

Proclamation

WHEREAS: National Education Center's Brown Institute Campus has served the educational and vocational needs of students in Minnesota and from all 50 states for more than 40 years; and

WHEREAS: The Brown Institute Campus provides practical, state-of-the-art training for students seeking careers in broadcasting, computer technology, electronics and other business fields; and

WHEREAS: Brown Institute offers a professional staff consisting of more than 100 highly qualified professional teachers and educators; and

WHEREAS: The Brown Institute Campus is the largest broadcast training facility in the nation, offering a technologically advanced teaching facility with state-of-the-art equipment rivaling that of most radio and television stations; and

WHEREAS: The Brown Institute Campus is dedicated to the success of its students and continues to aid them after they complete their studies by providing excellent job placement services, evidenced by the more than 200 Brown broadcasting alumni currently employed in the Twin Cities broadcast market alone;

WHEREAS: The Brown Institute Campus is dedicated to continuing to provide the highest quality contemporary vocational and industrial training, as well as retraining, through its educational leadership and commitment to its students;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Rudy Perpich, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim the twentieth day of October to be in Minnesota.
