THE MINNESOTA CAPITOL

Minnesota's first capitol, which stood at Tenth, Cedar, Exchange, and Wabasha streets in St. Paul, served the territory and state from 1854 until 1881, when it was destroyed by fire. A second capitol was immediately erected on the site of the first, but before many years the increase in the activities of state government required a larger building. In 1893 the legislature authorized the appointment of a commission to select a site for and to construct a new building, and provided for the necessary taxation to pay for it.

The original commission appointed by Governor Knute Nelson consisted of Henry W. Lamberton, George A. Du Toit, Charles H. Graves, Eben E. Corliss, John De Laittre, and James McHench, with Channing Seabury as chairman. Vacancies resulting from deaths and resignations of commissioners were filled by Daniel Shell, Edgar Weaver, John Ludwig, and Henry M. Lamberton. Frank E. Hanson was secretary of the commission.

After holding two competitions for architects, the commission adopted the design submitted by Cass Gilbert, who began his career in St. Paul in 1883 and later removed to New York, where he won fame as the designer of many public and other buildings, among them the Woolworth Building. Ground for the new building was broken on May 6, 1896, by Channing Seabury, in the presence of a large gathering of citizens, and the cornerstone was laid on July 27, 1898, by Alexander Ramsey, the first governor of Minnesota Territory. The building, which was completed at a total cost of $4,500,000, including the site and the furnishings, was ready for occupancy by the legislature in 1905. The first governor inaugurated in the new Capitol was John A. Johnson.

Soon after the building was completed, the following statement was made in a leading architectural journal: "It is probable that no other structure in the United States of its size and stability cost as little money"—a tribute to the integrity, loyalty, and efficiency of the Capitol Commission.

ERNEST LUNDEEN

"America First" was the political creed of Ernest Lundeen. He was unalterably opposed to America becoming entangled in the wars of Europe. On questions of foreign policy he followed in the footsteps of Washington, Monroe, Jackson and Lincoln.

"Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground?" Washington asked, and Ernest Lundeen often repeated. "Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, humor or caprice?"

Ernest Lundeen maintained that this advice of Washington in his Farewell Address should be our guide in foreign affairs. He maintained that this advice was as sound in 1917 or 1940 as it was in 1796 when Washington gave it.

He voted against our entry into the World War on April 6, 1917, and against conscription for foreign service in May of the same year. His speech against our entry into the World War reads like a prophecy.

He always supported the legislative program advocated by labor and the farmer. He was a real and consistent friend of the veteran and his dependents. Early in his political career he advocated women suffrage.

He never lost the common touch; laborers and farmers, newsboys and clerks, as well as Governors, Senators and world famous men and women were his intimate friends.

• • • • •

He was born on a farm near Beresford, S. D., August 4, 1878, the son of the Reverend Charles Henry and Christina C. (Peterson) Lundin. Attended common school near Beresford, S. D., and Harcourt, Iowa. He graduated from the Dayton, Iowa, High School in 1895, and Carleton College in 1901; won state oratorical contest in his senior year at Carleton; studied law at the University of Minnesota and was admitted to the bar May 21, 1906.

He was elected to the Minnesota Legislature in 1910 and re-elected in 1912; elected to Congress in 1916, as a Republican from the Fifth Congressional District. In 1919 he married Norma Ward of San Francisco, and two children were born to them, Ernest Ward and Joan Jessie. Elected Congressman at large in 1932 as a Farmer-Laborite and re-elected in 1934 from the Third Congressional District. He was elected United States Senator in 1936.

Served as a private in Company B, 12th Minnesota Volunteers in the Spanish American War; member of the United Spanish War Veterans; honorary member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; served as 1st Lieutenant, Company F, 1st Regiment, Minnesota National Guard; member of Delta Sigma Rho fraternity; Mason and member of the Methodist Church.

He was killed in an airplane accident a few miles west of Washington, D. C., August 31, 1940, while on his way to Minneapolis.

A brilliant orator, he delivered the Memorial Day Oration at the Arlington National Cemetery at Arlington, Virginia, in 1919, upon the invitation of the National Grand Army of the Republic, being the only Minnesotan ever accorded that honor.

• • • A deep student of history, he had a profound conviction that America's problems could only be solved by avoiding the selfish intrigues of European politics and her constant and senseless wars. He had the courage of his convictions and dared as Congressman and Senator to vote in accordance with those convictions. He possessed the essentials of the statesman.

• • • He had an abiding faith in American democracy and the American people. Proud of his Viking ancestors he was, nevertheless, convinced that the thing all Americans must do is put America's welfare above all else and develop an American character that will not tolerate allegiance to a foreign country. This faith is well illustrated by the last sentence of his speech in the U. S. Senate July 11, 1940, when he concluded with this exclamation: "The lamp of liberty will shine on—the symbol of American civilization—a beacon of hope for all mankind."

He believed in Democracy and the ultimate wisdom of the common man. He considered tolerance of opinion the safeguard of a free people. He believed free speech, a free press and a free radio essentials to the maintenance of a free government. The last words he had inserted in the Congressional Record on August 31, 1940, the day of his death, were these: "Because your neighbor doesn't agree with you, it doesn't prove he's a 'fifth columnist.' He may merely be an American exercising his right of free speech under the Constitution. • • • We had better keep the weeds out of the corn."

• • • • •

(From Speech by Ernest Lundeen in Congress March 3, 1919.)

"My last word to you, my fellow citizens, is this: Turn again reverently to the pages of America's glorious history. Read and read again the admonitions of the fathers of the Republic. You will find there words of wisdom and a sure compass with which to chart your course, and having read, stand upon the watchtowers of the nation and solemnly guard America, our motherland."

PIERCE BUTLER

Pierce Butler's life story is an epic of America. From his birth on a small Minnesota farm to the day of his death while a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States his record was one of obstacles surmounted, of professional distinction achieved, and of merit appropriately rewarded.

His father and mother, Irish immigrants from County Wicklow, had settled in Dakota County, Minnesota, where they lived the life of pioneer farmers. They reared a family of eight children, of whom the future jurist was one. He was born on St. Patrick's day (March 17th), 1866. Strong of body and of vigorous mind, he dominated his environment and used its limitations as opportunities for self-development. A country schoolteacher at sixteen, he qualified for admission to Carleton College at Northfield, Minnesota, from which he graduated in 1887. During his student days he did farm chores early and late, and in the daily interval rode a farm horse to school. Having determined to become a lawyer, he moved to Saint Paul and in 1888 was admitted to the bar.

His abilities were early recognized, and after serving for two years as an assistant he became the County Attorney of Ramsey County. In this way he acquired proficiency in the art of the successful trial lawyer and was noted for his capacity to win the confidence of all the diverse elements of which local juries were composed. He had great energy, prodigious memory and a large capacity for logical thinking. His character was a unit without internal stress. There was inherent a belief that there exists a philosophical rightness and he sought to apply it to each matter in hand. A skillful legal tactician, his sole strategy was to drive forward unswervingly in the direction which he regarded as the right one. Expediency never justified retreat or indirection.

In 1897 he began the general practice of law. Here again his character and ability made their mark and important clients were eager to retain him.

He was of the sort that men instinctively trust. He became one of the noble figures in the life of the great Northwest. When it was known that he was to appear the court room was wont to be crowded with people eager to hear him and to see him in action.

It was on November 23, 1922, while he was serving as counsel in the Toronto Railway Arbitration, that he, a Democrat, was nominated by President Harding to be an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. The nomination not having been acted on at that session of Congress, the President re-nominated him on December 5, 1922. He was confirmed by the Senate on December 21, 1922, and on the 2nd of January, 1923, the judicial oath was administered and he took his seat upon the Bench.

During his seventeen years on the Court he saw his country pass through an era of unstable prosperity and into a period of resulting depression, but with such a life story behind him, it was inevitable that the faith of Mr. Justice Butler should never waver. He had faith in the power of objective reasoning and of the intellectual integrity of man. This faith in the individual man was expressed by resistance to any attempted infringement on the bill of rights, and, in the absence of constitutional amendment, to centralization of government and to extension of its powers over the individual. He refused to concede that the individual is a helpless creature of an environment built by others, and opposed the kind of humanitarianism that would relegate him to that position.

During all the years of his service he contributed to the Court not merely sound learning and ripe experience, but calm judgment and the stabilizing influence of tested character.

Secretary of State.

ORGANIC ACT OF MINNESOTA

An act to establish the Territorial Government of Minnesota.
[Passed March 3, 1849.]

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the passage of this act, all that part of the territory of the United States which lies within the following limits, to-wit: Beginning in the Mississippi river at the point where the line of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes of north latitude crosses the same; thence running due west on said line, which is the northern boundary of the state of Iowa, to the northwest corner of the said state of Iowa; thence southerly along the western boundary of said state to the point where said boundary strikes the Missouri river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river to the mouth of White Earth river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the White Earth river to the boundary line between the possessions of the United States and Great Britain, thence east and south of east along the boundary line between the possessions of the United States and Great Britain to Lake Superior; thence in a straight line to the northernmost point of the state of Wisconsin in Lake Superior; thence along the western boundary line of said state of Wisconsin to the Mississippi river; thence down the main channel of said river to the place of beginning, be and the same is hereby erected into a temporary government by the name of the Territory of Minnesota; provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing said Territory into two or more territories, in such manner and at such times as Congress shall deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said Territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over said Territory of Minnesota shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within said Territory; shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof; shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs. He may grant pardons for offenses against the law of said Territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said Territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first day of December in each year, to the president of the United States, and at the same time two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate for the use of Congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or necessary absence of the governor from the Territory, the secretary shall be and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and the duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence, or until another governor shall be duly appointed to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power and authority of said Territory shall be vested in the governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of nine members having the qualifications of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives shall, at its first session, consist of eighteen members.

possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. The number of councilors and representatives may be increased by the legislative assembly, from time to time, in proportion to the increase of population; provided, that the whole number shall never exceed fifteen councilors and thirty-nine representatives. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the members of the council and of the house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the districts for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties and districts of the Territory to be taken, and the first election shall be held at such time and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct, and he shall, at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties and districts shall be entitled under this act.

The number of persons authorized to be elected having the highest number of votes, in each of said council districts for members of the council, shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected to the council, and the person or persons authorized to be elected, having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county or district shall be entitled, shall also be declared by the governor to be duly elected members of the house of representatives; provided, that in case of a tie between two or more persons voted for, the governor shall order a new election to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place on such day as the governor shall appoint, but thereafter the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning of the representation in the several counties or districts to the council and house of representatives, according to the population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular session of the legislative assembly; provided, that no one session shall exceed the term of sixty days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of said Territory at the time of the passage of this act, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be prescribed by the legislative assembly; provided, that the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States and those who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, consistent with the Constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws passed by the legislative assembly and governor shall be submitted to the Congress of the United States, and if disapproved shall be null and of no effect.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district and county officers, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota. The governor shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, appoint all officers not herein otherwise provided for, and, in the first instance, the governor alone may appoint all said officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased, while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, except postmasters, shall be a member of the legislative assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually; and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the supreme court, at such time and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of probate courts and justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law; provided, that the justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each district court, or the judges thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception and appeals shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court shall be allowed, and may be taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed one thousand dollars; and each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws; and writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said Territory, the same as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of the late Wisconsin Territory received for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin received. There shall also be a marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts, when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate justices, attorney and marshal, shall be nominated and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively, take an oath or affirmation, before the district judge, or some justice of the peace in the limits of said Territory, duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws now in force therein, or before the chief justice, or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person by whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings; and the chief justice and associate justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation, before the said governor or secretary, or some judge or justice of the peace of the Territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,500 as governor, and $1,000 as superintendent of Indian affairs. The chief justice and associate justice shall each receive an annual salary of $1,800. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of $1,800. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of $1,000, to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory; and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum to be expended by the secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses, and the secretary of the Territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said Territory shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the Territory of Wisconsin and to its inhabitants; and the laws in force in the Territory of Wisconsin at the date of the admission of the State of Wisconsin shall continue to be valid and operative therein, so far as the same be not incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said Territory of Minnesota; and the laws of the United States are hereby extended over and declared to be in force in said Territory, so far as the same, or any provision thereof, may be applicable.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota shall hold its first session in St. Paul; and at said first session the governor and legislative assembly shall locate and establish a temporary seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible; and shall at such time as they shall see proper prescribe by law the manner of locating the permanent seat of government of said Territory by a vote of the people. And the sum of twenty thousand dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby appropriated and granted to said Territory of Minnesota, to be applied by the governor and legislative assembly to the erection of suitable public buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate of the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as are exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such times and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and at all subsequent elections the times, places and manner of holding the elections shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process and proceedings, civil and criminal, at law or in chancery, and all indictments and informations, which shall be pending and undetermined in the courts of the Territory of Wisconsin, within the limits of said Territory of Minnesota, when this act shall take effect, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined in the district courts hereby established, which may include the counties or districts where any such proceedings may be pending. All bonds, recognizances, and obligations of every kind whatsoever, valid under the existing laws, within the limits of said Territory, shall be valid under this act; and all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws, in force within said limits, may be prosecuted, tried, and punished in the courts established by this act; and all penalties, forfeitures, actions and causes of action may be recovered under this act the same as they would have been under the laws in force within the limits composing said Territory at the time this act shall go into operation.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and all other judicial and ministerial officers, who shall be in office within the limits of said Territory, when this act shall take effect, shall be and they are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices as officers of the Territory of Minnesota, temporarily, and until they or others shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill their places, in the manner herein directed, or until their offices shall be abolished.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of $5,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by and under the direction of the said governor of the Territory of Minnesota, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the governor, legislative assembly, judges of the supreme court, secretary, marshal, and attorneys of said Territory, and such other persons and under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 18. And be it further enacted, That when the lands in said Territory shall be surveyed under the direction of the government of the United States, preparatory to bringing the same into market, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in each township in said Territory shall be and the same are hereby reserved for the purpose of being applied to schools in said Territory, and in the state and territories hereafter to be erected out of the same.

SEC. 19. And be it further enacted, That temporarily, and until otherwise provided by law, the governor of said Territory may define the judicial districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said Territory to the several districts, and also appoint the times and places for holding courts in the several counties or subdivisions in each of said judicial districts, by proclamation to be issued by him; but the legislative assembly, at their first or any subsequent session, may organize, alter or modify such judicial districts, and assign the judges, and alter the times and places of holding the courts, as to them shall seem proper and convenient.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That every bill which shall or may pass the council and house of representatives, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the Territory; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated; which shall cause the objections to be entered at large upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall also be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law; but in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislative assembly, by adjournment, prevent it, in which case it shall not become a law.

MINNESOTA STATE SEAL

The state seal is similar in design to the territorial seal, although various other devices were proposed and even adopted as laws.

First official reference to the seal appears in the message of Governor Ramsey to the first territorial legislature, September 9, 1849. A legislative committee, October 31, recommended as a seal device, "an every-day scene, consisting of an Indian family with their lodge, canoe, etc., and a single white man visiting them, with no other protection than the feeling of hospitality and friendship existing between the two people. The white man is receiving from the Indian the pipe of peace." That seal was authorized by law but never used.

The territorial seal depicted instead a scene at St. Anthony Falls, as shown in the accompanying engraving. The earlier proposal may have influenced the design, but substitution of the musket and powderhorn for the pipe of peace may have had special significance. The motto, "Quo sursum velo videre," the third word a misprint for "volo," meaning "I wish to see what lies beyond," was selected by H. H. Sibley, while a delegate in Congress. Governor Ramsey commissioned D. O. Hare of Washington to engrave the seal and the cost was $157.

Although ridiculed by journalists as representing "a scared white man and an astonished Indian," and "a man plowing one way and looking another," this territorial seal was used until the adoption of the state seal in 1858.

During the first session of the state legislature, assembled December 2, 1857, Charles F. Lowe, a member of the convention of 1857 which drafted the state constitution, including a provision for a state seal, procured from Mr. Buechner, a St. Paul artist, a design shown on page 658 of W. H. C. Folsom's "Fifty Years in the Northwest."

The state government upon beginning operations in May, 1858, was without a state seal. Authorizing temporary use of the territorial seal, Governor Sibley brought up the subject at the adjourned legislative session in June and a special committee was named. W. H. C. Folsom, chairman, submitted the design mentioned, which on July 16 was adopted by joint resolution. When the new seal was delivered, however, it was found that the legislative intent had failed, and in place of that elaborate design one resembling the territorial seal was used, as it appears in the illustration. The word "state" was added and the date of admission substituted for the territorial year. The motto was changed to "L'Etoile du Nord," translated "The North Star," and this state seal has ever since been in official use. The Minnesotian published articles ridiculing the French motto and declaring that Governor Sibley had chosen it simply because he spoke that language.

ACT AUTHORIZING A STATE GOVERNMENT

[Passed Feb. 26, 1857.]

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the inhabitants of that portion of the Territory of Minnesota which is embraced within the following limits, to-wit: Beginning at the point in the center of the main channel of the Red River of the North, where the boundary line between the United States and the British Possessions crosses the same; thence up the main channel of said river to that of the Bois de Sioux river; thence up the main channel of said river to Lake Traverse; thence up the center of said lake to the southern extremity thereof, thence in a direct line to the head of Big Stone lake; thence through its center to its outlet; thence by a due south line to the north line of the State of Iowa; thence along the northern boundary of said state to the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence up the main channel of said river, and following the boundary line of the State of Wisconsin, until the same intersects with the St. Louis river; thence down the said river to and through Lake Superior, on the boundary line of Wisconsin and Michigan, until it intersects the dividing line between the United States and the British Possessions; thence up Pigeon river and following said dividing line to the place of beginning, be and they hereby are authorized to form for themselves a constitution and state government by the name of the State of Minnesota, and to come into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, according to the Federal Constitution.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the State of Minnesota shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and all other rivers and waters bordering on the said State of Minnesota, so far as the same shall form a common boundary to said state and any state or states now or hereafter to be formed or bounded by the same; and said river or waters leading into the same shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said state as to all other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That on the first Monday in June next, the legal voters in each representative district then existing within the limits of the proposed state, are hereby authorized to elect two delegates for each representative to which said district shall be entitled according to the apportionment for representatives to the territorial legislature; which election for delegates shall be held and conducted, and the returns made, in all respects in conformity with the laws of said Territory regulating the election of representatives, and the delegates so elected shall assemble at the capitol of said Territory on the second Monday in July next, and first determine by a vote whether it is the wish of the people of the proposed State to be admitted into the Union at that time; and if so, shall proceed to form a constitution, and take all necessary steps for the establishment of a state government, in conformity with the Federal Constitution, subject to the approval and ratification of the people of the proposed State.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That in the event said convention shall decide in favor of the immediate admission of the proposed State into the Union, it shall be the duty of the United States marshal for said Territory to proceed to take a census or enumeration of the inhabitants within the limits of the proposed State, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the secretary of the interior, with the view of ascertaining the number of representatives to which said State may be entitled in the Congress of the United States. And said State shall be entitled to one representative, and such additional representatives as the population of the State shall, according to the census, show it would be entitled to according to the present ratio of representation.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That the following propositions be and the same are hereby offered to the said convention of the people of Minnesota for their free acceptance or rejection, which, if accepted by the convention, shall be obligatory on the United States, and upon the said State of Minnesota, to-wit:

First—That sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in every township of public lands in said State, and where either of said sections, or any part thereof, has been sold or otherwise been disposed of, other lands, equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to said State for the use of schools.

Second—That seventy-two sections of land shall be set apart and reserved for the use and support of a state university, to be selected by the governor of said State, subject to the approval of the commissioner at the general land office, and to be appropriated and applied in such manner as the legislature of said State may prescribe; for the purpose aforesaid, but for no other purpose.

Third—Ten entire sections of land to be selected by the governor of said State, in legal subdivisions, shall be granted to said State for the purpose of completing the public buildings, or for the erection of others at the seat of government, under the direction of the legislature thereof.

Fourth—That all salt springs within said State, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining or as contiguous as may be to each, shall be granted to said State for its use; and the same to be selected by the governor thereof within one year after the admission of said State, and, when so selected, to be used or disposed of on such terms, conditions and regulations as the legislature shall direct; provided, that no salt spring or land the right whereof is now vested in any individual or in individuals, or which may be hereafter confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall by this article be granted to said State.

