Legislative Request

The I-494 Corridor Commission is requesting $300,000 per year in state funding to promote alternatives to driving alone to work, including:

- Telecommuting
- Vanpools
- Carpools
- Transit
- Biking to work

The Commission will provide telework and hybrid resources, information and assistance on a statewide basis.

The Commission requests state funds be eligible to be used as match to federal Congestion Mitigation Air Quality and Carbon Reduction Program opportunities.

"Bike commuting has a huge impact on my quality of life. When I'm able to bike to work I arrive feeling energized, and the ride back makes for an easy transition from work to home. Working out has always been important for me, but with a toddler at home it can sometimes be a bit more of a challenge. Building a workout into my commute frees up more time in the day for other things. I also love the portions of my commute that circle Lake Harriet and Bde Maka Ska, and often see birds, animals, mist and sunrises over the lake.

"It's great to have the ability to work from home not only to prove we can be just as efficient (if not more) than in office, but also give the environment a much-needed break from the five day commute. The change of pace is wonderful and definitely allows for a good reset. I love how much everyone is coming together despite the circumstances given."
