WHEREAS, throughout the entire Christian world there exists a deep and sustaining affection for "Mother" and a recognition of her sacrifice, joy, sorrow and unyielding loyalty to her sons and daughters, and

WHEREAS, with heavy hearts we observe that mothers in every part of the nation of the world are being called upon at this time to make the supreme sacrifice, even as the mothers of this country were called upon to do so not so many years ago,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Harold G. Stinson, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby designate and proclaim

Sunday, May 11, 1941

NATIONAL DAY

in Minnesota, a day not apart for extraordinary remembrance and respect to mother whether that endorsement can be shown by personal greetings or by reverence of thought and not for one who has gone on before.

I further urge that the people of the State make the most of