Fifth—That five per centum of the net proceeds of sales of all public lands lying within said State, which shall be sold by Congress after the admission of said State into the Union, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be paid to said State for the purpose of making public roads and internal improvements as the legislature shall direct; provided, the foregoing propositions herein offered are on the condition that the said convention which shall form the constitution of said State shall provide, by a clause in said constitution, or an ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that said State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, or with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in said soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed on lands belonging to the United States, and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

MINNESOTA STATE FLAG

The State Legislature of 1893, by Chapter 16, provided for the adoption of a state flag.

Mrs. Franklyn L. Greenleaf, Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. Edward Durant, Mrs. F. B. Clarke, Mrs. H. F. Brown and Mrs. A. T. Stebbins were by this act named and designated a commission to select and adopt an appropriate design for a state flag.

Conformably to the provision of this act, this commission called for designs, and on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 1893, met, selected and adopted the design presented by Mrs. Edward H. Center, of Minneapolis.

Following is a description of the flag: "The ground is of white silk, and the reverse side of blue silk, bordered with bullion fringe. In the center is the state seal, wreathed with white moccasin flowers, on a blue ground. The red ribbon of the seal bearing the motto is continued through the wreath, entwining the blossoms and floating carelessly over the lower portion of the flag. It bears, in gold, the dates 1819, the time of the settlement of Minnesota, and 1893. Above, also in gold, is the date 1858, the time of the admission of Minnesota to the Union. Below the design, in gold letters, is wrought 'Minnesota.' Grouped around the seal are nineteen stars in the design of star points, with the North Star, significant of the North Star State, in a group of three at the top."

The choice of the number nineteen is a peculiarly happy one, as Minnesota was the nineteenth state, after the original thirteen, to be admitted to the Union. The standard to the flag was surmounted by a golden gopher, and tied with a gold cord and tassel. The execution of the design is entirely in needle work.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Under the enabling act of Congress, approved March 3, 1857, a constitutional convention of one hundred and eight members (each council district to elect two for each councilman and representative it was entitled to) was authorized to meet at the capitol on the second Monday in July, to frame a state constitution, and submit it to the people of the territory. The election was held on the first Monday in June. On July 13th the delegates met, but, a disagreement arising in the organization, the Republican members organized one body, and the Democratic members organized separately. Each of these bodies, claiming to be the legal constitutional convention, proceeded with the work of forming an instrument to be submitted to the people. After some days an understanding was effected between them, and, by means of committees of conference, the same constitution was framed and adopted by both bodies. On being submitted to the people October 13th, it was ratified.

Preamble. We, the people of the State of Minnesota, grateful to God for our civil and religious liberty, and desiring to perpetuate its blessings and secure the same to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution:

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

Object of government. SECTION 1. Government is instituted for the security, benefit and protection of the people, in whom all political power is inherent, together with the right to alter, modify or reform such government, whenever the public good may require it.

Rights and Privileges. SEC. 2. No member of this State shall be disfranchised, or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof, unless by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the State otherwise than the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Liberty of the press. SEC. 3. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right.

Trial by jury. SEC. 4. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy, but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law; [and the legislature may provide that the agreement of five-sixths of any jury in any civil action or proceeding, after not less than six (6) hours' deliberation, shall be a sufficient verdict therein.]*

No excessive bail or unusual punishments. SEC. 5. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted.

*The clause in brackets was adopted Nov. 4, 1890.

Rights of accused in criminal prosecutions. SEC. 6. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense. (a)

Further rights of accused—when bailable. SEC. 7. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. All persons shall before conviction be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require.

Redress of injuries or wrongs. SEC. 8. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property or character; he ought to obtain justice freely and without purchase; completely and without denial; promptly and without delay, conformable to the laws.

Treason defined. SEC. 9. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

Right against unreasonable searches. SEC. 10. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized.

Prohibits ex post facto laws, or laws impairing contracts. SEC. 11. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Imprisonment for debt—property exemption. SEC. 12. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in this state, (b) but this shall not prevent the legislature from providing for imprisonment, or holding to bail, persons charged with fraud in contracting said debt. A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law. [Provided, however, that all property so exempted shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair or improvement of the same, and provided further, that such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt incurred to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed.]*

Private property for public use. SEC. 13. Private property shall not be taken, destroyed or damaged for public use without just compensation therefor, first paid or secured.†

(a) The jury contemplated by article 1, section 6, securing the right to jury trial in criminal cases, is a body of twelve men, and it is error to try a party charged with crime in a justice court, against his objection, with a jury of six. The fact that he may appeal to the district court, on entering into recognizance with sureties, does not change the rule. 14 Minn. 330.

(b) 23 Minn. 1; 23 Minn. 411.

*The clause in brackets was adopted Nov. 6, 1888.

†The words "destroyed or damaged" inserted by amendment adopted Nov. 3, 1896.

Military power subordinate. SEC. 14. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power, and no standing army shall be kept up in this State in times of peace.

Lands declared allodial—leases, when void. SEC. 15. All lands within the State are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures of every description, with all their incidents, are prohibited. Leases and grants of agricultural lands for a longer period than twenty-one years hereafter made, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be void.

Freedom of conscience—no preference to be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship. SEC. 16. The enumeration of rights in this constitution shall not be construed to deny or impair others retained by and inherent in the people. The right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience shall never be infringed, nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any religious or ecclesiastical ministry, against his consent; nor shall any control of or interference with the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference be given by law to any religious establishment or mode of worship; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of the State, nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries.

No religious test or property qualifications to be required. SEC. 17. No religious test or amount of property shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the State. No religious test or amount of property shall ever be required as a qualification of any voter at any election in this State; nor shall any person be rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity in consequence of his opinion upon the subject of religion.

No license to peddle. SEC. 18. Any person may sell or peddle the products of the farm or garden occupied and cultivated by him without obtaining a license therefor.*

ARTICLE II.

ON NAME AND BOUNDARIES.

Name and boundaries. SECTION 1. This State shall be called and known by the name of the State of Minnesota, and shall consist of and have jurisdiction over the territory embraced in the following boundaries, to-wit: Beginning at the point in the center of the main channel of the Red River of the North, where the boundary line between the United States and British Possessions crosses the same; thence up the main channel of said river to that of the Bois des Sioux river; thence up the main channel of said river to Lake Traverse, thence up the center of said lake to the southern extremity thereof; thence in a direct line to the head of Big Stone lake; thence through its center to its outlet; thence by a due south line to the north line of the State of Iowa; thence east along the northern boundary of said State to the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence up the main channel of said river and following the boundary line of the State of Wisconsin until the same intersects the St. Louis river; thence down the said river to and through Lake Superior, on the boundary line of Wisconsin and Michigan, until it intersects the dividing line between the United States and British Possessions; thence up Pigeon river and following said dividing line to the place of beginning.

*Adopted Nov. 6, 1906.

The northern boundary of the state at the Lake of the Woods is projected beyond the 49th parallel a distance of about twenty miles, making a wedge-shaped jog through the lake until it strikes firm ground on the west bank of the lake; thence in a due south line to the 49th parallel. The explanation of this jog is found in the subjoined paragraphs. In the seventh article of the treaty of Ghent, section 19 reads as follows: Sec. 19. Resolved that the fol-

Jurisdiction on bordering rivers. SEC. 2. The State of Minnesota shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and on all other rivers and waters bordering on the said State of Minnesota, so far as the same shall form a common boundary to said State, and any other state or states now or hereafter to be formed by the same; and said rivers and waters, and navigable waters leading into the same, shall be common highways and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said State as to other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor.

Acceptance of propositions in enabling act. SEC. 3. The propositions contained in the act of Congress entitled, "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government, preparatory to their admission into the Union on equal footing with the original states," are hereby accepted, ratified and confirmed, and shall remain irrevocable without the consent of the United States; and it is hereby ordained that this State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same, by the United States, or with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title to said soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and no tax shall be imposed on lands belonging to the United States and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

ARTICLE III.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE POWERS OF GOVERNMENT.

Division of powers. SECTION 1. The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments—legislative, executive, and judicial; and no person or persons belonging to or constituting one of these departments shall exercise any of the powers properly belonging to either of the others, except in the instances expressly provided in this constitution. (a)

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Legislature meets biennially—length of session. SECTION 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the State, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days; and no new bill shall be introduced in either branch, except on the written request of the governor, during the last twenty (20) days of lowing described (also represented on said map as before mentioned), is, in the opinion of the commissioners, so far as the same extends, the true boundary intended by the before mentioned treaties, namely: * * * thence through the middle of the waters of this bay to the northwest extremity of the same; being the most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods, and from a monument in this bay, on the nearest firm ground to the above northwest extremity of said bay, the courses and distances are as follows: 56° W. 1,565½ feet; 2nd, N. 6° W. 861¼ feet; 3rd, N. 28° W. 615.4 feet; 4th, N. 27° 10' W. 495.4 feet; 5th, N. 5° 10' E. 1,322¼ feet; 6th, N. 70° 45' W. 493 feet, the variation being 12° east. The termination of this 6th and last course and distance being the above said most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods, as designated by the seventh article of the treaty of Ghent, and being in latitude 49° 23' 55" north of the equator, and in longitude 95° 14' 38" west from Greenwich. The second article of the convention of 1818 is as follows: Article 2. It is agreed that a line drawn from the most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods along the 49th parallel of north latitude, or, if the said point shall not be in the 49th parallel of north latitude, then that a line drawn from the said point due north or south, as the case may be, until the said line shall intersect the said parallel of north latitude, and from the point of such intersection due west, along and with the said parallel, shall be the line of demarkation between the territories of the United States and His Britannic Majesty, and that the said line shall form the northern boundary of the said territories of the United States and the southern boundary of His Britannic Majesty, from the Lake of the Woods to the Stony Mountains. This boundary was re-established and determined by a commission authorized by congress, and the surveys embracing four years were made and reported to congress in 1877.

(a) Courts cannot control or interfere with an executive officer of the state in his official acts, even though they are such that the duty to perform them might have been entrusted to some other officer. 28 Minn. 50.

such sessions, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor.

Apportionment of members. SEC. 2. The number of members who compose the Senate and House of Representatives shall be prescribed by law, but the representation in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5,000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2,000 inhabitants. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the State, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law.

Eligibility of members—quorum. SEC. 3. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and eligibility of its own members; a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as it may provide.

Rules of government. SEC. 4. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, sit upon its own adjournment, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled the second time for the same offense.

Officers—journal of proceedings. SEC. 5. The House of Representatives shall elect its presiding officer and the Senate and House of Representatives shall elect such other officers as may be provided by law; they shall keep journals of their proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, and the yeas and nays, when taken on any question, shall be entered on such journals.

Length of adjournments. SEC. 6. Neither house shall, during a session of the legislature, adjourn for more than three days (Sundays excepted), nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be assembled, without the consent of the other house.

Compensation. SEC. 7. The compensation of senators and representatives shall be three dollars per diem during the first session, but may afterwards be prescribed by law. But no increase of compensation shall be prescribed which shall take effect during the period for which the members of the existing House of Representatives may have been elected.

Privileged from arrest. SEC. 8. The members of each house shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same. For any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Restriction as to holding office. SEC. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, and no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature.

Bills of revenue to originate in House. SEC. 10. All bills for raising a revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose and concur with the amendments as on other bills.

Approval of bills by Governor—action on non-approval. SEC. 11. Every bill which shall have passed the Senate and House of Representatives, in conformity to the rules of each house and the joint rules of the two houses, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the State. If he approves, he shall sign and deposit it in the office of secretary of state for preservation, and notify the house where it originated of the fact. But if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated: when such objections shall be entered at large on the journal of the same, and the house shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if it be approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature, by adjournment within that time, prevents its return; in which case it shall not be a law. The governor may approve, sign and file in the office of the secretary of state, within three days after the adjournment of the legislature, any act passed during the last three days of the session, and the same shall become a law.

Governor may cut out items of appropriation bills and otherwise approve. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be a part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Money appropriations, how made. SEC. 12. No money shall be appropriated except by bill. Every order, resolution or vote requiring the concurrence of the two houses (except such as relate to the business or adjournment of the same) shall be presented to the governor for his signature, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being returned by him with his objections, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the members of the two houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Majority vote of all members-elect to pass a law. SEC. 13. The style of all laws of this State shall be: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota." No law shall be passed unless voted for by a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the legislature, and the vote entered upon the journal of each house.

Impeachment powers. SEC. 14. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, through a concurrence of a majority of all the members elected to seats therein. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate; and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Exclusion from civil rights. SEC. 15. The legislature shall have full power to exclude from the privilege of electing or being elected any person convicted of bribery, perjury, or any other infamous crime.

Protest and dissent of members. SEC. 16. Two or more members of either house shall have liberty to dissent and protest against any act or resolution which they may think injurious to the public or to any individual, and have the reason of their dissent entered on the journal.

Vacancies in legislature. SEC. 17. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the legislature. The legislature shall prescribe by law the manner in which evidence in cases of contested seats in either house shall be taken.

Punish for disorderly conduct. SEC. 18. Each house may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence, but no such imprisonment shall at any time exceed twenty-four hours.

Open sessions. SEC. 19. Each house shall be open to the public during the sessions thereof, except in such cases as in their opinion may require secrecy.

Reading of bills. SEC. 20. Every bill shall be read on three different days in each separate house, unless, in case of urgency, two-thirds of the house where such bill is depending shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed by either house until it shall have been previously read twice at length.

Enrollment of bills. SEC. 21. Every bill having passed both houses shall be carefully enrolled, and shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house. Any presiding officer refusing to sign a bill which shall have previously passed both houses shall thereafter be incapable of holding a seat in either branch of the legislature, or hold any other office or honor of profit in the State, and in case of such refusal, each house shall, by rule, provide the manner in which such bill shall be properly certified for presentation to the governor.

Passage of bills on last day of session prohibited. SEC. 22. No bill shall be passed by either house of the legislature upon the day prescribed for the adjournment of the two houses. But this section shall not be so construed as to preclude the enrollment of a bill, or the signature and passage from one house to the other, or the reports thereon from committees, or its transmission to the executive for his signature.

Census enumeration — apportionment. SEC. 23. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this State in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter. At their first session after each enumeration so made, and also at their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts according to the provisions of section second of this article.

Senatorial districts — term of office of senators and representatives. SEC. 24. The senators shall also be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time that members of the house of representatives are required to be chosen, and in the same manner; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series. The terms of office of senators and representatives shall be the same as now prescribed by law until the general election of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), at which time there shall be an entire new election of all senators and representatives. Representatives chosen at such election, or at any election thereafter, shall hold their office for the term of two years, except it be to fill a vacancy; and the senators chosen at such election by districts designated as odd numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and senators chosen by districts designated by even numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the fourth year; and thereafter senators shall be chosen for four years, except there shall be an entire new election of all the senators at the election of representatives next succeeding each new apportionment provided for in this article.

Qualification of legislators. SEC. 25. Senators and representatives shall be qualified voters of the State, and shall have resided one year in the State and six months immediately preceding the election in the district from which they are elected.

Senators to Congress. SEC. 26. Members of the Senate of the United States from this State shall be elected by the two houses of the legislature in joint convention, at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law. [While still law, this is of no effect because of passage of Federal Constitution No. 17 in 1913.]

Laws to embrace only one subject. SEC. 27. No law shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title.

Divorces. SEC. 28. Divorces shall not be granted by the legislature.

Oath of office. SEC. 29. All members and officers of both branches of the legislature shall, before entering upon the duties of their respective trusts, take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, and faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties devolving upon him as such member or officer.

Elections viva voce. SEC. 30. In all elections to be made by the legislature, the members thereof shall vote viva voce, and their votes shall be entered on the journal.

Prohibition of lotteries. SEC. 31. The legislature shall never authorize any lottery or the sale of lottery tickets.

Change of form of taxation of railroads to be voted upon. SEC. 32. [a] Any law providing for the repeal or amendment of any law or laws heretofore or hereafter enacted, which provides that any railroad company now existing in this State or operating its road therein, or which may be hereafter organized, shall, in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon their real estate, roads, rolling stock, and other personal property, at and during the time and periods therein specified, pay into the treasury of this State a certain percentage therein mentioned of the gross earnings of such railroad companies now existing or hereafter organized, shall, before the same shall take effect or be in force, be submitted to a vote of the people of the State, and be adopted and ratified by a majority of the electors of the State voting at the election at which the same shall be submitted to them.

Internal improvement lands—investment of proceeds in bonds. SEC. 32. [b] All lands donated to the State of Minnesota for the purpose of internal improvement, under the eighth section of the act of Congress, approved September fourth, eighteen hundred and forty-one, being "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sale of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights," shall be appraised and sold, in the same manner and by the same officers, and the minimum price shall be the same as is provided by law for the appraisal and sale of the school lands, under the provisions of title one (1), chapter thirty-eight, of the General Statutes, except the modifications hereinafter mentioned. All moneys derived from the sales of said lands shall be invested in the bonds of the United States, or of the State of Minnesota issued since 1860; and the moneys so invested shall constitute the Internal Improvement Land Fund of the State. All moneys received by the county treasurer under the provisions of title one (1), chapter thirty-eight (38), aforesaid, derived from the sale of internal improvement lands, shall be held at all times subject to the order and direction of the state treasurer, for the benefit of the fund to which it belongs; and on the fifteenth day of June in each year, and at such other times as he may be requested so to do by the state treasurer, he shall pay over to the said state treasurer all moneys received on account of such fund.

The bonds purchased in accordance with this amendment shall be transferable only upon the order of the governor, and on each bond shall be written "Minnesota Internal Improvement Land Fund of the State, transferable only on the order of the governor."

Principal not to be reduced. The principal sum from all sales of internal improvement lands shall not be reduced by any charges or costs of officers, by fees, or by any other means whatever; and section fifty (50), of title one (1), chapter thirty-eight (38), of the General Statutes, shall not be applicable to the provisions of this amendment, and wherever the words "school lands" are used in said title, it shall read as applicable to this amendment, "Internal Improvement Lands."

Appropriations therefrom to be voted upon before valid. The moneys belonging to the Internal Improvement Land Fund shall not be appropriated for any purpose whatever until the enactment for that purpose shall have been approved by a majority of the electors of the State voting at the annual general election following the passage of the act. (a)

The force of this amendment shall be to authorize the sale of the internal improvement lands, without further legislative enactment.

Against special legislation. SEC. 33. In all cases when a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted; and whether a general law could have been made applicable in any case is hereby declared a judicial question, and as such shall be judicially determined without regard to any legislative assertion on that subject. The legislature shall pass no local or special law regulating the affairs of, or incorporating, erecting or changing the lines of, any county, city, village, township, ward or school district, or creating the offices, or prescribing the powers and duties of the officers of, or fixing or relating to the compensation, salary or fees of the same, or the mode of election or appointment thereto, authorizing the laying out, opening, altering, vacating or maintaining roads, highways, streets or alleys; remitting fines, penalties or forfeitures; regulating the powers, duties and practice of justices of the peace, magistrates and constables; changing the names of persons, places, lakes or rivers; for opening and conducting of elections, or fixing or changing the places of voting; authorizing the adoption or legitimation of children; changing the law of descent or succession; conferring rights upon minors; declaring any named person of age; giving effect to informal or invalid wills or deeds, or affecting the estates of minors or persons under disability; locating or changing county seats; regulating the management of public schools, the building or repairing of schoolhouses, and the raising of money for such purposes; exempting property from taxation, or regulating the rate of interest on money; creating corporations, or amending, renewing, extending or explaining the charters thereof; granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever, or authorizing public taxation for a private purpose. Provided, however, That the inhibitions of local or special laws in this section shall not be construed to prevent the passage of general laws on any of the subjects enumerated.

Repeal of existing special laws. The legislature may repeal any existing special or local law, but shall not amend, extend or modify any of the same.

Refers to amendment of 1881, superseded as above. SEC. 34. The legislature shall provide general laws for the transaction of any business that may be prohibited by section one (1) of this amendment, and all such laws shall be uniform in their operation throughout the State.

Against combinations or pools to affect markets. SEC. 35. Any combinations of persons, either as individuals or as members or officers of any corporation, to monopolize the markets for food products in this State, or to interfere with, or restrict the freedom of, such markets, is hereby declared to be a criminal conspiracy, and shall be punished in such manner as the legislature may provide.

