Sarah Dixon, Chair

To the Reader

It is my privilege to welcome you to the 2004 Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee (JJAC) Annual Report and to bring you greetings from JJAC members. The members of JJAC are focused on ensuring that Minnesota juveniles involved in the juvenile justice system receive the best care possible as they journey toward maturation and to independence.

As you look through this Annual Report, I hope you will catch the energy, dedication and expertise of members and staff in this ongoing endeavor. Minnesota may be proud of its contribution to juvenile justice in cutting edge innovation and best practices around the treatment of juveniles within the system and in prevention programs designed to keep our children out of it.

The Annual Report also includes the inclusion of the Enforcing Underage Drinking Laws (EUDL) annual report. This is another program administered by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) and one whose efforts are also focused on keeping our youth healthy as they progress toward adulthood.

I hope you are inspired by the accomplishments presented here and I welcome you to add your voice and efforts in caring for our youth.

Juvenile Justice at a Glance

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

The Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee (JJAC) is appointed by the Governor pursuant to requirements of the 1974 Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act (re-authorized, 2002).

The supervisory committee has the following responsibilities:

- to develop an ongoing state comprehensive Three Year Plan,
- 2. to advise the Governor on compliance with the core requirements of the JJDP Act,
- to advise the Governor with Annual Recommendations for the Juvenile Justice system,
- to review Title II and Title V applications,
- 5. to deliberate as the Juvenile Crime Enforcement Coalition (JCEC), and
- to review the progress of funded Title II, Title V and JABG programs.

Each state is required to have a full time equivalent Juvenile Justice Specialist, the staff person assigned to carry out the above responsibilities or to see they are accomplished.

JJAC has the responsibility of assembling a Comprehensive Three Year Plan for Juvenile Justice for Minnesota. This is an official statement from the state to OJJDP on the state's juvenile justice current activities and future plans and emphases. Updates to the plan follow in the two consecutive years following the initial writing. JJAC also has the responsibility to produce Annual Recommendations to the Governor and to the Legislature. They are based on the current Three Year Plan.

The Title II program includes 15 funded grantees for a total investment in Minnesota's at-risk youth of $666,977. Each grantee must provide direct service to youth under the age of 18 and focus the program in the areas of prevention, diversion, intervention, aftercare and transition. JJAC has requested an emphasis on gender specific programming, aftercare with a training component, and most recently on programs that would mitigate the effects of disproportionate minority contact. Of the fifteen Title II programs, there are:

- three programs focused on Southeast-Asian vouth.
- one focused on African-American youth,
- one focused on American-Indian youth,
- one focused on Latino/Latina youth,
- two focused on girls and three on boys.

Grantees are required to submit quarterly progress reports. Grantees may re-apply for two additional years of funding.

The Title V program also includes fifteen funded grantees for a total of $727,638. The individual grantee must either be a local unit of government or sponsored by a local unit of government. Other federal requirements for a successful Title V applicant include a 50% match and a prevention policy board and plan. Several of the Title V programs concentrate on specific populations. Currently, two programs are focused on girls with another focused on African-American youth. Title V Grantees are also required to submit quarterly progress reports. Title V may also apply for two additional years of funding.

Under the OJJDP formula, JJAC also allocates the Native American Pass Through funding which is based on the population of Native Americans within the state. In 2004, that funding was accessed by the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians.

Finally, JJAC has the responsibility of acting as the state JCEC for the Juvenile Accountability Block Grant (JABG). A segment of every JJAC meeting is set aside to comply with the federal requirements while JJAC reviews items for JABG.

2005 Recommendations to the Governor

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

The Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee (JJAC) is charged, under the federal Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act, to advise and make recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature about issues, trends and practices related to the state's juvenile justice system. JJAC, comprised of representatives from private non-profits, resource providers for juveniles and government officials and administrators, believes there should be an overarching perspective of the juvenile justice system in order to spotlight emerging juvenile needs, best practices in juvenile programming, and a user friendly approach for an effective governmental system. JJAC is mindful there may be duplication of services, detached services or non-existent services available in some geographic areas. JJAC is seeking ways to alleviate such inadequacies.

