Printing opens and generates the storehouse of knowledge and has contributed to progress since the invention of movable type by Gutenberg in 1470, and has spread culture, knowledge, science and advanced the cause of peace throughout the world; and

Printing belongs to us the wisdom and experience of past generations (the printed word providing continuity to life as its vehicle past ages to the present, and carries a load to future generations who will learn about us through printed words, pictures and graphics); and

Always with the creativity and craftsmanship inspired by a remarkable and well-loved pioneer, Benjamin Franklin, nearly two and one half centuries ago, printing has flourished into one of the longest and strongest industries in America; and the International Association of Printing House Workers, Inc. during the week of Benjamin Franklin's birthday each year, sponsors national observances of Printing Week, a celebration commemorating the printer in the United States.

I, WARREN EMMETT ROY, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim the period of January 11-17, 1970, as in Minnesota and urge all citizens to give thought during this period to the great benefits enjoyed by modern civilization through the invention and development of the art of printing.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Minnesota to be affixed at the State Capitol this twenty-sixth day of April in the year of our Lord the one thousand nine hundred and sixty-nine, and of the State the one hundred eleventh.
