WHEREAS, nearly 23,000 of Minnesota's out-of-school youth under the age of 21 and in the labor market are jobless, and

WHEREAS, this State can ill afford this tragic waste of young manpower, and

WHEREAS, many thousands of these young workers are qualified to accept responsible jobs with industry and business, with many more thousands qualified for training and entry positions, and

WHEREAS, there is a growing shortage of qualified workers in the prime age groups, especially in skilled and technical occupations, and trainable young job seekers are available to fill these gaps in the work force, and

WHEREAS, these young job seekers are adaptable, eager, learn quickly, respond easily to supervision and provide a fresh outlook and new ideas; their job assets can be translated into increased profits for business and industry, and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner of Employment Security has taken action to marshal all possible resources to attack vigorously the mounting problem of jobless youth,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Karl F. Rolvaag, Governor of Minnesota, do hereby call upon employers, large and small, to cooperate in this campaign by listing all possible job needs with their local State Employment Service office and by hiring the young beginners they need now, thereby furthering the Minnesota effort to "Put Youth on a Job -- Today's Investment, Tomorrow's Profit."