JJAC has long held that all youth in our society are at risk due to enormous challenges they face during their growing up years. Some are more at risk than others due to the demographics of poverty, family dysfunction, chemical and mental health problems, disparities caused by cultural and ethnic discrimination in a society that too often accommodates violence.

These high risk youth are those that JJAC believes can most benefit from an inclusive and comprehensive approach to juvenile justice. JJAC is most concerned about and committed to helping such high risk youth.

In conjunction with annual Recommendations, JJAC also issues its Three Year Plan and annual Updates to the Three Year Plan each year. The work plan for JJAC is summarized in the Recommendations and in the Three Year Plan and subsequent Updates. The work plan outlines the commitment JJAC makes to juveniles in the justice system.

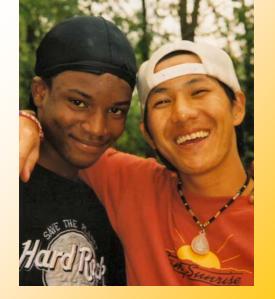

JJAC currently recognizes that there is a continuum of care for youth in the Juvenile Justice System. All points along the continuum are critical for those who are in need of the following services:

Prevention programs serve youth who have not yet entered into the system but because of high risk factors could easily become involved with it. This prevention focus also includes services for children under ten.

Diversion programs offer first time offenders a chance to reduce any future involvement in the court system.

Disposition and Intervention programs assure youth a structured environment that encompasses both remedial and restitution elements that are needed for each youth's personal growth and recovery.

Transition programs support youth after release from a correctional facility or out of home placement by assisting them to find a job, enroll in school, and engage in other transition services.

Aftercare programs provide additional supportive services after transition to encourage and promote youth success once they have completed their primary services. Making the continuum a circle of care, Prevention programs also serve those youth who have previously been involved in the system and could easily find themselves once more ensnared within it.

2005 Recommendations to the Governor

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

Pursuant to its charge, JJAC recommends the following:

Disproportionate Minority Contact (DMC)

JJAC is completing an assessment of DMC in all stages of the juvenile justice system: arrest, diversion, detainment, prosecution, adjudication, disposition and commitment. From this data JJAC will be able to complete a comprehensive analysis of where and what improvements need to take place. JJAC recommends innovative strategies involving all stakeholders in the juvenile justice system to identify and prevent DMC.

Systemic Perspective:

JJAC will proactively explore the use of screening tools and how they are used by the juvenile justice system to understand individual, family and societal factors and arrive at an appropriate individual treatment plan. Comprehensive screenings at the beginning of a youth's interaction with the system can identify mental health and chemical dependency issues, family and environmental risk and protective factors, as well as the need for treatment.

Service Delivery:

JJAC is aware there is a need to examine whether appropriate services and placements for youth are being utilized as alternatives to incarceration. JJAC recommends innovative programs that could be replicated to divert youth who are residing in facilities that are not meeting their needs. Such innovative programs include drug courts, restorative justice, family therapy and wrap around services.

Quality Assurances:

Twofold: JJAC will examine the benefits to individual youth and the effectiveness of the individual program. Both small and large programs will be included in the assessment.

Resolution of JJAC November 19, 2004

The young do not know enough to be prudent, and therefore they attempt the impossible, and achieve it, generation after generation.

-Pearl S. Buck

History and OJJDP Core Requirements

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

In 1974 the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act (JJDP Act) was enacted to address national concerns of juvenile delinquency and youth involved in the justice system. The JJDP Act was comprehensive in its approach and provided funding, technical assistance and information networking to address concerns. The most recent change in the law occurred in 2002 when the Act was reauthorized by Congress.

The 2002 Reauthorization maintains the original four core requirements created to protect youth involved in the juvenile justice system. The requirements have been central to the JJDP Act and must be addressed before a state may use allocated funding for grants to youth serving agencies. Minnesota is in compliance with all four core requirements of the JJDP Act. The four core requirements are:

Core Requirement: De-institutionalization of Status Offenders (DSO)

This core requirement directs states to ensure that juveniles who are charged with status offenses that would not be deemed criminal if committed by an adult (i.e. truancy, running away, tobacco and alcohol use) are not placed in adult secure detention or correctional facilities.

