JOHN ALBERT JOHNSON.

Sixteenth governor of Minnesota, born St. Peter, Minnesota, July 28, 1864; died Rochester, Minnesota, September 21, 1909. He was the first native born governor of Minnesota. At the usual age, he began attendance upon the common schools of his native city and at fourteen, it being necessary to aid in the family maintenance, found employment in a drug store where he served an apprenticeship and remained for ten years. For one year he was paymaster for a railway construction company in Iowa. In 1886, he became one of the editors and publishers of the St. Peter Herald, retaining his connection with the publication until during the second term of his administration as governor. He was closely identified with the business, social and political life of his city and county. For eight years he was a member of Company I, Second Regiment, Minnesota National Guard, attaining the rank of captain. His entrance into public life came with his election as state senator in 1897. He was defeated for re-election four years later. In 1904, he was the Democratic nominee for governor, defeating R. C. Dunn by approximately 8,000 votes. In 1906 he was re-nominated and re-elected, his Republican opponent being A. L. Cole, this time his plurality being about 72,000. In a convention notable for its unanimity of sentiment and enthusiasm, he was re-nominated in 1908 and was again elected, his opponent being J. F. Jacobson and his plurality 28,000.

Governor Johnson was the first governor of the state to die in office. Following an illness and a surgical operation which it was not believed was of a serious character, complications developed and from the day that the surgeons operated it was felt by his family and friends that their worst fears were to be realized. He slowly sank and while his spirit was strong the fatal termination was inevitable. But even with the shadow of death upon him Governor Johnson was not unmindful of his duties as chief executive of the state, and from his deathbed at Rochester dictated a message of welcome to President Taft as he entered the borders of Minnesota on his western trip. The president responded in kind and in his every public utterance in Minnesota indicated his appreciation of the thoughtfulness of the governor of the state to the guest within its borders. His death cast a pall over the people of the state. Business was practically suspended for three days, and during the funeral hour there was an absolute cessation of all business and commercial activities even in the remotest corners of the state. Not only had the state lost its governor but the grief that was so marked on every face showed all too plainly that nearly every man, woman and child in Minnesota had lost one who was regarded more in the light of a personal friend than a public servant. Memorial services were held in his honor in every city, village and hamlet in the state and the public manifestations of grief were only equalled by the private sorrows felt by the people. Never in Minnesota was the death of one of its public men regarded in the light of a great public calamity, for in John A. Johnson had passed not only a governor and a statesman but one in whom the common people had every confidence and an affection that will last for all time.

CLARENCE CHRISTOPHER DINEHART,

The eleventh treasurer of the state of Minnesota, passed away at the Luther Hospital. St. Paul, about 3 o'clock on the morning of June 1st, as the result of a surgical operation for appendicitis. His body lay in state in the rotunda of the State Capitol for a few hours on the morning of June 2d, and on the following day, with all of the departments of the state government closed, it was laid to rest in the family plot of the cemetery at Slayton, Minnesota.

Mr. Dinehart was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dinehart of Slayton, and the parents and the sister survive him. He was born in Chicago, April 3, 1877. In 1884 he came to Minnesota with his parents, who located at Slayton, Murray county, where they have since resided. He attended the schools at Slayton, the Central High School, Minneapolis, and graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1899. The same year he was elected assistant cashier of the State Bank of Slayton. In 1902 he was elected president of the village council of Slayton, which office and that of assistant cashier he resigned in the fall of 1902 to enter the law school of Harvard University, from which he graduated in June, 1905. Returning to Slayton he re-entered the banking business. In 1906 he was elected state treasurer on the Republican ticket and was re-elected in 1908. He had announced his intention of not attempting to succeed himself in that office but rather as a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative in congress from the second Minnesota district, some time before his demise, and he was making an active campaign for that position when the Reaper took away this only son, a public official of charming personality and perfect integrity, and a young man who endeared himself to every acquaintance.

EDWIN AMES JAGGARD

A Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Minnesota. He died suddenly and unexpectedly of heart failure, at Hamilton, Bermuda, on February 13, 1911.

He was born at Altoona, Pennsylvania, June 21, 1859, and was the son of Clement and Annie Jane (Wright) Jaggard. He prepared for college under private instruction and graduated from Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, in 1879. Three years later he secured his degree of Bachelor of Laws at the University of Pennsylvania, and in 1906 this University conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. In 1882 he moved to the City of St. Paul, where he remained in active legal practice until 1898. He was then elected Judge of the Ramsey County District Court, and served on this bench for one term. 1904 and while a Judge of the District Court, he was elected an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Minnesota. He was re-elected In 1887 he was chosen to succeed the late Senator in 1910. Cushman K. Davis as lecturer in the St. Paul Medical College on Medical Jurisprudence. When this college was subsequently merged with the Medical Department of the University, he became a member of the faculty of the Law Department of that institution. He remained on the faculty of the University of Minnesota until his death. He was the author of "Jaggard on Torts," which has become a recognized authority on this subject throughout the country. In recent years, he published "Jaggard on Taxation in Minnesota and the Dakotas," and "Jaggard on Taxation in Iowa." He mastered the intricacies of this technical subject. He was also the author of articles "False Imprisonment," and "Historical Anomalies in the Law of Libel and Slander." He was married in 1890 to Anna May Averill, the daughter of General and Mrs. John T. Averill, pioneer residents of St. Paul, Minnesota.

Few men have ever so completely entered into the public life of this State. Possessing the keenest sense of humor and that charity towards his fellow men, which invariably brought out the good that was in them, he was a welcome speaker at every public gathering. He was an able and learned jurist, a scholarly author. His whole-souled, charming personality radiated sunshine and optimism. His life was one of public service. He was devoted 'to his friends. To him the word friendship had a true richness of significance. Life will be infinitely sweeter for the memories which will always be cherished by those who knew him. Truly was he loved by all. —Hugh T. Halbert.

ORGANIC ACT OF MINNESOTA.

An act to establish the Territorial Government of Minnesota. [Passed March. 3, 1849.]

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That from and after the passage of this act, all that part of the territory of the United States which lies within the following limits, to-wit: Beginning in the Mississippi river at the point where the line of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes of north latitude crosses the same; thence running due west on said line, which is the northern boundary of the state of Iowa, to the northwest corner of the said state of Iowa; thence southerly along the western boundary of said state to the point where said boundary strikes the Missouri river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river to the mouth of White Earth river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the White Earth river to the boundary line between the possessions of the United States and Great Britain; thence east and south of east along the boundary line between the possessions of the United States and Great Britain to Lake Superior; thence in a straight line to the northernmost point of the state of Wisconsin in Lake Superior; thence along the western boundary line of said state of Wisconsin to the Mississippi river; thence down the main channel of said river to the place of beginning, be and the same is hereby erected into a temporary government by the name of the Territory of Minnesota; provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing said Territory into two or more territories, in such manner and at such times as congress. shall deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said Territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted. That the executive power and authority in and over said Territory of Minnesota shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within said Territory; shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof; shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs. He may grant pardons for offenses against the law of said Territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said Territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first day of December in each year, to the president of the United States, and at the same time two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate for the use of Congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or necessary absence of the governor from the Territory, the secretary shall be and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and the duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence, or until another governor shall be duly appointed to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power and authority of said Territory shall be vested in the governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of nine members having the qualifications of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives shall, at its first session, consist of eighteen members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. The number of councilors and representatives may be increased by the legislative assembly, from time to time, in proportion to the increase of population; provided, that the whole number shall never exceed fifteen councilors and thirty-nine representatives. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the members of the council and of the house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the districts for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties and districts of the Territory to be taken, and the first election shall be held at such time and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall, at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the countles and districts shall be entitled under this act.

The number of persons authorized to be elected having the highest number of votes, in each of said council districts for members of the council, shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected to the council, and the person or persons authorized to be elected, having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county or district shall be entitled, shall also be declared by the governor to be duly elected members of the house of representatives; provided, that in case of a tie between two or more persons voted for, the governor shall order a new election to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place on such day as the governor shall appoint, but thereafter the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning of the representation in the several counties or districts to the council and house of representatives, according to the population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular session of the legislative assembly; provided, that no one secsion shall exceed the term of sixty days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted. That every free white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of said Territory at the time of the passage of this act, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be prescribed by the legislative assembly; provided, that the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States and those who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted. That the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, consistent with the Constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws passed by the legislative assembly and governor shall be submitted to the Congress of the United States, and if disapproved shall be null and of no effect.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district and county officers, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota. The governor shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, appoint all officers not herein otherwise provided for, and, in the first instance, the governor alone may appoint all said officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased, while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, except postmasters, shall be a member of the legislative assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted. That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually; and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the supreme court, at such time and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of probate courts and justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law; provided, that the justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each district court, or the judges thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception and appeals shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court shall be allowed, and may be taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed one thousand dollars; and each of the said district courts shall have . and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws; and writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said Territory, the same as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of the late Wisconsin Territory received for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin received. There shall also be a marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts, when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate justices, attorney and marshal, shall be nominated and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively, take an oath or affirmation, before the district judge, or some justice of the peace in the limits of said Territory, duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws now in force therein, or before the chief justice, or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person by whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings; and the chief justice and associate justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation, before the said governor or secretary, or some judge or justice of the peace of the Territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified; which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,500 as governor, and $1,000 as superintendent of Indian affairs. The chief justice and associate justice shall each receive an annual salary of $1,800. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of $1,800. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of . the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of $1,000, to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory; and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum to be expended by the secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses, and the secretary of the Territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said Territory shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the Territory of Wisconsin and to its inhabitants; and the laws in force in the Territory of Wisconsin at the date of the admission of the State of Wisconsin shall continue to be valid and operative therein, so far as the same be not incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said Territory of Minnesota; and the laws of the United States are hereby extended over, and declared to be in force in said Territory, so far as the same, or any provision thereof, may be applicable.

SEC. 13.  $A\pi d$  be it further enacted. That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota shall hold its first session in St. Paul; and at said first session the governor and legislative assembly shall locate and establish a temporary seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible; and shall at such time as they shall see proper prescribe by law the manner of locating the permanent seat of government of said Territory by a vote of the people. And the sum of twenty thousand dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby appropriated and granted to said Territory of Minnesota, to be applied by the governor and legislative assembly to the erection of suitable public buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the came rights and privileges as are exercised and enjoyed by the Celegates from the several other territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held, at such times and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and at all subsequent elections the times, places and manner of holding the elections shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process and proceedings, civil and criminal, at law or in chancery, and all indictments and informations, which shall be pending and undetermined in the courts of the Territory of Wisconsin, within the limits of said Territory of Minnesota, when this act shall take effect, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined in the district courts hereby established, which may include the counties or districts where any such proceedings may be pending. All bonds, recognizances, and obligations of every kind whatsoever, valid under the existing laws, within the limits of said Territory, shall be valid under this act; and all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws, in force within said limits, may be prosecuted, tried, and punished in the courts established by this act: and all penalties, forfeitures, actions, and causes of action may be recovered under this act the same as they would have been under the laws in force within the limits composing said Territory at the time this act shall go into operation.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted. That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and all other judicial and ministerial officers, who shall be In office within the limits of said Territory when this act shall take effect, shall be and they are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices as officers of the Territory of Minnesota, temporarily, and until they or others shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill their places, in the manner herein directed, or until their offices shall be abolished.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of $5,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by and under the direction of the said governor of the Territory of Minnesota, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the governor, legislative assembly, judges of the supreme court, secretary, marshal, and attorneys of said Territory, and such other presons and under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 18. And be it further enacted. That when the lands in said Territory shall be surveyed under the direction of the government of the United States, preparatory to bringing the same into market, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in each township in said Territory shall be and the same are hereby reserved for the purpose of being applied to schools in said Territory, and in the state and territories hereafter to be erected out of the same.

SEC. 19. And be it further enacied. That temporarily, and until otherwise provided by law, the governor of said Territory may define the judicial districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said Territory to the several districts, and also appoint the times and places for holding courts in the several counties or subdivisions in each of said judicial districts, by proclamation to be issued by him; but the legislative assembly, at their first or any subsequent session, may organize, alter or modify such judicial districts, and assign the judges, and alter the times and places of holding the courts, as to them shall seem proper and convenient.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted. That every bill which shall or may pass the council and house of representatives, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the Territory; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated; which shall cause the objections to be entered at large upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall also be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law; but in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislative assembly, by adjournment, prevent it, in which case it shall not become a law.

MINNESOTA STATE SEAL.

The first official record of a state seal is in the message of Governor Ramsey to the first territorial legislature, Sept. 9, 1849, in which he says: "A temporary great seal of the Territory of Minnesota has been adopted, an impression of which will be submitted. I preferred consulting the legislative assembly upon the adoption of a permanent great seal, and I herewith lay before you the design of one, to which I ask your attention, and if you approve it, or suggest its modification, it will be placed in the hands of an artist and engraved, and thenceforward supersede the seal now in use." On October 31st Mr. James M. Boal, from the committee appointed to draft a device for the territorial seal, reported having adopted for "a device, an every-day scene, consisting of an Indian family with their lodge, canoe, etc., and a single white man visting them, with no other protection than the feeling of hospitality and friendship existing between the two people. The white man is receiving from the Indian the pipe of peace," etc. This report was adopted, and an act providing for the use of the seal was duly passed and became a law. But, for some reason, the seal so authorized was never used.

In place of it one was adopted, just how or by whom there is no record now, and which was used as "the great seal of Minnesota" until 1858. It bears the date at the bottom, "1849." The device is much the same as the present state seal. A farmer is plowing in the foreground, but facing to the west. His rifle, powderhorn, etc., are leaning on a stump near him. In the distance, to the left, is the Falls of St. Anthony, and an Indian on horseback riding rapidly castward, towards what appears to be a rising sun. Over the device is the motto, "Quo sursum velo videre." the third word a misprint for volo, the whole meaning, "I wish to see what lies beyond." This motto was selected by Hon. H. H. Sibley, while delegate in congress, and the engraving of the seal was procured in Washington, by Governor Ramsey, of D. O. Hare, an engraver of that city, at a cost of $157.

This seal was ridiculed more or less by journalists, who said it represented "a man plowing one way and looking another," or "an astonished Indian and a scared white man," etc. But it was used until 1858.

At the first session of the state legislature the question of a state seal was taken up. Hon. Chas. F. Dowe, a member of the constitutional convention in 1857, had drafted (by Mr. Buechner, an artist of St. Paul) a design for a state seal, which he had hoped that the first state legislature would adopt. It was generally considered very suitable (an engraving is given of it on page 658 of W. H. C. Folsom's History of the Northwest) Article fifteen of the state constitution, adopted on Oct. 13, 1857, provided that "The legislature shall provide for an appropriate device and motto for said seal." The first legislative session (which assembled Dec. 2, 1857), however, does not seem to have done so, and when the state government came into operation in May, 1858, there was still no "state seal" for use on documents. Governor Sibley authorized the secretary of state to continue the use of the old territorial seal for the present. At the adjourned session of the legislature in June, Governor Sibley referred to the subject, and a special committee was appointed to report the design for a seal, of which W. H. C. Folsom was chairman. This was done on June 30th. Mr. Folsom had secured an elaborate design from an artist of St. Paul, Dr. R. O. Sweeny, fully described in his report. A joint resolution adopting the design was passed, and duly signed, on July 16th.

Several months appear to have elapsed before the new seal was engraved and put into use, and when it was, it was found that the elaborate design proposed in Mr. Folsom's report had not been adopted, but that the device of the old territorial seal had been used, with a little change. The equestrian Indian was represented as riding westward and the farmer plowing eastward. No other change was made except the use of the word "state" instead of "territory," and adding the date of its admission, "1858." The motto was "L'ETOILE DU NORD" (the North Star). The "Minnesotian" newspaper ridiculed this latter in a series of vituperative articles, declaring that Governor Sibley had used a French motto simply because he spoke that tongue. But the seal soon came into general use, and has been the only one used officially.

A new die of the same design was made necessary in 1907 by reason of the old one having been worn by excessive use in the rapid growth of business of the state.

ACT

AUTHORIZING A STATE GOVERNMENT.

[Passed Feb. 26, 1857.]

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the Inhabitants of that portion of the Territory of Minnesota which is embraced within the following limits, to-wit: Beginning at the point in the center of the main channel of the Red River of the North, where the boundary line between the United States and the British Poszessions crosses the same; thence up the main channel of said river to that of the Bois de Sioux river; thence up the main channel of said river to Lake Traverse; thence up the center of said lake to the southern extremity thereof; thence in a direct line to the head of Big Stone lake; thence through its center to its outlet; thence by a due south line to the north line of the State of Iowa; thence along the northern boundary of said state to the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence up the main channel of said river, and following the boundary line of the State of Wisconsin, until the same intersects with the St. Louis river; thence down the said river to and through Lake Superior, on the boundary line of Wisconsin and Michigan, until it intersects the dividing line between the United States and the British Possessions; thence up Pigeon river and following said dividing line to the place of beginning, be and they hereby are authorized to form for themselves a constitution and state government by the name of the State of Minnesota, and to come into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, according to the Federal Constitution.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted. That the State of Minnesota shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and all other rivers and waters bordering on the said State of Minnesota, so far as the same shall form a common boundary to said state and any state or states now or hereafter to be formed or bounded by the same; and said river or waters leading into the same shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said state as to all other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, Impost, or toll therefor.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted. That on the first Monday in June next, the legal voters in each representative district then existing within the limits of the proposed state, are hereby authorized to elect two delegates for each representative to which said district shall be entitled according to the apportionment for representatives to the territorial legislature; which election for delegates shall be held and conducted, and the returns made, in all respects in conformity with the laws of said Territory regulating the election of representatives, and the delegates so elected shall assemble at the capitol of said Territory on the second Monday in July next, and first determine by a vote whether it is the wish of the people of the proposed State to be admitted into the Union at that time; and if so, shall proceed to form a constitution, and take all necessary steps for the establishment of a state government, in conformity with the Federal Constitution, subject to the approval and ratification of the people of the proposed State.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That in the event said convention shall decide in favor of the immediate admission of the proposed State into the Union, it shall be the duty of the United States marshal for said Territory to proceed to take a census or enumeration of the inhabitants within the limits of the proposed State, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the secretary of the interior, with the view of ascertaining the number of representatives to which said State may be entitled in the Congress of the United States. And said State shall be entitled to one representative, and such additional representatives as the population of the State shall, according to the census, show it would be entitled to according to the present ratio of representation.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the following propositions be and the same are hereby offered to the said convention of the people of Minnesota for their free acceptance or rejection, which, if accepted by the convention, shall be obligatory on the United States, and upon the said State of Minnesota, to-wit:

First—That sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in every township of public lands in said State, and where either of said sections, or any part thereof, has been sold or otherwise been disposed of, other lands, equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to said State for the use of schools.

Second—That seventy-two sections of land shall be set apart and reserved for the use and support of a state university, to be selected by the governor of said State, subject to the approval of the commissioner at the general land office, and to be appropriated and applied in such manner as the legislature of said State may prescribe; for the purpose aforesaid, but for no other purpose.

Third—Ten entire sections of land to be selected by the governor of said State, in legal subdivisions, shall be granted to said State for the purpose of completing the public buildings, or for the erection of others at the seat of government, under the direction of the legislature thereof.

Fourth—That all salt springs within sald State, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining or as contiguous as may be to each, shall be granted to said State for its use; and the same to be selected by the governor thereof within one year after the admission of said State, and, when so selected, to be used or disposed of on such terms, conditions and regulations as the legislature shall direct; provided, that no salt spring or land the right whereof is now vested in any individual or in individuals, or which may be hereafter confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall by this article be granted to said State.

Fifth—That five per centum of the net proceeds of sales of all public lands lying within said State, which shall be sold by Congress after the admission of said State into the Union, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be paid to said State for the purpose of making public roads and internal improvements as the legislature shall direct; provided, the foregoing propositions herein offered are on the condition that the said convention which shall form the constitution of said State shall provide, by a clause in said constitution, or an ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that said State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, or with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in said soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed on lands belonging to the United States, and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

MINNESOTA STATE FLAG.

The state legislature of 1893, by chapter sixteen, provided for the adoption of a state flag.

Mrs. Franklyn L. Greenleaf, Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. Edward Durant, Mrs. F. B. Clarke, Mrs. H. F. Brower and Mrs. A. T. Stebbins were by this act named and designated a commission to select and adopt an appropriate design for a state flag.

Conformably to the provision of this act, this commission called for designs, and on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 1893, met, selected and adopted the design presented by Mrs. Edward H. Center, of Minneapolis.

Following is a description of the flag: "The ground is of white silk, and the reverse side of blue silk, bordered with bullion fringe. In the center is the state seal, wreathed with white moccasin flowers, on a blue ground. The red ribbon of the seal bearing the motto is continued through the wreath, entwining the blossoms and floating carelessly over the lower portion of the flag. It bears, in gold, the dates 1819, the time of the settlement of Minnesota, and 1893. Above, also in gold, is the date 1858, the time of the admission of Minnesota to the Union. Below the design, in gold letters, is wrought 'Minnesota,' Grouped around the seal are nineteen stars in the design of star points, with the North Star, significant of the North Star State, in a group of three at the top."

The choice of the number nineteen is a peculiarly happy one, as Minnesota was the nineteenth state, after the original thirteen, to be admitted to the Union. The standard to the flag was surmounted by a golden gopher and tied with a gold cord and tassel. The execution of the design is entirely in needle work.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Under the enabling act of Congress, approved March 3, 1857, a constitutional convention of one hundred and eight members (each council district to elect two for each councilman and representative it was entitled to) was authorized to meet at the capitol on the second Monday in July, to frame a state constitution, and submit it to the people of the territory. The election was held on the first Monday in June. On July 13th the delegates met, but, a disagreement arising in the organization, the Republican members organized one body, and the Democratic members organized separately. Each of these bodies, claiming to be the legal constitutional convention, proceeded with the work of forming an instrument to be submitted to the people. After some days an understanding was effected between them, and, by means of committees of conference, the same constitution was framed and adopted by both bodies. On being submitted to the people October 13th, it was ratified.

Preamble. We, the people of the State of Minnesota, grateful to God for our civil and religious liberty, and desiring to perpetuate its blessings and secure the same to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution:

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

Object of government. SECTION 1. Government is instituted for the security, benefit and protection of the people, in whom all political power is inherent, together with the right to alter, modify or reform such government, whenever the public good may require it.

Rights and privileges. SEC. 2. No member of this State shall be disfranchised, or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof, unless by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the State otherwise than in the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Liberty of the press. SEC. 3. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right.

Right of trial by Jury. SEC. 4. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy, but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law; [and the legislature may provide that the agreement of five-sixths of any jury in any civil action or proceeding, after not less than six (6) hours' deliberation, shall be a sufficient verdict therein.]*

No excessive bail or unusual punishments. SEC. 5. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted.

Rights of accused in criminal prosecutions. SEC. 6. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense. (a)

Further rights of accused—when bailable. SEC. 7. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. All persons shall before conviction be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require.

Redress of injuries or wrongs. SEC. 8. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property or character; he ought to obtain justice freely and without purchase; completely and without denial; promptly and without delay, comformable to the laws.

Treason defined. SEC. 9. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

Right against unreasonable searches. SEC. 10. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall . issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized.

(a) The jury contemplated by article 1, section 6, securing the right to jury trial in criminal cases, is a body of twelve men, and it is error to try a party charged with crime in a justice court, against his objection, with a jury of six. The fact that he may appeal to the district court, on entering into recognizance with sureties, does not change the rule. 14 Minn. 330.

Prohibits ex post facto laws, or laws impairing contracts. SEC. 11. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood on forfeiture of estate.

Imprisonment for debt—property exemption. SEC. 12. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in this State, (a) but this shall not prevent the legislature from providing for imprisonment, or holding to bail, persons charged with fraud in contracting said debt. A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law. [Provided, however, that all property so exempted shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair or improvement of the same; and, provided further, that such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt incurred to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed.]*

Private property for public use. SEC. 13. Private property shall not be taken, destroyed or damaged for public use without just compensation therefor, first paid or secured.†

Military power subordinate. SEC. 14. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power, and no standing army shall be kept up in this State in time of peace.

Lands declared allodial—leases, when void. SEC. 15. All lands within the State are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures of every description, with all their incidents, are prohibited. Leases and grants of agricultural lands for a longer period than twenty-one years hereafter made, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be void.

Freedom of conscience—no preference to be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship. SEC. 16. The enumeration of rights in this constitution shall not be construed to deny or impair others retained by and inherent in the people. The right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience shall never be infringed, nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any religious or ecclesiastical ministry, against his consent; nor shall any control of or interference with the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference to be given by law to any religious establishment or mode of worship; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of the State, nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries.

The words "destroyed or damaged" inserted by amendment adopted Nov. 3, 1896.

No religious test or property qualification to be required. SEC. 17. No religious test or amount of property shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the State. No religious test or amount of property shall ever be required as a qualification of any voter at any election in this State; nor shall any person be rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity in consequence of his opinion upon the subject of religion.

No license to peddle. SEC. 18. Any person may sell or peddle the products of the farm or garden occupied and cultivated by him without obtaining a license therefor.*

ARTICLE II.

ON NAME AND BOUNDARIES.

Name and boundaries. SECTION 1. This State shall be called and known by the name of the State of Minnesota, and shall consist of and have jurisdiction over the territory embraced in the following boundaries, to-wit: Beginning at the point in the center of the main channel of the Red River of the North, where the boundary line between the United States and British possessions crosses the same; thence up the main channel of said river to that of the Bois des Sioux river; thence up the main channel of said river to Lake Traverse; thence up the center of said lake to the southern extremity thereof; thence in a direct line to the head of Blg Stone lake; thence through its center to its outlet; thence by a due south line to the north line of the State of Iowa; thence east along the northern boundary of said State to the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence up the main channel of said river and following the boundary line of the State of Wisconsin until the same intersects the St. Louis river; thence down the said river to and through Lake Superior, on the boundary line of Wisconsin and Michigan, until it intersects the dividing line between the United States and British possessions; thence up Pigeon river and following said dividing line to the place of beginning.**

<sup>\*\*</sup>The northern boundary of the state at the Lake of the Woods is projected beyond the 49th parallel a distance of about twenty miles, making a wedge-shaped jog through the lake until it strikes firm ground on the west bank of the lake; thence in a due south line to the 49th parallel. The explanation of this jog is found in the subjoined paragraphs. In the seventh article of the treaty of Ghent, section 19 reads as follows: Sec. 19. Resolved that the following described (also represented on said map as before mentioned), is, in the opinion of the commissioners, so far as the same extends, the true boundary intended by the before mentioned treatles, namely: \* \* thence through the middle of the waters of this bay to the northwest extremity of the same; being the most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods, and from a monument in this bay, on the nearest firm ground to the above northwest extremity of said bay, the courses and distances are as follows:  $56^{\circ}$  W. 1,56514 feet; 2d. N.  $6^{\circ}$  W. 86114 feet; 3d, N.  $28^{\circ}$ W. 615.4 feet; 4th, N.  $27^{\circ}$  10' W 495.4 feet; 5th, N.  $5^{\circ}$  10' E 1,32214 feet; 6th, N.  $70^{\circ}$  45' W. 493 feet, the variation being  $12^{\circ}$  east. The termination of this 6th

Jurisdiction on bordering rivers. SEC. 2. The State of Minnesota shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and on all other rivers and waters bordering on the said State of Minnesota, so far as the same shall form a common boundary to said State, and any other state or states now or hereafter to be formed by the same; and said rivers and waters, and navigable waters leading into the same, shall be common highways and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said State as to other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor.

Acceptance of propositions in enabling act. SEC. 3. The propositions contained in the act of Congress entitled, "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government, preparatory to their admission into the Union on equal footing with the original states," are hereby accepted, ratified and confirmed, and shall remain irrevocable without the consent of the United States; and it is hereby ordained that this State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same, by the United States, or with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title to said soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and no tax shall be imposed on lands belonging to the United States and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

ARTICLE III.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE POWERS OF GOVERNMENT.

Division of powers. SECTION 1. The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments—legislative, executive, and judicial; and no person or persons belonging to or constituting one of these departments shall exercise any of the powers properly belonging to either of the others, except in the instances expressly provided in this constitution. (a) and last course and distance being the above said most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods, as designated by the seventh article of the treaty of Ghent, and being in latitude 49° 23' 55" north of the equator, and in longitude 95° 14' 38" west from Greenwich. The second article of the convention of 1818 is as follows: Article 2. It is agreed that a line drawn from the most northwestern point of the Lake of he Woods along the 49th parallel of north latitude, or, if the said point shall not be in the 49th parallel of north latitude, then that a line drawn from the said point due north or south, as the case may be, until the said line shall intersect the said parallel of north latitude, and from the point of such intersection due west, along and with the said parallel, shall be the line of demarkation between the territories of the United States and His Britannic Majesty, and that the said line shall form the northern boundary of the said territories of the United States and the southern boundary of His Britannic Majesty, from the Lake of the Woods to the Stony Mountains. This boundary was re-established and determined by a commission authorized by congress, and the surveys embracing four years were made and reported to congress in 1877.

(a) Courts cannot control or interfere with an executive officer of the state in his official acts, even though they are such that the duty to perform them might have been entrusted to some other officer. 28 Minn. 50.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Legislature meets biennially—length of session. SECTION 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the State, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days; and no new bill shall be introduced in either branch, except on the written request of the governor, during the last twenty (20) days of such sessions, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor.

Apportionment of members. SEC. 2. The number of members who compose the Senate and House of Representatives shall be prescribed by law, but the representatives in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5,000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2,000 inhabitants. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the State, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law.

Eligibility of members—quorum. SEC. 3. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and eligibility of its own members; a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as it may provide.

Rules of government. SEC. 4. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, sit upon its own adjournment, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled the second time for the same offense.

Officers—journal of proceedings. SEC. 5. The House of Representatives shall elect its presiding officer and the Senate and House of Representatives shall elect such other officers as may be provided by law; they shall keep journals of their proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, and the yeas and nays, when taken on any question, shall be entered on such journals.

Length of adjournments. SEC. 6. Neither house shall, during a session of the legislature, adjourn for more than three days (Sundays excepted), nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be assembled, without the consent of the other house.

Compensation. SEC. 7. The compensation of senators and representatives shall be three dollars per diem during the first session, but may afterwards be prescribed by law. But no increase of compensation shall be prescribed which shall take effect during the period for which the members of the existing House of Representatives may have been elected.

Privileged from arrest. SEC. 8. The members of each house shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same. For any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Restriction as to holding office. SEC. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, and no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature.

Bills of revenue to originate in House. SEC. 10. All bills for raising a revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose and concur with amendments as on other bills.

Approval of bills by Governor-action on non-approval. SEC. 11. Every bill which shall have passed the Senate and House of Representatives, in conformity to the rules of each house and the joint rules of the two houses. shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the State. If he approve, he shall sign and deposit it in the office of secretary of state for preservation, and notify the house where it originated of the fact. But if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which is shall have originated; when such objections shall be entered at large on the journal of the same, and the house shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if it be approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature, by adjournment within that time, prevents its return; in which case it shall not be a law. The governor may approve, sign and file in the office of the secretary of state, within three days after the adjournment of the legislature, any act passed during the last three days of the session, and the same shall become a law.

