Description of the Office of the State Auditor

The Office of the State Auditor serves as a watchdog for Minnesota taxpayers by helping to ensure financial integrity, accountability, and cost-effectiveness in local governments throughout the state.

Through financial, compliance, and special audits, the State Auditor oversees and ensures that local government funds are used for the purposes intended by law and that local governments hold themselves to the highest standards of financial accountability.

The State Auditor performs approximately 250 financial and compliance audits per year and has oversight responsibilities for over 4,300 local units of government throughout the state. The office currently maintains five divisions:

Audit Practice - conducts financial and legal compliance audits for local governments;

Government Information - collects and analyzes financial information for cities, towns, counties, and special districts;

Legal/Special Investigations - provides legal analysis and counsel to the Office and responds to outside inquiries about Minnesota local government law; as well as investigates allegations of misfeasance, malfeasance, and nonfeasance in local government.

Pension Oversight - monitors investment, financial, and actuarial reporting for over 700 public pension funds;

Tax Increment Financing (TIF) - promotes compliance and accountability in local governments' use of TIF through financial and compliance audits;

The State Auditor serves on the State Executive Council, State Board of Investment, Land Exchange Board, Public Employee's Retirement Association Board, Minnesota Housing Finance Agency, and the Rural Finance Authority Board.

Scope

This publication is intended to facilitate an understanding of county financial operations by citizens, policy makers and local government officials. The report summarizes, through data tables and charts, the financial operations of Minnesota counties for calendar year 2004. In addition, the report contains supplemental data showing county 2005 and 2006 budgets.

The data presented in this report is divided into governmental funds and proprietary funds. The governmental funds consist of the General, Special Revenue, Capital Projects, Permanent Funds, and Debt Service Funds. The financial operations of these funds are summarized in Table 1. Tables 2 and 3 present the data by each individual county. Appendix A lists factors that affect county finances.

The enterprise or proprietary funds of counties are presented separately from the governmental funds. Minnesota counties operate many types of public service enterprises. These enterprises furnish a variety of services that operate completely, or in large part, from revenues derived from the sale of goods or services. The financial operations of the municipal public service enterprises are presented in Tables 4 through 7. Footnotes used in the analysis of the enterprise operations are described at the end of the enterprise fund section.

Table 8 lists by each individual county the bonded and other long-term debt outstanding as of December 31, 2004. Other long-term debt refers to liabilities such as long-term lease agreements, installment purchase contracts, and notes.

Tables 9 and 10 present an analysis of the 2003 and 2004 unreserved fund balances in the General and Special Revenue Funds of counties. The tables show the actual unreserved fund balances, the percentage change in unreserved fund balances from 2003 to 2004, and a comparison to 2004 total current expenditures. Table 10 classifies unreserved fund balances by the standard issued by the State Auditor. Appendix B provides a more detailed discussion of fund balances.

In addition to this publication, the Office of the State Auditor presents an enhanced analysis of county finances on its website. To provide additional insight into the relative spending and debt level of counties, the website provides tables that show rankings of county per capita expenditures and debt.¹ Breakdowns by economic development regions are also presented.

The Office of the State Auditor also maintains an interactive database containing several years of data that can be accessed through its website. The database allows users to customize the presentation of data to their individual needs. For example, a citizen can select a group of counties to compare, and then choose the years and the categories of revenues and expenditures on which to compare them. The query can then be viewed on screen or saved to a file for downloading. The Auditor's website address is www.auditor.state.mn.us.

¹ The per capita tables do not incorporate the finances of enterprise funds. The inclusion of enterprise fund spending could significantly affect per capita figures for certain counties. Additionally, counties that provide services to other municipalities may have higher per capita expenditures.

Overview

Total Governmental Revenues

In 2004, Minnesota counties raised total governmental revenues of $4.46 billion to finance county services. This represents a decrease of 0.3 percent over the amount raised in 2003.

