PROCLAMATION

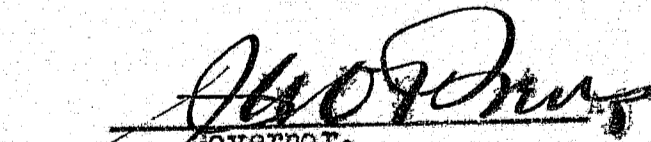

Minnesota is this year garnering an exceptionally bounteous harvest, and present indications are that all our products will be sold at prices which will bring fair returns to the producers.

In our present prosperity we should not forget that both yields and prices fluctuate, and that the farmer who seeks stable prosperity must always be on the alert to apply improved farming methods, and must fortify himself by diversified farming against the disasters which come periodically to the one-crop farmer.

One of the best places to get up-to-date information on farming methods is the Minnesota State Fair, to be held this year from August 30th to September 6th. Here are shown the latest ideas in machinery, the best varieties of live stock, grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables. Attention is particularly invited to the Northwest Dairy Exposition, to be held in conjunction with the State Fair, and to the meeting to be held September 4th to promote crop rotation and diversified farming.

While those engaged in farming will get the most direct benefit from a visit to the State Fair, every other industry in Minnesota is so directly dependent upon agriculture that every person in the state should know what is going on in the farm world and should aid any institution which promotes better farming. Business men can learn much about modern farming in a short time at the State Fair. Let me urge every citizen in the state to give the Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition every possible encouragement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed hereto this 1st day of August, 1924.

Governor.
