PETER E. HANSON

State Senator from January 1, 1895, to December 31, 1898, and Secretary of State from January 1, 1901, to December 31, 1907, died February 11, 1914, of apoplexy, at San Diego, California.

Mr. Hanson was born at Voldsjo, Sweden, June 12, 1845. When twelve years of age he emigrated to this country with his parents. The family came direct to Minnesota and settled on a homestead at Swede Grove, Meeker County, August 3, 1857. The father soon became known as one of the most prosperous of the early pioneers. Peter attended the public schools here and early began to take an active part in the affairs of the community. While still in his teens he had become noted as the best shot in the neighborhood, and when the Indians rose against the settlers in 1862, he hastened to join the force organized for their defense. He helped to guard the homes and defend the fort at Forest City, and participated in two of the battles incident to the uprising.

When peace was restored young Hanson went back to work on the farm. In 1867 he was married to Rachel N. Halverson and entered fully upon a career that was destined to make him the most influential resident of Meeker County, and prominent in the affairs of the state. He soon became distinguished as a large land holder, and was successively a member of the town board and chairman of the county board. In 1879 he engaged in the real estate business at Litchfield, and in 1880 he was appointed land agent for the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Company, a relation which continued after the merging of that Company with the Great Northern. Later his business activities took other directions. He was the leading stockholder in the First National Bank of Litchfield, and in 1891 was elected its president, a position he held at the time of his death. In 1894, he was elected State Senator serving two terms, and in 1900 was elected Secretary of State, serving three terms.

While Mr. Hanson took an interest in the larger public affairs, he did not neglect the smaller. He had a keen civic pride and was always ready to cooperate with his neighbors in the improvement of the city which he had made his home. He was a kindly, genial, and companionable man. Easy to approach, a favor asked of him was rarely denied and a friend was never forgotten. In Peter E. Hanson the state lost a valuable citizen and one who had done more than most men to aid in its development.

PETER E. HANSON
TWELFTH SECRETARY OF STATE
DIED FEBRUARY 11, 1914.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over said Territory of Minnesota shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within said Territory; shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof; shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs. He may grant pardons for offenses against the law of said Territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said Territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first day of December in each year, to the president of the United States, and at the same time two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate for the use of Congress. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of nine members having the qualifications of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives shall, at its first session, consist of eighteen members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the members of the council and of the house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the districts for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties and districts of the Territory to be taken, and the first election shall be held at such time and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall, at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties and districts shall be entitled under this act.

governor shall order a new election to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place on such day as the governor shall appoint, but thereafter the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning of the representation in the several counties or districts to the council and house of representatives, according to the population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular session of the legislative assembly; provided, that no one session shall exceed the term of sixty days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of said Territory at the time of the passage of this act, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be prescribed by the legislative assembly; provided, that the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States and those who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, consistent with the Constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws passed by the legislative assembly and governor shall be submitted to the Congress of the United States, and if disapproved shall be null and of no effect.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district and county officers, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota. The governor shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, appoint all officers not herein otherwise provided for, and, in the first instance, the governor alone may appoint all said officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased, while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, except postmasters, shall be a member of the legislative assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually; and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the supreme court, at such time and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of probate courts and justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law; provided, that the justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each district court, or the judges thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception and appeals shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court shall be allowed, and may be taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed one thousand dollars; and each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws; and writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said Territory, the same as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of the late Wisconsin Territory received for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin received. There shall also be a marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts, when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate justices, attorney and marshal, shall be nominated and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively, take an oath or affirmation, before the district judge, or some justice of the peace in the limits of said Territory, duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws now in force therein, or before the chief justice, or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person by whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings; and the chief justice and associate justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation, before the said governor or secretary, or some judge or justice of the peace of the Territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified; which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,500 as governor, and $1,000 as superintendent of Indian affairs. The chief justice and associate justice shall each receive an annual salary of $1,800. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of $1,800. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of $1,000, to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory; and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum to be expended by the secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses, and the secretary of the Territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said Territory shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the Territory of Wisconsin and to its inhabitants; and the laws in force in the Territory of Wisconsin at the date of the admission of the State of Wisconsin shall continue to be valid and operative therein, so far as the same be not incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said Territory of Minnesota; and the laws of the United States are hereby extended over and declared to be in force in said Territory, so far as the same, or any provision thereof, may be applicable.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota shall hold its first session in St. Paul; and at said first session the governor and legislative assembly shall locate and establish a temporary seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible; and shall at such time as they shall see proper prescribe by law the manner of locating the permanent seat of government of said Territory by a vote of the people. And the sum of twenty thousand dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby appropriated and granted to said Territory of Minnesota, to be applied by the governor and legislative assembly to the erection of suitable public buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate of the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as are exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such times and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and at all subsequent elections the times, places and manner of holding the elections shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process and proceedings, civil and criminal, at law or in chancery, and all indictments and informations, which shall be pending and undetermined in the courts of the Territory of Wisconsin, within the limits of said Territory of Minnesota, when this act shall take effect, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined in the district courts hereby established, which may include the counties or districts where any such proceedings may be pending. All bonds, recognizances, and obligations of every kind whatsoever, valid under the existing laws, within the limits of said Territory, shall be valid under this act; and all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws, in force within said limits, may be prosecuted, tried, and punished in the courts established by this act; and all penalties, forfeitures, actions and causes of action may be recovered under this act the same as they would have been under the laws in force within the limits composing said Territory at the time this act shall go into operation.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and all other judicial and ministerial officers, who shall be in office within the limits of said Territory when this act shall take effect, shall be and they are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices as officers of the Territory of Minnesota, temporarily, and until they or others shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill their places, in the manner herein directed, or until their offices shall be abolished.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of $5,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by and under the direction of the said governor of the Territory of Minnesota, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the governor, legislative assembly, judges of the supreme court, secretary, marshal, and attorneys of said Territory, and such other persons and under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That every bill which shall or may pass the council and house of representatives, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the Territory; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated; which shall cause the objections to be entered at large upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall also be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law; but in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislative assembly, by adjournment, prevent it, in which case it shall not become a law.

MINNESOTA STATE SEAL.

The first official record of a state seal is in the message of Governor Ramsey to the first territorial legislature, Sept. 9, 1849, in which he says: "A temporary great seal of the Territory of Minnesota has been adopted, an impression of which will be submitted. I preferred consulting the legislative assembly upon the adoption of a permanent great seal, and I herewith lay before you the design of one, to which I ask your attention, and if you approve it, or suggest its modification, it will be placed in the hands of an artist and engraved, and thenceforward supersede the seal now in use." On October 31st Mr. James M. Boal, from the committee appointed to draft a device for the territorial seal, reported having adopted for "a device, an every-day scene, consisting of an Indian family with their lodge, canoe, etc., and a single white man visiting them, with no other protection than the feeling of hospitality and friendship existing between the two people. The white man is receiving from the Indian the pipe of peace," etc. This report was adopted, and an act providing for the use of the seal was duly passed and became a law. But, for some reason, the seal so authorized was never used.

In place of it one was adopted, just how or by whom there is no record now, and which was used as "the great seal of Minnesota" until 1858. It bears the date at the bottom, "1849." The device is much the same as the present state seal. A farmer is plowing in the foreground, but facing to the west. His rifle, powderhorn, etc., are leaning on a stump near him. In the distance, to the left, is the Falls of St. Anthony, and an Indian on horseback riding rapidly eastward, towards what appears to be a rising sun. Over the device is the motto, "Quo sursum velo videre," the third word a misprint for volo, the whole meaning, "I wish to see what lies beyond." This motto was selected by Hon. H. H. Sibley, while delegate in congress, and the engraving of the seal was procured in Washington, by Governor Ramsey, of D. O. Hare, an engraver of that city, at a cost of $157.

This seal was ridiculed more or less by journalists, who said it represented "a man plowing one way and looking another," or "an astonished Indian and a scared white man," etc. But it was used until 1858.

At the first session of the state legislature the question of a state seal was taken up. Hon. Chas. F. Dowe, a member of the constitutional convention in 1857, had drafted (by Mr. Buechner, an artist of St. Paul) a design for a state seal, which he had hoped that the first state legislature would adopt. It was generally considered very suitable (an engraving is given of it on page 658 of W. H. C. Folsom's History of the Northwest). Article fifteen of the state constitution, adopted on Oct. 13, 1857, provided that "The legislature shall provide for an appropriate device and motto for said seal." The first legislative session (which assembled Dec. 2, 1857), however, does not seem to have done so, and when the state government came into operation in May, 1858, there was still no "state seal" for use on documents. Governor Sibley authorized the secretary of state to continue the use of the old territorial seal for the present. At the adjourned session of the legislature in June, Governor Sibley referred to the subject, and a special committee was appointed to report the design for a seal, of which W. H. C. Folsom was chairman. This was done on June 30th. Mr. Folsom had secured an elaborate design from an artist of St. Paul, Dr. R. O. Sweeny, fully described in his report. A joint resolution adopting the design was passed, and duly signed, on July 16th.

Several months appear to have elapsed before the new seal was engraved and put into use, and when it was, it was found that the elaborate design proposed in Mr. Folsom's report had not been adopted, but that the device of the old territorial seal had been used, with a little change. The equestrian Indian was represented as riding westward and the farmer plowing eastward. No other change was made except the use of the word "state" instead of "territory," and adding the date of its admission, "1858." The motto was "L'ETOILE DU NORD" (the North Star). The "Minnesotian" newspaper ridiculed this latter in a series of vituperative articles, declaring that Governor Sibley had used a French motto simply because he spoke that tongue. But the seal soon came into general use, and has been the only one used officially.

A new die of the same design was made necessary in 1907 by reason of the old one having been worn by excessive use in the rapid growth of business of the state.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the State of Minnesota shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and all other rivers and waters bordering on the said State of Minnesota, so far as the same shall form a common boundary to said state and any state or states now or hereafter to be formed or bounded by the same; and said river or waters leading into the same shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said state as to all other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That on the first Monday in June next, the legal voters in each representative district then existing within the limits of the proposed state, are hereby authorized to elect two delegates for each representative to which said district shall be entitled according to the apportionment for representatives to the territorial legislature; which election for delegates shall be held and conducted, and the returns made, in all respects in conformity with the laws of said Territory regulating the election of representatives, and the delegates so elected shall assemble at the capitol of said Territory on the second Monday in July next, and first determine by a vote whether it is the wish of the people of the proposed State to be admitted into the Union at that time; and if so, shall proceed to form a constitution, and take all necessary steps for the establishment of a state government, in conformity with the Federal Constitution, subject to the approval and ratification of the people of the proposed State.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That in the event said convention shall decide in favor of the immediate admission of the proposed State into the Union, it shall be the duty of the United States marshal for said Territory to proceed to take a census or enumeration of the inhabitants within the limits of the proposed State, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the secretary of the interior, with the view of ascertaining the number of representatives to which said State may be entitled in the Congress of the United States. And said State shall be entitled to one representative, and such additional representatives as the population of the State shall, according to the census, show it would be entitled to according to the present ratio of representation.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the following propositions be and the same are hereby offered to the said convention of the people of Minnesota for their free acceptance or rejection, which, if accepted by the convention, shall be obligatory on the United States, and upon the said State of Minnesota, to-wit:

First—That sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in every township of public lands in said State, and where either of said sections, or any part thereof, has been sold or otherwise been disposed of, other lands, equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to said State for the use of schools.

Second—That seventy-two sections of land shall be set apart and reserved for the use and support of a state university, to be selected by the governor of said State, subject to the approval of the commissioner at the general land office, and to be appropriated and applied in such manner as the legislature of said State may prescribe; for the purpose aforesaid, but for no other purpose.

Third—Ten entire sections of land to be selected by the governor of said State, in legal subdivisions, shall be granted to said State for the purpose of completing the public buildings, or for the erection of others at the seat of government, under the direction of the legislature thereof.

Fourth—That all salt springs within said State, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining or as contiguous as may be to each, shall be granted to said State for its use; and the same to be selected by the governor thereof within one year after the admission of said State, and, when so selected, to be used or disposed of on such terms, conditions and regulations as the legislature shall direct; provided, that no salt spring or land the right whereof is now vested in any individual or in individuals, or which may be hereafter confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall by this article be granted to said State.

Fifth—That five per centum of the net proceeds of sales of all public lands lying within said State, which shall be sold by Congress after the admission of said State into the Union, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be paid to said State for the purpose of making public roads and internal improvements as the legislature shall direct; provided, the foregoing propositions herein offered are on the condition that the said convention which shall form the constitution of said State shall provide, by a clause in said constitution, or an ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that said State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, or with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in said soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed on lands belonging to the United States, and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

MINNESOTA STATE FLAG.

The state legislature of 1893, by chapter sixteen, provided for the adoption of a state flag.

Mrs. Franklyn L. Greenleaf, Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. Edward Durant, Mrs. F. B. Clarke, Mrs. H. F. Brown and Mrs. A. T. Stebbins were by this act named and designated a commission to select and adopt an appropriate design for a state flag.

Conformably to the provision of this act, this commission called for designs, and on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 1893, met, selected and adopted the design presented by Mrs. Edward H. Center, of Minneapolis.

Following is a description of the flag: "The ground is of white silk, and the reverse side of blue silk, bordered with bullion fringe. In the center is the state seal, wreathed with white moccasin flowers, on a blue ground. The red ribbon of the seal bearing the motto is continued through the wreath, entwining the blossoms and floating carelessly over the lower portion of the flag. It bears, in gold, the dates 1819, the time of the settlement of Minnesota, and 1893. Above, also in gold, is the date 1858, the time of the admission of Minnesota to the Union. Below the design, in gold letters, is wrought 'Minnesota.' Grouped around the seal are nineteen stars in the design of star points, with the North Star, significant of the North Star State, in a group of three at the top."

The choice of the number nineteen is a peculiarly happy one, as Minnesota was the nineteenth state, after the original thirteen, to be admitted to the Union. The standard to the flag was surmounted by a golden gopher, and tied with a gold cord and tassel. The execution of the design is entirely in needle work.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Under the enabling act of Congress, approved March 3, 1857, a constitutional convention of one hundred and eight members (each council district to elect two for each councilman and representative it was entitled to) was authorized to meet at the capitol on the second Monday in July, to frame a state constitution, and submit it to the people of the territory. The election was held on the first Monday in June. On July 13th the delegates met, but, a disagreement arising in the organization, the Republican members organized one body, and the Democratic members organized separately. Each of these bodies, claiming to be the legal constitutional convention, proceeded with the work of forming an instrument to be submitted to the people. After some days an understanding was effected between them, and, by means of committees of conference, the same constitution was framed and adopted by both bodies. On being submitted to the people October 13th, it was ratified.

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

Object of government. SECTION 1. Government is instituted for the security, benefit and protection of the people, in whom all political power is inherent, together with the right to alter, modify or reform such government, whenever the public good may require it.

Rights and privileges. SEC. 2. No member of this State shall be disfranchised, or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof, unless by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the State otherwise than in the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Liberty of the press. SEC. 3. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right.

Right of trial by jury. SEC. 4. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy, but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law; [and the legislature may provide that the agreement of five-sixths of any jury in any civil action or proceeding, after not less than six (6) hours' deliberation, shall be a sufficient verdict therein.]*

No excessive bail or unusual punishments. SEC. 5. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted.

Rights of accused in criminal prosecutions. SEC. 6. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense. (a)

Further rights of accused—when bailable. SEC. 7. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. All persons shall before conviction be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require.

Redress of injuries or wrongs. SEC. 8. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property or character; he ought to obtain justice freely and without purchase; completely and without denial; promptly and without delay, conformable to the laws.

Treason defined. SEC. 9. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

Right against unreasonable searches. SEC. 10. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized.

*The clause in brackets was adopted Nov. 4, 1890.

(a) The jury contemplated by article 1, section 6, securing the right to jury trial in criminal cases, is a body of twelve men, and it is error to try a party charged with crime in a justice court, against his objection, with a jury of six. The fact that he may appeal to the district court, on entering into recognizance with sureties, does not change the rule. 14 Minn. 330.

Prohibits ex post facto laws, or laws impairing contracts. SEC. 11. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Imprisonment for debt—property exemption. SEC. 12. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in this State, (a) but this shall not prevent the legislature from providing for imprisonment, or holding to bail, persons charged with fraud in contracting said debt. A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law. [Provided, however, that all property so exempted shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair or improvement of the same, and provided further, that such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt incurred to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed.]*

Private property for public use. SEC. 13. Private property shall not be taken, destroyed or damaged for public use without just compensation therefor, first paid or secured.†

Military power subordinate. SEC. 14. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power, and no standing army shall be kept up in this State in time of peace.

Lands declared allodial—leases, when void. SEC. 15. All lands within the State are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures of every description, with all their incidents, are prohibited. Leases and grants of agricultural lands for a longer period than twenty-one years hereafter made, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be void.

Freedom of conscience—no preference to be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship. SEC. 16. The enumeration of rights in this constitution shall not be construed to deny or impair others retained by and inherent in the people. The right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience shall never be infringed, nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any religious or ecclesiastical ministry, against his consent; nor shall any control of or interference with the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference to be given by law to any religious establishment or mode of worship; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of the State, nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries.

(a) 23 Minn. 1; 23 Minn. 411.

*The clause in brackets was adopted Nov. 6, 1888.

†The words "destroyed or damaged" inserted by amendment adopted Nov. 3, 1896.

No license to peddle. SEC. 18. Any person may sell or peddle the products of the farm or garden occupied and cultivated by him without obtaining a license therefor.*

ON NAME AND BOUNDARIES.

*Adopted Nov. 6, 1906.

••The northern boundary of the state at the Lake of the Woods is projected beyond the 49th parallel a distance of about twenty miles, making a wedge-shaped jog through the lake until it strikes firm ground on the west bank of the lake; thence in a due south line to the 49th parallel. The explanation of this jog is found in the subjoined paragraphs. In the seventh article of the treaty of Ghent, section 19 reads as follows: Sec. 19. Resolved that the following described (also represented on said map as before mentioned), is, in the opinion of the commissioners, so far as the same extends, the true boundary intended by the before mentioned treaties, namely: * * * thence through the middle of the waters of this bay to the northwest extremity of the same; being the most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods, and from a monument in this bay, on the nearest firm ground to the above northwest extremity of said bay, the courses and distances are as follows: 56° W. 1,565½ feet; 2d, N. 6° W. 861½ feet; 3d, N. 28° W. 615.4 feet; 4th, N. 27° 10' W. 495.4 feet; 5th, N. 5° 10' E. 1,322½ feet; 6th, N. 70° 45' W. 493 feet, the variation being 12° east. The

Jurisdiction on bordering rivers. SEC. 2. The State of Minnesota shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and on all other rivers and waters bordering on the said State of Minnesota, so far as the same shall form a common boundary to said State, and any other state or states now or hereafter to be formed by the same; and said rivers and waters, and navigable waters leading into the same, shall be common highways and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said State as to other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor.

Acceptance of propositions in enabling act. SEC. 3. The propositions contained in the act of Congress entitled, "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government, preparatory to their admission into the Union on equal footing with the original states," are hereby accepted, ratified and confirmed, and shall remain irrevocable without the consent of the United States; and it is hereby ordained that this State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same, by the United States, or with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title to said soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and no tax shall be imposed on lands belonging to the United States and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

ARTICLE III.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE POWERS OF GOVERNMENT.

Division of powers. SECTION 1. The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments—legislative, executive, and judicial; and no person or persons belonging to or constituting one of these departments shall exercise any of the powers properly belonging to either of the others, except in the instances expressly provided in this constitution. termination of this 6th and last course and distance being the above said most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods, as designated by the seventh article of the treaty of Ghent, and being in latitude 49° 23' 55" north of the equator, and in longitude 95° 14' 38" west from Greenwich. The second article of the convention of 1818 is as follows: Article 2. It is agreed that a line drawn from the most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods along the 49th parallel of north latitude, or, if the said point shall not be in the 49th parallel of north latitude, then that a line drawn from the said point due north or south, as the case may be, until the said line shall intersect the said parallel of north latitude, and from the point of such intersection due west, along and with the said parallel, shall be the line of demarkation between the territories of the United States and His Britannic Majesty, and that the said line shall form the northern boundary of the said territories of the United States and the southern boundary of His Britannic Majesty, from the Lake of the Woods to the Stony Mountains. This boundary was re-established and determined by a commission authorized by congress, and the surveys embracing four years were made and reported to congress in 1877.

(a) Courts cannot control or interfere with an executive officer of the state in his official acts, even though they are such that the duty to perform them might have been entrusted to some other officer. 28 Minn. 50.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Legislature meets biennially—length of session. SECTION 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the State, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days; and no new bill shall be introduced in either branch, except on the written request of the governor, during the last twenty (20) days of such sessions, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor.

Apportionment of members. SEC. 2. The number of members who compose the Senate and House of Representatives shall be prescribed by law, but the representatives in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5,000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2,000 inhabitants. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the State, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law.

Eligibility of members—quorum. SEC. 3. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and eligibility of its own members; a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as it may provide.

Rules of government. SEC. 4. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, sit upon its own adjournment, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled the second time for the same offense.

Officers—journal of proceedings. SEC. 5. The House of Representatives shall elect its presiding officer and the Senate and House of Representatives shall elect such other officers as may be provided by law; they shall keep journals of their proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, and the yeas and nays, when taken on any question, shall be entered on such journals.

Length of adjournments. SEC. 6. Neither house shall, during a session of the legislature, adjourn for more than three days (Sundays excepted), nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be assembled, without the consent of the other house.

Compensation. SEC. 7. The compensation of senators and representatives shall be three dollars per diem during the first session, but may afterwards be prescribed by law. But no increase of compensation shall be prescribed which shall take effect during the period for which the members of the existing House of Representatives may have been elected.

Privileged from arrest. SEC. 8. The members of each house shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same. For any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Restriction as to holding office. SEC. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, and no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature.

Bills of revenue to originate in House. SEC. 10. All bills for raising a revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose and concur with amendments as on other bills.

Approval of bills by Governor—action on non-approval. SEC. 11. Every bill which shall have passed the Senate and House of Representatives, in conformity to the rules of each house and the joint rules of the two houses, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the State. If he approve, he shall sign and deposit it in the office of secretary of state for preservation, and notify the house where it originated of the fact. But if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated; when such objections shall be entered at large on the journal of the same, and the house shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if it be approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature, by adjournment within that time, prevents its return; in which case it shall not be a law. The governor may approve, sign and file in the office of the secretary of state, within three days after the adjournment of the legislature, any act passed during the last three days of the session, and the same shall become a law.

Governor may cut out items of appropriation bills and otherwise approve. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered.

If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be a part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Money appropriations, how made. SEC. 12. No money shall be appropriated except by bill. Every order, resolution or vote requiring the concurrence of the two houses (except such as relate to the business or adjournment of the same) shall be presented to the governor for his signature, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being returned by him with his objections, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the members of the two houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Majority vote of all members-elect to pass a law. SEC. 13. The style of all laws of this State shall be: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota." No law shall be passed unless voted for by a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the legislature, and the vote entered upon the journal of each house.

Impeachment powers. SEC. 14. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, through a concurrence of a majority of all the members elected to seats therein. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate; and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Exclusion from civil rights. SEC. 15. The legislature shall have full power to exclude from the privilege of electing or being elected any person convicted of bribery, perjury, or any other infamous crime.

Protest and dissent of members. SEC. 16. Two or more members of either house shall have liberty to dissent and protest against any act or resolution which they may think injurious to the public or to any individual, and have the reason of their dissent entered on the journal.

Vacancies in legislature. SEC. 17. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the legislature. The legislature shall prescribe by law the manner in which evidence in cases of contested seats in either house shall be taken.

Punish for disorderly conduct. SEC. 18. Each house may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence, but no such imprisonment shall at any time exceed twenty-four hours.

Open sessions. SEC. 19. Each house shall be open to the public during the sessions thereof, except in such cases as in their opinion may require secrecy.

Reading of bills. SEC. 20. Every bill shall be read on three different days in each separate house, unless, in case of urgency, two-thirds of the house where such bill is depending shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed by either house until it shall have been previously read twice at length.

Enrollment of bills. SEC. 21. Every bill having passed both houses shall be carefully enrolled, and shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house. Any presiding officer refusing to sign a bill which shall have previously passed both houses shall thereafter be incapable of holding a seat in either branch of the legislature, or hold any other office of honor or profit in the State, and in case of such refusal, each house shall, by rule, provide the manner in which such bill shall be properly certified for presentation to the governor.

Passage of bills on last day of session prohibited. SEC. 22. No bill shall be passed by either house of the legislature upon the day prescribed for the adjournment of the two houses. But this section shall not be so construed as to preclude the enrollment of a bill, or the signature and passage from one house to the other, or the reports thereon from committees, or its transmission to the executive for his signature.

Census enumeration—apportionment. SEC. 23. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this State in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter. At their first session after each enumeration so made, and also at their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts according to the provisions of section second of this article.

