GWDC

GOVERNOR'S WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

GWDC 2006 - 2008 Strategic Plan

Background- function and scope of the GWDC

The Governor's Workforce Development Council (GWDC) is the State Workforce Investment Board, established by the Federal Workforce Investment Act (WIA) of 1995 (currently in reauthorization), which replaced the former Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). The function of the Board is to provide strategic direction and vision for the mission of the workforce system in Minnesota. Its role is further defined in MN SS 116L.665.

GWDC staff and operating expenses are funded through the annual WIA 15% Governor's set-aside funds. Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) provides office space, human and other agency resources to the GWDC to accomplish its work. Partner agencies on the GWDC provide in-kind contributions of staff time and commitment in supporting the ongoing work of the committees and formulating documents.

Under WIA Legislation and MN statute, the role and function of the GWDC is described in action terms such as review, examine, provide oversight, evaluate, advise, recommend, sponsor and promote. Over time, the roles of convening, facilitating, researching and publishing have also emerged as responsibilities of the GWDC.

This plan updates a strategic vision established in 1999. The current work plan and committee structure is scheduled to conclude assignments by June 30 of this year. Chair Cyndi Leshner proposed a strategic planning session and council members approved a design presented at the December 22 meeting, for an event to be held January 31 and February 1, 2006. The session purpose was to develop a practical vision, identify strategic directions and outline a 2-3 year work plan for the GWDC consistent with legislation and priorities established by the Council.

Current Vision

Minnesota: Where employers and skilled workers jointly prosper.

Created in 1999; reaffirmed by GWDC in July 2002

Proposed 2006 Vision

Positioning Minnesota as the leader in global workforce competitiveness.

Planning Focus

The design for planning was a four-step process which included the following:

- Mapping a Practical Vision for the desired future;
- Analyzing the Underlying Contradictions or barriers to realization of the vision;
- Setting 2-3 year Strategic Directions, or actions to move toward the vision; and
- Planning Implementation of the actions to carry out the new directions.

A sub-committee met prior to the event to develop the design for strategic planning and defined the focus question as follows.

- How can the GWDC, in the next three years, ensure that the workforce system in Minnesota leads the nation?

When the larger group convened for planning, discussion further refined the focus question to the following version:

- How can the GWDC, in the next three years, create measurable system impact to ensure Minnesota employers and workers are globally competitive?

Planning Expectations

GWDC members identified expectations and outcomes expected as a result of the planning. Responses included achieving a legacy for workforce development; addressing populations with poverty and accessibility issues; baby boom post-retirement reengagement; public/private collaboration and the expectation that this plan will remain fluid and dynamic as a working document. A complete list of responses is located in the Appendix.

Environmental Scan

Council members assessed the current environment to identify factors and trends that are influencing the workforce development system in Minnesota. Council members discussed key recent accomplishments of the GWDC; internal and external trends that may affect the planning session; and the benefits or advantages of doing the planning now. A complete list of responses is located in the Appendix.

Practical Vision

Using a consensus workshop model, a long range analysis was conducted to identify areas of focus for the practical vision based on the focus question:

How can the GWDC, in the next three years, create measurable system impact to ensure Minnesota employers and workers are globally competitive?

Six areas of focus in the Practical Vision emerged as high priority for GWDC members:

- A. Investment for results
- B. Strategic Alliances with Business Sectors
- C. Leading Workforce Development System with Streamlined Service Delivery
- D. Demand-driven, Flexible, Accessible and Affordable Education
- E. Inclusive Policies and Practices that Support a Diverse Workforce
- F. Strategic and Influential Communications and Marketing

Mapping the desired picture of the future with a *Practical Vision

Investment for Results represents the recognition that in order to truly be globally competitive, skills and knowledge development- either through technical training or degree-based education- needs to be perceived as an investment rather than an unaffordable cost.

Two related support elements that interfere with many individuals' ability to develop attachments to the workforce were also discussed: accessible, affordable transportation and accessible affordable childcare, and Council members felt these were additional social investments necessary for workforce success.

Strategic Alliances with Business Sectors emphasizes the necessity for strengthening public and private collaboration in workforce development. Sector based initiatives are recognized as a strategic means to approach this at the regional, state and local levels. This approach emphasizes the partnership among economic development, education, and workforce development, with business engagement.

Leading Workforce Development System with Innovative Service Delivery recognizes the challenge of combining continuous improvement and drive toward more efficient and effective services with declining resources. Developing strategic alliances with unconventional partners and developing innovative service delivery methods will be required to keep Minnesota's workforce development system and workers in the lead.

Demand Driven, Flexible, Accessible and Affordable Education underscores the essential alignment between education at any level and the workforce needs in this global economy. It also reflects the understanding that new and innovative models for instruction and delivery are necessary to meet the growing need for workforce participation and the continuous learning that supports each step in an individual's lifelong progression of jobs and careers. It also calls for innovative strategies to make skills development and education to be financially accessible so that employer demand can be met with a supply of skilled workers.

