TOTAL POPULATION, INCREASE, AND DISTRIBUTION.

Population of the state.—The territory of Minnesota was organized in 1849 from the area now comprising the state of Minnesota and more than half the states of North and South Dakota, the western boundary being formed by the Missouri and White Earth Rivers; and in May, 1858, Minnesota, with boundaries as at present, was admitted to the Union as the thirty-second state. According to the Fourteenth Census, taken as of January 1, 1920, its population is 2,387,125, which represents an increase of 311,417, or 15 per cent, since 1910. During the same period the population of the United States increased by 14.9 per cent. The following summary shows the population of Minnesota from 1850 to 1920, inclusive, with the increase for each decade, in comparison with the per cent of increase for the United States as a whole:

 (See introductory text.)

Counties.—Minnesota has 86 counties, of which 77 show increases and 9 decreases as compared with 1910. (See Table 1.) No changes in county boundaries have been made since 1910.

Density of population.—The total land area of the state is 80,818 square miles. The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in 1920 is 29.5 (see Table 1), as against 25.7 in 1910 and 21.7 in 1900.

Minor civil divisions.—The political units into which the counties are divided are collectively termed "minor civil divisions." The counties of Minnesota are made up of 2,745 primary divisions, comprising 1,933 organized townships, 227 unorganized townships (including 12 for which no population was returned in 1920), 500 villages, 84 cities, and 1 borough. In addition to the villages which form primary divisions of the counties, there are 106 villages which constitute secondary divisions. Of these, each of 99 forms a part of the township in which it is located; each of 6 comprises parts of 2 townships; and 1 is coextensive with the township in which it is located. One village not included in the above count, Eden Valley, located in Meeker and Stearns Counties, forms a primary division of Meeker County and a part of a township in Stearns County. In addition to the minor civil divisions specified, there are in the state 7 islands, for 2 of which no population was reported, and 2 Indian reservations. (See Table 2.) The unorganized townships and the islands for which no population was reported are not shown in the body of Table 2, but are specified in the footnotes. The Indian reservations are independent of the county organizations, but are treated for census purposes as parts of the counties in which they are located.

Cities.—Minnesota has 84 cities, of which Minneapolis, with a population of 380,582, is the largest.

Two other cities have more than 50,000 inhabitants each. (See Tables 3 and 4.)

The following summary shows, for each city having 10,000 or more inhabitants in 1920, the population at each census for which figures are available, together with the number and per cent of increase during the preceding decade:

Population of Duluth village (2,645), set apart by act of legislature, Feb. 23, 1877, but which again became part of city by act of Mar. 2, 1887.

rural population.—The Census Bureau population as that residing in cities and designated places having 2,500 inhabitants or rural population as that residing outside designated places.

This summary presents, for the last three censuses showing the urban and rural population distributed among places grouped by specified limits of population. The figure for each census is based upon the population of the various places as shown by the returns of that census. Consequently the territory comprised within any one class of cities or that designated as urban or as rural does not remain fixed; because any given place may, through the growth or the decline of its population, pass from one class to another at successive censuses. The proportion of the population of Minnesota living in places of 2,500 or more increased from 34.1 per cent in 1900 to 41 per cent in 1910 and to 44.1 per cent in 1920.

TABLE 1.—AREA AND POPULATION OF COUNTIES: 1850 TO 1920.

[In computing the increase from 1890 to 1900 for certain counties, the population of Indian reservations in 1900 has been deducted from the total population of the county in order to make it comparable with the total for 1890, which does not include the population of Indian reservations. The deductions thus made for the several counties are as follows: Beltrami, 1,613; Carlton, 307; Cass, 2,331; Cook, 103; Itasca, 672; St. Louis, 881.]

POPULATION—MINNESOTA.

[A minus sign (—) denotes decrease.]