City or village may frame its own charter—charter to be submitted to voters. SEC. 36. Any city or village in this State may frame a charter for its own government as a city consistent with and subject to the laws of this State, as follows: The legislature shall provide, under such restrictions as it deems proper, for a board of fifteen freeholders, who shall be and for the past five years shall have been qualified voters thereof, to be appointed by the district judges of the judicial district in which the city or village is situated, as the legislature may determine, for a term in no event to exceed six years, which board shall, within six months after its appointment, return to the chief magistrate of said city or village draft of said charter, signed by the members of said board, or a majority thereof. Such charter shall be submitted to the qualified voters of such city or village at the next election thereafter, and if four-sevenths of the qualified voters voting at such election shall ratify the same it shall, at the end of thirty days thereafter, become the charter of such city or village as a city, and supersede any existing charter and amendments thereof; provided, that in cities having patrol limits now established, such charters shall require a three-fourths majority vote of the qualified voters voting at such election to change the patrol limits now established.

(a) By chapter 71, G. L. of 1881, extra session, the proceeds of this fund were pledged to the payment of Minnesota State Railroad adjustment bonds, and the law was voted upon and approved at the general election of 1884, by 31,011 votes in favor and 13,589 votes against.

Legislature to prescribe general limits of charter—amendment of charter—upon application of 5 per cent of legal voters. Before any city shall incorporate under this act the legislature shall prescribe by law the general limits within which such charter shall be framed. Duplicate certificates shall be made setting forth the charter proposed and its ratification, which shall be signed by the chief magistrate of said city or village and authenticated by its corporate seal. One of said certificates shall be deposited in the office of secretary of state, and the other, after being recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county in which such city or village lies, shall be deposited among the archives of such city or village, and all courts shall take judicial notice thereof. Such charter so deposited may be amended by proposal therefor made by a board of fifteen commissioners aforesaid, published for at least thirty days in three newspapers of general circulation in such city or village, and accepted by three-fifths of the qualified voters of such city or village voting at the next election, and not otherwise, but such charter shall always be in harmony with and subject to the Constitution and laws of the State of Minnesota. The legislature may prescribe the duties of the commission relative to submitting amendments of charter to the vote of the people and shall provide that upon application of five per cent of the legal voters of any such city or village, by written petition, such commission shall submit to the vote of the people proposed amendments to such charter set forth in said petition. The board of freeholders above provided for shall be permanent, and all the vacancies by death, disability to perform duties, resignation or removal from the corporate limits, or expiration of term of office, shall be filled by appointment in the same manner as the original board was created, and said board shall always contain its full complement of members.

Mayor and legislative body. It shall be a feature of all such charters that there shall be provided, among other things, for a mayor or chief magistrate, and a legislative body of either one or two houses; if of two houses, at least one of them shall be elected by general vote of the electors.

Articles of amendment may be submitted separately. In submitting any such charter or amendment thereto to the qualified voters of such city or village, any alternate section or article may be presented for the choice of the voters, and may be voted on separately without prejudice to other articles or sections of the charter or any amendments thereto.

General laws for cities by divisions of population. The legislature may provide general laws relating to affairs of cities, the application of which may be limited to cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, or to cities of fifty and not less than twenty thousand inhabitants, or to cities of twenty and not less than ten thousand inhabitants, or to cities of ten thousand inhabitants or less, which shall apply equally to all such cities of either class, and which shall be paramount while in force to the provisions relating to the same matter included in the local charter herein provided for. But no local charter, provision or ordinance passed thereunder shall supersede any general law of the State defining or punishing crimes or misdemeanors.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Officers in executive department. SECTION 1. The executive department shall consist of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general, who shall be chosen by the electors of the State. (a)

Election returns to be sent to secretary of state. SEC. 2. The returns of every election for the officers named in the foregoing section shall be made to the secretary of state, who shall call to his assistance two or more of the judges of the supreme court, and two disinterested judges of the district courts of the State, who shall constitute a board of canvassers, who shall open and canvass said returns and declare the result within three days after such canvass.

Official term of governor and lieutenant governor — qualifications. SEC. 3. The term of office for the governor and lieutenant governor shall be two years, and until their successors are chosen and qualified. Each shall have attained the age of twenty-five (25) years, and shall have been a bona fide resident of the State for one year next preceding his election. Both shall be citizens of the United States.

Powers and duties of governor. SEC. 4. The governor shall communicate by message to each session of the legislature such information touching the state and condition of the country as he may deem expedient. He shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces, and may call out such forces to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion. He may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power, in conjunction with the board of pardons, of which the governor shall be ex officio a member, and the other members of which shall consist of the attorney general of the State of Minnesota and the chief justice of the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, and whose powers and duties shall be defined and regulated by law, to grant reprieves and pardons after conviction for offenses against the State, except in cases of impeachment. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint a state librarian and notaries public, and such other officers as may be provided by law. He shall have power to appoint commissioners to take the acknowledgment of deeds or other instruments in writing, to be used in the State. He shall have a negative upon all laws passed by the legislature, under such rules and limitations as are in this Constitution prescribed. He may on extraordinary occasions convene both houses of the legislature. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, fill any vacancy that may occur in the office of secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, and such other state and district offices as may be hereafter created by law, until the next annual election, and until their successors are chosen and qualified.

Official term of other executive officers. SEC. 5. The official term of the secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general shall be two (2) years. The official term of the state auditor shall be four (4) years, and each shall continue in office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. The further duties and salaries of said executive officers shall each be prescribed by law.

(a) An executive officer of the state is not subject to the control or interference of the judiciary in the performance of duties belonging to him as an executive officer, and no act done, or threatened to be done, by him in his official capacity can be brought under judicial control or interference by mandamus or injunction, even when the act is purely ministerial. 29 Minn. 555.

Duties of lieutenant governor. SEC. 6. The lieutenant governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate; and in case a vacancy should occur, from any cause whatever, in the office of governor, he shall be governor during such vacancy. The compensation of lieutenant governor shall be double the compensation of a state senator. Before the close of each session of the Senate they shall elect a president pro tempore, who shall be lieutenant governor in case a vacancy should occur in that office.

Official terms of first State officers—(Obsolete). SEC. 7. The term of each of the executive officers named in this article shall commence on taking the oath of office on or after the first day of May, 1858, and continue until the first Monday of January, 1860, except the auditor, who shall continue in office till the first Monday in January, 1861; and until their successors shall have been duly elected and qualified; and the same above mentioned time for qualification and entry upon the duties of their respective offices shall extend and apply to all other officers elected under the State Constitution, who have not already taken the oath of office, and commenced the performance of their official duties.

Oath of office to be taken by State officers. SEC. 8. Each officer created by this article shall, before entering upon his duties, take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and faithfully discharge the duties of his office to the best of his judgment and ability.

(Obsolete). SEC. 9. Laws shall be passed at the first session of the legislature after the State is admitted into the Union to carry out the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIARY.

Judicial powers. SECTION 1. The judicial power of the State shall be vested in the supreme court, district courts, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts, inferior to the supreme court, as the legislature may from time to time establish by a two-thirds vote.

Supreme court—jurisdiction and powers—reporter of decisions—clerk of supreme court. SEC. 2. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and six associate justices. It shall have original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity, but there shall be no trial by jury in said court. It shall hold one or more terms in each year, as the legislature may direct, at the seat of government, and the legislature may provide, by a two-thirds vote, that one term in each year shall be held in each or any judicial district. It shall be the duty of such court to appoint a reporter of its decisions. There shall be chosen, by the qualified electors of the state, one clerk of the supreme court, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified; and the judges of the supreme court, or a majority of them, shall have the power to fill any vacancy in the office of clerk of the supreme court until an election can be regularly had.

Election and term of office for judges. SEC. 3. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the State at large, and their term of office shall be six years, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

District judges may act where supreme judges are disqualified. Whenever all or a majority of the judges of the supreme court shall, from any cause, be disqualified from sitting in any case in said court, the governor, or, if he shall be interested in the result of such case, then the lieutenant governor, shall assign judges of the district court of the State, who shall sit in such case in place of such disqualified judges, with all the powers and duties of judges of the supreme court.

The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and four associate justices. G. L. 1881, ch. 141.

*Adopted November 4, 1930.

Judicial districts for district courts—election of judges—term of office and residence. SEC. 4. The State shall be divided by the legislature into judicial districts, which shall be composed of contiguous territory, be bounded by county lines, and contain a population as nearly equal as may be practicable. In each judicial district, one or more judges, as the legislature may prescribe, shall be elected by the electors thereof, whose term of office shall be six years, and each of said judges shall severally have and exercise the powers of the court, under such limitations as may be prescribed by law. Every district judge shall, at the time of his election, be a resident of the district for which he shall be elected, and shall reside therein during his continuance in office. In case any court of common pleas heretofore established shall be abolished, the judge of said court may be constituted by the legislature one of the judges of the district court of the district wherein such court has been so established for a period not exceeding the unexpired term for which he was elected.

Jurisdiction of district courts. SEC. 5. The district courts shall have original jurisdiction in all civil cases, both in law and equity, where the amount in controversy exceeds one hundred dollars, and in all criminal cases where the punishment shall exceed three months' imprisonment or a fine of more than one hundred dollars, and shall have such appellate jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. The legislature may provide by law that the judge of one district may discharge the duties of judge of any other district not his own, when convenience or the public interest may require it.

Qualifications. SEC. 6. The judges of the supreme and district courts shall be men learned in the law, and shall receive such compensation at stated times as may be prescribed by the legislature; which compensation shall not be diminished during their continuance in office, but they shall receive no other fee or reward for their services.

Probate court—judges to be elected—jurisdiction. SEC. 7. There shall be established in each organized county in the State a probate court, which shall be a court of record, and be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by law. It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of *four years. He shall be a resident of such county at the time of his election, and reside therein during his continuance in office; and his compensation shall be provided by law. He may appoint his own clerk where none has been elected; but the legislature may authorize the election, by the electors of any county, of one clerk or register of probate for such county, whose powers, duties, term of office and compensation shall be prescribed by law. A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction, except as prescribed by this Constitution.

Justices of the peace to be elected—jurisdiction. SEC. 8. The legislature shall provide for the election of a sufficient number of justices of the peace in each county, whose term of office shall be two years, and whose duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. Provided, That no justice of the peace shall have jurisdiction of any civil cause where the amount in controversy shall exceed one hundred dollars, nor in a criminal cause where the punishment shall exceed three months' imprisonment, or a fine over one hundred dollars, nor in any cause involving the title to real estate.

Judges for other courts to be elected. SEC. 9. All judges other than those provided for in this Constitution shall be elected by the electors of the judicial district, county, or city, for which they shall be created, not for a longer term than seven years.

*Amendment adopted Nov. 2, 1920, extended to four years from two years.

Vacancies—appointment by governor. SEC. 10. In case the office of any judge become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the governor, until a successor is elected and qualified. And such successor shall be elected at the first annual election that occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy shall have happened.

Prohibition, supreme or district judges to hold other offices or to be voted for office while in office. SEC. 11. The justices of the supreme court and the district courts shall hold no office under the United States, nor any other office under this State. And all votes for either of them for any elective office under this Constitution, except a judicial office given by the legislature or the people, during their continuance in office, shall be void.

Change of judicial districts. SEC. 12. The legislature may at any time change the number of judicial districts or their boundaries, when it shall be deemed expedient; but no such change shall vacate the office of any judge.

Clerk of court. SEC. 13. There shall be elected in each county where a district court shall be held, one clerk of said court, whose qualifications, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law, and whose term of office shall be four years.

Legal pleadings. SEC. 14. Legal pleadings and proceedings in the courts of this State shall be under the direction of the legislature. The style of all process shall be, "The State of Minnesota," and all indictments shall conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the State of Minnesota."

Court commissioner—powers and jurisdiction. SEC. 15. The legislature may provide for the election of one person in each organized county in this State, to be called a court commissioner, with judicial power and jurisdiction not exceeding the power and jurisdiction of a judge of the district court at chambers: or the legislature may, instead of such election, confer such power and jurisdiction upon the judges of probate in the State.

ARTICLE VII.

ELECTIVE FRANCHISE.

Elective franchise. SECTION 1. What persons are entitled to vote:

Residence required. Every male* person of the age of twenty-one (21) years or upwards belonging to either of the following classes who has resided in this State six (6) months next preceding any election shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time have been for thirty (30) days a resident, for all officers that now are, or hereafter may be, elective by the people.

Citizens of the United States. First—Citizens of the United States who have been such for the period of three (3) months next preceding any election.

Mixed Indians. Second—Persons of mixed white and Indian blood who have adopted the customs and habits of civilization.

Pure Indians having adopted habits of civilization. Third—Persons of Indian blood residing in this State, who have adopted the language, customs and habits of civilization, after an examination before any district court of the State, in such manner as may be provided by law, and shall have been pronounced by said court capable of enjoying the rights of citizenship within the State.

Non-eligible. SEC. 2. No person not belonging to one of the classes specified in the preceding section; no person who has been convicted of treason or any felony, unless restored to civil rights; and no person under guardianship, or who may be non compos mentis or insane, shall be entitled or permitted to vote at any election in this State.

Residence not lost in certain cases. SEC. 3. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have lost a residence by reason of his absence while employed in the service of the United States; nor while engaged upon the waters of this State or of the United States; nor while a student in any seminary of learning; nor while kept at any almshouse or asylum; nor while confined in any public prison.

Soldiers and sailors—restriction. SEC. 4. No sailor, seaman or marine in the army or navy of the United States shall be deemed a resident of this State in consequence of being stationed within the same.

Civil process suspended on election day. SEC. 5. During the day on which any election shall be held, no person shall be arrested by virtue of any civil process.

Elections by ballots. SEC. 6. All elections shall be by ballot, except for such town officers as may be directed by law to be otherwise chosen.

Right to hold office. SEC. 7. Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and law of the United States. (a)

Women may vote (Obsolete). SEC. 8. Women may vote for school officers and members of library boards, and shall be eligible to hold any office pertaining to the management of schools or libraries.

Any woman of the age of twenty-one (21) years and upward and possessing qualifications requisite to a male voter may vote at any election held for the purpose of choosing any officer of schools or any members of library boards, or upon any measure relating to schools or libraries, and shall be eligible to hold any office pertaining to the management of schools and libraries.

Official year of the State. SEC. 9. The official year for the State of Minnesota shall commence on the first Monday in January in each year, and all terms of office shall terminate at that time; and the general election shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The first general election for State and county officers, except judicial officers, after the adoption of this amendment, shall be held in the year A. D. one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four (1884), and thereafter the general election shall be held biennially. All state, county or other officers elected at any general election, whose terms of office would otherwise expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six (1886), shall hold and continue in such offices, respectively, until the first Monday in January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (1887).

ARTICLE VIII.

SCHOOL FUNDS, EDUCATION AND SCIENCE.

Uniform system of public schools. SECTION 1. The stability of a republican form of government depending mainly upon the intelligence of the people, it shall be the duty of the legislature to establish a general and uniform system of public schools. (b)

Proceeds of school lands to be a perpetual fund. SEC. 2. The proceeds of such lands as are or hereafter may be granted by the United States for the use of schools within each township of this State shall remain a perpetual school fund to the State; and not more than one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$) of said lands may be sold in two (2) years, one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$) in five (5) years, and one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$) in ten (10) years; but the lands of the greatest valuation shall be sold first; provided, that no portion of said lands shall be sold otherwise than at public sale. The principal of all funds arising from sales or other disposition of lands or other property, granted or entrusted to this State in each township for educational purposes, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished; and the income arising from the lease or sale of said school land shall be distributed to the different townships throughout the State, in proportion to the number of scholars in each township, between the ages of five and twenty-one years; and shall be faithfully applied to the specific objects of the original grants or appropriations.

(a) Held restrictive and to disqualify a person from holding an elective office who was not eligible at the date of his election, though eligible at the beginning of the term. 4^c Minn. 309.

(b) Article 8, section 1, which directs the establishment of a general and uniform system of public schools, does not prohibit the legislature from providing public schools other than those included in the general system, or creating exceptional districts, to meet particular and exceptional cases; and the exception from the operation of a general law relating to public schools of independent school districts, and schools specially provided for, does not violate the constitutional provision. 25 Minn. 1.

*A revolving fund of not over two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) may be set apart from the fund derived from the sale of school and swamp lands, to be used in constructing roads, ditches and fire breaks in, through and around unsold school and swamp lands and in clearing such lands, such fund to be replenished as long as needed from the enhanced value realized from the sale of such lands so benefited.

Investment of funds. Suitable laws shall be enacted by the legislature for the safe investment of the principal of all funds which have heretofore arisen or which may hereafter arise from the sale or other disposition of such lands, or the income from such lands accruing in any way before the sale or disposition thereof, in interest-bearing bonds of the United States, or of the State of Minnesota, issued after the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty (1860), or of such other state as the legislature may, by law, from time to time direct.

Swamp lands—division of proceeds. All swamp lands now held by the State, or that may hereafter accrue to the State, shall be appraised and sold in the same manner and by the same officers, and the minimum price shall be the same less one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$), as is provided by law for the appraisal and sale of the school lands under the provisions of title one (1) of chapter thirty-eight (38) of the General Statutes. The principal of all funds derived from sales of swamp lands, as aforesaid, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished. One-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of the proceeds of said principal shall be appropriated to the common school fund of the State. The remaining one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) shall be appropriated to the educational and charitable institutions of the State in the relative ratio of cost to support said institutions.

Public schools in each township to be established. SEC. 3. The legislature shall make such provisions, by taxation or otherwise, as, with the income arising from the school fund, will secure a thorough and efficient system of public schools in each township in the State.

Prohibition as to aiding sectarian school. But in no case shall the moneys derived as aforesaid, or any portion thereof, or any public moneys or property, be appropriated or used for the support of schools wherein the distinctive doctrines, creeds or tenets of any particular Christian or other religious sect are promulgated or taught.

University of Minnesota—location confirmed. SEC. 4. The location of the University of Minnesota, as established by existing laws, is hereby confirmed, and said institution is hereby declared to be the University of the State of Minnesota. All the rights, immunities, franchises and endowments heretofore granted or conferred are hereby perpetuated unto the said university; and all lands which may be granted hereafter by Congress, or other donations for said university purposes, shall vest in the institution referred to in this section.

Permanent school funds may be loaned to districts or counties for school purposes. SEC. 5. The permanent school funds of the State may be loaned upon interest at the rate of five (5) per cent per annum to the several counties or school districts of the State, to be used in the erection of county or school buildings. No such loan shall be made until approved by a board consisting of the governor, the state auditor and the state treasurer, who are hereby constituted an investment board for the purpose of the loans hereby authorized; nor shall any such loan be for an amount exceeding three (3) per cent of the last preceding assessed valuation of the real estate of the county or school district receiving the same. The state auditor shall annually, at the time of certifying the state tax to the several county auditors, also certify to each auditor to whose county, or to any of the school districts of whose county, any such loan shall have been made, the tax necessary to be levied to meet the accruing interest or principal of any such loan, and it shall be the duty of every such county auditor forthwith to levy and extend such tax upon all the taxable property of his county, or of the several school districts, respectively, liable for such loans—as the case may be—and in all such cases the tax so assessed shall be fifty (50) per cent in excess of the amount actually necessary to be raised on account of such accruing principal or interest. It shall be levied, collected and paid into the county and state treasuries in the same manner as state taxes, and any excess collected over the amount of such principal or interest accruing in any given year shall be credited to the general funds of the respective counties or school districts. No change of the boundaries of any school district after the making of any such loan shall operate to withdraw any property from the taxation herein provided for; nor shall any law be passed extending the time of payment of any such principal or interest, or reducing the rate of such interest, or in any manner waiving or impairing any rights of the State in connection with any such loan. Suitable laws, not inconsistent with this amendment, may be passed by the legislature for the purpose of carrying the same into effect. (a)

Investment of permanent school and university funds — approval — bonded indebtedness not to exceed 15 per cent, draw not less than 3 per cent, run not less than 5 nor more than 20 years. *Sec. 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, and in first mortgage loans secured upon improved and cultivated farm lands of this state. But no such investment or loan shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall any farm loan or investment be made when such investment or loan would exceed 30 per cent of the actual cash value of the farm land mortgage to secure said investment, nor shall such investments or loans be made at a lower rate of interest than 3 per cent per annum, nor for a shorter period than five years, nor for a longer period than thirty years, and no change of the town, school district, city, village or of county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

*Sec. 7. Such of the school and other public lands of the state as are better adapted for the production of timber than for agriculture, may be set apart as state school forests, or other state forests, as the legislature may provide, and the legislature may provide for the management of the same on forestry principles. The net revenue therefrom shall be used for the purposes for which the lands were granted to the State.