Governor may cut out items of appropriation bills and otherwise approve. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be a part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Money appropriations, how made. SEC. 12. No money shall be appropriated except by bill. Every order, resolution or vote requiring the concurrence of the two houses (except such as relate to the business or adjournment of the same) shall be presented to the governor for his signature, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being returned oy him with his objections, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the members of the two houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Majority vote of all members-elect to pass a law. JEC. 13. The style of all laws of this State shall be: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota." No law shall be passed unless voted for by a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the legislature, and the vote entered upon the journal of each house.

Impeachment powers. SEC. 14. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, through a concurrence of a majority of all the members elected to seats therein. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate; and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Exclusion from civil rights. SEC. 15. The legislature shall have full rower to exclude from the privilege of electing or being elected any person convicted of bribery, perjury, or any other infamous crime.

Protest and dissent of members. SEC, 16. Two or more members of either house shall have liberty to dissent and protest against any act or resolution which they may think injurious to the public or to any individual, and have the reason of their dissent entered on the journal.

Vacancies in legislature. SEC. 17. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the legislature. The legislature shall prescribe by law the manner in which evidence in cases of contested sects in either house shall be taken.

Punish for disorderly conduct. SEC. 18. Each house may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence, but no such imprisonment shall at any time exceed twenty-four hours.

Open sessions. SEC. 19. Each house shall be open to the public during the sessions thereof, except in such cases as in their opinion may require secrecy.

Reading of bills. SEC. 20. Every bill shall be read on three different days in each separate house, unless, in case of urgency, two-thirds of the house where such bill is depending shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed by either house until it shall have been previously read twice at length.

Enrollment of bills. SEC. 21. Every bill having passed both houses shall be carefully enrolled, and shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house. Any presiding officer refusing to sign a bill which shall have previously passed both houses shall thereafter be incapable of holding a seat in either branch of the legislature, or hold any other office of honor or profit in the State, and in case of such refusal, each house shall, by rule, provide the manner in which such bill shall be properly certified for presentation to the governor.

Passage of bills on last day of session prohibited. SEC. 22. No bill shall be passed by either house of the legislature upon the day prescribed for the adjornment of the two houses. But this section shall not be so construed as to preclude the enrollment of a bill, or the signature and passage from one house to the other, or the reports thereon from committees, or its transmission to the executive for his signature.

Census enumeration—apportionment. SEC. 23. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this State in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter. At their first session after each enumeration so made, and also at their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts according to the provisions of section second of this article.

Senatorial districts—term of office of senators and representatives. SEC. 24. The senators shall also be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time that members of the house of representatives are required to be chosen, and in the same manner; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series. The terms of office of senators and representatives shall be the same as now prescribed by law until the general election of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), at which time there shall be an entire new election of all the senators and representatives. Representatives chosen at such election, or at any election thereafter, shall hold their office for the term of two years, except it be to fill a vacancy; and the senators chosen at such election by districts designated as odd numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and senators chosen by districts designated by even numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the fourth year; and thereafter senators shall be chosen for four years, except there shall be an entire new election of all the senators at the election of representatives next succeeding each new apportionment provided for in this article.

Qualification of legislators. SEC. 25. Senators and representatives shall be qualified voters of the State, and shall have resided one year in the State and six months immediately preceding the election in the district from which they are elected.

Senators to Congress. SEC. 26. Members of the Senate of the United States from this State shall be elected by the two houses of the legislature in joint convention, at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law.

Laws to embrace only one subject. SEC. 27. No law shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title.

Divorces. SEC. 28. Divorces shall not be granted by the legislature.

Oath of office. SEC. 29. All members and officers of both branches of the legislature shall, before entering upon the duties of their respective trusts, take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, and faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties devolving upon him as such member or officer.

Elections viva voce. SEC. 30. In all elections to be made by the legislature, the members thereof shall vote viva voce, and their votes shall be entered on the journal.

Prohibition of lotteries. SEC. 31. The legislature shall never authorize any lottery or the sale of lottery tickets.

Change of form of taxation of railroads to be voted upon. SEC. 32. [a] Any law providing for the repeal or amendment of any law or laws heretofore or hereafter enacted, which provides that any railroad company now existing in this State or operating its road therein, or which may be hereafter organized, shall, in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon their real estate, roads, rolling stock, and other personal property, at and, during the time and periods therein specified, pay into the treasury of this State a certain percentage therein mentioned of the gross earnings of such railroad companies now existing or hereafter organized, shall, before the same shall take effect or be in force, be submitted to a vote of the people of the State, and be adopted and ratified by a majority of the electors of the State voting at the election at which the same shall be submitted to them.

Internal improvement lands-investment of proceeds in bonds. SEC. 32. [b] All lands donated to the State of Minnesota for the purpose of internal improvement, under the eighth section of the act of Congress, approved September fourth, eighteen hundred and forty-one, being "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sale of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights," shall be appraised and sold, in the same manner and by the same officers, and the minimum price shall be the same as is provided by law for the appraisement and sale of the school lands, under the provisions of title one (1), chapter thirty-eight, of the General Statutes, except the modifications hereinafter mentioned. All moneys derived from the sales of said lands shall be invested in the bonds of the United States, or of the State of Minnesota issued since 1860; and the moneys so invested shall constitute the Internal Improvement Land Fund of the State. All moneys received by the county treasurer under the provisions of title one (1), chapter thirtyeight (38), aforesaid, derived from the sale of internal improvement lands, shall be held at all times subject to the order and direction of the state treasurer, for the benefit of the fund to which it belongs; and on the fifteenth day of June in each year, and at such other times as he may be requested so to do by the state treasurer, he shall pay over to the said state treasurer all moneys received on account of such fund.

The bonds purchased in accordance with this amendment shall be transferable only upon the order of the governor, and on each bond shall be written "Minnesota Internal Improvement Land Fund of the State, transferable only on the order of the governor."

Principal not to be reduced. The principal sum from all sales of internal improvement lands shall not be reduced by any charges or costs of officers, by fees, or by any other means whatever; and section fifty (50), of title one (1), of chapter thirty-eight (38), of the General Statutes, shall not be applicable to the provisions of this amendment, and wherever the words "school lands" are used in said title, it shall read as applicable to this amendment, "Internal Improvement Lands."

Appropriations therefrom to be voted upon before valid. The moneys belonging to the Internal Improvement Land Fund shall not be appropriated for any purpose whatever until the enactment for that purpose shall have been approved by a majority of the electors of the State voting at the annual general election following the passage of the act. (a)

The force of this amendment shall be to authorize the sale of the internal improvement lands, without further legislative enactment.

Against special legislation. SEC. 33. In all cases when a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted; and whether a general law could have been made applicable in any case is hereby declared a judicial question, and as such shall be judicially determined without regard to any legislative assertion on that subject. The legislature shall pass no local or special law regulating the affairs of, or incorporating, erecting or changing the lines of, any county, city, village, township, ward or school district, or creating the offices, or prescribing the powers and duties of the officers of, or fixing or relating to the compensation, salary or fees of the same, or the mode of election or appointment thereto, authorizing the laying out, opening, altering, vacating or maintaining roads, highways, streets or alleys; remitting fines, penalties or forfeitures; regulating the powers, duties and practice of justices of the peace, magistrates and constables; changing the names of persons, places, lakes or rivers; for opening and conducting of elections, or fixing or changing the places of voting; authorizing the adoption or legitimation of children; changing the law of descent or succession; conferring rights upon minors; declaring any named person of age; giving effect to informal or invalid wills or deeds, or affecting the estates of minors or persons under disability; locating or changing county seats; regulating the management of public schools, the building or repairing of school houses, and the raising of money for such purposes; exempting property from taxation, or regulating the rate of interest on money; creating corporations, or amending, renewing, extending or explaining the charters thereof; granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever, or authorizing public taxation for a private purpose. Provided, however. That the inhibitions of local or special laws in this section shall not be construed to prevent the passage of general laws on any of the subjects enumerated.

(a) By chapter 71, G. L. of 1881, extra session, the proceeds of this fund were pledged to the payment of Minnesota State railroad adjustment bonds, and the law was voted upon and approved at the general election of 1884, by 31,011 votes in favor and 13,589 votes against.

Repeal of existing special laws. The legislature may repeal any existing special or local law, but shall not amend, extend or modify any of the same.

Refers to amendment of 1881, superseded as above. SEC. 34. The legislature shall provide general laws for the transaction of any business that may be prohibited by section one (1) of this amendment, and all such laws shall be uniform in their operation throughout the State.

Against combinations or pools to affect markets. SEC. 35. Any combinations of persons, either as individuals or as members or officers of any corporation, to monopolize the markets for food products in this State, or to interfere with, or restrict the freedom of, such markets, is hereby declared to be a criminal conspiracy, and shall be punished in such manner as the legislature may provide.

City or village may frame its own charter—charter to be submitted to voters. SEC. 36. Any city or village in this State may frame a charter for its own government as a city consistent with and subject to the laws of this State, as follows: The legislature shall provide, under such restrictions as it deems proper, for a board of fifteen freeholders, who shall be and for the past five years shall have been qualified voters thereof, to be appointed by the district judges of the judicial district in which the city or village is situated, as the legislature may determine, for a term in no event to exceed six years, which board shall, within six months after its appointment, return to the chief magistrate of said city or village a draft of said charter. signed by the members of said board, or a majority thereof. Such charter shall be submitted to the qualified voters of such city or village at the next election thereafter, and if four-sevenths of the qualified voters voting at such election shall ratify the same it shall, at the end of thirty days thereafter, become the charter of such city or village as a city, and supersede any existing charter and amendments thereof; provided, that in cities having patrol limits now established, such charter shall require a three-fourths. majority vote of the qualified voters voting at such election to change the patrol limits now established.

Legislature to prescribe general limits of charter-amendment of charter-upon application of 5 per cent of legal voters. Before any city shall incorporate under this act the legislature shall prescribe by law the general limits within which such charter shall be framed. Duplicate certificates shall be made setting forth the charter proposed and its ratification, which shall be signed by the chief magistrate of said city or village and authenticated by its corporate seal. One of said certificates shall be deposited in the office of secretary of state, and the other, after being recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county in which such city or village lies, shall be deposited among the archives of such city or village, and all courts shall take judicial notice thereof. Such charter so deposited may be amended by proposal therefor made by a board of fifteen commissioners aforesaid, published for at least thirty days in three newspapers of general circulation in such city or village, and accepted by three-fifths of the qualified voters of such city or village voting at the next election, and not otherwise; but such charter shall always be in harmony with and subject to the Constitution and laws of the State of Minnesota. The legislature may prescribe the duties of the commission relative to submitting amendments of charter to the vote of the people and shall provide that upon application of five per cent of the legal voters of any such city or village, by written petition, such commission shall submit to the vote of the people proposed amendments to such charter set forth in said petition. The board of freeholders above provided for shall be permanent, and all the vacancies by death, disability to perform duties, resignation or removal from the corporate limits, or expiration of term of office, shall be filled by appointment in the same manner as the original board was created, and said board shall always contain its full complement of members.

Mayor and legislative body. It shall be a feature of all such charters that there shall be provided, among other things, for a mayor or chief magistrate, and a legislative body of either one or two houses; if of two houses, at least one of them shall be elected by general vote of the electors.

Articles of amendment may be submitted separately. In submitting any such charter or amendment thereto to the qualified voters of such city or village, any alternate section or article may be presented for the choice of the voters, and may be voted on separately without prejudice to other articles or sections of the charter or any amendments thereto.

General laws for cities by divisions of population. The legislature may provide general laws relating to affairs of cities, the application of which may be limited to cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, or to cities of fifty and not less than twenty thousand inhabitants, or to cities of twenty and not less than ten thousand inhabitants, or to cities of ten thousand inhabitants or less, which shall apply equally to all such cities of either class, and which shall be paramount while in force to the provisions relating to the same matter included in the local charter herein provided for. But no local charter, provision or ordinance passed thereunder shall supersede any general law of the State defining or punishing crimes or misdemeanors.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Officers in executive department. SECTION 1. The executive department shall consist of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general who shall be chosen by the electors of the State. (a)

Election returns to be sent to secretary of state. SEC. 2. The returns of every election for the officers named in the foregoing section shall be made to the secretary of state, who shall call to his assistance two or more of the judges of the supreme court, and two disinterested judges of the district courts of the State, who shall constitute a board of canvassers, who shall open and canvass said returns and declare the result within three days after such canvass.

Official term of governor and lieutenant governor—qualifications. SEC. 3. The term of office for the governor and lieutenant governor shall be two years, and until their successors are chosen and qualified. Each shall have attained the age of twenty-five (25) years, and shall have been a bona fide resident of the State for one year next preceding his election. Both shall be citizens of the United States.

(a) An executive officer of the state is not subject to the control or interference of the judiciary in the performance of duties belonging to him as an executive officer, and no act done, or threatened to be done, by him in his official capacity can be brought under judicial control or interference by mandamus or injunction, even when the act is purely ministerial. 29 Minn, 555.

Powers and duties of governor. SEC. 4. The governor shall communicate by message to each session of the legislature such information touching the state and condition of the country as he may deem expedient. He shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces, and may call out such forces to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion. He may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power, in conjunction with the board of pardons, of which the governor shall be cx officio a member, and the other members of which shall consist of the attorney general of the State of Minnesota and the chief justice of the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, and whose powers and duties shall be defined and regulated by law, to grant reprieves and pardons after conviction for offenses against the State, except in cases of impeachment. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint a state librarian and notaries public, and such other officers as may be provided by law. He shall have power to appoint commissioners to take the acknowledgment of deeds or other instruments in writing, to be used in the State. He shall have a negative upon all laws passed by the legislature, under such rules and limitations as are in this Constitution prescribed. He may on extraordinary occasions convene both houses of the legislature. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, fill any vacancy that may occur in the office of secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, and such other state and district offices as may be hereafter created by law, until the next annual election, and until their successors are chosen and qualified.

Official term of other executive officers. SEC. 5. The official term of the secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general shall be two (2) years. The official term of the state auditor shall be four (4) years, and each shall continue in office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. The further duties and salaries of said executive officers shall each be prescribed by law.

Duties of lieutenant governor. SEC. 6. The lieutenant governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate; and in case a vacancy shall occur, from any cause whatever, in the office of governor, he shall be governor during such vacancy. The compensation of lieutenant governor shall be double the compensation of a state senator. Before the close of each session of the Senate they shall elect a president pro tempore, who shall be lieutenant governor in case a vacancy should occur in that office.

Official terms of first State officers—(Obsolete.) SEC. 7. The term of each of the executive officers named in this article shall commence on taking the oath of office on or after the first day of May, 1858, and continue until the first Monday of January, 1860, except the auditor, who shall continue in office till the first Monday of January, 1861, and until their successors shall have been duly elected and qualified; and the same above mentioned time for qualification and entry upon the duties of their respective offices shall extend and apply to all other officers elected under the State Constitution, who have not already taken the oath of office, and commenced the performance of their official duties.

Oath of office to be taken by State officers. SEC. 8. Each officer created by this article shall, before entering upon his duties, take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and faithfully discharge the duties of his office to the best of his judgment and ability.

(Obsolete.) .SEC. 9. Laws shall be passed at the first session of the legislature after the State is admitted into the Union to carry out the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIARY.

Judicial powers. SECTION 1. The judicial power of the State shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts, inferior to the supreme court, as the legislature may from time to time establish by a two-thirds vote.

Supreme court-jurisdiction and powers-reporter of decisions-clerk of supreme court. SEC. 2. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and two associate justices, but the number of the associate justices may be increased to a number not exceeding four, by the legislature, by a two-thirds vote, when it shall be deemed necessary. It shall have original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity, but there shall be no trial by jury in said court. It shall hold one or more terms in each year, as the legislature may direct, at the seat of government, and the legislature may provide, by a two-thirds vote, that one term in each year shall be held in each or any judicial district. It shall be the duty of such court to appoint a reporter of its decisions. There shall be chosen, by the qualified electors of the State, one clerk of the supreme court, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified, and the judges of the supreme court, or a majority of them, shall have the power to fill any vacancy in the office of clerk of the supreme court until an election can be regularly had.

The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and four associate justices. G. L. 1881, ch. 141.

Election and term of office for judges. SEC. 3. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the State at large, and their term of office shall be six years, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

District judges may act where supreme judges are disqualified. Whenever all or a majority of the judges of the supreme court shall, from any cause, be disqualified from sitting in any case in said court, the governor, or, if he shall be interested in the result of such case, then the lieutenant governor, shall assign judges of the district court of the State, who shall sit in such case in place of such disqualified judges, with all the powers and duties of judges of the supreme court.

Judicial districts for district courts—election of judges—term of office and residence. SEC. 4. The State shall be divided by the legislature into judicial districts, which shall be composed of contiguous territory, be bounded by county lines, and contain a population as nearly equal as may be practicable. In each judicial district, one or more judges, as the legislature may prescribe, shall be elected by the electors thereof, whose term of office shall be six years, and each of said judges shall severally have and exercise the powers of the court, under such limitations as may be prescribed by law. Every district judge shall, at the time of his election, be a resident of the district for which he shall be elected, and shall reside therein during his continuance in office. In case any court of common pleas heretofore established shall be abolished, the judge of said court may be constituted by the legislature one of the judges of the district court of the district wherein such court has been so established for a period not exceeding the unexpired term for which he was elected.

Jurisdiction of district courts. SEC. 5. The district courts shall have original jurisdiction in all civil cases, both in law and equity, where the amount in controversy exceeds one hundred dollars, and in all criminal cases where the punishment shall exceed three months' imprisonment or a fine of more than one hundred dollars, and shall have such appellate jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. The legislature may provide by law that the judge of one district may discharge the duties of judge of any other district not his own, when convenience or the public interest may require it.

Qualifications. SEC. 6. The judges of the supreme and district courts shall be men learned in the law, and shall receive such compensation at stated times as may be prescribed by the legislature; which compensation shall not be diminished during their continuance in office, but they shall receive no other fee or reward for their services.

Probate court-judges to be elected-jurisdiction. SEC. 7. There shall be established in each organized county in the State a probate court, which shall be a court of record, and be held at such time and places as may be prescribed by law. It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of two years. He shall be a residen, of such county at the time of his election, and reside therein during his continuance in office; and his compensation shall be provided by law. He may appoint his own clerk where none has been elected; but the legislature may authorize the election, by the electors of any county, of one clerk or register of probate for such county, whose powers, duties, term of office and compensation shall be prescribed by law. A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction, except as prescribed by this Constitution.

Justices of the peace to be elected—jurisdiction. SEC. 8. The legislature shall provide for the election of a sufficient number of justices of the peace in each county, whose term of office shall be two years, and whose duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. Provided, That no justice of the peace shall have jurisdiction of any civil cause where the amount in controversy shall exceed one hundred dollars, nor in a criminal cause where the punishment shall exceed three months' imprisonment, or a fine over one hundred dollars, nor in any cause involving the title to real estate.

Judges for other courts to be elected. SEC. 9. All judges other than those provided for in this Constitution shall be elected by the electors of the judicial district, county, or city, for which they shall be created, not for a longer term than seven years.

Vacancies—appointment by governor. SEC. 10. In case the office of any judge become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the governor, until a successor is elected and qualified. And such successor shall be elected at the first annual election that occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy shall have happened.

Prohibition, supreme or district judges to hold other offices or to be voted for office while in office. SEC. 11. The justices of the supreme court and the district courts shall hold no office under the United States, nor any other office under this State. And all votes for either of them for any elective office under this Constitution, except a judicial office given by the legislature or the people, during their continuance in office, shall be void.

Change of judicial districts. SEC. 12. The legislature may at any time change the number of judicial districts or their boundaries, when it shall be deemed expedient; but no such change shall vacate the office of any judge.

Clerk of court. SEC. 13. There shall be elected in each county where a district court shall be held, one clerk of said court, whose qualifications, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law, and whose term of office shall be four years. Legal pleadings. SEC. 14. Legal pleadings and proceedings in the courts of this State shall be under the direction of the legislature. The style of all process shall be, "The State of Minnesota," and all indictments shall conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the State of Minnesota."

Court commissioner—powers and jurisdiction. SEC. 15. The legislature may provide for the election of one person in each organized county in this State, to be called a court commissioner, with judicial power and jurisdiction not exceeding the power and jurisdiction of a judge of the district court at chambers; or the legislature may, instead of such election, confer such power and jurisdiction upon the judges of probate in the State.

ARTICLE VII.

ELECTIVE FRANCHISE.

Elective franchise. SECTION 1. What persons are entitled to vote:

Residence required. Every male person of the age of twenty-one (21) years or upwards belonging to either of the following classes who has resided in this State six (6) months next preceding any election shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time have been for thirty (30) days a resident, for all officers that now are, or hereafter may be, elective by the people.

Citizens of the United States. First—Citizens of the United States who have been such for the period of three (3) months next preceding any election.

Pure Indians having adopted habits of civilization. Third—Persons of Indian blood residing in this State, who have adopted the language, customs and habits of civilization, after an examination before any district court of the State, in such manner as may be provided by law, and shall have been pronounced by said court capable of enjoying the rights of citizenship within the State.

Non-eligible. SEC. 2. No person not belonging to one of the classes specified in the preceding section; no person who has been convicted of treason or any felony, unless restored to civil rights; and no person under guardianship, or who may be non compos mentis or insane, shall be entitled or permitted to vote at any election in this State.

Residence not lost in certain cases. SEC. 3. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have lost a residence by reason of his absence while employed in the service of the United States; nor while engaged upon the waters of this State or of the United States; nor while a student in any seminary of learning; nor while kept at any almshouse or asylum; nor while confined in any public prison. Soldiers and sailors—restriction. SEC. 4. No soldier, seaman or marine in the army or navy of the United States shall be deemed a resident of this State in consequence of being stationed within the same.

Civil process suspended on election day. SEC. 5. During the day on which any election shall be held, no person shall be arrested by virtue of any civil process.

Elections by ballots. SEC. 6. All elections shall be by ballot, except for such town officers as may be directed by law to be otherwise chosen.

Right to hold office. SEC. 7. Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States. ## SCHOOL FUNDS, EDUCATION AND SCIENCE.

Uniform system of public schools. SECTION 1. The stability of a republican form of government depending mainly upon the intelligence of the people, it shall be the duty of the legislature to establish a general and uniform system of public schools. (a)

Proceeds of school lands to be a perpetual fund. SEC. 2. The proceeds of such lands as are or hereafter may be granted by the United States for the use of schools within each township of this State shall remain a perpetual school fund to the State; and not more than one-third (1/3) of said lands may be sold in two (2) years, one-third (1/3) in five (5) years, and one-third (1/3) in ten (10) years; but the lands of the greatest valuation shall be sold first; provided, that no portion of said lands arising from sales or other disposition of lands or other property, granted or entrusted to this State in each township for educational purposes, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished; and the income arising from the lease or sale of said school land shall be distributed to the different townships throughout the State, in proportion to the number of scholars in each township, between the ages of five and twenty-one years; and shall be faithfully applied to the specific objects of the original grants or appropriations.

investment of funds. Suitable laws shall be enacted by the legislature for the safe investment of the principal of all funds which have heretofore arisen or which may hereafter arise from the sale or other disposition of such lands, or the income from such lands accruing in any way before the sale or disposition thereof, in interest-bearing bonds of the United States, or of the State of Minnesota, issued after the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty (1860), or of such other state as the legislature may, by law, from time to time direct.

Swamp lands—division of proceeds. All swamp lands now held by the State, or that may hereafter accrue to the State, shall be appraised and sold in the same manner and by the same officers, and the minimum price shall be the same less one-third (1/3), as is provided by law for the appraisement and sale of the school lands under the provisions of title one (1) of chapter thirty-eight (38) of the General Statutes. The principal of all funds derived from sales of swamp lands, as aforesaid, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished. One-half  $(\frac{1}{2})$  of the proceeds of said principal shall be appropriated to the common school fund of the State. The remaining one-half  $(\frac{1}{2})$  shall be appropriated to the educational and charitable institutions of the State in the relative ratio of cost to support said institutions.

Public schools in each township to be established. SEC. 3. The legislature shall make such provisions, by taxation or otherwise, as, with the income arising from the school fund, will secure a thorough and efficient system of public schools in each township in the State.

Prohibition as to alding sectarian schools. But in no case shall the moneys derived as aforesaid, or any portion thereof, or any public moneys or property, be appropriated or used for the support of schools wherein the distinctive doctrines, creeds or tenets of any particular Christian or other religious sect are promulgated or taught.

University of Minnesota—location confirmed. SEC. 4. The location of the University of Minnesota, as established by existing laws, is hereby confirmed, and said institution is hereby declared to be the University of the State of Minnesota. All the rights, immunities, franchises and endowments heretofore granted or conferred are hereby perpetuated unto the said university; and all lands which may be granted hereafter by Congress, or other donations for said university purposes, shall vest in the institution referred to in this section.

Permanent school funds may be loaned to districts or countles for school The permanent school funds of the State may be loaned purposes. excess of the amount actually necessary to be raised on account of such accruing principal or interest. It shall be levied, collected and paid into the county and state treasuries in the same manner as state taxes, and any excess collected over the amount of such principal or interest accruing in any given year shall be credited to the general funds of the respective counties or school districts. No change of the boundaries of any school district after the making of any such loan shall operate to withdraw any property from the taxation herein provided for; nor shall any law be passed extending the time of payment of any such principal or interest, or reducing the rate of such interest, or in any manner waiving or impairing any rights of the State in connection with any such loan. Sultable laws, not inconsistent with this amendment, may be passed by the legislature for the purpose of carrying the same into effect. (a)

Investment of permanent school and university funds-approval-bonded indebtedness not to exceed 15 per cent, draw not less than 3 per cent, run not less than 5 nor more than 20 years. SEC. 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three (3) per cent per annum, nor for a shorter period than five (5) years, nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, city, village or of county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

Money drawn from the State treasury. SEC. 9. No money shall ever be paid out of the treasury of this State except in pursuance of an appropriation by law.

Credit of the State prohibited. SEC. 10. The credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation. Nor shall there by any further issue of bonds denominated "MInnesota State Railroad Bonds," under what purports to be an amendment to section ten (10) of article nine (9) of the Constitution, adopted April fifteenth, eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, which is hereby expunged from the Constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the State, nevertheless, all rights, remedies, and forfeitures accruing under said amendment.

Publication of receipts and expenditures by treasurer. SEC. 11. There shall be published by the treasurer, in at least one newspaper printed at the seat of government, during the first week in January in each year, and in the next volume of the acts of legislature, detailed statements of all moneys drawn from the treasury during the preceding year, for what purpose and to whom paid, and by what law authorized; and also of all moneys received, and by what authority and from whom.

State school funds-investment-safe keeping-All State funds to be deposited in name of State. SEC. 12. Suitable laws shall be passed by the legislature for the safe-keeping, transfer and disbursements of the State and school funds; and all officers and other persons charged with the same or any part of the same, or the safe keeping thereof, shall be required to give ample security for all moneys and funds of any kind received by them; to make forthwith and keep an accurate entry of each sum received, and of each payment and transfer; and if any of said officers or other persons shall convert to his own use in any manner or form, or shall loan, with or without interest, or shall deposit in his own name, or otherwise than in the name of the State of Minnesota; or shall deposit in banks or with any person or persons, or exchange for other funds or property, any portion of the funds of the State or of the school funds aforesaid, except in the manner prescribed by law, every such act shall be and constitute an embezzlement of so much of the aforesaid State and school funds, or either of the same, as shall thus be taken, or loaned, or deposited or exchanged, and shall be a felony; and any failure to pay over, produce or account for the State school funds, or any part of the same entrusted to such officer or persons as by law required on demand, shall be held and be taken to be prima facie evidence of such embezzlement.

General banking law-provisions and restrictions. SEC. 13. The legislature may, by a two-thirds vote, pass a general banking law, with the following restrictions and requirements, viz.:

First—The legislature shall have no power to pass any law sanctioning in any manner, directly, or indirectly, the suspension of specie payments by any person, association or corporation issuing bank notes of any description.

Second—The legislature shall provide by law for the registry of all bills or notes issued or put in circulation as money, and shall require ample security in United States stock or State stocks for the redemption of the same in specie; and in case of a depreciation of said stocks, or any part thereof, to the amount of ten per cent or more on the dollar, the bank or banks owning said stocks shall be required to make up said deficiency by additional stocks.

Third—The stockholders in any corporation and joint association for banking purposes, issuing bank notes, shall be individually liable in an amount equal to double the amount of stock owned by them for all the debts of such corporation or association; and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer or sale of stock by any stockholder or stockholders.

Fourth—In case of the insolvency of any bank or banking association, the bill holders thereof shall be entitled to preference in payment over all other creditors of such bank or association.

Fifth—Any general banking law which may be passed in accordance with this article shall provide for recording the names of all stockholders in such corporation, the amount of stock held by each, the time of transfer, and to whom transferred.

Special provision for a loan for hospital building for insane. SEC. 14. For the purpose of erecting and completing buildings for a hospital for the insane, a deaf, dumb and blind asylum, the state prison, the legislature may by law increase the public debt of the State to an amount not exceeding $250,000, in addition to the public debt already heretofore authorized by the Constitution; and for that purpose may provide by law for issuing and negotiating the bonds of the State, and appropriate the money only for the purpose aforesaid; which bonds shall be payable in not less than ten nor more than thirty years from the date of the same, at the option of the State.

Superseded by section 15 but not repealed in express terms. SEC. 14. The legislature shall not authorize any county, township, city, or other municipal corporation to issue bonds or to become indebted in any manner to aid in the construction or equipment of any or all railroads to any amount that shall exceed ten per centum of the value of the taxable property within such county, township, city, or other municipal corporation; the amount of such taxable property to be ascertained and determined by the last assessment of said property made for the purpose of state and county taxation previous to the incurring of such indebtedness, Nov. 5, 1872. County, city or township aid to railroads limited. SEC. 15. The legislature shall not authorize any county, township, city, or other municipal corporation to issue bonds, or to become indebted in any manner, to aid in the construction or equipment of any or all railroads to any amount that shall exceed five (5) per centum of the value of the taxable property within such county, township, city, or other municipal corporation. The amount of such taxable property to be ascertained and determined by the last assessment of said property made, for the purpose of state and county taxation, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.

State Road and Bridge Fund. SEC. 16. For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund, to be known as the "state road and bridge fund," said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

The legislature is authorized to add to such fund, for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state of not to exceed in any year one-fourth  $(\frac{1}{4})$  of one mill on all the taxable property within the state.

Provided, that no county shall receive in any year more than three (3) per cent or less than one-half  $(\frac{1}{2})$  of one (1) per cent of the total fund thus provided and expended during such year; and provided, further, that in no case shall more than one-half  $(\frac{1}{2})$  of the cost of constructing or improving any road or bridge be paid by the state from such fund.\*\*

SEC. 13. The returns from the Twenty-second district shall be made to and canvassed by the judges of election at the precinct of Otter Tail City.

Judicial districts. SEC. 14. Until the legislature shall otherwise provide, the State shall be divided into judicial districts as follows, viz.

The counties of Washington, Chisago, Manomin, Anoka, Isanti, Pine, Buchanan, Carlton, St. Louis and Lake shall constitute the First judicial district.

The county of Ramsey shall constitute the Second judicial district.

The counties of Houston, Winona, Fillmore, Olmsted and Wabasha shall constitute the Third judicial district.

The countles of Hennepin, Carver, Wright, Meeker, Sherburne, Benton, Stearns, Morrison, Crow Wing, Mille Lacs, Itasca, Pembina, Todd and Cass shall constitute the Fourth judicial district.

