INTRODUCTION

This report includes a summary of changes made in existing laws and new laws enacted of a general nature by the regular and special sessions of the 1959 Legislature. Many enactments of the sessions have been excluded because of their minor effect both as to substantive change and limited application. The laws which are included are identified by chapter number and legislative file number. Each measure is summarized and grouped according to its main topic. Under the topic heading of "General Legislation" appears a number of laws which are not amenable to any definite category. In some instances summaries are grouped under more than one heading.

Two types of legislation have received extensive reporting. These are the state building program and the state appropriations. As in the past, the appropriation section includes comparative tables showing appropriations back as far as 1933 in some instances.

This report is designed only to give members of the Legislature a summary of major legislation passed during the 1959 sessions and an easy reference to enactments by topical arrangement. Although the report was compiled without the benefit of the session laws or the permanent legislative journals, the material contained herein is believed to be accurate.

Members of the Legislature are requested to submit to the Legislative Research Committee suggestions for improving the usefulness of this summary.

LEGISLATIVE HIGHLIGHTS

The Sixty-First Session of the Minnesota Legislature convened on January 6, 1959, and adjourned sine die according to the journal record on April 21, 1959. The actual date of adjournment was Friday, April 24, 1959. During this period 1,895 bills were introduced in the House of Representatives and 1,676 bills were introduced in the Senate. Of the total 3,571 bills introduced in both chambers, 703 were enacted into law. In addition, eight resolutions were also approved. No measures became law without the Governor's signature. The pocket veto was used to deny approval of four bills passed by the Legislature. These four measures are summarized as follows: (1) A bill to permit veterans clubs chartered by Congress to obtain club liquor licenses after 10 years of existence instead of after 20; (2) A bill requiring municipalities to give 18 months notice if they intend to replace private liquor sales with municipal sales; (3) A bill to permit more money to be collected by garishment than possible under existing law; and (4) A bill to provide a deficiency appropriation to pay bonuses to Korean veterans. The last measure was enacted into law during the special session. Two measures passed during the regular session provide for constitutional amendments.

The special session of the Sixty-First Legislature convened on April 25, 1959 and adjourned sine die on July 1, 1959. A total of 413 bills were introduced during the session - 202 Senate files and 211 House files. From this total, 90 bills were enacted into law and two resolutions were also passed. One measure proposing a constitutional amendment on reapportionment became law without the signature of the Governor. An appropriation in the state building bill of $200,000 for the Forest Products Laboratory was item vetoed. House file 87 which provided for the taxation of electric power plants used principally in the transportation or concentration of taconite was pocket vetoed by the Governor, and also Senate file 116 relating to fees for filing and satisfying chattel mortgages. Two measures were passed during the special session proposing three constitutional amendments.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that this is essential for ensuring transparency and accountability in the organization's operations.

2. The second part outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. It mentions the use of surveys, interviews, and focus groups to gather information from stakeholders. Additionally, it discusses the application of statistical analysis to interpret the collected data.

3. The third part describes the process of identifying key performance indicators (KPIs) and how they are used to measure the organization's progress towards its goals. It highlights the need for regular monitoring and reporting on these indicators to facilitate timely decision-making.

4. The fourth part addresses the challenges faced in the implementation of the research project. It notes that limited resources and time constraints were significant obstacles. However, through careful planning and collaboration, these challenges were successfully overcome.

5. The fifth part presents the findings of the study. It shows that the majority of respondents are in favor of the proposed changes, with a strong emphasis on improving communication and collaboration within the organization. The findings also indicate that there is a need for further training and development for staff to ensure they are equipped to handle the new initiatives.

6. The sixth part discusses the implications of the findings for the organization. It suggests that the proposed changes, if implemented, will lead to increased efficiency and productivity. It also recommends that the organization should continue to monitor the progress and make adjustments as needed to ensure the success of the project.

7. The seventh part provides a conclusion and summarizes the key points of the document. It reiterates the importance of the research and the need for continued effort in achieving the organization's goals.

8. The eighth part includes a list of references and sources used in the research. It cites various academic journals, books, and reports that provided valuable insights and data for the study.

9. The ninth part contains a list of appendices, which include additional data, charts, and supporting documents. These are provided for reference and to allow for a more detailed examination of the research findings.

10. The final part of the document is a list of acknowledgments, where the author expresses gratitude to the individuals and organizations that provided support and assistance throughout the research process.

(a) Agricultural Extension Agents not under the University until fiscal 1942, and appropriations therefor for prior years are excluded.

(b) Includes deficiency appropriation.

(c) Duluth T. C. was made a branch of the University by the 1947 Legislature, and 1950 was the first year funds were appropriated directly to the University for the Duluth Branch.

(d) Does not include tuition and transportation aid for students at Schools of Agriculture.

(e) The Universities share of the Occupation Tax on Iron Ore was used for Maintenance and Improvements beginning in 1958. The 1957 "Windfall" was added to fiscal year 1958 accounting for the difference in comparison with fiscal 1959.

(f) Includes $100,000 for replacement of supplies and equipment destroyed by fire in the Chemistry Building.

(g) Excludes $200,000 for Forest Products Building which was vetoed.

Note: This chart differs from those in earlier editions of "Actions" for the following reasons: (1) Youth and Adult correctional institutions are shown separately and beginning in 1954 Y.C.C. camps have been included. (2) Deficiencies and employees compensation were added to the previous figures for 1949 and 1953 through 1959. (3) The Children's Treatment Center was included - previously reported under Welfare Activities. (4) In 1940 and 1941 Penal Camps were shown under Department of Welfare - now under Adult Correctional. (5) Commencing in 1960, all biennial appropriations are divided equally between years. Prior to 1960 only the contingent appropriation was divided.

(a) Board of Control in 1940 and 1941. Division of Institutions 1942 through 1955. Department of Welfare includes administration of the various aid programs as well as the institutions.

(b) Includes institutions for the mentally deficient, epileptic, blind, deaf, tubercular, and crippled children.

(c) The institutions for boys and girls were placed under Youth Conservation Commission in 1952.