Sec. 8. Any of the public lands of the state, including lands held in trust for any purpose, may, with the unanimous approval of a commission consisting of the governor, the attorney general and the state auditor, be exchanged for lands of the United States and/or privately owned lands in such manner as the legislature may provide, and the lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust, if any, to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject, and the state shall reserve all mineral and water power rights in lands so transferred by the state.

ARTICLE IX.

FINANCES OF THE STATE AND BANKS AND BANKING.

Power of taxation—legislature may authorize. SECTION 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, and household goods and farm machinery, as the legislature may determine: Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads.

Occupation tax. *SEC. 1A. Every person, co-partnership, company, joint stock company, corporation, or association however or for whatever purpose organized, engaged in the business of mining or producing iron ore or other ores in this State, shall pay to the State of Minnesota an occupation tax on the valuation of all ores mined or produced, which tax shall be in addition to all other taxes provided by law, said tax to be due and payable from such person, co-partnership, company, joint stock company, corporation, or association however or for whatever purpose organized, on May first of the calendar year next following the mining or producing thereof. The valuation of ore for the purpose of determining the amount of tax to be paid shall be ascertained in the manner and method provided by law. Funds derived from the tax herein provided for shall be apportioned: fifty per cent to the State General Revenue Fund, forty per cent to the Permanent School Fund and ten per cent to the Permanent University Fund. The Legislature shall by law make the necessary provisions for carrying out the provisions of this section.

N. B.—Sections 2, 3 and 4 obsolete, because in 1906 there was adopted the section which now is Section 1 in this article. It supplanted Sections 1, 2, 3 and 4 and the unnumbered section of 1896. This amendment is sometimes called the wide open tax amendment. No amendments have been adopted to take the place of the old Sections 2, 3 and 4. There is therefore a gap in the numbering from 1 to 5.

State debt limited—how contracted. SEC. 5. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts, but such debts shall never, in the aggregate, exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single object, to be distinctly specified therein; and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature, to be recorded by yeas and nays on the journals of each house respectively; and every such law shall levy a tax annually sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and also a tax sufficient to pay the principal of such debt within ten years from the final passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation and taxes shall not be repealed, postponed, or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid. The state shall never contract any debts for works of internal improvements, or to be a party in carrying on such works, except as authorized by Section 16 of Article 9, and by Article 16 of this Constitution, but it may levy an excise tax upon any substance, material, fluid, force or other means or instrumentality, or the business of dealing in, selling or producing any or all thereof, used or useful, in producing or generating power for propelling motor or other vehicles used on the public highways of this State, and shall place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the Trunk Highway Fund provided for in Section 2 of said Article 16, and one-third thereof in the State Road and Bridge Fund, and further except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the State, especially dedicated by the grant to specific purposes, and in such cases the state shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate for revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion.

Issue of bonds for created debt. SEC. 6. All debts authorized by the preceding section shall be contracted by loan on State bonds of amounts not less than five hundred dollars each on interest, payable within ten years after the final passage of the law authorizing such debt; and such bonds shall not be sold by the State under par. A correct registry of all such bonds shall be kept by the treasurer, in numerical order, so as always to exhibit the number and amount unpaid and to whom severally made payable.

Limitation as to when debt may be contracted. SEC. 7. The State shall never contract any public debt, unless in time of war, to repel invasion or suppress insurrection, except in the cases and in the manner provided in the fifth and sixth sections of this article.

Disposition of funds received for bonds. SEC. 8. The money arising from any loan made, or debt or liability contracted, shall be applied to the object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or to the repayment of such debt or liability, and to no other purpose whatever.

Money drawn from the State treasury. SEC. 9. No money shall ever be paid out of the treasury of this State except in pursuance of an appropriation by law.

Credit of the State limited. SEC. 10. The Credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation, except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated "Minnesota State Railroad Bonds," under what purports to be an amendment to Section ten (10) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution, adopted April 15th, 1858, which is hereby expunged from the Constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the State, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment. Provided*, however that for the purpose of developing the agricultural resources of the state, the State may establish and maintain a system of rural credits and thereby loan money and extend credit to the people of the State upon real estate security in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by law, and to issue and negotiate bonds to provide money to be so loaned. The limit of indebtedness contained in Section 5 of this Article shall not apply to the provisions of this Section, and the purposes for which the credit of the State or the aforesaid municipal subdivisions thereof may be given or loaned as herein provided are declared to be public purposes.

Publication of receipts and expenditures by treasurer. SEC. 11. There shall be published by the treasurer, in at least one newspaper printed at the seat of government, during the first week in January in each year, and in the next volume of the acts of legislature, detailed statements of all moneys drawn from the treasury during the preceding year, for what purpose and to whom paid, and by what law authorized; and also of all moneys received, and by what authority and from whom.

State school fund—investment—safe keeping—All State funds to be deposited in name of State. SEC. 12. Suitable laws shall be passed by the legislature for the safe keeping, transfer and disbursements of the State and school funds; and all officers and other persons charged with the same or any part of the same, or the safe keeping thereof, shall be required to give ample security for all moneys and funds of any kind received by them; to make forthwith and keep an accurate entry of each sum received, and of each payment and transfer; and if any of said officers or other persons shall convert to his own use in any manner or form, or shall loan, with or without interest, or shall deposit in his own name, or otherwise than in the name of the State of Minnesota; or shall deposit in banks or with any person or persons, or exchange for other funds or property, any portion of the funds of the State or the school funds aforesaid, except in the manner prescribed by law, every such act shall be and constitute an embezzlement of so much of the aforesaid State and school funds, or either of the same, as shall thus be taken, or loaned, or deposited or exchanged, and shall be a felony; and any failure to pay over, produce or account for the State school funds, or any part of the same entrusted to such officer or persons as by law required on demand, shall be held and be taken to be prima facie evidence of such embezzlement.

General banking law—provision and restrictions. SEC. 13. The legislature may, by a two-thirds vote, pass a general banking law, with the following restrictions and requirements, viz.:

First—The legislature shall have no power to pass any law sanctioning in any manner, directly, or indirectly, the suspension of specie payments by any person, association or corporation issuing bank notes of any description.

Second—The legislature shall provide by law for the registry of all bills or notes issued or put in circulation as money, and shall require ample security in United States stock or State stocks for the redemption of the same in specie; and in case of a depreciation of said stocks, or any part thereof, to the amount of ten per cent or more on the dollar, the bank or banks owning said stocks shall be required to make up said deficiency by additional stocks.

Third—The stockholders in any corporation and joint association for banking purposes, issuing bank notes, shall be individually liable in an amount equal to double the amount of stock owned by them for all the debts of such corporation or association; and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer or sale of stock by any stockholder or stockholders.

Fourth—In case of the insolvency of any bank or banking association, the bill holders thereof shall be entitled to preference in payment over all other creditors of such bank or association.

Fifth—Any general banking law which may be passed in accordance with this Article shall provide for recording the names of all stockholders in such corporation, the amount of stock held by each, the time of transfer, and to whom transferred.

Special provision for a loan for hospital building for insane. SEC. 14. (a) For the purpose of erecting and completing buildings for a hospital for the insane, a deaf, dumb and blind asylum, the state prison, the legislature may by law increase the public debt of the State to an amount not exceeding $250,000, in addition to the public debt already heretofore authorized by the Constitution; and for that purpose may provide by law for issuing and negotiating the bonds of the State, and appropriate the money only for the purpose aforesaid; which bonds shall be payable in not less than ten nor more than thirty years from the date of the same, at the option of the State.

Superseded by section 15 but not repealed in express terms. SEC. 14. (b) The legislature shall not authorize any county, township, city, or other municipal corporation to issue bonds or to become indebted in any manner to aid in the construction or equipment of any or all railroads to any amount that shall exceed ten per centum of the value of the taxable property within such county, township, city, or other municipal corporation; the amount of such taxable property to be ascertained and determined by the last assessment of said property made for the purpose of State and county taxation previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.*

*Adopted Nov. 5, 1872.

County, city or township aid to railroads limited. SEC. 15. The legislature shall not authorize any county, township, city, or other municipal corporation to issue bonds, or to become indebted in any manner, to aid in the construction or equipment of any or all railroads to any amount that shall exceed five (5) per centum of the value of the taxable property within such county, township, city, or other municipal corporation. The amount of such taxable property to be ascertained, and determined by the last assessment of said property made, for the purpose of state and county taxation, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.*

State Road and Bridge Fund. SEC. 16. For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund, to be known as the "State road and bridge fund," said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any State road and bridge fund however provided.

The legislature is authorized to add to such fund, for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this State, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this State of not to exceed in any one year one mill on all the taxable property within the State. Provided, that no county shall receive in any year more than three (3) per cent, or less than one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of one (1) per cent of the total fund thus provided and expended during such year.

ARTICLE X.

OF CORPORATIONS HAVING NO BANKING PRIVILEGES.

Corporation for general purposes. SECTION 1. The term "Corporation," as used in this Article, shall be construed to include all associations and joint stock companies having any of the powers and privileges not possessed by individuals or partnerships, except such as embrace banking privileges and all corporations shall have the right to sue, and shall be liable to be sued in all courts, in like manner as natural persons.

Not to be created by special act. SEC. 2. No corporations shall be formed under special acts, except for municipal purposes.

Liability of Stockholders. SEC. 3. The legislature shall have power from time to time to provide for, limit and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and co-operative corporations or associations, however organized. Provided every stockholder in a banking or trust corporation or association shall be individually liable in an amount equal to the amount of stock owned by him for all debts of such corporation contracted prior to any transfer of such stock and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer of such stock and the entry thereof on the books of the corporation or association.

Lands may be taken for public use. SEC. 4. Lands may be taken for public way, for the purpose of granting to any corporation the franchise of way for public use. In all cases, however, a fair and equitable compensation shall be paid for such land, and the damages arising from the taking of the same; but all corporations being common carriers enjoying the right of way in pursuance of the provisions of this section, shall be bound to carry the mineral, agricultural and other productions of manufacturers on equal and reasonable terms.

ARTICLE XI.

COUNTIES AND TOWNSHIPS.

County organization. SECTION 1. The legislature may from time to time establish and organize new counties; but no new county shall contain less than four hundred square miles; nor shall any county be reduced below that amount; and all laws changing county lines in counties already organized, or for removing county seats, shall, before taking effect, be submitted to the electors of the county or counties to be affected thereby, at the next general election after the passage thereof, and be adopted by a majority of such electors. Counties now established may be enlarged, but not reduced below four hundred (400) square miles.

Cities of 20,000 population may be organized into separate counties. SEC. 2. The legislature may organize any city into a separate county, when it has attained a population of 20,000 inhabitants, without reference to geographical extent, when a majority of the electors of the county in which such city may be situated, voting thereon, shall be in favor of a separate organization.

Township organization. SEC. 3. Laws may be passed providing for the organization for municipal and other town purposes, of any congressional or fractional townships in the several counties in the State, provided that when a township is divided by county lines or does not contain one hundred inhabitants, it may be attached to one or more adjoining townships or parts of townships for the purposes aforesaid.

Election of county and town officers. SEC. 4. Provisions shall be made by law for the election of such county or township officers as may be necessary.

Local taxation may be authorized. SEC. 5. Any county and township organization shall have such powers of local taxation as may be prescribed by law.

Money drawn from county or town treasuries. SEC. 6. No money shall be drawn from any county or township treasury except by authority of law.

County of Manomin abolished. SEC. 7. That the county of Manomin is hereby abolished, and that the territory heretofore comprising the same shall constitute and be a part of the county of Anoka.*

ARTICLE XII.

OF THE MILITIA.

Militia organization. SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the legislature to pass such laws for the organization, discipline and service of the militia of the State as may be deemed necessary.

ARTICLE XIII.

IMPEACHMENT AND REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

Impeachment and removal from office. SECTION 1. The governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, and the judges of the supreme and district courts, may be impeached for corrupt conduct in office, or for crimes and misdemeanors; but judgment in such case shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit in this State. The party convicted thereof shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SEC. 2. The legislature of this State may provide for the removal of inferior officers from office, for malfeasance or nonfeasance in the performance of their duties.

SEC. 3. No officer shall exercise the duties of his office after he shall have been impeached and before his acquittal.

SEC. 4. On the trial of an impeachment against the governor, the lieutenant governor shall not act as a member of the court.

SEC. 5. No person shall be tried on impeachment before he shall have been served with a copy thereof at least twenty days previous to the day set for trial.

*Adopted Nov. 2, 1869.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Amendments to constitution—majority vote of electors voting makes amendment valid. SECTION 1. Whenever a majority of both houses of the legislature shall deem it necessary to alter or amend this Constitution, they may propose such alterations or amendments, which proposed amendments shall be published with the laws which have been passed at the same session, and said amendments shall be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at any general election, and if it shall appear, in a manner to be provided by law, that a majority of all the electors voting at said election shall have voted for and ratified such alterations or amendments, the same shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of this Constitution. If two or more alterations or amendments shall be submitted at the same time, it shall be so regulated that the voters shall vote for or against each separately.

Revision of constitution. SEC. 2. Whenever two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the legislature shall think it necessary to call a convention to revise this Constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote at the next general election for members of the legislature, for or against a convention; and if a majority of all the electors voting at said election shall have voted for a convention, the legislature shall, at their next session, provide by law for calling the same. The convention shall consist of as many members as the House of Representatives, who shall be chosen in the same manner, and shall meet within three months after their election for the purpose aforesaid.

ARTICLE XV.

MISCELLANEOUS SUBJECTS.

Seat of government. SECTION 1. The seat of government of the State shall be at the city of St. Paul, but the legislature, at their first or any future session, may provide by law for a change of the seat of government by a vote of the people, or may locate the same upon the land granted by Congress for a seat of government to the State; and in the event of the seat of government being removed from the city of St. Paul to any other place in the State, the capitol building and grounds shall be dedicated to an institution for the promotion of science, literature and the arts, to be organized by the legislature of the State, and of which institution the Minnesota Historical Society shall always be a department.

Residents on Indian lands. SEC. 2. Persons residing on Indian lands within the State shall enjoy all rights and privileges of citizens, as though they lived in any other portion of the State, and shall be subject to taxation.

Uniform oath at elections. SEC. 3. The legislature shall provide for a uniform oath or affirmation to be administered at elections, and no person shall be compelled to take any other or different form of oath to entitle him to vote.

State seal. SEC. 4. There shall be a seal of the State, which shall be kept by the secretary of state, and be used by him officially, and shall be called the great seal of the State of Minnesota, and shall be attached to all the official acts of the governor (his signature to acts and resolves of the legislature excepted) requiring authentication. The legislature shall provide for an appropriate device and motto for said seal.

State prison location. SEC. 5. The territorial prison, as located under existing laws, shall, after the adoption of this Constitution, be and remain one of the state prisons of the State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE XVI.*

TRUNK HIGHWAY SYSTEM.

SECTION 1.—There is hereby created and established a trunk highway system, which shall be located, constructed, reconstructed, improved and forever maintained as public highways, by the State of Minnesota. The said highways shall extend as nearly as may be along the following described routes, the more specific and definite location of which shall be fixed and determined by such boards, officers or tribunals, and in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, but in fixing such specific and definite routes there shall not be any deviation from the starting points or terminals set forth in this bill, nor shall there be any deviation in fixing such routes from the various villages and cities named herein, through which such routes are to pass.

Route No. 1.—Beginning at a point on the boundary line between the States of Minnesota and Iowa, southeasterly at Albert Lea and thence extending in a northwesterly direction to a point in Albert Lea and thence extending in a northerly direction to a point and on the southerly limits of the city of St. Paul and then beginning at a point on the northerly limits of the city of St. Paul and thence extending in a northerly direction to a point on the westerly limits of the city of Duluth and then beginning at a point on the northerly limits of the city of Duluth and thence extending in a northeasterly direction to a point on the boundary line between the State of Minnesota and the province of Ontario, affording Albert Lea, Owatonna, Faribault, Northfield, Farmington, St. Paul, White Bear, Forest Lake, Wyoming, Rush City, Pine City, Hinckley, Sandstone, Moose Lake, Carlton, Duluth, Two Harbors, Grand Marais and intervening and adjacent communities a reasonable means of communication, each with the other and other places within the State.

Additional Routes.—Whenever, either by reason of the creation of a new county, or by reason of the change of the county seat of any existing county, any city or village not a county seat at the time of the adoption of this amendment is lawfully constituted the county seat of any county, the legislature is authorized to add to the trunk highway system such additional routes connecting such newly constituted county seats with other county seats and other points in the state.

When after at least seventy-five (75) per cent of the total number of the miles of the routes embraced in the trunk highway system hereinbefore specified shall have been constructed and permanently improved, the legislature shall have authority to add new routes to such trunk highway system; provided, however, that no such new routes shall be added until and unless the funds available for the construction, improvement and maintenance of such additional routes shall be sufficient therefor in addition to the construction, improvement and maintenance of the several routes hereinbefore specifically described.

SECTION 2. There is hereby created a fund which shall be known as the trunk highway sinking fund. Said fund shall consist of the proceeds of any tax imposed on motor vehicles as herein authorized. The moneys in said fund shall be used for the payment of the principal and interest of any bonds which may be issued under the authority of this article; and any moneys in excess of such requirements shall be transferred to a fund which is hereby created and which shall be known as the trunk highway fund. The trunk highway fund shall be used solely for the purposes specified in section 1 of this article, and when duly authorized by legislative enactment to reimburse any county for the money expended by it subsequent to February 1st, 1919, in permanently improving any road hereinbefore specifically described, in accordance with plans and specifications therefore approved by the commissioner of highways.

† SECTION 3. The legislature is hereby authorized to provide, by law, for the taxation of motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways of this state, on a more onerous basis than other personal property; provided, however, that any such tax on motor vehicles shall be in lieu of all other taxes thereon, except wheelage taxes, so-called, which may be imposed by any borough, city or village, and except that the legislature may impose such tax upon motor vehicles of companies paying taxes under gross earnings system of taxation and upon the right to use such vehicles upon the public highways notwithstanding the fact that earnings from such vehicles may be included in the earnings of such companies upon which such gross earnings taxes are computed. Any such law may, in the discretion of the legislature, provide for the exemption from taxation of any motor vehicle owned by a nonresident of the state, and transiently or temporarily using the streets and highways of the state. The proceeds of such tax shall be paid in to said trunk highway sinking fund.

SECTION 4. The legislature may provide by law for the issue and sale of the bonds of the state in such amount as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of section 1 of this article, provided, however, that the amount of bonds which may be issued in any one calendar year shall not exceed, in the aggregate, ten million dollars, par value, and provided, further, the total amount of such bonds issued and unpaid shall not at any time exceed seventy-five million dollars, par value. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the state and credited to the trunk highway fund. Any bonds so issued and sold shall be for a term not exceeding twenty (20) years. They shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest and shall not bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum. In case the trunk highway sinking fund shall not be adequate to meet the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by the legislature as hereinbefore provided, the legislature may provide by law for the taxation of all taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may, in its discretion, appropriate to such sinking fund moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SECTION 5. Any and all provisions of the constitution of the state of Minnesota are hereby repealed, inconsistent with the provisions of this article, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized.

ARTICLE XVII.*

SECTION 1. The state and (or) any of its political subdivisions, if and whenever authorized by the legislature, may contract debts and pledge the public credit for and engage in any work reasonably tending to prevent or abate forest fires, including the compulsory clearing and improvement of wild lands (whether belonging to the public or privately owned) and the assessment against such lands of the value of all benefits so conferred and the payment of damages so sustained in excess of such benefits.

SEC. 2. Any and all provisions of the constitution of the state of Minnesota inconsistent with the provisions of this article, are hereby repealed, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized.

† Adopted Nov. 8, 1932.

* Adopted Nov. 4, 1924.

ARTICLE XVIII.*

SECTION 1. Laws may be enacted for the purpose of encouraging and promoting forestation and reforestation of lands in this state, whether owned by private persons or the public, including the fixing in advance of a definite and limited annual tax on such lands for a term of years and a yield tax at or after the end of such term upon the timber and other forest products so grown, but the taxation of mineral deposits shall not be affected by this amendment.