The counties of Dakota, Goodhue, Scott, Rice, Steele, Waseca, Dodge, Mower and Freeborn shall constitute the Fifth judicial district.

The counties of Le Sueur, Sibley, Nicollet, Blue Earth, Faribault, Mc-Leod, Renville, Brown, and all other counties in the State not included within the other districts, shall constitute the Sixth judicial district.

SEC. 15. Each of the foregoing enumerated judicial districts may, at the first election, elect one prosecuting attorney for the district.

First State election. SEC. 16. Upon the second Tuesday, the thirteenth day of October, 1857, an election shall be held for members of the House of Representatives of the United States, governor, lieutenant governor, supreme and district judges, members of the legislature, and all other officers designated in this Constitution, and also for the submission of this Constitution to the people, for their adoption or rejection.

Voters at the first election. SEC. 17. Upon the day so designated as aforesaid every free white male inhabitant over the age of twenty-one years, who shall have resided within the limits of the State for ten days previous to the day of said election, may vote for all officers to be elected under this Constitution at such election, and also for or against the adoption of this Constitution.

Vote on the constitution. SEC. 18. In voting for or against the adoption of this Constitution, the words, "For Constitution," or "Against Constitution," may be written or printed on the ticket of each voter, but no voter shall vote for or against this Constitution, on a separate ballot from that cast by him for officers to be elected at said election under this Constitution; and if upon the canvass of the vote so polled it shall appear that there was a greater number of votes polled for than against said Constitution, then this Constitution shall be deemed to be adopted as the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, and all the provisions and obligations of this Constitution, and of the schedule thereunto attached, shall thereafter be valid to all intents and purposes as the Constitution of said State.

Election—how conducted. SEC. 19. At said election the polls shall be opened, the election held, returns made, and certificates issued, in all respects as provided by law for opening, closing and conducting elections and making returns of the same, except as hereinbefore specified, and excepting also that polls may be opened and elections held at any point or points in any of the counties where precincts may be established as provided by law, ten days previous to the day of election, not less than ten miles from the place of voting in any established precinct.

Returns of election. SEC. 20. It shall be the duty of the judges and clerks of election. in addition to the returns required by law for each precinct, to forward to the secretary of the Territory, by mail, immediately after the close of the election, a certified copy of the poll book containing the name of each person who has voted in the precinct and the number of votes polled for and against the adoption of this Constitution.

Canvassing returns. SEC. 21. The returns of said election for and against this Constitution, and for all state officers and members of the House of Representatives of the United States, shall be made, and certificates issued in the manner now prescribed by law for returning votes given for delegates to Congress; and the returns for all district officers, judicial, legislative or otherwise, shall be made to the register of deeds of the senior county in each district, in the manner prescribed by law, except as otherwise provided. The returns for all officers elected at large shall be canvassed by the governor of the Territory, assisted by Joseph R. Brown and Thomas J. Galbraith, at the time designated by law for canvassing the vote for delegates to Congress.

SEC. 22. If, upon canvassing the votes for and against the adoption of this Constitution, it shall appear that there has been polled a greater number of votes against than for it, then no certificate of election shall be issued for any State or district officer provided for in this Constitution, and no State organization shall have validity within the limits of the Territory, until otherwise provided for and until a Constitution for a State government shall have been adopted by the people.

CYPRIPEDIUM.-THE MOCCASIN FLOWER.

STATE FLOWER OF MINNESOTA.

Digitized by Google

MINNESOTA STATE FLOWER.

The name Cypripedium (from Greek words meaning the shoe of Venus), published for this genus in 1737 by Linnæus, and its common English and American popular names, as Lady's Slipper, Moccasin Flower, and Indian Shoe, refer to the saccate and somewhat shoe-like form of the most conspicuous petal (in this Orchis family called the lip) of the flower.

About twenty-five species of Cypripedium are known, belonging to the north temperate zone and reaching south into Mexico and Northern India. Six species occur in the northern United States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, all of these being found in Minnesota; and about a dozen species in total occur on this continent. They are perennial herbs with perfect, irregular flowers, which are solitary or few, large and showy.

The Minnesota species are as follows: C. arietinum R. Br., the Ram'shead Moccasin Flower, with red and whitish veiny llp, as shown in the accompanying plate; C. candidum Muhl., the small White Moccasin Flower; C. parviflorum Salisb., the small Yellow Moccasin Flower, also shown in this plate; C. pubescens Wild., with much larger yellow flowers; C. spectabile Sw., with most showy, large flowers, of mingled white and plnk purple color; and C. acaule Ait., the Stemless Moccasin Flower, with leaves on the ground and a large rose-purple flower on an erect scape nearly a foot high. These plants grow preferably in cold and moist woods and in bogs, flowering from May to July. The first and second are rare or infrequent; but the other four are frequent or common, especially northward.

Note.—Minnesota has fourteen genera, including forty-one species, of the Orchis family, to which the Cypripediums belong. In total, 1,582 species of flowering plants, and sixty-eight ferns and their allies, making together 1,650 species, were tabulated, as known to grow without cultivation in this state, by Warren Upham in the Catalogue of the Flora of Minnesota, published in the Twelfth Annual Report of the Geological and Natural History Survey for the year 1883 (193 pages, with a map showing the areas of forest and prairie). Within the basin of the Minnesota river, according to the report in 1892 by Prof. Conway MacMillan, the state botanist, 1,174 species and varieties of flowering plants, including all our Cypripediums, are known and have been collected for the Herbarium of the State University. The State Flower is thus chosen from among more than a thousand others which bloom on our prairies, in the northern woods, in their cool bogs, and in our streams and lakes.

ACT OF ADMISSION INTO THE UNION.

An Act for the admission of Minnesota into the Union. [Passed May 11, 1858.]

WHEREAS, An act of Congress was passed February twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government preparatory to their admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original states;" and, whereas, the people of said Territory did, on the twenty-ninth day of August, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, by delegates elected for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government, which is republican in form, and was ratified and adopted by the people at an election held on the thirteenth day of October, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, for that purpose; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the State of Minnesota shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatever.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That said State shall be entitled to two representatives in Congress, until the next apportionment of representatives among the several states.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That from and after the admission of the State of Minnesota, as hereinbefore provided, all the laws of the United States which are not locally inapplicable shall have the same force and effect within that State as in other States of the Union; and the said State is hereby constituted a judicial district of the United States, within which a district court, with like powers and jurisdiction as the district court of the United States for the district of Iowa, shall be established; the judge, attorney and marshal of the United States of the said district of Minnesota shall reside within the same, and shall be entitled to the same compensation as the judge, attorney and marshal of the district of Iowa; and in all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States, upon any record from the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, the mandate of execution or order of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the district court of the United States for the district of Minnesota, or to the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, as the nature of such appeal or writ of error may require; and each of those courts shall be the successor of the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, as to all such cases, with full power to hear and determine the same, and to ward mesne or final process therein.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declars the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unallenable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the reople to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its toundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. ' Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise, the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundarles, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies: For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our government:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare. That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be FREE and INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as FREE and INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract illiances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which INDEPENDENT STATES may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

THE ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 9, 1778.

Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

ABTICLE 1. The style of this confederacy shall be "THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

ART. 2. Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom, and independence, and every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the United States in Congress assembled.

ART. 3. The said states hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other for their common defense, the security of their liberties, and their mutual and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other against all force offered to or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretence whatever.

ART. 4. § 1. The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different states in this Union, the free inhabitants of each of these states (paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from justice excepted) shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several states, and the people of each state shall have free ingress and egress to and from any other state, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively; provided, that such restrictions shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any state, to any other state, of which the owner is an inhabitant; provided, also, that no imposition, duties, or restriction shall be laid by any state on the property of the United States, or either of them.

§ 2. If any person guilty of, or charged with, treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor, in any state, shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon the demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offense.

§ 3. Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

ART. 5. § 1. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November, of every year, with a power reserved to each state to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead, for the remainder of the year.

§ 2. No state shall be represented in congress by less than two, nor more than seven, members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years, in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States, for which he, or any other for his benefit, receives any salary, fees, or emolument of any kind.

§ 3. Each state shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the states, and while they act as members of the committee of these states.

§ 4. In determining questions in the United States in congress assembled, each state shall have one vote.

§ 5. Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on, congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

ART. 6. § 1. No state, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with, any king, prince, or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state; nor shall the United States in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

§ 2. No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation, or alliance whatever, between them, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

§ 3. No state shall lay any imposts or duties which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties entered into by the United States, in congress assembled, with any king, prince, or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress to the courts of France and Spain.

§ 4. No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only as shall be deemed necessary by the United States in congress assembled, for the defense of such state, or its trade; nor shall any body or forces be kept up by any state, in time of peace, except such number only as. In the judgment of the United States in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such state: but every state shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pleces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

§ 5. No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit a delay till the United States in congress assembled can be consulted; nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States in congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ART. 7. When land forces are raised by any state for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel shall be appointed by the legislature of each state, respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the state which first made the appointment.

ART. 8. All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States in congress assembled shall, from time to time, direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled.

ART. 9. § 1. The United States in congress assembled shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article; of sending and receiving ambassadors, entering into treaties and alliances; provided, that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever; of establishing rules for deciding in all cases what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated; of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace; appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures; provided. that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

§ 2. The United States in congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting, or that may hereafter arise, between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question, and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall, in the presence of congress, be drawn out by lot; the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court, to be appointed in the manner before prescribed, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear to defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive; the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress and lodged among the acts of congress, for the security of the parties concerned; provided, that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward;" provided, also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

§ 3. All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdiction, as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

§ 4. The United States in congress assembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states; fixing the standard of weights and measures, throughout the United States; regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states; provided, that the legislative right of any state, within its own limits, be not infringed or violated; establishing and regulating postoffices from one state to another, throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office; appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States, excepting regimental officers; appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States; making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

§ 5. The United States in congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside; provided, that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses; to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state, which requisition shall be binding; and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and clothe, arm and equip them, in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States; and the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled; but if the United States in congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared, out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared, and the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled. 4

§ 6. The United States in congress assembled shall never engage in A war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same; nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States in congress assembled.

§ 7. The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state, on any question, shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

ART. 10. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall, from time to time, think expedient to vest them with; provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states, in the congress of the United States assembled, is requisite.

ART. 11. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ART. 12. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ART. 13. Every state shall abide by the determination of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterward confirmed by the legislature of every state. And whereas, it has pleased the great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in congress to approve of and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union. Know ye, that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained. And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by the said confederation are submitted to them; and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the Union shall be perpetual. In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands in congress.

Done at Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, the ninth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight, and in the third year of the Independence of America.

Ratified by the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. Connecticut. New York, New Jersey. Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina. Georgia.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Preamble. We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every 30,000, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose 3; Massachusetts, 8; Rohde Island and Providence Plantations, 1; Connecticut, 5; New York, 6; New Jersey, 4; Pennsylvania, 8; Delaware, 1; Maryland, 6; Virginia, 10; North Carolina, 5; South Carolina, 5; and Georgia, 3.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SEC. 3. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year; so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their own officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments.

When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of twothirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meetings shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall, by law, appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same; excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting. SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it. with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by twothirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return; in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 8. The Congress shall have power:

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization and uniform laws on the subject of hankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and filthe standard of weights and measures;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

To establish postoffices and post roads;

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the laws of nations;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

To provide and maintain a navy;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions:

To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law, shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit and trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state.

SEC. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates; and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.]*

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president; and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur, and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3. He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SEC. 4. The president, vice president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, or subjects.*

See the 11th amendment.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SEC. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SEC. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SEC. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States, and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

SEC. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in the Union a republican form of government; and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made. under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and selzures, shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be selzed.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamoucrime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war and public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court in the United States than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive ball shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any sult in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

ARTICLE XII.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice president, one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president and of all persons voted for as vice president, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate; the president of the senate shall, in presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president; if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states; and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice president shall be the vice president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then, from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice president of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

SECTION 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be appointed among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice president of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participafion in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in Congress or elector of president and vice president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each house remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

SEC. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Nore—The Constitution was adopted Sept. 17, 1787, by the unanimous consent of the states present in the convention appointed in pursuance of the resolution of the Congress of the confederation, of the twenty-first of February, 1787, and was ratified by the conventions of the several states, as follows, viz: By convention of Delaware, Dec. 7, 1787; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, 1787; New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2, 1788; Connecticut, Jan. 9, 1788; Massachusetts, Feb. 6, 1788; Maryland, April 28, 1788; South Carolina, May 23, 1788; New Hampshire, June 21, 1788; Virginia, June 26, 1788. New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789; Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

The first ten of the amendments were proposed at the first session of the First Congress of the United States, Sept. 25, 1789; and were finally ratified by the constitutional number of states Dec. 15, 1791. The eleventh amendment was proposed at the first session of the Third Congress, March 5, 1794, and was declared in a message from the president of the United States to both houses of Congress, dated Jan. 8, 1798, to have been adopted by the constitutional number of states. The twelfth amendment was proposed at the first session of the Eighth Congress, Dec. 12, 1803, and was adopted by the constitutional number of states in 1804, according to a public notice thereof by the secretary of state, dated Sept. 25, 1804.

The thirteenth amendment was proposed at the second session of the Thirtyeighth Congress, Feb. 1, 1865, and was adopted by the constitutional number of states in 1865, according to a public notice thereof by the secretary of state, dated Dec 18, 1865.

The fourteenth amendment took effect July 28, 1868.

The fifteenth amendment took effect March 30, 1870.

PERMANENT RULES OF THE SENATE. 1911.

CALLING SENATE TO ORDER.

1. The president shall take the chair at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order, and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall proceed with the regular order of business.

DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT.

2. He shall preserve order and decorum; may speak on points of order in preference to members, and shall appoint all committees, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate. He shall also decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any member, but such appeal shall be decided by a majority vote of those present and voting thereon.

QUESTIONS-HOW STATED AND DECIDED.

3. He shall rise to put the question, but may state it sitting.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be), say Aye," and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion say No." The president shall declare all votes, but if any member rise to doubt a vote, he shall order a division.

PRESIDENT PRO TEM.

5. The president shall call some member into the chair when the Senate goes into committee of the whole. He shall also have the right to name a member to perform the duties of the chair; but substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment. In the absence of the president, except as above, the Senate shall appoint a president pro tem.

FURTHER DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT.

6. The president of the Senate shall sign all acts, memorials, addresses and resolutions; and all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by the Senate shall be signed by him and attested by the secretary.

7. The president is authorized to administer all oaths required in the discharge of his duties.

DISTURBANCE IN LOBBY.

 In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies or galleries, the president or chairman of the committee of the whole shall have power to order the same cleared.

PRIVILEGES OF REPORTERS.

9. Reporters wishing to take down the debates may be admitted by the president, who shall assign them to such places on the floor or elsewhere to effect their object as shall not interfere with the convenience of the Senate. But any reporter of any newspaper who shall purposely misrepresent or misreport the proceedings of the Senate shall, during the remainder of the session, be denied admission to the Senate chamber.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

10. The order of business shall be as follows, viz .:

First-Presentation of letters, petitions, remonstrances and other communica-

Second-Resolutions and motions.

Third-Introduction of bills, memorials and joint resolutions,

Fourth-Reports of committees.

A-From standing committees.

B-From select committees.

Fifth-Messages and other executive communications.

Sixth-Messages from the House of Representatives, and amendments proposed by the House to bills and resolutions from the Senate.

Seventh-First reading of House bills.

Eighth-Second reading of Senate bills.

Ninth-Second reading of House bills.

Tenth-Third reading of Senate bills.

Eleventh-Third reading of House bills.

Twelfth-General orders of the day.

PUBLIC BILLS TO HAVE PREFERENCE.

 Public and joint resolutions of a public nature shall always have the preference of private bills.

REFERRING OF BILLS.

12. All bills shall be referred by the president of the Senate without motion to the proper standing committee, on the first reading, unless otherwise ordered. And all bills, providing for an appropriation of money, when referred to and reported by any other than the committee on finance, shall, before passage, be referred to the committee on finance.

OF ORDER IN DEBATE,

13. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise to his feet and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and shall confine himself to the question under debate and avoid personality. That in discussing any resolution senators shall be limited to five minutes each.

14. Whenever any member is called to order he shall sit down until it is determined whether he is in order or not, and if a member is called to order for words spoken in debate, the words excepted to shall be taken down in writing immediately.

15. When two or more members shall happen to rise at once, the president shall name the member who is to speak.

16. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question on the same day, nor more than once on a motion for commitment, without leave of the Senate.

CONDUCT DURING BUSINESS.

17. While the president is putting any question, or addressing the Senate, no one shall walk out or across the room; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor whilst a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the chair. Every member shall remain uncovered during the session of the Senate. No member or other person shall proceed to or remain by the secretary's desk while the ayes and noes are calling or ballots counting.

18. Upon a division and count of the Senate on any question no member without the senate chamber shall be counted.

SENATORS TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED.

19. Every member who shall be in the Senate when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the Senate, for special reasons, shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the Senate divides or before he gives his vote upon a call of the ayes and noes. Any member wishing to be excused from voting may make a brief statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

MOTIONS.

20. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the president; or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the secretary, and read aloud for debate.

21. Every motion or amendment shall be reduced to writing if the president or any member desires it. In such case it must be signed by the member or committee offering it.

22. After a motion is stated by the president or read by the secretary, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment.

23. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received, unless to adjourn or to lie on the table, for the previous question, to commit, to postpone to a day certain, to postpone indefinitely, or to amend; and these several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged. A motion to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, or to amend, being decided, shall not again be allowed on the same day, nor at the same stage of the bill or proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be equivalent to a rejection of a bill.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

24. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order; that and the motion to lie on the table shall be decided without debate; but a motion to adjourn, when refused, shall not be renewed until further business shall have been had.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

25. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon all pending amendments in their order, and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the ordering of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order, but after a majority shall have ordered such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

26. On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

RECONSIDERATION.

27. When a motion or question has been once put and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for a reconsideration thereof, on the same day on which the vote was taken, or within the next two days of actual session of the Senate thereafter; and such motions shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn. A motion for reconsideration, being put and lost, shall not be renewed.

DIVISION OF QUESTION.

28. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed to be indivisible. A motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude an amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

PETITIONS, ETC .- HOW TO BE PRESENTED.

29. In presenting a petition, memorial, remonstrance or other communication addressed to the Senate, the members shall only state the general purport of it.

30. Every petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill and report of committee shall be indorsed with its appropriate title, and immediately under the indorsement the name of the member presenting the same shall be written.

CALL OF THE SENATE.

31. Any member may demand a call of the Senate, and require absent members to be sent for, but a call of the Senate cannot be made after the voting has commenced; and the call of the Senate being ordered and the absentees noted, the door shall be closed, and no member permitted to leave the room until the report of the sergeant-at-arms be received and acted upon, or further proceedings under the call be dispensed with.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

33. The rules observed in the Senate shall govern, as far as practicable, the proceedings of the Committee of the Whole, except that a member may speak more than twice on the same subject, and that a call for the yeas and nays, or for the previous question, cannot be made.

34. "Amendments made in the Committee of the Whole shall be entered on a separate piece of paper, and so reported to the Senate by the chairman standing in his place, which amendment shall not be read by the president, unless rquired by one or more of the members. On adoption of the report by the Committee of the Whole, all bills, recommended to pass, shall be placed upon the calendar."

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

35. "Bills, memorials and joint resolutions may be introduced by any member in his place, or by order of the Senate on a report of a committee. Each member so introducing such bill, memorial or joint resolution shall, at the time of such introduction thereof, furnish to the secretary of the senate two copies thereof, which shall be endorsed 'copies.'

"Every bill, memorial or joint resolution shall have prefixed thereto the name of the person introducing it, and when reported from a committee, the name of said committee shall be endorsed thereon. Every proposed amendment to any bill, memorial or joint resolution, and every committee report shall be in triplicate form and shall be written on only one side of the paper. That hereafter all bills introduced in the Senate shall be so framed that when any section or subdivision or chapter of any existing law is to be amended, or when any section or subdivision or chapter of any repealed law is to be repealed, or when any section or subdivision or chapter of any repealed law is to be revived, the said section or subdivision or chapter shall in each case be given in full as it is designed to read when enacted, and all new matter contained in any bill which proposes to amend any section or subdivision of any existing law by inserting or adding such new matter shall be underscored, and when the bill is printed it shall be italicized; and when any bill proposes to amend an existing law by omitting any part thereof, the part proposed to be omitted shall be noted in a memorandum at the end of the bill, and after the last section thereof, and such memorandum shall be printed at the bottom of the bill, with the bill, but shall not be any part of the enrolled bill, and no bill not so framed shall be received or read by the secretary unless otherwise especially ordered by the senate.

READING OF BILLS.

38. Every bill, memorial, order, resolution or vote requiring the approval of the governor shall receive three several readings previous to its passage; the first and third reading shall be at length; and no such bill, memorial, order or resolution shall be read twice on the same day.

COMMITMENT.

37. No bill or joint resolution shall be committed or amended until it has been once read at length. If objections are made to a bill on its first reading, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no objection be made or the question to reject is lost, the bill shall go on its second reading.

ALL BILLS, ETC., TO GO TO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

38. All bills, memorials, orders, resolutions and votes requiring the approval of the governor shall, after a second reading, be considered in committee of the whole before they shall be finally acted upon by the Senate.

PRINTING OF BILLS.

39. All bills of a general nature, including all bills appropriating money or lands, shall be printed; provided, that no bills shall be printed until after the same shall have been reported upon favorably by the committee to whom the same shall be referred.

FINAL PASSAGE.

40. The final question upon a bill or other paper requiring action by both houses, after the first and second readings thereof and after the consideration in committee of the whole, shall be upon its final passage.

AMENDMENT ON THIRD READING.

41. No amendment shall be received on third reading except to fill blanks, without the unanimous consent of the Senate. In filling blanks, the largest sum, the longest time and greatest distance shall be first taken.

42. A bill or resolution may be committed at any time, previous to its passage, and if any amendment be reported on such commitment to any other than a committee of the whole, it shall be again read the second time, considered in committee of the whole, and the question for third reading and passage again put.

ENGROSSING AND TRANSMITTING BILLS, ETC., TO THE HOUSE.

43. Every bill, memorial, order or resolution originating in the Senate shall be carefully engrossed in typewriting before being transmitted to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

44. Immediately after the passage of any bill or other paper to which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is to be asked it shall be the duty of the secretary to transmit the same to the House, unless some member of the Senate shall make a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate passed the said bill or other paper; in which case the secretary shall not transmit said bill or other paper until a motion to reconsider has been put; and on the concurrence of any bill or other paper of the House of Representatives by the Senate, or on the concurrence or disagreement in any vote of the House, it shall also be the duty of the Senate to notify the House thereof.

MEMORIALS TO CONGRESS.

45. Memorials to Congress, to the president of the United States or the heads of either of the departments shall be considered in committee of the whole before being adopted.

ANY SENATOR MAY DEMAND AYES OR NOES.

46. It shall be competent for any member, when a question is being taken, to call for the ayes or noes, which shall be entered on the journal. A call for the ayes or noes cannot be interrupted in any manner whatever.

COMMITTEE NOT TO BE ABSENT.

47. Committees shall not absent themselves from the Senate, by reason of their appointment, without special permission for that purpose be first obtained.

ENROLLMENT.

48. All bills shall be enrolled in typewriting and it shall be in order for the Committee on Enrollment to report at any time.

DUTIES OF SECRETARY.

49. The secretary shall keep a correct journal of the proceedings of the Senate, and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned to him as such secretary. He shall permit no journals, records, accounts or papers to be taken from the table or out of his custody, other than in the regular mode of business. If any paper in his charge shall be missing, he shall report the fact to the president, that inquiry may be made. He shall superintend the recording in the journal of proceedings, the engrossing, transcribing and copying of the bills and resolutions, and generally perform the duties of secretary, under the direction of the president. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep the books to be called "Minute Books," in which he shall enter, under the appropriate marginal numbers, all Senate and House bills, and correct notes, with the dates thereof, of the state, condition and progress of each bill pending, until its final passage.

CERTIFICATE FOR MONEY.

50. No certificate authorizing the payment of any money appropriated by the legislature shall be issued by the secretary, by virtue of any motion or resolution, unless such motion or resolution shall be sanctioned by a majority of all the members elected to the Senate. And all motions or resolutions authorizing the issuing of certificates by the secretary for the payment of money shall be upon a call of the yeas and nays.

JOURNAL OF EXECUTIVE SESSION.

51. The proceedings of the Senate on executive business shall be kept in a separate book of record to be provided by the secretary of the Senate, and published with the proceedings of the Senate, unless the public good requires secrecy, which shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

JEFFERSON'S MANUAL.

52. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the Senate in all cases in which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with these rules and orders of the Senate, and the joint rules and orders of the Senate and House of Representatives.

HOURS OF MEETING.

53. The standing hour of the daily meeting of the Senate shall be 10 o'clock in the morning, unless the Senate direct otherwise.

ABSENCE OF SENATORS.

54. No senator or officer of the Senate, unless from illness or other cause he shall be unable to attend, shall absent himself from the session of the Senate during the entire day, without having first obtained leave of absence.

PERSONS PRIVILEGED TO THE FLOOR OF THE SENATE.

55. No person shall be admitted within the Senate chamber but the executive or ex-governors of the State of Minnesota, members of the House, heads of departments of the state government, judges of the Supreme and District courts, and members of Congress, and when personally introduced by members of the Senate, those who have been members of Congress or of the State Legislature, who are not interested in any claim or directly in any bill pending before the Legislature, or other visitors.

No lobbyist shall be permitted on the floor of the Senate or in the retiring room or corridors during the session of the Senate. The sergeant-at-arms is charged with the duty of strict enforcement of this rule.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES.

56. No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor, nor shall any rule be rescinded, changed or suspended, except by a vote equal to two-thirds of the full Senate.

NOTICE TO DEBATE.

57. Upon any member giving notice of his intention to debate any resolution, the same shall lie over one day without debate or other action.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

58. When in executive session, the Senate may, in all cases, sit with closed doors, and the Senate chamber may be cleared of all persons except the officers and members of the Senate.

NO SMOKING.

59. No senator or officer of the Senate or other person shall be permitted to smoke in the Senate chamber.

SECRETARY MAY CORRECT ERRORS.

60. The secretary and engrossing clerk, in all proper cases, shall correct all mistakes in numbering the sections and references thereto, whether such errors occur in the original bill or are caused by amendments thereto.

DUTIES OF THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

61. It shall be the duty of the sergeant-at-arms to execute all orders of the president or Senate, and to perform all duties they may assign to him connected with the police and good order of the Senate chamber; to exercise a supervision over the ingress and egress of all persons to and from the chamber; to see that messages, etc., are promptly executed; that the hall is properly ventilated and the temperature thereof properly regulated, and open for the use of the members of the Senate at the time fixed; and to perform all other services pertaining to his office.

SENATE RULES.

REPORT OF ENROLLED BILLS.

62. No committee nor any member thereof shall report any substitute for any bill or bills referred to such committee, which substitute relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose than that of the original bill for which it is reported, or which, if adopted and passed, would require a title essentially different from the title of the original bill; and every substitute bill so reported shall be rejected whenever the Senate is advised that the same is in violation of this rule.

GENERAL ORDERS OF THE DAY.

63. The secretary shall make a list of all bills, resolutions, reports of committees, and other proceedings of the Senate which are referred to the committee of the whole, and which are not made the order of the day, for any particular day, and to number the same; which lists shall be called the "General Orders of the Day;" and they shall be taken up in the order in which they are numbered unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the committee.

Such general orders, together with all bills included therein required to be printed under the rules or orders of the Senate, shall be printed and placed upon the members' desks at least one day before the same shall be considered in committee of the whole.

64. That it shall be the duty of the secretary to make a list of all bills, resolutions and other matters coming before the Senate for final action and place the same upon the calendar in the order in which they may have been acted upon in committee of the whole, and such calendar shall be printed and placed upon the members' desks at least one day before the matters included therein shall be considered.

DUTIES OF LEGISLATIVE EXPENSE COMMITTEE.

65. All propositions for the appointment of employes of the Senate or for expenditures on account of the legislature, other than those provided by law, shall be referred to the committee on rules, without debate, and no appointment shall be made or expense incurred unless reported upon favorably by said committee, or unless its report be overruled by three-fourths ( $\frac{3}{4}$ ) vote of the whole Senate. Said committee shall report to the Senate the amount of compensation that shall be paid to each employe whose appointment is recommended by it. All propositions for extra compensation or gratuity shall be referred to said committee, and no extra compensation or gratuity shall be paid to any officer, employe or other person unless reported upon favorably by said committee, or unless its report be reversed by a three-fourths ( $\frac{3}{4}$ ) vote of the whole Senate.

SPECIAL ORDER.

66. When a time has been designated by the Senate, whether by the adoption of a report of a committee or otherwise, for a particular or special order, the Senate shall at such time proceed to the consideration of such order, and shall at such time, so designated, after considering the bill, resolution or measure included therein, unless the same shall be then otherwise disposed of, or the special order postponed to a day certain, immediately proceed to the third reading and final passage of the same, and during the consideration of such special order, Rule No, sixteen (16) shall be suspended and the debate thereon and all proceedings thereunder, including amendments and substitutions, shall be, as nearly as applicable, that of the committee of the whole, except that it shall be competent for any member, when a question is being taken, to call for the yeas and nays, which shall be entered on the journal.

JOURNAL-HOW APPROVED.

67. The journal of each day's proceedings shall be open for correction at any time during the session of the succeeding day, and, unless corrected on that day, shall stand approved.

PRESIDENT'S AUTHORITY OVER EMPLOYES.

68. The president of the Senate shall have full and exclusive authority over. and charge of, all the employes, officers and clerks of the Senate, both elective and appointive. He shall have the sole and exclusive power and authority to assign them to such duties other than for which they were elected or appointed, as he shall see fit. He shall have power to appoint such of said employes, officers or clerks as he shall deem proper to exercise the powers to him granted by this rule. He may make such rules and regulations for the government of the employes. officers and clerks as he shall see fit and proper. In case of violation of any of the orders of the president of the Senate by any employe, officer or clerk, or in case of any violation of any such rule or regulation made by him by any such employe. officer or clerk, or in case of any misconduct or omission of any such employe, officers or clerk, the president shall refer such complaint to the committee on rules, which shall have the final power to hear such complaint and to discharge any such employe, officer or clerk, or to impose such other punishment by way of fine or otherwise upon such employe, officer or clerk, as to the said committee may seem just and proper.

PERMANENT RULES OF THE HOUSE, 1911.

MEETING, ROLL CALL, ETC.

1. The speaker shall take the chair at the time at which the House stands adjourned, and the House shall then be called to order and after prayer by the Chaplain the roll of members called, and the names of all members present and those excused shall be entered upon the journal of the House.

READING OF THE JOURNAL.

2. Upon the appearance of a quorum, the journal of the preceding day shall be read by the clerk, unless otherwise ordered, and any mistakes therein may be corrected by the House.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

3. On the meeting of the House, after reading the journal of the preceding day, the order of business of the day shall be as follows:

- 1. Presentation of petitions or other communications.
- 2. Reports of standing committees.
- 3. Second reading of House bills.
- 4. Reports of select committees.
- 5. Introduction of bills.
- 6. Motions and resolutions.
- 7. Consideration of messages from the Senate,
- 8. First reading of Senate bills.
- 9. Second reading of Senate bills.
- 10. Third reading of House bills.
- 11. Third reading of Senate bills.
- 12. General orders.