Senatorial districts—term of office of senators and representatives. SEC. 24. The senators shall also be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time that members of the house of representatives are required to be chosen, and in the same manner; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series. The terms of office of senators and representatives shall be the same as now prescribed by law until the general election of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), at which time there shall be an entire new election of all the senators and representatives. Representatives chosen at such election, or at any election thereafter, shall hold their office for the term of two years, except it be to fill a vacancy; and the senators chosen at such election by districts designated as odd numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and senators chosen by districts designated by even numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the fourth year; and thereafter senators shall be chosen for four years, except there shall be an entire new election of all the senators at the election of representatives next succeeding each new apportionment provided for in this article.

Qualification of legislators. SEC. 25. Senators and representatives shall be qualified voters of the State, and shall have resided one year in the State and six months immediately preceding the election in the district from which they are elected.

MINNESOTA STATE FLOWER.

The name Cypripedium (from Greek words meaning the shoe of Venus), published for this genus in 1737 by Linnæus, and its common English and American popular names, as Lady's Slipper, Moccasin Flower, and Indian Shoe, refer to the saccate and somewhat shoe-like form of the most conspicuous petal (in this Orchis family called the lip) of the flower.

About twenty-five species of Cypripedium are known, belonging to the north temperate zone and reaching south into Mexico and Northern India. Six species occur in the northern United States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, all of these being found in Minnesota; and about a dozen species in total occur on this continent. They are perennial herbs with perfect, irregular flowers, which are solitary or few, large and showy.

The Minnesota species are as follows: C. arietinum R., Br., the Ram's-head Moccasin Flower, with red and whitish veiny lip, as shown in the accompanying plate; C. candidum Muhl, the small White Moccasin Flower; C. parviflorum Salisb., the small Yellow Moccasin Flower, also shown in this plate; C. pubescens Wild, with much larger yellow flowers; C. spectabile Sw., with most showy, large flowers, of mingled white and pink-purple color; and C. acule Ait., the Stemless Moccasin Flower, with leaves on the ground and a large rose-purple flower on an erect scape nearly a foot high. These plants grow preferably in cold and moist woods and in bogs, flowering from May to July. The first and second are rare or infrequent; but the other four are frequent or common, especially northward.

NOTE.—Minnesota has fourteen genera, including forty-one species, of the Orchis family, to which the Cypripediums belong. In total, 1,583 species of flowering plants, and sixty-eight ferns and their allies, making together 1,650 species, were tabulated, as known to grow without cultivation in this state, by Warren Upham in the Catalogue of the Flora of Minnesota, published in the Twelfth Annual Report of the Geological and Natural History Survey for the year 1883, (193 pages, with a map showing the areas of forest and prairie). Within the basin of the Minnesota river, according to the report in 1892 by Prof. Conway MacMillan, the state botanist, 1174 species and varieties of flowering plants, including all our Cypripediums, are known and have been collected for the Herbarium of the State University. The State Flower is thus chosen from among more than a thousand others which bloom on our prairies, in the northern woods, in their cool bogs, and in our streams and lakes.

CYPRIPEDIUM.—THE MOCCASIN FLOWER.

ACT OF ADMISSION INTO THE UNION.

An Act for the admission of Minnesota into the Union.
[Passed May 11, 1858.]

WHEREAS, An act of Congress was passed February twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government preparatory to their admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original states;" and, whereas, the people of said Territory did, on the twenty-ninth day of August, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, by delegates elected for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government, which is republican in form, and was ratified and adopted by the people at an election held on the thirteenth day of October, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, for that purpose; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the State of Minnesota shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatever.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That said State shall be entitled to two representatives in Congress, until the next apportionment of representatives among the several states.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That from and after the admission of the State of Minnesota, as hereinbefore provided, all the laws of the United States which are not locally inapplicable shall have the same force and effect within that State as in other States of the Union; and the said State is hereby constituted a judicial district of the United States, within which a district court, with like powers and jurisdiction as the district court of the United States for the district of Iowa, shall be established; the judge, attorney and marshal of the United States of the said district of Minnesota shall reside within the same, and shall be entitled to the same compensation as the judge, attorney and marshal of the district of Iowa; and in all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States, upon any record from the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, the mandate of execution or order of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the district court of the United States for the district of Minnesota, or to the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, as the nature of such appeal or writ of error may require; and each of those courts shall be the successor of the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, as to all such cases, with full power to hear and determine the same, and to ward mesne or final process therein.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise, the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our government:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has incited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as FREE and INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which INDEPENDENT STATES may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

THE ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 9, 1778.

Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

ARTICLE 1. The style of this confederacy shall be "THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

ART. 2. Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom, and independence, and every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the United States in Congress assembled.

ART. 3. The said states hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other for their common defense, the security of their liberties, and their mutual, and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other against all force offered to or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretence whatever.

ART. 4. § 1. The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different states in this Union, the free inhabitants of each of these states (paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from justice excepted) shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several states, and the people of each state shall have free ingress and egress to and from any other state, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively; provided, that such restrictions shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any state, to any other state of which the owner is an inhabitant; provided, also, that no imposition, duties, or restriction shall be laid by any state on the property of the United States, or either of them.

§ 2. If any person guilty of, or charged with, treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor, in any state, shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon the demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offense.

§ 3. Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

ART. 5. § 1. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November, of every year, with a power reserved to each state to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead, for the remainder of the year.

§ 2. No state shall be represented in congress by less than two, nor more than seven, members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years, in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States, for which he, or any other for his benefit, receives any salary, fees, or emoluments of any kind.

§ 3. Each state shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the states, and while they act as members of the committee of these states.

§ 4. In determining questions in the United States in congress assembled, each state shall have one vote.

§ 5. Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on, congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

ART. 6. § 1. No state, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with, any king, prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince, or foreign state; nor shall the United States in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

§ 2. No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation, or alliance whatever, between them, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

§ 3. No state shall lay any imposts or duties which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties entered into by the United States, in congress assembled, with any king, prince, or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress to the courts of France and Spain.

§ 4. No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only as shall be deemed necessary by the United States in congress assembled, for the defense of such state, or its trade; nor shall any body or forces be kept up by any state, in time of peace, except such number only as, in the judgment of the United States in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such state; but every state shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

§ 5. No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit a delay till the United States in congress assembled can be consulted; nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States in congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ART. 7. When land forces are raised by any state for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel shall be appointed by the legislature of each state, respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the state which first made the appointment.

ART. 8. All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States in congress assembled shall, from time to time, direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled.

ART. 9. § 1. The United States in congress assembled shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article; of sending and receiving ambassadors, entering into treaties and alliances; provided, that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever; of establishing rules for deciding in all cases what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated; of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace; appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures; provided, that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

§ 2. The United States in congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting, or that may hereafter arise, between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question, and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall, in the presence of congress, be drawn out by lot; the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court, to be appointed in the manner before prescribed, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear to defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive; the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress and lodged among the acts of congress, for the security of the parties concerned; provided, that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward;" provided, also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

§ 3. All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdiction, as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

§ 4. The United States in congress assembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states; fixing the standards of weights and measures, throughout the United States; regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states; provided, that the legislative right of any state, within its own limits, be not infringed or violated; establishing and regulating post-offices from one state to another, throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office; appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States, excepting regimental officers; appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States; making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

§ 5. The United States in congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside; provided, that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses; to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state, which requisition shall be binding; and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and clothe, arm and equip them, in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States; and the officers and men so clothed, armed and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled; but if the United States in congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared, and the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled.

§ 6. The United States in congress assembled shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same; nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States in congress assembled.

§ 7. The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state, on any question, shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

ART. 10. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall, from time to time, think expedient to vest them with; provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states, in the congress of the United States assembled, is requisite.

ART. 11. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ART. 12. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ART. 13. Every state shall abide by the determination of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterward confirmed by the legislature of every state.

And whereas, it has pleased the great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in congress to approve of and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, Know ye, that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained. And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by the said confederation are submitted to them; and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the Union shall be perpetual. In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands in congress.

Done at Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, the ninth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight, and in the third year of the Independence of America.

Ratified by the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia.

The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year; so that one-third may be chosen every second year. *When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the Senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their own officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments.

When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meetings shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall, by law, appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same; excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representatives shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return; in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 8. The Congress shall have power:

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

To establish postoffices and post roads;

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the laws of nations;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

To provide and maintain a navy;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law, shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit and trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state.

SEC. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates; and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be appointed, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.]*

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president; and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur, and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3. He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SEC. 4. The president, vice president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof and foreign states, citizens, or subjects.*

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

*See the 11th amendment.

SEC. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SEC. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SEC. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States, and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

SEC. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in the Union a republican form of government; and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

REFERRING OF BILLS.

11. All bills shall be referred by the President of the Senate without motion to the proper standing committee, on the first reading, unless otherwise referred by the Senate. And all bills providing for an appropriation of money, when referred to and reported by any other than the Committee on Finance, shall, before passage, be referred to the Committee on Finance.

ORDER IN DEBATE.

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise to his feet, and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality. In discussing any resolution, Senators shall be limited to five minutes each.

13. Whenever any member is called to order he shall sit down until it is determined whether he is in order or not, and if a member is called to order for words spoken in debate, the words excepted to shall be taken down in writing immediately.

14. When two or more members shall happen to rise at once, the President shall name the member who is to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question on the same day without leave of the Senate.

CONDUCT DURING BUSINESS.

16. When the president is putting any question, or addressing the Senate, no one shall walk out of, or across, the room; nor when a member is speaking shall any one pass between the member speaking and the chair. No member, or other person, shall proceed to or remain by the secretary's desk while the ayes and nays are being called or counted.

17. Upon a division and count of the Senate on any question no member without the Senate Chamber shall be counted.

SENATORS TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED.

18. Every member who shall be in the Senate when the question is put shall give his vote unless the Senate, for special reasons, shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the Senate divides or before he gives his vote upon a call of the ayes and noes. Any member wishing to be excused from voting may make a brief statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

MOTIONS.

19. When a motion is made and seconded it shall be stated by the President; or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the Secretary and read aloud for debate.

20. Every motion or amendment shall be reduced to writing if the President or any member desires it. In such case it must be signed by the member or committee offering it.

21. After a motion is stated by the President or read by the Secretary, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn by the author at any time before decision or amendment.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS.

22. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but

To adjourn.

To lay on the table.

For the previous question.

(Which three motions shall be decided without debate.)

To commit.

To postpone to a day certain.

To amend.

To postpone indefinitely.

These several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order; but a motion for the previous question having been seconded, or the main question ordered, a motion to lay on the table shall not be in order.

A motion to postpone to a certain day, to commit, to postpone indefinitely, or to amend, being decided, shall not again be allowed on the same day, nor at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

23. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order and also a motion to adjourn to a time certain. The latter motion is debatable. When either motion is refused it shall not be renewed until further business shall be transacted.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

24. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon all pending amendments in their order and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the ordering of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order, but after a majority shall have ordered such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

25. On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

RECONSIDERATION.

26. When a motion or question has been once put and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for a reconsideration thereof, on the same day on which the vote was taken, or within the next two days of actual session of the Senate thereafter; and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn. A motion for reconsideration being put and lost, shall not be renewed.

DIVISION OF QUESTION.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed to be indivisible. A motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude an amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

PETITIONS, ETC., HOW TO BE PRESENTED.

28. In presenting a petition, memorial, remonstrance or other communication addressed to the Senate, the members shall only state the general purport of it.

29. Every petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill and report of committee, shall be indorsed with its appropriate title, and immediately under the indorsement the name of the member presenting the same shall be written.

CALL OF THE SENATE.

30. Any member may make a call of the Senate, and require absent members to be sent for, but a call of the Senate cannot be made after the voting has commenced; and the call of the Senate being ordered and the absentees noted, the door shall be closed, and no member permitted to leave the room until further proceedings under the call be dispensed with by a majority vote of all the members of the Senate and the matter or question, if any, under consideration at the time of the call be disposed of or the Senate adjourns.

4. Bills—How Introduced.

A member or committee desiring to introduce a bill shall place the same in the hands of the Speaker before the opening of the session.

All memorials and joint resolutions shall be presented, received and considered in the same manner as bills, and shall be bound in the regular House file binder, and take the same course as a bill.

All bills and joint resolutions of whatever nature which carry an appropriation must be introduced before the second Tuesday of March. In order that the Committee on Appropriations may have ample time to consider same, and examine the claims or the appropriations called for therein, and that no bill or joint resolution which carries an appropriation can be received by the House after the date as herein provided, unless authorized by a two-third vote of the whole House. This rule, however, shall not apply to bills or joint resolutions introduced by request of the Governor under the constitutional provision as provided for in Article 4, Section 1, of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota; nor shall it apply to bills introduced by the Committee on Appropriations.

Any standing or special committee of the House may introduce a bill as a committee bill, which shall be read the first time, laid over for one day, when it shall be read for the second time and placed upon General Orders.

Every bill and resolution shall be introduced in triplicate and shall have prefixed thereto the name of the member, members or committee introducing it.

All bills introduced in the House shall be so framed that when any section or subdivision or chapter of any existing law is to be amended, repealed or revised, the said section, subdivision or chapter shall in each and every case be given in full as it is designed to read when enacted; and all new matter contained in any bill which proposes to amend or revise any section, subdivision or chapter of any existing law by inserting or adding such new matter, shall be underscored and, when the bill is printed, shall be italicized. If the proposed amendment or revision of any section, subdivision or chapter of any existing law is to be affected by the omission of any part thereof without the substitution therefor of any new matter, the bill proposing such amendment or revision must be identical with the section, subdivision or chapter of the existing law sought to be changed; having the portion, or portions of such existing law, which it is proposed to omit stricken out by a line or lines drawn through the word or words constituting such portion or portions to be omitted.

The title of every bill shall indicate the subject thereof and not be merely a reference to the page number of section of the existing law, sought to be repealed, amended or revised, but the title shall contain such descriptive words as will indicate to what subject the bill refers.

No bill, unless framed as herein provided, shall be received or read by the chief clerk, unless otherwise especially ordered by the House.

5. First Reading and Reference of Bills.

All bills, memorials and joint resolutions shall be read at length upon their introduction unless objected to.

If objection is made, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?"

If no objection be made, or if the question to reject be lost, the bill shall, after reading, go to its appropriate Standing Committee, except when introduced by such Committee.

Every bill introduced, except when introduced by a Committee as above provided, containing an amendment to an existing law of the State, shall first be referred to the appropriate committee of the House appointed with reference to the subject matter contained in the law proposed to be amended.

All bills, whether emanating from the House or the Senate, carrying an appropriation, shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriation for action, by the committee before the second reading of the bill; and the fact that the bill carries an appropriation shall be noted by the committee in its report returning the same.

6. Records of Committees.

The Chairman, or Acting Chairman, of each committee shall keep, or cause to be kept, a record, on which shall be entered:

- (a) The time and place of each hearing and of each meeting of the committee.
- (b) The attendance of committee members at each meeting.
- (c) The name of each person, except members of the House and Senate, appearing before the committee, with the name of the person or persons, association, firm or corporation in whose behalf the appearance is made.

(d) Any member of any such committee may demand a roll call on any bill, resolution, or amendment before the committee, and upon such demand being made, and not otherwise, the roll shall be called on such bill, resolution, or amendment and a record of the vote of each member thereon made and kept; and name of the member making such demands shall also be recorded.

Such record shall be approved at the next regular meeting of the committee.

Such record shall be filed with the Chief Clerk during the session of the Legislature and at the expiration thereof shall be filed with the Secretary of State; and such records shall be open to the public inspection at all times.

The chairman of a committee reporting the action taken by his committee upon bills submitted to it shall do so upon the form provided for such reports, stating the date of the meeting, when such action was taken, and shall authenticate the same by his signature.

Any number of bills may be embodied in one report; but at the request of any member the report may be divided by excepting any bill therefrom, and if this be done the bill so excepted may be acted upon independently from the report as a whole.

The report of any committee, or any part thereof, may be laid upon the table for a day and printed in the Journal if so ordered by the House.

In the event of a minority report, the majority and minority reports shall be made separately from the regular committee reports.

7. *Quorum on Committees.

A majority of the members of any standing or special committee shall constitute a quorum. This rule shall not apply to the Committee on Judiciary where 15 members shall constitute a quorum.

8. *Second Reading of Bills.

All bills, concurrence reports, memorials, orders, resolutions and votes requiring the approval of the Governor shall, after a second reading, be considered in a committee of the whole before they shall be finally acted upon by the House. Unless otherwise ordered, bills, resolutions authorizing the expenditure of money and joint memorials to Congress, only, shall require a second and third reading.

9. *Third Reading of Bills.

No amendments shall be received on the third reading except to fill blanks or amend titles, without the unanimous consent of the House; and all bills and resolutions may be committed at any time previous to their passage. If any amendment be reported upon such commitment by any other than a committee of the whole, it shall again be read a second time, considered in the committee of the whole and the question for a third reading and passage then put.

10. *Disposition of Senate Bills.

When a Senate file has been received by the House, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to the appropriate standing committee; provided, however, that when a Senate file is received, the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of a House file, which has already been considered by one of the committees of the House and is on General Orders or the Calendar, such Senate file shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment for comparison, which committee shall report forthwith whether the said Senate file is identical with the House file. And, if reported identical, such Senate file may, by a majority vote, be substituted for the House file (the latter, in such case being considered withdrawn), and shall take the place of the House file; provided, however, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

11. *Committee of the Whole.

When the House has arrived at the General Orders of the day, they shall go into a Committee of the Whole upon General Orders. No business shall be in order unless considered or passed or the committee arise. And, unless a particular bill is ordered up, the Committee of the Whole shall consider, act upon or pass the General Orders according to order of their reference.

In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall appoint a chairman to preside.

Bills committed to the Committee of the Whole House shall, in the Committee of the Whole thereon, be first read through unless the committee shall otherwise order, and then read and debated by sections, leaving the title to be last considered. All amendments shall be in writing, in duplicate, and reported to the House by the Chairman.

12. *Rules of the House to Apply to Committee of the Whole.

17. Duties of Members.

When the House adjourns, the members shall keep their seats until the Speaker announces the adjournment.

22. Clerical Corrections to Bill.

(a) Minor clerical errors in any bill, memorial or resolution such as errors in orthography or grammar, or the incorrect use of one word for another (as "affect" for "effect") or wrong numbering or references, whether such errors occur in the original bill or any amendment thereto, shall be corrected by the Chief Clerk, as a matter of course, upon the approval of the chairman of any committee to which the bill was referred.

27. Motions.

No motion shall be debated or put unless the same be seconded. It shall be stated by the Speaker before debate, and any such motion shall be reduced to writing if the Speaker or any other member requires it.

After a motion has been stated by the Speaker, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the House, but may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before amendment or decision; but all motions, resolutions or amendments shall be entered in the Journal unless withdrawn the same day.

28. Motion to Adjourn.

A motion to adjourn shall always be in order except during roll call.

When a motion to adjourn is made and seconded it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state any fact to the House relative to the condition of the business of the House which would seem to render it improper to adjourn at that time. Such statement, however, shall not be debatable and shall not, in any case, occupy more than two minutes.

29. Precedence of Motions.

When a motion is under debate, no motion shall be received but:

1. To adjourn.

(Which three motions shall be decided without debate.)
4. To commit.

30. The Previous Question.

(a) The previous question shall be in this form: "The gentleman from .....moves the previous question. Do ten members second the motion?" If the motion be properly seconded, the question shall be stated as follows: "As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say aye; as many as are opposed will say no."

There shall be a motion for the previous question which, being ordered by a majority of all members present, shall have the effect to cut off all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions upon which it has been asked or ordered.

The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions allowable under the Rules or an amendment or amendments; or it may be made to embrace all authorized motions or amendments and include the bill to its passage or rejection.

(b) A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is ordered unless it shall appear that a quorum is not present.

(c) When the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall leave the main question under debate for the residue of the sitting unless sooner disposed of by taking a vote on the question or in some other manner.

31. *Incidental Questions of Order.

Which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call, and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

37. *Division of a Question.

If the question in debate contains several points, any member may have the same divided. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

38. *Questions of Order.

If any member of the House, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the Rules, the Speaker shall (or any member may) call him to order; in which case he shall immediately sit down unless permitted on motion of another member to explain, and the House, if appealed to, shall decide in either case without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise; and if the case require it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the House may deem proper.

39. *Called to Order for Offensive Words in Debate.

If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's desk and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House, for language used in debate if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

40. The Members May Demand Yeas and Nays.

The yeas and nays shall not be ordered unless demanded by ten members, except upon the final passage of bills, joint resolutions and motions directing the payment of money. In these cases the yeas and nays shall be ordered without demand.

41. Notice of Intention to Debate.

Upon any member giving notice of his intention to debate any resolution, the same shall lie over one day without debate or other action.

42. Call of the House.

Ten members may make a call of the House and require absent members to be sent for; but a call of the House can not be made after the voting has commenced, and such call being ordered and the absentees noted, the doors shall be closed and no member permitted to leave the room until the call be suspended. And, pending the call, no motion shall be in order except it pertains to matters incidental to the call or a motion to suspend further proceedings under the same. After the call of the House has been ordered and proceedings thereunder are suspended, the Sergeant-at-Arms shall not permit any member to leave the hall or the House unless excused by the Speaker.

The call may be suspended at any time by a vote of a majority of the entire House.

43. Suspension of Rules to Hasten a Bill.

Every bill shall be read on three different days unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed until it shall have been read twice at length.

No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating therein any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

45. Amendments to Appropriation Bills.

No amendment increasing the amount or amounts carried by any appropriation bill shall be declared passed until voted for by a majority of all members elected to the House.

46. Motion for Reconsideration.

When a question has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for the reconsideration thereof; but no action for the reconsidering of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment, or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the House, announcing their decision. Nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless made on the same day upon which the vote was taken, or within the next two days of actual session of the House thereafter. Such motion shall take precedence over all other questions except the motion to adjourn; provided that when notice of the intention to move such reconsideration shall be given by such member, the clerk of the House shall retain the said bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion until after the expiration of the time during which such motion can be made, as hereinbefore provided, unless the same is previously disposed of. A motion for reconsideration having been put and lost shall not be renewed.

HISTORY.

MINNESOTA.

The greater part, or about two-thirds, of the territory embraced within the boundaries of Minnesota was included in the Louisiana Purchase, ceded to the United States by France in 1803. The remainder of this state, comprising its northeastern third part, lying east of the Mississippi river, was included in the country surrendered from Great Britain by the treaty of 1783, at the end of the Revolutionary War. In 1805 a grant of land nine miles square, at the confluence of the Mississippi and St. Peter (now Minnesota) rivers, was obtained from the Sioux Indians. A military post was established on the grant in 1819, and in 1820 arrangements were made for the erection of a fort, which was completed in 1822 and named Fort Snelling, after the commanding officer, and the grant has ever since been known as the Fort Snelling Reservation. In 1823 the first steamboat ascended the Mississippi as far as Fort Snelling; and annually thereafter one or two trips of steamboats were made to this isolated post for a number of years.

This territory was held by the Chippewa or Ojibway and the Dakota or Sioux Indians, but adventurous pioneers had penetrated into the country along the streams tributary to the Mississippi river, and in 1836 Wisconsin Territory was organized, comprising all the territory west of Lake Michigan, and including within its limits all the country west of the Great Lakes and north of Illinois, the west boundary of the Territory being the Mississippi river.

In 1837 two important treaties were made with the native tribes of Indians. The first one was made by Gov. Henry Dodge of Wisconsin, with the Ojibways, at Fort Snelling, on the twenty-ninth of July of that year, whereby they ceded to the United States all their pine or agricultural lands on the St. Croix river and its tributaries.

On the twenty-ninth of September of the same year, at the city of Washington, a treaty with the Sioux was made by Joel R. Poinsett, a special commissioner representing the United States, and about twenty chiefs, accompanied by Major Taliaferro, their agent, and Scott Campbell, an interpreter. Through the influence and by the direction of Governor Dodge, this delegation of chiefs had proceeded to Washington for the purpose of making this treaty, by which the Dakotas, or Sioux, ceded to the United States all their lands east of the Mississippi river and all its islands. The Indians were to receive as consideration for the same $110,000 in cash, to be divided among the mixed bloods, $90,000 in payment of debts owing by the tribes, and $300,000 to be invested in five per cent stocks, the interest of which should be paid to them annually.

In 1848 Wisconsin adopted a state constitution, but ignored the enabling act, and made the northern part of the western boundary of the state along the line of the St. Louis and Rum rivers, which was not accepted by the United States government, and the boundary line from the Mississippi river to Lake Superior became fixed, as in the enabling act, on the line of the St. Croix river and in a direct line to the mouth of the St. Louis river.

After the acceptance of the Wisconsin constitution, in May, 1848, the territory north and west of the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers being practically without a government, the Hon. John Catlin, claiming to be still secretary and acting governor of Wisconsin Territory, issued a proclamation for a special election, to elect a delegate to Congress. The election was held October 30th, and Hon. H. H. Sibley was chosen delegate, and after some delay was admitted as such into the Congress of the United States.