SEC. 2. Any and all provisions of the constitution of the state of Minnesota, inconsistent with the provisions of this article, are hereby repealed, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized.

SCHEDULE.

Territorial laws valid in change to State organization. SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of a change from a territorial to a permanent state government, it is declared that all rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, shall continue as if no change had taken place; and all process which may be issued under the authority of the Territory of Minnesota previous to its admission into the Union of the United States shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the State.

Territorial laws not repugnant to constitution to be in force. SEC. 2. All laws now in force in the Territory of Minnesota not repugnant to this Constitution shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitation, or be altered or repealed by the legislature.

SEC. 3. All fines, penalties or forfeitures accruing to the Territory of Minnesota shall inure to the State.

Civil rights under territorial government secured in the change to State government. SEC. 4. All recognizances heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the change from a territorial to a permanent state government shall remain valid, and shall pass to and may be prosecuted in the name of the State; and all bonds executed to the governor of the Territory, or to any other officer or court in his or their official capacity, shall pass to the governor or state authority and their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued for and recovered accordingly; and all the estate of property, real, personal or mixed, and all judgments, bonds, specialties, choses in action, and claims and debts, of whatsoever description, of the Territory of Minnesota, shall inure to and vest in the State of Minnesota, and may be sued for and recovered in the same manner and to the same extent by the State of Minnesota as the same could have been by the Territory of Minnesota. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the State. All offenses committed against the laws of the Territory of Minnesota, before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the State of Minnesota with like effect as though such change had not taken place, and all penalties incurred shall remain the same as if this Constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law and suits in equity which may be pending in any of the courts of the Territory of Minnesota, at the time of a change from a territorial to a state government, may be continued and transferred to any court of the State which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof.

*Adopted Nov. 2, 1926.

Territorial officers continued until superseded. SEC. 5. All territorial officers, civil or military, now holding their offices under the authority of the United States, or of the Territory of Minnesota shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices until they shall be superseded by the authority of the State.

First session of State legislature. SEC. 6. The first session of the legislature of the State of Minnesota shall commence on the first Wednesday of December next, and shall be held at the capitol, in the city of St. Paul.

SEC. 7. The laws regulating the election and qualification of all district, county and precinct officers shall continue and be in force until the legislature shall otherwise provide by law.

Constitution submitted to a vote of the people. SEC. 8. The president of this convention shall, immediately after the adjournment thereof, cause this Constitution to be deposited in the office of the governor of the Territory; and if, after the submission of the same to a vote of the people, as hereinafter provided, it shall appear that it has been adopted by a vote of the people of the State, then the governor shall forward a certified copy of the same, together with an abstract of the votes polled for and against the said Constitution, to the president of the United States, to be by him laid before the Congress of the United States.

Representation to congress. SEC. 9. For the purposes of the first election, the State shall constitute one district, and shall elect three members to the House of Representatives of the United States.

First apportionment into legislative districts. SEC. 10. For the purposes of the first election for members of the State Senate and House of Representatives, the State shall be divided into senatorial and representative districts, as follows, viz.: First district, Washington county; Second district, Ramsey county; Third district, Dakota county; Fourth district, so much of Hennepin county as lies west of the Mississippi; Fifth district, Rice county; Sixth district, Goodhue county; Seventh district, Scott county; Eighth district, Olmsted county; Ninth district, Fillmore county; Tenth district, Houston county; Eleventh district, Winona county; Twelfth district, Wabasha county; Thirteenth district, Mower and Dodge counties; Fourteenth district, Freeborn and Faribault counties; Fifteenth district, Steele and Waseca counties; Sixteenth district, Blue Earth and Le Sueur counties; Seventeenth district, Nicollet and Brown counties; Eighteenth district, Sibley, Renville and McLeod counties; Nineteenth district, Carver and Wright counties; Twentieth district, Benton, Stearns and Meeker counties; Twenty-first district, Morrison, Crow Wing and Mille Lacs counties; Twenty-second district, Cass, Pembina and Todd counties; Twenty-third district, so much of Hennepin county as lies east of the Mississippi; Twenty-fourth district, Sherburne, Anoka and Manomin counties; Twenty-fifth district, Chisago, Pine and Isanti counties; Twenty-sixth district, Buchanan, Carlton, St. Louis, Lake and Itasca counties.

SEC. 11. The counties of Brown, Stearns, Todd, Cass, Pembina and Renville, as applied in the preceding section, shall not be deemed to include any territory west of the State line, but shall be deemed to include all counties and parts of counties east of said line as were created out of the territory of either, at the last session of the legislature.

Apportionment of members. SEC. 12. The senators and representatives at the first election shall be apportioned among the several senatorial and representative districts as follows, to-wit:

SEC. 13. The returns from the Twenty-second district shall be made to and canvassed by the judges of election at the precinct of Otter Tail City.

Judicial districts. SEC. 14. Until the legislature shall otherwise provide, the State shall be divided into judicial districts as follows, viz.:

The counties of Washington, Chisago, Manomin, Anoka, Isanti, Pine, Buchanan, Carlton, St. Louis and Lake shall constitute the First judicial district.

The county of Ramsey shall constitute the Second judicial district.

The counties of Houston, Winona, Fillmore, Olmsted and Wabasha shall constitute the Third judicial district.

The counties of Hennepin, Carver, Wright, Meeker, Sherburne, Benton, Stearns, Morrison, Crow Wing, Mille Lacs, Itasca, Pembina, Todd and Cass shall constitute the Fourth judicial district.

The counties of Dakota, Goodhue, Scott, Rice, Steele, Waseca, Dodge, Mower and Freeborn shall constitute the Fifth judicial district.

The counties of Le Sueur, Sibley, Nicollet, Blue Earth, Faribault, McLeod, Renville, Brown, and all other counties in the State not included within the other districts, shall constitute the Sixth judicial district.

SEC. 15. Each of the foregoing enumerated judicial districts may, at the first election, elect one prosecuting attorney for the district.

First State election. SEC. 16. Upon the second Tuesday, the thirteenth day of October, 1857, an election shall be held for members of the House of Representatives of the United States, governor, lieutenant governor, supreme and district judges, members of the legislature, and all other officers designated in this Constitution, and also for the submission of this Constitution to the people, for their adoption or rejection.

Voters at the first election. SEC. 17. Upon the day so designated as aforesaid every free white male inhabitant over the age of twenty-one years, who shall have resided within the limits of the State for ten days previous to the day of said election, may vote for all officers to be elected under this Constitution at such election, and also for or against the adoption of this Constitution.

Vote on the constitution. SEC. 18. In voting for or against the adoption of this Constitution, the words, "For Constitution," or "Against Constitution," may be written or printed on the ticket of each voter, but no voter shall vote for or against the Constitution, on a separate ballot from that cast by him for officers to be elected at said election under this Constitution; and if upon the canvass of the vote so polled it shall appear that there was a greater number of votes polled for than against said Constitution, then this Constitution shall be deemed to be adopted as the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, and all the provisions and obligations of this Constitution, and of the schedule thereunto attached, shall thereafter be valid to all intents and purposes as the Constitution of said State.

Election—how conducted. SEC. 19. At said election the polls shall be opened, the election held, returns made, and certificates issued, in all respects as provided by law for opening, closing and conducting elections and making returns of the same, except as hereinbefore specified, and excepting also that polls may be opened and elections held at any point or points in any of the counties where precincts may be established as provided by law, ten days previous to the day of election, not less than ten miles from the place of voting in any established precinct.

Returns of election. SEC. 20. It shall be the duty of the judges and clerks of election, in addition to the returns required by law for each precinct, to forward to the secretary of the Territory, by mail, immediately after the close of the election, a certified copy of the poll book containing the name of each person who has voted in the precinct and the number of votes polled for and against the adoption of this Constitution.

Canvassing returns. SEC. 21. The returns of said election for and against this Constitution, and for all state officers and members of the House of Representatives of the United States, shall be made, and certificates issued in the manner now prescribed by law for returning votes given for delegates to Congress; and the returns for all district officers, judicial, legislative or otherwise, shall be made to the register of deeds of the senior county in each district, in the manner prescribed by law, except as otherwise provided. The returns for all officers elected at large shall be canvassed by the governor of the Territory, assisted by Joseph R. Brown and Thomas J. Galbraith, at the time designated by law for canvassing the vote for delegates to Congress.

SEC. 22. If, upon canvassing the votes for and against the adoption of this Constitution, it shall appear that there has been polled a greater number of votes against than for it, then no certificate of election shall be issued for any State or district officer provided for in this Constitution, and no State organization shall have validity within the limits of the Territory, until otherwise provided for and until a Constitution for a State government shall have been adopted by the people.

CYPRIPEDIUM REGINAE

AIRPORT LIAO

MINNESOTA STATE FLOWER

The state flower is the showy pink and white moccasin flower, the blossom pictured in the accompanying illustration, and known as Cypripedium spectabile and the earlier name of Cypripedium reginae.

The state legislature adopted a state flower or floral emblem during February, 1892, on a petition signed by Mrs. A. L. Stebbins of Rochester and other members of the Woman's Auxiliary, Board of World's Fair Managers, urging adoption of the "Wild Lady Slipper or Moccasin Flower," Cypripedium calceolus, which was followed.

Women of the St. Anthony Study Circle, through Mrs. E. C. Chatfield of Minneapolis, announced later that the calceolus was not found in Minnesota and in February, 1902, the legislature changed the designation to the reginae.

Thus the flower of Cypripedium spectabile became the official flower of the State of Minnesota. The name Cypripedium, from the Greek words meaning the shoe of Venus, published for this genus in 1737 by Linnaeus, and its common English and American popular names, as Lady's Slipper, Moccasin Flower and Indian Shoe, refer to the saccate and somewhat shoe-like form of the most conspicuous petal (in this Orchis family called the lip) of the flower. The plants grow preferably in cool and moist woods and in bogs, flowering from May to July. Cypripedium spectabile is one of six species of Cypripedium found in Minnesota.

NOTE—Minnesota has fourteen genera, including forty-one species, of the Orchis family, to which the Cypripediums belong. In total, 1,583 species of flowering plants, and sixty-eight ferns and their allies, making together 1,650 species, were tabulated, as known to grow without cultivation in this state, by Warren Upham in the Catalogue of the Flora of Minnesota, published in the Twelfth Annual Report of the Geological and Natural History Survey for the year 1883 (193 pages, with a map showing the areas of forest and prairie). Within the basin of the Minnesota river, according to the report in 1892 by Prof. Conway MacMillan, the state botanist, 1,174 species and varieties of flowering plants, including all our Cypripediums, are known and have been collected for the Herbarium of the State University. The State Flower is thus chosen from among more than a thousand others which blossom on our prairies, in the northern woods, in their cool bogs, and in our streams and lakes.

Chapter 409 L. '25 provides for the protection of the Minnesota State Flower as well as other varieties of wild flowers.

ACT OF ADMISSION INTO THE UNION

An Act for the admission of Minnesota into the Union.
[Passed May 11, 1858.]

WHEREAS, An act of Congress was passed February twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government preparatory to their admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original states"; and, whereas, the people of said Territory did, on the twenty-ninth day of August, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, by delegates elected for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government, which is republican in form, and was ratified and adopted by the people at an election held on the thirteenth day of October, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, for that purpose; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the State of Minnesota shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatever.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That said State shall be entitled to two representatives in Congress, until the next apportionment of representatives among the several states.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That from and after the admission of the State of Minnesota, as hereinbefore provided, all the laws of the United States which are not locally inapplicable shall have the same force and effect within that State as in other States of the Union; and the said State is hereby constituted a judicial district of the United States, within which a district court, with like powers and jurisdiction as the district court of the United States for the district of Iowa, shall be established; the judge, attorney and marshal of the United States of the said district of Minnesota shall reside within the same, and shall be entitled to the same compensation as the judge, attorney and marshal of the district of Iowa; and in all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States, upon any record from the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, the mandate of execution or order of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the district court of the United States for the district of Minnesota, or to the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, as the nature of such appeal or writ of error may require; and each of those courts shall be the successor of the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, as to all such cases, with full power to hear and determine the same, and to ward mesne or final process therein.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise, the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our government:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has incited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which INDEPENDENT STATES may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

THE ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION

IN CONGRESS, JULY 9, 1778.

Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

ARTICLE 1. The style of this confederacy shall be "THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

ART. 2. Each state retains its sovereignty freedom, and independence, and every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the United States in Congress assembled.

ART. 3. The said states hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other for their common defense, the security of their liberties, and their mutual, and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other against all force offered to or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretence whatever.

ART. 4. § 1. The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different states in this Union, the free inhabitants of each of these states (paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from justice excepted) shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several states, and the people of each state shall have free ingress and egress to and from any other state, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively; provided, that such restrictions shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any state, to any other state of which the owner is an inhabitant; provided, also, that no imposition, duties, or restriction shall be laid by any state on the property of the United States, or either of them.

§ 2. If any person guilty of, or charged with, treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor, in any state, shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon the demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offense.

§ 3. Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

ART. 5. § 1. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November, of every year, with a power reserved to each state to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead, for the remainder of the year.

§ 2. No state shall be represented in congress by less than two, nor more than seven, members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years, in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States, for which he, or any other for his benefit, receives any salary, fees, or emoluments of any kind.

§ 3. Each state shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the states and while they act as members of the committee of these states.

§ 4. In determining questions in the United States in congress assembled each state shall have one vote.

§ 5. Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on, congress, except for treason, felony or breach of the peace.

ART. 6. § 1. No state, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with, any king, prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince, or foreign state; nor shall the United States in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

§ 2. No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation, or alliance whatever, between them, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

§ 3. No state shall lay any imposts or duties which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties entered into by the United States, in congress assembled, with any king, prince, or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress to the courts of France and Spain.

§ 4. No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only as shall be deemed necessary by the United States in congress assembled, for the defense of such state, or its trade; nor shall any body or forces be kept up by any state, in time of peace, except such number only as, in the judgment of the United States in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such state; but every state shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

§ 5. No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit a delay till the United States in congress assembled can be consulted; nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States in congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ART. 7. When land forces are raised by any state for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel shall be appointed by the legislature of each state, respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the state which first made the appointment.

ART. 8. All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all lands within each state, granted to or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States in congress assembled shall, from time to time, direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled

ART. 9. § 1 The United States in congress assembled shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article, of sending and receiving ambassadors, entering into treaties and alliances: provided, that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever, of establishing rules for deciding in all cases what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated, of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace; appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures; provided, that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

§ 2. The United States in congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting, or that may hereafter arise, between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question, and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one the petitioners beginning until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall, in the presence of congress, be drawn out by lot; the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing. and the judgment and sentence of the court, to be appointed in the manner before described, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear to defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive; the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress and lodged among the acts of congress, for the security of the parties concerned; provided, that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward"; provided, also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

§ 3. All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdiction, as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement or jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

§ 4. The United States in congress assembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states; fixing the standards of weights and measures, throughout the United States; regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states; provided, that the legislative right of any state, within its own limits, be not infringed or violated; establishing and regulating postoffices from one state to another, throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office; appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States, excepting regimental officers; appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States; making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

§ 5. The United States in congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside; provided, that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses; to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state, which requisition shall be binding; and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and clothe, arm and equip them, in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States, and the officers and men so clothed, armed and equipped shall march to the place appointed and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled, but if the United States in congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared, and the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled.

§ 6. The United States in congress assembled shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same; nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States in congress assembled.

§ 7. The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state, on any question, shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

ART. 10. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall, from time to time, think expedient to vest them with; provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states, in the congress of the United States assembled, is requisite.

ART. 11. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ART. 12. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ART. 13. Every state shall abide by the determination of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterward confirmed by the legislature of every state.

And whereas, it has pleased the great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectfully represent in congress to approve of and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, Know ye, that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained. And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by the said confederation are submitted to them; and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the Union shall be perpetual. In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands in congress Done at Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, the ninth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight, and in the third year of the Independence of America.

Ratified by the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia.

Preamble. We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every 30,000, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose 3; Massachusetts, 8; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, 1; Connecticut, 5; New York, 6; New Jersey, 4; Pennsylvania, 8; Delaware, 1; Maryland, 6; Virginia, 10; North Carolina, 5; South Carolina, 5; Georgia, 3.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

*SEC. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year. *When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the Senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their own officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments.

When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

*Amendments ratified 1913. See Amendment No. 17.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meetings shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall, by law, appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same; excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return; in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 8. The Congress shall have power:

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform through the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;
 To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;
 To establish a uniform rule of naturalization and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;
 To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.
 To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;
 To establish postoffices and postroads;
 To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;
 To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;
 To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses, against the laws of nations;
 To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;
 To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;
 To provide and maintain a navy;
 To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;
 To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;
 To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;
 To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings; and
 To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law, shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit and trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state.

SEC. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates; and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be appointed, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.]*

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president; and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur, and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3. He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SEC. 4. The president, vice president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof and foreign states, citizens or subjects.*

*See the 11th amendment.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SEC. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SEC. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SEC. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States, and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

SEC. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in the Union a republican form of government; and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution, but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

ARTICLES

In addition to, and amendment of, the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress and ratified by the Legislatures of the several states, pursuant to the fifth article of the original Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, or to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war and public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court in the United States than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

ARTICLE XII.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice president, one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballot the person voted for as vice president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president and of all persons voted for as vice president, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate; the president of the senate shall, in presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president; if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states; and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice president shall be the vice president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then, from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice president of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

SECTION 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice president of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in Congress or elector of president and vice president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each house remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

SEC. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XVI.

The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

ARTICLE XVII.

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each state, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the Senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointment until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.

ARTICLE XVIII.

*SECTION 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

SEC. 2. The Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIX.

SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XX.

SECTION 1. The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3rd day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

SEC. 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3rd day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SEC. 3. If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice President shall have qualified.

SEC. 4. The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

SEC. 5. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

SEC. 6. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission.

ARTICLE XXI.

SECTION 1. The eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. The transportation or importation into any State, Territory, or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

SEC. 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

ARTICLE XXII.

SECTION 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

SEC. 2. The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress.

NOTE.—The Constitution was adopted Sept. 17, 1787, by the unanimous consent of the states present in the convention appointed in pursuance of the resolution of the Congress of the confederation, of the twenty-first of February, 1787, and was ratified by the conventions of the several states, as follows, viz.: By convention of Delaware, Dec. 7, 1787; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, 1787; New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2, 1788; Connecticut, Jan. 9, 1788; Massachusetts, Feb. 6, 1788; Maryland, April 28, 1788; South Carolina, May 23, 1788; New Hampshire, June 21, 1788; Virginia, June 26, 1788; New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789; Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

The first ten of the amendments were proposed at the first session of the First Congress of the United States, Sept. 25, 1789; and were finally ratified by the constitutional number of states Dec. 15, 1791. The eleventh amendment was proposed at the first session of the Third Congress, March 5, 1794, and was declared in a message from the president of the United States to both houses of Congress, dated Jan. 8, 1798, to have been adopted by the constitutional number of states. The twelfth amendment was proposed at the first session of the Eighth Congress, Dec. 12, 1803, and was adopted by the constitutional number of states in 1804, according to a public notice thereof by the secretary of state, dated Sept. 25, 1804.

The thirteenth amendment was proposed at the second session of the Thirty-eighth Congress, Feb. 1, 1865, and was adopted by the constitutional number of states in 1865, according to a public notice thereof by the secretary of state, dated Dec. 18, 1865.

The fourteenth amendment took effect July 28, 1868.

The fifteenth amendment took effect March 30, 1870.

The sixteenth amendment took effect February 25, 1913.

The seventeenth amendment took effect May 31, 1913.

The eighteenth amendment took effect January 29, 1920.

The nineteenth amendment took effect August 27, 1920.

The twentieth amendment was proclaimed February 6, 1933.

The twenty-first amendment was proclaimed December 5, 1933.

The twenty-second amendment has been proposed by Congress to the states. It has not yet been ratified by the requisite number of states. It has been ratified by the Minnesota Legislature Joint Resolution No. 2, approved December 14, 1933. Extra Session. As to limitation of time for ratification see Coleman v. Miller, 307 U. S. 433 (Kansas, 1939).