DUTIES OF SPEAKER.

4. (a) The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum and in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries, or in the lobby, he or the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole may cause the same to be cleared.

(b) He shall have general control, except as provided by rule or law, of the Hall of the House, and of the corridors and passages and of the rooms assigned to the use of the House, until further ordered.

(c) He shall sign all acts, addresses, joint resolutions, writs, warrants, and subpoenas of, or issued by order of, the House, and decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by any member.

5. The Speaker shall not vote on appeals from his own decisions.

DUTIES OF MEMBERS.

6. When the House adjourns, the members shall keep their seats until the speaker announces the adjournment.

7. Every member, before speaking, shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the speaker; but shall not proceed to speak further until recognized by the chair; and when two or more members rise at once, the speaker shall designate which shall speak first.

ORDER IN DEBATE.

8. No member shall speak more than twice on the same subject without leave of the House, nor more than once until every member wishing to speak on the pending question shall have spoken.

MOTIONS.

9. No motion shall be debated or put unless the same be seconded. It shall be stated by the speaker before debate, and any such motion shall be reduced to writing if the speaker or any member desires it.

10. After a motion shall be stated by the speaker, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before amendment, or decision; but all motions, resolutions or amendments shall be entered in the journal, unless withdrawn the same day.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS.

11. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, for the previous question (which three motions shall be decided without debate), to commit, to postpone to a day certain, to amend, or to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order; but the previous question having been seconded, and the main question ordered, a motion to lay on the table shall not be in order.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

There shall be a motion for the previous question which being ordered by a majority of the members present, if a quorum be present, shall have the effect to cut off all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions upon which it has been asked and ordered. The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions allowable under the rules or an amendment or amendments, or may be made to embrace all authorized motions or amendments and include the bill to its passage or rejection.

(b) A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is ordered unless it shall appear that a quorum is not present.

(c) When the previous question is decided in the negative it shall leave the main question under debate for the residue of the sitting, unless sooner disposed of by taking a vote on the question, or in some other manner.

INCIDENTAL QUESTIONS OF ORDER.

13. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, during the pending of such motion or after the House shall have determined that the main question shall now be put, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

PETITIONS, ETC.-HOW PRESENTED.

14. Petitions, memorials and other papers presented to the House shall be presented by the speaker or by a member in his place, and a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally and indorsed thereon, together with the name of the member introducing the same.

EVERY MEMBER TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED.

15. Every member who shall be present before the vote is declared from the chair, and no other, shall vote for or against the same, unless the House shall excuse him, or unless he is immediately interested in the question, in which case he shall not vote.

ORDER DURING SESSIONS.

16. When the speaker is putting the question, no member shall walk out or across the House; nor when a member is speaking shall any member entertain any private discourse, or pass between him and the chair.

DIVISION OF A QUESTION.

17. If the question in debate contains several points, any member may have the same divided. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

QUESTIONS OF ORDER.

18. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case he shall immediately sit down, unless permitted on motion of another member, to explain, and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case without debate; if the decision is in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise, and, if the case require it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the House may deem proper.

BILLS-HOW INTRODUCED.

19. (a) Every bill shall be handed to the Speaker one day before said bill is introduced, except on the last day for introduction of bills.

(b) Bills, memorials and joint resolutions shall be typewritten and may be introduced by an order of the House, on the report of a committee, or by any member in his place, unless objected to by the House.

(c) Every bill, amendment and resolution shall be introduced in triplicate and shall have prefixed thereto the name of the person introducing it.

(d) Every bill, amendment and resolution, when reported, from a committee shall have the name of said committee and the name of the party introducing the bill endorsed thereon.

(e) All bills introduced in the House shall be so framed that when any section or subdivision or chapter of any existing law is to be amended, or when any section or subdivision or chapter of any existing law is to be repealed, or when any section or subdivision or chapter of any repealed law is to be revised, the said section of subdivision or chapter shall in each case be given in full as it is designed to read when enacted, and all new matter contained in any bill which proposes to amend any section or subdivision or chapter of any existing law by inserting or adding such new matter, shall be underscored, and when the bill is printed shall be italicized.

(f) The title of every bill shall indicate the subject thereof, not merely by reference to the page number or section of existing law sought to be repealed or amended, but by such descriptive words as will indicate what subject the bill refers to.

(g) No bill not framed as herein provided shall be received or read by the chief clerk unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

FIRST READING AND REFERENCE OF BILLS.

20. All bills, memorials and joint resolutions shall be read at length, upon their introduction, unless objected to.

If objection is made, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no objection is made, or the question to reject is lost, the bill shall go to its appropriate standing committee, except when introduced by such committee. In such case it shall be read a second time and referred to the committee of the whole.

Every bill introduced, except when introduced by a committee as above provided, containing an amendment to an existing law of this state, shall first be referred to the appropriate committee of the House appointed with reference to the subject matter contained in the law proposed to be amended.

All bills, whether emanating from the House or the Senate, carrying an appropriation, shall be referred to the committee on appropriations for action by that committee before the second reading of the bill. Every bill, other than for appropriations, claims or reapportionment, referred to a standing committee, shall be reported therefrom within twenty days after its receipt by the committee. Any such bill not so reported within such period, unless such period is extended by a vote of the House, shall, five days after any member gives notice in the House that he requires such bill to be reported to the House, unless sooner duly reported, be delivered to the speaker with or without a report of the committee and lie on the table of the House.

The House may, by a majority vote thereof, at any time recall any bill from any committee, or require any committee to report any bill at any time it may direct.

SECOND READING OF BILLS.

21. All bills, concurrence, reports, memorials, orders, resolutions and votes requiring the approval of the governor shall, after a second reading, be considered in a committee of the whole, before they shall be finally acted upon by the House. Unless otherwise ordered bills and joint memorials to Congress only, shall require a second and third reading.

22. The final question, after consideration in the committee of the whole, of a bill or other paper originating in the House, shall be, "Shall it be engrossed and read a third time?" And upon every such bill or paper originating in the Senate, "Shall it be read a third time?"

23. No amendments shall be received on the third reading, except to fill blanks, without unanimous consent of the House, and all bills and resolutions may be committed at any time previous to their passage, and if any amendment be reported on such commitment by any other than a committee of the whole, it shall be again read a second time, considered in a committee of the whole, and the question for third reading and passage then put.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

24. All bills, memorials and joint resolutions on their third reading shall be read at length.

SUSPENSION OF RULES TO HASTEN A BILL.

25. Every bill shall be read on three different days, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House deem it expedient to dispense with this rule, and no bill shall be passed until it shall have been read twice at length.

PROCEEDINGS ON PASSAGE OF BILLS.

26. No resolution that involves the expenditure of money, or joint resolution, shall be declared passed until voted for by a majority of all the members elected to the House, to be determined by a roll call. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating therewith any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

27. In forming a committee of the whole House the speaker shall appoint a chairman to preside.

28. Bills committed to a committee of the whole House shall, in the committee of the whole thereon, be first read through, unless the committee shall otherwise order, and then read and debated by sections, leaving the title to be last considered. All amendments shall be in writing in duplicate and reported to the House by the chairman.

ORDER OF PUTTING QUESTIONS.

29. All questions, whether in committee or in the House, shall be put in the order in which they are moved, except in the case of privileged questions, and in filling up blanks the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

SENATE BILLS-HOW PROCEEDED WITH.

30. A similar mode of proceeding shall be observed with bills which have originated in and passed the Senate, as with bills originating in the House.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION.

31. When a question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for the reconsideration thereof; but no action for the reconsidering of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of possession of the House announcing their decision; nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless made on the same day on which the vote was taken or within the next two days of actual session of the House thereafter; and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions except the motion to adjourn; provided that when notice of the intention to move such reconsideration shall be given b; such member, the clerk of the House shall retain the said bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion until after the expiration of the time during which such motion can be made, unless the same is previously disposed of. A motion for reconsideration being put and lost shall not be renewed.

RULES OF THE HOUSE TO APPLY TO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

32. The rules of the House shall be observed in committee of the whole House so far as may be applicable, except that the yeas and mays shall not be called, the previous question forced, and speaking limited.

33. A motion that the committee rise shall always be in order and shall be decided without debate.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

33. Special committees, to whom reference shall be made, shall in all cases report a state of facts, and their opinion thereon, to the House.

NAME OF MEMBER OFFERING BILLS, ETC., TO GO ON JOURNAL.

39. In all cases where a bill, order, resolution or motion shall be entered on the Journal of the House, the name of the member moving the same shall be entered on the Journal.

WHO MAY BE ADMITTED ON THE FLOOR.

40. No person shall be admitted within the halls of the House but the executive or ex-governors of the State of Minnesota, members of the Senate, the heads of departments of the state government, judges of the supreme and district courts, and members of Congress, and, when personally introduced by members of the House, those who have been members of Congress or of the state Legislature, who are not interested in any claim or directly in any bill pending before the Legislature.

And it shall not be in order for the speaker to entertain a request for the suspension of this rule or to present from the chair the request of any member for unanimous consent.

GENERAL ORDER OF THE DAY.

41. The speaker shall cause the chief clerk to make out a list of all bills, resolutions and reports of committees of the whole House, and which are not made the order of the day for any particular day, and to number the same, which list shall be called the "general orders of the day," and they shall be taken up in the order in which they are numbered, unless otherwise ordered by the majority of the committee. When a time has been designated by the House for a particular or special order the House shall at such time proceed to the consideration of such order, and the House at the time set, after considering such measure, shall immediately proceed to the third reading and final passage of the measure. Such general orders, together with all bills included therein required to be printed under the rules or orders of the House, shall be printed and placed upon the members' desks at least two days before the same shall be considered in committee of the whole.

Each member of this House shall leave on his desk or under his desk, each time the House adjourns for the day, his file binder for bills, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of this House to have placed in each binder one copy of each bill required to be printed under the rules or orders of this House at least fortyeight, hours before the same shall be considered in committee of the whole, and under the first order of business each day said clerk shall report to the House what bills he has placed in the binders, and each member shall then forthwith examine his binder and verify and correct, if necessary, the report of the clerk.

If progress is reported on a bill by the committee for three successive days, such bill shall go to the foot of general orders, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE.

42. A committee of conference may report at any time.

No committee except the Committee on Rules shall sit during the sitting of the House without special leave.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

At the close of the session such reports shall be filed with the Secretary of State for public use. Such record shall not be entered in the House Journal except upon a majority vote of the House. the House.

ROSEAU DRAINAGE PROJECT.

BY GEORGE A. RALPH, STATE ENGINEER.

In the spring of 1900 the State Drainage Commission consisting of Governor S. R. Van Sant, State Auditor S. G. Iverson, and Secretary of State Peter E. Hanson, were petitioned to construct a ditch in the Roseau valley. The petition was a long one signed by a large number of residents of the valley and set forth the fact that large areas of land in the Roseau valley lying to the north of the village of Badger, were annually overflowed by the waters from Badger and Skunk creeks That these creeks after crossing the sand ridge which runs east and west nearly across Roseau county, lose their channels on the level surface to the north of this ridge and their waters were scattered over the level prairie land.

The petition requested that a ditch be constructed taking up the waters of these lost streams and carrying the same northwestward to a proper outlet into Roseau river.

The State Drainage Commission granted the prayer of the petitioners and ordered a survey of a ditch which was afterwards known as the Badger and Skunk Creek State Ditch, or State Ditch No. 20.

The survey of this ditch disclosed the true condition of the Roseau valley and the fact that the Roseau river in threading its way down the valley from Roseau lake to the Canadian boundary line crossed a great level tract of meadow land extending almost the entire distance from Roseau lake at the east boundary of Range 40 to where the river crosses the Canadian boundary near the west boundary of Range 45, a distance of 36 miles. That through this level tract of land the banks of the river were generally low, ranging from three to five feet above ordinary low water mark, and that owing to the winding course of the river channel the stream had a very sluggish current and that in seasons of high water this river overflowed its banks and thousands of acres of the richest land in Roseau county were inundated, that it would be impracticable to construct drainage ditches in the Roseau valley having their outiet in the Roseau river until the channel of the river was greatly improved.

The construction of the Badger and Skunk Creek Ditch was ordered with a full knowledge of these conditions for the reason that the upper portion of said ditch would have sufficient fall before reaching the overflowed lands to accomplish the desired object, and that the lower end of the ditch could be made efficient when a proper outlet should be afforded later on.

Early in the year of 1905 a contract was let to the Standard Drainage Company of Windom, Minnesota, for the improvement of the Roseau cliannel, Generated for Adrienne M Irmiter (University of Minnesota) on 2013-02-18 17:14 GMT / http://hdl.handle.net/2027/mdp.39015054508406 Public Domain, Google-digitized / http://www.hathitrust.org/access_use#pd-google beginning at Roscau lake and extending down stream a distance of eight miles, the amount of the contract being $14,107.96 and called for the excavation of 104,403.5 cubic yards at 13.5 cts. per cubic yard.

This work consisted principally of cutting a channel through Roseau lake and deepening the channel of Roseau river, removing sand bars and other obstructions from the river bed. The work was completed in the fall of 1906 and resulted in largely increasing the carrying capacity of this portion of the stream.

In the spring of 1907 a contract was let to Jerry Sherwood of Litchfield, Minnesota, for the improvement of the remaining portion of the Roseau river from the terminus of the Standard Drainage Company's contract down to the Canadian boundary line. This contract involved the expenditure of $52,328 and required the removal of 500,748 cubic yards. The work consisted of dredging out the channel of the river and in making cut-offs of several of the larger bends. These cut-offs, nine in number, range in length from a few hundred feet to five miles and shorten the river about twelve miles, giving it a much greater velocity than the natural channel, the carrying capacity of the channel being fully doubled.

This contract was completed in the fall of 1909. The results have proven very satisfactory. The river channel from Roseau lake to the Canadian boundary line where the Roseau river crosses, in an air line is a distance of 35 miles. Following the channel as now improved the distance is only 36½ miles, so the channel is nearly as straight as it is possible to make it, taking into consideration the deviations of the general course. The river has a uniform fall of about one foot to the mile which gives it a velocity in high water of from four to five feet per second.

It is believed that this improvement will forever prevent the overflow of the Roseau valley and render suitable for agriculture nearly 200,000 acres of the richest land in the State of Minnesota, 80,000 acres of which belongs to the state.

Two large drainage projects, which will entirely reclaim a large area lying to the south of the river, are now under way. These projects consist of open ditches constructed along the section lines. The earth excavated from the ditch being used to construct a graded road. The total length of the ditches in the two projects will be nearly 150 miles which also means 150 miles of graded roads.

The lands in this locality which prior to the improvement of this river and the construction of the ditches now under way had no market value, will, it is believed, sell readily upon the completion of this work at prices ranging from $10 to $15 per acre.

The cost of the entire drainage work, including the complete system of lateral ditches, will amount to about $2 per acre for the lands benefited. The soil in the Roseau valley is very productive and there can be but little doubt but that every acre of this land will be occupied just as soon as the ditches are completed and the lands offered for sale.

MINNESOTA.

The greater part, or about two-thirds, of the territory embraced within the boundaries of Minnesota was included in the Louisiana Purchase, ceded to the United States by France in 1803. The remainder of this state, comprising its northeastern third part, lying east of the Mississippi river, was included in the country surrendered from Great Britain by the treaty of 1783, at the end of the Revolutionary War. In 1805 a grant of land nine miles square, at the confluence of the Mississippi and St. Peter (now Minnesota) rivers, was obtained from the Sioux Indians. A military post was established on the grant in 1819, and in 1820 arrangements were made for the erection of a fort, which was completed in 1822 and named Fort Snelling, after the commanding officer, and the grant has ever since been known as the Fort Snelling Reservation. In 1823 the first steamboat ascended the Mississippi 'as far as Fort Snelling; and annually thereafter one or two trips of steamboats were made to this isolated post for a number of years.

This territory was held by the Chippewa or Ojibway and the Dakota or Sioux Indians, but adventurous pioneers had penetrated into the country along the streams tributary to the Mississippi river, and in 1836 Wisconsin Territory was organized, comprising all the territory west of Lake Michigan, and including within its limits all the country west of the Great Lakes and north of Illinois, the west boundary of the Territory being the Mississippi river.

In 1837 two important treaties were made with the native tribes of Indians. The first one was made by Gov. Henry Dodge of Wisconsin, with the Ojibways, at Fort Snelling, on the twenty-ninth of July of that year. whereby they ceded to the United States all their pine or agricultural lands on the St. Croix river and its tributaries.

On the twenty-ninth of September of the same year, at the city of Washington, a treaty with the Sioux was made by Joel R. Poinsett, a special commissioner representing the United States, and about twenty chiefs, accompanied by Major Taliaferro, their agent, and Scott Campbell, an interpreter. Through the influence and by the direction of Governor Dodge, this delegation of chiefs had proceeded to Washington for the purpose of making this treaty, by which the Dakotas, or Sioux, ceded to the United States all their lands east of the Mississippi river and all its islands. The Indians were to receive as consideration for the same $110,000 in cash, to be divided among the mixed bloods, $90,000 in payment of debts owing by the tribes, and $300,000 to be invested in five per cent stocks, the interest of which should be paid to them annually.

In 1848 Wisconsin adopted a state constitution, but ignored the enabling act, and made the northern part of the western boundary of the state along the line of the St. Louis and Rum rivers, which was not accepted by the United States government, and the boundary line from the Mississippi river to Lake Superior became fixed, as in the enabling act, on the line of the St. Croix river and in a direct line to the mouth of the St. Louis river.

After the acceptance of the Wisconsin constitution, in May, 1848, the territory north and west of the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers being practically without a government, the Hon. John Catlin, claiming to be still secretary and acting governor of Wisconsin Territory, issued a proclamation for a special election, to elect a delegate to Congress. The election was held October 30th, and Hon. H. H. Sibley was chosen delegate, and after some delay was admitted as such into the Congress of the United States.

On March 3, 1849, Congress passed an act to establish the territorial government of Minnesota. It fixed the seat of government at St. Paul, and established the southern boundary of the territory along the north and west boundary lines of the State of Iowa, from the Mississippi river to the Missouri river, the western boundary through the middle of the channel of the Missouri river to the mouth of the White Earth river, and up the middle of the channel of the White Earth river to the boundary line between the United States and Great Britain, the northern boundary running thence easterly and southeasterly on the international boundary line to Lake Superior, and the eastern boundary running thence in a straight line to the northermost point of the State of Wisconsin, and following the north and west boundary of said state down the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers to the place of beginning. At this time the population of the Territory was mainly in the section east of the Mississippi river, and the settlers almost entirely engaged in lumbering. The territorial government was declared fully organized, June 1, 1849, by Hon. Alexander Ramsey, who had been appointed first territorial governor. The year 1848 was noted as the year of excitement from the discovery of gold in California, and the eyes of many thousands of people throughout the east were turned westward, where opportunities were opening for the growth of new states. Although at the organization of the Territory there were scarcely a thousand people, within a year the census of 1850 gave to the Territory a population of 6.077. Of this number, however, 1,134 residents were credited to the northernmost part of the Territory on the Red River of the North, many of these being halfbreeds, and the early ploneers engaged in the fur trade, brought there through the influence of the Hudson Bay Company.

The first territorial election was held on the first day of August, 1849.

The first session of the territorial legislature commenced in St. Paul, Sept. 3, 1849, during which counties were established and a code of laws enacted. The second session was commenced in January, 1851, at which time the capitol was located at St. Paul, the university at St. Anthony, and the state prison at Stillwater. In 1851 three treaties were made with the Sloux and with the Ojibway bands of Indians, whereby large tracts of lands were relinquished to the United States.

In view of the great extent of country desired, and the importance of the transaction, and the long continued friendship of the Dakota nation, President Fillmore departed from the usual mode of appointing commission ers, and deputed the Hon. Luke Lea, the commissioner of Indian affairs, and Gov. Alexander Ramsey to meet the representatives of the Dakotas, and to conclude with them a treaty for such lands as they might be willing to sell.

On the twenty-seventh of June, 1851, Commissioner Lea arrived in St Paul on the Steamboat Excelsior, and on the twenty-ninth he, in company with Governor Ramsey, landed at Traverse des Sioux, where the great council was to be held and the treaty consummated with the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands of Sioux. Great delay in the proceedings was caused by the non-arrival of certain Sioux chiefs from the upper country, and it was not until the eighteenth of July that the council convened and the preliminaries to the treaty commenced. During this interval of about twenty days they all entertained themselves as best they could with races, dances, suppers, sham fights, and all sorts of fun.

On the eighteenth of July, all the chiefs having arrived, proclamation was made, and being convened in grand council and the pipe of peace having been passed around, the council was opened by an address from Governor Ramsey. On the twenty-third of July the treaty was concluded and signed by the chiefs, by which they ceded to the United States all the lands claimed by these bands east of the Sioux Wood (or Bois des Sioux), and Big Sloux rivers and Lake Traverse to the Mississippi, excepting a reservation one hundred miles long by twenty miles wide, on the upper part of the Minnesota river. By this treaty the Indians were to remove within two years to the reservation; to receive from our government, after removal $275,000, to enable them to settle up their affairs and to become established in their new home; and $30,000 was to be expended in breaking land, erecting mills and establishing a manual labor school. They were also to receive for fifty years from that time, an annuity of $68,000, payable as follows: cash, $40,000; civilization fund, $12,000; goods and provisions, $10,000; education fund, $6,000.

About a week later on the twenty-ninth of July, Governor Ramsey and Commissioner Lea met the chiefs and leading men of the Med-aywakanton and Wah-pay-koo-tay bands of Sioux at a grand council at Mendota, to negotiate another treaty for the sale of other lands, which was concluded on the fifth of August, being signed by sixty-four chiefs, head men and warriors. In the treaty these bands of Indians ceded and relinquished all their lands in the Territory of Minnesota and State of Iowa. and in consideration thereof the United States was to reserve for them a tract of the average width of ten miles on either side of the Minnesota river, and bounded on the west by the Tehay-tam-bay and Yellow Medicine rivers, on the east by the Little Rcck river, and a line running due south from its mouth to the Waraju river; and to pay them the following sums of money: For settling debts and aid in removal, $220,000; for erection of buildings and opening farms, $30,000; civilization fund, to be paid annually, $12,000; educational fund, paid annually, $6,000; goods and provisions, annually, $10,000; cash, $30,000. The annuities were to continue for fifty years from the date of the treaty.

These two treaties of 1851 at Traverse des Sioux and Mendota acquired for white settlement nearly 24,000,000 acres of the finest lands in the world. The cessions were mostly in Minnesota, but included about an eighth part, or nearly 3,000,000 acres, in the State of Iowa, between the line of the old "neutral ground" and the northern and western boundaries of the State. That tract of country, and generally all lands in Iowa, claimed by the Sioux, were therefore embraced in the articles of cession of both treatles.

The Senate of the United States, on the twenty-third of June, 1852, ratified the treaties, with amendments to each, which amendments were subsequently accepted by the Indians, and on the twenty-fourth of February, 1853, President Millard Fillmore issued his proclamation accepting, ratifying, and confirming each of the said treaties as amended. The total lands in the present State of Minnesota relinquished to the government by these treaties exceeded 19,000,000 acres; and they also ceded about 1,750,000 acres in South Dakota, besides the tract described in Iowa.

The third treaty of 1851 was effected by Governor Ramsey with the Red Lake and Pembina bands of Ojibways at Pembina, by which they ceded certain territory, sixty-five miles in width by one hundred and fifty miles in length, intersected by the Red River of the North. This treaty was not ratified by the government.

After the ratification of the treaties with the Sioux, a great wave of immigration set in from all the eastern states, and an era of speculation started which probably has never been excelled in any portion of the west. A census taken in 1857 gave a population of 150,037.

Notwithstanding there was an abundant supply of good land outside of the limits of the land ceded under these treaties, the adventurous spirit of the pioneers led many of them to settle on the extreme limits of the grant, and in immediate proximity to the Indian settlements. In the southwestern portion of the State, particularly, settlements were made close to the boundary line of Iowa and north and west of Spirit Lake. Some were in Iowa and some were in Minnesota, and all were within the jurisdiction of the Indian agent resident in the Territory of Minnesota. Although the Indians were living on the reservation lands west of these settlements, in their hunting expeditions they were accustomed to return to the ceded lands. In a general way the Indians were civil, and committed only petty depredations; but their visits were at times annoying. Among the Indians there was a single band, under the leadership of Ink-pa-du-ta, or the Scarlet Point, of about fifteen lodges, which had been for many years an independent band and of a thieving, vagabondish character (really outlaws from the Sloux nation, and not represented in the treaties of 1851), who had taken possession of a strip of land running on both sides of the boundary lines of Iowa and Minnesota, and extending to the Missouri river. In March, 1857, a few of these Indians were hunting in the neighborhood of Rock river, and one of them was bitten by a dog belonging to a white man. The dog was killed by the Indian, and in return the owner of the dog made an assault upon the Indian, and afterward gathered his neighbors, and they went to the Indian camp and disarmed them. The arms were afterward returned to them, and the party moved northeast, arriving at the Spirit Lake settlement about the sixth of March, where they massacred the men and took four women into captivity. Other settlements were attacked, and altogether forty-two settlers were killed. Two of the women were afterward rescued through the efforts of Hon. Charles E. Flandrau, then the Indian agent. An effort was made to punish this band of savages, but all escaped except the oldest son of Ink-pa-du-ta, who had ventured into the camp of other Sioux, near the agency, and was killed in an attempt to capture him.

In 1855 and 1856 town-site speculation became the absorbing thought: and when the panic of 1857 set in, Minnesota was soon in a deplorable condition. The demand for an extensive rallroad system and a state government had originated in the flush times of 1856 and 1857, and on Feb. 26, 1857, Congress passed an act authorizing a constitutional convention, and granting a large amount of lands in aid of public schools. On March 3, 1857, an act of Congress was approved making a large grant of lands in aid of railroads.

The election of members of the constitutional convention was held June 1, 1857, and the result was an almost equal division representing the Democratic and Republican parties. So close was this division, and there being some contested seats, when the convention assembled, on July 13, two distinct organizations were made, each proceeding to frame a constitution, but finally, by conference committees, they united in one document, which was submitted to a vote of the people on October 13, and was adopted almost unanimously. By this constitution the boundaries of the State were changed on the west, making the Red River of the North the line, up to the Bols des Sloux, and thence extending along that river and through Lake Traverse and Big Stone lake, and by a direct south line to the north boundary of Iowa.

This constitution provided for an election of State officers at the same time of voting upon the adoption of the constitution, resulting, by a close vote, in the election of the Democratic nominees. The first State legislature was convened on the 2d of December, 1857, and continued in session until March 25, 1858, when a recess was taken until after the State should be admitted. Some doubts were raised as to the legality of the acts of the legislature previous to admission by Congress. The act of admission was passed and approved May 11, 1858. The legislature again assembled in June, and finally adjourned Aug. 12, 1858. During this prolonged session the embryo State was without funds, and a loan of $250,000 was authorized; but as the acts of the legislature before admission were somewhat irregular, the loan could not be readily negotiated. To tide over the difficulty State warrants were issued in the form of bank notes, and passed current, with more or less discount, until the summer of 1858, when they were redeemed from the proceeds of the loan consummated after the admission of the State.

The first legislature worked diligently in what they considered the best interest of the State, and as the grant of lands by the United States in aid of railroads within the State had to be turned over to companies, a large part of the session was devoted to railroad legislation. The scheme of further aid to companies who might be willing to undertake the building of railroads was originated, and was commonly denominated the "Five Million Loan Bill," contemplating the loan of the credit of the State, to that amount, in such sums as would be paid upon the grading and final completion of certain miles of road. On a submission of this law to the people it was adopted by a large majority. The opposition at the time of the vote upon this measure was very bitter, and continued after bonds were being issued, and with the dissatisfaction arising from the small amount of work completed and the large amount of bonds issued, threatenings of repudiation advocated by leading men in the State caused a distrust in financial circles and a final collapse of the whole scheme, with the foreclosure of the mortgages taken by the State upon the railroad lands and franchises, and the abandonment of all railroad construction for the time being. The total amount of bonds issued under this provision of the constitution was $2,275,000. By the foreclosure proceedings the State acquired about 250 miles of graded road, the franchises of the companies and the lands, amounting to five million of acres, as indemnity for this issue of bonds. Notwithstanding the State had acquired all the rights, including the improvements of the railroad companies, the feeling against any settlement of the bonds was strong enough to secure an amendment to the constitution in 1860, prohibiting the passage of any law levying a tax or making other provision for the payment of the principal or interest of these bonds without having the same submitted to a vote of the people and adopted.

The two years following the crash of 1857 were replete with financial disaster and a shrinkage of inflated values in town-sites; but the country was filling up with farmers, and the rich soil of the State was giving abundant harvests.

The political contest of 1859 was bitter, and resulted in the Republican party carrying the State, both for State officers and the legislature.

The census of 1860 gave the State a population of 172,023. During this year there was great hope of a largely increased immigration into the country; but the political situation in the Union, starting with the opening of the presidential campaign of that year, soon indicated a disturbing element throughout the country, and distrust and depression were manifest on all sides, which was not allayed by the result of the presidential election. The war period, commencing with the time of the president's proclamation in April, 1861, to the final close of the rebellion in 1865, did not permit any material growth in the State. About twenty-two thousand of her able-bodied citizens voluntcered and were enlisted in the Union army.

The Indian reservation set apart by the treaties of 1851, a tract twenty miles wide on the upper part of the Minnesota river, embracing some of the finest lands in the State, was becoming a barrier to settlements in the upper Minnesota valley. Settlers had taken lands close up to the reservation, and there was considerable complaint that Indians were coming off the reservation and committing petty depredations, and the Indians had more or less complaints to make regarding the extortions practiced by the post traders. The encroachments of the whites were viewed with susplcion by the Indians, and sooner or later, from these causes alone, a conflict would probably have occurred. The War of the Rebellion, calling away so many of the able-bodied men of the State, left the frontier settlements almost defenseless, and doubtless caused the younger portion of the tribes to become more offensive to the settlers and more exacting in their demands.

The lands embraced within the reservation under the treaties of 1851 were in the very heart of Minnesota, and, considering the forests and streams, were the choicest of farming lands. The settlers on the border were anxiously coveting this Garden of Eden. A sentiment was created throughout the State that the Indians should abandon the tribal relations and become civilized. To this end the head men of the Dakota nation were induced, in 1858, to go to Washington, under the charge of Hon. Joseph R. Brown, in whom they had great confidence, for the purpose of negotiating for the whole or a part of this reservation. Treaties were signed ceding the ten-mile strip on the north side of the river, upon the payment of $140,000, and the government provided that every head of a family or single person over the age of twenty-one adopting a civilized life should secure in fee eighty acres of land. From some cause the payments of $140,000 were never made, and there was great dissatisfaction on account of this treaty, among those of the tribes who were adverse to accepting the condition of civilization; and from the fact that there was no money divided among them on account of this relinquishment, a bitter dissension arose between the older chiefs and the younger members, the latter claiming that they had been robbed either by the chiefs or by the government, and they proposed to have the settlement, peaceful or otherwise.