On March 3, 1849, Congress passed an act to establish the territorial government of Minnesota. It fixed the seat of government at St. Paul, and established the southern boundary of the territory along the north and west boundary lines of the State of Iowa, from the Mississippi river to the Missouri river, the western boundary through the middle of the channel of the Missouri river to the mouth of the White Earth river, and up the middle of the channel of the White Earth river to the boundary line between the United States and Great Britain, the northern boundary running thence easterly and southeasterly on the international boundary line to Lake Superior, and the eastern boundary running thence in a straight line to the northernmost point of the State of Wisconsin, and following the north and west boundary of said state down the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers to the place of beginning. At this time the population of the Territory was mainly in the section east of the Mississippi river, and the settlers almost entirely engaged in lumbering. The territorial government was declared fully organized, June 1, 1849, by Hon. Alexander Ramsey, who had been appointed first territorial governor. The year 1848 was noted as the year of excitement from the discovery of gold in California, and the eyes of many thousands of people throughout the east were turned westward, where opportunities were opening for the growth of new states. Although at the organization of the Territory there were scarcely a thousand people, within a year the census of 1850 gave to the Territory a population of 6,077. Of this number, however, 1,131 residents were credited to the northernmost part of the Territory on the Red River of the North, many of these being half-breeds, and the early pioneers engaged in the fur trade, brought there through the influence of the Hudson Bay Company.

The first territorial election was held on the first day of August, 1849.

The first session of the territorial legislature commenced in St. Paul, Sept. 3, 1849, during which counties were established and a code of laws enacted. The second session was commenced in January, 1851, at which time the capitol was located at St. Paul, the university at St. Anthony, and the state prison at Stillwater.

In 1851 three treaties were made with the Sioux and with the Ojibway bands of Indians, whereby large tracts of lands were relinquished to the United States.

In view of the great extent of country desired, and the importance of the transaction, and the long continued friendship of the Dakota nation, President Fillmore departed from the usual mode of appointing commissioners, and deputed the Hon. Luke Lea, the commissioner of Indian affairs, and Gov. Alexander Ramsey to meet the representatives of the Dakotas, and to conclude with them a treaty for such lands as they might be willing to sell.

On the twenty-seventh of June, 1851, Commissioner Lea arrived in St Paul on the Steamboat Excelsior, and on the twenty-ninth he, in company with Governor Ramsey, landed at Traverse des Sioux, where the great council was to be held and the treaty consummated with the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands of Sioux. Great delay in the proceedings was caused by the non-arrival of certain Sioux chiefs from the upper country, and it was not until the eighteenth of July that the council convened and the preliminaries to the treaty commenced. During this interval of about twenty days they all entertained themselves as best they could with races, dances, suppers, sham fights, and all sorts of fun.

On the eighteenth of July, all the chiefs having arrived, proclamation was made, and being convened in grand council and the pipe of peace having been passed around, the council was opened by an address from Governor Ramsey. On the twenty-third of July the treaty was concluded and signed by the chiefs, by which they ceded to the United States all the lands claimed by these bands east of the Sioux Wood (or Bois des Sioux), and Big Sioux rivers and Lake Traverse to the Mississippi, excepting a reservation one hundred miles long by twenty miles wide, on the upper part of the Minnesota river. By this treaty the Indians were to remove within two years to the reservation; to receive from our government, after removal $275,000, to enable them to settle up their affairs and to become established in their new home; and $30,000 was to be expended in breaking land, erecting mills and establishing a manual labor school. They were also to receive for fifty years from that time, an annuity of $68,000, payable as follows: cash, $40,000; civilization fund, $12,000; goods and provisions, $10,000; education fund, $6,000.

About a week later on the twenty-ninth of July, Governor Ramsey and Commissioner Lea met the chiefs and leading men of the Medawakanton and Wah-pay-koo-tay bands of Sioux at a grand council at Mendota, to negotiate another treaty for the sale of other lands, which was concluded on the fifth of August, being signed by sixty-four chiefs, head men and warriors. In the treaty these bands of Indians ceded and relinquished all their lands in the Territory of Minnesota and State of Iowa, and in consideration thereof the United States was to reserve for them a tract of the average width of ten miles on either side of the Minnesota river, and bounded on the west by the Tehay-tam-bay and Yellow Medicine rivers, on the east by the Little Rock river, and a line running due south from its mouth to the Waraju river; and to pay them the following sums of money: For settling debts and aid in removal, $220,000; for erection of buildings and opening farms, $30,000; civilization fund, to be paid annually, $12,000; educational fund, paid annually, $6,000; goods and provisions, annually, $10,000; cash, $30,000. The annuities were to continue for fifty years from the date of the treaty.

These two treaties of 1851 at Traverse des Sioux and Mendota acquired for white settlement nearly 24,000,000 acres of the finest lands in the world. The cessions were mostly in Minnesota, but included about an eighth part, or nearly 3,000,000 acres, in the State of Iowa, between the line of the old "neutral ground" and the northern and western boundaries of the State. That tract of country, and generally all lands in Iowa, claimed by the Sioux, were therefore embraced in the articles of cession of both treaties.

The Senate of the United States, on the twenty-third of June, 1852, ratified the treaties, with amendments to each, which amendments were subsequently accepted by the Indians, and on the twenty-fourth of February, 1853, President Millard Fillmore issued his proclamation accepting, ratifying, and confirming each of the said treaties as amended. The total lands in the present State of Minnesota relinquished to the government by these treaties exceeded 19,000,000 acres; and they also ceded about 1,750,000 acres in South Dakota, besides the tract described in Iowa.

The third treaty of 1851 was effected by Governor Ramsey with the Red Lake and Pembina bands of Ojibways at Pembina, by which they ceded certain territory, sixty-five miles in width by one hundred and fifty miles in length, intersected by the Red River of the North. This treaty was not ratified by the government.

After the ratification of the treaties with the Sioux, a great wave of immigration set in from all the eastern states, and an era of speculation started which probably has never been excelled in any portion of the west. A census taken in 1857 gave a population of 150,037.

Notwithstanding there was an abundant supply of good land outside of the limits of the land ceded under these treaties, the adventurous spirit of the pioneers led many of them to settle on the extreme limits of the grant, and in immediate proximity to the Indian settlements. In the southwestern portion of the State, particularly, settlements were made close to the boundary line of Iowa and north and west of Spirit Lake. Some were in Iowa and some were in Minnesota, and all were within the jurisdiction of the Indian agent resident in the Territory of Minnesota. Although the Indians were living on the reservation lands west of these settlements, in their hunting expeditions they were accustomed to return to the ceded lands. In a general way the Indians were civil, and committed only petty depredations; but their visits were at times annoying. Among the Indians there was a single band, under the leadership of Ink-pa-du-ta, or the Scarlet Point, of about fifteen lodges, which had been for many years an independent band and of a thieving, vagabondish character (really outlaws from the Sioux nation, and not represented in the treaties of 1851), who had taken possession of a strip of land running on both sides of the boundary lines of Iowa and Minnesota, and extending to the Missouri river. In March, 1857, a few of these Indians were hunting in the neighborhood of Rock river, and one of them was bitten by a dog belonging to a white man. The dog was killed by the Indian, and in return the owner of the dog made an assault upon the Indian, and afterward gathered his neighbors, and they went to the Indian camp and disarmed them. The arms were afterward returned to them, and the party moved northeast, arriving at the Spirit Lake settlement about the sixth of March, where they massacred the men and took four women into captivity. Other settlements were attacked, and altogether forty-two settlers were killed. Two of the women were afterward rescued through the efforts of Hon. Charles E. Flandrau, then the Indian agent. An effort was made to punish this band of savages, but all escaped except the oldest son of Ink-pa-du-ta, who had ventured into the camp of other Sioux, near the agency, and was killed in an attempt to capture him.

In 1855 and 1856 town-site speculation became the absorbing thought; and when the panic of 1857 set in, Minnesota was soon in a deplorable condition. The demand for an extensive railroad system and a state government had originated in the flush times of 1856 and 1857, and on Feb. 26, 1857, Congress passed an act authorizing a constitutional convention, and granting a large amount of lands in aid of public schools. On March 3, 1857, an act of Congress was approved making a large grant of lands in aid of railroads.

The election of members of the constitutional convention was held June 1, 1857, and the result was an almost equal division representing the Democratic and Republican parties. So close was this division, and there being some contested seats, when the convention assembled, on July 13, two distinct organizations were made, each proceeding to frame a constitution, but finally, by conference committees, they united in one document, which was submitted to a vote of the people on October 13, and was adopted almost unanimously. By this constitution the boundaries of the State were changed on the west, making the Red River of the North the line, up to the Bois des Sioux, and thence extending along that river and through Lake Traverse and Big Stone lake, and by a direct south line to the north boundary of Iowa.

This constitution provided for an election of State officers at the same time of voting upon the adoption of the constitution, resulting, by a close vote, in the election of the Democratic nominees. The first State legislature was convened on the 2d of December, 1857, and continued in session until March 25, 1858, when a recess was taken until after the State should be admitted. Some doubts were raised as to the legality of the acts of the legislature previous to admission by Congress. The act of admission was passed and approved May 11, 1858. The legislature again assembled in June, and finally adjourned Aug. 12, 1858. During this prolonged session the embryo State was without funds, and a loan of $250,000 was authorized; but as the acts of the legislature before admission were somewhat irregular, the loan could not be readily negotiated. To tide over the difficulty State warrants were issued in the form of bank notes, and passed current, with more or less discount, until the summer of 1858, when they were redeemed from the proceeds of the loan consummated after the admission of the State.

The first legislature worked diligently in what they considered the best interest of the State, and as the grant of lands by the United States in aid of railroads within the State had to be turned over to companies, a large part of the session was devoted to railroad legislation. The scheme of further aid to companies who might be willing to undertake the building of railroads was originated, and was commonly denominated the "Five Million Loan Bill," contemplating the loan of the credit of the State, to that amount, in such sums as would be paid upon the grading and final completion of certain miles of road. On a submission of this law to the people it was adopted by a large majority. The opposition at the time of the vote upon this measure was very bitter, and continued after bonds were being issued, and with the dissatisfaction arising from the small amount of work completed and the large amount of bonds issued, threatenings of repudiation advocated by leading men in the State caused a distrust in financial circles and a final collapse of the whole scheme, with the foreclosure of the mortgages taken by the State upon the railroad lands and franchises, and the abandonment of all railroad construction for the time being. The total amount of bonds issued under this provision of the constitution was $2,275,000. By the foreclosure proceedings the State acquired about 250 miles of graded road, the franchises of the companies and the lands, amounting to five million of acres, as indemnity for this issue of bonds. Notwithstanding the State had acquired all the rights, including the improvements of the railroad companies, the feeling against any settlement of the bonds was strong enough to secure an amendment to the constitution in 1860, prohibiting the passage of any law levying a tax or making other provision for the payment of the principal or interest of these bonds without having the same submitted to a vote of the people and adopted.

The two years following the crash of 1857 were replete with financial disaster and a shrinkage of inflated values in town-sites; but the country was filling up with farmers, and the rich soil of the State was giving abundant harvests.

The political contest of 1859 was bitter, and resulted in the Republican party carrying the State, both for State officers and the legislature.

The census of 1860 gave the State a population of 172,023. During this year there was great hope of a largely increased immigration into the country; but the political situation in the Union, starting with the opening of the presidential campaign of that year, soon indicated a disturbing element throughout the country, and distrust and depression were manifest on all sides, which was not allayed by the result of the presidential election. The war period, commencing with the time of the president's proclamation in April, 1861, to the final close of the rebellion in 1865, did not permit any material growth in the State. About twenty-two thousand of her able-bodied citizens volunteered and were enlisted in the Union army.

The Indian reservation set apart by the treaties of 1851, a tract twenty miles wide on the upper part of the Minnesota river, embracing some of the finest lands in the State, was becoming a barrier to settlements in the upper Minnesota valley. Settlers had taken lands close up to the reservation, and there was considerable complaint that Indians were coming off the reservation and committing petty depredations, and the Indians had more or less complaints to make regarding the extortions practiced by the post traders. The encroachments of the whites were viewed with suspicion by the Indians, and sooner or later, from these causes alone, a conflict would probably have occurred. The War of the Rebellion, calling away so many of the able-bodied men of the State, left the frontier settlements almost defenseless, and doubtless caused the younger portion of the tribes to become more offensive to the settlers and more exacting in their demands.

The lands embraced within the reservation under the treaties of 1851 were in the very heart of Minnesota, and, considering the forests and streams, were the choicest of farming lands. The settlers on the border were anxiously coveting this Garden of Eden. A sentiment was created throughout the State that the Indians should abandon the tribal relations and become civilized. To this end the head men of the Dakota nation were induced, in 1858, to go to Washington, under the charge of Hon. Joseph R. Brown, in whom they had great confidence, for the purpose of negotiating for the whole or a part of this reservation. Treaties were signed ceding the ten-mile strip on the north side of the river, upon the payment of $140,000, and the government provided that every head of a family or single person over the age of twenty-one adopting a civilized life should secure in fee eighty acres of land. From some cause the payments of $140,000 were never made, and there was great dissatisfaction on account of this treaty, among those of the tribes who were adverse to accepting the condition of civilization; and from the fact that there was no money divided among them on account of this relinquishment, a bitter dissension arose between the older chiefs and the younger members, the latter claiming that they had been robbed either by the chiefs or by the government, and they proposed to have the settlement, peaceful or otherwise.

This internal strife was augmented from year to year by the withdrawal of families who were willing to accept the civilization fund, the number in three years succeeding the treaty amounting to one hundred and sixty persons. They were, however, still annuity Indians, and claimed the right to be heard in the councils. The annuity Indians, all told, numbered about six thousand two hundred, and the annual cash payment to each person amounted to about fifteen dollars. The Indians were treated as wards of the United States. Two agencies were established, around which were gathered storekeepers to sell the Indians goods in anticipation of the annuity payments; and, usually, the annual payment was simply a settlement of the claims of the traders, who took the risk of furnishing the goods in advance. That there was injustice practiced upon the Indians is doubtless true; probably not so great as the disaffected Indians imagined. There was enough, however, to make the time of the annual payment an anxious period, for fear of an outbreak. The failure of the government in its attempt to punish the Spirit Lake murderers had a tendency to create a feeling among the leaders of the rebellious spirit that if they could only unite the whole body of Sioux in an uprising they could make a successful attack upon the settlers, and perhaps regain the lands formerly held by the Indians. The War of the Rebellion, starting in 1861, gave renewed energy to the discontent. The Indians were well aware of the reverses of the Union forces during the first year of the war. The calls for troops were taking the able-bodied men from the farms, and many of the half-breeds had volunteered for the army. All these conditions had a disquieting effect, and, added to this, in 1862 the June payment was not made; and as there was no satisfactory answer for the delay, the traders took advantage of the necessities of the Indians and insinuated that perhaps the government would go to pieces, and there would be no further payments. The missionaries endeavored to counteract these evil influences, and, with the aid of the civilized Indians, succeeded in averting deliberate outbreak. The delay in payment of annuities, however, tended to keep up the discontent, particularly among the younger braves, who were the hunters. Their vagabond life brought them into the settlements, and in contact with the whites; and their worthless, lazy habits made them offensive to the families, as beggars of meals or money, or anything that took their fancy.

These are, in brief, the circumstances which led up to the great massacre of 1862, which for a short time threatened the lives of all the settlers on the western boundary of the State. There was no concerted action for the massacre, and to some extent there is an uncertainty as to why the first murders were committed. Four young men or boys are believed to have commenced the massacre, in a spirit of bravado, making a threatening attack first upon a family, driving them from their home, and afterward following them to a neighbor's house, where, after an altercation with the families, they killed three men and two women. These occurrences took place on the seventeenth of August, in the township of Acton, twelve miles west of Litchfield. Realizing that if they remained in the vicinity punishment would soon overtake their murderous acts, they lost no time in going back to camp, relating what they had done, and asking protection. A hasty consultation was had between two of the chiefs; they realized that the murderers must be given up, or the annuities would be stopped, and a war of extermination would be inaugurated. They chose to stand by the murderers, and immediately following there was a general uprising of the entire Sioux bands. So swift were their movements, before any effective resistance could be brought against them, that about eight hundred of the settlers, men, women and children were murdered within a few days. The prompt action of the State authorities, aided by the national government, resulted in the capture of about 2,000 of the belligerent Indians and the withdrawal of the remainder beyond the boundaries of the State, into the wilds of Dakota. Of the captured Indians 303 were found guilty of murder and rape.

and were condemned to death by a military court martial. Of this number 265 were reprieved by President Lincoln, and the remainder, thirty-eight of the most prominent engaged in the massacre, were hung in Mankato on the 26th of December, 1862. The next year the general government authorized an expedition against the Indians who had escaped to the Dakota plains, because of their constant raids in small squads on the frontiers of the State for the purpose of horse-stealing and marauding upon adventurous settlers who might risk going back to their abandoned farms. After two decisive encounters, the Indians retreated beyond the Missouri river, and in 1864 another expedition was sent forward and a final settlement of the Sioux outbreak was accomplished, by a confiscation and surrender of the ponies and arms of most of the bands hostile to the government.

The several tribes of Sioux Indians were engaged in this massacre, and were the representatives of the tribes that had made the cession of lands in 1851, under the first and second treaties of that year. Under these treaties the government had set aside trust funds of $2,520,000, from which there was paid annually the sum of $126,000. Settlers who had lost property urged their claims for indemnity, and Congress promptly established a commission to receive all claims and investigate the facts. The commission was duly organized and established headquarters in the city of St. Paul, and carefully examined all the claims presented. The total number filed was 2,940, with damages amounting to $2,458,795.16. The commission allowed 2,635 claims, and cut down the damages to $1,370,374. By act of Congress these claims were paid, and the annuities and all further payments to the tribes were stopped. The State was also reimbursed for extraordinary expenses incurred during the period of insurrection.

On the second of October, 1863, a treaty was concluded at the old crossing of Red Lake river, about twelve miles east of the present city of Crookston, by Alexander Ramsey and Ashley C. Morrill, and the chiefs and head men of the Red Lake and Pembina bands of Ojibway Indians, for the cession of a large tract of country, being the same land embraced in one of the treaties of 1851, but not ratified at that time, of which the boundaries are as follows: Commencing at the intersection of the national boundary with the Lake of the Woods; thence in a southwest direction to the head of Thief river; thence following that stream to its mouth; thence southeasterly in a direct line toward the head of Wild Rice river; and thence following the boundary of the Pillager cession of 1855 to the mouth of said river; thence up the channel of the Red river to the mouth of the Sheyenne; thence up said river to Stump lake, near the eastern extremity of Devil's lake; thence north to the International boundary; and thence east on said boundary to the place of beginning. It embraced all of the Red River valley in Minnesota and Dakota, except a small portion previously ceded, and was estimated to contain 11,000,000 acres. This treaty was ratified by the Senate, with amendments, March 1, 1864. The Indians, on the 12th of April, 1864, assented to the amendments, and President Lincoln, by his proclamation of the 5th of May, 1864, confirmed the treaty.

The close of the Civil War in the spring of 1865, and the return of the soldiers, and the assurance of no further depredations from the Sioux Indians, started a new era of prosperity and rapid growth. The legislature, in the meantime, had granted charters on the foreclosed roadbeds and lands to new railroad companies, and the construction of roads was furnishing abundant labor to all who were coming to the State. The population at this time was 250,099, and in 1870 the population had increased to 439,706, nearly doubling in five years. The railroad companies had within the same period constructed nearly 1,000 miles of railroad, and continued their building with even greater vigor until the financial crisis of 1873 brought all public enterprises again to a stand, and produced stagnation in all the growing towns. The farmers had been active in developing the country, and were adding largely to the productions of the state when the grasshopper raids, for the time being, destroyed the growing crops, and caused great financial distress for two or three years.

The census of 1875 gave the State a population of 597,407, still showing a fair increase, but small in comparison with the five years following the close of the rebellion. By 1878 the State had fairly recovered from the financial crash of 1873, but speculation has at no time since 1878 been so reckless as during the two periods ending in 1857 and 1873.

Along with the prosperity of the State, caused so largely by the rapid railroad building, the State pride began to assert itself with more force, and the prominent citizens continued to urge an adjustment of the dishonored railroad bonds. In 1877, a proposition setting aside the proceeds of 500,000 acres for internal improvement lands in settlement was by act of the legislature submitted to a vote at a special election called for the 12th of June, and was voted down by the decisive vote of 59,176 against, to 17,324 votes for, the proposition. This vote was largely owing to the fact that the State at that time had almost an entire new population that had come into the State long after the bonds were issued and had no definite knowledge of the history of the original indebtedness.

In 1881, the legislature enacted a law providing for the adjustment of these bonds, and designating the judges of the supreme court as a commission to make the settlement. The constitutionality of this law was questioned, a writ of injunction was served, and the final determination of the supreme bench was that the law was unconstitutional, as also the amendment of 1860, prohibiting any settlement without a vote of the people. This latter act had previously been determined unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. An extra session of the legislature was called in October of the same year, when the final adjustment was authorized by act of the legislature, on a basis of fifty per cent of the amount nominally due, and, after a careful examination of all the claims presented, the bond question was forever set at rest by the issue of adjustment bonds, to the amount of $4,282,000, to parties entitled to receive them. For the payment of these bonds the proposition of setting aside the proceeds of the 500,000 acres of internal improvement lands was again submitted at the general election in 1881, and by a vote of 82,435 votes in favor, and 24,526 votes against, the action of the legislature was ratified and the stigma of repudiation removed, which had been fastened upon the State by the popular vote of 1877.

In 1880, the national census gave us a population of 780,773, and the state census of 1885 swelled these figures to 1,117,798, indicating the extraordinary growth of forty-three per cent; but an examination of the figures shows us that the growth was mainly confined to the cities, being nearly eighty per cent of increase, while in the farming community and small towns the percentage of increase was only twenty per cent.

During the ten years between 1880 and 1890 there was a period of great activity in railroad building, and 2,310 miles of road were put in operation. This alone gave great energy to the business of the State, and caused a large increase in the population of the cities, and gradually culminated in a most extravagant real estate boom, and an era of the wildest speculation. In the country the growth was normal over the entire State, although large numbers of farmers in the southern half of the State were attracted to the plains of Dakota, where great activity was being developed by the pushing of railroads into different sections of the territory.

The settlement of the Dakotas and the consequent breaking up of the virgin land, after the year 1885, almost doubled the wheat yield of the north-western states, so that the farmers of Minnesota were soon confronted with the question whether wheat should continue to be their leading staple. In the southern part of the State the wheat return was not enough per acre to yield any profit to the farmer at the reduced prices; and gradually methods have changed, so that the leading agricultural industries now include dairying, stock raising, and a general diversified farming. It seems probable that Minnesota will hold her place as the greatest wheat-producing state, and will also earn a greater reputation as the best all-round farming state in the Union.

The national census of 1890 gave us a population of 1,301,826, an increase of 184,028 in five years, of which amount about 70,000 increase went to the cities and 114,000 to the country districts, showing eighteen per cent increase in the cities and fifteen per cent increase in the country. The state census of 1895 showed an increase of 272,793, or 21.95 per cent, in the preceding five years, giving a total population of 1,574,619.

Minnesota was the first state of the Union to respond to the call of the president for volunteers at the beginning of the war with Spain, in April, 1898. Three regiments, designated as the Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Regiments of Minnesota Volunteers, were mobilized at St. Paul, April 29th, and were mustered into the United States service May 7th and 8th. The Fifteenth Regiment was mustered into service, July 18th. In total this State furnished 5,315 officers and enlisted men for the volunteer army. At the close of the war the Twelfth and Fourteenth Regiments returned to Minnesota, and were mustered out of service in November. The Fifteenth Regiment continued in service until March 27, 1899; and the Thirteenth Regiment, after more than a year of service in the Philippine Islands, was mustered out October 3, 1899.

The population of Minnesota, June 1, 1900, was 1,751,394, showing an increase of 34.5 per cent during the preceding decade. Five years later the state enumeration gave the population as 1,979,912, an increase of 13 per cent. At that time the population of the five largest cities was: Minneapolis, 261,974; St. Paul, 197,023; Duluth, 64,942; Winona, 20,334, and Stillwater, 12,435.

The last census was taken by the federal government in 1910. At that time the population of the state was 2,075,708, an increase during the decade of 324,314, or 18.5 per cent. The population of the eight largest cities then was: Minneapolis, 301,408; St. Paul, 214,744; Duluth, 78,466; Winona, 18,583; St. Cloud, 10,600; Virginia, 10,473; Mankato, 10,365, and Stillwater, 10,198. Of the total increase in the population of the state during the decade a little more than one-fourth was in rural territory and more than one-half was in places of over 25,000 inhabitants.

DESCRIPTIVE

NAME.

Minnesota derives its name from the river which was named "Minisota" by the Dakotas, pronounced "Min-nee-sotah," applied to the stream, in its natural state in the summer season, after the waters were cleared from the rolling caused by the spring floods. Mini, water; sotah, sky-colored. Apparently to secure the correct pronunciation in English letters, the convention called at Stillwater, in 1848, for the purpose of procuring a territorial organization, instructed their delegates to see that the name of the Territory should be written Min-ne-sota.

GEOGRAPHY.

Geographically, Minnesota occupies the exact center of the continent of North America, midway between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and also midway between Hudson Bay and the Gulf of Mexico. This state is bounded on the south by Iowa, on the west by South and North Dakota, on the north by Manitoba and Ontario, and on the east by Wisconsin. It extends from latitude 43 degrees 30 minutes to 49 degrees 24 minutes, and from 89 degrees 29 minutes to 97 degrees 15 minutes west longitude. From its southern boundary to the northern is about 400 miles, and from its most eastern to the extreme western point about 354 miles. In a foot-note on article 2 of the State constitution the boundaries are fully defined, including a history of the projecting point beyond the forty-ninth parallel, shown upon the map.

