ceasing to write workers' compensation insurance in this state.

An insurer whose membership in the reinsurance association is terminated shall continue to be bound by the plan of operation. All unpaid premiums that have been charged to the withdrawing member are payable on the effective date of the withdrawal.

Subd. 4. An unsatisfied net liability to the reinsurance association of an insolvent member shall be apportioned among the remaining members of the reinsurance association as provided in the plan of operation. The reinsurance association has all rights allowed by law on behalf of the remaining members against the assets of the insolvent member for sums due the reinsurance association.

Subd. 5. When a member has merged or consolidated with another insurer or another insurer has reinsured a member's entire business that provides the insurance required by chapter 176, the member and successors in interest of the member remain liable for the member's obligations.

Subd. 6. No insurer or self insurer shall establish a reserve to cover losses in excess of its maximum liability of $200,000 for each loss.

Sec. 18. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.35] [DUTIES; RESPONSIBILITIES; POWERS.] The reinsurance association shall do the following on behalf of its members:

(a) Assume 100 percent of the liability as provided in section 16;

(b) Establish procedures by which members shall promptly report to the reinsurance association each claim that, on the basis of the injury sustained, may reasonably be anticipated to involve the reinsurance association if the member is held liable under chapter 176. Solely for the purpose of reporting claims, the member shall in all instances consider itself legally liable for the injury. The member shall advise the reinsurance association of subsequent developments likely to materially affect the interest of the reinsurance association in the claim;

(c) Maintain relevant loss and expense data relative to all liabilities of the reinsurance association and require each member to furnish statistics in connection with liabilities of the reinsurance association at the times and in the form and detail required by the plan of operation;

(d) Calculate and charge to members a total premium sufficient to cover the expected losses of the reinsurance association that the reinsurance association will likely pay during the period for which the premium is applicable. Each member shall be charged an amount equal to the proportion of that member's earned premium for workers' compensation insurance, relative to the total earned premium for workers' compensation insurance written in this state during the period to which the premium applies. The board shall establish an equitable basis for premium charges to self insurers. The reinsurance association shall not establish a reserve in anticipation of expected losses;

(e) Require and accept the payment of premiums from members of the reinsurance association. The reinsurance association shall (1) require payment of the premium in full within 45 days after the premium charge; or (2) require payment of the premium to be made periodically to cover the actual cash obligations of the reinsurance association;

(f) Receive and distribute all sums required by the operation of the reinsurance association; and

(g) Establish procedures for reviewing claims procedures and practices of members of the reinsurance association. If the claims procedures or practices of a member are considered inadequate to properly service the liabilities of the reinsurance association, the reinsurance association may undertake or may contract with another person, including another member, to adjust or assist in the adjustment of claims that create a potential liability to the association and may charge the cost of the adjustment to the member.

Sec. 19. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.36] [ADDITIONAL POWERS.] In addition to the powers granted in section 18, the reinsurance association may do the following:

(a) Sue and be sued. A judgment against the reinsurance association does not create a direct liability against the individual members of the reinsurance association;

(b) Reinsure all or any portion of its potential liability with reinsurers licensed to transact insurance in this state;

(c) Provide for appropriate housing, equipment, and personnel necessary to assure the efficient operation of the reinsurance association;

(d) Contract for goods and services, including independent claims management, actuarial, investment, and legal services from others within or without this state to assure the efficient operation of the reinsurance association;

(e) Adopt rules for the administration of the reinsurance association, enforce those rules, and delegate authority as necessary to assure its proper administration and operation;

(h) Perform other acts not specifically enumerated in this section that are necessary or proper to accomplish the purposes of the reinsurance association and that are not inconsistent with sections 17 to 25 or the plan of operation.

Sec. 20. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.37] [BOARD OF DIRECTORS.] A board of directors is created and is responsible for the operation of the reinsurance association consistent with the plan of operation and sections 17 to 25. The board consists of nine directors appointed by the commissioner of insurance. Three directors shall be representatives of insurers, three shall be representatives of employers, and three shall be representatives of employees. Each director serves until his successor is appointed and qualifies. Terms of the directors shall be staggered so that the terms of the directors do not all expire at the same time and so that a director does not serve a term of more than four years. The board shall select a chairman and other officers it deems appropriate.

A majority of the board constitutes a quorum, notwithstanding any vacancies. Action may be taken by a majority vote of the directors present.

