PROCLAMATION

tragedy is not always the end of something; it can, with courage and faith, be a beginning. Such is the case in the tragedy of blindness. Blind people have their symbol of courage in the white cane; and

WHEREAS: the white came is more than an instrument of self-help -- it is a familiar reminder to those who can see that any tragedy can be transcended by faith and self-confidence; and it is, therefore, not only the blind who benefit from the white THEREAS: cane, but all men, for it is a symbol of courage and determination that is universal and that speaks to the heart of all mankind; and to make our citizens more fully aware of the significance of the THERMAS: white came, and of the need for the motorist to exercise caution and courtesy when approaching its beaver;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Wendell R. Anderson, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim October 15, 1972, as

"WHITE CAME SAFETY DAY"

and urge all Minnesotans to observe this day by increasing their understanding of the problems of the blind, learning more about the accomplishments of the blind, and seeking ways in which the blind may add even more than they already have to their own personal fulfillment and to the progress of our state.

> IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have herounto set my hand and caused the Great Scal of the State of Minnesota to be affixed at the State Capital this twenty-eighth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and neventy-two and of the State, the one hundred fifteenth.