AREA.

Minnesota is, in area, the tenth state of the Union. It contains 84,287 square miles, or about 53,943,379 acres, of which 3,608,012 acres are water. In altitude it appears to be one of the highest portions of the continent, as the headwaters of three great river systems are found in its limits, those of streams flowing northward to Hudson bay, eastward to the Atlantic ocean, and southward to the Gulf of Mexico.

About half of this surface, on the south and west, consists of rolling prairie, interspersed with frequent groves, oak openings and belts of hardwood timber, watered by numberless lakes and streams, and covered with a warm, dark soil of great fertility. The rest, embracing the elevated district immediately west and north of Lake Superior, consists mainly of rich mineral ranges and of the pine forests which clothe the headwaters of the Mis-

Mississippi, the St. Louis and the Rainy rivers, affording extensive supplies of lumber. Throughout most of the timbered sections are fertile valleys and broad trenches of flat and slightly rolling tillable lands. The rocky, sandy or broken lands will continue to furnish rich harvests of timber.

RIVERS.

Numerous rivers and watercourses give it excellent drainage. But few states are so well watered as Minnesota. Its navigable rivers are the Mississippi, the Minnesota, the St. Croix, the Rainy river, the St. Louis, the Red River of the North, and the Red Lake river, all of which, near their sources, have extensive water powers; while a number of smaller streams such as Rum river and Snake river, both valuable for lumbering, the Cannon and Zumbro rivers, the Vermillion, Crow, Blue Earth, Des Moines, Cottonwood, Chippewa, Le Sueur, Root, Elk and Sauk rivers, etc., also furnish fine water powers. These with their tributaries and a host of lesser streams penetrate every portion of the State. Some of the water powers furnished by these streams are among the finest in America, and many of them have been utilized for manufacturing purposes.

LAKES.

The lakes of Minnesota are more numerous and varied in form than in any other state in the Union. Bordering on the northeast corner of the State for one hundred and fifty miles, the waters of the great Lake Superior wash its shores. Within the State there are about ten thousand lakes, the largest of which is Red lake, in the extreme central northern part of the State, bordering partly by dense pine forests, with its overflow through Red Lake river, by a devious course, into the Red River of the North. On the same northern slope, in St. Louis county, is the beautiful Vermillion lake, with its tributaries, at the edge of the great Vermillion iron range, and flowing into Rainy lake, on the northern boundary, and then through Rainy Lake river into the Lake of the Woods, and thence into Lake Winnipeg, and finally into Hudson bay. The resources of this north woods region in game and game fishes are attracting the attention of people throughout the Mississippi Valley. On the southern slope of the State we have Itasca lake, as the source of the Mississippi, with Cass lake, Lake Winnibigoshish, Leech lake, and other innumerable lakes, all adding volume to the water of the Mississippi, eventually flowing into the Gulf of Mexico. Then we have Mille Lacs, the source of Rum river, and the picturesque Lake Minnetonka. These are the largest lakes in the State. Of these, however, only Minnetonka, White Bear, Bald Eagle and Chisago lakes have so far been much utilized as summer resorts. The incomparable park region, traversed by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads, is the paradise of summer idlers, of hunters and fishermen; but it is not in this portion alone that all the beautiful lakes are found. The northeastern and the southwestern sections each have numerous lakes to attract the summer visitor.

There is an undoubted modification of the climate of the State, caused by these numerous bodies of water, giving a most delightful summer temperature.

Fine varieties of fish are abundant in all these lakes; and the State expends annually thousands of dollars, through a game and fish commission, to improve the varieties, and to prevent their wanton destruction.

ELEVATION.

Surveys with leveling from the sea show that the shore of Lake Superior is the lowest land in the State, 602 feet above sea level. The waters of the northeastern part of the State south of the Mesabi iron range flow into Lake Superior, and are carried to the Atlantic ocean. The Mississippi river, having its chief source in Lake Itasca, at 1,466 feet elevation, runs in a southerly direction, leaving the State at 620 feet above sea level.

The Red River of the North, rising in the north, near Itasca lake, at a height of 1,600 feet above the ocean, after a circuitous route south and west to Breckenridge, in Wilkin county, and then flowing north along its great valley, leaves the State at an elevation of 750 feet. The average elevation of the State is given at about 1,275 feet. The highest elevation is the Misquah hills, in Cook county, 2,230 feet.

CLIMATE.

The elevation of Minnesota above the sea, its fine drainage, and the dryness of the atmosphere give it a climate of unusual salubrity and pleasantness. It has an annual mean temperature of 44 degrees, while its mean summer temperature is 70 degrees, the same as that of middle Illinois and Ohio, southern Pennsylvania, etc. The excessive heats of summer often felt in other states are here tempered by the cooling breezes. Its high latitude gives it correspondingly longer days in summer than states further south, and during the growing season there are two and one-half hours more sunshine than in the latitude of Cincinnati. This, taken in connection with the abundant rainfall of early summer, accounts for the rapid and vigorous growth of crops in Minnesota, and their early maturity. The cool breezes and cool nights in summer prevent the debilitating effects of heat often felt in low latitudes. The winter climate is one of the attractive features of the State. Its uniformity, and prevailing freedom from thaws and excessive spells of cold, severe weather or heavy snow storms, and its dryness, together with the bright sunshine and electrical condition of the air, all tend to enhance the personal comfort of the resident, and make outdoor life and labor a pleasure.

These features tend to make this climate the healthiest in the Union. It gives life and briskness to those performing manual labor, enabling them to do more work than in a damper or duller climate.

STATE FORESTS AND PARKS.

STATE FORESTS AND PARKS.

The importance of the woods of Minnesota as a playground for the people of not only this State but of the whole middle west does not receive the consideration that it should. The woods of Maine and the Adirondacks furnish pleasure to hundreds of thousands of people in the northeastern section of the country, and that feature is recognized as an enormously valuable asset to the sections in which they are located. It brings large amounts of money into the country without interfering seriously with other economic developments. Even people from our own state travel the intervening thousand miles to enjoy an outing there, when, did they but know it, they have quite as attractive a place in which to enjoy themselves at home.

Our forest stretches over hundreds of thousands of acres unbroken, save here and there a lake or a rugged hogback splits the area. The woods so closely resemble the woods of Maine that only an expert can tell the difference. Wild life abounds. Moose, deer, bear, smaller animals and partridges are here in their many favored haunts.

The fisherman who cannot find what he wants in the lakes and streams of the state is certainly hard to please. For the small boy, who bobs for perch in the shallow lakes, or the scientific angler who casts for muscallonge, there is sport galore. The black bass specialist finds plenty of sport in the lakes and streams of the southern and central northern part of the state. The streams and the lakes of the northeast abound in speckled and lake trout, and for the fisherman who simply wants to catch fish, pike, crappies, blue gills and pickerel can be pulled from the water almost anywhere. It is necessary only to pick the locality and the right kind of fish are ready to hook.

There is one portion of the state where the canoe is the only practical means of travel. Beautiful routes hundred of miles in length, through rock-bound lakes and illusive streams, with short portages and ideal camping places, can be found for parties of all descriptions. Neither Maine nor the Adirondacks can compare with our North Woods in this.

Nor are our North Woods without scenery. It is hard for the prairie dweller to realize that there are near mountains in his own state, but they are there,—mountains rising to an altitude of over 2,000 feet, carved into rocky cliffs and spruce covered peaks. Set right into this backbone of broken country are hundreds of island-dotted lakes, the ideal campers' country.

Since the Minnesota Forest Service first took up the work of calling attention to the beauties and possibilities of the North Woods, there has been an apparent increase in the number of summer vacationists who seek out "the land of sky-blue waters" as a place to spend the time set apart for recreation. The improvement work of the Forest Service has been of great assistance to the campers and tourists who annually go into the forest regions. Portages were cleared out and posted with proper signs. These portages, to be sure, are for the benefit of fire fighters first, but nevertheless they are for the benefit of people making canoe trips. Camp sites were located along the popular canoe routes and posted with signs. Canoe maps have been published. These maps were compiled from information sent in by members of the field force who had gone over the various routes. These maps have proved a great help to those making trips, especially in north-eastern Minnesota.

The State Forest Service expects from all campers co-operation in its work of guarding the forests from fires. In return it will do all within its power to make the summer vacation the pleasantest possible. In view of the benefits which will result, the work of attracting the citizens of our own state, as well as those of other states to this land will be carried on during the coming years.

BURNTSIDE STATE FOREST.

Ten miles west of Ely, Minnesota, the state owns 20,000 acres of rocky non-agricultural land close to Burntside Lake, known as the Burntside Forest. This tract was granted to the state by act of congress, April 28, 1904. It lies in two separate pieces in township 63 N., range 14 W., and township 64 N., range 13 W. It is in the rocky lake region of northeastern Minnesota, where there are large areas impossible of cultivation. The forest contains forty-three lakes, all connected, and one of the noted canoe routes of the state passes through it. The entire district can be developed into a splendid playground. The abundance of fish and big game make it especially attractive.

Although practically all of the land in Burntside Forest was burned over years ago, there is already some merchantable timber. Hardwoods, in small areas but great variety of species, are found. White, Norway and jack pine, cedar, spruce and tamarack, are found scattered over the rough hills and swamps. The timber is so scattered that, while it is of value as the beginning of a more complete forestation of the areas, it could not be cut at present with any profit.

Since 1904, when the federal government ceded the 20,000 acres to the state, the latter has made no move towards the development of the grant. In its present condition, with a scattered stand of merchantable timber, and a thick growth of young timber of varying ages covering a large part of the forest, it is rapidly reforesting itself, and is an example of what may be expected on other non-agricultural land where fires are kept out. Much greater results, financially, can be gained from the timber if the young timber is thinned out at proper intervals and otherwise aided in its growth. Of course, fires must be kept out, and care will be taken that this is done.

It is planned to develop Burntside Forest, as a forest and as a camping resort for tourists. Camp sites will be selected in attractive spots and will be marked as such. In selecting and preparing these places, precautions will be taken to eliminate any danger which camp fires might cause. Persons who may wish to camp out will be requested to use these camp sites in preference to selecting others for themselves. Thus, forest officers will be able to keep close account of travelers, who probably will not cause so many fires through ignorance or carelessness as might otherwise be the case. With prepared camping sites, chosen for their beauty, convenience and safety, much pleasure will be added to a canoe trip through these attractive waterways, and much of the arduous work done away with.

ITASCA STATE PARK.

Situated in the beautiful Lake Park region of Minnesota, Itasca Park possesses most attractive opportunities for an outing. Douglas Lodge, built from and among the pines, offers to the rest-seeker all the physical comforts of the city, enhanced by the soothing quiet of the forest. Here the "rattlety-bang" of civilization does not enter. The only sounds come from the whispering pines and the birches, the rippling waves, or from the infinite variety of wild life which inhabits the woods and waters. Whoever loves the woods can there find satisfaction. Boating on Lake Itasca is enhanced in interest by the deer one startles on the bank, and the weird call of the loon at night. Fish are plentiful and of many species. Pedestrian or saddle excursions along the trails over the wooded hills and valleys bring one to delightfully isolated camping spots where there is an abundance of pure spring water. The many lakes with wooded slopes reveal wonderful subjects for camera or sketch. The nature lover will find plant and animal life of every sort known to Minnesota. Arbutus, pitcher plant and gentian round out the season. Beaver, elsewhere practically extinct, abound in the lakes and streams. The unique operations of these craftsmen of the woods are an interesting study. The rush and roar of the cock partridges breaking cover thrill the sportsman's mind, even though he may not shoot. The mother grouse with her brood of young scurries away from the dust bath in the shady trail. A band of elk were placed in the Park during the spring of 1914.

Reachable by auto, mail and telephone, the park is yet so far removed from the outside world that the roar of a train never penetrates its solitudes.

Once around a point and out of sight of Douglas Lodge, one is in the wilderness as it was before the white man broke the spell. There are 22,000 acres of forest and lake in the confines of the park, which is in all respects an ideal spot for healthful recreation.

Itasca State Park was established by the legislature of 1891 as a Park embracing the headwaters of the Mississippi River. Congress granted the state all unpatented lands within its boundaries, on condition that the state acquire the privately owned lands and timber and maintain it as a park forever. The acquisition of the private lands proceeded slowly because of lack of funds, but the legislature of 1913 made an appropriation sufficient to complete the title of the state to all of the land in the Park.

During the spring of 1914 the Forest Service began the work of planting forest trees on areas not bearing desirable tree growth.

Itasca Park is accessible by road from Park Rapids, Bemidji, Shevlin, Bagley and La Porte.

PILLSBURY FOREST.

In 1899, the estate of the late Hon. John S. Pillsbury donated 1,000 acres of cut-over non-agricultural pine land to the state of Minnesota, to be administered by the Forestry Board as a State Forest. Accordingly with the legislative act under which the donation was accepted, two-thirds of any revenue which may accrue from the forest shall flow into the fund of the state university. In honor of the donor, the tract has been called "Pillsbury Forest."

The land lies in Cass county, close to Gull Lake, approximately the geographical center of the state. The land is sandy and rolling, with a few expanses of open meadow or flat land, peculiarly adapted to forest growth. The original stand was of pine (jack, Norway and a little white), with some cedar, spruce and tamarack, and a limited mixture of poplar and birch. Now, however, there is but little pine or other timber of a mature size remaining. What does occur is ordinarily widely scattered. Since the tracts were logged, the land has been so swept by fires that reproduction was greatly retarded. However, a growth of scrubby poplar and birch has come in over much of the acreage. Where fires have not run in late years, pine has been gradually seeding in.

In 1904 a small nursery was established on the Forest, with a little money saved from the Forestry Board appropriation of 1903. During the spring of 1913 and 1914, the Forest Service planted over 110 acres of the land not reseeding naturally to pine. Norway and white pine, and white and Norway spruce have been used. This work gives promise of excellent results.

INTERSTATE PARK AT THE DALLES OF THE ST. CROIX.

In 1895 the State of Minnesota, by a legislative act, set aside a tract of about 110 acres in the town of Taylors Falls, Chisago county, as a public park, to be called the State Park of the Dalles of the St. Croix. An act was also passed by the Wisconsin legislature of the same year, which provided a commission to ascertain the probable cost of acquiring a larger tract for a state park on the opposite side of the St. Croix river; and in 1899 and 1901 the State of Wisconsin passed acts for the purchase of lands there, amounting to about 600 acres. The original park on the Minnesota side of the river has been extended to an area of about 150 acres, and plans are under consideration for further extension to a total of about 500 acres in Minnesota. The two states have thus established an Interstate Park, including the grand and picturesque rock gorge called the Upper Dalles of the St. Croix, where the river for a distance of two-thirds of a mile, at and just south of the village of Taylors Falls, flows through a chasm walled by cliffs of rock 75 to 150 feet high.

The first suggestion for devoting this tract of remarkable natural beauty to such public use was made by George H. Hazzard, a pioneer of Minnesota Territory, to members of the Minnesota legislature in 1893. His idea was welcomed with enthusiasm by newspapers, commercial bodies, and the people of the State.

MINNEOPA STATE PARK.

Under Chapter 297, G. L. 1905, provision was made for the purchase of land containing Minneopa Falls, near Mankato, to establish and create a public park, to be known as "The Minneopa State Park." The sum of $5,000 was appropriated for that purpose. Negotiations for the land, and the perfection of the title consumed much time. On December 4, 1906, the transaction was completed, the title deeds having been duly recorded in the name of the State of Minnesota, and the sum of $3,500 was paid to the property owner. Under section 3, the general care and supervision of the park, until otherwise provided for, was vested in the state auditor. J. B. Hodge has been appointed superintendent or caretaker of the park.

The Indian word "Minneopa" means water of two falls. Indian lore connects a number of legends with the falls, the names of great Indian chiefs, pow wows and the romantic wooing of the Indian maid.

The state has acquired this beauty spot, and it has been forever dedicated to the use and enjoyment of our people. The park is four miles west of Mankato, easily accessible by railroad and driveways. It includes a tract of about sixty acres, through which runs Minneopa River, the waters of which dash with the beauty of a Minnehaha over a ledge sixty feet to a gorge below. There are two falls, but a few rods apart. The falls are seventy-five feet wide, surrounded by towering hills. The great canyon below the falls is grand and picturesque.

ALEXANDER RAMSEY STATE PARK.

The Ramsey State Park is situated at the junction of the Ramsey creek with Redwood river, just above the point where the Redwood valley opens out into the bottom lands of the Minnesota river, and a part of the city of Redwood Falls.

The Ramsey falls, at the western end of the tract, is formed by a perpendicular precipice of solid rock in the path of the stream, while half a mile to the east is the Little falls on the Redwood river, and a few rods around the bend is the Redwood falls, making a group of waterfalls, each being widely different from the others in appearance.

The winding course of the stream is a continuous succession of rapids at the foot of precipitous bluffs and cliffs of great irregular masses of granite, to which cling a profusion of red cedars. Near to the center of the park tract is one of the highest levels along the river, rising to a height of 200 feet above the streams on either side, from which are commanding landscape views of the Ramsey valley, the entire lower Redwood valley, and many miles of Minnesota river bluffs in the farther distance.

Adjacent to the Ramsey Park is the city park of Redwood Falls—the two principal features of which are the waterfall from which the town takes its name, and a high, wooded table land and driveway nearly surrounded by and in full view of the most picturesque portions of the Redwood river.

Alexander Ramsey State Park was so named in honor of Alexander Ramsey, the first governor of the Territory and the second governor of the State. One of the most important achievements of the official life of Governor Ramsey was the securing of the treaty with the Sioux Indians, opening a large area of the state to settlement and the allotment of a reservation tract along the upper Minnesota river. This Memorial park is situated near to the center of this Indian reservation of early days.

Ramsey Park is within a short distance of nearly every point of interest connected with the Indian outbreak of 1862: Fort Ridgely, where the first engagement was fought; the stone building, which was the principal agency headquarters and is the most important structure of reservation days still standing; the sites of the early trading posts; the Indian stone church, built from the ruins of the first mission church of the valley, now in use by a colony of Indians; the Morton monuments erected to the memory of soldiers slain in the battle and to Indians friendly to the whites during the conflict; Birch Coulee battlefield, Brown's castle and the upper Sioux Agency; the Wood Lake monument where the closing battle of the Minnesota campaign was fought, and the sod stockade erected for protection to the first white settlement on the reservation which was the beginning of the present town of Redwood Falls.

HORACE AUSTIN STATE PARK

is located at Austin and is named in honor of the sixth Governor of Minnesota. The park consists of 50 acres of water of the Red Cedar river and a number of deeply wooded islands. The wood is chiefly elm and maple with some oak on the shores.

The park is just north of the city and is easy of access as the main business street terminates at the entrance to the park. The waters abound in black bass, pickerel, croppies and perch.

This park marks a historical site in Southern Minnesota. According to the "Journal of the Marches of the First United States Dragoons 1834-1845," companies B., H. and I. of that famous organization camped here in 1835. In 1836 a party of hunters from Fort Snelling were encamped here. That party was headed by Major Laurence Toliferro and among the hunters was Dr. John Emerson, surgeon at Fort Snelling. With him was his slave Dred, who had just married Harriet, whom Major Toliferro had sold to the surgeon. This "Dred" became famous by reason of the "Dred Scott" decision in later years. In 1846 H. H. Sibley, Alexander Faribault, Wm. H. Forbes, John C. Freemont and a party of Sioux Indians were camped here. In October, 1841, Sibley, as agent for the American Fur Company, came here with Sioux Indians and spent the winter trapping and hunting, the camp being on the land now included in the park. Sibley's diary shows they got 2,000 deer, 50 elk, 50 bears, and a few buffalo. The old territorial road forms the west and south lines of the park.

Plans have been prepared for the laying out of the grounds in a suitable manner, to commemorate the deeds of the early pioneers and to honor the memory of one of our early governors.

Hon. J. A. O. Preus, Minneapolis—State Auditor.
Hon. Walter J. Smith, Eveleth—State Treasurer.

The constitution of the State provides that these officers shall be elected for two years, except the state auditor, whose term of office is for four years.

The Governor. The duties of the governor are prescribed by the constitution and the laws of the state. The office assistants of the governor are a private secretary, executive clerk, two stenographers and executive messenger. Connected with the executive office is the appointment of notaries public.

The Lieutenant Governor is ex-officio president of the senate, and has no other duties to perform, except in a protracted absence of the governor from the state he may be called to act, and in case of vacancy in the office he becomes governor during said vacancy.

The Secretary of State is the recording officer of the state and the official custodian of official papers. All the private and public corporations of the State are recorded, and the official bonds of all state and county officers are filed in this office. He is the custodian of all the volumes of laws and journals and all the legislative records of whatever nature as well as the United States government surveys of Minnesota, recently turned over to the state. The whole machinery of state elections and the final canvassing of votes is carried forward in his office. The preparation of the volumes of law for publication is part of his duty, and the care and disposition of all printed executive documents of the state. His office is the place of registration of motor vehicles. For the general purposes of the office, the clerical force is an assistant secretary, a chief clerk, one record clerk, a clerk of government surveys, a document clerk, a general clerk, an automobile clerk, an assistant automobile clerk, and a stenographer.

The State Auditor has charge of two departments of the government, the auditing department and the land department. The auditing department is to keep a record of all public accounts, audit all claims presented, and issue warrants in payment. These accounts are not only those of the state departments, but include the pay rolls of state institutions. He has charge of the tax law and prescribes the tax blanks, prepares the abstracts of taxes for the state board of equalization, makes all the drafts for state taxes, and keeps an account of the same, and is required to make a detailed and exhaustive report of the affairs of his office to the legislature, and for the performance of these duties he has a deputy and various clerks.

In the Land Department, of which the auditor is chief, he has the assistance of four clerks specially detailed. The duties of this department are the care and sale of school, university, agricultural, college and swamp lands, and the sale of grass, cranberries, and maple sugar; the leasing of mineral lands; and the making out and record of all deeds and conveyances for the disposition of lands, besides keeping a classified account of all money transactions connected with these lands.

The State Treasurer is the receiving and disbursing officer of the state, and has the assistance of a deputy treasurer, six clerks and stenographer to aid in the duties of the office. His duties are defined by law to keep an accurate account of the receipts and disbursements of the treasury, specifying the names of persons from whom received, to whom paid, on what account the same is received and paid out, and the time of such receipt and payment. And for all payments into the state treasury by county treasurers he issues two receipts, one to the treasurer and the other to the county auditor.

The Attorney General is the legal adviser of all the departments of state, and counsel for the state or departments in all suits at law; prosecutes all official bonds of delinquent state officers; prepares all forms of state contracts; receives reports of criminal actions in all the counties of the state from the county attorneys, and makes a biennial report to the legislature. The force in the office is five assistant attorney generals, a clerk and three stenographers.

ADMINISTRATIVE

The Department of Public Examiner was created in 1878. The public examiner is appointed by the governor for the term of three years. It is required that he shall be a skillful accountant. The duties of this officer, being of a fiduciary character, his bonds were fixed at $50,000. The law gives him almost unlimited power in the examination of the accounts of public officers, state, county, city, village and school district. He prescribes and enforces correct methods of keeping the financial accounts of state institutions and county offices, visits them annually, and makes an exhaustive inspection of their books and the detailed items of expenditure. With reference to county, city, village and school district officers, it is his duty to enforce a correct and uniform system of bookkeeping by auditors, treasurers, etc., so as to insure the thorough supervision and safety of the public funds. The jurisdiction of the public examiner embraces the financial officers of the city of St. Paul. The public examiner also examines the books of corporations paying a gross earnings tax to the state, viz., the railroad companies, the sleeping car companies and the telephone companies. The law providing for the department of public examiner was re-enacted in 1913 with important amendments.

The Insurance Department was organized in 1872. The department has supervision of all classes of insurance companies, which consist of life insurance companies, both upon the level premium and assessment plan; fraternal insurance companies, fire, marine, accident, health, employers' liability, credit, burglary, fidelity, title, plate glass, and sprinkler leakage. The fire insurance companies are divided into many kinds, including stock, fire, mutual, and farmers' mutual. The commissioner is required to examine each domestic company at least once in two years, and he may examine foreign companies whenever in his opinion such examination is necessary. By the provisions of a law passed in 1913 the insurance commissioner is given authority to pass upon securities issued by insurance companies, both foreign and domestic, doing business in this state, and to refuse license to do business to companies whose securities are not approved.

Department of Banking. By an act of the 1909 legislature the visitation of state banks, etc., was divorced from the public examiner's office, and a new department under the above caption was created, the law going into effect August 1, 1909. By the act the superintendent of banks, or his deputies, is given authority to visit each of the banking, savings and other moneyed corporations created under the laws of this state, and thoroughly examine into their affairs and ascertain their financial condition at least once in each year. It is his duty to carefully inspect and verify the validity and amount of securities and assets held by such institutions, examine into the validity of the mortgages held by savings banks, and see that the same are duly recorded, and ascertain the nature and amount of any discount or other banking transactions which he may deem foreign to the legitimate and lawful purposes of savings institutions. The law also requires the superintendent of banks to ascertain the financial standing of all bondsmen of state and county officials and pass upon the sufficiency of such bonds.

