

Proclamation

WHEREAS: Volunteers through the spirit of cooperation enthusiastically worked together to clean up and restore the area devastated by the 1981 tornado and further indicated their concern by replanting Central Park with their donation of trees and shrubs; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers foster true patriotism and promote civic involvement through democratic processes; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers as concerned citizens serve on council appointed boards and commissions without remuneration; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers with a desire to beautify the city have planted flowers for many years at the Civic Center, the Cedarholm golf course and throughout the Roseville park system; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers give countless hours and energy challenging and encouraging the development of good sportsmanship and athletic skills in the community youth through the numerous Recreation Department activities; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers donate endless hours as leaders in various community youth organizations teaching responsibility in becoming active, resourceful and dedicated citizens; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers promote pride in community and need to preserve its heritage; and

WHEREAS: Volunteers have demonstrated, by the examples above, what can be accomplished in Roseville through voluntary action;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Rudy Perpich, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim Sunday, September 11, 1983, to be