Core Requirement: Sight and Sound Separation of Juvenile and Adult Offenders

This core requirement directs states to ensure that juvenile charged with a delinquent offense who are detained or confined in an adult jail or lockup do not have verbal or visual contact with adult offenders.

Core Requirement: Removal of Juveniles from Adult Jails and Lockups

This core requirement directs states to ensure that no juvenile shall be detained or confined in a jail or lockup intended for adult offenders beyond specified time limits: six hours in Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) counties and 24 hours in all other counties.

Core Requirement: Disproportionate Minority Contact

This core requirement directs states to put forth efforts to reduce the proportion of youth of color at all points along the juvenile justice system when that proportion exceeds the minority's representation in the general population.

Disproportionate Minority Contact

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

Disproportionate Minority Contact (DMC) is a growing problem in Minnesota, a problem that increasingly has been suggested as a contributor to the overrepresentation of minorities in adult jails and prisons. According to statewide data collected in 2004, minority juveniles comprise 16% of the State's 10-17 juvenile population, however, they also account for the following:

- ♦ 36% of juvenile arrests.
- 34.6% of juvenile cases petitioned.
- 36.6% of juvenile cases resulting in delinquent findings.
- ♦ 42.4% of juvenile cases resulting in confinement in secure juvenile correctional facilities.
- 42.3% of juvenile cases transferred to adult court.

These percentages represent a cause for concern. However, the Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee continues to focus on this important juvenile justice issue by directing funding and resources on programs and other initiatives that reduce DMC in Minnesota. During 2004 JJAC has taken a number of steps to address DMC statewide and in local jurisdictions. The following actions were achieved with JJAC's guidance and approval:

- Concurred with the Office of Justice Programs appointment of a DMC Coordinator.
- Awarded $745,000 in Juvenile Accountability Block Grant funds to seven local units of government for DMC reduction projects.
- Awarded $200,000 in Juvenile Accountability

Block Grant funds to Hennepin and Dakota counties for assessments of their juvenile justice systems to determine how policies, practices, and procedures contribute to DMC.

Specifically, the DMC Coordinator:

- Identified the degree to which DMC is prevalent in the State as a whole and in Hennepin, Dakota, Anoka, and Olmsted counties.
- Brought representatives from the Annie E. Casey Foundation to Hennepin County to explore the possibility of Hennepin County becoming one of the Foundation's Juvenile Detention Alternative Initiative sites.
- Met with representatives from the Vera Institute of Justice and the W. Haywood Burns Institute to learn about successful DMC reduction projects and determine how Minnesota could partner with the agencies or utilize their DMC expertise and experience.

As one of the JJDP Act's four core requirements, DMC data will be collected, analyzed, and reported annually to determine the most effective and innovative approaches to reducing and ultimately eliminating it in Minnesota in the future.

"The best way to help children is to make sure we provide them with as many opportunities to succeed as possible. Unfortunately, if we wait until they are involved in the juvenile justice system, we know there is a good chance they will commit crimes in their future. So it is extremely important that we do everything we can to prevent, to intervene early and to guide children to productive paths."

Richard Gardell St. Paul Police Department Commander and Chair of the JJAC DMC Sub-Committee.

Juvenile Accountability Block Grant

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

Program Origin and Intent

In 1998, Congress passed Public Law 105-277 and appropriated $250,000,000 to the United States Department of Justice for the Juvenile Accountability Block Grant (JABG). By enacting this legislation, Congress authorized the Attorney General to make grants to states for the purpose of increasing accountability in the juvenile justice system. The intent of the program is to reduce juvenile crime by encouraging accountability-based reform at the state and local level. For federal fiscal year 2003, Minnesota's JABG allocation was $2.6 million. This funding was passed through to local units of government, funding programs from January 1, 2004 through June 30, 2005.

State Juvenile Crime Enforcement Coalition

In order to receive JABG funds, eligible units of local government must establish a local Juvenile Crime Enforcement Coalition (JCEC) with representatives from the police, sheriff, prosecutor, state or local probation services, juvenile court, schools, business, and religious affiliated, fraternal, nonprofit, or social service organizations involved in crime prevention. The JCEC must create a coordinated enforcement plan for reducing juvenile crime.