Dairy and Food Department. While it is especially the duty of this department and to have supervision of the dairying and buttermaking industries, it is also charged with the enforcement of laws designed to prevent fraud and deception in the manufacture and sale of articles intended for human consumption. It is required to take proper educational measures to foster and promote the manufacture and sale of pure food products. Its chief executive officer, the dairy and food commissioner, is appointed by the governor for a term of two years. The commissioner appoints an assistant commissioner, a secretary, a chief chemist and assistants, a corps of inspectors, stenographers, clerks, etc. Inspectors are required to pass a civil service examination. For this purpose a board of examiners has been created, consisting of the dairy and food commissioner, the dean of the agricultural college and the attorney general. For the purpose of enforcing the pure food laws of the state, the officers of the department are given access to all places where food is manufactured, stored and sold, or where cows or other domestic animals are pastured and stabled, and to railroad cars, warehouses, etc. Food products which do not come up to the requirements of the laws of the state may be condemned and their vendors prosecuted. Reports are made to the dairy and food commissioner March 1st of each year by persons engaged in the manufacture and sale of dairy products and by creameries and cheese factories.

The Department of Labor and Industries was created by the legislature in 1887. It was called the Bureau of Labor Statistics, with a commissioner of labor and one assistant. The present department consists of four bureaus: A bureau of statistics, a bureau of factory inspection, a bureau of women and children, and a bureau of state free employment, with offices in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. A total force of thirty-nine persons is employed. The department is empowered to enforce all laws regulating the employment of minors and women; the protection of health, lives, limbs and rights of employes; to gather statistics relating to industrial accidents and to all branches of labor, labor troubles and unions, and to enforce the compulsory education laws. It must assist injured workmen in making settlements under the workmen's compensation law, and report to the legislature the workings of the act in detail. Employers of labor are required to furnish information upon request. Orders of factory inspectors may be modified by the courts.

Oil Inspection Department. For the purpose of inspecting illuminating oils, gasoline, etc., made, offered for sale or sold in the state, the governor, with the consent of the senate, is authorized to appoint a chief inspector of oils. The chief inspector may appoint two deputy inspectors for Hennepin county, two for Ramsey county and one for each of the other counties. Except in Ramsey and Hennepin counties, the salary of a deputy inspector must not exceed $100 a month and in any case it must not exceed the fees collected in his territory. Oil inspection fees, which are regulated by statutes are collected by the state auditor and paid into the state treasury.

State Fire Marshal's Department. The legislature of 1913 passed an act revising the laws relating to the state fire marshal. The act provides for the appointment by the governor of a state fire marshal and a first assistant. The marshal is authorized to appoint two deputy fire marshals and such other special deputies and clerks as may be necessary to carry on the work of the department. These officials are required to pass a civil service examination. The duty of the department is to enforce all laws with relation to the prevention of fires, the storage, sale and use of combustibles and explosives and the means and adequacy of exits to buildings in which people are accustomed to congregate. It is also required to take steps for the suppression of arson and for the investigation of the cause, origin and circumstances of fires.

Hotel Inspection. All hotels and restaurants in the state are under the supervision of a hotel inspector appointed by the governor for a term of two years. Every person engaged in the hotel or restaurant business is required to secure a license from him annually. The inspector is required to inspect each hotel and restaurant at least once a year and may enforce sanitary and other regulations in regard to the same. He is authorized to appoint one deputy inspector and a stenographer and to maintain an office at the state capitol. Inspection fees ($2 annually for each hotel or restaurant) are turned into the state treasury and the inspector and his assistants paid regular salaries.

Apiary Inspection. An inspector of apiaries at a salary of $1,500 a year and such deputies as may be required, to be paid $5 a day, but not more than $500 in all in any one year, are provided for in Chap. 311, Laws 1911. The inspector has charge of the work of the suppression of contagious diseases among bees and is given large powers along that line.

COMMISSIONS AND BOARDS

Railroad and Warehouse Commission. The first legislation enacted in Minnesota for the regulation of railroads was the act providing for a railroad commissioner, approved March 4, 1871. This act provided for one commissioner to be appointed by the governor. The term of office was fixed at two years; the salary was made $3,000 per annum. Governor Austin appointed under this act A. J. Edgerton, who served until March, 1875. The powers of the commissioner were practically confined to inspecting the railways and reporting to the legislature his recommendations. The statute was superseded by a law enacted March 6, 1874, creating a board of railroad commissioners of three members, to be appointed by the governor for a term of two years. The powers of the board were largely increased. Among other things it was given authority "to make and establish a schedule of rates, said schedule or revisions of the same to be deemed and taken in all courts as prima facie evidence as reasonable maximum rates." In 1875 the office was made elective, with only one commissioner, but on March 5, 1885, the three member commission, to be appointed by the governor, was again created. In 1899 the commission was made elective. Ira B. Mills, Joseph G. Miller and Charles F. Staples were the members elected in November of 1890. The first secretary of the commission was Eli S. Warner, who served from January, 1885, till January, 1889. He was succeeded by Tams Bixby, who served until September, 1890, when he resigned. He was succeeded by A. K. Teisberg, who served until September, 1901. A. C. Clausen was appointed at that time and is the present secretary.

Weights and Measures. A department of weights and measures was created by the legislature of 1911, and placed under the jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commission, which was given authority to appoint a commissioner of weights and measures and such assistants as might be required to supervise and control all weights, weighing devices and measures used in the state. Sixteen inspectors are employed by this department. Weights and measures conform to the standards at Washington. Fees for inspectors are provided for.

Grain Inspection. The system of inspection, weighing and registration of grain has been in existence and operation in this state since June 1, 1885. Previous to its establishment the control of grain inspection and weighing was vested in the boards of trade at St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, the members of these commercial bodies each year choosing the official inspectors and weighers by ballot. The inspection department is under the supervision of a chief inspector, who is appointed by the railroad and warehouse commission, and it is divided into eight districts, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Duluth, New Prague, Montgomery, Sleepy Eye, and Winona, each comprising a district. In each of these districts a chief deputy inspector has direct control of the work, and has in charge as many deputies and helpers as the work requires. Each district except Sleepy Eye has a weighing department in charge of a state weighmaster, with such number of assistant weighers as he may require. Assistant weighers are also stationed at Faribault, Kasota, Appleton, Morristown, Montgomery, Waseca, New Richland, Hastings, Wabasha, Red Wing, and Little Falls in this state and at La Crosse and Osceola, Wisconsin.

Board of Grain Appeals. There are two of these boards, one at Minneapolis and one at Duluth. Each board consists of three members appointed by the governor for a term of three years, one member being appointed each year. The boards are required to meet annually in joint session to establish grades of all grain to be known as "Minnesota Grades." Appeals may be taken to these boards from the decisions of the inspectors in their territory as to grades and dockage.

The State Highway Commission was created by the 1905 legislature, which provided for the appointment of a non-partisan board of three members, and an appropriation for the expense of such a board. Subsequent acts provided for the continuance of the board and defined its duties. The commission at present consists of three members appointed by the governor, one going out each year, whose successor is appointed in the usual manner. The present resources of the highway commission consist of a tax levied under authority of Chap. 235, General Laws of 1913, of one mill on each dollar of valuation; which, together with the interest on the internal improvement land fund and other resources, is annually distributed among the different counties in amounts based on area, valuation, amount of their appropriation for roads and bridges, mileage of state and other roads and topographical conditions. The manner in which a county can avail itself of the state aid is by act of the county board in establishing a state road or bridge. After construction the commission will refund a certain portion of the cost. This proportion depends on the valuation of the county. Counties having less than $5,000,000 valuation will receive 80 per cent of the cost; those having less than $10,000,000 and over $5,000,000 will receive 70 per cent; those between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 will receive 60 per cent, and all other counties 50 per cent. The total amount allowed to any county is to be not less than one per cent of the total fund nor more than three per cent. Work on the roads to be contracted for or done by day labor, by the order of the county board and under the supervision of the state engineer. The average annual expenditure of all counties in the State on road and bridge work is approximately $4,000,000 for the supervision of which the legislature has provided a fund of $150,000 for engineering services. Of the above total amount about 25 per cent was used last year in the construction or reconstruction of about 500 steel and concrete bridges, averaging $2,000 each, and ranging from 30 to 200 feet in length. The force of the highway department consists of 2 deputies, 77 assistant or district engineers, 10 bridge and division engineers and 9 draftsmen and clerks.

The Minnesota Tax Commission, created in 1907, exercises general supervision over the administration of the assessment and taxation laws of the state, over assessors, town, county and city boards of review and equalization, and all other assessing officers. It is given power to issue instructions and directions to local assessors and call meetings of local assessors of each county for the purpose of receiving instructions as to the laws governing the assessment and taxation of all classes of property. It is also authorized to enforce the laws relating to the liability and punishment of public officers who fail to comply with the provisions of the law governing the returns of assessment and taxation of property in so far as it relates to their duties and as to their removal from office. County attorneys may be directed by the commission to commence prosecutions for violations of the law. All public officers are required to report to it as to the assessment of property and collection of taxes received from licenses and other sources. Individuals, co-partnerships, companies, corporations and associations are to furnish any information asked for relative to their capital, funded or other debt, taxes or other information required by law for taxation purposes. The commission may summon witnesses to appear before it, and give testimony relating to any tax matter, and may require the depositions of witnesses, within or without the state, relative to the same subject.

Game and Fish Commission. The execution of the laws relating to the propagation and preservation of game and fish is made the duty of the state game and fish commission, a body of five members, each appointed for four years by the governor. The commission is required to select one of its members as executive agent, which officer has the powers of the board when the same is not in session, and is the only salaried member. Other employes and officers of the commission include a superintendent of fisheries, superintendents of the several hatcheries, and a force of wardens. The work of the commission is supported by funds derived from several sources, including direct legislative appropriations for general and special purposes, from the sale of the various kinds of fishing and hunting licenses, and from the sale of contraband game, fish and paraphernalia for the propagation of the several species of food and game fishes.

Board of Inspectors of Steam Vessels and Boilers. In January of every odd numbered year the governor is required to appoint this board of inspectors, consisting of one resident of each senatorial district, except where there is more than one senatorial district in a county when only one inspector is appointed for the county. It is the duty of the inspectors to inspect all steam vessels and steam boilers in use in the state and to grant certificates of license to steam engineers. Each inspector may appoint one or more deputies. The board meets once a year in St. Paul to establish regulations for the inspection of vessels and boilers, etc. Masters and pilots are examined and licensed by the inspectors. Fees are charged as follows: For inspecting vessels, 50 tons burden or over, $10; less than 50 tons, $5; for master or pilot's license, $1 and $1 for its biennial renewal; for engineer's license, $1 and $1 for its biennial renewal; for inspection of single boiler, $3, and for each additional boiler connected thereto, $2. Inspection of boilers is made annually. All fees are retained by the board.

The Minnesota State Board of Immigration was created by an act of the legislature approved April 22d, 1907. The act provides that the governor, auditor, and secretary of state shall be ex-officio members, and they are empowered to select two additional members to hold their offices for the term of two years. The duties of the board are to collect and arrange statistics and other information in reference to the lands and general and special resources of the State of Minnesota, and the advantages of this state as a place of residence; to spread knowledge of the same throughout the civilized world by correspondence, by messengers and public lectures and by all forms of legitimate advertising; to facilitate the immigration of persons of good moral character who may desire a change of domicile, and to answer all inquiries from persons residing within or without the state, upon the subjects aforesaid.

Printing Commission. The public printing of the State of Minnesota is under the control of commissioners of printing, comprising the secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer. Biennially the commissioners elect a superintendent of printing. The public printing is divided into five classes, and let by the commissioners of printing by contract to the lowest bidder, sufficient bonds being required of contractors for faithful performance of the work.

State Forestry Board. The legislature at the 1911 session repealed all laws enacted prior to that time relating to a forest and fire commissioner, and placed an entirely new law on the statute books which makes provisions for a forestry board of nine members. Members are recommended for appointment by associations and organizations closely interested in the welfare of the forests. The board elects a secretary and a state forester, and has general charge of the state forest service. The organization of the forest service personnel, forest fire protection and other forestry work are under the charge of the state forester. The forest service, by means of trained forest rangers and patrolmen, handles forest fire protective work in the coniferous region of the state. This embraces approximately 25,000,000 acres. The service manages the state forests, and cooperates with municipalities, townships, counties, the U. S. forest service, and railroad and lumber companies for purposes of fire protection. It carries on the work of reforesting the state forests, and advances the knowledge of forestry by lectures and publications. Special provision is made in the law as to railroad companies and the duty of their employees, as well as to logging and lumber companies and employees. Road overseers are also required to assist in the prevention of forest fires.

State Board of Timber Commissioners. The governor, treasurer, auditor, state forester and attorney general constitute this board. The governor is chairman of the board and the auditor secretary. The board is required to pass upon the record of appraisal by cruisers of timber to be offered for sale by the state, may dispose of and settle for timber on public lands cut by railroad companies, etc., extend permits for cutting, make settlements in case of trespass, etc.

State Drainage Commission. This commission consists of the governor, the state auditor and the secretary of state. Early legislation calling for drainage of the low, flat and swamp lands of the state has been superseded by various drainage laws, and the one under which the state carries on the work creates this commission. This commission names the state drainage engineer and his assistants. The legislature has appropriated $100,000 annually for several years past to carry on the work, and vast tracts of land in northern Minnesota, belonging to the state, and to private parties, have been reclaimed for agricultural purposes. No appropriation for the general work was made by the legislature of 1913.

Reclamation Board. A reclamation board was created by the 1911 session. The board consists of three members, appointed by the governor, whose duty it is to select 40-acre tracts of state swamp or stumpage land, and to improve and sell the same. Eight thousand dollars was appropriated for the purpose.

The Minnesota Public Library Commission was created by an act of legislature in April, 1899. The board of directors is composed of the president of the State University, the state superintendent of education, the secretary of the State Historical Society, each ex-officio, and two other members appointed by the governor. The executive officers appointed by this board are: (1), the secretary, who is responsible for the administration of the commission and supervises the extension work; and (2), the librarian of the department of traveling libraries. The purpose of the commission, as expressed in the law, is: (1), to give "advice and instruction to the managers of any public library, and to the trustees of any village, town, or community upon any matter pertaining to the organization, maintenance, or administration of libraries, and to assist, by counsel and encouragement, in the formation of libraries where none exist, or in improving those already established," and (2), to maintain a "state circulating library, from which any town, village, or community may borrow books." The general traveling libraries are made up of groups of 50 volumes each for small towns and villages, and of 25 volumes each for rural communities. They are loaned for six months upon application of ten taxpayers, and to a public library upon application of the board of directors. A fee of $1 for 50 books and 50 cents for 25 books is paid in advance for transportation charges. In addition to the 50 volume and 25 volume library, this free circulating library reaches out to every interest within the state.

Minimum Wage Commission. This commission, provided for by the legislature of 1913, consists of W. F. Houk, commissioner of labor, chairman; A. H. Lindeke of St. Paul, an employer of women; and Miss Eliza C. Evans of Minneapolis, secretary, the two last named appointed by the governor. It is the duty of the commission to establish a minimum wage to be paid to women and minors throughout the state and to see that not less than such minimum wage is paid. Preliminary to fixing such wage, the commission, assisted by advisory boards in the Twin Cities and Duluth, has made an investigation of the cost of living. The law creating the commission carries an appropriation of $5,000.

The State Board of Investment of the proceeds from sales of state lands consists of the governor, state auditor and state treasurer. This board controls the investment of the trust funds in the state treasury, and no purchase or disposition of securities can be made without its favorable action. This board has entire charge of the loaning of school and university funds to counties, cities, villages, townships and school districts.

State Board of Audit. The governor, secretary of state and attorney general constitute this board. It is required to audit the accounts of the state treasurer at least four times a year, ascertain the amounts of the several funds which should be in the treasury and count the money actually on hand. A report of the examination is made to the legislature the third day of the session.

State Board of Deposit. The state treasurer, secretary of state, state auditor, attorney general and public examiner constitute this board. The board is required to designate the banks in which state moneys are to be deposited, approve their bonds, and prescribe the maximum amount to be deposited in each.

State Board of Parole. A board was created by the 1911 session, with power to parole prisoners from the state penal institutions, after a certain portion of the time has been served. The same act provides for the indeterminate sentence plan. The board is to consist of a member of the board of control oldest in the point of service, the warden at the penitentiary, and a third to be appointed by the governor.

The Board of Pardons was created by Chapter 23 of the General Laws of 1897, and consists of the governor, chief justice of the supreme court and the attorney general. It has power to grant pardons and to commute the sentence of any person convicted of any offense against the laws of this state. The board holds regular meetings on the second Mondays of January, April, July and October of each year, and such other meetings as may be deemed expedient.

State Board of Law Examiners. This board consists of not less than five nor more than seven attorneys at law, appointed for a term of three years by the justices of the supreme court. Its officers are a president, secretary and treasurer. It is required to hold public examinations of persons desirous of being admitted to the bar and report to the supreme court at least three times a year. Certificates authorizing the holder to practice law are issued by the board upon an order by the court. An examination fee of $15 is charged.

Board of Visitors. On April 25, 1907, the governor approved chapter 441 general laws of that session of the legislature, creating a state board of visitors for public institutions. Meetings are to be held quarterly or oftener if required. The members are to study the care and management of charitable and correctional institutions and must visit those within the bounds of the state. The governor may order the board to investigate any penal or charitable institution. The report of any such investigation is to be made to the governor and transmitted to the legislature.

Board of Women Visitors for the Minnesota Home School for Girls. This is an advisory board appointed by the governor, and consists of five women. It advises with the board of control with respect to buildings to be erected for the Home School and is required to visit the institution twice a year to inspect the cottages and to inquire into the condition and treatment of the inmates. A report of the visits is made to the board of control with such recommendations as to the visitors shall "seem meet and proper to promote and conserve the best interests of said school and the inmates thereof."

Advisory Commission for the State Sanitarium for Consumptives. This commission consists of five physicians, one of whom must belong to the homeopathic school, appointed by the governor for a term of five years. All plans for buildings must be approved by the advisory commission. The commission appoints examining physicians, not more than three from each county, to pass upon applications for admission to the sanatorium.

State Board of Accountancy. Provision for this board was made by the legislature of 1909. It consists of three skilled accountants appointed by the governor for a term of three years. Board of Armory Supervisors. The governor, brigade commander or adjutant general and the commanding officers of the several regiments and the battalion of field artillery compose this board under the provisions of a law passed in 1911 and amended at the 1913 session. All armories are now under supervision of this board.

Automobile Board. A board of automobile examiners, appointed by the governor, has been provided for. This board holds examinations for chauffeurs at such times as may be designated by the secretary of state.

Efficiency and Economy Commission. Agitation conducted in various ways for reorganization of the state government showed the necessity for deliberate consideration of the problem. Governor Eberhart accordingly invited thirty citizens to make such a study as might be feasible without legal authority or public appropriation, and commissioned them for that purpose. This is informally known as the Economy and Efficiency Commission. The commission took up its duties November 4, 1913, and in May following issued a preliminary report recommending the consolidation of the various activities of the state in six great departments, together with the adoption of the merit system in the civil service and the budget system of appropriations. Its final report was submitted to the governor at the close of the year. While half a dozen states were at the same time entering on similar studies either under legislative authority or informally, the report of this commission is apparently the first concrete statement of the broad problem and a proposed solution put forth in any of the states. It is notable that at every stage of its work the commission had the willing cooperation of all state officers who came in contact with it and that every conclusion reached by its members was unanimous.

The members of the commission are as follows: Charles P. Craig, chairman, Duluth; O. B. Nelson, Spring Grove; W. B. Parsons, Winona; H. H. Dunn, Albert Lea; John H. Hohmann, Mankato; F. E. Putnam, Blue Earth; W. W. Smith, Sleepy Eye; John Moonan, Waseca; Elias Jacobson, Montevideo; George F. Authier, Hugh J. Hughes, E. G. Hall, Thomas Kneeland, Theo. Wold, Jos. Chapman, Jr., J. F. # THE MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

Commander-in-Chief,

His Excellency, Winfield S. Hammond, Governor.

Executive Officer of Department,

Fred B. Wood, Adjutant General.

The active military forces of the State are officially known as the Minnesota National Guard. In time of peace the National Guard is composed of three regiments of infantry and one battalion of artillery (the latter includes three batteries of artillery), formed into one brigade under the command of a brigadier general. The commander-in-chief is authorized to increase this force in time of war. The volunteers furnished by Minnesota during the war with Spain were chiefly recruited from the ranks of the National Guard.

The adjutant general is the executive officer of the department and the custodian of all records relating to the National Guard and to the regiments furnished by this state during the Civil and Spanish wars. Under the commander-in-chief he has general supervision and control of the military forces of this state and of all military property.

It is also the duty of the adjutant general to act as claim agent, without pay or compensation, for all citizens of this state having claims against the government of the United States for pensions, bounty, arrears of pay, etc., arising out of military service for the national government. He also prosecutes the claims of the State of Minnesota against the national government for expenses incurred during the Spanish-American war.

The military storekeeper is the armorer and ordnance officer of the state, and keeps in order the arms and other public property necessarily connected with the ordnance department.

NATIONAL GUARD.

The various sections of the revised laws of 1905, as amended by the legislative session of that year, were further amended by the 1907, 1909 and 1911 sessions of the legislature. Under the new provisions, the brigade is to consist of the brigadier general, an assistant adjutant general, a surgeon, each ranking as major, an assistant inspector general, a brigade quartermaster, a brigade judge advocate, a commissary of subsistence, an inspector of small arms practice, an ordnance officer, one aid-de-camp, each of whom are to rank as captains. Three regiments of infantry and one corps or battalion of field artillery. The minimum membership of a company or battery is to be fixed by the president of the United States.

The officers of each infantry battalion and the number of officers of a company, together with the number of companies to each battalion and the officers, membership and engineers of the artilleries and batteries is also prescribed by the act.

The uniform of the guard shall be the same as that prescribed for the United States army, except that the letters "U. S." are to be omitted from the buttons and collar and the insignia of the state substituted therefor. Changes in the uniform may be made by the governor on recommendation of five officers. Uniforms, etc., are to be provided by the state and shall be issued annually by the adjutant general. The annual per capita allowance is $7.00 for each officer, non-commissioned officer, musician and other enlisted men, reported as fully uniformed and equipped and this money is to be known as the military fund to be used for the purchase of uniforms, care of armories, etc. The pay of officers, while engaged in any service ordered by the governor, shall be the same as allowed by law to officers of similar rank in the United States army. There is also to be paid annually to officers in actual command of troops for incidental expenses, as follows: To the brigade commander, $100, and to the commanding officer of each regiment, $250; to the corps of battalion or artillery, $150; to the commanding officer of each company and battery and assistant adjutant general of the brigade, each regimental adjutant and to the adjutant of the corps of battalion or artillery, $100. The adjutant general is to be appointed and commissioned for the term of six years. The first term to commence the first Monday in January, 1907, and Fred B. ## THE JUDICIARY DEPARTMENTS.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The constitution provides that the judicial power shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts, inferior to the supreme court as the legislature may from time to time establish. This latter prerogative the legislature has exercised in the establishment of municipal courts in the larger cities of the State.

The supreme court consists of one chief justice and four associate justices, elected by the people, and holding office for six years, and until successors are elected and qualified. The 1913 session of the legislature created two positions of commissioners of the court, these commissioners to be attorneys, and to perform such duties as the court should assign to them, and at the same time submitted an amendment to the constitution adding two more associate justices, and making the office of clerk appointive by the court. The amendment failed at the election of 1914. Immediately after the enactment of the first law referred to Judges Homer B. Dibell and Myron D. Taylor were appointed as commissioners and perform the same duties as the members of the bench, except voting on final decisions by the court. Two terms of court are held in each year, commencing on the first Tuesday of April and October, at the capitol, in St. Paul. This court has original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity.

The clerk of the supreme court is an elective officer, the term of office being four years.

The reporter of the supreme court is an officer appointed by the supreme court to prepare the adjudicated cases for publication in official volumes, entitled, "Minnesota Reports."

Originally the reporter owned the exclusive copyright, and the reports were printed and bound at his expense, the State buying of him 200 copies of each volume at six dollars a volume. In 1881, an act was passed providing that the reporter should have no pecuniary interest in the reports, but that they should be published by contract under his supervision, the publisher to agree to sell the volumes at two dollars a volume and the State to agree to buy 200 copies at that price. The state now purchases 425 copies of each report issued. The contract price is $1. The copyright of the volumes already published vests in the secretary of state for the benefit of the people of the State, but the publisher is permitted to continue the publication and sale of such volumes so long as he complies with the requirements of law as to character and price of volumes.

The secretary of state is charged with the distribution of the volumes, one copy to each of the several departments of state, to each judge of the supreme court, and of the several district, probate and municipal courts, and to the clerks of each district court, while the University of Minnesota receives 100 copies for the law department, and the state library receives a sufficient number for exchanges with other states and for the use of the library. The remaining copies stay in the custody of the secretary of state for further distribution by law.

THE LOWER COURTS.

The district courts are created by the legislature, the State being divided into nineteen judicial districts with one or more judges in a district, as the exigencies of business may require, and the judges are elected for six years. The district courts have original jurisdiction in all civil cases, both in law and equity, where the amount exceeds $100, or the punishment shall exceed three months' imprisonment or a fine of more than $100. Also, in criminal cases where presentments are made by grand juries.