Sec. 21. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.38] [PLAN OF OPERATION.] Subdivision 1. The board of directors shall adopt a proposed plan of operation consistent with the objectives and provisions of sections 17 to 25 that provides for the economical, fair, and nondiscriminatory administration of the reinsurance association and for the prompt and efficient provision of indemnity. The plan of operation shall provide for all of the following:

(a) The establishment of necessary facilities;

(b) The management and operation of the reinsurance association;

(c) A preliminary premium, payable by each member in proportion to its total first-year premium, for initial expenses necessary to commence operation of the reinsurance association;

(d) Procedures to be utilized in charging premiums, including adjustments from excess or deficient premiums from prior periods;

(e) Procedures governing the actual payment of premiums to the reinsurance association;

(f) Reimbursement of each member of the board by the reinsurance association for actual and necessary expenses incurred on reinsurance association business;

(g) The investment policy of the reinsurance association; and

Subd. 2. The proposed plan of operation and amendments to the plan of operation are subject to majority approval by the board, ratification by a majority of the membership having a vote, with voting rights being apportioned according to the premiums charged, and approval by the commissioner.

Subd. 3. Upon approval by the commissioner, or upon the promulgation of a plan by the commissioner, each insurer authorized to write workers' compensation insurance is bound by and shall formally subscribe to and participate in the approved plan as a condition of maintaining its authority to transact insurance in this state.

Sec. 22. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.39] [APPLICABILITY OF CHAPTER 79.] The reinsurance association is subject to all the provisions of this chapter. The commissioner or an authorized representative of the commissioner may visit the reinsurance association at any time and examine any and all the reinsurance association's affairs.

Sec. 23. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Chapter 79, is amended by adding a section to read:

[79.40] [PREMIUM INCLUSION IN RATEMAKING.] Premiums charged members by the reinsurance association shall be recognized in the ratemaking procedures for insurance rates in the same manner that expenses and premium taxes are recognized.

Sec. 24. [ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING.] Not more than 30 days after the effective date of sections 17 to 25, the commissioner shall convene an organizational meeting of the board. The board is initially composed of nine members of the reinsurance association appointed by the commissioner to serve as directors and the commissioner or his designee serving as an ex officio member. The initial term of office of a director is two years.

Sec. 25. [SUBMISSION OF PLAN.] Subdivision 1. Not more than 60 days after the initial organizational meeting of the board, the board shall submit to the commissioner for approval the proposed plan of operation. If a plan is not submitted within this 60-day period, the commissioner shall formulate and place into effect a plan consistent with this chapter.

Subd. 2. The plan of operation, unless approved sooner in writing, meets the requirements of this section if it is not disapproved by written order of the commissioner within 30 days after the date of its submission. Before disapproval of all or any part of the proposed plan of operation, the commissioner shall notify the board in what respect the plan of operation fails to meet the requirements and objectives of this section. If the board fails to submit a revised plan of operation that meets the requirements and objectives of this section within the 30-day period, the commissioner shall enter an order accordingly and shall immediately formulate and place into effect a plan consistent with the requirements and objectives of section 19.

Subd. 3. The reinsurance association is not liable for losses occurring before the effective date of sections 17 to 25."

"Sec. 49. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 176.181, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 1a. [POLICY.] It is the policy of the state to assure that all employers are provided with the opportunity to obtain workers' compensation insurance at a cost that is reasonable, does not cause an undue burden on the employer or place the employer at a competitive disadvantage with employers from neighboring states.

Self insurance has been demonstrated to be a practical, feasible and economic approach for large employers in providing the required workers' compensation coverage for their employees. However, smaller employers have not been able to select this method of insuring their employees against work related injuries and have therefore been unable to take advantage of the benefits of self insuring. Therefore, it is the declared policy of the state to provide a mechanism by which employers of all sizes may voluntarily join with other employers to obtain workers' compensation insurance at the lowest possible cost. Subdivision 2 provides employer groups the alternative of self insuring at a cost that is reasonable.

Sec. 50. Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 176.181, Subdivision 2, is amended to read:

Subd. 2. [COMPULSORY INSURANCE; SELF-INSURERS.]
(1) Every employer, except the state and its municipal subdivisions, liable under this chapter to pay compensation shall insure payment of ~~such~~ compensation with some insurance carrier authorized to insure ~~such workers' compensation~~ liability in this state, or obtain a written order from the commissioner of ~~labor and industry insurance~~ exempting ~~such the~~ employer from insuring his liability for compensation and permitting him to self-insure ~~such the~~ liability. The terms, conditions and requirements governing self-insurance shall be established by the commissioner pursuant to chapter 15. The commissioner may also allow as he deems appropriate shall also adopt, pursuant to clause (2)(c) of this subdivision, rules permitting two or more employers in the same industry to enter into agreements to pool their liabilities under this chapter for the purpose of qualifying as group self-insurers. With the approval of the commissioner of labor and industry insurance, any employer may exclude medical, chiropractic and hospital benefits as required by this chapter. An employer conducting distinct operations at different locations may either insure or self-insure such the other portion of his operations which may be determined by the commissioner of labor and industry insurance to be a distinct and separate risk. An employer desiring to be exempted from insuring his liability for compensation shall make application to the commissioner of labor and industry insurance, showing his financial ability to pay such the compensation, whereupon by written order the commissioner of labor and industry insurance may make such an exemption as it he deems proper. The commissioner of labor and industry insurance may require further statements of financial ability of the employer to pay compensation. Upon ten days written notice the commissioner of labor and industry insurance may revoke his order granting such an exemption, in which event the employer shall immediately insure his liability. As a condition for the granting of an exemption the commissioner of labor and industry insurance may require the employer to furnish such security as it the commissioner considers sufficient to insure payment of all claims under this chapter. If the required security is in the form of currency or negotiable bonds, the commissioner of labor and industry insurance shall deposit same it with the state treasurer. In the event of any default upon the part of a self-insurer to abide by any final order or decision of the commissioner of labor and industry directing and awarding payment of compensation and benefits to any employee or the dependents of any deceased employee, then upon at least ten days notice to ~~such~~ the self-insurer, the commissioner of ~~labor and industry insurance~~ may by written order to the state treasurer require him to sell the pledged and assigned securities or ~~such a~~ part thereof as is necessary to pay the full amount of any such claim or award with interest thereon. This authority to sell may be exercised from time to time to satisfy any order or award of the commissioner of labor and industry or any judgment obtained thereon. When ~~such~~ securities are sold the money ~~so~~ obtained shall be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the commissioner of ~~labor and industry insurance~~ and awards made against any such self-insurer by the commissioner of ~~labor and industry insurance~~ shall be paid to the persons entitled thereto by the state treasurer upon warrants prepared by the commissioner of ~~labor and industry insurance~~ and approved by the commissioner of finance out of the proceeds of the sale of ~~such~~ securities. Where the security is in the form of a surety bond or personal guaranty the commissioner of ~~labor and industry insurance~~, at any time, upon at least ten days notice and opportunity to be heard, may require the surety to pay the amount of the award, the payments to be enforced in like manner as the award may be enforced.

(2)(a) No association, corporation, partnership, sole proprietorship, trust or other business entity shall provide services in the design, establishment or administration of a group self-insurance plan under rules adopted pursuant to this subdivision unless it is licensed to do so by the commissioner of insurance. An applicant for a license shall state in writing the type of activities it seeks authorization to engage in and the type of services it seeks authorization to provide. The license shall be granted only when the commissioner of insurance is satisfied that the entity possesses the necessary organization, background, expertise, and financial integrity to supply the services sought to be offered. The commissioner of insurance may issue a license subject to restrictions or limitations, including restrictions or limitations on the type of services which may be supplied or the activities which may be engaged in. The license is for a two year period.

(b) To assure that group self-insurance plans are financially solvent, administered in a fair and capable fashion, and able to process claims and pay benefits in a prompt, fair and equitable manner, entities licensed to engage in such business are subject to supervision and examination by the commissioner of insurance.

(c) To carry out the purposes of this subdivision, the commissioner of insurance may promulgate administrative rules, including emergency rules, pursuant to sections 15.0411 to 15.052. These rules may:

(1) establish reporting requirements for administrators of group self-insurance plans;

(2) establish standards and guidelines to assure the adequacy of the financing and administration of group self-insurance plans;

(3) establish bonding requirements or other provisions assuring the financial integrity of entities administering group self-insurance plans;

(4) establish standards, including but not limited to minimum terms of membership in self-insurance plans, as necessary to provide stability for those plans;

(5) establish standards or guidelines governing the formation, operation, administration and dissolution of self-insurance plans; and

(6) establish other reasonable requirements to further the purposes of this subdivision."

176.241 [NOTICE TO DIVISION OF INTENTION TO DISCONTINUE COMPENSATION PAYMENTS.] Subdivision 1. [NECESSITY FOR NOTICE AND SHOWING; CONTENTS.] Where an employee claims that the right to compensation continues, or refuses to sign or objects to signing a final receipt for compensation, the employer may not discontinue payment of compensation until he notifies the division in writing of his intention to do so he provides the division with notice in writing of his intention to do so, together with a statement of facts clearly indicating the reasons for the discontinuance.