PERMANENT RULES OF THE SENATE

CALLING SENATE TO ORDER

1. The President shall take the chair at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order, and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall proceed with the regular order of business. He shall preserve order and decorum; may speak on points of order in preference to members, and shall also decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any member but such appeal shall be decided by a majority vote of those present and voting thereon.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEES

2. All committees of the Senate and members of commissions to be appointed by the Senate authorized by rule, statute, resolution or otherwise, shall be appointed by a Committee on Committees, subject to confirmation by the Senate, and all such appointments made by such committee on committees shall likewise be subject to confirmation by the Senate.

QUESTIONS—HOW STATED AND DECIDED

3. He shall rise to put the question, but may state it sitting.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be) say Aye," and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion say No." The President shall declare all votes, but if any member rise to doubt a vote, he shall order a division.

CONFIRMATIONS

When nominations or appointments made by the Governor which require confirmation by the Senate have been transmitted to the Senate, the final question on every nomination shall be, "Will the Senate advise and consent to this nomination?" which question shall not be put on the same day on which the nomination is received, nor on the day on which it may be reported by a committee unless by unanimous consent.

Every such nomination shall, upon request of any Senator, be referred to a committee, and if a question shall arise as to the proper committee, the same shall be referred without debate to the Committee on Rules to report the proper reference thereof and upon adoption of the report of such committee it shall be referred accordingly.

PRESIDENT PRO TEM.

5. The President shall call some member to the chair when the Senate goes into Committee of the Whole. In the absence of the President the President Pro Tem. shall preside, and in the absence of both the President and the President Pro Tem. a member may be called to perform the duties of the chair; but substitutions shall not extend beyond adjournment.

FURTHER DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT

6. The President of the Senate shall sign all acts, memorials, addresses and resolutions; and all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by the Senate shall be signed by him and attested by the Secretary.

7. The President is authorized to administer all oaths required in the discharge of his duties.

DISTURBANCE IN LOBBY

8. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies or galleries, the President or chairman of the Committee of the Whole shall have power to order the same cleared.

PRIVILEGE OF REPORTERS

9. Because of the limited space available on the floor of the Senate, the Associated Press, United Press, the St. Paul Pioneer Press, the St. Paul Dispatch, the Minneapolis Times Tribune, the Minneapolis Tribune, the Minneapolis Star Journal, and the Duluth News-Tribune and Duluth Herald, shall each be permitted representation at the press table by one regular reporter whose credentials are approved by the Rules Committee. Any person wishing to report proceedings of the Senate may apply to the Rules Committee for assignment to suitable, available space.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

10. The order of business shall be as follows:

1. Petitions, letters, remonstrances.
2. Executive and official communications.
3. Introduction and first reading of Senate bills.
4. Messages from the House of Representatives.
5. First reading of House bills.
6. Reports of committees.
 - (a) From standing committees.
 - (b) From select committees.
7. Second reading of Senate bills.
8. Second reading of House bills.
9. Motions and resolutions.
10. Third reading of Senate bills.
11. Third reading of House bills.
12. General orders of the day.

REFERRING OF BILLS

11. All bills shall be referred by the President of the Senate without motion to the proper standing committee, on the first reading, unless otherwise referred by the Senate; and all bills providing for the appropriation of money, or obligating the State to pay or expend money, when referred to and reported by any other than the Committee on Finance, shall, before passage, be referred to the Committee on Finance, provided that when any question shall arise concerning the proper reference of a bill the bill shall be referred without debate to the Committee on Rules to report the proper reference thereof, and upon adoption of such report it shall be referred accordingly.

ORDER IN DEBATE

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise to his feet, and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality. In discussing any resolution, senators shall be limited to five minutes each.

13. When any member is called to order he shall sit down until it is determined whether he is in order or not, and if a member is called to order for words spoken in debate, the words excepted to shall be taken down in writing immediately.

14. When two or more members shall happen to rise at once, the President shall name the member who is to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question on the same day without leave of the Senate.

CONDUCT DURING BUSINESS

16. When the President is putting any question, or addressing the Senate, no one shall walk out of, or cross the room; nor when a member is speaking shall any one pass between the member speaking and the chair. No member, or other person, shall proceed to or remain by the Secretary's desk while the ayes and nays are being called or counted.

17. Upon a division and count of the Senate on any question no member without the Senate chamber shall be counted.

SENATORS TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED

18. Every member who shall be in the Senate when the question is put shall give his vote unless the Senate for special reasons shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the Senate divides or before he gives his vote upon a call of the ayes and nays. Any member wishing to be excused from voting may make a brief statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

MOTIONS

19. When a motion is made and seconded it shall be stated by the President; or, being in writing it shall be handed to the Secretary and read aloud for debate.

20. Every motion or amendment shall be reduced to writing if the President or any member desires it. In such case it must be signed by the member or committee offering it.

21. After a motion is stated by the President, or read by the Secretary, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn by the author at any time before decision or amendment.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS

22. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received, but
 - To adjourn.
 - To lay on the table.
 - For the previous question.
 - Which three motions shall be decided without debate.
 - To commit.
 - To postpone to a day certain.
 - To amend, or
 - To postpone indefinitely.

These and several motions have precedence in the foregoing order; but a motion for the previous question having been seconded, or the main question ordered, a motion to lay on the table shall not be in order.

A motion to postpone to a certain day, to commit, to postpone indefinitely, or to amend, being decided, shall not again be allowed on the same day, nor at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

23. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and also a motion to adjourn to a time certain. The latter motion is debatable. When either motion is refused it shall not be renewed until further business shall be transacted.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION

24. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon all pending amendments in their order and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the ordering of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order, but after a majority shall have ordered such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

25. On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

RECONSIDERATION

26. When a motion or question has been once put and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for reconsideration thereof, on the same day on which the vote was taken or within the next two days of actual session of the Senate thereafter; and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions except a motion to adjourn. A motion for reconsideration being put and lost, shall not be renewed.

DIVISION OF QUESTION

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the same will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed to be indivisible. A motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude an amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

PETITIONS AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

28. In presenting a petition, memorial, remonstrance or other communication addressed to the Senate, the members shall only state the general purpose of it.

29. Every petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill and report of committee, shall be indorsed with its appropriate title, and immediately under the indorsement the name of the member presenting the same shall be written or printed.

CALL OF THE SENATE

30. Any member may make a call of the Senate, and require absent members to be sent for, but a call of the Senate cannot be made after the voting has commenced; and the call of the Senate being ordered and the absentees noted, the doors shall be closed, and no member permitted to leave the room until further proceedings under the call be dispensed with by a majority vote of all the members of the Senate and the matter or question, if any, under consideration at the time of the call be disposed of, or the Senate adjourns.

COMMITTEES

31. The Standing Committees of the Senate are as follows:

- Agriculture, 17.
- Banks and Banking, 11.

 University, 11.
 Workmen's Compensation, 11.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

32. The rules observed in the Senate shall govern, as far as practicable, the proceedings of the Committee of the Whole, except that a member may speak more than twice on the same subject, and that a call for the ayes and nays, or for the previous question cannot be made.

33. Amendments made in the Committee of the Whole shall be entered on a separate piece of paper, and so reported to the Senate by the chairman standing in his place, which amendment shall not be read by the President unless required by one or more of the members. On adoption of the report by the Committee of the Whole, all bills recommended to pass, shall be placed upon the calendar.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS—LIMITING NUMBER OF AUTHORS

34. Bills, memorials and joint resolutions may be introduced by any member in his place, or by order of the Senate on a report of a committee. The number of authors and co-authors upon any bill shall not exceed three (3). Each member so introducing such bill, memorial or joint resolution shall, at the time of such introduction thereof, furnish to the Secretary of the Senate three copies thereof, which shall be endorsed "copies."

Every bill, memorial or joint resolution shall have prefixed thereto the name of the person introducing it, and when reported from a committee, the name of said committee shall be endorsed thereon. Every proposed amendment to any bill, memorial or joint resolution, and every committee report, shall be in triplicate form, and shall be written on only one side of the paper.

The title of every bill must give its single subject and briefly state its purpose as far as practicable.

If the bill be for an amendment of a present statute, it shall contain the full text of the chapter or section or subdivision to be amended. Then in the proper place shall be inserted the words and characters constituting the new amending matter which shall be underscored, and when printed, put in italics. The words and characters to be eliminated by the amendment shall be stricken out by a line drawn through the eliminated matter, and when the bill is printed such eliminated matter shall be capitalized and inclosed in brackets. The chairman of each committee to which such bill is referred shall see that the bill conforms to this rule before it is favorably reported.

Bills should refer to the various compilations of the laws of this state as follows:

"Laws—, Chapter—, Section—."
 "Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927, Section—."
 "Mason's Supplement 1940, Section—."
 "General Statutes 1923, Section—."
 "Revised Laws 1905, Section—."

When referring to laws passed at the session of 1891 and prior years, and in those cases only, references shall be as follows:

"Special Laws 1887, Chapter—, Section—."
 "General Laws 1887, Chapter—, Section—."

Whenever possible, reference shall be made to Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927 rather than to the General Statutes 1923.

Whenever an existing law is sought to be amended or repealed the title of the amendatory act shall contain a proper reference to the law or laws amended and in addition thereto shall briefly express the subject matter thereof.

All numbers in the titles shall be expressed in figures. All numbers of section or chapter of laws shall be in figures. In the body of the bill numbers in excess of 10 should be in figures except for a special reason they may be written, but when written they should not be followed by numbers in parentheses.

READING OF BILLS

35. Every bill, memorial, order, resolution or vote requiring the approval of the Governor shall receive three several readings previous to its passage; the first and third readings shall be at length; and no such bill, memorial, order or resolution shall be read twice on the same day.

COMMITMENT

36. No bill or joint resolution shall be committed or amended until it has been once read at length. If objections are made to a bill on its first reading the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no objection be made or the question to reject be lost, the bill shall go on its second reading.

ALL BILLS TO GO TO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

37. All bills, memorials, orders, resolutions and votes requiring the approval of the Governor shall, after a second reading, be considered in Committee of the Whole before they shall be finally acted upon by the Senate.

PRINTING OF BILLS

38. All bills of general nature, including all bills appropriating money or lands shall be printed; provided, that no bills shall be printed until the same shall have been reported upon favorably by the committee to whom the same shall be referred, or such committee shall recommend such printing.

FINAL PASSAGE

39. The final question upon a bill or other paper requiring action by both Houses after the first and second reading thereof, and after the consideration in Committee of the Whole, shall be upon its final passage.

AMENDMENT ON THIRD READING

40. No amendment shall be received on third reading except to fill blanks without the unanimous consent of the Senate. In filling blanks, the largest sum, the longest time and the greatest distance shall be first taken.

41. A bill or resolution may be committed at any time, prior to its passage, and if any amendment be reported on such commitment to any other than a Committee of the Whole, it shall be again read the second time, considered by Committee of the Whole, and the question for third reading and passage again put.

ENGROSSMENT

42. Every bill, memorial, order or resolution originating in the Senate shall be carefully engrossed in typewriting before being transmitted to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

TRANSMITTING OF BILLS TO THE HOUSE

43. Immediately after the passage of any bill or other paper to which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is to be asked it shall be the duty of the Secretary to transmit the same to the House, unless some member of the Senate shall make a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate passed the said bill or other paper; in which case the Secretary shall not transmit said bill or other paper until a motion to reconsider has been put; and on the concurrence of any bill or other paper of the House of Representatives by the Senate, or on the concurrence or disagreement in any vote of the House it shall also be the duty of the Senate to notify the House thereof.

MEMORIALS TO THE UNITED STATES OR ANY OTHER STATE OR FOREIGN GOVERNMENT

44. Memorials or petitions to the President or Congress of the United States, or any branch or member thereof, or any department or officer of the United States, or any state or foreign government, including all motions, resolutions, joint or concurrent resolutions in relation thereto, shall follow the same course of procedure as bills before being adopted.

ANY SENATOR MAY DEMAND AYES AND NAYS

45. It shall be competent for any member, when a question is being taken, to call for the ayes and nays, which shall be entered on the Journal. A call for the ayes and nays cannot be interrupted in any manner whatever.

COMMITTEE NOT TO BE ABSENT

46. Committees shall not absent themselves from the Senate, by reason of their appointment, without special permission for that purpose be first obtained.

ENROLLMENT

47. All bills shall be carefully enrolled in typewriting under the supervision of the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense. Said committee may report to the Senate at any time on the enrollment of bills.

DUTIES OF SECRETARY

48. The Secretary shall keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned to him as such Secretary. He shall permit no Journal records, accounts or papers to be taken from the table or out of his custody, other than in the regular mode of business. If any paper in his charge shall be missing, he shall report the fact to the President, that inquiry may be made. He shall superintend the recording of proceedings in the Journal, the engrossing, transcribing and copying of the bills and resolutions, supervise the assistants, clerks and stenographers under the direction of the Committee on Rules, and generally perform the duties of Secretary, under direction of the President. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep the books to be called "Minute Books," in which he shall enter under the appropriate marginal numbers, all Senate and House bills, and correct notes, with the dates thereof, of the state, condition and progress of each bill pending, until its final passage.

Any officer or employee receiving compensation or moneys for the distribution of the Journal records or the certifying of any bills or documents shall report such proceeds and pay the same into the State Treasury.

CERTIFICATE FOR MONEY

49. No certificate authorizing the payment of any money appropriated by the Legislature shall be issued by the Secretary, by virtue of any motion or resolution, unless such a motion or resolution shall be voted for by a majority of all members of the Senate. All motions or resolutions authorizing the issuing of certificates by the Secretary for the payment of money shall be upon a call of the ayes and nays.

JOURNAL OF EXECUTIVE SESSION

50. The proceedings of the Senate on executive business shall be kept in a separate book of record to be provided by the Secretary of the Senate, and published with the proceedings of the Senate, unless the public good requires secrecy, which shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

JEFFERSON'S MANUAL

51. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the Senate in all cases in which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with these rules and orders of the Senate, and the joint rules and orders of the Senate and House of Representatives.

HOURS OF MEETING

52. The standing hour of the daily meeting of the Senate shall be 10 o'clock in the morning, unless the Senate direct otherwise.

ABSENCE OF SENATORS

53. No Senator or officer of the Senate shall absent himself from any session of the Senate without having first obtained leave of absence.

PERSONS PRIVILEGED TO THE FLOOR OF THE SENATE

54. No person shall be admitted within the Senate chamber, but the executive or ex-Governors of the State of Minnesota, members of the House, heads of departments of the state government, judges of the Supreme and District Courts and members of Congress and, when personally introduced by members of the Senate, those who have been members of Congress or of the State Legislature or other visitors who are not interested in any claim or directly in any bill pending before the Legislature. No lobbyist shall be permitted on the floor of the Senate or in the retiring room or corridors during the session of the Senate. No public hearings shall be held in the Senate chamber and the retiring room of the Senate shall be reserved for the exclusive use of the members of the Senate at all times during the session. The Sergeant-at-Arms is charged with the duty of strict enforcement of this rule.

AMENDMENTS, RULES AND SUSPENSION OF RULES

55. Every proposition to amend any rule of the Senate shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense, and shall not be acted upon until the report of such committee is received by the Senate; nor shall any rule be suspended except by at least two-thirds vote of the full Senate; provided that a motion to suspend the rules for the purpose of advancing a bill shall be made only under the order of business, "Motions and Resolutions."

AMENDMENTS TO BILLS

56. In drawing any amendment to any bill or resolution reference shall be made therein, first to the number of the bill, then to the section, and then to the line or lines from which matter is to be stricken or in which new matter is to be inserted.

NOTICE TO DEBATE

57. Upon any member giving notice of his intention to debate any resolution, the same shall lie over one day without debate or other action, except that upon the request of any Senator, any resolution shall be referred to the proper committee, provided that whenever any question shall arise concerning the proper reference thereof the procedure provided by rule No. 11 shall apply. This rule shall not apply to any resolution offered by the Rules Committee.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

58. When in executive session, the Senate may, in all cases, sit with closed doors, and the Senate chamber may be cleared of all persons except the officers and members of the Senate.

NO SMOKING

59. No Senator or officer of the Senate, or other person, shall be permitted to smoke in the Senate chamber.

SECRETARY MAY CORRECT ERRORS

60. The Secretary and Engrossing Clerk, in all proper cases, shall correct all mistakes in numbering the sections and reference thereto, whether such errors occur in the original bill or are caused by amendments thereto.

DUTIES OF THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

61. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to execute all orders of the President of the Senate, and to perform all duties they may assign to him connected with the police and good order of the Senate chamber; to exercise a supervision over the ingress and egress of all persons to and from the chamber; to see that messages, etc., are promptly executed; that the hall is properly ventilated and the temperature thereof properly regulated, and open for the use of members of the Senate at the time fixed; and to perform all other services pertaining to his office.

REPORT ON AMENDED BILLS

62. No committee nor any member thereof shall report any substitute for any bill or bills referred to such committee, which substitute relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose than that of the original bill for which it is reported, or which, if adopted and passed, would require a title essentially different from the title of the original bill; and every substitute bill so reported shall be rejected whenever the Senate is advised that the same is in violation of this rule.

GENERAL ORDERS

63. The Secretary shall make a list of all bills, resolutions, reports of committees, and other proceedings of the Senate, which are referred to the Committee of the Whole, and which are not made the order of the day, for any particular day, and to number the same, which lists shall be called the "General Orders of the Day," and they shall be taken up in the order in which they are numbered unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the committee.

Such general orders, together with all bills included therein required to be printed under the rules or orders of the Senate, shall be printed and placed upon the members' desks at least one day before the same shall be considered in Committee of the Whole.

CALENDAR

64. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to make a list of all bills, resolutions and other matters coming before the Senate for final action and place the same upon the calendar in the order in which they have been acted upon in Committee of the Whole, and such calendar shall be printed and placed upon the members' desks at least one day before the matters included therein shall be considered.

EMPLOYEES AUTHORIZED IN THE SENATE

65. The Senate shall employ for the session, at the compensation of $5.00 per day, unless otherwise specified, the following:

- Three assistant secretaries of the Senate at $7.00 per day.
- One bill clerk at $6.00 per day.
- One index clerk at $6.00 per day.
- One clerk to the Finance Committee at $9.00 per day.
- One clerk to the Judiciary Committee at $9.00 per day.
- One clerk to the Committee on Cities of the First Class at $9.00 per day.
- One clerk to the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense at $9.00 per day.
- One clerk for the Secretary's office at $7.00 per day.
- One file clerk at $6.00 per day.
- One assistant file clerk at $6.00 per day.
- Sixteen general committee clerks to be assigned to their respective positions and duties by the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense.
- One stenographer to the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense at $6.00 per day.
- One stenographer to the Committee on Taxes and Tax Laws at $6.00 per day.
- One stenographer to the Judiciary Committee at $6.00 per day.
- Eight stenographers and such additional stenographers as the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense may from time to time determine.
- One superintendent of janitors and five assistant janitors.
- Thirty-five sergeants of galleries, committee rooms, retiring rooms, cloak rooms, door keepers, messengers and pages, to be assigned to their respective positions and duties by the Committee on Rules and Legislative Expense.
- One telephone operator.
- The sergeant-at-arms and first assistant sergeant-at-arms shall receive $9.00 per day.
- The enrolling clerk and engrossing clerk shall receive $7.00 per day.
- The President of the Senate is authorized to appoint a Secretary at $7.00 per day, also a stenographer at $6.00 per day.
- The Secretary of the Senate shall receive $10.00 per day and the sum of $1,000.00 for extra work after the session and for compensation for clerical help for such post-session.
- The appointment to the foregoing positions shall be made by resolution, specifying the names of such appointments and the positions to which the same are appointed, adopted by a majority of all members of the Senate.

ADDITIONAL EMPLOYEES - GRATUITIES

66. All propositions for the appointment of employees of the Senate or for expenditures on account of the Legislature, other than those provided by law, shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, without debate, and no appointment shall be made or expense incurred unless reported favorably by said committee, or unless its report be overruled by a three-fourths (¾) vote of the whole Senate. Said committee shall report to the Senate the amount of compensation that shall be paid to each employee whose appointment is recommended by it. All propositions for extra compensations or gratuity shall be referred to said committee, and no extra compensation or gratuity shall be paid to any officer, employee or other person unless reported upon favorably by said committee or unless its report be reversed by a three-fourths ($\frac{3}{4}$) vote of the whole Senate.