The municipal courts generally have the power of disposing of all criminal cases for infraction of city laws, and for hearing and committing for trial on arrests for violation of state laws. Chap. 146, G. L. 1891, "An act relating to villages of over 3,000 inhabitants, and providing for municipal courts therein." By the provisions of this act a municipal court has jurisdiction in civil actions where amount does not exceed $500; also, in all cases where a justice court has jurisdiction, and over certain criminal actions. Its jurisdiction is co-extensive with the limits of the county where located.

The probate courts are created by authority of the constitution, one for each county, and the judges to be elected by the people, for two years. The probate court has jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, and the examination and commitment of insane persons to the asylums. The salaries of probate judges are fixed by special law, or in lieu thereof a salary of $100 for the first 1,000 inhabitants and $50 for each additional 1,000 inhabitants, limiting the compensation, where by reason of population the sum would be larger, to $4,000 per annum.

PROPOSED PLAN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA.

THE STATE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

The following scheme shows the elements of the school system of the State:

Districts.	{	Common..... Independent..... Special.....	}	Schools graded and ungraded.
------------	---	---	---	------------------------------

State Rural Schools
 State Semi-graded Schools.
 Consolidated Rural Schools.
 State Graded Schools.
 State High Schools.
 Normal Schools.
 University.

A common school district is controlled by a board of three members; an independent, by one of six members; a special, by a board of six or more members.

Common schools are supervised by a county superintendent; independent and special districts have their own superintendents, and in the main are not subject to the county superintendents.

The state graded and state high schools are subject to a board of five members; the president of the State University, the superintendent of education and president of normal school board are ex-officio members, a city superintendent or high school principal and a fifth member are appointed by the governor.

The normal schools are controlled by a board of nine members; five of these are resident directors; three are appointed for the state at large, and one, the superintendent of education, serves ex-officio.

The university is controlled by a board of twelve regents; the governor, the president of the university and the superintendent of education are ex-officio members, and nine are appointed by the governor.

The public schools of the state are supported by a direct tax upon the property of the school district, by a county one-mill tax, by a state mill tax, and by the income from the permanent school fund, together with small fines that are accredited to this fund.

In addition to these funds, the State of Minnesota distributes annually (provided they attain a high, prescribed standard of excellence) $150, $100 or $75 to each rural school, $300 to each semigraded school of two or three departments; $1,500, $1,000 or $750 to consolidated rural schools; also $750 to each graded school of four or more departments; and $2,200 to each high school that admits all qualified students free of tuition. High and graded schools must meet the requirements of the high school board.

To encourage the establishment and maintenance of school libraries the legislature has appropriated $21,500 per annum. The state will aid any school district towards the purchase of a library to the amount of $20 on the first order for each school building, and $10 annually thereafter, provided that the district raises a like amount, selects the books from the list prepared by the State Library Board, which is composed of the state superintendent of education and the high school board.

The normal schools are supported by appropriations of the legislature; the university by a direct tax of twenty-three hundredths of a mill upon all the property of the state, by special state appropriations, and by the Federal government under the Morrill act.

The state provides a fund for teachers' institutes and training schools, to be held under the direction of the state superintendent of education.

Teachers' certificates are issued by the superintendent of education upon examination or upon indorsement of a university or college diploma, or a diploma from a state normal school.

Certificates are of the following grades: Professional, first and second grade; common school certificates, first, second and limited grade. A diploma from a Minnesota state normal school is valid as a certificate to teach for two years immediately following graduation. At the expiration of the two years an advanced diploma may be made a life certificate. Diplomas from the advanced course of a normal school outside of Minnesota, representing a course of study fully equivalent to the advanced course in Minnesota, may, upon evidence of successful teaching, be indorsed by the superintendent of education for a limited time as a certificate.

Examinations for common school certificates are given at one or more places in each county in February and in August, under the direction of the county superintendent. All manuscript for teachers' certificates is examined and marked under the direction of the superintendent of education. Examinations for professional certificates are given in August each year, at the state university and normal schools.

DESCRIPTION OF DEPARTMENTS.

THE COLLEGE OF SCIENCE, LITERATURE, AND THE ARTS offers a four-year course of study leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The work of the first two years is elective within certain limitations as to the range of subjects from which the electives may be chosen. The remaining work of the course is entirely elective, with the provision that a certain number of long courses be selected. The course is so elastic that it permits the student to make the general scope of his course classical, scientific, or literary, to suit his individual purpose.

In this college are given also the first two years' of work of the seven-year course in Science and Medicine, leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Medicine; the two years of college work required for entrance to the Law School; and various non-professional subjects required in other schools and colleges of the University.

THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING AND THE MECHANIC ARTS offers courses of study, of five years, each in Civil, Mechanical, Electrical, and Architectural Engineering, and Architecture, leading to the degrees of Civil, Mechanical, Electrical, and Architectural Engineer and Architect. The degrees of Bachelor of Science in Engineering and Bachelor of Science in Architecture are conferred at the end of the fourth year. This college also offers work in the Graduate School leading to the degree of Master of Science.

In the course in Civil Engineering, a period of five weeks is spent in camp. This summer survey work is required of all students in this course in the vacation following the junior year.

The location of the College of Engineering in the center of an urban population of more than half a million people in the Twin Cities assures many facilities for engineering and architectural students not available in smaller communities. The machine shops and factories, the engineering works under construction or in operation have the value of college laboratories for the students. The cities are full of modern instances of the best practice in engineering and architecture.

Excellent facilities exist in the college for practicing engineers to carry on graduate work in engineering and architecture.

THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE offers four-year courses in Agriculture and Home Economics. The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred upon completion of these courses. The courses in Agriculture offer work along both general and special lines. Opportunities are offered to all students in the Agricultural and Home Economics courses to elect educational subjects leading to the University teacher's certificate in preparation for teaching in secondary schools.

Graduate work is offered in all special lines of Agriculture. The graduate work is for the most part correlated with work in the Experiment Station.

A summer session (Summer School of Agriculture) of six weeks offers chiefly general courses in Agriculture and Home Economics, especially designed for teachers who are unable to attend the regular college session. This is held in June and July in connection with the State Teachers' Training School.

THE COLLEGE OF FORESTRY offers a four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science. In addition to the work given at the University Farm six months' work is given at Itasca State Park where a well equipped demonstration forest is available as a laboratory. The college also controls a Forest Experiment Station at Cloquet, which offers a good field for graduate students and original research. Provision is made for graduate work in all the various lines of silviculture and utilization.

THE SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE offer three-year courses of study adapted especially to the needs and opportunities of farm boys and girls. They offer courses of special training for practical farm life and for practical home economics. The Central School is located at St. Anthony Park; the Northwest School, at Crookston; and the West Central School, at Morris.

THE DAIRY SCHOOL offers a four weeks' course of practical instruction in dairying, especially designed for those who are actually engaged in the manufacture of butter and cheese. (November and December.)

A SHORT COURSE FOR FARMERS is a four weeks' course of practical work adapted entirely to the needs of those actually engaged in farming and in the management of the farm home. (January and February.)

THE SCHOOL OF TRACTION ENGINEERING is a five weeks' course of practical instruction in the operation and handling of traction engines and other farm machinery. Engineer's licenses of different grades are given according to previous experience. (May.)

THE EXPERIMENT STATION conducts experiments along the various lines of agriculture which are of interest to farmers. It is closely correlated with the College of Agriculture. Its object is the solution of agricultural problems of importance in Minnesota. It offers secondarily educational and research advantages to undergraduate and graduate students of the College of Agriculture. The main station is located at St. Anthony Park; substations are located at Crookston, Grand Rapids, and Morris. Demonstration experimental farms are also located at Waseca and Duluth.

THE EXTENSION WORK of the Department of Agriculture is correlated with the Farmers' Institute work and aims to bring to the farmers of the State information leading to the improvement of the farm and home. It reaches farmers by institutes, lectures, demonstration and demonstration farms, industrial and agricultural contests, a press bureau, and by correspondence and personal visits.

THE LAW SCHOOL, established in 1888, offers a course covering a period of three academic years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. Candidates for admission to the Law School must have completed at least two years of work in the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts of the University of Minnesota, or some other college or university of equal grade. A special pre-legal course of two years, covering those subjects which are particularly desirable as a preliminary to the study of law, is offered by the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts of the University of Minnesota. Seniors in that college are permitted to take the work of the first-year class in law and count the same as the equivalent of one year's work towards their Academic degree. This provision enables students to obtain the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws in six years.

The object of the Law School is to provide a thorough and scientific legal education, and to prepare students for the actual practice of law in any jurisdiction where the English and American legal system prevails. Particular emphasis is laid upon the Minnesota Statutes, the special doctrines of law, and the rules of practice that obtain in this State.

In teaching the various branches of the law, the so-called "case system" is employed. This method of teaching law, which has been approved by experience and which is now employed in the leading law schools of the country, has the two-fold merit of enabling the student to acquire a thorough and practical knowledge of legal principles; and to become familiar with those processes of legal reasoning which have determined the form and character of our jurisprudence, and will govern its future development.

The Faculty is composed primarily of resident professional law teachers who devote their entire time and energy to teaching. The courses in practice are taught by men experienced in practice at the Minnesota bar.

THE MEDICAL SCHOOL was organized as a teaching school in 1888, the University Medical Department having been first established in 1883 to examine students and confer degrees.

Medical education has been unified in the State of Minnesota by the absorption of all of the private medical colleges; the Hamline University Medical Department having been merged into that of the University of Minnesota in 1908; and the College of Homeopathic Medicine and Surgery having been discontinued in 1909.

The requirements for entrance are a four-year high-school course, including two years of Latin; and two years of college work equivalent to that of the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts, of this University, and including at least one year each of physics, inorganic chemistry, qualitative analysis, biology, social science; and sufficient German or French to insure a reading knowledge.

The course in medicine includes four years of thirty-six weeks of laboratory, didactic, and clinical work and a fifth year spent in clinical work in an approved hospital or in advanced laboratory studies in this school.

All students are required to secure the B. S. or B. A. degree before receiving the M. D. degree.

The school occupies five modern buildings on the University Campus, including two new laboratory buildings completed in June, 1912.

The University Hospitals include the Elliot Memorial Building, occupied in September, 1911, the out-patient department, the hospital for infectious diseases, and several temporary buildings which provide for the hospital service, the School for Nurses, and nurses' homes. The University also controls the St. Paul Dispensary.

The hospitals and dispensaries of the Twin Cities, serving a population approximating 550,000, also provide clinical teaching for the Medical School.

The school offers the following courses of study:

1. Course leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Medicine. Two years of properly selected work in the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts or its equivalent, five years in the Medical School, viz., four years of graded study and one year in a hospital internship or in advanced laboratory studies or research. Open to those presenting the preliminary requirements stated above.

2. Course leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Doctor of Medicine. Students presenting three years of work properly selected in the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts, including the required subjects mentioned, may elect the first year in medicine in their senior academic year, receiving the B. A. degree at its close, and the M. D. degree upon the successful completion of the remaining four years in medicine.

Similar affiliations exist with certain other colleges, whereby the B. A. degree may be conferred by those colleges under the same conditions.

3. The University School for Nurses, organized in connection with the University Hospital service, is under the control of the Faculty of the Medical School. (See School Bulletin.)

4. Graduate and research work is offered to qualified students.

THE COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY offers a three-year course of study, of nine months each. Upon completion of the prescribed course the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery is conferred.

The University now offers an optional six-year course of study. The first three years of the course are given in the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts. The last three years are given in the College of Dentistry. It leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts and Doctor of Dental Surgery at the end of the six-year course.

THE COLLEGE OF PHARMACY was organized in 1891 upon request of the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical Association and gave its first course in 1892. In the organization and conduct of the college, the Board of Regents and the Faculty have had and have the co-operation of the pharmacists of the Northwest. The college is of University grade and maintains a high standard of entrance and graduation requirements. Every effort is made to comply with the demands of the pharmaceutical profession of the Northwest and elsewhere. The college offers a regular course extending over two years leading to the degree Graduate in Pharmacy, and two postgraduate courses, the first requiring at least one additional year of resident work and leading to the degree Pharmaceutical Chemist, and the second requiring two additional years of work and leading to the degree Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy. The latter courses will be offered in 1915 and 1916, respectively, if the equipment of the Pharmacy Building will have been completed by that time and if the Faculty will have been sufficiently augmented for the increased work. In the meantime, graduates of this or other colleges sufficiently qualified will be accepted for advanced standing toward the postgraduate degrees as the facilities of the college afford.

The Board of Regents has authorized the College of Pharmacy to establish in the near future, in addition to the above courses, a five-year course leading to the Master's degree in pharmacy and a six-year course leading to the Doctor's degree in Pharmacy.

THE SCHOOL OF MINES was established in 1889. Its buildings and laboratories are located on the grounds of the University of Minnesota. Students of the School of Mines have, therefore, all the opportunities afforded by a large university. Three regular courses are offered, namely, Mining Engineering, Mining Engineering (specializing in Geology), and Metallurgy, leading to the degrees of Engineer of Mines (E.M.), Engineer of Mines (in Geology) [E.M. (Geology)], and Metallurgical Engineer (Met. E.), respectively.

Students with satisfactory preparation in Elementary and Higher Algebra and Plane and Solid Geometry may graduate in four years. Students presenting high-school credentials to the extent indicated on page 43, may graduate in five years.

Courses in the school are designed for the purpose of preparing men to enter their profession with a thorough grounding in mathematics, in the sciences, and in the fundamental principles of mining engineering and metallurgy. The technical courses consist of lecture work in mining, metallurgy and allied subjects, supplemented by laboratory work in assaying, chemistry, ore dressing, and metallurgy; field work in plane and underground surveying; actual practical mining and metallurgical work in Minnesota and Western mining centers. A system of apprenticeship during summer vacations has been inaugurated. This work has become part of the curriculum and is required of all students who are candidates for degrees.

Minnesota's enormous iron ore production continually brings before the public the necessity for trained men to aid in the development of the country's mineral resources. The State has developed its School of Mines with this end in view.

THE SCHOOL OF ANALYTICAL AND APPLIED CHEMISTRY offers three courses. Two of these, the Analytical and the five-year course in Arts and Chemistry, are designed for those who wish to become teachers of chemistry, analyst, and investigators. The four-year Analytical Course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, while the Arts and Chemistry Course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts after four years and Bachelor of Science in Chemistry at the end of the fifth.

Top—Medical and Anatomical Buildings, State University.
Bottom—Main and Experimental Engineering Buildings.

The third or Applied Course extends over five years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science at the end of four years and Chemical Engineer at the end of the fifth. These courses aim to give the student a broad foundation in chemistry and some of the allied sciences.

In the fall of 1914 the School of Chemistry will be housed in a large, new building especially designed and constructed for its work.

THE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION offers a practical and a theoretical training for prospective high-school teachers and principals, for principals of elementary schools, for supervisors of special studies, and for superintendents of school systems.

Students are admitted to the college only after the completion of at least two full years of college work, during which time they should have pursued at least one course in general psychology, and prospective high-school teachers should have given especial attention to one or more of the subjects which they expect to teach. The two years' course of study, beginning with the junior year, leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education. Preparation for teaching is planned to include a thorough grounding in the correct use of English and adequate training in general and in educational psychology, in the history and organization of schools, in educational theory, and in the practice of teaching; and also, quite aside from the liberal training of the regular college course, specific preparation in both the subject matter and the methods of those subjects in the secondary curriculum which each candidate proposes to teach. A third year leads to the degree of Master of Arts, including advanced studies in education and philosophy, and in one or more of the subjects of the secondary curriculum, at the option of the candidate.

In addition to the ordinary academic and professional studies connected with the training of the teacher, the college offers an opportunity for observation and practice teaching under supervision, as well as special facilities in voice culture, public school music, and physical culture together with elementary and advanced courses in domestic art and domestic science, manual training, and business education—those specialized forms of the secondary curriculum which are being introduced so rapidly into the public high schools of Minnesota.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL gathers into a single organization and unites for the purpose of administration all the activities of the University in all its schools and colleges in so far as they relate to advanced instruction offered for the second or higher degree, viz., Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy conferred for advanced study; Master of Science and Doctor of Science. The privileges of this school are in general open to all who have received Bachelor's degree from reputable colleges and universities, based on courses substantially equivalent to those at this University.

THE UNIVERSITY SUMMER SESSION is organized for six weeks in June and July under the authority of the Board of Regents as a regular part of the University. Courses carrying University credit, amounting in all to more than twice the number required for the Bachelor's degree and including all the subjects of the state professional certificate, are offered for college students, experienced teachers, and others who desire the advantage of advanced study. Students may secure not more than six credits at one session.

Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics, for which University credit is given offered by the College of Agriculture.

Summer courses are offered also by the College of Engineering and the Medical School for the benefit of all qualified students. The College of Dentistry announces courses which are open only to students already matriculated in that college.

SPECIAL COURSES.—In practically all of the colleges, students of mature age and adequate preparation are permitted to pursue, under the direction of the Faculty, one or two distinct lines of study.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.—All extension work of the University of Minnesota has been established as an organic unit of the University under the title of Extension Service. The Extension Service of the University functions in two main lines and these two branches have been called the General Extension Division and the Agricultural Extension Division. The extension work of the University of Minnesota, therefore, except the agricultural phases, is correlated under the management of a newly organized General Extension Division. The new organization retains and augments the features previously developed by various departments, avoids unnecessary duplication of effort, and makes consistent growth possible.

At present the activities of the General Extension Division fall into six more or less distinct subdivisions. (1) Correspondence Courses are given by nearly every department of the University. These include regular, academic, business, teachers', professional, and special courses. New subjects are constantly being added. (2) Evening Extension Courses are offered in the Twin Cities and Duluth, and they will be extended to other centers as the demand increases. Machinists, engineers, architects, business men, teachers, social workers, and prospective lawyers have been the chief patrons of these courses. The location of the University in the heart of the manufacturing and commercial centers of the State affords an especially good opportunity for the development of business and engineering courses. (3) Extension instruction by lectures is conducted under several forms: (a) single lectures to special groups, such as commercial clubs, in various towns throughout the State; (b) courses of six or more instructional lectures; (c) popular lectures, concerts, and entertainments of a lyceum character, singly or in courses, given by members of the Faculty and also by outside professional talent; (d) the general educational and entertainment features of the farmers' short courses and the county fairs; (e) the "University Weeks." This last project, first tried in June, 1912, consists of a week of educational lectures, concerts, entertainments, and demonstrations. Towns are grouped into circuits of six, and the staff operates in six program divisions. Each program division makes the entire circuit, thus affording each town a new program daily, or six during the week. (4) The demand for assistance by way of information upon public questions and the methods of handling such information, has led to the establishment of a department of Debating. The plan includes field work by an expert instructor and organizer, and office work in collecting and classifying material and handling correspondence. (5) Introductory courses from the curriculum of the Law School are offered as evening courses to young men and women who look forward to this profession or who desire the work as part of a general preparation for business activity. (6) Information and illustrative material are furnished largely under two forms: (a) a Municipal Reference Bureau has as its function the procuring of information of all kinds for city officers and the bringing to bear the resources of the University upon the problems of such officers; (b) loan collections of lantern slides are furnished in traveling cases accompanied by typewritten lectures. This service is to be greatly extended and is to embrace also the loan of moving picture films.

Agricultural extension including lectures, demonstrations, institutes, and short courses is carried on under the direction of the Agricultural Extension Division of the Department of Agriculture.

The extension work is developing rapidly, and its organization will become increasingly complex as the University attempts to measure up to the demands of the State for this kind of co-operation.

GOVERNMENT—BY BOARD OF REGENTS AND THE UNIVERSITY SENATE

The University is governed by a board of twelve Regents, consisting of three ex-officio members, the governor of the State, the state superintendent of public instruction and the president of the University, and nine members appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate, who hold office for six years.

The regents have absolute control over all University affairs, save in the matter of erection of new buildings, the purchase of fuel and the placing of insurance. These three items are under the supervision of the State Board of Control.

The University Senate is composed of the President, the Deans and all Professors (including acting Professors), Associate Professors, and the University Librarian. The President Emeritus, Professors Emeriti, and Professors who devote less than half time to the work of the University are entitled to participate in the discussions of the Senate, but not to vote. The Registrar is the Clerk of the Senate and Custodian of its records.

The Senate has general legislative and administrative authority over all matters concerning the University as a whole; but not the internal affairs of a single College or School of collegiate rank, except where the same affect the interest of the University as a whole or the interest of other Colleges or Schools.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

When Minnesota was organized as a territory March 3, 1849, it was understood that a grant of public lands would be made by Congress for the endowment and support of a university as in the case of all other states carved out of this old northwest territory.

On December 10, 1850, Delegate Sibley gave notice of a bill to grant two townships (46,080 acres) which became law on February 19, 1851. Meantime the Minnesota Legislature had by Act, February 13, created the University of Minnesota and made over to that corporation the proceeds of all lands which Congress might grant.

The location of the institution was fixed by this law "at or near the Falls of St. Anthony." by virtue of an understanding relating to the distribution of public buildings. A board of twelve regents elected in classes by the legislature had charge till 1860. In the fall of 1851, a preparatory school was opened. In 1856, intoxicated by the boom which was then raging, the Regents began the erection of the rear part of the "Old Main" Building. Before it was finished, the panic of 1857 came on. The board could not pay the contractors nor meet the interest on the bonds they had been authorized to sell.

In the winter of 1860 the Legislature replaced the old board of twelve regents by one of five appointed by the Governor. At the end of four years this board had not been able to put the finances of the University on a sound footing. Senator John S. Pillsbury laid before the Legislature of 1864 a plan to pay off the accumulated debt by the sale of less than one-third of the land grant. A special board of three regents, headed by Mr. Pillsbury, was created to make the experiment. At the close of 1866 this board reported the debt substantially liquidated. A debt of gratitude is due to the creditors and bondholders for scaling down their just claims and accepting sums far below their dues. By means of a small appropriation the special board renovated the building, purchased furniture and appliances, and in November, 1867, opened the preparatory department, to which girls as well as boys were admitted.

This board having accomplished its purpose prepared for the Legislature the bill which, enacted into law February 13, 1868, became the actual charter of the University. By far the most important element was that which united with the university endowment proper the expected income from the congressional land grant of 1862 for the support of colleges of Agricultural and Mechanic Arts.

At the close of the college year of 1869 a small company of preparatory students were found ready for college instruction. A faculty of nine professors and instructors was elected and began their work in September. In this year William Watts Folwell was appointed president.

In 1873 two students were graduated at the first commencement. Some twenty years now passed in quiet work and growth, mostly in the Academic department. A good beginning was made in that of Engineering and Mechanic Arts, but in spite of the most earnest endeavors by the Regents the College of Agriculture developed slowly. There was little demand for proper agricultural instruction and the pedagogy of that branch had not been developed.

In the year 1870 Congress confirmed to the State a second grant of public land for a state University ingeniously embodied in the enabling act of February 26, 1857, which the department authorities at Washington had persistently refused to recognize.

In September, 1884, Cyrus Northrop succeeded to the presidency and not long after began that great development familiar to all.

The Colleges of Law and Medicine were organized. New buildings sprang up, nobly equipped, and the faculties were reinforced as means accumulated. The growth of the College of Agriculture has been remarkable. The congressional appropriations for experiment stations and additional endowment have greatly increased its efficiency and prosperity. The College of Engineering has also enjoyed a rapid and cumulative development. The Colleges of Pharmacy, Dentistry, the School of Mines, Chemistry, Education, and the Graduate School have been added in recent years, the result of public demands for special technical training and research.

President Northrop resigned in 1910, and, on April 1, 1911, George Edgar Vincent, Ph.D., LL.D., Dean of the Faculties of Arts, Literature, and Science, of the University of Chicago, succeeded to the presidency of the University.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

The Department of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota comprises the Central Experiment Station, the College of Agriculture, the College of Forestry, the Central School of Agriculture, the Dairy School, the Farmers' Week, the Junior Short Course, the School of Traction Engineering, the Extension Service, the Northwest School of Agriculture and Experiment Station at Crookston, the West Central School of Agriculture and Experiment Station at Morris, the North Central Experiment Station at Grand Rapids, the Northeast Demonstration Farm and Experiment Station at Duluth, the Southeast Demonstration Farm and Experiment Station at Waseca, the Forest Experiment Station at Cloquet, and the Fruit Breeding Station at Zumbra Heights. In connection with a summer session of its college of Agriculture at St. Anthony Park a Teachers Training School is also maintained in co-operation with the State Department of Education. The total enrollment in the Department of Agriculture (including the Teachers Training School) is about 3800.

The Department has its home on University Farm, a tract of 412 acres of land lying midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis and adjoining the State Fair grounds. The buildings occupy a prominent position on the highest ground between the two cities.

THE AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

The Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Minnesota was established by national and state legislation in 1887. The function of the Experiment Station as set forth in the Hatch Act is "to aid in acquiring and diffusing among the people the useful and practical information on the subjects connected with agriculture, and to promote scientific investigation and experiment respecting the principles and applications of agricultural science." The funds provided by the national government have been supplemented by the Adams Act which provide $15,000 annually, and appropriations for special lines of experimental work have also been made by the state legislature.