The notice to the division shall state the date of intended discontinuance, the reason for such the action, and the fact that the employee objects to the discontinuance. The notice shall be accompanied by a statement of facts in support of the discontinuance of compensation payments and whatever medical reports are in the possession of the employer bearing on the physical condition of the employee at the time of the proposed discontinuance.

Subd. 2. [CONTINUANCE OF EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY; SUSPENSION.] Except where the commissioner of the department of labor and industry orders otherwise, until the notice and reports have been filed with the division, the liability of the employer to make payments of compensation continues.

When the division has received a notice of discontinuance. the statement of facts and available medical reports, the duty of the employer to pay compensation is suspended pending an investigation, hearing, and determination of the matter by the division as provided in the following subdivisions.

Subd. 3. [COPY OF NOTICE TO EMPLOYEE, INVESTIGATION, HEARING.] When the division has received a notice of discontinuance, it shall immediately send the employee a copy of the notice and copies of whatever medical reports supporting documents which have been submitted in conjunction with the notice.

The commissioner of the department of labor and industry shall make an investigation to determine whether the right to compensation has terminated. If it appears from the investigation that the right to compensation may not have terminated, the commissioner of the department of labor and industry shall schedule a hearing before a compensation judge, to determine the right of the employee, or his dependent, to further compensation.

The hearing shall be held within a reasonable time after the division has received the notice of discontinuance. The commissioner of the department of labor and industry shall give eight days notice of the hearing to interested parties.

Subd. 4. [ORDER.] When the hearing has been held, and he has duly considered the evidence, the person who held the hearing shall promptly enter an order directing the payment of further compensation or confirming the termination of compensation. Where the order confirms a termination of compensation, the commissioner of the department of labor and industry shall notify the employer of such the action. This notification relieves the employer from further liability for compensation subject to the right of review afforded by this chapter, and to the right of the division to set aside the order at any time prior to the review and grant a new hearing pursuant to this chapter."

The commissioner of personnel shall regularly advise the commission on the progress of collective bargaining activities with state employees pursuant to the state public employment labor relations act. The commission may make recommendations to the commissioner as it deems appropriate. The commissioner shall submit to the chairman of the commission any negotiated agreements or arbitration awards which the commissioner has approved within five days of the making thereof. If the commission disapproves of any agreement or award, the commission shall specify in writing to the parties those portions with which it disagrees and the reasons therefor. Upon receipt of the notice of disapproval from the commission, the commissioner of personnel will reopen the negotiations. If the commission approves of an agreement or award, it shall cause the matter to be submitted to the legislature to be accepted or rejected pursuant to section 179.74. For the purposes of sections 3 to 7 only, it also means the legislative audit commission and the Minnesota historical society.

Subd. 3. "State-funded positions" means all full-time equivalent personnel positions however authorized, except those funded entirely by federal money and those which provide direct care to residents at state hospitals.

Subd. 4. "Normal attrition" means vacancies occurring due to voluntary resignations, retirements, and deaths. It does not include vacancies due to involuntary dismissals and terminations.

Sec. 4. Each state agency shall submit to the commissioner of finance, the chairmen of the senate finance and house appropriations committees, and the legislative commission on employee relations by October 1, 1980, a plan for reducing its number of employees pursuant to sections 3 to 7 during the 1981-1983 biennium. The plan shall include (1) a description of the number and types of reductions in positions, (2) an analysis of the effect of the reductions on services provided by the agency, and (3) an analysis of the ratio of supervisory to non-supervisory employees in the agency.

Sec. 5. [POSITION REDUCTIONS.] Subdivision 1. [VACANT POSITIONS.] The commissioner of finance shall cancel every state funded position that has remained vacant for more than 90 days, unless (a) the commissioner of personnel has certified that the position has not been filled because the department of personnel was unable to certify any names pursuant to section 43.18, or (b) an exception has been requested pursuant to subdivision 4. Subd. 3. [TRANSFERS.] A state agency may transfer positions to another agency pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 16.125, but the number of positions on July 1, 1981 for each agency affected shall be adjusted to reflect the transfer. A position that is eliminated by transferring an employee to part-time, seasonal, or other status of employment by the same state agency does not count as a position reduction for purposes of meeting the goals set by this section.

Subd. 4. [EXCEPTIONS; SHIFTS.] Where the position cancellations and reductions required by this section would unduly impair the ability of a state agency to perform the duties assigned to it, the state agency may apply to the commissioner of finance for an exception permitting the agency to avoid the cancellation or make a lesser reduction than would otherwise be required.