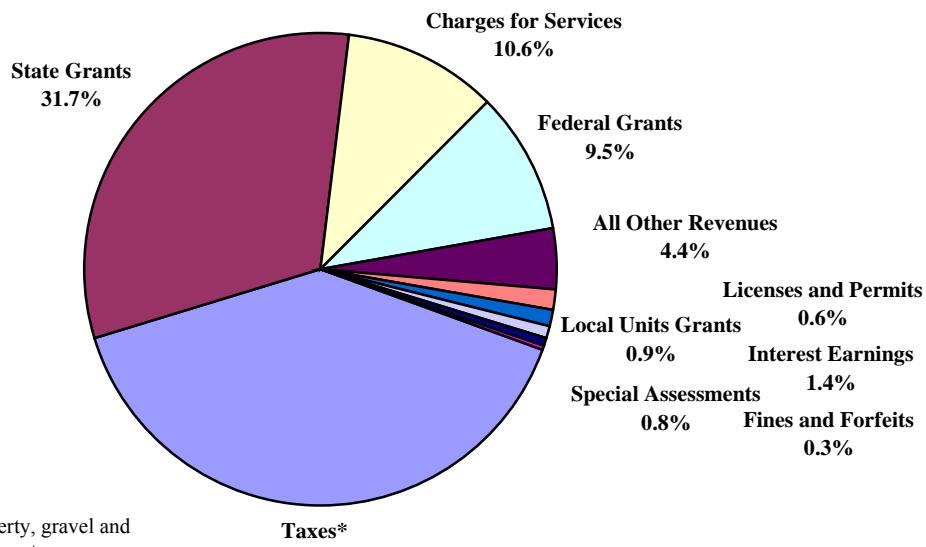

The composition of revenue sources for counties generally varies only slightly from year to year. The two largest sources of revenues for counties continue to be taxes and state intergovernmental revenues, which accounted for 39.8 and 31.7 percent of total revenues, respectively. Over a five-year period, there were some shifts in the composition of county revenues. Taxes as a percent of total revenues increased from 37.3 percent in 2000 to 39.8 percent in 2004. Intergovernmental revenues increased its percentage of total revenues from 42.7 percent to 46.1 percent in 2002, but have decreased over the last two years to 42.1 percent in 2004. Charges for services increased from 9.2 percent to 10.6 percent over the same period.

Between 2003 and 2004, revenue decreased in more categories than it increased. The revenue categories showing the greatest increases were interest earnings (15.5 percent), licenses and permits (9.0 percent), and taxes (5.9 percent). The categories showing the greatest decrease were fines and forfeits (22.9 percent), local units grants (18.3 percent), and federal grants (7.4 percent). In addition, state grant revenue was restructured in 2004, according to Minn. Stat. §477A.0124, resulting in many categories having been collapsed into HACA.

Total Governmental Expenditures

Counties provide a variety of services to their citizens. Most services are accounted for in Governmental Funds. In 2004, Minnesota counties expended $4.61 billion from Governmental Funds to provide county services. This represents an increase of 0.6 percent from 2003 total governmental expenditures. Two of the three types of expenditures that constitute total governmental expenditures increased in 2004. Current expenditures decreased 0.5 percent, while capital outlay expenditures increased 2.6 percent, and debt service expenditures increased 14.7 percent.

Expenditures in the subcategories varied between 2003 and 2004, with five categories seeing an increase in spending and five seeing a decrease in spending. The largest decrease was in the “all other” category at 58.7 percent. The “all other” category is more volatile than other categories because one-time expenditures or expenditures that are hard to classify, are often placed in this category. The next largest decrease was Conservation of Natural Resources, at 8.0 percent. The two largest increases were in Economic Development and Streets and Highways (8.5 and 7.9 percent, respectively). For all other categories of expenditures, the change in spending (increase or decrease) was relatively small, less than a five percent change.

*Includes current expenditures, capital outlays, and debt service.