Inclusive Policies and Practices that Support a Diverse Workforce acknowledges the rapidly increasing diversity in our schools, our communities and our workforce, and that we must consider all populations as important and necessary members of the current and future workforce. Groups include individuals with disabilities, immigrants, returning veterans, post-retirement workers and prisoners reentering society and that public policies and practices should reflect inclusion and integration opportunities.

Strategic and Influential Communications and Marketing is a strategy that reflects the Council's desire to create a clear, focused and strategic message about the GWDC to stakeholders, and to communicate that message through a variety of venues. It is important to utilize the GWDC members to develop a position on relevant policy issues and to share the message effectively, and to keep GWDC members regularly informed about issues and opportunities.

Underlying Contradictions or barriers to the Practical Vision are located in the Appendix.

		Executive Committee

Strategic Directions (Overarching Goals): Strategic Directions noted in the first column are the proposed actions to move the GWDC towards implementing the practical vision.

Proposed Committee Structure: Suggested committees align with the direction and priorities identified by the Council members.

Proposed Committee Structure

Public Relations Committee

The role of the Public Relations Committee is to elevate the profile of the GWDC to make it more visible at the national, state and local levels. This includes developing the GWDC's brand and marketing strategy; pursuing the Governor's participation or facilitate listening sessions with legislators; working with other GWDC committees to disseminate reports, or gathering information on potential opportunities for exposure (funding and otherwise) at the national level.

Business and Community Connections Committee

The Business and Community Connections Committee is responsible for strengthening connections between workforce development and economic development through the GWDC. This includes making connections with State and local Chambers of Commerce, promoting sector-based initiatives, encouraging regional capital assessments, and/or convening local-level stakeholders to prioritize and respond to local requests as resources permit.

Education Action Committee-

Mindful of the declining numbers of workforce participants in the current education system, it is imperative the Minnesota makes strategic decisions about education and skills training that reflect the global environment we now live in. The Education Action Committee's charge is to identify barriers or gaps in education systems at all levels that prevent demand-driven, flexible educations and affordable, accessible higher education and to identify system alignment or investment opportunities that reduce barriers and increase entry and exit at multiple points in an individual's lifetime.

Diversity Action Committee

With the tightening of the workforce already occurring, populations previously underrepresented are being looked to as part of the solution to Minnesota's global workforce competitiveness. The Diversity Action Committee's charge is to research, identify and recommend inclusive policies and practices that reduce barriers and provide terms and accommodations that will accelerate populations such as individuals with disabilities, new immigrants, seniors at near or post-retirement and returning veterans, etc., into the workforce more quickly.

External Affairs/Legislative Ad Hoc Committee(s)

This committee can be the group that provides follow-up and advocacy to implement policy recommendations that emerge from GWDC. Ad hoc committees will be formed as topics or needs emerge from other committees, meet long enough to formulate appropriate action or response, and then re-convene as additional items require action.

Systems Excellence Committee

The Systems Excellence Committee is a standing committee charged with: creating the bi-annual workforce center plan and reviewing and adopting statewide performance measures for the workforce center system.

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee is responsible for establishing the vision, goals and performance measures for the GWDC (Board review/evaluation) and for overseeing development of the GWDC advisory reports to the Governor.

GWDC Work Plan 2006-2008 with consideration for the role and function of the GWDC:

*Convene and Facilitate; *Provide Oversight, Review; *Initiate, Support and Promote;

*Research and Publish. Individual committees determine their own agendas. Staff activities support committees and lead independent projects not tied to committees, but to the overall goals of the GWDC.

ICA's Participatory Strategic Planning:

The Participatory Strategic Planning Process consists of four steps:

- Mapping out the PRACTICAL VISION – the practical picture of the desired future
- Analyzing the UNDERLYING CONTRADICTIONS – the underlying obstacles or issues preventing realization of the vision
- Setting the STRATEGIC DIRECTIONS – the proposed actions to deal with the contradictions and move towards the vision
- Drawing up the IMPLEMENTATION TIMELINE – the substantial actions required to carry out the new directions

The general structure of the Participatory Strategic Planning process is as follows:

- Developing our Practical Vision
The practical vision of the organization is held in part by all of its members. Consequently, the breadth of a group's vision is hidden from each member individually until it is called forth and objectified in the workshop setting. This segment will be the time to express our fondest hopes and dreams for the organization.
- Discerning the Obstacles
Upon the development of a practical vision, the real obstacles facing the organization will become apparent. As the group considers the entire range of issues to be faced in the pursuit of its vision, the root causes of obstacles can be uncovered and objectified for sober consideration.
- Identifying the Strategic Directions
In this section, people are asked to think strategically. They will be asked to describe actions that will deal with the obstacles and enable the realization of the vision. The actions will be combined into action arenas that will achieve economy of effort with high impact results.
- Planning the Implementation of the Strategic Directions
The effective implementation of any plan depends upon clarifying directions, aligning resources, designating leadership roles and responsibilities and building team trust and support. This is the time for putting together a detailed plan with the particulars laid out in a calendar, forming working groups, setting meeting times and creating clear goals for teams. The objective of this session is to layout essential coordination details to ensure the implementation of the strategic plan.