SPECIAL ORDER

67. On two days' notice it shall require a two-thirds vote of the whole Senate to designate a Special Order and when a time has been designated by the Senate, whether by adoption of a report of the committee or otherwise, for a particular or Special Order, the Senate shall at such time proceed to the consideration of such order, and shall at such time so designated, after considering the bill, resolution, or measure included therein, unless the same shall be otherwise disposed of or the Special Order postponed to a day certain, immediately proceed to the third reading and final passage of the same and during the consideration of such Special Order Rule No. Fifteen (15) shall be suspended, and the debate thereon and all proceedings thereunder, including amendments and substitutions, shall be, as nearly as applicable, that of the Committee of the Whole, except that it shall be competent for any member when a question is being taken, to call for the ayes and nays which shall be entered on the Journal.

JOURNAL—HOW APPROVED

68. The Journal of each day's proceedings shall be open for correction at any time during the session of the succeeding day, and unless corrected on that day, shall stand approved.

AUTHORITY OVER EMPLOYEES

69. Except as otherwise provided in these rules, the Committee on Rules shall have full and exclusive authority over, and charge of all employees, officers and clerks of the Senate both elective and appointive. Such committee shall have the sole and exclusive power and authority to assign them to such duties other than for which they were elected or appointed as such committee may from time to time provide. Such committee shall have power to appoint such of said employees, officers or clerks as they shall deem proper to exercise the power to them granted by this rule. They may make such rules and regulations for the government of the employees, officers and clerks as they shall see fit and proper. In case of violation of any of the orders of said committee by any employee, officer or clerk, or in case of any violation of any such rule or regulation made by such committee, or in case of any misconduct or omission of any such employee, officer or clerk, the Rules Committee shall have power to hear complaints and to discharge any such employee, officer or clerk or impose such other punishment by way of fine or otherwise upon such employee, officer or clerk as to such committee may seem just and proper.

AMENDMENTS TO TITLE

70. The title to any bill may be amended at any time during its pendency in the Senate.

WHEN COMMITTEE MUST REPORT

71. Every bill referred to a standing committee shall be reported therefrom within twenty-five (25) days after its reference to such committee except all bills referred to the Finance Committee.

A majority of the Senate may at any time recall a bill from any committee or take a bill from the table and place such bill on General Orders.

SENATE EMPLOYEES TO ENROLL AND ENGROSS BILLS

72. All enrolling and engrossing of bills shall be done by enrolling and engrossing clerks and stenographers regularly in the employ of the Senate and shall not be paid for per folio.

JOINT RESOLUTIONS

73. Except as provided in Rule 44, joint resolutions not requiring the signature of the Governor need not take the regular course of bills and memorials, but may be acted upon in the same manner as resolutions.

PURCHASING SUPPLIES

74. The Secretary of the Senate shall be the agent of the Senate for the purchase of supplies. Before making purchases, however, it shall be his duty to consult with and get prices from the Commissioner of Purchases of the State of Minnesota and then submit the same to the Rules Committee together with a list of necessary supplies, and the prices for which the same can be secured, which supplies shall then be purchased by the Secretary upon the approval of the Rules Committee.

REPORT OF VOTE IN COMMITTEE

75. Upon the request of any member of any standing committee of the Senate, or upon the request of the author of any bill, a record shall be made of the vote on such bill in any committee, including the vote of any amendment or proposed amendments thereto in the committee to which the bill was referred, and such vote of the members of such committee shall accompany the report of the committee on the bill and shall be printed in the Journal as a part of the report of the committee.

QUORUM IN COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY

76. Ten (10) members shall constitute a quorum of the Committee on Judiciary.

COMPARISON OF BILLS

77. No House bill shall be substituted in the Senate for any Senate bill, except by adopting a report of a proper committee, until the same shall have been compared with the Senate bill by a comparison clerk, and any dissimilarities noted in a written memorandum signed by the clerk and attached to the bill. Such comparison shall be made by the clerk upon request of a member or order of the Senate.

PERMANENT RULES OF THE HOUSE

MEETING, ROLL CALL, ETC.

1. The Speaker shall take the chair at the hour at which the House stands adjourned. The House shall then be called to order, and after prayer by the Chaplain, a roll of members shall be called and the names of the members present and those excused shall be entered on the Journal of the House. Unless otherwise ordered by the House, regular sessions thereof shall convene at two o'clock P. M.

READING OF THE JOURNAL

2. Upon the appearance of a quorum, the Journal of the preceding day shall be read by the Chief Clerk, unless otherwise ordered, and any errors therein may be corrected by the House.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

3. After the reading of the Journal, the order of business of the day shall be as follows:
1. Presentation of petitions or other communications.
 2. Reports of standing committees.
 3. Second reading of House Bills.
 4. Second reading of Senate Bills.
 5. Reports of Select Committees.
 6. Introduction and first reading of Bills.
 7. Motions and Resolutions.
 8. Consideration of messages from the Senate.
 9. First reading of Senate Bills.
 10. Calendar for the day.
 11. General Orders

BILLS—HOW INTRODUCED

4a. A member or committee desiring to introduce a bill shall place the same in the hands of the Speaker before the opening of the session.

All bills introduced shall as soon as may be after introduction be examined by the Revision Clerk who shall recommend any necessary changes in the form thereof to make the same comply with the Rules of the House and communicate any such recommendations to the member introducing the same and to the chairman of the committee to which the same is referred by the Speaker.

All memorials and joint resolutions shall be presented, received, and considered in the same manner as bills; and take the same course as a bill.

No bill shall be introduced after the sixtieth (60th) legislative day of the session except its reception be authorized by two thirds (2/3) vote of the House; provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to committee bills or bills introduced by request of the Governor under the constitutional provision as provided for in Article 4, Section 1, of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota.

Any standing or special committee of the House may introduce a bill as a committee bill which shall be read the first time, laid over for one day, when it shall be read for the second time and placed upon General Orders.

Every bill and resolution shall be introduced in quadruplicate and shall have prefixed thereto the name of the member or committee introducing it.

No bill, memorial, resolution or joint resolution shall have affixed thereto the names of more than five members as the authors thereof.

BILLS—HOW DRAFTED

4b. The title of every bill must give its single subject and briefly state its purpose as far as practicable.

If the bill be for an amendment of a present statute, it shall contain the full text of the chapter or section or sub-division to be amended. Then in the proper place shall be inserted the words and characters constituting the new amending matter which shall be underscored, and when printed put in italics. The words and characters to be eliminated by the amendment shall be stricken out by a line drawn through the eliminated matter, and when the bill is printed such eliminated matter shall be capitalized and inclosed in brackets. The chairman of each committee to which such bill is referred shall see that the bill conforms to this rule before it is favorably reported to the House.

Bills should refer to the various compilations of the laws of this state as follows:

- "Laws 1929, Chapter—, Section—."
- "Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927, Section—."
- "Mason's 1940 Minn. Supp., Section—."
- "General Statutes 1923, Section—."
- "Revised Laws 1905, Section—."

When referring to laws passed at the sessions of 1891 and prior years, and in those cases only, references shall be as follows:

"Special Laws 1887, Chapter—, Section—,"
 "General Laws, 1887, Chapter—, Section—."

Whenever possible, reference shall be made to Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927 rather than to the General Statutes 1923.

Whenever an existing law is sought to be amended or repealed the title of the amendatory act shall contain a proper reference to the law or laws amended and in addition thereto shall briefly express the subject matter thereof.

All numbers in the titles shall be expressed in figures. All numbers of sections or chapters of laws shall be in figures. In the body of the bill numbers in excess of 10 should be in figures except for a special reason they may be written, but when written they should not be followed by numbers in parentheses.

A copy of this rule shall be furnished the stenographers or others copying bills, and they are specifically enjoined to observe the same.

The author of a bill may attach thereto a memorandum of information headed "memorandum," which shall constitute no part of the bill, and shall not be printed in connection with the bill, unless otherwise ordered by a vote of the House.

FIRST READING AND REFERENCE OF BILLS

5. All bills, memorials and joint resolutions shall be read at length upon their introduction, unless objected to. If objection is made to the introduction of a bill, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?"

A majority vote of the whole House shall be required for rejection. If no objection be made, or if the question to reject be lost, the bill shall, after reading, be referred by the Speaker to its appropriate standing committee, except when introduced by such committee. Every bill introduced, except when introduced by a committee as above provided, containing an amendment to an existing law of the state, shall first be referred by the Speaker to the appropriate committee of the House appointed with reference to the subject matter contained in the law proposed to be amended.

After a reference of a bill by the Speaker, a majority vote of the whole House shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be required for a re-reference or re-committal thereof by the House.

Any bill whether emanating from the House or the Senate carrying an appropriation or which may involve any financial obligation either present or future on the part of the State, which has been previously referred by the Speaker under the Rules to any Committee of the House other than the Committee on Appropriations shall, after the same has been reported back to the House, be referred, or if originally introduced by a committee, referred to the Committee on Appropriations for action by that Committee before the second reading of the bill, and the fact that any such bill referred to any committee other than the Committee on Appropriations carries an appropriation shall be noted by the committee to which it was referred in the report of such committee returning the same.

Any bill whether emanating from the House or the Senate which creates any new department, agency, commission, board or bureau or which in any way relates to or affects the organization of state government or the organization of any department or agency thereof or in any way relates to or affects the official rights, powers or duties of any official, department or agency of the state government or any institution under its control, except the University of Minnesota, which has been previously referred by the Speaker under the Rules to any Committee, other than the Committee on Civil Administration, shall after the same has been reported back to the House, be re-referred, or if originally introduced by a Committee, referred to the Committee on Civil Administration for action by that Committee before the second reading of the bill, and the fact that any such bill referred to any Committee other than the Committee on Civil Administration, relates to or affects any matters specified in this paragraph shall be noted by the Committee to which it was referred in the report of such Committee returning the same.

RECORDS AND REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

6. The Chairman, or Acting Chairman, of each committee shall keep, or cause to be kept, a record on which shall be entered:

- (a) The time and place of each hearing and of each meeting of the committee.
- (b) The attendance of committee members at each meeting.

(c) The name of each person, except members of the House and Senate, appearing before the committee, with the name of the person or persons, association, firm or corporation in whose behalf the appearance is made.

Any member of any committee may demand a roll call on any bill, resolution, or amendment before the committee and upon such demand being made and not otherwise the roll call shall be called on such bill, resolution or amendment, and a record of the vote of each member thereon made and kept; and the name of the member making such demands shall also be recorded.

Such record shall be approved at the next regular meeting of the committee.

Such record shall be filed with the Chief Clerk during the session of the Legislature and at the expiration thereof shall be filed with the Secretary of State; and such records shall be open to the public inspection at all times.

The chairman of a committee reporting the action taken by his committee upon bills submitted to it shall do so upon the form provided for such reports, stating the date of the meeting when such action was taken, and shall authenticate the same by his signature. Any number of bills may be embodied in one report; but at the request of any member the report may be divided by excepting any bill therefrom and if this be done the bill so excepted may be acted upon independently from the report as a whole.

The report of any committee, or any part thereof, may be laid upon the table for a day and printed in the Journal, if so ordered by the House.

In the event of a minority report, the majority and minority reports shall be made separately from the regular committee reports.

QUORUM ON COMMITTEES

7. A majority of the members of any standing or special committee shall constitute a quorum. This rule shall not apply to the Committee on Judiciary, where seven members shall constitute a quorum; nor to the Committee on Appropriations where thirteen members shall constitute a quorum.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

8. All bills, concurrent resolutions, memorials, orders, resolutions and votes requiring the approval of the Governor, shall, after a second reading, be considered in a Committee of the Whole before they shall be finally acted upon by the House. Unless otherwise ordered bills, resolutions authorizing the expenditure of money, and joint memorials to Congress only, shall require a second and third reading.

THIRD READING OF BILLS

9. No amendment shall be received on the third reading except to fill blanks or to amend titles, without the unanimous consent of the House; and all bills and resolutions made, at any time previous to their passage, be committed or re-committed only by majority votes of the whole House. If any amendment be reported upon by such commitment or re-commitment by any other than a Committee of the Whole, it shall be read a second time, considered in the Committee of the Whole and question for third reading and passage again put.

DISPOSITION OF SENATE BILLS

10. When a Senate file has been received by the House, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to the appropriate standing committee; provided, however, that when a Senate file is received the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of a House file, which has already been considered by one of the Committees of the House and is on General Orders or the Calendar, such Senate file shall be referred to the Committee on Enrollment and Engrossment for comparison, which Committee shall report forthwith whether the said Senate file is identical with the House file. And, if reported identical, such Senate file may, by majority vote, be substituted for the House file (the latter in such case being considered withdrawn) and shall take the place of the House file; provided, however, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered on the Journal.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

11. The Committee of the Whole shall mean and include a committee of the entire membership of the House. When the House has arrived at the General Orders of the Day, they shall go into a Committee of the Whole upon General Orders. And unless a particular bill is ordered up, the Committee of the Whole shall consider, act upon or pass the General Orders according to order of their reference.

In forming a Committee of the Whole, the Speaker shall appoint a chairman to preside.

Bills committed to the Committee of the Whole shall, in the Committee of the Whole thereon, be first read through, unless the Committee shall otherwise order, and then read and debated by sections, leaving the title to be last considered. All amendments shall be in writing, in triplicate, and reported to the House by the Chairman.

RULES OF THE HOUSE TO APPLY TO THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

12. The Rules of the House shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except that the yeas and nays shall not be called, the previous question forced, and speaking limited.

Provided that in the Committee of the Whole, there shall be a record vote on any amendment increasing the amount or amounts carried by any appropriation bill.

A motion that the committee arise shall always be in order and shall be decided without debate.

GENERAL ORDERS OF THE DAY

13. The Speaker shall cause the Chief Clerk to make out a list of all bills, resolutions and reports of committees, which have not been made a Special Order, and to number the same. This list shall be called "General Orders of the Day"; and items listed thereon shall be taken up in the order in which they are numbered, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the Committee. General Orders, together with all bills included therein required to be printed under the Rules or Orders of the House, shall be printed and placed upon the members' desks at least two days before the same are to be considered in the Committee of the Whole.

Each member of the House shall leave on or under the desk, each time the House adjourns for the day, his file binder for bills. It shall be the duty of the Clerk of the House to have placed in each binder one copy of each bill printed under the Rules or Orders of the House at least forty-eight hours before the same shall be considered in the Committee of the Whole, and under the first Order of Business each day said Clerk shall report to the House what bills he has placed in the binders.

If progress is reported on a bill by the committee for three days, such bill shall go to the foot of General Orders, unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote.

SPECIAL ORDERS

14. Bills may be made the Order of the Day for a special time. Such bills shall be entered upon a separate list known as "Special Orders." Bills may be made a Special Order by a two-thirds vote of the whole House upon two days' notice. The motion pursuant to said notice may be made only by the member giving the same or another member designated by him in writing in possession of the Speaker. Such notice shall state the House File number or Senate File number, as the case may be, and the title of the bill to be made a Special Order and shall specify the day upon which the motion for such Special Order is to be made and that such Special Order will be set for a day certain. The time within which said motion may be made pursuant to said notice shall not be extended and if the member giving such notice or the person so designated by him, as the case may be, shall fail to make the motion for a Special Order on the day specified therein, his right to make the same pursuant to said notice shall expire. Appropriation bills introduced by the Appropriations Committee of the House, or by the Finance Committee of the Senate coming into the possession of the House during the last ten days of the session, may be made a Special Order without notice. A motion to make a bill a Special Order when made as heretofore prescribed, shall be a privileged motion, shall take precedence over all other motions except the motion to fix the time to adjourn, the motion to adjourn and questions of personal privilege, and may be made at any time on the day designated in the notice and shall not be suspended except by a three-fourths vote of the whole House.

Any special Order, or any part thereof, may be continued or postponed by two-thirds vote of the whole House at the time of such Special Order.

When the time arrives for the consideration of any Special Order, the House shall proceed to the consideration of the bill or bills upon the said Special Order in the order in which they are respectively listed; and after consideration they shall immediately be read the third time and placed upon final passage.

DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES OF OFFICERS AND MEMBERS
DUTIES OF THE SPEAKER

15. (a) The Speaker shall preside over the House, and be charged with all the powers and duties pertaining to such presiding officer.

(b) He shall preserve order and decorum, and in case of disorderly conduct or disturbance in the galleries or the lobby, he or the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole may order the same to be cleared.

(c) He shall have general control, except as provided by rule or law, of the hall of the House and of the corridors and the passages and of the rooms assigned to the use of the House, until further ordered.

(d) He shall sign all acts, addresses, joint resolutions, writs, warrants and subpoenas of or issued by order of the House and all vouchers for the payment of money out of the legislative expense fund of the House, and except as otherwise ordered by the House, money shall be paid out of said fund only upon voucher signed by the Speaker.

The Speaker shall not vote on appeals from his own decisions.

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

16. The presiding officer may call a member to the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment. In the absence of the presiding officer, one of the members shall be selected by a majority vote to preside temporarily, until the return of the regular presiding officer.

DUTIES OF MEMBERS

17. When the House adjourns, the members shall keep their seats until the Speaker announces the adjournment.

Every member, before speaking, shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the Speaker, but shall not proceed to speak further until recognized by the Chair. When two or more members rise at once, the Speaker shall designate which shall speak first.

EXPLAINING OR CHANGING VOTE

18. No member shall be allowed to explain his vote or discuss the question while the yeas and nays are being taken; and no member shall be allowed to change his vote after the same is announced from the Chair.

NAME OF MEMBER OFFERING BILLS, ETC., TO GO ON JOURNAL

19. In all cases where a bill, order, resolution or motion shall be entered on the Journal of the House, the name of the member offering the same, shall be entered on the Journal.

ABSENCE OF MEMBERS AND OFFICERS

20. No member or officer of the House shall, unless from illness or some other sufficient cause he be unable to attend, absent himself from any session of the House during the entire day without having first obtained leave of absence from the Speaker.

DUTIES OF THE CHIEF CLERK AND ASSISTANTS OR EMPLOYEES

21. Neither the Chief Clerk nor his assistants or employees shall permit any records or papers belonging to the House to be taken out of their custody otherwise than in the regular course of business. The Chief Clerk shall report any missing papers to the Speaker. He shall have general supervision of all clerical duties appertaining to the business of the House; shall perform under the direction of the Speaker, all the duties pertaining to his office, and shall keep a book showing the situation and progress of bills, memorials, and joint resolutions.

CLERICAL CORRECTIONS TO BILLS

22. (a) Minor clerical errors in any bill, memorial, or resolution, such as errors in orthography or grammar, or the incorrect use of one word for another (as "affect" for "effect"), or wrong numbering of references, whether such errors occur in the original bill or any amendment thereto, shall be corrected by the Chief Clerk, as a matter of course, upon the approval of the Chairman of any committee to which the bill was referred.

(b) The Chief Clerk shall insert the enacting clause in any bill before its passage if the same shall have been omitted.

(c) Any corrections made by the Chief Clerk under this rule shall be noted by him in the Journal.

(d) Webster's New International Dictionary shall be the standard authority in matters falling under the above rules.

NO ONE TO REMAIN BY THE CLERK'S DESK

23. No member, or other person, shall remain by the Clerk's desk when the yeas and nays are being called.

DUTIES OF THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

24. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to execute all orders of the House or of its presiding officer; to perform all duties that may, from time to time, be assigned to him connected with the policing and good order of the House; to exercise supervision over the ingress and egress of all persons to and from the Chamber; to see that all messages, etc., are promptly executed; and that the hall is properly ventilated and open for the use of the members; and to perform all other services pertaining to the office of Sergeant-at-Arms.

MOTIONS TO RECESS

25. All motions to recess for the purpose of granting the privilege to any person or persons to appear before the House during said recess shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, and no such motion shall be acted upon without a favorable report from said committee.

ORDER IN DEBATE

26. No member shall speak more than twice on the same subject without leave of the House, nor more than once until every other member wishing to speak on the pending question shall have spoken.

MOTIONS

27. No motion shall be debated or put unless the same be seconded. It shall be stated by the Speaker before debate, and any such motion shall be reduced to writing if the Speaker or any other member requires it.

After a motion has been stated by the Speaker, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the House, but may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before amendment or decision; but all motions, resolutions or amendments shall be entered in the Journal unless withdrawn the same day.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

28. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order except during roll call.