Growth in Government

During the five-year period of 2000 to 2004, total governmental revenues and total current expenditures increased every year until 2003.² To place this growth in perspective, Figure 3 below includes a bar showing the growth in per capita personal income for Minnesotans.³ Per capita income is an indicator of the ability of citizens to pay for increased governmental spending. Generally, when expenditures grow faster than per capita personal income, citizens must spend a greater proportion of their income on governmental services. If non-tax sources of revenue keep pace or grow faster than expenditures, however, the increased spending may not result in a greater tax burden for citizens.

Figure 3 compares the change in total current expenditures and total governmental revenues to the change in Minnesota per capita personal income. There is a marked difference for the years 2003 and 2004 compared to previous years. The percent change in revenue and current expenditures has remained relatively flat between 2002 and 2004, though per capita income has fluctuated, growing 6.3% between 2003 and 2004. The growth in revenues has declined mostly due to reductions in state and federal aid. Many county programs are based on aid. Counties have seemingly adjusted their spending to reflect the decrease in revenue.

² The chart excludes capital outlay, as this category is more prone to yearly fluctuations. The chart also excludes revenues derived from borrowing because counties are prohibited from borrowing for current expenditures. Most capital projects are funded through the issuance of bonds or other types of borrowing such as certificates of participation.

Capital Outlay Expenditures

Counties expended $677 million on capital investments in 2004, representing an increase of 2.6 percent over the level expended in 2003. Capital outlays are more likely than current expenditures to vary significantly from year to year because capital projects tend to be large in size but infrequent in nature. Some of the factors that influence the level of capital investments include the need for infrastructure improvements, public safety concerns, demands for public meeting places and facilities, the need to replace aging infrastructure, and damage to public facilities caused by fire, floods, and storms.

Figure 4 illustrates the trend in capital spending for the years 2000 through 2004.

Public Service Enterprises

In addition to Governmental Funds, many counties establish Enterprise Funds to account for services that are financed and operated in a manner similar to private business enterprises. These enterprises are intended to be self-sustaining through fees and user charges. Although some enterprises generate net income, most have the objective of breaking even. Enterprise Fund accounting is also used to provide more detailed financial information on operations where there are concerns in regard to issues such as public policy, accountability, and management control. The most common enterprises created by counties include hospitals, nursing homes, nursing services, and solid waste.

Public service enterprises provide a good or service for a charge. Most enterprises are designed to recoup the costs of providing the service through charges to the user. Many county enterprises, however, do not recoup all the costs of the service and need to supplement the operating revenues with transfers from other funds and non-operating revenues such as taxes and intergovernmental revenues. In 2004, the operating losses of county enterprises totaled $13.6 million. County enterprise operations received non-operating revenues (taxes, federal and state grants, interest, etc.) of $82.0 million to cover operating losses. The Hennepin County Medical Center strongly affects these numbers with an operating loss of $19.1 million, and non-operating revenues of $34.9 million. After the inclusion of non-operating revenues, county enterprises posted a net income of $32.7 million in 2004. Tables 4 through 7 provide detailed financial information on Enterprise Fund operations.

Figure 5 examines the five-year trend in the operating income and net income or loss of municipal enterprises. The gap between the operating income line and the net income line shows the amount that counties contributed in the form of non-operating revenues to county enterprises.

Outstanding Long-Term Indebtedness

Counties incur long-term debt through the issuance of bonds and notes, certificates of indebtedness, and tax anticipation certificates. Long-term lease agreements are also classified as long-term debt. Counties may only borrow to finance capital projects and purchases because the law restricts them from borrowing for current expenditures. The amount of outstanding debt affects a county's expenditures because counties must make principal and interest payments to service the debt.

Counties reported a total of $2.07 billion in outstanding long-term debt at the end of 2004. This represents an increase in long-term debt of 6.5 percent over the year 2003. The long-term debt was divided between $1.84 billion in outstanding bonds and $222.5 million in other long-term debt. Counties incurred long-term debt to finance a wide range of capital projects such as roads, light rail transit, government buildings, and other infrastructure improvements. Table 8 details outstanding debt by county.