Sec. 6. [SPENDING PLANS.] Subdivision 1. [TRANSFERS.] A state agency shall not transfer any money to or from personal services as shown on the official worksheets of the conferees of the senate and house of representatives, a true copy of which is on file in the office of the commissioner of finance, without the written approval of the commissioner of finance, who shall consult with the legislative advisory commission for its recommendations, which are advisory only.

Subd. 2. [SALARY SAVINGS.] The commissioner of finance shall reduce the amount allotted or to be allotted to each state agency by the amount of any saving that can be effected upon previous spending plans through the position reductions required by section 5.

Subd. 3. The board may issue subpoenas, administer oaths, and take and provide for the taking of depositions. Any person who willfully and unlawfully fails or neglects to appear, testify or produce books, papers, and records as required, shall, upon application to a district court, be ordered to appear before the board to testify or produce evidence if so ordered. Failure to obey the order of the court may be punished as civil contempt. Each witness appearing before the board or before a hearing examiner holding a hearing on behalf of the board shall be paid by the party requesting the witness in the amount and manner specified in section 357.22 unless the board determines that the witness is a public official who is appearing in the regular and normal course of his official duties and who is reimbursed by his employer in whole or in part for expenses necessitated by his appearance. A full and complete record of all proceedings before the board shall be kept in the manner most practical and most economical as determined by the board. The board may admit and give probative effect to evidence which possesses probative value commonly accepted by reasonable, prudent men in the conduct of their affairs. They shall give effect to the rules of privilege recognized by law. They may exclude incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and repetitious evidence. Compliance with the technical rules of pleading before courts need not be required by the board.

Subd. 4. If the board cannot expeditiously hold a hearing on a complaint filed with the board, the board may request the chief hearing officer of the state office of hearing examiners to assign a hearing officer to hold a hearing on the complaint on behalf of the board. After an assignment is made the hearing officer shall notify the parties of the time and place of the hearing, conduct the hearings in a fair and impartial manner, and following the hearing, issue a report to the board stating his findings of fact, his conclusions, and, if proper, his recommendations for a remedy. The board shall then consider the report of the hearing examiner and may adopt, modify, or reject the report. The board may base its decision on a review of the record made by the hearing examiner, or it may, if necessary, choose to rehear the matter in whole or in part before issuing its decision.

Subd. 5. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board is of the opinion that any person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice, then it shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on the person an order requiring him to cease and desist from the unfair labor practice, and to take affirmative action, including, but not limited to, reinstatement of employees with or without back pay, as will effectuate the policies of the public employment labor relations act. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board is not of the opinion that the person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice, then the board shall state its findings of fact and shall issue an order dismissing the complaint. The board may as part of its final order, in cases where it deems it appropriate, require a person found to have committed an unfair labor practice to reimburse the prevailing party for reasonable costs incurred in conjunction with the filing and hearing of the complaint.

Subd. 6. If, after 30 days following the issuance of its order, the board finds that the order has not been complied with, the board or the prevailing complainant may petition the district court of the county wherein the unfair labor practice was or is being committed for an injunction against further disobedience of its order. The injunction shall be granted unless the party against whom the board's order was directed can show that it has initiated appeals proceedings under subdivision 7, in which case, the injunction shall still be granted unless the court finds substantial reasons for denying the injunction.

Subd. 7. A party in interest may within 30 days of the issuance of an order have the order reviewed by the supreme court on certiorari upon the grounds provided in section 15.0425.

No objection that has not been urged before the board shall be considered by the court, unless the failure or neglect to urge the objection is excused because of extraordinary circumstances. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact, if supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole, shall be conclusive. If either party applies to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence and shows to the satisfaction of the court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce the evidence in the hearing before the board, the court may order the evidence to be taken before the board and to be made a part of the record. The board may modify its findings as to the facts, or make new findings, by reason of additional evidence taken and filed. The board shall file the modified or new findings, which findings with respect to questions of fact if supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive. The board shall file its recommendations, if any, for the modification or setting aside of its original order. On review of any board order the supreme court may reverse, affirm, or modify the order and enter such judgment as it deems just and proper. Where necessary the supreme court may remand the cause to the board for a new hearing or for further proceedings with directions.