This internal strife was augmented from year to year by the withdrawal of families who were willing to accept the civilization fund, the number in three years succeeding the treaty amounting to one hundred and sixty persons. They were, however, still annuity Indians, and claimed the right to be heard in the councils. The annuity Indians, all told, numbered about six thousand two hundred, and the annual cash payment to each person amounted to about fifteen dollars. The Indians were treated as wards of the United States. Two agencies were established, around which were gathered storekeepers to sell the Indians goods in anticipation of the annuity payments; and, usually, the annual payment was simply a settlement of the claims of the traders, who took the risk of furnishing the goods in advance. That there was injustice practiced upon the Indians is doubtless true; probably not so great as the disaffected Indians imagined. There was enough, however, to make the time of the annual payment an anxious period, for fear of an outbreak. The failure of the government in its attempt to punish the Spirit Lake murderers had a tendency to create a feeling among the leaders of the rebellious spirit that if they could only unite the whole body of Sioux in an uprising they could make a successful attack upon the settlers, and perhaps regain the lands formerly held by the Indians. The War of the Rebellion, starting in 1861, gave renewed energy to the discontent. The Indians were well aware of the reverses of the Union forces during the first year of the war. The calls for troops were taking the able-bodied men from the farms, and many of the half-breeds had volunteered for the army. All these conditions had a disquieting effect, and, added to this, in 1862 the June payment was not made; and as there was no satisfactory answer for the delay, the traders took advantage of the necessities of the Indians and insinuated that perhaps the government would go to pieces, and there would be no further payments. The missionaries endeavored to counteract these evil influences, and, with the aid of the civilized Indians, succeeded in averting deliberate outbreak. The delay in payment of annulties, however, tended to keep up the discontent, particularly among the younger braves, who were the hunters. Their vagabond life brought them into the settlements, and in contact with the whites; and their worthless, lazy habits made them offensive to the families, as beggars of meals or money, or anything that took their fancy.

These are, in brief, the circumstances which led up to the great massacre of 1862, which for a short time threatened the lives of all the settlers on the western boundary of the State. There was no concerted action for the massacre, and to some extent there is an uncertainty as to why the first murders were committed. Four young men or boys are believed to have commenced the massacre, in a spirit of bravado, making a threatening attack first upon a family, driving them from their home, and afterward following them to a neighbor's house, where, after an altercation with the families, they killed three men and two women. These occurrences took place on the seventeenth of August, in the township of Acton, twelve miles west of Litchfield. Realizing that if they remained in the vicinity punishment would soon overtake their murderous acts, they lost no time in going back to camp, relating what they had done, and asking protection. A hasty consultation was had between two of the chiefs; they realized that the murderers must be given up, or the annuities would be stopped, and a war of extermination would be inaugurated. They chose to stand by the murderers, and immediately following there was a general uprising of the entire Sloux bands. So swift were their movements, before any effective resistance could be brought against them, that about eight hundred of the settlers. men, women and children were murdered within a few days. The prompt action of the State authorities, aided by the national government, resulted in the capture of about 2,000 of the belligerent Indians and the withdrawal of the remainder beyond the boundaries of the State, into the wilds of Dakota. Of the captured Indians 303 were found guilty of murder and rape, and were condemned to death by a military court martial. Of this number 265 were reprieved by President Lincoln, and the remainder, thirty-eight of the most prominent engaged in the massacre, were hung in Mankato on the 26th of December, 1862. The next year the general government authorized an expedition against the Indians who had escaped to the Dakota plains, because of their constant raids in small squads on the frontlers of the State for the purpose of horse-stealing and marauding upon adventurous settlers who might risk going back to their abandoned farms. After two decisive encounters, the Indians retreated beyond the Missouri river, and in 1864 another expedition was sent forward and a final settlement of the Sioux outbreak was accomplished, by a confiscation and surrender of the ponies and arms of most of the bands hostile to the government.

The several tribes of Sioux Indians were engaged in this massacre, and were the representatives of the tribes that had made the cession of lands in 1851, under the first and second treaties of that year. Under these treaties the government had set aside trust funds of $2,520,000, from which there was paid annually the sum of $126,000. Settlers who had lost property urged their claims for indemnity, and Congress promptly established a commission to receive all claims and investigate the facts. The commission was duly organized and established headquarters in the city of St. Paul, and carefully examined all the claims presented. The total number filed was 2,940, with damages amounting to $2,458,795.16. The commission allowed 2,635 claims, and cut down the damages to $1,370,374. By act of Congress these claims were paid, and the annuities and all further payments to the tribes were stopped. The State was also reimbursed for extraordinary expenses incurred during the period of insurrection.

On the second of October, 1863, a treaty was concluded at the old crossing of Red Lake river, about twelve miles east of the present city of Crookston, by Alexander Ramsey and Ashley C. Morrill, and the chiefs and head men of the Red Lake and Pembina bands of Ojibway Indians, for the cession of a large tract of country, being the same land embraced in one of the treaties of 1851, but not ratified at that time, of which the boundaries are as follows: Commencing at the intersection of the national boundary with the Lake of the Woods; thence in a southwest direction to the head of Thief river; thence following that stream to its mouth; thence southeasterly in a direct line toward the head of Wild Rice river; and thence following the boundary of the Pillager cession of 1855 to the mouth of said river; thence up the channel of the Red river to the mouth of the Sheyenne; thence up said river to Stump lake, near the eastern extremity of Devil's lake; thence north to the international boundary; and thence east on said boundary to the place of beginning. It embraced all of the Red River valley in Minnesota and Dakota, except a small portion previously ceded, and was estimated to contain 11,000,000 acres. This treaty was ratified by the Senate, with amendments, March 1, 1864. The Indians, on the 12th of April, 1864, assented to the amendments, and President Lincoln, by his proclamation of the 5th of May, 1864, confirmed the treaty.

HISTORY, DESCRIPTION AND RESOURCES.

The close of the Civil War in the spring of 1865, and the return of the soldiers, and the assurance of no further depredations from the Sioux Indians, started a new era of prosperity and rapid growth. The legislature, in the meantime, had granted charters on the foreclosed roadbeds and lands to new railroad companies, and the construction of roads was furnishing abundant labor to all who were coming to the State. The population at this time was 250,099, and in 1870 the population had increased to 439,706, nearly doubling in five years. The railroad companies had within the same period constructed nearly 1,000 miles of railroad, and continued their building with even greater vigor until the financial crisis of 1873 brought all public enterprises again to a stand, and produced stagnation in all the growing towns. The farmers had been active in developing the country, and were adding largely to the productions of the state when the grasshopper raids, for the time being, destroyed the growing crops, and caused great financial distress for two or three years.

The census of 1875 gave the State a population of 597,407, still showing a fair increase, but small in comparison with the five years following the close of the rebellion. By 1878 the State had fairly recovered from the financial crash of 1873, but speculation has at no time since 1878 been so reckless as during the two periods ending in 1857 and 1873.

Along with the prosperity of the State, caused so largely by the rapid railroad building, the State pride began to assert itself with more force, and the prominent citizens continued to urge an adjustment of the dishonored railroad bonds. In 1877, a proposition setting aside the proceeds of 500,000 acres for internal improvement lands in settlement was by act of the legislature submitted to a vote at a special election called for the 12th of June, and was voted down by the decisive vote of 59,176 against, to 17,324 votes for, the proposition. This vote was largely owing to the fact that the State at that time had almost an entire new population that had come into the State long after the bonds were issued and had no definite knowledge of the history of the original indebtedness.

In 1881, the legislature enacted a law providing for the adjustment of these bonds, and designating the judges of the supreme court as a commission to make the settlement. The constitutionality of this law was questioned, a writ of injunction was served, and the final determination of the supreme bench was that the law was unconstitutional, as also the amendment of 1860, prohibiting any settlement without a vote of the people. This latter act had previously been determined unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. An extra session of the legislature was called in October of the same year, when the final adjustment was authorized by act of the legislature, on a basis of fifty per cent of the amount nominally due, and, after a careful examination of all the claims presented, the bond question was forever set at rest by the issue of adjustment bonds, to the amount of $4,282,000, to parties entitled to receive them. For the payment of these bonds the proposition of setting aside the proceeds of the 500,000 acres of internal improvement lands was again submitted at the general election in 1881, and by a vote of 82,435 votes in favor, and 24,526 votes against, the action of the legislature was ratified and the stigma of repudiation removed, which had been fastened upon the State by the popular vote of 1877.

In 1880, the national census gave us a population of 780,773, and the state census of 1885 swelled these figures to 1,117,798, indicating the extraordinary growth of forty-three per cent; but an examination of the figures shows us that the growth was mainly confined to the citles, being nearly eighty per cent of increase, while in the farming community and small towns the percentage of increase was only twenty per cent.

During the ten years between 1880 and 1890 there was a period of great activity in railroad building, and 2,310 miles of road were put in operation. This alone gave great energy to the business of the State, and caused a large increase in the population of the cities, and gradually culminated in a most extravagant real estate boom, and an era of the wildest speculation. In the country the growth was normal over the entire State, although large numbers of farmers in the southern half of the State were attracted to the plains of Dakota, where great activity was being developed by the pushing of railroads into different sections of the territory.

The settlement of the Dakotas and the consequent breaking up of the virgin land, after the year 1885, almost doubled the wheat yield of the northwestern states, so that the farmers of Minnesota were soon confronted with the question whether wheat should continue to be their leading staple. In the southern part of the State the wheat return was not enough per acre to yield any profit to the farmer at the reduced prices; and gradually methcds have changed, so that the leading agricultural industries now include dairying, stock raising, and a general diversified farming. It seems probable that Minnesota will hold her place as the greatest wheat-producing state. and will also earn a greater reputation as the best all-round farming state in the Union.

The national census of 1890 gave us a population of 1,301,826, an increase of 184,028 in five years, of which amount about 70,000 increase went to the cities and 114,000 to the country districts, showing eighteen per cent increase in the cities and fifteen per cent increase in the country. Thé state census of 1895 showed an increase of 272,793, or 21.95 per cent, in the preceding five years, giving a total population of 1,574,619.

Minnesota was the first state of the Union to respond to the call of the president for volunteers at the beginning of the war with Spain, in April, 1898. Three regiments, designated as the Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Regiments of Minnesota Volunteers, were mobilized at St. Paul, April 29th, and were mustered into the United States service May 7th and 8th. The Fifteenth Regiment was mustered into service, July 18th. In total this State furnished 5,315 officers and enlisted men for the volunteer army. At the close of the war the Twelfth and Fourteenth Regiments returned to Minnesota, and were mustered out of service in November. The Fifteenth Regiment continued in service until March 27, 1899; and the Thirteenth Regiment, after more than a year of service in the Philippine Islands, was mustered out October 3, 1899.

According to the last national census, the population of Minnesota, June 1, 1900, was 1,751,394, showing an increase of 34.5 per cent during the preceding decade.

The enumeration five years later, by the latest State census, June 1, 1905, was 1,979,912, the increase during the five years being 13 per cent. The population of the five largest cities was as follows: Minneapolis, 261,974; St. Paul, 197,023; Duluth, 64,942; Winona, 20,334; and Stillwater, 12,435.

CHRONOLOGICAL.

- 1635. Jean Nicollet, an explorer from France, who had wintered in the neighborhood of Green Bay, brought to Montreal the first mention of the aborigines of Minnesota.
- 1659-60. Groseilliers and Radisson wintered among the Sloux of the Mille Lacs region, Minnesota, being its first white explorers. In a previous expedition, four years earlier, they are thought to have come to Prairie Island, west of the main channel of the Mississippi, between Red Wing and Hastings.
- 1661. Father Rene Menard left Kewennaw, on Lake Superior, to visit the Hurons, then in northern Wisconsin, and was lost near the sources of the Black and Chippewa rivers. His breviary and cassock were said to have been found among the Sioux.
- 1679. July 2d. Daniel Greyselon Du Lhut (Duluth) held a council with the Sioux at their principal settlement on the shore of Mille Lacs. Du Lhut, in June, 1680, by way of the St. Croix river, reached the Mississippi and met Hennepin.
- 1680. Louis Hennepin, after captivity in the village of the Mille Lacs Sioux, first saw the Falls of St. Anthony.
- 1689. May 8th, Nicholas Perrot, at his Fort St. Antoine, on the Wisconsin shore of Lake Pepin, laid formal claim to the surrounding country for France. He built a fort also on the Minnesota shore of this lake, near its outlet.
- 1695. Le Sueur built a fort or trading post on Isle Pelce, now called Prairie Island, above Lake Pepin.
- 1700. Le Sueur established Fort L'Huillier, on the Blue Earth river (near the mouth of the Le Sueur), and first supplied the Sloux with firearms.
- 1727. The French established a third fort on Lake Pepin, with Sieur de La Perriere as commander.
- 1728. Great flood in the Mississippi.
- 1763. By the treaty of Versailles, France ceded Minnesota, east of the Mississippi, to England, and west of it to Spain.
- 1766. Captain Jonathan Carver visited St. Anthony falls and Minnesota river. He claimed to have made a treaty with the Indians the following spring, in a cave afterward called "Carver's Cave," within the present limits of St. Paul, at which he said they ceded to him an immense tract of land, long known as "Carver's Claim," but never recognized by government.

DESCRIPTIVE

Minnesota derives its name from the river which was named "Minisota" by the Dakotas, pronounced "Min-nee-sotah," applied to the stream, in its natural state in the summer season, after the waters were cleared from the roiling caused by the spring floods. Mini, water; sotah, sky-colored. Apparently to secure the correct pronunciation in English letters, the convention called at Stillwater, in 1848, for the purpose of procuring a territorial organization, instructed their delegates to see that the name of the Territory should be written Min-ne-sota.

GEOGRAPHY.

Geographically, Minnesota occupies the exact center of the continent of North America, midway between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and also midway between Hudson Bay and the Gulf of Mexico. This state is bounded on the south by Iowa, on the west by South and North Dakota, on the north by Manitoba and Ontario, and on the east by Wisconsin. It extends from latitude 43 degrees 30 minutes to 49 degrees 24 minutes, and from 89 degrees 29 minutes to 97 degrees 15 minutes west longitude. From its southern boundary to the northern is about 400 miles, and from its most eastern to the extreme western point about 354 miles. In a foot-note on article 2 of the State constitution the boundaries are fully defined, including a history of the projecting point beyond the forty-ninth parallel, shown upon the map.

AREA.

Minnesota is, in area, the tenth state of the Union. It contains 84,287 square miles, or about 53,943,379 acres, of which 3,608,012 acres are water. In altitude it appears to be one of the highest portions of the continent, as the headwaters of three great river systems are found in its limits, those of streams flowing northward to Hudson bay, eastward to the Atlantic ocean, and southward to the Gulf of Mexico.

About half of this surface, on the south and west, consists of rolling prairie, interspersed with frequent groves, oak openings and belts of hardwood timber, watered by numberless lakes and streams, and covered with a warm, dark soil of great fertility. The rest, embracing the elevated district immediately west and north of Lake Superior, consists mainly of rich mineral ranges and of the pine forests which clothe the headwaters of the Mississippi, affording extensive supplies of lumber. There is but a very small percentage of broken, rocky or worthless land in the state. Nearly all is arable.

RIVERS.

Numerous rivers and watercourses give it excellent drainage. But few states are so well watered as Minnesota. Its navigable rivers are the Mississippi, the Minnesota, the St. Croix, the St. Louis, the Red River of the North, and the Red Lake river, all of which, near their sources, have extensive water powers; while a number of smaller streams such as Rum river and Snake river, both valuable for lumbering, the Cannon and Zumbro rivers, the Vermilion, Crow, Blue Earth, Des Moines, Cottonwood, Chippewa, Le Sueur, Root, Elk and Sauk rivers, etc. also furnish fine water powers. These with their tributaries and a host of lesser streams penetrate every portion of the State. Some of the water powers furnished by these streams are among the finest in America, and many of them have been utilized for manufacturing purposes.

LAKES.

The lakes of Minnesota are more numerous and varied in form than in any other state in the Union. Bordering on the northeast corner of the State for one bundred and fifty miles, the waters of the great Lake Superior wash its shores. Within the State there are about ten thousand lakes, the largest of which is Red lake, in the extreme central northern part of the State, bordering partly by dense pine forests, with its overflow through Red Lake river, by a devious course, into the Red River of the North. On the same northern slope, in St. Louis county, is the beautiful Vermilion lake, with its tributaries, at the edge of the great Vermilion iron range, and flowing into Rainy lake, on the northern boundary, and then through Rainy Lake river into the Lake of the Woods, and thence into Lake Winnipeg, and finally into Hudson bay. On the southern slope of the State we have Itasca lake, as the source of the Mississippi, with Cass lake, Lake Winnibigoshish, Leech lake, and other innumerable lakes, all adding volume to the water of the Mississippi, eventually flowing into the Gulf of Mexico. Then we have Mille Lacs, the source of Rum river, and the picturesque Lake Minnetonka. These are the largest lakes in the State. Of these, however, only Minnetonka, White Bear, Bald Eagle and Chisago lakes have so far been much utilized as summer resorts. The incomparable park region, traversed by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads, is the paradise of summer idlers, of hunters and fishermen; but it is not in this portion alone that all the beautiful lakes are found. The northeastern and the southwestern sections each have numerous lakes to attract the summer visitor.

There is an undoubted modification of the climate of the State, caused by these numerous bodies of water, giving a most delightful summer temperature.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Fine varieties of fish are abundant in all these lakes; and the State expends annually thousands of dollars, through a game and fish commission, to improve the varieties, and to prevent their wanton destruction.

ELEVATION.

Surveys with leveling from the sea show that the shore of Lake Superior is the lowest land in the State, 602 feet above sea level. The waters of the northeastern part of the State south of the Mesabi iron range flow into Lake Superior, and are carried to the Atlantic ocean. The Mississippi river, having its chief source in Lake Itasca, at 1,466 feet elevation, runs in a southerly direction, leaving the State at 620 feet above sea level.

The Red River of the North, rising in the north, near Itasca lake, at a height of 1,600 feet above the ocean, after a circuitous route south and west to Breckenridge, in Wilkin county, and then flowing north along its great valley, leaves the State at an elevation of 750 feet. The average elevation of the State is given at about 1,275 feet. The highest elevation is the Misquah hills, in Cook county, 2,230 feet.

CLIMATE.

The elevation of Minnesota above the sea, its fine drainage, and the dryness of the atmosphere give it a climate of unusual salubrity and pleasantness. It has an annual mean temperature of 44 degrees, while its mean summer temperature is 70 degrees, the same as that of middle Illinois and Ohio, southern Pennsylvania, etc. The excessive heats of summer often felt in other states are here tempered by the cooling breezes. Its high latitude gives it correspondingly longer days in summer than states further south, and during the growing season there are two and one-half hours more sunshine than in the latitude of Cincinnati. This, taken in connection with the abundant rainfall of early summer, accounts for the rapid and vigorous growth of crops in Minnesota, and their early maturity. The cool breezes and cool nights in summer prevent the debilitating effects of heat often felt in low latitudes. The winter climate is one of the attractive features of the State. Its uniformity, and prevailing freedom from thaws and excessive spells of cold, severe weather or heavy snow storms, and its dryness, together with the bright sunshine and electrical condition of the air, all tend to enhance the personal comfort of the resident, and make outdoor life and labor a pleasure.

These features tend to make this climate the healthlest in the Union. It gives life and briskness to those performing manual labor, enabling them to do more work than in a damper or duller climate.

THIRD MINNESOTA ENTERING LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

"Third regiment Minnesota infantry U. S. volunteers. Col. C. C. Andrews commanding, entering Little Rock, Arkansas, September 11, 1863. Painting by Stanley M. Arthurs of Wilmington, Delaware, for the State of Minnesota, and placed in one of the Governor's rooms in the State Capitol. The Third regiment had participated in the campaign of Vicksburg and immediately afterwards took part in the campaign of Arkansas, under Gen, Frederick Steele. On account of its good discipline it was designated by Geu, Steele to enter the city and preserve order, and its colonel was placed in command of the post. The regiment is crossing the Arkansas River on a pontoon bridge and marching up the levee by the route-step, (not in close order.)"

NEW PRISON AT STILLWATER (Now under Construction)

THE NEW PRISON AT STILLWATER.

Recognizing the fact that a new prison, including proper manufacturing buildings, is essential to the welfare of the inmates as well as the commonwealth the Legislature appropriated $75,000.00 at its 1905 session and two years later appropriated $100,000.00, including $10,999.95 transferred from the Cell Building account, making a total of $185,999.95 to begin the construction of a new prison plant, including the purchase of a suitable site. At its 1909 session the Legislature appropriated $2,250,000.00 with which to complete the plant now partially constructed.

The new prison is located two and one-half miles south of the present site of the old prison on a beautiful plateau overlooking the St. Croix river at an elevation of about forty feet. Directly in front of the new prison, the ground slopes abruptly to the river flats, thus affording a fine view of a picturesque character—not only to the prisoners but those outside.

The new site was selected with particular care as to location and source of pure spring water. At the new site the prison farm consists of 160 acres and the prison enclosure proper 22 acres. An' abundant supply of pure, soft, cool spring water sufficient to furnish one and one-half million gallons every twenty-four hours is constantly available and will be piped by natural gravity to the various buildings. At the base of one of the hills whence issues one of the large springs a fine concrete reservoir has been constructed capable of containing a sufficient supply for domestic purposes. From this reservoir the water is carried to the prison by a six-inch pipe. The overflow is fed into Perro brook, a famous trout stream. The water accommodations for the new prison are the finest in the country and the supply is inexhaustible. The sewerage and drainage system is planned on modern sanitary lines and is ample for meeting every requirement of health protection according to scientific methods.

The new prison at South Stillwater is reached by an electric line running from Stillwater and the service will be maintained at a high degree of efficiency as needed for the accommodation of visitors and those having business at the institution.

Elsewhere will be found illustrations giving a bird's eye view of the new prison and its ground plan. These illustrations convey a whole story at a glance.

Walls constructed of reinforced concrete on three sides, north, south and west, including the Administration building on the east, will enclose the prison proper of 22 acres. From the Administration building in the center two large cellhouses A and B radiate at right angles, stretching clear across the front of the prison, one thousand feet in distance.

In entering the Administration building one passes through a wide, well-lighted hallway into a commodious rotunda. The Warden's office is in the right hand corner in front; the front stair hall and vestibule are located opposite the Warden's office in the left hand corner. The office room, which occupies nearly one-half of the floor space, is on the right of the rotunda. Here all of the business of the prison will be conducted, the Warden's office being conveniently adjacent thereto. On the opposite side is a large double vault, running through from main floor to basement. On the right a little farther on is a commodious office for convict clerks, this room connecting with the one of the general accountant and assistants. A large reception room is located on the left of the rotunda for the accommodation and convenience of visitors and guests. The office of the State Board of Control is across from the reception room and to the right. It is connected with the turnkey's office and all other inner offices from which prisoners may come direct to the office of the Board without emerging from behind locked doors. Adjoining the office of the Board are located the lavatories and water closets for the convenience of the office force and visitors. A lavatory, water closets and lounging room with lockers for the convenience of employes are located near the usher's office on the left of the rotunda, and on the right are the offices for the convict clerks, a barber shop for employes and a telephone exchange.

From the front entrance to the left, and from the turnkey's hall, two stairways lead up to the second and third floors of the Administration building. The left half of the second floor will be occupied by employes' kitchen and three dining balls; two for officers and employes and the third for special use. The right half of the second floor will be used for a parlor and for guest rooms. The right half of the third floor will be used for employes' sleeping rooms, and the left half of the third floor for a female prison, the matron's bedroom, parlor, etc.

Passing out of the turnkey's hall into the large central corridor, which opens into the two large cellhouses, A and B, containing 512 cells each are each divided into two sections and contain altogether 1,024 cells. The Administration building, and cross section to the cellhouses, will be built of concrete foundations and walls of brick, with pressed brick facings, but the cells will be built of reinforced concrete, in size 6 feet wide, 9 feet long and 8 feet high, with light, wide halls surrounding them. About one-third of the outside walls of the cellhouses will be taken up with large windows running nearly to the roof. There will also be large skylights in the cellhouse roofs over the halls, so as to make them as light and airy as possible.

The second and third floors over the central corridor between the two cell blocks will be used for school rooms and lecture halls. Passing from the ground floor of this building, down the central corridor, the prison library is located in the first room to the left, and on the right side of the hall opposite the Mirror office and printing room. The next building on the left contains the laundry, wash room and the bath room for all the prisoners. The building across the hall on the right contains the Deputy Warden's office, walting-room, office for the Bertillon and Finger Print operator and necessary room for the files; 10 solitary cells and 10 detention cells, all on one floor. Passing down the hallway next comes the space allotted for two subsidiary cellhouses, which will not be built at present but are planned for the future when needed, containing 360 additional cells making the maximum capacity 1,384.

Passing on to the end of the central corridor, a wide vestibule is entered which leads to the left into the large dining hall for prisoners, and on the right into the prison chapel, and straight ahead into the convict kitchen, and service room with cold storage and general store in the rear of the kitchen, the latter facing the main street of the prison. All three of these buildings are one story in height.

To the right of the group of buildings described, a plat of land containing three and one-half acres will be used for parade grounds; to the left on the opposite side of the yard, the same amount of ground will be converted into a prison park, in the center of which will be located a modern prison hospital and greenhouse. Crossing the main street of the prison to the West, where teams may enter the grounds through a large, double gate on the north side, or pass out of the prison from the south gate, is located the large central power plant which is to furnish electric power for the two large industries-the manufacture of binding twine and cordage and farm machinery, as it is now planned to work all of the prisoners on these two industries. From this power plant all of the heating and ventilating of the buildings will be done by means of the fan system. It is estimated that it will require from 1,200 to 1,600 normal horse-power. Passing through the power plant, there is a walk over an underground coal storage vault of 2,000 tons capacity. From this point the large water tower is faced, 115 feet high, containing two large water tanks, one for domestic and the other for general purposes.

Here the railroad tracks and switches pass through the entire grounds from the north to the south between the factory and warehouse buildings.

opposed by Google

Facing north from the power plant the twine factory buildings are located on the right side of the track. One section of the factory building and one section of the warehouse are completed. When all of the buildings are completed, the factory building will be 360 feet long, 86 feet wide and three stories high, which will furnish ample room for 500 spindles with necessary preparing machinery divided into four complete systems, giving an annual manufacturing capacity of eighteen million pounds. Across the tracks on the left, a large warehouse for raw material and the finished product of the twine factory is located. The building is one story, 360 feet long, 120 feet wide and 30 feet high, divided into four sections. One section of this building is row completed.

The factory buildings and warehouses for the farm machinery plant will be located on the south half of the prison grounds set aside for manufacturing purposes. The size and design of these buildings have not been determined as yet, and will not be for the present, or until the management has had time to measure and determine the probable manufacturing capacity required. All of the other buildings will be erected first; by that time it is expected that the size and capacity of the farm machinery plant will be safely and conservatively considered. In the meantime, machines will be built at the old prison, and as soon as the new twine factory is completed and is ready for use, the shops now being used for twine manufacture at the old prison will be vacated and will thereafter be used for the manufacture of farm machinery until the shops and warehouses have been completed for that purpose at the new prison.

The amount appropriated for the new prison is $2,250,000. The estimate of the state architect for the construction of all the prison buildings planned, except the two subsidiary cellhouses, which will probably not be required for the next fifteen or twenty years, also excluding the farm machinery buildings, will be $1,998,000 which leaves a balance of $252,000 to be used in building the farm machinery plant.

The plans of the new prison are in line with and abreast of the best ihought on modern prison architecture, and when completed, will be one of the best and most modern prisons in the United States, if not in the world. The buildings will be plain, substantial and comfortable, and while all the laws and rules for obtaining the best hygienic and sanitary conditions will be carefully followed, and all of the buildings made strictly fireproof, there will be no extravagant or unnecessary display. Most prisons in the United States have occupied, and are now taking from 15 to 25 years in building. The best of them cost from three to four million dollars, and by the time they are through building, the prisons are old and out-ofdate, and cost much more than if built comprehensively and quickly, as is now planned in Minnesota.

THE NEW STATE PRISON.

The law under which the new prison in Minnesota is being built provides a tax levy of $250,000 a year for nine years, but the State Board of Control was authorized and empowered to issue and sell, as funds are needed for construction purposes, certificates of indebtedness to the extent and in the manner as provided for by law, the amount, however, not to exceed the total appropriation. With the very favorable conditions here provided, the new prison ought to be built in four, and certainly not later than five years.

EXPECTED EARNINGS.

When the new prison is completed and the two industries, the manufacture of binding twine, which has already reached its maximum capacity and organization, and the farm machinery plant has reached the same stage of efficiency and organization as the twine plant, the state will do a business aggregating probably not far from three million dollars a year. Upon this amount of business the state ought to realize easily a profit of $300,000 a year, at least, until enough is made to handle the growing business readily without borrowing money, and enough more besides to pay back to the state all of the money it appropriated to build the new prison.

STATE PARKS.

ITASCA STATE PARK.

Itasca State Park was established by the Legislature in 1891. Congress acting upon the request of the executive officers of the state, contributed on behalf of the United States all land situated within the limits of the park which had not been granted away prior thereto. The Park is situated chiefly in Clearwater county but includes a strip containing seven sections of land on the east side, in Hubbard county and four sections on the south, in Becker county. As originally created the Park was seven miles long and five in width. One hundred and sixty acres have been added on the north to include the outlet of the Mississippi river from Lake Itasca, and title thereto has been acquired under condemnation proceedings. A strip of land one-fourth of a mile wide and one and one-half miles long has been added to the Park along the east line, situated in Sections 20 and 29, Township 143, 35. The highway from the new Park house passes over this strip which is heavily wooded with a beautiful stand of Norway pine. The title thereto has not as yet been acquired.

The Park is quite largely timbered with evergreens and deciduous trees, some portions being heavily timbered with beautiful Norway pine. Flora of various kinds abound, including three species of the state flower—the purple, the yellow or Indian, and an intermediate variety.

The Park is now easy of access from Park Rapids, and the park commissioner is amply equipped to furnish accommodations to the public at the new lodge recently erected for the purpose of entertaining the traveling public. This house which was named by ex-Governor Van Sant, "Douglas Lodge," is a log structure consisting of 18 rooms, in part plastered and in part finished in its natural state. Its furnishings are artistic and conveniences for the use of the public modern. It is located in a dense pine forest on a beautiful promontory on the shore of Lake Itasca. The game in the Park has been carefully protected for many years and even the taking of fire-arms therein prohibited. Good fishing exists in the lakes, and wild deer in large numbers can be seen daily by all tourists. Three beaver were placed in the Park a few years ago. Now a number of colonies exist, and their curious work has interested many visitors.

STATE PARKS.

INTERSTATE PARK AT THE DALLES OF THE ST. CROIX.

In 1895 the State of Minnesota, by a legislative act, set aside a tract of about 110 acres in the town of Taylors Falls, Chisago county, as a public park, to be called the State Park of the Dalles of the St. Croix. An act was also passed by the Wisconsin legislature of the same year, which provided a commission to ascertain the probable cost of acquiring a larger tract for a state park on the opposite side of the St. Croix river; and in 1899 and 1901 the State of Wisconsin passed acts for the purchase of lands there, amounting to about 600 acres. The original park on the Minnesota side of the river has been extended to an area of about 150 acres, and plans are under consideration for further extension to a total of about 500 acres in Minnesota. The two states have thus established an Interstate Park, including the grand and picturesque rock gorge called the Upper Dalles of the St. Croix, where the river for a distance of two-thirds of a mile, at and just south of the village of Taylors Falls, flows through a chasm walled by cliffs of rock 75 to 150 feet high.

The first suggestion for devoting this tract of remarkable natural beauty to such public use was made by George H. Hazzard, a pioneer of Minnesota Territory, to members of the Minnesota legislature in 1893. His idea was welcomed with enthusiasm by newspapers, commercial bodies, and the people of the State.

MINNEOPA STATE PARK.