* Includes bonds and other types of debt such as certificates of participation, long-term leases, and notes

Unreserved Fund Balances of the General Fund and Special Revenue Funds

Counties maintain cash reserves for several reasons. Counties should have relatively large fund balances at the end of the year in order to meet expenditures occurring in the first five months of the next fiscal year, before the first property tax and state aid payments are received. Additional reasons include contingency funds for unforeseen needs and setting aside resources for future capital investments. The unreserved fund balances of counties' General and Special Revenue Funds totaled $1.77 billion in 2004.⁴ This represents an increase of 3.2 percent over the level in 2003.

Comparing counties' unreserved fund balances to their total current expenditures helps put the fund balances in perspective and provides insight on the relative financial health of Minnesota's counties. County unreserved fund balances as a percent of total current expenditures averaged 47.5 percent in 2004. Among individual counties, unreserved fund balances as a percent of total current expenditures ranged from 22.1 percent (Kanabec County) to 178.9 percent (Blue Earth County). Taken as a whole, Minnesota counties fall within the correct range.

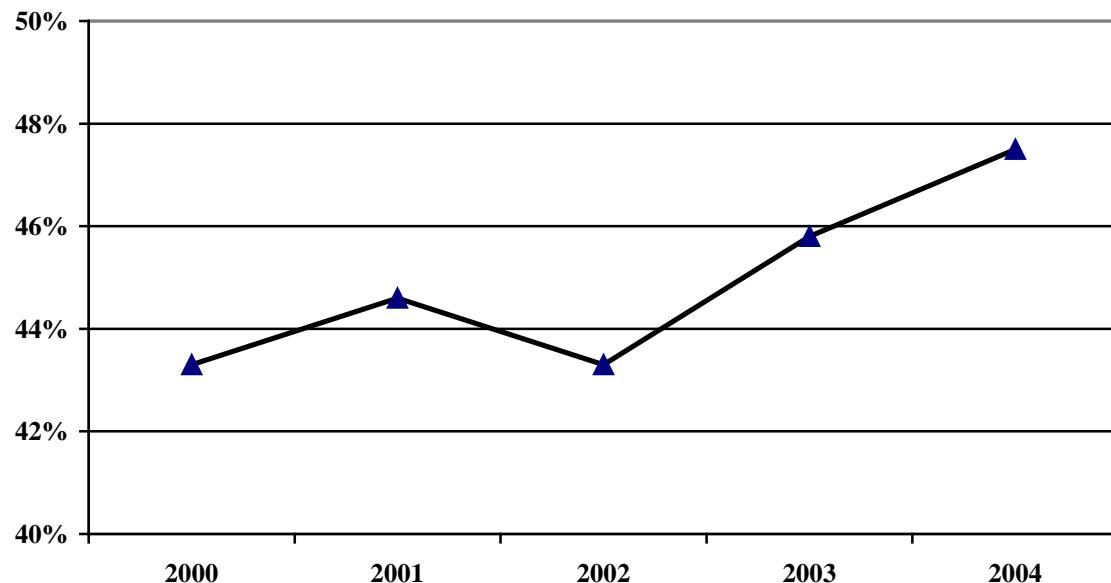

The following table shows the State Auditor's classifications of county unreserved fund balances in the General and Special Revenue funds and the number of counties within each range. The State Auditor recommends an unreserved fund balance of between 35 and 50 percent of total current expenditures. Tables 9 and 10 list individual counties by their unreserved fund balance as a percent of total current expenditures.