Subd. 8. Until the record in a case is filed in a court, as hereinafter provided, the board may at any time, upon reasonable notice and in a manner it deems proper, modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any finding or order made or issued by it.

state of Minnesota with the advice and consent of the senate. Two members shall be representative of public employees; two shall be representative of public employers; and one shall be representative of the public at large. Public employers and employee organizations representing public employees may submit for consideration names of persons representing their interests to serve as members of the board. Board members shall devote the equivalent of full time service to the board and shall refrain from political activity or other activity incompatible with their board duties during the term of their appointment. Board members shall not be selected on the basis of their affiliation with or representation of any group or special interest, but shall be selected because of experience and proficiency in the practice and laws of labor relations and because of an ability to render knowledgeable, impartial decisions in matters before the board. Members shall be appointed for a term of six years, each term beginning on July 1, of an even numbered year. One initial appointment shall be for two years, and one initial appointment shall be for four years. Members shall hold office until their successors are appointed and qualified and vacancies shall be filled by the governor of the state of Minnesota for the unexpired term. The board governor shall select one of its members to serve as chairman for a term beginning May 1 each year. The director of mediation services shall provide secretarial and administrative services to the board.

Subd. 2. The board shall adopt its own rules governing its procedures and shall hold regular and special meetings as are prescribed in such rules. The chairman shall preside at meetings of the board. The chairman may designate one or more of the board members, individually, to perform certain acts on behalf of the board. The chairman shall have the responsibility for scheduling hearings, assigning the writing of opinions, hiring employees, and he shall be the chief administrative officer of the board.

Subd. 3. In addition to the other powers and duties given it by law, the board has the following powers and duties:

(a) to hear and decide issues relating to the meaning of the terms "supervisory employee", "confidential employee", "essential employee" or "professional employee", as defined by section 179.63;

(b) to hear and decide appeals from determinations of the director relating to the appropriateness of a unit under section 179.67;

(c) to approve or disapprove the rules and regulations promulgated by the director under section 179.71, subdivision 5, clause (g);

(e) to render and enforce decisions in unfair labor practice cases as specified in sections 179.64, 179.67, 179.68, and section 69 .

Subd. 4. The board shall adopt rules pursuant to chapter 15 governing the presentation of issues relating to matters included in subdivision 3; and the taking of such appeals. All issues and appeals from a determination of the director presented to the board shall be determined upon the record established by the director of mediation, except that the board at its discretion may request additional evidence when necessary or helpful. The board may employ persons as are necessary for the efficient performance of its functions. The board shall keep and file in a logical manner all its orders and decisions, which file shall be available for use by the public. The board shall in January of each odd numbered year issue a report on its activities to the governor and the legislature. The report may also contain recommendations for legislative action in the field of labor relations.

Subd. 5. The board shall maintain a list of names of arbitrators qualified by experience and training in the field of labor management negotiations and arbitration. Names on the list may be selected and removed at any time by a majority of the board. In maintaining the list of such persons the board shall, to the maximum extent possible, select persons from varying geographical areas of the state.

Subd. 6. When final positions are certified to the board as provided in section 179.69, subdivision 3, or submitted to the board as provided in section 179.69, subdivision 5, the board shall constitute an arbitration panel as follows:

The parties shall, under the direction of the chairman of the board, alternately strike names from a list of seven arbitrators until only three names remain, which three members shall be members of the panel; provided, however, that if either party requests the parties shall select a single arbitrator to hear the dispute. If the parties are unable to agree on who shall strike the first name, the question shall be decided by the flip of a coin. In submitting names of arbitrators to the parties the board shall endeavor whenever possible to include names of persons from the general geographical area in which the public employer is located. The panel shall assume and have jurisdiction over the items of dispute certified to the board for which the panel was constituted. The panel's orders shall be issued upon a majority vote of members considering a given dispute. The members of the panel shall be paid their actual and necessary traveling and other expenses incurred in the performance of their duties plus a per diem allowance of $180 for each day or part thereof while engaged in the consideration of a dispute. All fees, expenses and costs of the panel shall be shared and assessed equally to the parties to the dispute. In those cases where a single arbitrator is hearing a dispute, the fees, expenses and costs of the arbitrator shall also be shared and assessed equally by the parties to the dispute.