Under Chapter 297, G. L., 1905, provision was made for the purchase of land containing Minneopa Falls, near Mankato, to establish and create a public park, to be known as "The Minneopa State Park." The sum of $5,000 was appropriated for that purpose. Negotiations for the land, and the perfection of the title consumed much time. On December 4, 1906, the transaction was completed, the title deeds having been duly recorded in the name of the State of Minnesota, and the sum of $3,500 was paid to the property owner. Under section 3, the general care and supervision of the park, until otherwise provided for, was vested in the state auditor. J. B. Hodge has been appointed superintendent or caretaker of the park.

The Indian word "Minneopa" means water of two falls. Indian lore connects a number of legends with the falls, the names of great Indian chiefs, pow wows and the romantic woolng of the Indian maid.

The state has acquired this beauty spot, and it has been forever dedicated to the use and enjoyment of our people. The park is four miles west of Mankato, easily accessible by railroad and driveways. It includes a tract of about sixty acres, through which runs Minneopa River, the waters of which dash with the beauty of a Minnehaha over a ledge sixty feet to a gorge below. There are two falls, but a few rods apart. The falls are seventy-five feet wide, surrounded by towering hills. The great canyon below the falls is grand and picturesque.

THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Article 5 of the State constitution provides that the executive department shall consist of a governor, lleutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general, who shall be chosen by the electors of the State.

OFFICERS FOR 1911.

Governor-Adolph O. Eberhart, Blue Earth county. Lieutenant Governor-Sam Y. Gordon, Traverse county. Secretary of State-Julius A. Schmahl, Redwood county. Auditor-Samuel G. Iverson, Fillmore county. Treasurer-Walter T. Smith, St. Louis county. Attorney General-George T. Simpson, Winona county.

The constitution of the State provides that these officers shall be elected for two years, except the state auditor, whose term of office is for four years.

The duties of the governor are prescribed by the constitution and the laws of the State. The office assistants of the governor are a private secretary, executive clerk, two stenographers and executive messenger. Connected with the executive office is the appointment of notaries public.

The lieutenant governor is ex-officio president of the senate, and has no other duties to perform, except in a protracted absence of the governor from the State he may be called to act, and in case of vacancy in the office he becomes governor during said vacancy.

The secretary of State is the recording officer of the State and the official custodian of official papers. All the private and public corporations of the State are recorded, and the official bonds of all state and county officers are filed in this office. He is the custodian of all the volumes of laws and journals and all the legislative records of whatever nature as well as the United States government surveys of Minnesota, recently turned over to the state. The whole machinery of state elections and the final canvassing of votes is carried forward in his office. The preparation of the volumes of law for publication is part of his duty, and the care and disposition of all printed executive documents of the State. For the general purposes of the office, the clerical force is an assistant secretary, a chief clerk, one record clerk, a clerk of government surveys, a document clerk, and two stenographers.

The state auditor has charge of two departments of the government, the auditing department and the land department. The auditing department is to keep a record of all public accounts, audit all claims presented, and issue warrants in payment. These accounts are not only those of the state departments, but include the pay rolls of state institutions. He has charge of the tax law and prescribes the tax blanks, prepares the abstracts of taxes for the state board of equalization, makes all the drafts for state taxes, and keeps an account of the same, and is required to make a detailed and exhaustive report of the affairs of his office to the legislature, and for the performance of these duties he has a deputy and various clerks.

In the land department, of which the auditor is chief, he has the assistance of four clerks specially detailed. The duties of this department are the care and sale of school, university, agricultural, college and swamp lands, and the sale of grass, cranberries, and maple sugar; the leasing of mineral lands; and the making out and record of all deeds and conveyances for the disposition of lands, besides keeping a classified account of all money transactions connected with these lands.

The treasurer is the receiving and disbursing officer of the State, and has the assistance of a deputy treasurer, six clerks and stenographer to aid in the duties of the office. His duties are defined by law to keep an accurate account of the receipts and disbursements of the treasury, specifying the names of persons from whom received, to whom paid, on what account the same is received and paid out, and the time of such receipt and payment. And for all payments into the state treasury by county treasurers he issues two receipts, one to the treasurer and the other to the county auditor.

The attorney general is the legal adviser of all the departments of State, and counsel for the State or departments in all suits at law; prosecutes all official bonds of delinquent officers; prepares all forms of contracts; receives reports of criminal actions in all the counties of the State from the county attorneys, and makes a biennial report to the legislature. The force in the office is four assistant attorney generals, a clerk and three stenographers.

THE MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

Commander-in-Chief.

His Excellency, Adolph O. Eberhart, Governor.

Executive Officer of Department.

Fred B. Wood, Adjutant General.

The active military forces of the State are officially known as the Minnesota National Guard. In time of peace the National Guard is composed of three regiments of infantry and one battalion of artillery (the latter includes two batteries of artillery and one company of engineers), formed into one brigade under the command of a brigadier general. The commanderin-chief is authorized to increase this force in time of war. The volunteers furnished by Minnesota during the war with Spain were chiefly recruited from the ranks of the National Guard.

The adjutant general is the executive officer of the department and the custodian of all records relating to the National Guard and to the regiments furnished by this State during the Civil and Spanish wars. Under the commander-in-chief he has general supervision and control of the military forces of this State and of all military property.

It is also the duty of the adjutant general to act as claim agent, without pay or compensation, for all citizens of this State having claims against the government of the United States for pensions, bounty, arrears of pay, etc., arising out of military service for the national government. He also prosecutes the claims of the State of Minnesota against the national government for expenses incurred during the Spanish-American war.

The military storekeeper is the armorer and ordnance officer of the State, and keeps in order the arms and other public property necessarily connected with the ordnance department.

NATIONAL GUARD.

The various sections of the revised laws of 1905, as amended by the legislative session of that year, were further amended by the 1907 session of the legislature. Under the new provisions, the brigade is to consist of the brigadier general, an assistant adjutant general, a surgeon, each ranking as major, an assistant inspector general, a brigade quartermaster, a brigade judge advocate, a commissary of subsistence, an inspector of small arms practice, an ordnance officer, one aid-de-camp, each of whom are to rank as captains. Three regiments of infantry and one corps or battalion of field artillery. The minimum membership of a company or battery is to be fixed by the president of the United States.

The officers of each infantry battalion and the number of officers of a company, together with the number of companies to each battalion and the officers, membership and engineers of the artilleries and batteries is also prescribed by the act.

The uniform of the guard shall be the same as that prescribed for the United States army, except that the letters "U. S." are to be omitted from the buttons and collar and the insignia of the state substituted therefor. Changes in the uniform may be made by the governor on recommendation of five officers. Uniforms, etc., are to be provided by the state and shall be issued annually by the adjutant general. The annual per capita allowance is $7.00 for each officer, non-commissioned officer, musician and other enlisted men, reported as fully uniformed and equipped and this money is to be known as the military fund to be used for the purchase of uniforms, care of armories, etc. The pay of officers, while engaged in any service ordered by the governor, shall be the same as allowed by law to officers of similar rank in the United States army. There is also to be paid annually to officers in actual command of troops for incidental expenses, as follows: To the brigade commander, $100, and to the commanding officer of each regiment, $250; to the corps of battalion or artillery, $150; to the commanding officer of each company and battery and assistant adjutant general of the brigade, each regimental adjutant and to the adjutant of the corps of battalion or artillery, $100. The adjutant general is to be appointed and commissioned for the term of six years. The first term to commence the first Monday in January, 1907, and Fred B. Wood was appointed for that term.

The officers of the guard, together with the location of each company, as reported by the adjutant general, is as follows:

THE JUDICIARY DEPARTMENTS.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The constitution provides that the judicial power shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts inferior to the supreme court as the legislature may from time to time establish. This latter prerogative the legislature has exercised in the establishment of municipal courts in the larger cities of the State.

The supreme court consists of one chief justice and four associate justices, elected by the people, and holding office for six years, and until successors are elected and qualified. Two terms of court are held in each year, commencing on the first Tuesdays of April and October, at the capitol, in St. Paul. This court has original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity.

The clerk of the supreme court is an elective officer, the term of office being four years.

The reporter of the supreme court is an officer appointed by the supreme court to prepare the adjudicated cases for publication in official volumes, entitled, "Minnesota Reports."

Originally the reporter owned the exclusive copyright, and the reports were printed and bound at his expense, the State buying of him 200 copies of each volume at six dollars a volume. In 1881, an act was passed providing that the reporter should have no pecuniary interest in the reports, but that they should be published by contract under his supervision, the publisher to agree to sell the volumes at two dollars a volume and the State to agree to buy 200 copies at that price. The contract price is now $1. The copyright of the volumes already published vests in the secretary of the state for the benefit of the people of the State, but the publisher is permitted to continue the publication and sale of such volumes so long as he complies with the requirements of law as to character and price of volumes. The State now buys 425 copies of each volume at the price last named.

The secretary of state is charged with the distribution of the volumes, one copy to each of the several departments of state, to each judge of the supreme court, and of the several district, probate and municipal courts, and to the clerk of each district court, while the University of Minnesota receives 100 copies for the law department, and the state library receives a sufficient number for exchanges with other states and for the use of the library. The remaining copies stay in the custody of the secretary of state for future distribution by law.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

THE LOWER COURTS.

The district courts are created by the legislature, the State being divided into nineteen judicial districts, with one or more judges in a district, as the exigencies of business may require, and the judges are elected for six years. The district courts have original jurisdiction in all civil cases, both in law and equity, where the amount exceeds $100, or the punishment shall exceed three months' imprisonment or a fine of more than $100. Also, in criminal cases where presentments are made by grand juries.

The municipal courts generally have the power of disposing of all criminal cases for infraction of city laws, and for hearing and committing for trial on arrests for violation of state laws. Chap. 146, G. L. 1891, "An act relating to villages of over 3,000 inhabitants, and providing for municipal courts therein." By the provisions of this act a municipal court has jurisdiction in civil actions where amount does not exceed $500; also, in all cases where a justice court has jurisdiction, and over certain criminal actions. Its jurisdiction is co-extensive with the limits of the county where located.

The probate courts are created by authority of the constitution, one for each county, and the judges to be elected by the people, for two years. The probate court has jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, and the examination and commitment of insane persons to the asylums. The salaries to probate judges are fixed by special law, or in lieu thereof a salary of $100 for the first 1,000 inhabitants and $50 for each additional 1,000 inhabitants, limiting the compensation, where by reason of population the sum would be larger, to $4,000 per annum.

THE STATE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

The following scheme shows the elements of the school systems of the State:

State Rural Schools. State Semigraded Schools. State Graded Schools. State High Schools. Normal Schools. University.

A common school district is controlled by a board of three members; an independent, by one of six members; a special, by a board of six or more members.

Common schools are supervised by a county superintendent; independent and special districts have their own superintendents, and in the main are not subject to the county superintendents.

The state graded and state high schools are subject to a board of five members; the president of the State University, the superintendent of public instruction and president of normal school board are ex-officio members, a city superintendent or high school principal and a fifth member are appointed by the governor.

The normal schools are controlled by a board of nine members; five of these are resident directors; three are appointed for the State at large, and one, the superintendent of public instruction, serves ex-officio.

The university is controlled by a board of twelve regents; the governor, the president of the university and the superintendent of public instruction are ex-officio members, and nine are appointed by the governor.

The public schools of the State are supported by a direct tax upon the property of the school districts, by a county one-mill tax, by a state mill tax, and by the income from the permanent school fund, together with small fines that are accredited to this fund.

In addition to these funds, the State of Minnesota distributes annually (provided they attain a high, prescribed standard of excellence) $125 or $50 to each rural school, $250 to each semigraded school of two or three departments; also $550 to each graded school of four or more departments; and

$1,500 to each high school that admits all qualified students free of tuition. High and graded schools must meet the requirements of the high school board.

To encourage the establishment and maintenance of school libraries the legislature has appropriated $15,000 per annum. The State will aid any school district towards the purchase of a library to the amount of $20 on the first order for each school building, and $10 annually thereafter, provided that the district raises a like amount, purchases the books from the state contractor and orders from the list prepared by the State Library Board, which is composed of the state superintendent of public instruction and the presidents of the normal schools.

The normal schools are supported by appropriations of the legislature; the university by a direct tax of twenty-three hundredths of a mill upon all the property of the State, by special state appropriations, and by the Federal government under the Morrill act.

The State provides a fund for teachers' institutes and training schools. to be held under the direction of the state superintendent of public instruction. In the year 1905, 42 institutes and training schools were held in different counties of the State, with an enrollment of 5,000 teachers. In 1906, 40 institutes and training schools were held, in which 6,000 teachers were enrolled.

Teachers' certificates are issued by the superintendent of public instruction upon examination or upon indorsement of a university or college diploma, or a diploma from the state normal school.

Certificates are of the following grades: Professional, first and second grade; teachers' state certificates, first and second grade; county certificates, issued in certain cases by the county superintendent and valid for a specified district. A diploma from a Minnesota state normal school is valid as a certificate to teach for two years immediately following graduation. At the expiration of the two years an elementary diploma may be indorsed by the president of the school and the superintendent of public instruction for five years, and an advanced diploma may be made a life certificate. Diplomas from the advanced course of a normal school outside of Minnesota, representing a course of study fully equivalent to the advanced course in Minnesota, may, upon evidence of successful teaching, be indorsed by the superintendent of public instruction for a limited time as a certificate.

Examination for professional certificates are given twice each year. First, immediately after the close of the University summer school, and second, during the week of the State Teachers' Association. The first is held at the State University and the latter in St. Paul.

Examinations for teachers' state certificates are given at one or more places in each county in February and in August, under the direction of the county superintendent. All manuscript for teachers' certificates is examined and marked under the direction of the superintendent of public instruction.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

DESCRIPTION OF DEPARTMENTS.

THE COLLEGE OF SCIENCE, LITERATURE, AND THE ARTS, offers a four-year course of study leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The work of the first two years is elective within certain limitations as to the range of subjects from which the electives may be chosen. The remaining work of the course is entirely elective, with the provision that a certain number of long courses be selected. The course is so elastic that it permits the student to make the general scope of his course classical, scientific or literary, to suit his individual purpose.

In this college are given also the two years of college work required for entrance to the College of Medicine and Surgery; the first two years of work of the six-year course in Science and Medicine, leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Medicine; the one year of college work required for entrance to the College of Law; and various non-professional subjects required in other schools and colleges of the University.

THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING AND THE MECHANIC ARTS offers courses of study, of five years each, in Civil, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, leading to the degrees of Civil, Mechanical or Electrical Engineer, the degree of Bachelor of Science in Engineering being conferred at the end of the fourth year. This college also offers work in the Graduate School leading to the degree of Master of Science.

Students in the Civil Engineering course are expected to spend five weeks in camp engaged in survey work as a part of the regular course, in the summer following the junior year.

THE COLLEGE OF ACRICULTURE offers a four-year course in agriculture. The degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture is conferred upon completion of the course. Students in this College may specialize along the line of forestry or of home economics and secure the degree, Bachelor of Science (in Forestry, or in Home Economics).

THE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE offers a three-year course of study and is a training school for practical farm life and in domestic economy. The College of Agriculture is open to graduates of this School who have completed the fourth year of work required for admission to the College.

THE DAIRY SCHOOL offers practical instruction in dairying, specially designed for those who are actually engaged in the manufacture of butter and cheese.

A four-year course in Architecture has just been established leading to the degree Bachelor of Science in Architecture. The entrance requirements are the same as for the engineering courses.

THE SHORT COURSE FOR FARMERS is designed to be of the greatest help possible to those actually engaged in farming.

THE CROOKSTON SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE offers a course of study quite similar to that given in the School of Agriculture.

THE COLLEGE OF LAW aims to educate its students by means of the study of Jurisprudence, familiarizing them with the fundamental principles of positive law. Education, and not simply information, is the prime object. The power to think clearly, to reason cogently, to investigate thoroly, to generalize clearly, and to express thoughts accurately are the prime objects of legal education. The method of work generally pursued consists in the study of reported cases, preparing written analysis of the same, and such lectures as are necessary to give the student a symmetrical view of the science of Jurisprudence. The art of practice is taught so far as possible in the law school. A system of courts embracing a court of the Justice of the Peace, and the District and Supreme Courts of the state is organized and maintained. The students pass through each of these courts in order. Students familiarize themselves with the rules of the District and Supreme courts of the state. Jury trials are conducted throughout the senior year. Appeals, motions for new trials, arguments, and all the other points of practice in the courts of the state are considered. The degree of Bachelor of Laws is granted upon the completion of the three year day course, or the four year evening course, which degree entitles the holder to admission to the bar without examination.

THE COLLEGE OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY was organized as a teaching school in 1888; the University Medical Department having been first established in 1883 to examine students and confer degrees.

Medical education has been unified in the State of Minnesota by the absorption of all of the private Medical Colleges; the Hamline University medical department having been merged into that of the University of Minnesota in 1908; and the College of Homeopathic Medicine and Surgery having been discontinued in 1909 and being represented by Chairs of materia medica and therapeutics in the general faculty of the College of Medicine and Surgery.

The requirements for entrance are a four-years' high school course, including two years of Latin; and two years of college work equivalent to that of the College of Science, Literature and the Arts, of this University, and including at least one year each of physics, inorganic chemistry, qualitative analysis, biology, and language. Four years of thirty-six full weeks of laboratory, recitational, didactic and clinical work are required in medicine.

The College occupies five modern buildings and five temporary houses upon the University Campus. Two new Laboratory buildings, provided for by the legislature of 1909, will be built upon the new medical campus during the present year.

The Elliott Memorial Hospital is in process of construction at the present time. Pending its completion, four of these temporary buildings are devoted to the hospital service and to the Training School for Nurses. The University Dispensary, which serves as the out-patient department of the Hospital, occupies a building four blocks from the campus.

The University also controls the St. Paul Dispensary.

oppose by Google

The Hospitals and Dispensaries of the Twin Cities, with a population approximating 550,000, also provide clinical teaching for the College of Medicine and Surgery.

The College offers the following courses of study:

1. Course leading to the Degree of Doctor of Medicine. Four years of graded study in the College of Medicine and Surgery, open to those presenting the preliminary requirements stated above.

2. Course leading to the Degrees of B. S. and M. D. Two years of required courses in the College of Science, Literature and the Arts, in biology, botany, chemistry, physics, mathematics, language and economics, followed by four years in the College of Medicine and Surgery; the degree of B. S. being given at the end of the fourth year and the degree of M. D. at the close of the sixth year.

3. Course leading to the degrees of B. A. and M. D. Students presenting three years of work in the College of Science, Literature and the Arts, including the required subjects mentioned, which leads up to the degree of B. A., may elect the first year in medicine in their senior academic year, receiving the B. A. degree at its close, and the degree of M. D. upon the successful completion of the remaining three years in medicine.

Similar affiliations exist with certain other colleges, whereby the B. A. degree may be conferred by these colleges under the same conditions.

4. The Training School for Nurses, organized in connection with the University Hospital service, is under the control of the Faculty of the College of Medicine and Surgery. (See School Bulletin).

5. The Embalming School. (See Special Announcement.)

6. Graduate and research work is offered to qualified students.

THE COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY offers a three-year course of study, of nine months each. Upon completion of the prescribed course the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery is conferred.

The University now offers an optional six year course of study. The first three years of the course are given in the College of Science, Literature and the Arts. The last three years are given in the College of Dentistry. It leads to the bachelor's degree at the end of the first four years and to the degree of doctor of dental surgery at the end of the six year course.

THE COLLEGE OF PHARMACY was organized in 1891 upon request of the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical Association. In the organization and conduct of the college, the Board of Regents and the faculty have had and have the co-operation of the pharmacists of the Northwest. The college is of the University grade and maintains a high standard of entrance and graduation requirements. Every effort is made to comply with the demands of the pharmaceutical profession of the Northwest and elsewhere. The college offers a regular course extending over two or three years leading to the degree Bachelor of Pharmacy, and two post-graduate courses, the first requiring at least one additional year of resident work and leading to the degree Master of Pharmacy, and the second requiring one or two additional years of work and leading to the degree Doctor of Pharmacy.

oppose by Google

It is now contemplated to add a four-year course to include somewhat more than is now included in the regular two-year course and about two years of academic work. This course will lead to the degree Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, and will in all respects be at least the equal similar courses given in other University colleges of pharmacy. The course will probably be inaugurated in 1910. The Board of Regents have also authorized a course somewhat lower than the regular course now given, to comply however with the requirements of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties. This course probably will not begin until 1911 and will probably not lead to any degree or to the degree Pharmaceutical Graduate.

THE SCHOOL OF MINES was established in 1889. Its buildings and laboratories are located on the grounds of the University of Minnesota. Students of the School of Mines have, therefore, all the opportunities afforded by a large university. Two regular courses of study are offered, namely, mining engineering and metallurgy, leading to the degrees of Engineer of Mines (E. M.) and Metallurgical Engineer (Met. E.), respectively.

Students passing satisfactory entrance examinations in elementary and higher algebra, and plane and solid geometry may graduate in four years. Students presenting high school credentials to the extent indicated on page 58, may graduate in five years.

Courses in the school are designed for the purpose of preparing men to enter their profession with a thorough grounding in mathematics, in the sciences, and in the fundamental principles of mining engineering and metallurgy. The technical courses consist of lecture work in mining, metallurgy and allied subjects supplemented by laboratory work in essaying, chemistry, ore dressing and metallurgy; field work in plane and underground surveying; actual practical mining and metallurgical work in Minnesota and western mining centers. A system of apprenticeship during summer vacations has been inaugurated. This work has become part of the curriculum and is required of all students who are candidates for degrees.

Minnesota's enormous iron ore production continually brings before the public the necessity for trained men to aid in the development of the country's mineral resources. The state has developed its School of Mines with this end in view.

THE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION offers a practical and a theoretical training for prospective high school teachers and principals, for principals of elementary schools, for supervisors of special studies, and for superintendents of school systems.

Students are admitted to the college only after the completion of at least two full years of college work, during which time they should have pursued at least one course in general psychology, and prospective high school teachers should have given especial attention to one or more of the subjects which they expect to teach. The two years' course of study, beginning with the junior year, leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education. Preparation for teaching is planned to include a thorough grounding in the correct use of English, an adequate training in general and in educational psychology, in the history and organization of schools, in educational theory, and in the practice of teaching; and also, quite aside from the liberal training of the regular college course, specific preparation in both the subject matter and the methods of those subjects in the secondary curriculum which each candidate proposes to teach. A third year leads to the degree of master of arts, including advanced studies in education and philosophy, and in one or more of the subjects of the secondary curriculum, at the option of the candidate.

In addition to the ordinary academic and professional studies connected with the training of the teacher, the college offers an opportunity for observation and practice teaching under supervision, as well as special facilities in voice culture, public school music, and physical culture. together with elementary and advanced courses in drawing, domestic art and domestic science, manual training and business education—those specialized forms of the secondary curriculum which are being introduced so rapidly into the public high schools of Minnesota.

THE SCHOOL OF ANALYTICAL AND APPLIED CHEMISTRY offers three courses. Two of these, the Analytical and the five year course in arts and Chemistry, are designed for those who wish to become teachers of chemistry, analysts and investigators. The four year Analytical course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, while the five year course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts after four years and Bachelor of Science in chemistry at the end of the fifth.

The third or Applied course extends over five years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the end of four years and Chemical Engineer at the end of the fifth. These courses aim to give the student a broad foundation in chemistry and some of the allied sciences.

The two buildings occupied by the school contain six large laboratories and about twenty smaller ones well equipped for carrying on a wide range of work.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL gathers into a single organization and unites for the purposes of administration all the activities of the University in all its schools and colleges in so far as they relate to advanced instruction offered for the second or higher degrees, viz.; Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy conferred for advanced, non-technical study; Master of Science and Doctor of Science for technical study; Master of Laws and Doctor of Civil Law for advanced legal studies. The privileges of this school are in general open to all Bachelors of Arts, of Science, pure and applied, and of Laws, from reputable colleges and universities having courses substantially equivalent to those at this University.

THE UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL is organized for a six weeks' session in June and July under the direction of the State Department of Public Instruction. In the elementary section courses are given for teachers in all the common school branches and in preparation for the state teacher's certificates. In the college section courses are given for high school teachers and in preparation for the state professional certificate. Students who desire University entrance credits and credits toward the bachelor's degree may secure these by pursuing not more than two full courses at each session.

SPECIAL COURSES. In practically all of the colleges, students of mature age and adequate preparation are permitted to pursue, under the direction of the faculty, one or two distinct lines of study.

EXTENSION COURSE. The Legislature of 1909 made an appropriation for the biennial period, providing for University Extension work.

The Department of Economics and Political Science, for this period, gives a number of courses in the evening at the University for business men living in the vicinity of the University, and a somewhat similar group of courses by correspondence throughout the state. The Department also offers a series of University Extension lectures in the field of Economics and Political Science at points anywhere in the state. A separate bulletin explaining each of these three kinds of work may be had upon application.

University extension work is conducted by the College of Education in the form (a) of local lectures in series of three to six, where committees are formed for this purpose in various communities; (b) of correspondence courses especially arranged for teachers in the subjects required for the state professional certificate; and (c) of institute lectures for teachers in connection with the various district, county, and local educational associations. A considerable part of the work required for a bachelor's degree may be completed by correspondence.

GOVERNMENT-BY BOARD OF REGENTS.

The University is governed by a board of twelve Regents, consisting of three ex-officio members, the governor of the State, the state superintendent of public instruction and the president of the University, and nine members appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate, who hold office for six years.

The regents have absolute control over all University affairs, save in the matter of erection of new buildings, the purchase of fuel and the placing of insurance. These three items are under the supervision of the State Board of Control.

The interior government management of the University is under the direction of the president and various faculties; each faculty having control over its own affairs subject only to supervision of the Board of Regents.

The University Council is an organization made up of the deans of the various colleges, schools and departments and elected representatives. The Council has charge of matters which do not fall directly within the province of any one faculty and such additional matters as may be referred to it by the president of the University. The powers of the council are not specifically determined, but the general scope of its activities is clearly understood.

UNIVERSITY SUPPORT.

The University revenue is derived from four principal sources:

1. From the permanent fund resulting from the sales of public lands granted by Congress for a University endowment, held by the state, which pays the annual interest to the University.

 Appropriations by Congress under the so-called Morrill, Hatch, Nelson, and Adams bills.

3. The fractional mill tax levied annually by the Minnesota legislature, and occasional direct appropriations, as needed.

 From student fees, sales of farm produce, and petty miscellaneous receipts.

The income for current expense is therefore from national, state, and local sources, amounting at the present time to about $775,000 per annum.

Any one desiring fuller information concerning any college or department can secure the same by applying to the Registrar, addressing him, care of the University, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

When Minnesota was organized as a territory March 3, 1849, it was understood that a grant of public lands would be made by Congress for the endowment and support of a university as in the case of all other states carved out of this old northwest territory.

On December 10, 1850, delegate Sibley gave notice of a bill to grant two townships (46,080 acres) which became law on February 19, 1851. Meantime the Minnesota legislature had by Act, Feb. 13, created the University of Minnesota and made over to that corporation the proceeds of all lands which Congress might grant.

The location of the institution was fixed by this law "at or near the Falls of St. Anthony," by virtue of an understanding relating to the distribution of public buildings. A board of twelve regents elected in classes by the legislature had charge till 1860. In the fall of 1851, a preparatory school was opened. In 1856, intoxicated by the boom which was then raging, the regents began the erection of the rear part of the "old main" building. Before it was finished the panic of 1857 came on. The board could not pay the contractors nor meet the interest on the bonds they had been authorized to sell.

In the winter of 1860 the legislature replaced the old board of twelve regents by one of five appointed by the Governor. At the end of four years this board had not been able to put the finances of the university on a sound footing. Senator John S. Pillsbury laid before the legislature of 1864 a plan to pay off the accumulated debt by the sale of less than one-third of the land grant. A special board of three regents, headed by Mr. Pillsbury, was created to make the experiment. At the close of 1866 this board reported the debt substantially liquidated. A debt of gratitude is due to the creditors and bondholders for scaling down their just claims and accepting sums far below their dues. By means of a small appropriation the special board renovated the building, purchased furniture and appliances, and in November, 1867, opened the preparatory department, to which girls as well as boys were admitted.

This board having accomplished its purpose prepared for the legislature the bill which, enacted into law February 13, 1868, became the actual charter of the university. By far the most important element was that which united with the university endowment proper the expected income from the congressional land grant of 1862 for the support of colleges of Agricultural and Mechanic Arts.

At the close of the college year of 1869 a small company of preparatory students were found ready for college instruction. A faculty of nine professors and instructors was elected and began their work in September. In this year William Watts Folwell was appointed president.

In 1873 two students were graduated at the first commencement. Some twenty years now passed in quiet work and growth, mostly in the academic department. A good beginning was made in that of engineering and mechanic arts, but in spite of most earnest endeavors by the regents the college of agriculture developed slowly. There was little demand for proper agricultural instruction and the pedagogy of that branch had not been developed.

In the year 1870 Congress confirmed to the state a second grant of public land for a state university ingeniously embodied in the enabling act of Feb. 26, 1857, which the departmental authorities at Washington had persistently refused to recognize.

In September, 1884, Cyrus Northrop succeeded to the presidency and not long after began that great development familiar to all.

The Colleges of Law and Medicine were organized. New buildings sprang up, nobly equipped, and the faculties were reinforced as means accumulated. The growth of the College of Agriculture has been remarkable. The congressional appropriations for experiment stations and additional endowment have greatly increased its efficiency and prosperity. The College of Engineering has also enjoyed a rapid and cumulative development. The Colleges of Pharmacy, Dentistry, the School of Mines, Chemistry, Education and the Graduate School have been added in recent years, the result of public demands for special technical training and research.

The total enrollment for the year ending July 31st, 1909, was 5,066. The enrollment for the year ending July 31st, 1910, was 5,369.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

The department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota comprises the experiment station, the college of agriculture, the college of forestry, the school of agriculture, the dairy school, the farmers' short course, the school of traction engineering, the short course for teachers, the school of agriculture and experiment farm at Crookston, the school of agriculture and experiment farm at Morris and the Northeast experiment farm at Grand Rapids.

abund by Google

The department has its home on University farm, a tract of 415 acres of land lying midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis and adjoining the State Fair grounds. The buildings occupy a prominent position on the highest ground between the two cities.

The experiment station, which was established in 1887, has for its object the conducting of investigations and experiments in all branches of agriculture and stock-raising which are considered most useful to the farmers of the State; particular attention being given to the class of problems which would be too expensive or require too much expert service for the farmers to solve for themselves. Questions relating to crops, soils, farm animals, horticulture, forestry, dairying, feeding of live stock, entomology, human and animal foods, and the business of farming have been studied and the results published in bulletin form. Bulletins giving results of experiments are issued in editions of eighteen thousand and distributed gratis to the farmers of the state who ask to have their names placed upon the station mailing list.

In common with all the land grant colleges of the country the University of Minnesota has had an agricultural college connected with it since its foundation, but prior to the establishment of the school of agriculture the attendance was very small, and in fact varied for several years from two students to none at all. It was quite evident that in order to get the young farmers of the state into the college of agriculture there must be a connecting link between the college and the district school. This link was established in 1888 in the form of a school of agriculture, similar in grade to a high school, and having a course of study embracing instruction in the different lines of agriculture, horticulture, live stock, manual training, etc. Students were admitted without further preparation than that acquired in the ordinary district schools. The attendance the first year was a surprise even to the most ardent friends of the movement and it has steadily grown.

