

Proclamation

WHEREAS: The state of Minnesota recognizes the Minneapolis Parade of Homes as the largest housing parade in the world, according to the National Association of Home Builders; and

WHEREAS: The state of Minnesota is proud of the Minneapolis Builders Association for its many years of building in the state. Its strict guidelines and criteria for membership in the association assure potential new home buyers that they are working with a recognized builder of quality homes; and

The industry employs workers in many trades and has a major financial impact on the state of Minnesota.