Subd. 7. The arbitration panel or arbitrator selected by the parties shall resolve the issues in dispute between the parties as submitted by the board, and the panel's decision and order shall be final and binding upon the parties. Provided, however, that no decision of the panel which violates any provision of the laws of Minnesota or rules or regulations promulgated thereunder or municipal charters or ordinances or resolutions enacted pursuant thereto, or which causes a penalty to be incurred thereunder, shall have any force or effect. In considering a dispute and issuing its order the panel shall give due consideration to the statutory rights and obligations of public employers to efficiently manage and conduct its operations within the legal limitations surrounding the financing of such operations. The panel's orders shall be issued by a majority vote of its members considering a given the dispute. The panel shall have no jurisdiction over nor authority to entertain any matter or issue not within the definition stated in section 179.63, subdivision 18; provided, however, items not within terms and conditions of employment may be included in an arbitration decision if such items are contained in the employer's final position. Any issue or order or part thereof issued by the panel determining any matter not included under section 179.63, subdivision 18 or the employer's final position shall be void and of no effect. The panel shall render its decision within ten days from the date that all arbitration proceedings have been concluded, but in any event must issue its order by the last date the employer is required by statute, charter, ordinance or resolution to submit its tax levy or budget or certify its taxes voted to the appropriate public officer, agency, public body or office, or by November 1, whichever date is earlier. The panel's order shall be for such period as the panel shall direct, except that orders determining contracts for teacher units shall be effective to the end of the contract period as determined by section 179.70, subdivision 1.

Subd. 8. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision 7, for employees of the executive branch of the state of Minnesota, the panel shall be restricted to selecting between the final offers on each impasse item submitted by the parties to the panel.

Employees designated as station sergeants shall receive an additional three percent above the current rate rounded to the nearest dollar for the duration of the appointment. Employees permanently assigned exclusively to Twin City metropolitan freeway duty shall be designated freeway troopers and shall be compensated $25 per month above their current salary when so assigned. Salary increases in accordance with the above schedule shall become effective for the payroll period nearest the employee's anniversary date of employment.

In addition to the rates of pay provided above, all employees compensated according to the above salary table shall be paid a cost of living allowance to be determined and redetermined in the following manner:

For each full four-tenths point increase in the consumer price index for urban wage earners and clerical workers for Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota (new series index 1967-100) as published for the months January, 1977, and October, 1977, by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor all hourly rates of pay shall be increased by one cent per hour. A redetermination of the cost of living allowance shall be made for April, 1978. For each full four-tenths point increase in the consumer price index for urban wage earners and clerical workers for Minneapolis-St. Paul, (new series index 1967-100) as published for the months of January, 1977, and April, 1978, by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, all hourly rates of pay shall be increased by one cent per hour. The increase, if any, in salaries generated by this redetermination shall be effective July 5, 1978. For the purpose of this clause, the term "hourly rate of pay" means the monthly salary of a rank set forth herein divided by 174.

During periods when such cost of living allowance is in effect, it shall be added to the applicable monthly rates of pay for highway patrol trooper, corporal, sergeant, captain, major and lieutenant colonel, and treated as a part thereof in all calculations involving employees' pay. Cost of living adjustments are not cumulative and allowances paid under an earlier determination shall cease when a redetermination takes effect.

The commissioner of finance shall transfer to the department of public safety the necessary amount to finance the increased cost of the cost of living provisions of this clause. This amount is appropriated from the trunk highway fund to the department of public safety for this purpose.

(4) Upon promotion, the person will be paid at the base salary rate of pay in effect for that rank, and shall subsequently be eligible for the time in rank increases calculated from the effective date of promotion.

(5) Any time in rank increases in salary provided for in the tables in clause (3), shall be effective for the payroll period nearest the employee's anniversary date of employment.

The salary rates for all highway patrol troopers, corporals and sergeants as cited in clause (3) shall be deemed to include reimbursement for shift differential, meal and business expenses incurred by highway patrol troopers, corporals and sergeants in the performance of their assigned duties in their patrol areas; business expenses include, but are not limited to: uniform costs, home garaging of squad cars and maintenance of home office.

[402.081] [HUMAN SERVICES FACILITIES.] Subdivision 1. [ISSUANCE OF BONDS.] A county, upon the recommendation of its human services board, may issue general obligation revenue bonds by resolution of its governing body to finance the acquisition and betterment of human services facilities. For purposes of this section, "human services facilities" means any real or personal property used or useful in connection with the delivery of correctional, employment, health, mental health, or social services, and includes all costs associated with (a) the acquisition and betterment of the facilities, (b) the issuance of bonds to finance the facilities including, without limitation, all the costs specified in section 475.65, (c) the retirement of outstanding indebtedness in connection with the acquisition or betterment of any existing human services facility. (d) the establishment of a reserve, and (e) working capital in an amount not to exceed the estimated cost of operation of the facilities for a period of six months.