The officers of the Station are also professors and instructors in the School and College of Agriculture. The chief executive officer of the Station is the Director, who is also Dean of the College of Agriculture. Affiliated with the main station are a score or more of trial stations maintained by the State Horticultural Society. The Experiment Station also carries on cooperative tests and investigations with the United States Department of Agriculture and with farmers in various parts of the State. Experiments are conducted in the following lines of work: Agronomy, Farm Management, Agricultural Chemistry, Soils, Entomology, Horticulture, Veterinary Science, Dairying, Animal Nutrition, Animal Husbandry, Plant Pathology, and Agricultural Engineering.

THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE offers four-year courses in Agriculture and Home Economics. The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred upon completion of these courses. The courses in Agriculture offer work along both general and special lines. Opportunities are offered to all students in the Agricultural and Home Economics courses to elect educational subjects leading to the University teacher's certificate in preparation for teaching in secondary schools.

Graduate work is offered in all special lines of Agriculture. The graduate work is for the most part correlated with work in the Experiment Station.

A summer session (Summer School of Agriculture) of six weeks offers chiefly general courses in Agriculture and Home Economics, especially designed for teachers who are unable to attend the regular college session. This is held in June and July in connection with the State Teachers' Training School.

THE COLLEGE OF FORESTRY offers a four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science. In addition to the work given at the University Farm six months' work is given at Itasca State Park where a well-equipped demonstration forest is available as a laboratory. The college also controls a Forest Experiment Station at Cloquet, which offers a good field for graduate students and original research. Provision is made for graduate work in all the various lines of silviculture and utilization.

THE SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE offer three-year courses of study adapted especially to the needs and opportunities of farm boys and girls.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL located at University Farm was established in 1888 and admitted boys only. In 1897, girls were admitted to the school on the same terms as the boys. In addition to the high schools subjects which are taken in common, the boys take work in the different lines of agriculture, horticulture, live stock, manual training, etc., and girls take work in special lines of cooking, sewing, laundering, and home making. Six months of each year, from October to March, are spent in the school rooms and laboratories and the remaining six months are spent on the farm and special reports of their summer work are made on the students' return to the school.

THE DAIRY SCHOOL, the first session of which was held in January, 1902, has been a potent factor in the development of the dairy industry in Minnesota. Its students have become especially distinguished for their skill in the manufacture of creamery butter of superior grade. These students are required to spend at least one season in a creamery or cheese factory before taking the course, and after finishing the course, they are not given their diplomas until they have gone out and actually demonstrated their ability as creamery and factory managers and skillful butter and cheese makers. The Dairy School now holds its session in November and continues for four weeks. A short course in ice cream manufacture, of one week, follows the Dairy School.

THE FARMERS' WEEK, formerly known as the Farmers' Short Course, is held the first week in January. It is a lecture course given for the benefit of farmers who are unable to attend the regular school course. The lectures cover the more important branches of agriculture, horticulture, live stock, breeding, dairying, farm botany, farm chemistry, farm accounts, entomology, poultry, home economics, etc., and special attention is given to the matter of judging horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and grains, with a view of making the students familiar with the methods of judging at fairs and stock shows. The first Farmers' Short Course was held in 1901 and continued eight weeks.

THE JUNIOR SHORT COURSE is a one-week course for boys and girls, opening the last Monday in March. The mornings are devoted to class study, the afternoons to excursions to points of interest in the Twin Cities. The first course was given in 1912.

THE SCHOOL OF TRACTION ENGINEERING opens in May and continues for four weeks. The course was established in 1910. The mornings are devoted to lectures and class room work, and the afternoons to actual practice in the various departments under the supervision of the instructors of the school.

The State Teachers' Training School is a six weeks' course beginning about the middle of June especially designed to help teachers in rural and secondary schools who are interested in introducing elementary agriculture and home economics into their schools, and is maintained with the cooperation of the State Department of Education. Special courses are given for principals of consolidated schools and superintendents who wish to acquire greater proficiency in administering industrial subjects.

THE AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION DIVISION.

The Legislature of 1909 made an appropriation of $25,000 for agricultural extension work. This was increased in 1911 to $40,000, and again in 1913 to $65,000.

A press news sheet, giving timely items in agriculture and the work done at this and other agricultural institutions, is published semi-monthly and sent to the papers of Minnesota and adjoining states. Popular bulletins, which deal in a concise and practical way with some timely farm topic, are published each month and sent to any farmer in the state who asks for them. The mailing list for these bulletins now contains upward of 50,000 names. Rural School Agriculture, an eight page bulletin, is published monthly during the school year, and is sent to the teachers in the rural schools of Minnesota. This publication is intended to promote the study of agriculture in rural schools.

During the winter of 1913-1914 51 One-Week Short Courses in Agricultural and Home Economics, were conducted at various points in the state. Over 12,000 persons registered for these Short Courses.

Fifteen hundred and eight lectures and demonstrations were given before farmers' clubs, rural school classes and general agricultural meetings, with an approximate attendance of 163,000.

Twenty-five farms are being operated by their owners under the direction of the Division, as demonstration farms. No financial aid is given these farms, but all of the work is planned and carried out according to the direction of the supervisors who visit the farms two or three times each month. Returns much better than the average of those in the state, are being obtained on the farms so operated.

Much attention has been given during the past year to the formation of farmers' clubs. Over 900 of these clubs are now in existence in Minnesota, and most of them are in close touch with the Extension Division. Several Live Stock Shipping Associations and Cow-Testing Associations have also been organized.

Over 3000 boys entered an acre yield corn contest for boys, and over 1000 girls took part in a bread-baking contests for girls, in 1914.

Twenty-five County Agricultural Agents are now employed in Minnesota and are working under the direction of the Agricultural Extension Division. The Legislature of 1913 made a special appropriation of $25,000 for this work, not over $1000 to be used in any county. The balance of the money required is made up of appropriations from county funds, money furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture, of private subscriptions.

Judges for county, and industrial fairs, are being furnished by the Division, the only expense to the fairs being for the actual traveling expenses of the judges.

The Northwest School of Agriculture and Experiment Station is located at Crookston. The farm consists of 462 acres, donated to the state in 1895 by President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern Railroad. The city of Crookston and Polk County added $1000 each to this gift for equipment. Problems of special interest to the farmers of the Red River Valley are given special attention here. The School was established by the Legislature of 1905. The work in the school is the same as at the Central School of Agriculture.

The West Central School of Agriculture and Experiment Station at Morris, was established by the Legislature of 1909. Here also, the work in the school is the same as at the Central School of Agriculture. The farm consists of 292 acres which were accepted by the Legislature as a gift from the national government. Problems of special interest to the farmers of West Central Minnesota are given special attention at this institution.

The North Central Experiment Station, formerly known as the Northeast Experiment Station, is located at Grand Rapids and was provided for by the legislature of 1895, and established in 1896. 375 acres were donated by Itasca County and 80 acres by Messrs. Morrison & Brown but the state paid $3500 for the buildings, and improvements. Problems of interest to the cut-over regions of Northern Minnesota are given special interest at this station.

The Northeast Demonstration Farm and Experiment Station at Duluth, was provided for by the Legislature of 1911 and was established in 1912. It consists of 252 acres of land. The farm is to be developed as a combination dairy, poultry, and truck farm, demonstrating so far as possible the kind of farming that should be conducted in northeastern Minnesota.

The Southeast Demonstration Farm and Experiment Station at Waseca, was provided for by the Legislature of 1911 and established in 1912. It consists of 246 acres of land. The farm is being developed along practical lines as a live stock farm and the value of good management is being demonstrated. The superintendent is cooperating with the farmers in the vicinity in the management of their farms and with the schools and other organized bodies in the development of the agriculture of that section of the state.

The Forest Experiment Station at Cloquet, was provided for by the Legislature of 1909 and established in 1910. The farm consists of 2662 acres and is used for the investigation of the fundamental principles of forest growth and management. This station is also cooperating with the United States Forest Service, which is carrying on studies along similar lines in other parts of the country.

The Fruit Breeding Station at Zumbra Heights was provided for by the Legislature of 1907 and contains 78 acres of land in a good fruit district. Thousands of apples, plums, strawberries, raspberries, etc., are fruited each year and selections of desirable seedlings made for propagation and distribution.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

The normal school system of the state was inaugurated by the legislature of 1858, making provision for the organization of three schools, upon donations from localities desiring the schools, or five thousand dollars from each locality. Under this law schools were established at Winona, Mankato and St. Cloud; and in 1885 a fourth school was located at Moorhead; the fifth school opened at Duluth, September, 1902.

The normal schools give scholastic and professional training to those who aspire to become teachers in the elementary schools of the state, and stand in relations of closest contact and sympathy with the rural schools. The majority of the students enter direct from the rural schools, and a large proportion support themselves by alternately teaching in the rural schools and attending the normal schools as means and circumstances permit. Thus they bring from their experience as actual teachers a devotion and zeal for professional studies which few other students possess, and in turn carry back to their teaching in rural schools a better preparation, newer methods, higher ideals and greater skill in their chosen work in common and lower grade schools.

The normal department embraces the following courses of study:

An Elementary Course of Three Years, designed to fit teachers for work in common and lower grades.

An Advanced Course of Five Years, which gives the preparation needed by teachers of higher as well as lower grades.

A Professional Course of One or Two Years, for students who are graduates of approved high schools.

A Kindergarten Training Course of Two Years, for students who are graduates of high schools, and who desire to equip themselves especially for kindergarten or first primary work.

The Winona State Normal School. By an act of the legislature of 1858, less than four months after the state was admitted into the Union, provision was made for the establishment of three normal schools "to educate and prepare teachers for teaching in the common schools of this state." Under the provision of this act the normal school at Winona was opened in September, 1860, with a principal and one assistant in a building having accommodations for forty students. This was the first normal school opened west of the Mississippi river, and it preceded by two years the establishment of a school system for the state. Since September, 1864, this school has been in continuous operation. The first class was graduated in 1866, and since then the graduates and undergraduates number nearly 13,000. A model school was established in 1864, and a kindergarten training course in 1880. In 1900 manual training became a part of the curriculum of study. The original cost of the building and grounds was $134,000, of which the city and the citizens of Winona donated $32,450.

The Mankato State Normal School was opened in 1868, since which time it has issued diplomas to over 2,000, and a partial training to many times that number. The course includes the five-year English and Latin courses, the one-year and two-year courses for high school graduates, the three-year elementary course for more mature students, and a kindergarten training course.

The St. Cloud State Normal School was provided for by the legislature of 1866, and was opened in 1869. It has graduated over 2,000 pupils up to the present time.

The Moorhead State Normal School was the fourth school of its kind provided for by the legislature, the act passing in 1885. The site is a gift of Hon. S. G. Comstock. The buildings are modern and include a main building, a dormitory for young ladies, and an addition to the main building which contains a beautiful auditorium, library, biological laboratories, gymnasium and bath rooms. The school was opened August 29, 1888, with a membership of 42, and since that time the growth of the school has been steady and continuous.

The Duluth State Normal School was established by the 1895 legislature. The partially completed building was destroyed by fire in 1901 and it was not until September 2, 1902, that the school was thrown open to enrollment.

A Summer Session of twelve weeks is provided for at each of the state normal schools under direction of the state normal board.

Additional Normal School. The legislature of 1913 authorized the appointment of a commission to determine the location of an additional normal school in northern Minnesota. Bemidji was the location selected.

TWINE FACTORY, NEW PRISON

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

This is a board consisting of three members appointed by the governor, whose powers and duties are prescribed by law. It has general supervision over the three State Hospitals for the Insane, at Fergus Falls, Rochester and St. Peter, the two Asylums for the Insane, at Anoka and Hastings, the School for Feeble-Minded and Colony for Epileptics at Faribault, the State Training School for Boys at Red Wing, the Home School for Girls at Sauk Center, the State Reformatory at St. Cloud, the State Prison at Stillwater, the State Sanatorium for Consumptives in Cass County, the State Hospital for Indigent, Crippled and Deformed Children at St. Paul, and the Hospital Farm for Inebriates at Willmar; and financial supervision of the State Public School at Owatonna, the School for the Blind and the School for the Deaf, both at Faribault. Its duties include the purchase of all supplies and equipment for the above institutions and the supervision of the construction and repair of buildings.

In addition to the general control of the above-named institutions, this board is charged with full authority in all matters of the State University and the State Normal Schools relating to the construction of new buildings and the purchase of fuel. It is also charged with full authority in all matters of the Soldiers' Home relating to the construction and repair of buildings. It is further charged with full authority in all matters of county Tuberculosis Sanatoria relating to the construction and equipment of buildings. The State Board of Control also has charge of the examination and approval of plans for jails and lockups, the inspection and condemnation of jails and lockups, the inspection of poorhouses, infirmaries and public hospitals, the deportation of non-resident dependents, and the regulation of the importation of juvenile dependents. The board also passes upon applications for parole and discharge from the State Training School and the Home School for Girls, and has general supervision of all paroled inmates of the two last-named institutions.

At the Prison, Reformatory, Training School for Boys, and Home School for Girls, a meeting is held each month for the purpose of hearing applications for discharge and parole and complaints on the part of inmates.

The member of the Board of Control longest in service acts as chairman of the State Board of Parole. The member of the Board of Control whose time is shortest acts as Chairman of that Board.

Fergus Falls State Hospital. In 1885 the legislature established a commission to locate a third hospital in the northern section of the state. The commission received several propositions from important towns in the section designated, and finally accepted the proposal from Fergus Falls.

The state secured the title of 636 acres of land, and in 1887 the legislature formally located the hospital and established the same at Fergus Falls, appropriating $94,280 therefor, of which amount $24,280 was designated as payment for the land, $50,000 for building and furnishing a detached ward, and $20,000 for boiler house and engine, laundry, shops and stables, and for sewerage and water connections. The appropriations for buildings contemplated the erection of so much as would be necessary to accommodate 300 persons. The various buildings contemplated in the original plan were all completed in 1900. The normal capacity of the institution is 1,300 patients. The total valuation of the hospital property is approximately $1,000,000. The hospital was first opened July 29, 1890.

Rochester State Hospital. By a special law passed by the legislature of 1873, and amended in 1874, a tax of $10 on all liquor dealers was assessed to raise a fund for the establishment of a state inebriate asylum, and when completed it was to be maintained by a continuation of the same tax. As soon as a sufficient fund was accumulated the inebriate asylum board purchased a farm of 160 acres, within a mile and a half of the city of Rochester, for $9,000. They secured plans and began building in 1877. Later on it became apparent, and was admitted generally, that room was much more urgently needed for the care of the rapidly increasing insane of the state than for inebriates. The legislature of 1878, considering this point, and in view of the determined opposition to the inebriate asylum to be built and maintained on this plan, repealed the act levying the tax, and changed it to the Second Minnesota Hospital for the Insane (since changed to the Rochester State Hospital), with the proviso, however, that inebriates should be admitted into the institution and cared for and treated at the expense of the state on the same basis as the insane. This provision for the care of inebriates was repealed April 23, 1897. On January 1, 1879, the institution was opened for the reception of patients. The hospital farm contains 1,400 acres, with 330 additional acres leased for a term of years.

St. Peter State Hospital. The state legislature, at its session in 1866, passed an act establishing the Minnesota Hospital for Insane, and appointed commissioners to locate the same. It was located at St. Peter, the citizens generously presenting the state with a fine farm of 210 acres, one mile south of the city. An appropriation of $15,000 was made for temporary provision and support of the insane. At the session of the legislature in 1867, $40,000 was appropriated for a permanent building on the farm acquired. Plans were obtained and the building commenced. Temporary quarters had been provided and opened for the reception of patients in October, 1866, to which the patients, previously boarded at the Hospital in Iowa, were brought. Dr. Samuel E. Shantz, of Utica, N. Y., was elected by the trustees superintendent and physician. Under Dr. Shantz the temporary hospital was organized and directed until his death in August, 1868, when he was succeeded by Dr. C. K. Bartlett, of Northampton, Mass. Ap-appropriations were made from year to year for building purposes until the plans were completed in 1876. Dr. Bartlett remained in charge of the institution until January 1, 1893, when he was succeeded by Dr. H. A. Tomlinson, who came to the work from a previous experience in the Friends Asylum near Philadelphia. Dr. Tomlinson continued as superintendent of this hospital until October 1, 1912, at which time his resignation was accepted because he was to take charge of the State Farm for Inebriates at Willmar, Minnesota.

Quite a number of new buildings were erected during Dr. Tomlinson's stay: The superintendent's residence, a building for the care of the tubercular patients, a detention hospital authorized by a special act of the legislature for incoming patients, and an asylum for dangerous insane, also authorized by a special act of the legislature for the care of those insane persons who have a criminal record, and who come to the asylum either from the state prison or state reformatory, or as sent from some court of criminal jurisdiction on the ground of their insanity. The asylum, however, takes in not only criminals but an occasional case of insanity which manifests grossly dangerous or homicidal tendencies. It is for men only.

The asylum for dangerous insane is, to a certain extent, regarded as a separate institution, although under the same management. To a certain extent, also, the detention hospital is considered as a separate hospital, although its care and its financial support come under the same general heading; namely, the St. Peter State Hospital.

Since October 1, 1912, the superintendent has been Dr. R. M. Phelps, who came to this hospital from the State Hospital at Rochester, Minnesota.

Detention Hospitals at Fergus Falls, Rochester and St. Peter are provided for, where persons found to be insane, except those criminally insane, are to be committed and kept and treated until the superintendent certifies that the person is not insane or is a fit subject for the state hospital for the insane.

Anoka State Asylum. The Anoka State Asylum was opened March 14, 1900, with 100 patients. This number has been increased from time to time, as new buildings have been erected, until the inmates now number 750. Seven fireproof cottages for women have been built, which are very handsome in design and complete in their appointments, and will accommodate from 60 to 70 persons each. These cottages are built to form a semi-circle, and are all connected by a subway with the administration and service buildings. There are two new cottages for women now under construction, which will accommodate 70 persons each when completed. A new sanitary sewer system has been recently installed, connected with a filtration plant of the most improved design. Last year the power plant was enlarged by the addition of two new boilers, new pumps and generators, increasing the water and light service and giving what is considered one of the most efficient and modern power plants of its size in the state. A new service building is about completed, containing central kitchen, dining room and bakery facilities, and is a much needed improvement, and gives this institution what is considered one of the most complete service buildings in the state. The farm operated in connection with the asylum contains 680 acres, operated by the inmates under the direction of competent foremen. Since the opening of the asylum, two modern dairy barns have been built, as well as a horse barn, hog house and a concrete ice house.

Hastings State Asylum: The legislature at its session in 1899 passed an act locating the Second State Asylum for the Insane at Hastings. There are 683 acres of land connected with the institution, of which 450 acres are under cultivation. The present buildings consist of center building and two transverse wings, built of red brick, heating and lighting plant and waterworks, laundry, and seven cottages for men. They are fireproof buildings built of pressed brick. The institution was opened on April 26, 1900. The institution now has 750 patients. An infirmary building, a cottage for men, and superintendent's residence, are now in course of construction. When these buildings are completed, the institution will have accommodations for about 140 additional patients.

State Training School for Boys. This institution is located on the west bank of the Mississippi river, two miles east of Red Wing, and is for the education and training of the delinquent boys who may be committed to its guardianship by the courts of the state. The lads are committed between the ages of eight and seventeen years, and remain under the guardianship of the institution until they are twenty-one years old unless they prove themselves worthy of discharge before reaching the age of twenty-one. The State Board of Control has authority to parole. It meets at the institution once every month for this purpose. The buildings are the administration building, with boys' dining hall, kitchen and bakeshop attached; four cottages, auditorium and gymnasium, superintendent's cottage, power house and shop buildings, greenhouse, cold storage, and the usual farm buildings. A schoolhouse, patterned after the modern grade buildings of six rooms and one large assembly room, houses the schools. The common branches, up to and including the eighth grade, are taught. A teacher of music is also employed. The boys of this institution attend school one-half of each day and work the other half. An opportunity to get a fair start in the following trades is afforded: Carpentering, blacksmithing, laundrying, tailoring, printing, shoemaking, painting, cooking, baking and agriculture.

Home School for Girls. Under Chap. 282, G. L. 1907, the State Industrial School for Girls was created. The Board of Control was instructed by the act to invite proposals for a site of not less than 160 acres, situated in any county in the state, and by virtue of the provisions of the act, the Board decided on the location of this institution at Sauk Center, in Stearns County. The institution was opened in June, 1911. An administration building, including quarters for the superintendent, hospital, chapel, pumping plant, farm buildings, and eight cottages, each accommodating about twenty girls, have been constructed. The law creating this institution provides for the appointment of a board of women visitors to be appointed by the governor. This board is required to inspect the school twice in each year at such times as the board deems best. The girls are employed in sewing, knitting, cooking, laundering, and general housework. They also have a large garden, some small fruit, and considerable poultry, which, together with their flower gardens and lawns, keep them reasonably busy.

The State Reformatory, located at St. Cloud, is designated for the reception of first offenders in felony only, but persons are frequently committed to the Reformatory who have been previously imprisoned in state prisons and other institutions for serious offenses because the trial courts are not in possession of accurate information concerning their past life. Inmates of the Reformatory for sufficient cause may be transferred to the State Prison at Stillwater, and it has sometimes been found necessary to order their transfer. All inmates of the Reformatory are received on the indeterminate plan except United States prisoners and persons received on transfer from the State Training School. The federal prisoners have fixed terms of sentence, and those transferred from the State Training School remain under the jurisdiction of the Reformatory until they reach their majority. The age limits for inmates are sixteen and thirty years. Inmates are paroled whenever such a course seems best and proper employment can be procured.

The State Prison, located at Stillwater, is the penal institution of the state. Here is carried on the manufacturing of binding twine and farm machinery on state account. The twine plant has grown from a capacity of three million pounds to almost twenty million pounds per annum. This product is sold to the farmers and dealers of the state at prices considerably below those charged by other jobbers and manufacturers, and yet the plant averages a net profit to the state of $200,000 per year. About 275 inmates are employed in the twine industry. The manufacture of farm machinery was started in a small way in 1907, and the plant has grown steadily and increased in output each year. The output for the season of 1914 is about 10,000 machines, making over 25,000 "MINNESOTA" machines in the harvest fields. This industry has already become self-supporting, and the annual profit to the state is over $50,000 and increasing every year. The volume of business of these two state account industries amounts annually to more than $2,000,000, and they yield a profit after paying all operating expenses, including labor, of about $250,000 a year. In addition to this there is the much larger saving to the farmers of the state by reason of the low prices charged for the prison product. This profit is made with no sacrifice of quality, as both the twine and farm machinery have been found to be equal in quality to any manufactured in the country. Taken as a whole, the institution is more than self-supporting. After paying all expenses of operation and maintenance, including $75,000 a year paid to prisoners themselves as earnings, the institution turns into the state treasury about $200,000 per annum. In order that every inmate may be given an opportunity to acquire the foundation of a good education, there is, in connection with the prison, a night school in operation eight months in the year. The better educated prisoners are privileged to join a branch of the Chautauqua Society, which is located within the walls of the institution. This circle is officered and managed entirely by inmates and, under the direction of the main organization, pursues the regular course of Chautauqua study each year. There is also a large library of about 7,000 volumes at the service of the inmates. The prison is open to visitors every day except Sundays and holidays.

State Sanatorium for Consumptives. This institution was opened on December 28, 1907, for the treatment of early or hopeful cases of pulmonary tuberculosis. The site selected and purchased by the State Board of Control consists of about 650 acres on the southern extremity of Leech Lake near Walker. The altitude is about 1,400 feet above sea level, and climatic conditions are almost identical with those of similar well known institutions in the Adirondacks of northern New York. When first opened there was one main building, with accommodations for 28 patients. In order to keep pace with applications for admission, the Sanatorium has gradually increased in size until today there is room for 190 patients. The main building has been enlarged so that it now contains offices, four wards and eight private rooms, and quarters for employes. Besides this addition, there have been constructed nearby on the grounds four cottages for adult patients, one for children, five cottages for help, superintendent's cottage, cow barn, silo, etc. The freight, express and post office address is, "State Sanatorium, Cass County, Minnesota." In order to be admitted an applicant must have resided in Minnesota during the previous year and must either pay $1 a day or furnish a guaranty from the county commissioners.

Hospital for Inebriates, Willmar. The Hospital was opened December 26, 1912, with accommodations for 25 men and 25 women. A few months later, after some rearrangement, the women were transferred to the Tomlinson Cottage and the main building was devoted entirely to quarters for men, thus providing accommodation for 88 men and 16 women. During the first eighteen months about 250 patients have been admitted, of whom only 50 remain. Parole reports are gratifying and show both the value and the need of the institution. The object is to restore the patient and make him a self-respecting, self-supporting member of society. Medicine plays some part in treatment, but the greatest part in teaching regular habits of living and wholesome occupation, together with sufficient time in which to thoroughly recover from the effects of excesses in undermining character.