Fund Balance Classification	Range of Unreserved Fund Balance As a Percentage of Total Current Expenditures	Number of Counties 2004	Number of Counties Previous Year	Percent Change 03-04

Very High Fund Balance	100% to 150%	9	9	0%
Extremely High Fund Balance	Above 150%	1	1	0%

FACTORS INFLUENCING COUNTY FINANCES

Appendix A

Factors Influencing County Finances

The finances of counties are affected by many different factors. Some of the variation results from decisions made by county officials, and some are due to factors outside the control of the elected officials such as state mandates, county size, economic status of residents, and the proximity of similar services provided elsewhere. The amount of revenue available may be influenced by changes in property values, the use of fee-based services, intergovernmental grants for projects, and other interrelated factors. Expenditures may be affected by the demographic, geographic, historical or political landscape of the county. One-time events such as floods, fires, and tornadoes that create demand for cleanup and reconstruction may cause expenditures to increase significantly for a year or more. Some factors have an on-going effect on county finances, while others might be one-time events.

A. Demographics

Population. Counties with higher populations face different challenges than smaller populated counties. Dealing with high traffic numbers imposes a greater cost depending on the burden carried by an area's highways. Higher population density is also associated with higher poverty and crime rates.

Population decline. Infrastructure costs do not decrease automatically when population decreases, and even if costs do remain the same; per capita spending will increase because the costs are distributed over a smaller population base.

Income. The average per capita income of a county's residents is related to a county's expenditure level in several ways. Per capita income is indirectly related to a county's ability to raise revenues. Where incomes are lower, property values may also be depressed, which reduces a county's tax capacity. Poverty rates, in turn, will be higher, thus creating greater demand for public services.

B. Geographic location

Different areas of the state often operate within quite different economic environments. The presence of one large business or industry can impact an entire region.

Certain regions of Minnesota may experience economic difficulties while other regions may prosper. Declines in industries or companies that dominate local economies may result in a higher level of need for public assistance. Trends in agriculture could result in lower property values and a decline in revenues for counties in regions where the economy is primarily based on agriculture. Counties located in these areas may have more difficulty raising revenues and also may face higher demands for public services.

C. Revenue sources

Tax Capacity Per Capita. The amount of money any individual or entity spends is directly related to the amount that is available to spend. Likewise, the costs of doing business are directly related to the amounts of revenue that can be generated to meet the costs. The greater the amount and types of revenue available to a county, the more it will spend. The more it costs to provide services in a county, the more funds the county will need to raise.

Enterprise Funds. The per capita tables do not reflect expenditures accounted for in enterprise funds. The most common enterprise funds provide sanitation, hospital, nursing home, and nursing services. Other enterprises include recreation facilities, housing, and economic development. Counties that offer these services and account for them in the General Fund or Special Revenue Funds will show higher per capita expenditures in the per capita tables than those that provide the services through enterprise funds.

D. Shared services, joint powers agreements

A significant practice among counties is the sharing of services and the use of joint powers agreements to provide necessary services. "Joint exercise of powers" is defined in Minnesota Statutes, section 471.59. Such arrangements allow counties to provide services jointly with other counties and thus pool their resources.

Shared service arrangements are not necessarily formal; some counties provide services to other jurisdictions on an informal basis. The importance of shared services and joint powers agreements on this per capita analysis of county expenditures relates to the population figure used to determine the per capita rates. If a county of 10,000 provides services to neighboring cities or counties with populations totaling 5,000, the size of the population served is actually 15,000. If the county providing the service does not reduce its expenditures by the amount spent providing the service to the other jurisdictions, the calculated per capita rate will be too high. This result occurs because the calculation for the per capita rate uses the population of the county providing the service and not the combined population of all jurisdictions served.

The Office of the State Auditor does not collect information on joint powers agreements such that it would enable us to divide every expenditure by the actual recipient population figure. It is imperative, therefore, that in those instances where one county's expenditures appear higher than the average, the reader exercise caution in interpreting the numbers and investigate further into the possible sharing of services and/or the use of joint powers.

E. Proximity to county, regional, or state-run programs/facilities

If your neighbor has a pool and they are willing to let you use it, you probably won't install one of your own. Counties are subject to the same effect of proximity. Similarly, counties located close to a regional or state park may opt not to develop or expand their own park program.