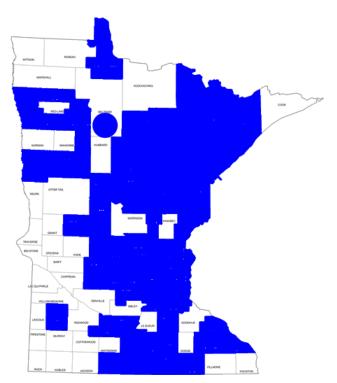

JABG also requires that each state establish a state-level JCEC to create a statewide coordinated enforcement plan for reducing juvenile crime. In Minnesota, the Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee (JJAC) serves as the state's JCEC. JJAC members are appointed to four year terms by the Governor in accordance with the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974.

Grant Allocations

Allocations to units of local governments are based 2/3 on law enforcement expenditures and 1/3 on reported violent crime data. The minimum grant amount under federal law is $5,000.

Localities may allocate their JABG funding to a larger entity such as the county government or may choose to partner with another eligible unit. Local units of government must provide 10% cash match to their award dollars.

2004 JABG Counties

JABG Program Purpose Areas

- Graduated sanctions: Developing, implementing, and administering graduated sanctions for juvenile offenders.
- Corrections/detention facilities construction:
 Building, expanding, renovating, or operating temporary or permanent juvenile corrections or detention facilities.
- Court staffing and pretrial services: Hiring juvenile court judges, probation officers, and court appointed defenders and funding pretrial services (including mental health screening and assessment) for juvenile offenders.
- Prosecutors (staffing): Hiring additional prosecutors so that more cases involving violent juvenile offenders can be prosecuted and backlogs reduced.
- Prosecutors (funding): Providing funding to enable prosecutors to address drug, gang, and youth violence problems effectively and for equipment and training to assist prosecutors in expediting the prosecution of violent juvenile offenders.
- Training for law enforcement and court personnel: Establishing and maintaining training programs for law enforcement and other court personnel with respect to preventing and controlling juvenile crime.
- 7. Juvenile gun courts: Gun courts for the adjudication of juvenile firearms offenders.
- Juvenile drug courts: Establishing drug court programs to provide continuing judicial supervision over juvenile offenders with substance abuse problems and to integrate administration of other sanctions and services for such offenders.
- 9. Juvenile records system: Creating a system of juvenile records for public safety.

- 10. Information sharing: Establishing and maintaining interagency information-sharing programs that enable the juvenile and criminal justice systems, schools, and social services agencies to make informed decisions regarding the early identification, control, supervision, and treatment of juveniles.
- Accountability: Establishing accountabilitybased programs designed to reduce recidivism among juveniles who are referred by law enforcement personnel.
- 12. Risk and needs assessment: Establishing programs to conduct risk and needs assessments of juvenile offenders, including mental health screening, treatment and substance abuse testing to such offenders.
- 13. School safety: Accountability-based programs to enhance school safety.
- 14. Restorative justice: Establishing and maintaining restorative justice programs.
- 15. Juvenile courts and probation: Establishing and maintaining programs to enable juvenile courts and juvenile probation officers to be more effective and efficient in holding juvenile offenders accountable and reducing recidivism.
- 16. Detention/corrections personnel: Hiring detention and corrections personnel and establishing and maintaining training programs for such personnel, to improve facility practices and programming.

Enforcing the Underage Drinking Laws

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

The Minnesota
Department of Public
Safety's Office of Traffic Safety was designated to receive the Enforcing the Underage Drinking Laws Program (previously entitled Combating Underage Drinking) Block
Grant for $360,000. A plan was developed with assistance from the Alcohol and Gambling

Enforcement Division (AGED) staff, Hennepin County Community Prevention Coalition, Minnesota Join Together (MJT) and MADD, MN state office. The plan consists of three components that address the program goal: To prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages to – or the consumption of alcoholic beverages by – those under the legal drinking age.

The first component: AGED provides guidelines and funds for law enforcement agencies to conduct alcohol compliance checks and related enforcement. Upon request, AGED staff provides compliance check training sessions and information sessions to liquor establishment personnel, city and/or county elected officials, prosecutors, media, school liaisons, and public health staff throughout the state. Information sessions cover underage drinking laws, fake identification, special event liquor licenses, adult providers and other underage drinking issues.