Subd. 2. [VOTER APPROVAL.] The governing body of a county, prior to the issuance of any bonds authorized by subdivision 1, shall adopt an initial resolution stating the amount, purpose, and, in general, the security to be provided for the bonds; and shall publish the resolution once each week for two consecutive weeks in the official newspaper of the county. The bonds may be issued without the submission of the question of their issuance to the voters of the county unless within 21 days after the second publication of the resolution a petition requesting an election, signed by registered voters of the county in number equal to at least eight percent of those voting in the last general election, is filed with the county auditor. If a petition is filed, no bonds shall be issued unless approved by a majority of the voters of the county voting on the question of their issuance at a regular or special election.

Subd. 3. [LEASE OF FACILITIES.] The county may lease human services facilities for operation, administration, and maintenance to a nonprofit or public corporation for not more than 30 years for rentals and upon terms and other conditions as may be agreed. The facilities shall be open to all residents of the county on equal terms. The county may by resolution of its governing body agree to pay to the lessee of human services facilities annually, and to include in each annual budget and tax levy for human services purposes, a fixed compensation determined by the governing body to be just and proper compensation for services agreed to be performed by the lessee in the operation, administration, and maintenance of the human services facility, for any investment by the lessee of its own funds or funds granted and contributed to it in the construction or equipment of the human services facility, and for any auxiliary services provided or made available by the lessee. A lease agreement entered into under this section shall require the lessee to pay a net rental not less than the amount required to pay the principal and interest when due on all bonds issued by the county to acquire and better the leased facilities or to refund such bonds, and to maintain the agreed bond reserve.

Subd. 4. [CHARGES FOR SERVICE.] Charges for all services furnished and made available by or through facilities financed in whole or in part by the issuance of bonds may and shall be established at levels such that the revenues therefrom, together with any compensation payable to the lessee as provided in subdivision 3, will be sufficient to pay all expenses, as they are estimated to accrue, of operation, administration and maintenance of the facilities, of providing the services, and of principal, interest, and redemption premium, if any, when due and payable on the bonds. The charges shall be payable by each department of the county, the state, and any other governmental unit or agency, and by any private person, firm, or corporation, that requests or contracts for services to be made available to any person, or for the care or custody of any person. The county shall provide in its annual budget and tax levy, or from federal or state aids available, for the payment of all charges for which it is by law or contract responsible, whether the facilities are operated by the county or the county human services board or by a lessee. The county and any department, agency, or governmental unit of the state may enter into contracts with the county or its lessee for the provision of any type of human services they are by law authorized or required to furnish, for the period and upon the conditions that their governing bodies or officers may agree upon.

Subd. 5. [SECURITY.] The county shall pledge and appropriate the net revenues to be derived from its operation or lease of the human services facilities to pay the principal and interest on the bonds when due and to create and maintain reserves for that purpose, as a first and prior lien thereon. The governing body shall have power to make and enter into the covenants with the bondholders which are determined by it to be necessary and proper to assure the marketability of the bonds, the completion of the facilities, the segregation of the revenues or rentals and any other funds pledged, and the sufficiency thereof for the prompt and full payment of all bonds and interest. The governing body shall also pledge to the payment of the bonds and interest the full faith and credit of the county.

Subd. 6. [ISSUANCE AND SALE.] All bonds issued pursuant to this section shall be issued and sold as provided in chapter 475, except:

(a) Any bond reserve and capitalized interest segregated at the time of issuance, together with revenues estimated by the governing body to be derived annually after completion of the facilities, from charges to be established pursuant to subdivision 4, may be deducted from the taxes initially required to be levied under section 475.61, provided that a tax shall be assessed and extended each year, without limitation of rate or amount, sufficient to produce an amount equal to any deficiency in the bond reserve then agreed to be maintained in the debt service fund; and

(b) The issuance of the bonds need not be submitted to a vote of the electorate except as provided in subdivision 2.

Subd. 7. [TAX EXEMPTIONS.] Interest on the bonds shall not be included in gross income for the purpose of computing any tax imposed under chapter 290 and shall be exempt from any taxes imposed by any political subdivision of the state. All properties acquired and used by the county for the purposes authorized and contemplated in this section are public property exclusively used for a public purpose and exempt from taxation, whether or not leased as contemplated in subdivision 3.

Subd. 8. Two or more counties may enter into an agreement for the acquisition, ownership, operation or leasing, and financing of human services facilities pursuant to section 471.59. In this event any or all of the counties may issue general obligation revenue bonds as provided in this section, to provide agreed portions of the capital cost, and the facilities may be operated and charges for its service determined and accounted for by the county, agency, or nonprofit corporation designated in the agreement."
