Bill Description

This bill seeks to add a licensure requirement for scrap metal copper purchasers or sellers administered by Commerce. It also includes enforcement authority for the new licensure requirement.

The proposal is embedded in chapter 325E.21, which preserves the Department of Public Safety's ability to enforce the rest of 325E.21 and still requires registration of the scrap metal dealer (buyers) with the Department of Public Safety. The bill as written, would include more people than just scrap metal dealers it would include any person who seeks to sell copper.

The statute is effective January 1, 2025.

Assumptions

The estimated number of scrap metal dealers that conduct business in Minnesota is 110. However, not all scrap metal dealers will buy copper. The number of scrap metal dealers that will buy copper is unknown. For the purpose of this note, Commerce assumes all registered scrap metal dealers (110) will buy and sell copper. This statute also includes licensing requirements for all sellers of copper. For the sake of this note, Commerce assumes the number of potential licensees would be 110, although the true number is unknown.

Commerce also assumes that with this statute change, no background check of any licensee would be required.

Expenditure and/or Revenue Formula

For implementation and ongoing review

.25 FTE (SPA Int.) for licensing.

.5 FTE (Sr. Investigator) for enforcement.

		FY25	FY26	FY27	FY28
Salary		68,283	68,283	68,283	68,283
Fringe		20,485	20,485	20,485	20,485

Other Personnel Related Costs	27,514	27,514	27,514	27,514
	116,281	116,281	116,281	116,281

Revenue would depend on the number of people who get a license. Commerce assumes a $250 fee for initial license and a $250 fee for renewal.

Buyers of copper  $110 \times $250 = $27,500/\text{year}$

Sellers of copper unknown number  $\times $250$

The actual number of sellers is unknown, however for illustration, Commerce assumes 110, in alignment with the buyers, at $27,500 per year.

Long-Term Fiscal Considerations

Since licensing requires renewal, the fiscal impact would remain consistent for the foreseeable future.