The degree of isolation experienced by a community, whether geographic or technological (e.g., lack of advanced telecommunications capability), can also affect service needs and costs. Counties that are remote from other communities may not have the opportunity to participate in joint powers arrangements or have access to urban amenities, and thus may need to provide a wider range of services out of their own budgets.

F. Source of labor

The extent to which a county depends upon other than full-time, salaried employees will affect the levels of expenditures. The following types of arrangements can reduce the full-time complement of staff: extensive use of part-time employees, significant reliance on volunteers, and use of contracts for specific projects or general services. Besides lower wages to part-time employees, an important reduction in costs created through these types of arrangements is in the area of fringe benefits, which are not generally paid either to part-time employees, volunteers, or individuals hired on a contract basis.

Some employee arrangements may increase, rather than reduce costs. Some counties' expenditures are affected by the extensive unionization of their work force. Because of the role of the unions, salary costs may be more difficult to control for these counties.

G. Other factors

The effects of weather and natural disasters can significantly affect the expenditures for certain services over a period of time. Counties affected by natural disasters, such as floods, may have higher public safety, streets and highways, and infrastructure costs. There are many other incidental factors not included in this list. Explanations of differences in county expenditures should be pursued with county officials to better understand each county's per capita expenditures.

COUNTY GENERAL AND SPECIAL REVENUE UNRESERVED FUND BALANCES

County General and Special Revenue Unreserved Fund Balances

Minnesota counties report their fund balances at the close of their fiscal year, which ends December 31. This creates an impression that counties have excessive amounts of revenue held in reserve. In reality, county fund balances should be relatively large at the end of the year because of local government cash-flow cycles. Counties must rely on their fund balances to meet expenses during the first five months of the next fiscal year, until they receive the first property tax payments (May) and aid payments from the state (July).

Unlike state government, which collects income tax withholding and sales tax receipts regularly throughout the year, many counties do not have a constant flow of revenue from which they are able to fund local government operations. Property tax levies, state aid, and property tax credits comprise the majority of county discretionary revenues. Minnesota laws govern the flow of these major revenue sources into county treasuries.

- Counties receive the first half of property taxes from property owners by May 15 of each year.
- Counties receive the first half of their state aid and property tax credits from the state on July 20 of each year.
- Counties receive the second half of property taxes from property owners by October 15 of each year.
- Counties receive the second half of their state aid and property tax credits from the state on December 26 of each year.

Given this state-controlled flow of revenue, county fund balances (which are measured on December 31) are the primary source of funds available to counties for their operating expenses during the first five months of the next fiscal year. An adequate fund balance will provide counties with the cash flow required to finance expenditures and avoid short-term borrowing.

Unique Circumstances of Each County Determine the Size of Fund Balance

While counties must rely on the fund balances for cash flow purposes during the first five months of a year, the unique circumstances of each county will determine the size of a fund balance that must be maintained to avoid the need for short-term borrowing and to operate effectively.

Numerous factors must be considered when determining the level of reserves necessary to avoid short-term borrowing.

- If counties receive relatively large amounts of revenue from sources such as fees, fines, charges for services, other intergovernmental grants and aids, or interest on investments during the first five months of the calendar year, then they will be less dependent on their fund balances for cash flow purposes.
- Counties are often able to delay certain purchases until after the initial property tax and state aid payments are received. While payments for employee salaries, wages, and most benefits cannot be delayed during the first five months of the year, purchases of supplies and capital equipment may be delayed.

The individual cash flow needs of a county will determine the minimum fund balance that is necessary for it to operate effectively. Counties may need less reserves in their General and Special Revenue Funds if they have unreserved fund balances in other governmental or proprietary funds from which they may borrow or transfer resources, or if they receive significant revenues from sources other than property taxes and state aid payments (i.e. charges for services). Conversely, counties that rely heavily on property taxes and state aid for the majority of their revenues will need relatively large fund balances to meet their cash flow needs from January 1 through June 1 of every calendar year.
