

STAFFORD KING
AUDITOR

State Auditor of Minnesota

THE STATE CAPITOL

St. Paul

JOHN L. MEADER
CHIEF DEPUTY AUDITOR

March 30th, 1942.

Honorable Mike Holm,
Secretary of State,
State of Minnesota,
State Capitol.

Dear Sir:

When a man leaves a civil position of trust and responsibility to serve in the armed forces of his country at war, a sincere respect for the opinions of his fellows would dictate the filing of a declaration setting forth the reasons which impel such transition.

I, therefore, file such declaration herewith with the Secretary of State of Minnesota.

The federal government, in the present emergency desiring to secure the services of officers of World War I, offered me a captaincy in the army of the United States. I have accepted that commission, and have been ordered to active duty.

Frankly, I am proud to accept this call and to serve with the thousands of other Minnesotans who like my own son are already under arms.

The immediate result is that I leave the office of State Auditor under statutory leave of absence without pay for the remainder of my elected term. This I can do in conscience. Most of the difficulties which resulted from the Reorganization Act of 1939 have been overcome. The structure of the new accounting system for the state has been firmly founded and the necessary new procedures effected - only polishing and perfecting are needed. This work will continue under the able direction of my deputy, John Meader.

In the meantime, I will not lose my residence in Minnesota nor my political rights here; I will file for nomination and re-election this fall, hopeful that when peace comes again as come it surely will, I may be privileged to carry on where I now leave off.

JOHN L. MEADER
CHIEF DEPUTY AUDITOR

The reasoning by which I have arrived at this decision is predicated upon the basic premise that everything which I have enjoyed in opportunity to progress, in equality amongst my fellows, in my freedom to live and move and have my being, including my right to share in the activities of my state government, is the direct result of the protection and direction of the American Constitution and the democracy which it has established, and for over a century and a half, maintained.

The very life of that democracy which has given me everything I have is hanging in the balance in this war.

I have great pride in the confidence which the people of Minnesota and the Government of the United States have placed in me; I have abiding faith in our ability to win.

I believe that the man who today puts any other thing above his liberty may lose them both.

Respectfully yours,