The second component: The Minnesota Institute of Public Health works to enhance efforts conducted by communities to prevent teens access to alcohol. Their staff provides community-specific guidance and assists with implementation of efforts to address underage drinking. Currently special emphasis is on the judicial system and assisting interested counties to develop guidelines for consistency in addressing underage drinking violators and adult providers. They utilize social, public policy and environmental methods to resolve underage drinking issues. They have also created a Reducing Underage Drinking Resources Clearinghouse which provides materials at no cost to schools, task forces, law enforcement, judicial districts and public health agencies.

The third component: Mothers Against Drunk Driving of Minnesota, Youth in Action (YIA) project promotes youth teams to work on community and state initiatives that are designed to reduce underage drinking and impaired driving among youth. Their legislative committee has learned to educate legislators at the Capitol and have been invited to testify at committee hearings during the legislative session.

Enforcing the Underage Drinking Laws

Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee

SUMMARY REPORT TO STATE LEGISLATURE

The Department of Public Safety's Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) has directed the Enforcing Underage Drinking Laws (EUDL) Program since its inception in 1998. The OTS receives EUDL funding from the Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice & Delinquency Prevention. Three grantees have been funded with OJJDP funds over the past seven years. They are the Alcohol & Gambling Enforcement Division, (AGED), Department of Public Safety; Minnesota Join Together (MJT) at the Minnesota Institute of Public Health; and the Youth in Action (YIA) Program at the MADD, Minnesota State Office.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM SFY 2004:

Alcohol & Gambling Enforcement Division:

- Provided grants to 60 enforcement agencies to conduct alcohol compliance checks.
 Alcohol compliance checks follow a protocol where youth who appear to be 17-20 years old attempt to purchase alcohol. If the alcohol retailers/servers do not allow the purchase, the retailers/servers successfully pass compliance checks.
- Funded over 1,000 alcohol compliance checks with an 85% success rate.
- Trained 100 law enforcement officers to conduct alcohol compliance checks and presented to over 1,100 alcohol retailers the underage drinking laws, how to identify fake identifications, importance of reporting underage patrons and adult providers.

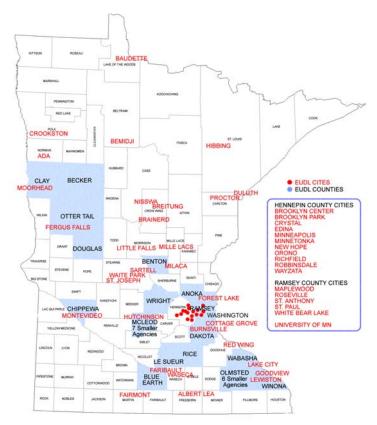

Minnesota Join Together:

- Implemented a county judicial project to develop consistent sentencing guidelines for underage violators.
- Distributed nearly 57,000 pieces of underage drinking material through the statewide clearinghouse.

Youth in Action Program:

- Trained 40 youth on the legislative process and media advocacy specific to addressing underage drinking issues.
- Conducted Youth Jam bringing 500 youth together to learn more about the effects of alcohol, safe driving and seat belt use.

In July 2004, the monthly JJAC meeting was hosted by our grantee, YouthCARE, at Camp Sunrise. At that time, members had an opportunity to tour the grounds and learn more about the program. JJAC wishes to express appreciation to the staff and youth involved in Camp Sunrise for contributing the photographs used throughout this report.

Camp Sunrise is a year round camp program focused on bringing together youth from diverse backgrounds to live and work in an outdoor multicultural community. Annually, 500-600 youth, 13-18 years old, are involved in Camp Sunrise. Camp Sunrise, located on the St. Croix River 60 miles north of the Twin Cities, uniquely reaches a diverse youth population (80-85% of the campers are youth of color). Camp Sunrise has received numerous awards and recognition's including the 2000 Nonprofit Mission Award for Anti-Racism Initiative from the Minnesota Council of Nonprofits and the Eleanor P. Eells Award from the Fund for the Advancement of Camping.