State Public School. This school was established by an act of the legislature in 1885. It was located at Owatonna by a board of five commissioners appointed by the governor. The first buildings were completed and the school opened in December, 1886. Dependent, neglected, and ill-treated children are eligible to admission, and may be committed by the probate courts in counties having less than 50,000 population and by the juvenile division of the district courts in counties having more than 50,000 population. Children may also be transferred to the school from other institutions and associations in Minnesota whose managing boards desire to place them here. Thus the state institution cooperates with private institutions in educating dependent children and in efforts to discover their choice and fitness for vocational occupation. The principal buildings are an administration and service building, a schoolhouse, seven cottages, a power house, laundry, hospital, superintendent's residence, and two barns. Spacious and beautiful wooded lawns and well-equipped playgrounds surround these buildings, forming a most attractive site. A recent important addition to the group of buildings is a nursery which accommodates thirty babies. The erection of a new cottage for industrial students and a gymnasium has been authorized by the legislature. The location is to the west and just outside the city. The campus, farm lands, orchards, and pastures, occupy 320 acres. Ten acres are used as an experimental station for the State School of Agriculture in the growing and testing of fruit trees. The children are divided into family groups, each family occupying a cottage with a matron and an assistant in charge. A graded school is maintained and instruction given in the branches usually taught in the public schools and in agriculture, carpentry, music, domestic science, and art. Facilities for industrial training are to be extended as the need for extension is recognized. The aim of the institution is to place dependent children in normal relations to society and so they are transferred from the institution to private homes as soon as families suited to their individual needs and capacity are willing to take them are found. Some are returned to relatives whose improved circumstances enable them to provide properly for the children. Supervision of the children placed in homes is maintained by state agents who visit them at intervals. The placing-out work causes a constant movement of the population. The average daily attendance is 265. The average number in homes under supervision is 1,275. The total number cared for is 5,000.

SCHOOLS FOR DEFECTIVES

The School for the Deaf, Faribault. In 1858 the legislature made provisions for the education of the deaf and dumb, but the school was not opened until 1863, and in 1866 the first appropriation for a building was made. The School for the Deaf, now under the supervision of J. N. Tate, has an enrollment of nearly 300, and the pupils receive instruction in the following trades and handicrafts: Baking, blacksmithing, cabinet-making, chair-caning, carpentry, cooking, drawing, dressmaking, fancy work, glazing, ironing, painting, printing, sewing, shoemaking, sloyd, wood carving, wood inlaying, and wood turning. A large part of the repairing to buildings and furniture is done by the pupils. So the trades are not only schools for the pupils, but are a means of revenue to the state. The industrial training in this institution is regarded as second in importance only to that done in the literary department. The proper age for admission is eight years. The regular school period is ten years, to which a special course of three years may be added.

The School for the Blind, Faribault, under the superintendency of James J. Dow, is located one mile south of the School for the Deaf. It was established in 1866, and in 1868 it was combined with the School for the Deaf, but in 1874 it was finally separated from that school and placed in the location which it now occupies. The school is open to all blind persons residing in the state of Minnesota who are between the ages of six and twenty-one years. Board, care and instruction are furnished to all pupils without charge. The school is organized on the basis of the public school system of the state, with an elementary course of eight years, and a secondary or high school course of four years. Manual and industrial training is given throughout the entire course, including instruction in sewing, knitting and fancy work, in the weaving of carpets, rugs, coverlets and other forms of art loom work, in broom, hammock and net making, in cabinet work and chair caning, and in reed, willow, and straw basket work. A thorough musical department is maintained, in which instruction is given upon the piano and pipe organ, the violin and other orchestral instruments, in singing and harmony, and in the art of piano tuning and repairing. During the vacation of the School for Blind Youth, a Summer School for Blind Adults is maintained, in which the principal emphasis is placed upon industrial and vocational training. A circulating library of about 4,000 volumes of raised print books is maintained at the school for the use of the blind of the state, and books are sent from and returned to it by mail free of postal charges. Under the direction of the superintendent of the school, a Field and Employment Agency collects statistics of the blind in the state, visits and aids the needy blind so far as practical, renders them assistance in securing employment, in obtaining tools, appliances and supplies, and in marketing the products of their labors, gives home instruction and training, and seeks to alleviate their condition by any other practicable means.

The School for Feeble-Minded and Colony for Epileptics, with Dr. A. C. Rogers as superintendent, grew out of the providing for a commission in 1879, the duty of which was to select from the patients at the hospital for insane such children as were feeble-minded or idiotic, and not properly belonging with the insane, and assign them to the care of the directors of the Faribault institution for Deaf and Blind. A large frame building situated about one-half mile south of the School for the Deaf was rented by the board of the "experimental" school. A veteran specialist, Dr. H. M. Knight, of Connecticut, was employed to organize the work, and his son, Dr. George H. Knight, was placed in charge under the title of "acting superintendent," the nominal supervision resting with the superintendent of the School for the Deaf until 1882, when a separation was made in name, as it had formerly existed in practice. Dr. Knight resigned in 1885, and Dr. A. C. Rogers, formerly assistant physician to the Iowa institution for feeble-minded at Glenwood, was appointed in his place. The entire institution comprises about sixty buildings of all kinds, which, with land, heating, plumbing and lighting equipment, are valued at $1,249,000. The present main building was begun in 1881, by the erection of what is now the north section of the north wing of the "Center," containing the administration offices, school and training departments, store rooms, teachers' quarters, living rooms and dormitories for the younger school, and dining rooms for all school children and nearly all of the help from this and the other departments. This building is constructed of local blue limestone; and one, of hollow brick, cement finish; central kitchen and bakery, of brick; and ice and vegetable storage structures, of brick and concrete. Capacity of center group, 550 inmates. The Custodia consists of two groups of buildings, one for boys and one for girls. The former is known as "Sunnyside," built of brick, and two annexes, both of brick, with a total capacity of 380. The latter consists of "George E. Skinner Hall," of brick construction, and an annex built of concrete. Total capacity, 350. The epileptic department consists of three brick cottages for males, located about one-third mile distant from the main building, on the garden farm, and two brick cottages for females, located near the girls' custodial group. Total capacity, 230 patients. On the garden farm, about one-fourth mile distant from the epileptic men and boys, is a family of working farm boys in a model cottage of wood construction, with a capacity of 52. The dairy group of 16 boys (Peaceful Valley Colony) is located two-thirds of a mile south of the main building. The Walcott farm of 507 acres is located four and one-half miles (by road) south from the center plant. One group of 14 farm boys, "Walcott Colony," is located here, and provision will be completed this year for 50 more at Grandview, on the same tract of land but about one mile nearer the main building.

There are two hospital buildings, one general, constructed of brick, with 60 beds, and one for the cases of tuberculosis, constructed of brick and cement, with 28 beds. In addition, the law provides that this institution shall care for certain cases of incurable physical helplessness. No buildings have been provided for this class, though a few patients are being cared for. Total capacity of institution, 1,550 (1,600 on completion of Grandview Cottage). Total value of buildings and grounds is $1,453,000. The fundamental purposes of the institution are (1) to provide a village community home for the people designated by its title, (2) to provide special training and treatment as required to develop the best available capacity of the wards and (3) to investigate the problems pertaining to the nature, causes and prevention of mental deficiency and epilepsy.

State Hospital for Indigent Crippled and Deformed Children. In 1905 a commission was created to investigate the advisability of establishing a state hospital for the treatment, care and education of crippled and deformed children who are indigent, the creation of the commission following a law passed in 1897 providing for the care of such children. In 1907 the city of St. Paul tendered to the State, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions and suggestions of both acts, a tract of land adjoining the St. Paul City Hospital, on which there was already constructed two two-story and basement brick buildings, then used for the care of crippled and deformed children, free of charge. In addition certain citizens and commercial bodies tendered to the State, as a gift, 23 acres abutting on Phalen Park in said city, which was to be used in connection with the hospital as a fresh air sanitarium for convalescent crippled children. The same sources offered to donate $5,000 towards the construction of cottages on the park site for the use of the children. This gift was immediately accepted by the 1907 legislative body, and the State Hospital for Indigent Crippled and Deformed Children was established by Chapter 81 of the laws of that session. An addition, including a modern laundry, to the main building, is now nearing completion, and it is proposed to remove the children now at the City Hospital to the Phalen Park institution. The children receive the best of surgical care and treatment, and are taught the regular grade studies, manual training, sewing, crocheting, etc.

STATE SOCIETIES AND ASSOCIATIONS

State Agricultural Society. The Minnesota State Agricultural Society dates its corporate existence from the year 1868, although for many years previous to that date, even into the territorial days, a society had been in existence covering the main features of the present organization. The annual fairs of the society were held in different localities, with varying financial success, until 1885, when the county of Ramsey conveyed to the State of Minnesota 200 acres of land midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis for the purpose of exhibiting thereon, under the management of the State Agricultural Society, or its successors, annually, the agriculture, stock-breeding, horticultural, mining, mechanical, industrial and other products and resources of the State of Minnesota, including proper exhibits of the arts, sciences and all other public displays pertinent to or attendant upon exhibitions and expositions of human art, industry or skill. The legislature met this munificent donation with the same liberal spirit that characterized the tender and appropriated $100,000 for permanent improvements. The board of managers proceeded at once to erect such buildings as were necessary for holding the first exhibition on the new grounds, but it was found that, despite the most careful management, the grounds could not be put in condition for the use of the society without a greater expense than had been anticipated. The total expenditures for improvements aggregated $131,319, and the amount beyond $100,000 was advanced by public spirited citizens of St. Paul and Minneapolis. During 1886 further expenditures equal to $34,074, were incurred, and the state was again appealed to, and in 1887 an appropriation of $50,000 was made. Further appropriations for permanent equipment have been made by each succeeding session of the legislature. In 1911 the legislature passed an act defining the membership of the society, whereby it is now composed of three delegates to be chosen annually by one County Agricultural society in each county in the state which shall maintain an active existence, hold annual fairs and be entitled to share in the state appropriation under the provisions of Section 3098. If any such county society fails to choose delegates, then the President, Secretary and Treasurer thereof shall, by virtue of their offices, be the delegates from such society. Where there is more than one county agricultural society in any county of this state, only one, and that the senior, society shall be entitled to choose such delegates. Such seniority shall be determined by the State Auditor, and in all cases where more than one such society in any county in the state shall claim such seniority, no delegates from any of such societies shall be recognized unless their credentials be accompanied by a certificate of such seniority, duly issued and signed by the State Auditor; provided, when two or more counties of the state not having county agricultural societies maintain district agricultural societies they shall have the same privileges as county agricultural societies; such delegates shall be chosen from the county or district in which the society is located. Provided, further, that societies or associations heretofore decided by the State Auditor to be of equal age shall continue to share equally in the sums appropriated pursuant to this act so long as they otherwise comply with all the legal requirements, and delegates from such societies or associations shall each be entitled to one-half vote at the regular or special meeting. One delegate from such county in the state in which no county or district agricultural society exists to be appointed by the County Board of such county. Individuals, who by reason of eminent services in agriculture, horticulture or in the arts and sciences connected therewith, or of long and faithful service in the society or of benefits conferred upon it, may by two-thirds vote of any annual meeting be elected as honorary members. The number of such honorary members shall not at any time exceed its present membership; provided, that not more than one honorary member shall be elected annually. Each honorary member shall be entitled to one vote.

Two delegates elected by, and the president, ex-officio, of the following societies and associations: The State Horticultural society; the State Dairymen's association; the State Beekeepers' association; the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' association; the Minnesota Field Crop Breeders' association; the Minnesota Swine Breeders' association; the Minnesota Sheep Breeders' association; the Minnesota Horse Breeders' association; the Minnesota Veterinary association; the Minnesota Cattle Breeder's association; the State Poultry association; Minnesota Implement Dealers' association; the Minnesota Florists' association; the Minnesota Garden Flowers' association; the Minnesota County Exhibitors' association; the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs; the State Forestry association and the Minnesota State Grange association. The following societies and associations shall be entitled to one vote each: Minneapolis Market Gardeners' association of Minnesota; the State Growers' association; Minnesota Shorthorn Breeders' association; Minnesota Guernsey Breeders' association; Minnesota Jersey Breeders' association; Minnesota Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association, and the Minnesota Hereford Breeders' association; provided, that all such societies and associations shall be active and state-wide in their scope and operation, hold annual meetings and be incorporated under the laws of the state, before being entitled to select such delegates. The societies and association named above are required to file with the secretary of state, on or before December 20 of each year, a report showing that said society or association has held a regular annual meeting for such year, a summary of its financial transactions for the current year, and an affidavit of the president and secretary that it has a paid-up membership of at least twenty-five. On or before January 5 of each year, the secretary of state shall certify to the secretary of the State Agricultural Society the names of such societies or associations.

The members of the governing board of the State Agricultural Society, shall, by virtue of their offices as such, be members of said society and be entitled to one vote each. On all questions arising for determination by the State Agricultural Society, including the election of members of the governing board, each delegate present shall be entitled to one vote, and no proxies shall be recognized by said society, except when less than three delegates of any county or district agricultural society shall attend the annual meeting, those present may cast the full vote of said society. All delegates shall be accredited in writing and their credentials shall be signed by the president and secretary of the society or association represented. The annual meeting of the society occurs in St. Paul or Minneapolis on the second Tuesday in January each year and continues for three days, the election of officers occurring upon the last day of the session. A president and two vice presidents are elected to serve for one year and two managers to serve for three years at each annual meeting. The state appropriates $4,000 annually to aid in the payment of premiums, and $28,000 annually to aid in the payment of premiums at county and other fairs and exhibitions complying with the provisions of the law.

State Horticultural Society is incorporated under the laws of the state, and has for its work the gathering and dissemination of knowledge pertaining to forestry, fruit and vegetable growing, the culture of flowers, etc., adapted to the soil and climate of Minnesota. The present working membership of the society consists of over two thousand professional and amateur horticulturists throughout the Northwest. The annual membership fee is $1, while the life membership fee is $10, payable in two annual installments of $5 each, if preferred. Life members are entitled to all the privileges of the society, including its publications, during life, and to a file of the back reports, as complete as possible, some twenty volumes, constituting an invaluable horticultural library. The society has a plant breeders' auxiliary and also a woman's auxiliary, the former to encourage the origination of new horticultural plants, and the latter to awaken and foster an interest in horticulture among women.

The Minnesota Dairymen's Association (incorporated March 2, 1882) was organized Feb. 7, 1878, for the purpose of improving the Minnesota stock and dairy products by holding an annual meeting of the representatives of these interests and the distribution of literature on such subjects among the people of the state. The association is encouraged by a permanent appropriation of $2,000 annually for the publication of its proceedings and distribution of dairy literature and dairy instruction.

The Minnesota Butter and Cheese Makers' Association was organized in the fall of 1894, and is incorporated under the laws of the state, its special object being to advance the dairy interests of the state and to improve the quality of Minnesota dairy products. It holds an annual meeting, and pays premiums on butter and cheese exhibited, and participates in the appropriation allowed by the state for the encouragement of such organizations.

Farmers' Institutes. The holding of farmers' institutes has been in vogue for 25 years, or more. The government is vested in a board of administration. This board has for a long time consisted of six members, three of whom are chosen from the board of regents of the State University, and the other three are the presidents of the State Agricultural Society, the State Horticultural Society and the State Dairymen's Association. The three officers last mentioned hold their places for three years and at the close of that period the party who may have been elected as president of their association then becomes a member of the board of administration, to continue for a period of three years. The work was under the direction of Mr. O. C. Gregg from its beginning to early in 1907 when Prof. Jas. Wilson was elected to succeed him. The institutes are largely held during the winter months, commencing with some date in November, and closing about the middle of March. The Farmers' Institute Annual is now issued in a standard size of about 400 pages. As the name indicates, it is published each year, and contains the latest and best practical information concerning agriculture in all its branches, which includes the work of the field stock interests and horticulture.

Minnesota Historical Society. The Minnesota Historical Society was organized under an act passed by the first session of the territorial legislature, in 1849, and is therefore the oldest institution in the state. Its objects are the collection, preservation, and publication of materials relating to the history of this state and the development of its resources; to collect biographic sketches and portraits of its pioneers and prominent citizens; to record their work in settling the state and building up its towns, cities, and institutions; to preserve an account of its Indian tribes; to gather a museum of articles illustrative of the conditions of the settlement and later history of Minnesota, of the aboriginal people who built the thousands of prehistoric mounds in this state, and of the tribes who were living here when the first white men reached this region; to collect and maintain for the use of the public a reference library of books, pamphlets, maps and manuscripts on the local and general history, resources and development of Minnesota, of the United States and the world, and to promote the knowledge of these subjects among the citizens of the state. The library contains 74,522 bound and 39,950 unbound volumes, in total 114,472, all of which have been carefully selected and are practically valuable, some being very rare. In the newspaper department the society has complete files of nearly all papers that have been and are being published in Minnesota. The many portraits, historical pictures, and framed documents, which have been donated to the society, and its museum, including very extensive archeological collections donated by the late Rev. Edward C. Mitchell, and the late Hon. J. V. Brower, are of great interest to visitors. Membership in the society is open to any citizen interested in its objects. The executive council comprises thirty, who are chosen from this membership, and, according to a statute of the state, the governor, lieutenant governor and the four other elective officers of the executive departments of the state government, who are ex-officio councilors. The officers of the society are elected by the council for three years.

The legislature in its session of 1913 provided for a building for the use of this Historical Society and the Supreme Court and State Library. An appropriation of $500,000 was made available during the next three fiscal years, with an addition of $75,000 donated by this society for furnishing the portion of the building to be occupied by its library, museum, and other departments. The State Board of Control is authorized to obtain a site near the capitol for this building, with the approval of this society; and the building is to be planned and constructed under direction of the Board of Control, with approval of this society and of the justices of the supreme court. The site formerly occupied by former Gov. W. R. Merriam as a residence, northeast of the capitol, was selected in October.

The Minnesota State Art Society was created by the 1903 session of the legislature for the advancement of fine arts, etc. The governing board consists of the governor, president of the university and seven members to be appointed by the governor, qualifications being prescribed by the act. The officers and membership are prescribed by the act, and annual exhibits are provided for, prizes being offered and paid for by the state.

The Minnesota Society for the Prevention of Cruelty was organized Oct. 21, 1869, for the purpose of preventing cruelty to animals throughout the State of Minnesota. It was recognized by the legislature of 1905 constituting the society a state bureau of child and animal protection. The governor, the superintendent of public instruction and the attorney-general are ex-officio members of the board of directors of said state bureau.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

The Legislature for the year 1913 is composed of sixty-seven senators and one hundred and thirty representatives. The legislature meets biennially, commencing on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January in odd numbered years. The session is limited to ninety legislative days by constitutional amendment, adopted at the general election of 1888. The legislative term of representatives is for two years and of senators for four years.

The State Elections are held on every even numbered year, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The official year commences on the first Monday in January, and the terms of office terminate at that time. Women may vote for school officers, and are eligible as school officers, county superintendents of schools, and to appointments as deputies by county officers, provided they are citizens of this state. The election law passed by the legislature of 1891 brought the entire state under the so-called Australian system of voting at general elections.

The Primary Election to nominate candidates to be elected at the General Election is held on the Third Tuesday in June. Two kinds of ballots are used at this primary election—a party ballot and a non-partisan ballot. The candidates nominated by means of a party ballot in 1914 were governor, lieutenant governor, auditor, treasurer, attorney general, clerk of the supreme court, railroad and warehouse commissioner and members of congress. The justices of the supreme court, members of the state legislature and all county officers (except county surveyor) were nominated on a non-partisan ballot. Primary election day constitutes the first day of registration for the ensuing election, except in cities of the first class. All persons entitled to registration on such day are qualified to vote for the nomination of candidates of the political party with which they affiliated and generally supported at the last general election, and with which they propose to affiliate at the next election.

Rights of Women. Women may vote for school officers. Property owned prior to marriage remains in her own right, as well as property acquired during marriage. She is practically given the same property rights in her married state, as the husband, and a recent legislative act permits the husband and wife to deed direct from one to the other. A widow is entitled to one-third of the property of her demised husband, and the homestead goes direct to her in case of no children—with children, she has a life estate in the same. Various personal property rights are given to her. In order to vote she must be naturalized, although the naturalization of the husband naturalizes the wife. Divorces are granted by the district courts under the usual statutory conditions.

General Taxes become a lien upon real property from the first day of May of the year in which levied, but between grantor and grantee the lien does not attach until the next January. Tax sales by county auditor are made annually, on the second Monday in May, of the lands delinquent on the first Monday in January preceding June of the previous year. Payment of real estate taxes must be made on or before the first day of June for the taxes of the previous year. After that date a penalty of ten per cent immediately attaches, which penalty carries it through the remaining seven months of the year. At the expiration of that time, if still unpaid, the tax is deemed delinquent, and an additional five per cent will be added. If still unpaid, the property for which the tax is delinquent will be sold on the second Monday of May. Chapter 54, of the General Laws of 1897, provides: "That if one-half of the amount of the tax on any real estate shall be paid before the first day of June of each year, then no penalty shall be charged or collected on the one-half remaining unpaid; provided, such one-half remaining unpaid shall be paid before the first day of November of each year; but if said remaining one-half of said tax shall not be paid before said first day of November, then a penalty of ten per cent shall immediately accrue, and thereafter be charged upon the one-half of any such real estate tax remaining unpaid." After the tax sale, the amount of the judgment against the property and for which it was sold draws interest at the rate of one per cent per month until redeemed, whether the same has been purchased or is bid in by the state. The redemption period extends for three years and until public notice of the time of expiration of such redemption has been made by the county auditor. The full period of redemption does not expire until sixty days after the proof of service of such notice has been filed with the county auditor.

State Library. This is designed to be a comprehensive and fairly complete collection of books on the subject of law and legislation. As a "working library" it now ranks with the best in the country, and, if conducted along the lines that are now being developed, it will eventually, in every way, compare favorably with the best and oldest state libraries. The librarian is appointed by the governor, and his assistant is appointed by the supreme court. The judges of the supreme court exercise a general supervision over the library and direct the purchase of books and prescribe the rules governing the library.

Fish Hatcheries. There are six fish hatcheries already built, or provided for by the State Legislature. The First State Fish Hatchery is located near Mound Park, St. Paul. The Second State Fish Hatchery is on Lake Minnewaska at Glenwood. The Third State Fish Hatchery is at Deerwood. The Fourth is at Detroit. The Fifth is proposed to be constructed at Granite Falls on the Minnesota River and the Sixth is to be located near Mound Park, in St. Paul. The Second State Fish Hatchery is in active operation. The Fifth, will be constructed during 1914, and the Sixth, has not yet been located.

Legal Holidays of the state, established by law, are: New Year's Day, the 1st of January; Christmas Day, the 25th of December; Lincoln's birthday, February 12th; Washington's birthday, February 22d; Memorial Day, May 30th; Independence Day, the 4th of July; Labor Day, first Monday in September; Good Friday, next preceding Easter Sunday; the general election day, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even numbered years. The statutes of the state indirectly recognize Sunday, and Thanksgiving Day as legal holidays by providing that maturing paper, bills of exchange, etc., falling due on those days shall be due and payable on the business day following.

Fiscal Year. Chapter 124, G. L. of 1883, provides that the fiscal year of all official reports should commence on the first day of August and close on the thirty-first day of July, except the reports of the insurance commissioner, which are made for calendar year.

Notaries Public are appointed by the governor, for the term of seven years, upon a payment of a fee to the private secretary of three dollars and the filing of a bond in the sum of $2,000.

THE CLASSES OF MAIL MATTER.

Domestic mail matter is divided into four classes, as follows:

First Class—Letters, postal cards and matter wholly or partially in writing, whether sealed or unsealed (except manuscript copy accompanying proof-sheets or corrected proof-sheets of the same), and all matter sealed or otherwise closed against inspection.

Rates of Postage—Two cents per ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards one cent each. On "drop" letters, two cents per ounce or fraction thereof, when mailed at letter-carriers' office; and one cent per ounce or fraction thereof at other offices.

Such publications must be originated and published for the dissemination of information of a public character, or devoted to literature, the sciences, art, or some special industry. They must have a legitimate list of subscribers, and must not be designed primarily for advertising purposes, or for free circulation at nominal rates.

Third Class—Books, circulars, periodicals, and matter wholly in print (not included in second class), proof-sheets, corrected proof-sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same.

Rate of Postage—One cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

THE LIMIT OF WEIGHT.

The local rate is applicable to parcels intended for delivery at the office of mailing or on a rural route starting therefrom.

It will be observed that the rates of postage are largely reduced and that the limit of weight is increased from four to eleven pounds. Parcels will be delivered at all free-delivery offices and to patrons residing on rural and star routes; they may be registered and may be accorded special-delivery service on payment of the usual fees, and they may be insured against loss in an amount equivalent to their actual value, but not to exceed $25, upon payment of a fee of five cents. Distinctive stamps must be used on all parcels, but they may be mailed in quantities of not less than 2,000 identical pieces without stamps affixed, the postage being paid in money.

FOURTH-CLASS (PARCEL POST) MATTER.

32. The rates of postage on fourth-class or parcel post matter—to be fully prepaid—unsealed—are as follows:

(a) Parcels weighing 4 ounces or less, except books, seeds, plants, etc., 1 cent for each ounce or fraction thereof, any distance.

(b) Parcels weighing 8 ounces or less containing books, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, and plants, 1 cent for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof, regardless of distance.

(c) Parcels weighing more than 8 ounces containing books, seeds, plants, etc., parcels of miscellaneous printed matter weighing more than 4 pounds, and all other parcels of fourth-class matter weighing more than 4 ounces are chargeable, according to distance or zone, at the pound rates shown in the following table, a fraction of a pound being considered a full pound:
