Dear Senator Bobby Jo Champion

I hope this letter finds you in good spirits. I am writing to express my admiration for the important work that 21 Days of Peace is doing in North Minneapolis. The challenges faced by our neighborhoods, including crime, violence, and drug addiction, are significant and deeply concerning. New Salem Inc organization’s commitment to outreach and community engagement is a beacon of hope in these times.

As you know, the social fabric of our community has been strained by these issues, affecting families and individuals alike. The need for effective interventions and support systems has never been greater. It is inspiring to see how 21 Days of Peace not only addresses these challenges but also empowers residents to reclaim their streets and foster a sense of unity and safety.

I am particularly impressed by New Salem outreach programs aimed at building relationships with local residents. By providing resources and support, they are not only addressing the symptoms of violence and addiction but also working to create lasting change. It is this proactive approach that can lead to healing and restoration within our neighborhoods.

I believe that together we can make a difference in the lives of those affected by these struggles.

Thank you for your unwavering commitment to peace and community well-being.

Warm regards,

Inspector Charles Adams