In 1897, girls were admitted to the school on the same terms as the boys, and beside the high school subjects which are taken in common, they are given work in special lines of cooking, sewing, laundering and home-making.

The instruction throughout the course, which covers a period of three terms of six months each, is so given as to bring practice and theory into close relation and to show the reasons for and the most expedient ways of doing things.

The technical and practical training which students receive at such a school gives them the ability to study the problems of farm and home management which they are sure to meet at their own homes and makes them better able to cope with all conditions of soil, climate or whatever problems they are to meet in after life.

The college of agriculture gives regular four year University courses and graduates students with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture or Bachelor of Science in Forestry or Bachelor of Science in Home Economics, depending upon which course is elected. The entrance requirements for the college courses have, during the past year, been made the same as the requirements for the college of Science, Literature and the Arts. The aim of this college is to give a thorough training in the preparation of teachers and investigators for colleges, experiment stations, agricultural high schools, etc The records show that 90% of the graduates of the college since it was founded are now engaged in this kind of work.

The increase in attendance in both the school and college of agriculture during the past few years and especially the past year is shown by the figures in the accompanying table.

The dairy school, the first session of which was held in January, 1902, has been a potent factor in the development of the dairy industry in Minnesota. Its students have become especially distinguished for their skill in the manufacture of creamery butter of superior grade. Of the nine banners which have been awarded by the National Butter Makers' Association for best creamery butter, seven have been won by Minnesota buttermakers who were graduates of this course. The average attendance in the dairy school is about 100 men. These students are required to spend at least one season in a creamery or cheese factory before taking the course, and after finishing the course they are not given their diplomas until they have gone out and actually demonstrated their ability as creamery and factory managers and skillful butter and cheese makers.

The short course for farmers is a four weeks' lecture course given in mid-winter for the benefit of farmers who are unable to attend the regular school course. The lectures cover the more important branches of agriculture, horticulture, live stock, breeding, dairying, farm botany, farm chemistry, farm accounts, entomology, poultry, home economics, etc., and especial attention is given to the matter of judging horses, cattle, sheep, swine and grains, with a view of making the students familiar with the methods of judging at fairs and stock shows. The school of traction engineering is a four weeks' course, having as its special aim the training of men to run and manage all kinds of traction engines and power machinery. This has proved a very attractive course for a certain class of young men and the average attendance has been about 150.

The summer school for teachers is a six weeks' course especially designed to help teachers in rural and secondary schools who are interested in introducing elementary agriculture and home economics into their schools.

The legislature of 1895 appropriated money to establish two sub-stations permanently. One of these was located near Crookston and is known as the Northwest Experiment Farm.

The farm consists of about 450 acres. It was donated to the State for experimental purposes by the Great Northern Railroad. A dwelling house, work shop and a horse barn were built the first year. Later a cattle barn was erected and a large poultry plant established. Several miles of fence have been put up, dividing the farm into fields, meadows and pastures. Herds of grade cattle are kept, but most of the stock are pure-bred Galloways, Shorthorns, and Herefords. Draft and driving horses are kept for work and breeding purposes. Pure-bred hogs and sheep are also kept. Several hundred birds of the leading strains of poultry are kept on the farm.

One of the plans of the farm has been to encourage the growing of a larger variety of crops in northwestern Minnesota than was formerly raised. Experience shows that an abundance of crops needed to make the best rotation of crops can be most successfully produced. This work has met with great success. Grains, grasses, and forage crops are very much more extensively raised than formerly. Tree-planting and the development of horticultural products is progressing nicely. The success of the institution is measured by the progress made in agriculture in the Red River Valley as influenced by the work on the experiment farm.

Drainage is one of the great problems for the farmers in the Red River Valley. It is part of the plans to introduce a system of tile drainage to learn if this method will be a success in our soil and climate.

The Legislature of 1905 established at Crookston, under the direction and educational supervision of the Board of Regents of the University of Minnesota, a school of agriculture and appropriated $15,000 to erect a school building therefor. The Regents located the school on the Northwest Experiment Farm at Crookston, and with the appropriation a three-story brick building has been erected providing a kitchen, dining room, two class rooms, an office, dormitory facilities for twenty-four boys. The building is heated by steam and is wired for electrical lighting, and is well adapted to its purpose. It is a splendid example of economic building. The original farm building is being used for instruction in domestic science and a dormitory for girls.

In 1908 the magnificent new building known as Stephens Hall, was dedicated with much pomp and ceremony, President Hill of the Great Northern, being one of the speakers. The same year an industrial building was erected at a cost of $15,000 and an administration building at a cost of $40,000 and a girls' dormitory at a cost of $25,000 have just been completed.

The school is a success and has been compelled to turn away students because of lack of accommodations.

The other farm is known as the Northeast Experiment Farm.

The Northeast Experiment Farm is located at Grand Rapids, Itasca county. It was established in 1896 and for the purpose of determining the agricultural possibilities of northeastern Minnesota.

It comprises a farm of 450 acres, 160 acres of which are under cultivation at the present time. Of the remainder about 200 acres have been partly cleared and are used for pasture, while the rest is still covered with the native forest.

The farm is quite representative of the different kinds of land of northeastern Minnesota. The early work of the farm was largely given to clearing the land and drainage. This was followed by experimental work with the different kinds of small grains, grasses, and root crops. The small grains, wheat, oats and barley, have been grown successfully. Numerous varieties have been tested and the kind best adapted for northern conditions determined.

For the growth of hay, clover and timothy the country has been found especially favorable. Clover has failed but once in eight years. Under ordinary conditions its yield is commonly two tons per acre.

All kinds of root crops, especially potatoes, do very well. The same may be said of garden vegetables.

Corn as a rule will not mature, varieties are being produced adapted to this section and have yielded well the past two or three years. As a fodder for live stock the corn yield is equal to that of the best corn-growing districts of the State.

In the line of fruit, apples are still in an experimental state. Plums do well, but not always ripen before frost. All kinds of small fruit, especially strawberries and raspberries, do very well.

The legislature of 1909 accepted the old Indian school at Morris for the purpose of converting it into an agricultural school under the direction of the Board of Regents. The buildings already located upon the place were repaired and put into condition to open the school on the 5th of October, 1910. The money available for starting the school was sufficient only to make the most necessary repairs and provide the teaching force for the school. The attendance at the opening was a surprise to even the most sanguine friends of the institution. Sixty-three students appeared on the first day and this number has now increased to over 80, which is all that can possibly be accommodated with the present equipment.

THE AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION DIVISION.

The Agricultural Extension Division, established by the last legislature for the purpose of carrying agricultural information to the people of the state, has taken up the work along the following lines:

A press sheet is published twice a month and sent to the papers of the state, giving timely items in agriculture and information regarding the work done at this and other agricultural institutions. Every three weeks a page of illustrated agricultural matter is furnished to the American Press Association, which sends the page in plate form, at $1.00 per page, to forty or more papers in the state. Popular bulletins are published each month and sent to any farmer in the state who asks for them. There are now 22,000 names on our mailing list. Each bulletin deals in a concise and practical way with some timely farm topic.

Representatives of the Extension Division spent one week last summer at each of 27 summer schools, giving instruction in sewing and baking. Agricultural instructors spent three days in each of 24 summer schools, giving instruction in agriculture. This was to enable rural school teachers to more effectively carry on the work of the State Industrial Contest, in which 15,000 boys and girls in 40 different counties in the state took part during the last year.

Two hundred sixty-eight lectures were given in high schools in home economics and agriculture by Extension workers, and a total of 18,523 people were reached. A one week course in dairying was given to 26 dairymen in Todd County. Three hundred thirty-one rural schools were visited by Extension workers, and 16,161 persons reached. Seventy-one local meetings were held in connection with Farmers' Clubs and Dairy Associations, with a total attendance of 7,853. Eight farmers' picnics were attended, with a total attendance of 5,200. Eighteen demonstration farms have been established and operated under the direction of Extension workers in co-operation with farmers. A correspondence course, covering the subjects given in the School of Agriculture, is being prepared.

There is a constantly increasing demand for this type of work along practically every line we have been working. Requests for Extension bulletins are coming in at the rate of from 500 to 1,000 per week; and our mailing list should be, and no doubt will be, at least 100,000 within the next two years.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

The normal school system of the state was inaugurated by the legislature of 1858, making provision for the organization of three schools, upon donations from localities desiring the schools, or five thousand dollars from each locality. Under this law schools were established at Winona, Mankato and St. Cloud; and in 1885 a fourth school was located at Moorhead; the fifth school opened at Duluth, September, 1902.

The normal schools give scholastic and professional training to those who aspire to become teachers in the elementary schools of the state, and stand in relations of closest contact and sympathy with the rural schools. The majority of the students enter direct from the rural schools, and a large proportion support themselves by alternately teaching in the rural schools and attending the normal schools as means and circumstances permit. Thus they bring from their experience as actual teachers a devotion and zeal for professional studies which few other students possess, and in turn carry back to their teaching in rural schools a better preparation, newer methods, higher ideals and greater skill in their chosen work.

The normal department embraces the following courses of study:

An Elementary Course of Three Years, designed to fit teachers for work in common and lower grade schools.

An Advanced Course of Five Years, which gives the preparation needed by teachers of higher as well as lower grades.

A Professional Course of One or Two Years, for students who are graduates of approved high schools.

A Kindergarten Training Course of Two Years, for students who are graduates of high schools, and who desire to equip themselves especially for kindergarten or first primary work.

Winona Normal-By an act of the legislature of 1858, less than four months after the State was admitted into the Union, provision was made for the establishment of three normal schools "to educate and prepare teachers for teaching in the common schools of this State." Under the provision of this act the normal school at Winona was opened in September, 1860, with a principal and one assistant in a building having accommodations for forty students. This was the first normal school opened west of the Mississippi river, and it preceded by two years the establishment of a school system for the State. Since September, 1864, this school has been in continuous operation. The first class was graduated in 1866, and since then the graduates and undergraduates number nearly 13,000. A model school was established in 1864, and a kindergarten training course in 1880. In 1900 manual training became a part of the curriculum of study. The original cost of the building and grounds was $134,000, of which the city and the citizens of Winona donated $32,450.

The Mankato Normal was opened in 1868, since which time it has issued diplomas to nearly 2,000, and a partial training to many times that number. The courses include the five-year English and Latin courses, the one-year and two-year courses for high school graduates, the three-year elementary course for more mature students, and a kindergarten training course.

The St. Cloud Normal was provided for by the legislature of 1866, and was opened in 1869. It has graduated nearly 2,000 pupils up to the present time.

The Moorhead Normal was the fourth school of its kind provided for by the legislature, the act passing in 1885. The site is a gift of Hon. S. G. Comstock. The buildings are modern and include a main building, a dormitory for young ladies, and an addition to the main building which contains a beautiful auditorium, library, biological laboratories, gymnasium and bath rooms. The school was opened August 29, 1888, with a membership of 42, and since that time the growth of the school has been steady and continuous.

The Duluth Normal was established by the 1895 legislature. The partially completed building was destroyed by fire in 1901 and it was not until Sept. 2, 1902, that the school was thrown open to enrollment.

SCHOOLS FOR DEFECTIVES.

By the law of 1901 these institutions, located at Faribault, were placed under the direction of the board of control. In 1858 the legislature made provisions for the education of the deaf and dumb, but the school was not opened until 1863, and in 1866 the first appropriation for a building was made. The school for the deaf, now under the supervision of J. N. Tate, has an enrollment of nearly 400 and the pupils receive instruction in the following trades and handicrafts: Baking, blacksmithing, cabinet-making, chair-caning, carpentry, cooking, drawing, dressmaking, fancy work, glazing, ironing, painting, printing, sewing, shoe-making, sloyd, wood carving, wood inlaying, and wood turning. A large part of the repairing to buildings and furniture is done by the pupils. So the trades are not only schools for the pupils, but are a means of revenue to the state. The industrial training in this institution is regarded as second in importance only to that done in the literary department. The proper age for admission is eight years. The regular school period is ten years, to which a special course of three years may be added.

The School for the Blind, under the superintendency of James J. Dow, is located one mile from the school for the deaf. It was established in 1866 and in 1868 it was combined with the School for the Deaf, but in 1874 it was finally separated from that school and placed in the location which it now occupies. The school is open to all blind persons residing in the state of Minnesota who are between the ages of six and twenty-five years. Board, care and instruction are furnished to all pupils without charge. The school is organized on the basis of the school system of the state, with an elementary course of eight years and a secondary or high school course of four years. Manual and industrial training is given in sewing, knitting and fancy work, in sloyd, rattan and willow work, in hammock and net weaving, and in broom and whisk making.

The School for Feeble-Minded and Colony of Epileptics, with Dr. A. C. Rogers as superintendent, grew out of the providing for a commission in 1879, the power of which was to select from the patients at the hospital for insane such children as were feeble-minded or idiotic, and not properly belonging with the insane, and assign them to the care of the directors of the Faribault institution. A large frame building situated about one-half mile south of the school for deaf was rented by the board of the "experimental" school, and a veteran specialist, Dr. H. M. Knight of Connecticut, was employed to organize the work, and his son, Dr. Geo. H. Knight, was placed in charge under the title of "acting superintendent," the nominal supervision resting with the superintendent of the school for the deaf till 1882, when a separation was made in name, as it had formerly existed in practice. Dr. Knight resigned in 1885 and Dr. A. C. Rogers, formerly assistant physician to the lowa institution for feeble-minded at Glenwood, was appointed in his place. The entire institution comprises about sixty buildings of all kinds, which with heating, plumbing and lighting equipment is valued at $900,000.

The present main building was begun in 1881, by the erection of what is now the north section of the north wing of the "Centre," containing the administration offices, school and training departments, store rooms, teachers' quarters, living rooms and dormitories for the younger school children and dining rooms for all school children and nearly all of the help connected with this department. This building is constructed of local blue lime stone. Grouped about it are two dormitories for school and working girls, one of lime stone and one of hollow brick, cement finish; central kitchen and bakery of brick and ice and vegetable storage structures of brick and concrete. Capacity of centre group 470 inmates. The Custodia consists of two groups of buildings, one for boys and one for girls. The former is known as "Sunnyside," built of brick, and two annexes both of brick, with a total capacity of 300. The latter is known as "George E: Skinner Hall," is of brick construction and an annex built of concrete. Total capacity 350. The epileptic department consists of three brick cottages for males, located about one-third mile distant from the main building, on the dairy farm and garden, and two brick cottages for females, located near the girls' custodial group. Total capacity 230 patients. On the dairy farm and garden about one-fourth mile distant from the epileptic men and boys is a family of working farm boys in a model cottage of wood construction with a capacity of 50. The Walcott farm of 507 acres is located four and one-half miles (by road) south from the center plant. There are two hospital buildings, one general, constructed of brick, with 60 beds, and one for the cases of tuberculosis, constructed of brick and cement, with 28 beds. In addition, the law provides that this institution shall care for certain cases of incurable physical helplessness. No buildings have been provided for this class though a few patients are being cared for. Total capacity of institution, 1,400. Total value of buildings and grounds, $1,028,437.

Crippled and Deformed Children-In 1905 a commission was created to investigate the advisability of establishing a State hospital for the treatment, care and education of crippled and deformed children, who are indigent, the creation of the commission following a law passed in 1897 providing for the care of such children. In 1907 the city of St. Paul tendered to the State, for the purposes of carrying out the provisions and suggestions of both acts, a tract of land adjoining the St. Paul city hospital, on which there was already constructed two two-story and basement brick buildings, then used for the care of crippled and deformed children, free of charge. In addition certain citizens and commercial bodies tendered to the State as a gift 23 acres abutting on Phalen Park in said city, which was to be used in connection with the hospital as a fresh air sanitarium for convalescent crippled children. The same sources offered to donate $5,000 towards the construction of cottages on the Park site for the use of the children. The magnificent gift was immediately accepted by the 1907 legislative body and the "State Hospital for Indigent, Crippled and Deformed Children" was established by Chapter 81 of the laws of that session. The board of control is given supervision over the property and of the admission of children to the hospital.

The Public School for indigent children is located at Owatonna; and here several hundred children, who have become orphans, or whose parents have neglected, or are so unfortunate as to be unable to provide for them, are cared for by the state, and are being given education according to their years. Homes are found for them as soon as they reach a certain age. The institution has been in successful operation for more than 20 years.

STATE CORRECTIONAL AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

This is a board consisting of three members appointed by the Governor, whose powers and duties are prescribed by law. It has general supervision over the State Hospitals and Asylums for the Insane, the School for Feeble Minded and Colony for Epileptics at Faribault, the State Training School, the State Reformatory and the State Prison, and financial supervision of the State Public School at Owatonna and of the School for the Blind and School for the Deaf at Faribault. Its duties include the purchase of all supplies and equipment for the above institutions and the supervision of the construction and repair of buildings.

In addition to the general control of the above named institutions, this board is charged with full authority in all matters of the State University and the State Normal Schools relating to the erection and construction of new buildings, the purchasing of fuel and the placing of insurance on buildings and contents. It is also charged with the purchase of supplies and fuel for the State Capitol and the placing of insurance on all state buildings except the Soldiers' Home. The State Board of Control also has charge of the examination and approval of plans for jails and lockups, the inspection and condemnation of jails and lockups, the deportation of non-resident dependents, the regulation of the importation of juvenile dependents; and the further duty of passing upon applications for paroles and discharges from the State Reformatory, the paroling of prisoners from the State Prison, and the paroling and discharge of inmates from the State Training School, as well as the general supervision of all paroled inmates of the three lastnamed institutions. At the Prison, Reformatory and Training School a meeting is held each month for the purpose of hearing applications for discharge and parole and complaints on the part of inmates.

St. Peter Hospital—The state legislature, at its session in 1866, passed an act establishing the Minnesota Hospital for Insane, and appointed commissioners to locate the same. It was located at St. Peter, the citizens generously presenting the state with a fine farm of two hundred and ten acres, one mile south of the city. An appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars was made for temporary provision and support of the insane. At the session of the legislature in 1867 forty thousand dollars were appropriated for a permanent building on the farm acquired. Plans were obtained and the building commenced. Temporary quarters had been provided and opened for the reception of patients in October, 1866, to which the patients, previously boarded at the hospital in Iowa, were brought. Dr. Samuel E. Shantz of Utica, N. Y., was elected by the trustees superintendent and physician. Under Dr. Shantz the temporary hospital was organized and directed until his death in August, 1868, when he was succeeded by Dr. C. K. Bartlett of Northampton, Mass. Appropriations were made from year to year for building purposes until the plans were completed in 1876. Dr. Bartlett remained in charge of the institution until January the first, 1893, when he was succeeded by the present superintendent.

Rochester State Hospital-By a special law passed by the legislature of 1873, and amended in 1874, a tax of $10 on all liquor dealers was assessed to raise a fund for the establishment of a state inebriate asylum, and when completed it was to be maintained by a continuation of the same tax. As soon as a sufficient fund was accumulated the inebriate asylum board purchased a farm of 160 acres, within a mile and a half of the city of Rochester, for $9,000. They secured plans and began building in 1877. Later on it became apparent, and was admitted generally, that room was much more urgently needed for the care of the rapidly increasing insane of the state than for inebriates. The legislature of 1878, considering this point, and in view of the determined opposition to the inebriate asylum to be built and maintained on this plan, repealed the act levying the tax, and changed it to the Second Minnesota Hospital for Insane (since changed to the Rochester State Hospital), with the proviso, however, that inebriates should be admitted into the institution and cared for and treated at the expense of the state on the same basis as the insane. On January 1, 1879, the institution was opened for the reception of patients. The hospital farm contains 680 acres.

Fergus Fails State Hospital—In 1885 the legislature established a commission to locate a third hospital in the northern section of the state. The commission received several propositions from important towns in the section designated, and finally accepted the proposal from Fergus Falls. The state secured the title of 636 acres of land, and in 1887 the legislature formally located the hospital and established the same at Fergus Falls, appropriating $94,280 therefor, of which amount $24,280 was designated as payment for the land, $50,000 for building and furnishing a detached ward, and $20,000 for boiler house and engine, laundry, shops and stables, and for sewerage and water connections. The appropriations for buildings contemplated the erection of so much as would be necessary to accommodate 300 persons. The various buildings contemplated in the original plan were all completed in 1900. The normal capacity of the institution is 1,300 patients. The total valuation of the hospital property is approximately $1,000,-000. The hospital was first opened, July 29th, 1890.

The State Asylum at Anoka was opened March 14, 1900, with one hundred patients. This number has been increased from time to time until the inmates now number over 300. The farm operated in connection with the asylum contains 648 acres, operated by the inmates under the direction of competent foremen. Since the opening of the asylum two modern barns have been built for the accommodation of the stock and farm machinery. A fire-proof cottage for females has been built, which is very handsome in design, and complete in all its appointments, and will accommodate fifty people.

Hastings State Asylum.—The legislature at its session in 1899 passed an act locating the Second State Asylum for the Insane at Hastings. There are 643 acres of land connected with the institution, of which 450 acres are under cultivation. The present buildings consist of center building and two transverse wings, built of red brick; the women's cottage, heating and lighting plant and waterworks, and two cottages for men. They are fireproof buildings built of pressed brick. The institution was opened on April 26, 1900.

Detention Hospitals at Fergus Falls, Rochester and St. Peter are provided for, where persons found to be insane, except those criminally insane, are to be committed to these detention hospitals and kept and treated there until the superintendent certifies that the person is not insane or is a fit subject for the state hospital for the insane.

An Asylum for Dangerous Insane is located at St. Peter, and this institution receives insane persons, idiots, imbeciles and epileptics who are committed by courts of criminal jurisdiction or those who may be transferred from other hospitals on the certificate of being dangerously insane. An inmate of a penal institution who is likewise certified to be dangerously insane is to be received at this institution.

Training School for Boys-This institution is located near Red Wing. and is for the education and training of the delinquent and criminal boys who may be committed to its guardianship by the courts of the state. Justice and municipal courts have authority to commit boys. They are committed between the ages of eight and seventeen years, and remain under the guardianship of the Institution until they are twenty-one years old. The board of conrol of state institutions has authority to parole. The buildings are the administration building, with the boys' dining hall and kitchen attached, three cottages, all alike, power house and shop building, greenhouses and cold storage. A school house, patterned after the modern graded school building of six rooms and one large assembly room, houses the schools. Besides the common branches up to and including the eighth grade, drawing is taught. All boys go to school about four hours each day. An opportunity to get a fair start in the following trades is afforded: Carpentry, blacksmithing, laundering, tailoring, printing, shoemaking, painting, cooking and floriculture.

Training School for Girls—Under chapter 282, of the general laws 1907, the state industrial school for girls was created. In connection therewith, the act provides for the appointment of a board of women visitors to be appointed by the governor. This law was enacted for the purpose of separating the school for girls from that of the school for boys at Red Wing, already located at Red Wing. The board of control was instructed by the act to invite proposals for a site for the state industrial school for girls of not less than 160 acres, situated in any county in this state, and by virtue of the provisions of the act, the board, more than two years ago, decided on the location of this institution at Sauk Center, in Stearns county, and since that time the board has been engaged in erecting cottages for the reception of the girls from the Red Wing school, a transfer from which will soon be made. The advisory board is required to inspect the training school twice in each year at such time as the board deems best. The members are to serve without compensation, except such expenses actually incurred in the performance of their duties.

The girls are employed in sewing, knitting, cooking, laundering and general housework. They also have a large garden, some small fruit and considerable poultry, which, together with their flower gardens and lawns, keeps them reasonably busy.

The Minnesota State Reformatory, located at St. Cloud, is designed for the reception of first offenders in felony only, but persons are frequently committed to the reformatory who have been previously imprisoned in state prisons and other institutions for serious offenses because the trial courts are not in possession of accurate information concerning their past life. Inmates of the reformatory for sufficient cause may be transferred to the state prison at Stillwater, and it has sometimes been found necessary to order their transfer. All inmates of the reformatory are received on the indeterminate plan except United States prisoners and persons received on transfer from the State Training School. The federal prisoners have fixed terms of sentence, and those transferred from the State Training School remain under the jurisdiction of the reformatory until they reach their majority. The age limits for inmates are sixteen and thirty years. Inmates are paroled whenever such a course seems best and proper employment can be procured.

The Minnesota Prison-A description of which new institution, now under construction near Stillwater, is given elsewhere, is the penal institution of the state. Here is carried on the manufacturing of binding twine, which is sold to Minnesota farmers at a little more than actual cost of manufacture; and, as the price charged is from two to two and one-half cents per pound below the price charged by outside jobbers and manufacturers to dealers, and as it is just as good as any twine made by outside concerns, it is in great demand, the entire output being usually disposed of before the first of May. The plant has grown gradually until it now has a capacity of over thirteen million pounds per annum. Something over 225 inmates are employed in the shoe factory all the year around. The company pays a stated price for each piece of work turned out, and the per diem earnings of the prisoners is larger than in any other prison in the country. The volume of business of these two industries amounts annually to about $2,000,000.00. Of this total, returns from the twine factory, operated on "state account," amount to over $1,000,000. In order that every inmate may be given an opportunity to acquire the foundation of a good education, there is in connection with the prison a night school in operation eight months in the year.

The better educated prisoners are privileged to join a branch of the Chautauqua Society, which is located within the walls of the institution. This circle is officered and managed entirely by inmates, and, under the direction of the main organization, pursues the regular course of Chautauqua study each year.

The Minnesota Soldiers' Home is located at Minnehaha Falls. Its object is to provide for all honorably discharged ex-soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the army and navy of the United States during the War of the Rebellion, Mexican war or the war with Spain, who now are or who may hereafter become citizens of the State of Minnesota, who, by reason of wounds, disease, old age or infirmities, are unable to earn their living, and who have no adequate means of support, and the board of trustees are also authorized to admit wives with their husbands and the widows and mothers of those who are, or if living would be, eligible to admittance; but no wife or widow shall be admitted unless she shall have been married to her soldier husband prior to the year 1890, and no wife, widow or mother shall be admitted unless she shall be fifty-five years of age and shall have been a resident of the State of Minnesota not less than five years next preceding the date of her application. Its management is vested in a board of seven trustees, appointed by the governor. All the expenses of maintaining the Soldiers' Home, including not only food, clothing, fuel and medicine, but also salaries, furniture, fixtures, books, nursing, burials and all repairs in excess of $1,500 a year are paid from the "home support fund" in the state treasury. The fund consists: (1), of an annual appropriation by the state legislature, and of the per capita allowance from the United States government of $100 a year for each member of the home (average present), not including those who served in the Indian wars, or women.

The Minnesota Tax Commission, created in 1907, exercises general supervision over the administration of the assessment and taxation laws of the state, over assessors, town, county and state boards of review and equalization, and all other assessing officers. It is given power to issue instructions and directions to local assessors and call meetings of local assessors of each county for the purpose of receiving instructions as to the laws governing the assessment and taxation of all classes of property. It is also authorized to enforce the laws relating to the liability and punishment of public officers who fail to comply with the provisions of the law governing the returns of assessment and taxation of property in so far as it relates to their duties and as to their removal from office. County attorneys may be directed by them to commence prosecutions for violations of the law. All public officers are required to report to it as to the assessment of property, collection of taxes received from licenses and other sources, and individuals, co-partnerships, companies, corporations and associations are to furnish any information asked for relative to their capital, funded or other debt, taxes or other information required by law for taxation purposes. The commission may summon witnesses to appear before it, and give testimony relating to any tax matter, and to cause the depositions of witnesses. within or without the state, relative to the same subject.

The insurance Department of the State of Minnesota was organized in 1872. The department has supervision of all classes of insurance companies, which consist of life insurance companies, both upon the level premium and assessment plan: fraternal insurance companies, fire, marine, accident, health, employers' liability, credit, burglary, fidelity, title, plate glass, and sprinkler leakage. The fire insurance companies are divided into many kinds, including stock fire, mutual, and farmers' mutual.

The commissioner is required to examine each domestic company at least once in two years, and he may examine foreign companies whenever in his opinion such examination is necessary.

The Office of Public Examiner was created in 1878 by the appointment, to be made by the governor for the term of three years, of a competent person, who shall be a skillful accountant and well versed as an expert in the theory and practice of bookkeeping. The duties of this officer, being of a fiduciary character, his bonds were fixed at $50,000 for their faithful discharge. The law gives him almost unlimited power in the examination of the accounts of public officers, state and county. He prescribes and enforces correct methods for keeping the financial accounts of state institutions, county offices and banking institutions; visits them twice annually, and makes an exhaustive inspection of their books and the detailed items of expenditure. With reference to county officers, it is his duty to enforce a correct and uniform system of bookkeeping by auditors and treasurers, so as to insure the thorough supervision and safety of the public fund. The jurisdiction of the public examiner embraces the financial officers of the city of St. Paul. The public examiner also examines the books of all corporations paying a gross earnings tax to the state, viz., the railroad companies, the sleeping car companies and the telephone companies.

Superintendent of Banks-By an act of the 1909 legislature the visitation of state banks, etc., was divorced from the public examiner's office, and a new department under the above caption was created, the law going into effect August 1, 1909, when John B. Galarneault of Aitkin was appointed to hold office until January 3, 1911, or until his successor was appointed. By the act the superintendent or his deputies, have authority to visit each of the banking, savings and other moneyed corporations created under the laws of this state, and thoroughly examine into their affairs and ascertain their financial condition at least once in each year. It shall be his duty to carefully inspect and verify the validity and amount of securities and assets held by such institutions, examine into the validity of the mortgages held by savings banks, and see that the same are duly recorded, and ascertain the nature and amount of any discount or other banking transactions which he may deem foreign to the legitimate and lawful purposes of savings institutions. The law also requires him to ascertain the financial standing of all bondsmen of state and county officials, and pass upon the sufficiency of such bonds.

Dairy and Food Commissioner—The dairy industry of Minnesota is among its most important factors in the development of the state, and it is more closely allied to the whole people than any other. The first co-operative creamery in Minnesota was erected in Freeborn county seventeen years ago. and today there are between 500 and 600 of them scattered over the state, in fact there is hardly another state that has so many successful co-operative creameries. No department in the country has made greater efforts to protect the public health through the enforcement of the pure food laws than our own, and it is an established fact that our food inspectors have taken up a larger number of samples annually than are reported by any similar department in the United States.

Bureau of Labor, Industries and Commerce was created by the 1907 legislature, to which is given a wide power for the inspection of industrial and labor conditions in Minnesota, and inspection of factories, etc., is authorized during all reasonable hours. Employers of labor are required to furnish information upon request, although the courts may modify the request of the labor department. Free employment bureaus are established in all cities of over 50,000 population, which at the present time embraces only the cities of Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul. No child under 14 years is permitted to work at any time in a factory, mill or work-shop or about any mine and during the school period; it is made unlawful for any person or corporation to employ any child under 16 years of age, unless an employment certificate is first secured.

