BRAISED CHICKEN LEGS & THIGHS WITH TOMATOES AND HEIRLOOM BEANS

Chef Lucia Watson, Lucia's Restaurant

To cook heirloom beans:

Heirloom beans	1 whole tomato
Water	3-4 garlic cloves, unpeeled
1 dash olive oil	Salt
1 bay leaf

Soak beans in enough water to generously cover in the refrigerator overnight. In the morning, drain and lightly rinse with cold water. Cover with plenty of cold water (at least 3 inches above the beans) in a heavy kettle. Add dash of olive oil, bay leaf, one whole tomato, a few unpeeled cloves of garlic, and a pinch of salt. Bring beans to a boil, then reduce heat. Cook until tender to the bite, approximately 1-3 hours, depending on how dry and delicate the beans are. Drain (save the liquid for a soup), and season with butter, salt and pepper, and grated parmesan.

To cook chicken:

2 chicken leg/thigh pieces to equal 4 pieces of meat (2 legs and two thighs)
Garnish: parsley, lemon, orange, basil and mint
2 Tbsp olive oil	Big splash white wine
Salt and pepper	2-3 cups tomatoes, diced (fresh is best)
1 onion, diced	2 cups good chicken stock
2 cloves garlic, smashed	1 sprig each of rosemary, thyme, and parsley
1 red pepper, diced	1 bay leaf
1 yellow pepper, diced	2 cups cooked heirloom beans

In a heavy casserole dish, heat oil until just smoking. Add chicken legs and thighs and brown all over. Season with salt and pepper. Remove and set aside. In the same skillet, add garlic, onion, and peppers. Cook over high heat stirring frequently for about 3 minutes. Add the wine, stir, and cook down for a few minutes. Add tomatoes, stock, salt, pepper, and all the herbs. nestle the chicken into the pot and cook covered over medium-low heat about 40 minutes. Test for doneness in the thickest part of the thigh (you can peek in with a sharp knife). Remove any big pieces of herbs and stir in the cooked beans.

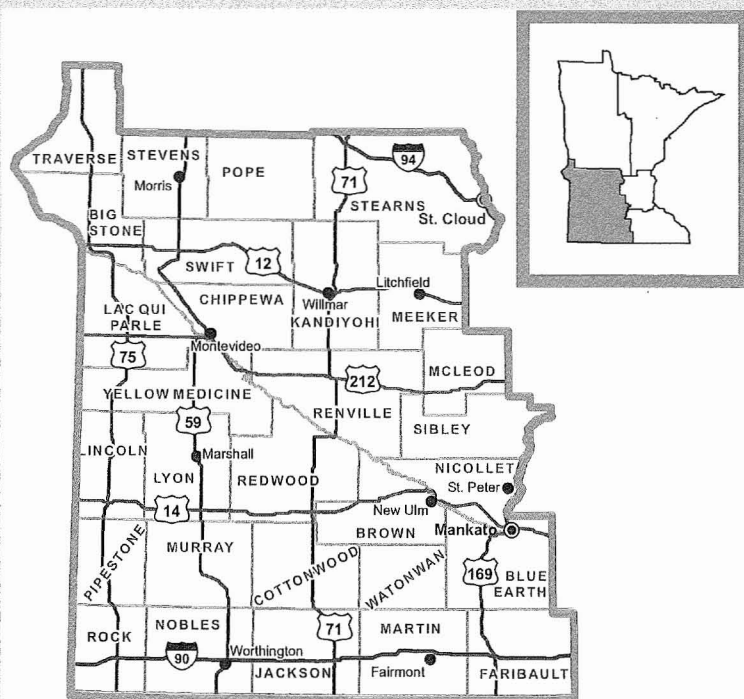

While the chicken is cooking, make the garnish. Zest the lemons and oranges. Chop or rip up the other herbs and mix with the zest.

To serve, put chicken, all the juice, and beans in a pretty bowl and sprinkle with the garnish.

Minnesota Community Supported Agriculture Farms (CSA's)

INDEX

CSA is a fast-growing direct-farm marketing and production model. It usually involves purchase of a "share" by people interested in receiving a weekly amount of fresh, healthy, local produce – generally provided in a basket or box that is either picked up at the farm or delivered to a designated drop site. Most of the 87 Minnesota CSA's listed in this directory focus on providing 14-20+ weekly shares of produce (mostly veggies). Some of those produce CSA's offer chickens, eggs or flowers as additional share offerings. There are some meat/poultry and flower providers who have adopted this CSA marketing model as well. Often, CSA farms offer on-farm activities, weekly newsletters, and other membership benefits. It's important to understand that membership in a CSA involves shared risk and reward – you share in the bounty of crops that do well and the risk of crop failure. The location of a CSA farm may be important to you if you plan to visit "your" CSA farm, but many of the farms listed in this guide have dropsites in the Metro-area and nearby communities. Many CSA farms sell out of their shares by May – so shop in the winter and early spring to find a Minnesota CSA farm and farmer that fits your needs!

Minnesota Honey Producers Association

Cooking Hints

- Reduce all liquids by 1/4 cup for each cup of honey used.
- Add 1/2 teaspoon baking soda for each cup of honey used.
- Reduce oven temperature by 25°F to prevent over-browning.
- Store honey at room temperature to prevent crystallization. If your honey does crystallize, place your jar of honey in a pan of very hot, but not boiling, water and stir until crystals dissolve.

HONEY

Sweet Facts

- 17g of carbohydrates per 1 tablespoon of honey
- 5g of sugars per 1 tablespoon of honey
- Bees are the only insects that provide us with food
- Honey was the first sweetener used by man
- It takes 12 bees a lifetime to produce 1 teaspoon of honey

BEER BRAISED PULLED PORK

Chef Craig Sharpe, Terra Waconia, Waconia, MN

1-2 Tbsp cooking oil
10 lbs Red Wattle Boston butt or shoulder
1 large red onion, diced
3 bottles Lake Superior Oatmeal Stout
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 cups tomato paste
1/4 cup Somerskogen Sugarbush maple syrup
Salt, pepper, red pepper flakes, to taste

Remove bones. When using Red Wattle pork, remove most of the outer layer of fat. Red Wattles have great marbling of intramuscular fat, so you don't have to worry about losing flavor. Cut pork into easily manageable pieces (about 3" cubes) and pat each piece with a paper towel, drying it on all sides. Salt pork well. Preheat a small amount of oil in a pot large enough to fit all the pork and enough cooking liquid to cover it. Add onions and pork and cook together, sweating the red onions and searing the pork on all sides. The pork and onions will begin to release liquid; this is the beginning of your cooking liquid.

Stir in the beer, sugar, tomato paste, and maple syrup, as well as enough water to just cover the pork. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat to a simmer and cover. Simmer for 2-3 hours, stirring periodically. The pork is ready when you are able to easily pull it apart with a fork.

Remove the pork from the pot and return the cooking liquid to the heat to reduce. Pull pork apart with a fork, and return it to the pot. Add crushed red pepper. Adjust seasonings, if necessary. Reduce to desired consistency.

Chef's notes: This simple one pot dish is easy to transport and reheats well. It's a basic recipe meant to be adapted to different seasons and tastes.
