A Proclamation of "ENGINEERS' WEEK"

WHEREAS, the many contributions of the science and art of engineering and its kindred basic sciences have been essential to the progress and well-being of the world; and

WHEREAS, this nation's demonstration of a marvelous capacity to produce, which so astonished the world in the recent war and directly aided in our victory, was based on the application of sound engineering principles by competent and industrious engineers; and

WHEREAS, the engineering profession is now engaged in directing this great productive capacity, this resourcefulness and ingenuity, into channels of peacetime activity which will give new and better opportunities for convenience, comfort, utility and safety; and

WHEREAS, the engineers of our state have displayed great skill, earnest devotion to high standards of professional responsibility and have earned, thereby, the respect, gratitude, and commendation of our people;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LUTHER W. YOUNGDAHL, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim the week beginning on February 23, 1947 as

and urge all citizens to pay tribute to our engineers and their many accomplishments and, if possible, to visit the Engineering Exposition in the Minneapolis Armory, in order to view exhibitions of the recent achievements of engineers.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Minnesota to be affixed at the State Capitol in St. Paul this 21st day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and of the State the ninetieth.
