WHEREAS, Many persons are at present unable to pay interest or principal payments due upon mortgages given by them upon their homes, particularly persons engaged in agricultural pursuits, because of an economic depression, the causes of which, and the remedies for which, are beyond their control, and

WHEREAS, As a consequence thereof mortgage foreclosure proceedings are being had throughout the state of Minnesota upon the homes of such persons, and

WHEREAS, Many persons are unable for the same reason to pay interest or principal payments due upon notes secured by chattel mortgages upon furniture and upon livestock, agricultural produce, and farm machinery, and

WHEREAS, Many of such persons and many other persons sympathetic to the plight of such persons about to lose their homes and personal property through such foreclosure proceedings, have undertaken by force to restrain such foreclosure proceedings, and

WHEREAS, Such attempted restraint is the act of persons otherwise obedient to law and order, and otherwise desirous of upholding the constitution and laws of the United States and of the State of Minnesota, and

WHEREAS, Under the Constitution of Minnesota it is the duty of the Governor to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed", and

WHEREAS, It would be unwise and unjust in this present emergency to use the armed forces of the state of Minnesota to compel such foreclosure proceedings as may be instituted or are now instituted, against such properties, and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of Minnesota is now assembled and has the power and authority, by adequate legislation, to prevent injustice in such foreclosures by altering the procedure now prescribed for foreclosures;