Railroad and Warehouse-The first legislation enacted in Minnesota for the regulation of railroads was the act providing for a railroad commissioner, approved March 4, 1871. This act provided for one commissioner to be appointed by the governor. The term of office was fixed at two years; the salary was made $3,000 per annum. Governor Austin appointed under this act A. J. Edgerton, who served until March, 1875. The powers of the commissioner were very limited, practically confined to inspecting the railways and reporting to the legislature his recommendations. This was superseded by the law enacted March 6, 1874, creating a board of railroad commissioners consisting of three members, to be appointed by the governor for a term of two years. The powers of the board were largely increased, including authority "to make and establish a schedule of rates, said schedule or revisions of the same to be deemed and taken in all courts as prima facie evidence as reasonable maximum rates." In 1875 the office was made elective, with only one commissioner, and on March 5, 1885, the three member commission, to be appointed by the governor, was again created, but in 1899 the commission was made elective, with Ira B. Mills, Joseph G. Miller and Charles F. Staples as the elected members, in November of 1890. The first secretary of the commission was Eli S. Warner, who served from January, 1885, till January, 1889. He was succeeded by Tams Bixby, who served until September, 1890, when he resigned. He was succeeded by A. K. Teisborg, who served until September, 1901. A. C. Clausen was appointed at that time and is the present secretary. The most important work undertaken by the commission during its thirty-six years existence as a state department was accomplished during 1905-1906, and the results were reported to the legislature at its thirty-fifth session in 1907. This was an investigation into the reasonableness of merchandise and commodity rates pursuant to a legislative resolution passed by the legislature of 1905. These labors resulted in the adoption and promulgation of new schedules of maximum merchandise and commodity rates showing an average reduction of nearly 25 per cent from those previously in force.

GRAIN INSPECTION. The system of inspection, weighing and registration of grain has been in existence and operation in this state since June 1, 1885, a period of over twenty years. Previous to its establishment the control of grain inspection and weighing was vested in the boards of trade at St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, the members of these commercial bodies each year choosing the official inspectors and weighers by ballot. The inspection department is under the supervision of a chief inspector, who is appointed by the railroad and warehouse commission, and it is divided into seven districts, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Duluth, New Prague, Montgomery, and Sleepy Eye, each comprising a district. In each of these districts a chief deputy inspector has direct control of the work, and has in charge as many deputies and helpers as the work requires. Each district except Sleepy Eye has a weighing department in charge of a state weighmaster, with such number of assistant weighers as he may require. Assistant weighers are also stationed at Faribault and Kasota. State inspection of hay and straw become operative July 1st, 1905.

Minnesota Historical Society-The Minnesota Historical Society was organized under an act passed by the first session of the territorial legislature, in 1849, and is therefore the oldest institution in the state. Its objects are the collection, preservation, and publication of materials relating to the history of this state and the development of its resources; to collect blographic sketches and portraits of its pioneers and prominent cltizens; to record their work in settling the state and building up its towns, cities, and institutions; to preserve an account of its Indian tribes; to gather a museum of articles illustrative of the conditions of the settlement and later history of Minnesota, of the aboriginal people who built the thousands of prehistoric mounds in this state, and of the tribes who were living here when the first white men reached this region; to collect and maintain for the use of the public a reference library of books, pamphlets, maps and manuscripts on the local and general history, resources and development of Minnesota, of the United States and the world, and to promote the knowledge of these subjects among the citizens of the state. The library contains 59,265 bound and 35,421 unbound volumes, in total 94,686, all of which have been carefully selected and are practically valuable, some being very rare. In the newspaper department the society has complete files of nearly all papers that have been and are being published in Minnesota. The many portraits, historical pictures, and framed documents, which have been donated to the society, and its museum, including very extensive archeological collections donated by Rev. Edward C. Mitchell and by the late Hon. J. V. Brower, are of great interest to visitors. Membership in the society is open to any citizen interested in its objects. The executive council comprises thirty, who are chosen from this membership, and, according to a statute of the state, the governor, lieutenant governor and the four other elective officers of the executive departments of the state government, who are ex-officio councilors. The officers of the society are elected by the council for three years.

Game and Fish—The execution of the laws relating to the propagation and preservation of game and fish is made the duty of the state game and fish commission, a body of five members, each appointed for four years by the governor. The commission is required to select one of its members as executive agent, which officer has the powers of the board when the same is not in session, and is the only salaried member. Other employes and officers of the commission include a superintendent of fisheries, superintendents of the several hatcheries, and a force of wardens. The work of the commission is supported by funds derived from several sources, including direct legislative appropriations for general and special purposes. from the sale of the various kinds of fishing and hunting licenses, and from the sale of contraband game, fish and paraphernalia for the propagation of the several species of food and game fishes, the state supports three hatcheries, the third having been recently established at Deerwood, Crow Wing county. The other two are located at St. Paul and Glenwood. Trout, pike, perch, bass and crapples are the chief varieties propagated and distributed to the inland lakes and streams. During the past two years nearly a hundred million fry of all varieties have been distributed, the work of distribution having been greatly facilitated during the past year by the acquisition of a specially constructed railway car designed for the purpose.

State Library—This is designed to be a comprehensive and fairly complete collection of books on the subject of law and legislation. As a "working library" it now ranks with the best in the country, and, if conducted along the lines that are now being developed, it will eventually, in every way, compare favorably with the best and oldest state libraries. The librarian is appointed by the governor, and his assistant is appointed by the supreme court. The judges of the supreme court exercise a general supervision over the library and direct the purchase of books and prescribe the rules governing the library.

Forestry Department—Section 1781 of the Revised Laws of 1905 requires the State Auditor to appoint a Forestry Commissioner, whose duties are the same as required of the chief fire warden under the act of April 18, 1895, but in addition he is to disseminate information concerning forestry. His salary is $1,500 a year. The supervisors of towns, mayors of cities, and presidents of village councils are constituted fire wardens of their respective towns, cities and villages, and the Forestry Commissioner may appoint fire wardens in unorganized territory.

State Agricultural Society-The Minnesota State Agricultural Society dates its corporate existence from the year 1868, although for many years previous to that date, even into the territorial days, a society had been in existence covering the main features of the present organization. The annual fairs of the society were held in different localities, with varying financial success, until 1885, when the county of Ramsey conveyed to the State of Minnesota 200 acres of land midway between St. Paul and Minneapolls for the purpose of exhibiting thereon, under the management of the State Agricultural Society, or its successors, annually, the agriculture, stock-breeding, horticultural, mining, mechanical, industrial and other products and resources of the State of Minnesota, including proper exhibits of the arts, sciences and all other public displays pertinent to or attendant upon exhibitions and expositions of human art, industry or skill. The legislature met this munificent donation with the same liberal spirit that characterized the tender and appropriated $100,000 for permanent improvements. The board of managers proceeded at once to erect such buildings as were necessary for holding the first exhibition on the new grounds, but it was found that, despite the most careful management, the grounds could not be put in condition for the use of the society without a greater expense than had been anticipated. The total expenditures for improvements aggregated $131,319, and the amount beyond the $100,000 was advanced by public spirited citizens of St. Paul and Minneapolis. During 1886 further expenditures, equal to $34,074, were incurred, and the state was again appealed to, and in 1887 an appropriation of $50,000 was made. Further appropriations for permanent equipment have been made by each succeeding session of the legislature and in 1905 the laws governing the society were codified, revised and amended by the legislature of 1905. Under this law the membership is composed of three delegates to be chosen annually by each of the county and district agricultural societies in the state; one delegate from each county in the state, in which no agricultural society or street fair association exists, which delegate the county commissioners of each county are authorized to appoint; honorary members who by reasons of eminent service in agriculture or horticulture, or in the arts and sciences connected herewith, or of any long and faithful service in the society, or of benefits conferred upon it, may, by a two-thirds vote at any of its annual meetings be elected as such; two delegates selected by, and the president ex-officio, of the following societies and associations: State Horticultural Society; the Amber Cane Society; the State Dairymen's Association; the State Beekeeper's Association; and the Minnesota State Breeder's Association; and other state society or association within the state, having for its object the promotion of any branch of agriculture, horticulture, stock raising or improvement of mechanics related to agriculture or horticulture. The members of the governing board of said society and its officers shall by virtue of their offices as such be and become members of said society. The annual meeting of the society occurs in St. Paul or Minneapolis on the second Tuesday in January each year and continues for three days, the election of officers occurring upon the last day of the session. A president and two vice presidents are elected to serve for one year and two managers to serve for three years at each annual meeting. The state appropriates $4,000 annually to aid in the payment of premiums, and $28,000 annually to aid in the payment of premiums at county and other fairs and exhibitions complying with the provisions of the law.

Minnesota State Horticultural Society is incorporated under the laws of the state, and has for its work the gathering and dissemination of knowledge pertaining to forestry, fruit and vegetable growing, the culture of flowers, etc., adapted to the soil and climate of Minnesota. The present working membership of the society consists of over two thousand professional and amateur horticulturists throughout the Northwest. The annual membership fee is $1, while the life membership fee is $10, payable in two annual installments of $5 each, if preferred. Life members are entitled to all the privileges of the society, including its publications, during life, and to a file of the back reports, as complete as possible, some twenty volumes, constituting an invaluable horticultural library. The soclety has a plant breeders' auxiliary and also a woman's auxiliary, the former to encourage the origination of new horticultural plants, and the latter to awaken and foster an interest in horticulture among women.

The Minnesota Dairymen's Association (incorporated March 2, 1882) was organized Feb. 7, 1878, for the purpose of improving the Minnesota stock and dairy products by holding an annual meeting of the representatives of these interests and the distribution of literature on such subjects among the people of the state. The association is encouraged by a permanent appropriation of $2,000 annually for the publication of its proceedings and distribution of dairy literature and dairy instruction.

Minnesota Butter and Cheese Makers Association was organized in the fall of 1894, and is incorporated under the laws of the state, its special object being to advance the dairy interests of the state and to improve the quality of Minnesota dairy products. It holds an annual meeting, and pays premiums on butter and cheese exhibited, and participates in the appropriation allowed by the state for the encouragement of such organizations.

Farmers' institutes-The holding of farmers' institutes has been in vogue for 25 years, or more. The government is vested in a board of administration. This board has for a long time consisted of six members. three of whom are chosen from the board of regents of the State University, and the other three are the presidents of the State Agricultural Society, the State Horticultural Society and the State Dairymen's Association. The three officers last mentioned hold their places for three years and at the close of that period the party who may have been elected as president of their association then becomes a member of the board of administration, to continue for a period of three years. This work has been under the direction of Mr. O. C. Gregg from its beginning to early in 1907 when Prof. Jas. Wilson was elected to succeed him. The institutes are largely held during the winter months, commencing with some date in November and closing about the middle of March. The Farmers' Institute Annual is now issued in a standard size of about 400 pages. As the name indicates, It is published each year, and contains the latest and best practical information concerning agriculture in all its branches, which includes the work of the field, stock interests and horticulture.

State Board of Health and Vital Statistics—The revised laws of 1905 have materially enlarged the duties of this board. In addition to its duties relative to the commonly accepted contagious diseases, it has authority to deal with such general problems as the manufacture into articles of commerce, other than food, of diseased, tainted, or decayed animal or vegetable matter; the business of scavengering and the disposal of sewage; the location of mortuaries and cemeteries, and the removal and burial of the dead; the management of lying-in houses and boarding places for infants, and the treatment of infants therein; the pollution of streams and other waters, and the distribution of water by private persons for drinking or domestic use; the construction and equipment, in respect to sanitary conditions, of schools, hospitals, almshouses, prisons, and other public institutions, and of lodging houses and other public sleeping places kept for gain; the treatment, in hospitals and elsewhere, of persons suffering from communicable diseases, the disinfection and quarantine of persons and places in case of such diseases, and the reporting of sickness and deaths therefrom; the furnishing of vaccine matter; the accumulation of filthy and unwholesome matter to the injury of the public health, and the removal thereof; and the collection, recording, and reporting of vital statistics. These laws also provide that all health officers throughout the state must be medical men.

The State Live Stock Sanitary Board was established by Chapter 352, Laws of 1903. The board consists of five members appointed by the governor. Three members of the board are persons financially interested in the breeding and maintenance of live stock. The remaining two members are graduate veterinarians practicing in the state. The duties of the board are to protect the health of the domestic animals of the state, to determine and employ the most competent and practical means for the prevention, suppression, control and eradication of dangerous contagious and infectious diseases among domestic animals. The board is required to hold quarterly meetings in St. Paul on the Friday after the second Tuesday in January, April, July and October of each year. The annual meeting occurs at the regular quarterly meeting held in April. The secretary and executive officer, together with the field veterinarians are required to be graduate veterinarians, and are elected to their position for one year or until their successors are appointed

State Sanatorium for Consumptives—This institution was definitely established by the act of the legislature of 1903, which also appropriated $25,000 with which to secure a site and prepare for building. The site selected and purchased by the State Board of Control consists of 740 acres upon the southern extremity of Leech Lake, near Walker. The building which has been erected will accommodate twenty-eight patients in two wards. The number of patients that can be cared for has been increased by the erection of sleeping shacks on the grounds. An ornamental cottage has been erected for the farmer, which greatly adds to the attractiveness of the view from the front of the institution.

Printing Commission—The public printing for the State of Minnesota is under the control of commissioners of printing, comprising the secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer. Biennially the commissioners elect a superintendent of printing. The public printing is divided into five classes, and let by the commissioners of printing by contract to the lowest bidder, sufficient bonds being required of contractors for faithful performance of the work.

The Minnesota Society for the Prevention of Cruelty was organized Oct. 21, 1869, for the purpose of preventing cruelty to animals throughout the State of Minnesota. It was recognized by the legislature of 1905 constituting the society a state bureau of child and animal protection. The governor, the superintendent of public instruction and the attorney-general are ex-officio members of the board of directors of said state bureau.

The Bcard of Pardons was created by chapter 23 of the General Laws of 1897, and consists of the governor, chief justice of the supreme court and the attorney general. Said board has the power to grant pardons and to commute the sentence of any person convicted of any offense against the laws of this state. The board holds regular meetings on the second Mondays of January, April, July and October of each year, and such other meetings as may be deemed expedient.

The State Board of investment of the proceeds from sales of state lands consists of the governor, state auditor and state treasurer. This board controls the investment of the trust funds in the state treasury, and no purchase or disposition of securities can be made without its favorable action. This board has entire charge of the loaning of school and university funds to counties, cities, villages, townships and school districts.

Notaries Public are appointed by the governor, for the term of seven years, upon the payment of a fee to the private secretary of three dollars and the filing of a bond in the sum of $2,000.

The Legislature for the year 1911 is composed of sixty-three senators and one hundred and twenty representatives. The legislature meets blennially, commencing on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January in odd numbered years. The session is limited to ninety legislative days by constitutional amendment, adopted at the general election in 1888. The legislative term of representatives is for two years and of senators for four years.

The State Elections are held on every even numbered year, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The official year commences on the first Monday in January, and the terms of office terminate at that time. Women may vote for school officers, and are eligible as school officers, county superintendents of schools, and to appointments as deputies by county officers, provided they are citizens of this state. The election law passed by the legislature of 1891 brought the entire state under the socalled Australian system of voting at general elections.

The Primary Election is held on Tuesday, seven weeks preceding any election (except town, village or special elections), for the purpose of choosing candidates for all elective districts, county and city officers and elective members of school, park and library boards in citles of over 50,000 inhabitants, and all officers chosen wholly within any subdivision of the state. State officers being exempt. Primary election day constitutes the first day of registration for the ensuing election. All persons entitled to registration on such day are qualified to vote for candidates of the political party with which they affiliated and generally supported at the last general election, and with which they propose to affiliate at the next election.

Legal Holidays of the state, established by law, are: New Year's Day, the 1st of January; Christmas Day, the 25th of December; Lincoln's birthday, February 12th; Washington's birthday, February 22d; Memorial Day, May 30th; Independence Day, the 4th of July; Labor Day, first Monday in September; Good Friday, next preceding Easter Sunday; the general election day, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even numbered years. The statutes of the state indirectly recognize Sunday, and Thanksgiving Day as legal holidays by providing that maturing paper, bills of exchange, etc., falling due on those days shall be due and payable on the business day following.

Fiscal Year—Chapter 124, G. L. of 1883, provides that the fiscal year of all official reports should commence on the first day of August and close on the thirty-first day of July, except the reports of the insurance commissioner, which are made for the calendar year.

General Taxes become a lien upon real property from the first day of May of the year in which levied, but between grantor and grantee the lien does not attach until the next January. Tax sales by county auditor are made annually, on the second Monday in May, of the lands delinquent on the first Monday in January preceding June of the previous year. Payment of real estate taxes must be made on or before the first day of June for the taxes of the previous year. After that date a penalty of ten per cent immediately attaches, which penalty carries it through the remaining seven months of the year. At the expiration of that time, if still unpaid, the tax is deemed delinquent, and an additional five per cent will be added. If still unpaid, the property for which the tax is delinquent will be sold on the second Monday of May. Chapter 54, of the General Laws of 1897, provides: "That if one-half of the amount of the tax on any real estate shall be paid before the first day of June of each year, then no penalty shall be charged or collected on the one-half remaining unpaid; provided, such one-half remaining unpaid shall be paid before the first day of November of each year; but if said remaining one-half of said tax shall not be paid before said first day of November, then a penalty of ten per cent shall immediately accrue, and thereafter be charged upon the one-half of any such real estate tax remaining unpaid." After the tax sale, the amount of the judgment against the property and for which it was sold draws interest at the rate of one per cent per month until redeemed, whether the same has been purchased or is bid in by the state. The redemption period extends for three years and until public notice of the time of expiration of such redemption has been made by the county auditor. The full period of redemption does not expire until sixty days after the proof of service of such notice has been filed with the county auditor.

Rights of Women-Women may vote for school officers. Property owned prior to marriage remains in her own right, as well as property acquired during marriage. She is practically given the same property rights in her married state, as the husband, and a recent legislative act permits the husband and wife to deed direct from one to the other. A widow is entitled to one-third of the property of her demised husband, and the homestead goes direct to her in case of no children-with children, she has a life estate in the same. Various personal property rights are given to her. In order to vote she must be naturalized, although the naturalization of the husband naturalizes the wife. Divorces are granted by the district courts under the usual statutory conditions.

State Drainage—Early legislation calling for drainage of the low, flat and swamp lands of the state has been superseded by various drainage laws, and the one under which the state carries on the work creates the state drainage commission consisting of the governor, auditor, and secretary of state, which commission names an engineer, and the latter designates his assistants. The legislature has appropriated $100,000 annually for several years past to carry on the work, and vast tracts of land in northern Minnesota, belonging to the state, and to private parties, have been reclaimed for agricultural purposes.

Oil Inspection—An inspector of illuminating oils is appointed by the governor, and the inspector designates his deputies in the various counties. All fees are paid into the treasury, and a salary is paid the inspector and deputies.

The State Highway Commission was created by the 1905 legislature, which session provided for the levying of an annual tax, the proceeds from which, as well as from the internal improvement land fund, have been turned over to the commission for division among the different counties for building state roads. The division basis has been reached by taking an average of area, the road mileage and the assessed valuation of each county. The manner in which a county can avail itself of the state aid is by act of the county board in establishing a state road or bridge, after such is accomplished this commission pays one-third of the cost of the road and the county pays two-thirds of the cost. The road is built by contracts let by the county board, under the supervision of the state engineer.

The Minnesota Public Library Commission was created by an act of legislature in April, 1899. The board of directors is composed of the president of the State University, the state superintendent of public instruction, the secretary of the State Historical Society, each ex-officio, and two other members appointed by the governor. The executive officers appointed by this board are: (1), the secretary, who is responsible for the administration of the commission and supervises the extension work; and (2), the librarian of the department of traveling libraries. The purpose of the commission, as expressed in the law, is: (1), to give "advice and instruction to the managers of any public library, and to the trustees of any village, town, or community upon any matter pertaining to the organization, maintenance, or administration of librarles, and to assist, by counsel and encouragement, in the formation of libraries where none exist, or in improving those already established," and (2), to maintain a "state circulating library, from which any town, village, or community may borrow books." The general traveling libraries are made up of groups of 50 volumes each for small towns and villages, and of 25 volumes each for rural communities. They are loaned for six months upon application of ten taxpayers. and to a public library upon application of the board of directors. A fee of $1.00 for 50 books and 50 cents for 25 books is paid in advance for transportation charges. In addition to the 50 volume and 25 volume library, this free circulating library reaches out to every interest within the state.

The Minnesota State Art Society was created by the 1903 session of the legislature for the advancement of fine arts, etc. The governing board consists of the governor, president of the university and seven members to be appointed by the governor, qualifications being prescribed by the act. The officers and membership are prescribed by the act, and annual exhibits are provided for, prizes being offered and paid for by the state.

The Minnesota State Board of Immigration was created by an act of the legislature approved April 22d, 1907. The act provides that the governor. auditor, and secretary of state shall be ex-officio members, and they are empowered to select two additional members to hold their offices for the term of two years. The duties of the Board shall be to collect and arrange statistics and other information in reference to the lands and general and special resources of the State of Minnesota, and the advantages of this state as a place of residence; to spread knowledge of the same throughout the civilized world by correspondence, by messengers and public lectures and by all forms of legitimate advertising; to factilitate the immigration of persons of good moral character as may desire a change of domicile, and to answer all inquiries from persons residing within or without the state, upon the subjects aforesaid.

Board of Visitors—On April 25, 1907, the governor approved chapter 441 general laws of that session of the legislature, creating a state board of visitors for public institutions. Meetings are to be held quarterly or oftener if required. The members are to study the care and management of charitable and correctional institutions and must visit those within the bounds of the state and the governor may order the board to investigate any penal or charitable institution in Minnesota, the latter being empowered to administer oaths for the purpose of carrying on such investigation, and a report of which is to be made to the governor and transmitted to the legislature.

Board of Examiners of Nurses was provided for by the 1907 session of the legislature, the act making it unlawful to practice professional nursing as a registered nurse without first obtaining a certificate of registration from this board. The board is to hold public examinations at least once in each year at its headquarters in St. Paul for the purpose of carrying on the examination of all applicants who must be 21 years old, of good moral character, having received an education equivalent to that required for admission into the high schools and graduate from a training school connected with a general hospital where three years of training with a systematic course of instruction is given, who apply. The application must be accompanied by a fee of $5. The members of the board are to receive a compensation of $5 per day for each day of actual service and 10 cents per mile for each mile traveled in attending meetings of the board, and the excess fees shall be paid into the state treasury.

A Stallion Registration Board consisting of the professor of animal husbandry of the Minnesota College of Agriculture, who shall be ex-officio secretary, an officer of the board, the veterinary of the state experimental station and the president of the Minnesota Horse Breeders' Association, was created by the 1907 session of the legislature. The act makes suitable provisions for the inspection of all animals subject to registration and provides for a licensing of the animal by the board. A form of license is given in the act. The registration fee must not exceed $2 for the examination and enrollment of each pedigree and the license fee. An annual fee of $1 is required for renewal of the license.

Aplaries—Under Chapter 160, G. L. 1907, the governor was directed to appoint a state inspector of aplaries, to hold office for two years. The inspector has charge of the work of the suppression of contagious diseases among bees, and is given powers along that line.

Monuments and Markers-The 1909 session of the legislature, in the general appropriation bill, made provision for various monuments and markers. The first was an appropriation of $2,000 for the erection of a monument to the memory of persons killed in Jackson county during the Indian massacre of 1857. A second appropriation was for $4,000 for the erection of a statue to Colonel Alexander Wilkin of the 9th Minnesota Volunteers. This has already been placed in one of the niches in the rotunda on the second floor of the state capitol. A third appropriation was for $2,000 and provided for the removing and re-interring the remains of four soldiers killed at the battle of Wood Lake, and for the erection of a suitable monument on the battle field. The monument has since been placed, and the battle field was dedicated in October of 1910. A fourth appropriation was for the bust of Hon. Henry M. Rice, which has since been placed in the state capitol. Still another appropriation was for $4,000 for a statue to commemorate the services of the late John B. Sanborn of the 4th Regiment of Minnesota Volunteers. A monument has been placed over the grave of Maj. Joseph R. Brown, located in Sibley county, and dedicatory services were held during the month of October, 1910.

POPULATION OF MINNESOTA.

URBAN AND RURAL.

The total number of people residing in the State of Minnesota, according to the 1910 census taken by the United States Government, is 2,075,708 as compared with 1,751,394 in 1900, and 1,301,826 in 1890. The increase from 1900 to 1910, therefore, is 324,314 or 18.5 per cent as compared with an increase for the preceding decade of 449,568 or 34.5 per cent.

The remarkable feature of the government census, so far as it relates to Minnesota, is the heavy drift of the population toward the large commercial centers. The census shows completely that a number of counties in Minnesota, outside of those in which our large cities are located, have lost heavily in population, and the attention of the legislature, to whom this volume is dedicated, is respectfully called to this fact with the hope that some action will be taken to encourage the younger and future generations of Minnesota to remain on the farms. This can be done by the enlarging and developing of the agricultural schools by offering inducements that will make life on the farm an offset to the glare of the electric lights of the cities. There can be but a mild denial, if any, to the fact that the high cost of living at the present time is due to the fact of the lack of production of food stuffs and that lack of production can only be met by the development of vast acres of virgin soil in the state. To bring about this development the cry must be "Back to the farm."

At the time that the present pages have been released for the press the director of the census at Washington was unable to give to this department for publication in the manual the population of the various cities and villages of the state as well as the different townships in which the agrarian population of the state resided but a detailed statement by counties is given. In addition there follows a compilation of the population by congressional districts as the districts stood prior to the meeting of this session of the legislature, and also of the legislative districts prior to the present session. The latter two tables are given with the expectation that the book will be on the desks of the senators and members before they seriously take up the question of the re-apportionment of the state.

POSTAGE RATES.

THE CLASSES OF MAIL MATTER.

Domestic mail matter is divided into four classes, as follows:

First Class—Letters, postal cards and matter wholly or partially in writing, whether sealed or unsealed (except manuscript copy accompanying proof-sheets or corrected proof-sheets of the same), and all matter sealed or otherwise closed against inspection.

Rates of Postage—Two cents per ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards one cent each. On "drop" letters, two cents per ounce or fraction thereof, when mailed at letter-carriers' office; and one cent per ounce or fraction thereof at other offices.

Second Class—Newspapers and publications issued at stated intervals as often as four times a year, bearing date of issue and numbered consecutively, issued from a known office of publication, and formed of printed sheets, without board, cloth, leather or other substantial binding. Such publications must be originated and published for the dissemination of information of a public character, or devoted to literature, the sciences, art, or some special industry. They must have a legitimate list of subscribers, and must not be designed primarily for advertising purposes, or for free circulation at nominal rates.

Rate of Postage—One cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof, when sent by other than publishers.

Third Class-Books, circulars, periodicals, and matter wholly in print (not included in second class), proof-sheets, corrected proof-sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same.

Rate of Postage-One cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

Fourth Class—Merchandise, namely, all matter not embraced in the other three classes, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface, or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag, or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service, and not above the weight provided by law.

Rates of Postage—One cent per ounce or fraction thereof, but on seeds, cuttings, roots, scions and plants, one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

THE LIMIT OF WEIGHT.

A package must not exceed four pounds in weight, unless it be a single book.

PAYMENT OF POSTAGE.

On first-class matter the postage should be fully prepaid; but if two cents in stamps be affixed, the matter will be forwarded and remainder due collected and addressed before delivery.

On second-class matter the postage must be fully prepaid. On third-class matter the postage must be fully prepaid. On fourth-class matter the postage must be fully prepaid.

WHAT MAY BE WRITTEN OR PRINTED ON MAIL MATTER.

Second Class—The name and address of persons to whom the matter is to be sent; index-figures of subscription book printed or written; printed title of publication; printed or written name or address, without advertisement of publisher or sender; written or printed words or figures, or both, indicating date upon which subscription ends; correction of typographical errors; a mark except by printed or written words to designate a word or passage to which it is desired to call attention; the words, "Sample copy"; publishers' or news agents' bills, receipts and orders for subscriptions, but the same shall convey no other information than the name, place of publication, subscription price, and amount of subscription due. The number of copies inclosed may be indicated on wrapper or face of package.

Third Class—Sender's name and address, with the word "from"; marks other than by written or printed words to call attention to word or passage; correction of typographical errors; on the blank leaves or cover of any book may be placed a simple manuscript dedication or inscription not like a personal correspondence; upon the address side of wrapper, envelope, tag or label must be left space sufficient for legible address and necessary stamps.

Fourth Class—With matter of this kind may be inclosed any mailable third-class matter. He was nominated as the Republican candidate for governor in 1910, and elected November 8, 1910, by a large plurality.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Samuel Y. Gordon (Republican) was born at Lexington, a small town in southern Indiana, September 14, 1861. His line of ancestors were of Scotch and Irish blood and were in their turn pioneers of Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Minnesota. In the early part of 1862 he moved with his mother and grandparents to Meeker county, Minnesota, and located on a homestead a few miles from where the city of Litchfield now stands, his father at that time serving as a Union soldier in the Civil War.

Late in the summer of 1862 the Minnesota Indian massacre took place and Mr. Gordon's people were driven out of Meeker county, returning to Indiana until the Indian uprising had been quelled, when the family again returned to Meeker county, where the subject of this sketch remained until the winter of 1880-81, when he moved to Brown's Valley. He was at first employed in the implement business by his father but soon branched into the newspaper field, founding the Inter-Lake Tribune, in August, 1885, which paper he has continuously published ever since, a period of nearly a quarter of a century.

Germany, and located in Cumberland county, Pennsylvania. Mr. Ege's grandfather, Peter Ege, served on General Washington's staff and married Miss Arthur, a cousin of General Arthur, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, September 12, 1799. General and Martha Washington were present at the wedding and presented Mr. Ege with a pair of silver knee buckles which are still in the family. Peter reared a family and associated with his son, Michael, and Major Joseph Arthur Ege. Mr. Ege's father was in the iron business, owning and operating Mount Holly Forge, Big Pond and Pine Grove furnaces in Cumberland county, Pennsylvania, and manufactured the first stoves manufactured in the United States, remaining in the business until the tariff was taken off iron, in the forties, and the iron industry in the United States was ruined, when the Eges, with all other iron masters, were forced to the wall. His father married Jane Elmira Woodburn of Newville, Pennsylvania. James Ege, at the age of thirteen, began to support himself, working on a farm at $4 a month until he had earned enough, at his fourteenth year, to take him west, landing at Whiteside county, Illinois, in August, 1858. He worked on a farm summers and attended school winters, until, in August, 1862, when in his seventeenth year, he enlisted in company F, 93rd regiment of Illinois volunteers, with which he served two years, eleven months and twenty days at the front. He took part in every engagement of his regiment, notably Raymond, Jackson and Champion Hills, Mississippi, where he was taken prisoner and in a short time was exchanged, returning to his regiment. He engaged in the battles of Dalton and Allatona Pass, Georgia, was in the battle of Mission Ridge, Tennessee, and a number of minor engagements and skirmishes, and finally in Sherman's march to the sea and the grand review at Washington. He was promoted to corporal and later, for meritorious conduct, was made mounted orderly at brigade headquarters, third brigade, third division, 15th army corps. He was offered a lieutenancy in three different regiments by being transferred, but he did not accept, as he preferred to remain with the boys with who... he had enlisted. He never was wounded but ruined his health. He returned to Illinois where he farmed until 1867. He married Margaret C. Quick, of Albany, Ill., who died twelve years ago in Minneapolis. He has never remarried. He moved to Minneapolis in 1869 where he has been engaged in speculating in stock and real estate. He joined the G. A. R. in its incipiency and was junior vice department commander in 1887 and department commander of Minnesota in 1888. He was president of the Union Veterans' and Sons' League for five terms. Mr. Ege has been a lifelong republican. He cast his first vote for Lincoln in 1864, and has always taken an active part in national, state and local politics. He served as deputy sheriff five and one-half years and as sheriff of Hennepin county in 1889, 1890, 1892 and 1893. In 1902 he ran for nomination for register of deeds and received nearly 10,000 votes. He served as Sergeant-at-Arms of the state senate in 1907 and 1909 and had the endorsement of Hennepin county for secretary of state in 1910. He was selected Sergeant-at-Arms of the state senate in 1911.