When a motion to adjourn is made and seconded it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state any fact to the House, relative to the condition of the business of the House, which would seem to render it improper to adjourn at that time. Such statement, however, shall not be debatable and shall not, in any case, occupy more than two minutes.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS

29. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but:

1. Fix time to which to adjourn.
2. To adjourn.
3. To lay on the table.
4. For the previous question.
(Which four motions shall be decided without debate.)
5. To commit.
6. To postpone to a day certain.
7. To amend.
8. To postpone indefinitely.

These several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order; but the previous question having been seconded, and the main question ordered, a motion to lay on the table shall not be in order.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION

30. (a) The previous question shall be in this form: "The Gentleman from ——— moves the previous question. Do fifteen members second the motion?" If the motion be properly seconded, the question shall be stated as follows: "As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'no'." There shall be a motion for the previous question, which, being ordered by a majority of all members present, shall have the effect to cut off debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions upon which it has been ordered.

The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions allowable under the rules or an amendment or amendments; or it may be made to embrace all authorized motions or amendments and include the bill to its passage or rejection.

(b) On a motion for the previous question and prior to the ordering of the same, a call of the House shall be in order, but after a majority shall have ordered the previous question, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

(c) When the previous question is decided in the negative it shall leave the main question under debate for the residue of the sitting, unless sooner disposed of by taking a vote, on the question or in some other manner.

INCIDENTAL QUESTIONS OF ORDER

31. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question during the pendency of such motion, or after the House shall have determined that the main question now be put, shall be decided whether on appeal or otherwise without debate.

PETITIONS, ETC.—HOW PRESENTED

32. Petitions, memorials and other papers presented to the House shall be presented by the Speaker or member in his place, and a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally, and endorsed thereon, together with the name of the member introducing the same.

EVERY MEMBER TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED

33. Every member who shall be present before the vote is declared from the chair, shall vote for or against the matter before the House, unless the House shall excuse him, or unless he is immediately interested in the question, in which case he shall not vote.

PROCEDURE IN EXCUSING MEMBER FROM VOTING

34. When a member declines to vote on a call of his name, he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor; and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the House, "Shall the member, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the vote has been taken and before the chair has announced the vote, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

ORDER DURING SESSION

35. When the Speaker is putting the question, no member shall walk out of or across the House, nor when a member is speaking shall any other member entertain any private discourse or pass between the speaking member and the chair.

ORDER OF PUTTING QUESTION

36. All questions, whether in committee or in the House, shall be put in the order in which they are moved, except in the case of privileged questions, and in filling up blanks the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

DIVISION OF A QUESTION

37. If the question in debate contains several points any member may have the question divided. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

QUESTIONS OF ORDER

38. If any member of the House, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules, the speaker shall (or any member may) call him to order, in which case he shall immediately sit down unless permitted on motion of another member to explain, and the House, if appealed to, shall decide in either case without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise; and if the case require it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the House may deem proper.

CALLED TO ORDER FOR OFFENSIVE WORDS IN DEBATE

39. If any member be called to order for offensive words in debate the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the clerk's desk and no member shall be held to answer, or be subjected to the censure of the House, for language used in debate if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

MEMBERS MAY DEMAND YEAS AND NAYS

40. The yeas and nays shall not be ordered unless demanded by 15 members, except upon final passage of bills, joint resolutions, and motions directing the payment of money. In these cases yeas and nays shall be ordered without demand.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO DEBATE

41. Upon any member giving notice of his intention to debate any resolution, the same shall lie over one day without debate or any other action. This notice of intention to debate may be given at any time before the vote is taken on the resolution.

CALL OF THE HOUSE

42. Ten members may demand a call of the House and require absent members to be sent for; but a call of the House cannot be made after the voting has commenced, and such call being ordered, the doors shall be closed and no member permitted to leave the chamber until the call is suspended. And, pending the call, no motion shall be made in order except it pertains to matters incidental to the call or motion to suspend further proceedings under the same, provided that the call shall not be suspended until a record of those present has been completed. Thereafter the call may be suspended by majority vote of the whole House only when all members are present or at any time by a two-thirds vote of the whole House. After the call of the House has been ordered and proceedings thereunder are suspended, the Sergeant-at-Arms shall not permit any member to leave the chamber unless excused by the Speaker.

SUSPENSION OF THE RULES TO HASTEN A BILL

43. Every bill shall be read on the three different days, unless, in case of urgency, two-thirds of the whole House deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed until it shall have been read at length twice, provided that no motion for suspension of the rules to advance a bill for consideration out of its regular order shall be made or entertained unless presented to the Speaker in writing stating the present position of the bill and then only under the order of business "Motions and Resolutions," as such order of business is reached under Rule 3. Unanimous consent must be first obtained by the member making the motion before the Speaker can entertain the motion to suspend the rules at any other time.

A motion to suspend the rules together with the subject matter to which it pertains shall be open to debate but the previous question may be applied thereto.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO MAKE A MOTION

44. Whenever unanimous consent to make a motion is requested by a member, the member as a part of such request shall state briefly the purpose of such motion and the subject matter involved.

PROCEEDINGS ON THE PASSAGE OF BILLS

45. No resolution involving the expenditure of money out of the legislative expense fund or otherwise, or joint resolution, shall be declared passed until voted for by a majority of all members elected to the House, to be determined by a roll call. All resolutions and motions involving the expenditure of money out of the legislative expense fund shall be referred to the Rules Committee before being acted upon by the House. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of its being an amendment. No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating therein any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS

46. No amendment increasing the amount or amounts carried by any appropriation bill shall be declared passed until voted for by a majority of all members elected to the House.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

47. When a question has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for the reconsideration thereof; but no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, or other official action upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the House, announcing their decision. Nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless made on the same day upon which the vote was taken, or within the next two days of actual session of the House thereafter.

Such motion shall take precedence over all other questions, except the motion to adjourn; provided, that when notice of the intention to move such reconsideration shall be given by a member, the Clerk of the House shall retain the said bill, resolution, message, report, or other official action, until after the expiration of the time during which such motion can be made, as hereinbefore provided, unless the same is previously disposed of. Such notice of intention to move reconsideration shall have precedence over the motion to reconsider, except that it shall be in order for any member who voted on the prevailing side to make the motion to reconsider on the last day allowed for the making thereof, unless the same has been previously disposed of. A motion for reconsideration having been put and lost shall not be renewed.

THE MOTION TO RESCIND

48. The motion to rescind shall not be in order at any time in any proceeding in the House or of any committee thereof.

AUTHORIZED MANUAL OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE

49. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with these rules and orders of the House and the joint rules and orders of the Senate and House of Representatives.

COMMITTEESSTANDING COMMITTEES

PURCHASING SUPPLIES

51. The Chief Clerk shall be the agent of the House of Representatives for the purchase of supplies. Before making purchases, however, it shall be his duty to consult with and get prices from the Commissioner of Administration of the State of Minnesota and then submit the same to the Rules Committee together with a list of necessary supplies, and the prices for which the same can be secured, which supplies shall then be purchased by the Chief Clerk upon the approval of the Rules Committee.

COMMITTEE ON ENGROSSMENT AND ENROLLMENT

52. The Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall examine all bills after they are engrossed, and report the same to the House "correctly engrossed" before the third reading. The said Committee may report at any time, and all bills shall be engrossed in typewriting. The Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall examine all House bills, memorials, and joint resolutions which have passed the two houses and when reported "correctly enrolled" they shall be presented to the presiding officers of the two houses for their signatures; and when so signed, to the Governor for his approval. The said Committee may report at any time, but it shall not report any bill as correctly enrolled which has the words interlined therein; or when any words have been erased therefrom and all bills shall be enrolled in typewriting. The Chairman of said Committee shall keep, or cause to be kept, a record showing the hour and date of the receipt by it of each bill and its return to the House and all bills shall be returned in the same order as that in which they are received.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

53. A Committee of Conference may report at any time. No committee except the Committee of Conference and the Committee on Rules shall sit during the sitting of the House without leave.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES

54. Special committees to whom reference shall be made shall in all cases report a state of facts and their opinions thereupon, to the House.

MEETING OF COMMITTEES

55. The Chief Clerk of the House after conference with the chairman of the various committees of the House shall prepare a schedule of committee meetings, fixing as far as practicable the date and hour which will be the regular meeting time of each committee to be first approved by a majority of the House. Should it be necessary to hold a special meeting or for any reason change temporarily the regular meeting of the committee, the notice by the chairman of said committee of such change shall be read from the desk at least one day in advance thereof, and also posted upon the bulletin board at the same time, or on a majority vote of the House, fixing the time therefor at any time. Any committee shall have the right to change the time of its meeting.

TIME LIMIT FOR CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

56. Fifteen legislative days after a bill has been referred to a committee (other than a bill for appropriations or claims) and no report has been made upon the same by such committee, the author thereof may request that such bill be returned to the House and such request shall be entered in the Journal for the day. Such committee shall then have seven calendar days thereafter in which to report back the bill requested. If the committee shall fail to report such bill back within such seven days, such author may at any time during the legislative session within five calendar days after the expiration of such seven days in writing presented to the Speaker, demand the return forthwith to the House of the bill in question, which demand shall forthwith be entered in the Journal for the day and shall constitute the demand of the House and thereupon such bill shall at once be considered to be in possession of the House and shall be placed at the foot of General Orders for the following day in the manner prescribed by Rule 13 subject to re-reference by the House. A motion for such re-reference if made on the day of such demand or within one legislative day thereafter shall take precedence over all other motions except privileged motions and shall be in order at any time.

The House may recall any bill from any committee at any time, give the same its second reading and advance the same to General Orders by a majority vote of the whole House.

SUBSTITUTIONS OF BILLS

57. No standing or special committee, nor any member or members thereof, shall report any substitute for any bill or bills referred to such committee, which substitute relates to a different subject or is intended to accomplish a different purpose from that of the original bill for which it is reported or which, if adopted and passed, would require a title essentially different from the title of the original bill; and every substitute bill so reported shall be rejected whenever the House is advised that the same is in violation of this rule. This rule shall not be suspended without the unanimous consent of the House.

EMPLOYEES

58. All propositions for the appointment of employees of the House, other than those provided by law, shall be referred to the Committee on Rules. No appointments shall be made unless favorably reported upon by such Committee or its report be overruled by three-fourths vote of the House. The said Committee shall report to the House the amount of compensation that shall be paid to each of said employees.

Any employee of the House may be assigned to other duties, suspended or discharged at any time by the Committee on Rules.

All employees shall be paid on the basis of six days a week.

This Rule shall not be construed as authorizing the employment or appointment of any employee named therein in case any employee has been appointed or authorized to be appointed or engaged by this House for such position by any rule or resolution heretofore adopted. No clerk shall be appointed for any of the committees named in this rule unless the necessity for the same is recommended by the Committee on Rules; and no clerk of the said Committee and no employee of this House shall receive any pay for any time prior to the date of appointment; and no employee or clerk mentioned in this rule shall receive any pay, compensation, gratuity or reward over and above salary named therein except upon approval of a three-fourths vote of the whole House.

No employee shall make or permit to be made any copy or copies of any journals, bills, papers, files, records or documents in his or her possession or custody or to which he or she has access, except it be upon the request of some member of the House. No journal, bill, paper, file, record or document, or copy thereof, belonging to or in the possession or custody of the House shall be furnished, or delivered to any person other than a member of the House except by or through the Chief Clerk with the approval and under the direction of the Rules Committee, and upon such terms as the Rules Committee shall prescribe and otherwise in accordance with the rules of the House, provided that this rule shall not apply to members of the House. All moneys received for any matter or service herein referred to shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the Legislative Expense Fund of the House. Any violation of this rule shall operate as a removal or discharge of the person offending.

MISCELLANEOUS RULES

VOTE REQUIRED TO SUSPEND RULES

59. No rule of the House shall be suspended, altered or amended without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the whole House, except Rules 57 and 58, which shall require the concurrence of three-fourths of all the members of the whole House. But the Committee on Rules may report at any time and any rule so reported may be adopted by the majority of the House.

PRINTING OF BILLS

60. All bills of general nature, including all bills appropriating money or lands, shall be printed, provided that no bill shall be printed until after the same shall have been favorably reported by the committee to which it shall have been referred unless ordered printed by a majority vote of the House.

In case of bills received from the Senate which have been amended in the Senate after having been printed by that body, it shall be the duty of the Committee of the House to which the same are referred to make a report to the House as to advisability or inadvisability of having the same printed. All Committee Chairmen shall be furnished with a copy of this Rule.

NEWSPAPER REPORTERS.

61. On account of the limited space available on the floor of the House, the Associated Press, United Press, The St. Paul Pioneer Press-Dispatch, the Minneapolis Star Journal, the Minneapolis Tribune, the Duluth News-Tribune, and The Duluth Herald, and any other daily or weekly newspaper published in this state in the English language having a bona fide circulation of more than twenty thousand subscribers, and no other, shall each be permitted to be represented at the press table by one regularly employed reporter who shall file with the Chief Clerk credentials to be approved by the Rules Committee.

WHO MAY BE ADMITTED ON THE FLOOR.

62. No person or persons shall be admitted within the House Chamber, corridors, or retiring room, except the members themselves, the properly authorized employees, the Chief Executive and ex-governors of the State of Minnesota, members of the Senate, the heads of departments of the state government, judges of the Supreme and District Courts, members of Congress, the properly accredited representatives of the newspapers and press associations, as herein provided for, and none other, former members of Congress or Minnesota Legislature, or any other persons when personally introduced to the Speaker by members of the House, the Speaker may issue a permit good for the day to such persons, after having satisfied himself that such person does not seek the floor of the House for the purpose of directing or using his influence upon any measure pending or otherwise before the House. It is expressly directed that the Sergeant-at-Arms shall keep the alcoves cleared (the alcoves shall be kept for members only) and at no time when the House is in session can visitors on the floor of the House who are guests of members thereof occupy the alcoves, but such persons when admitted shall be provided with a seat near the Speaker's rostrum, and at no time shall a conversation be carried on to disturb the business of the House.

It shall not be in order for the Speaker to entertain a request for the suspension of this rule, or to present from the chair the request of any member for unanimous consent unless, however, an extraordinary condition exists, in which event he may consent to entertain a motion for its suspension.

CONSTRUCTION, RULE AS TO.

63. In consideration of the terms "majority vote," "vote of the House," and "vote of the whole House," as used in these rules, the first two phrases shall be deemed a majority of the members present at the particular time, and the last phrase to mean a majority vote of all the members elected to the House at the particular session of the Legislature.

Words used in these Rules in the singular shall include the plural, unless the context indicates a contrary intention.

BULLETIN BOARD.

64. The Chief Clerk shall prepare a bulletin board, upon which shall be posted a list of committee meetings and any other announcements or notice the House may require.

TOPICAL INDEX.

65. The Index Clerk, under the supervision of the Chief Clerk, shall prepare a topical card index, in which bills may be indexed by number, author, subject, section of the code amended, the committees and any other subject that will make it a complete and comprehensive index, and to be made a permanent file to be used by all succeeding Chief Clerks. The topical index shall be filed with the Secretary of State after the expiration of the session of the Legislature and the cards constituting the record shall be retained open for public inspection at all times.

VISITING PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

66. No leave of absense shall be granted any committee, special or standing, to visit any public institution of the state, or for any other purpose. Whenever any committee shall report to the House that it is desirable that such committee receive information concerning a public institution, the House may, by a majority vote of the whole House, grant a leave of absense to not more than three members of such committee, to be designated by the chairman thereof. Application for a leave of absense of such members of a committee shall be made to the House in writing, by the chairman thereof, and such application shall give the name of the institution or institutions to be visited and to briefly recite the occasion and necessity for visiting the same together with the names of the committee-men designated for that purpose and the name of the stenographer to accompany such committee-men if one is necessary. Such application shall immediately and without debate be referred to the Committee on Rules, with instructions to report upon the same on the next legislative day. Said members and their stenographers, if any, shall be allowed their actual expenses.

AUTHORING ELECTRICAL DEVICE

67. Unless otherwise ordered any vote, except upon elections and upon the overriding of a Governor's veto, may be taken by means of the electrical voting system which shall be under the control of the Speaker of the House.

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE

JOINT CONVENTIONS—HOW GOVERNED

1. The Speaker of the House shall preside at all conventions of the two branches of the Legislature, and shall call the members to order. The Chief Clerk of the House shall be the Secretary, and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House shall be the Sergeant-at-Arms at the convention.

DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT

2. The President of the convention shall preserve order and decorum, may speak on all points of order in preference to other members; shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the convention by any member. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

QUESTIONS—HOW STATED

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be), say 'Aye,'" and after an affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say 'No.'" If the President doubts, or a division be called, the convention shall decide—those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise and afterwards those in the negative.

PRESIDENT'S RIGHT TO VOTE

4. The President shall have the right of voting in all cases except on an appeal from his decision, and on all questions he shall vote last.

ORDER OF DEBATE

5. When any member is about to speak or deliver any matter to the convention, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and confine himself to the question under debate and avoid personalities.

6. Whenever any member is called to order he shall be seated until the point of order is determined; and if called to order for words spoken in debate the exceptional words shall be reduced to writing immediately.

7. When two or more members rise at the same time, the President shall name the member who is in order.

8. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, without permission of the convention.

CALL OF THE CONVENTION

9. Any five members may move a call of the convention, and require absent members to be sent for, but a call cannot be made after voting is commenced; and a call being ordered and the absentees noted, the doors shall be closed and no member permitted to leave the hall until the report of the Sergeant-at-Arms be received and acted upon, or further proceedings under the call are suspended by a vote of the majority of all the members of the convention.

EITHER HOUSE MAY AMEND, ETC.

10. It shall be in the power of either House to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

BILLS—HOW ENROLLED AND SIGNED

11. After a bill, memorial or resolution shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled in typewriting by the enrolling clerk of the House in which it originated. The Senate and House Committees on Enrolled Bills, acting jointly, shall then carefully compare the enrollment with the engrossed copies as passed by the two Houses, and after correcting all errors that may be discovered in the enrollment, report the same as correctly enrolled to their respective Houses. They shall then obtain the signatures and certificates of the proper officers to the enrolled copies, present the same to the Governor for his approval, and report the date of such presentation to their respective Houses.

ELECTIONS BY JOINT CONVENTIONS

12. Whenever there shall be an election of any officers in Joint Convention, the result shall be certified by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, and by them announced to their respective Houses, and shall be entered on the Journal of each and communicated to the Governor by the Secretary of the convention.

COMMITTEES OF CONFERENCE

13. In all cases of disagreement between the Senate and House on amendments, adopted by either House to a bill, memorial or resolution passed by the other House, a Committee of Conference, consisting of not less than three members, nor more than five members from each House, may be requested by either House, and the other House shall appoint a similar committee. The manner of procedure shall be as follows: The Senate, for instance, passes a bill and it is duly transmitted to the House, which body adopts an amendment to the bill and passes the bill as amended, returning the same with the record of the actions of the House, to the Senate; the Senate refuses to concur in the House amendment, asks for a Committee of Conference, appoints such a committee on the part of the Senate, and with a record of the action of the Senate, returns the bill to the House; if the House adheres to its amendment, a like committee is appointed on the part of the House. The joint committee shall at a convenient hour agreed upon meet and state to each other, verbally or in writing, the reason of their respective Houses for or against the disagreement, and confer thereon, and shall report to both Houses such agreement as they may arrive at, if any—and if not, the fact of a disagreement. The House last having possession of the bill before the conference commences shall first act upon such report, if an agreement is reported, and duly transmit the same with the record of its action thereon to the other House together with the bill.

EITHER HOUSE MAY RECEDE, ETC.

APPROPRIATIONS OF MONEY—HOW MADE

15. The same bill shall not appropriate public money or property to more than one local or private purpose.

A bill for legislative expense shall be passed in both branches of the Legislature in the same manner as other bills carrying an appropriation are passed, and approved by the Governor, and the fund provided by such appropriation shall be designated as the "Legislative Expense Fund" from which money shall be paid out by the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the House as herein provided.

Payment out of the Legislative Expense Fund for all supplies for the Senate shall be made upon proper certification by the Secretary of the Senate, upon approval of the Senate Committee on Rules.

Payment out of the Legislative Expense Fund for all supplies for the House of Representatives shall be made upon proper certification by the Chief Clerk of the House upon approval of the House Committee on Rules.

The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House with the approval of the Speaker of the House, are each hereby authorized and empowered to employ from the stenographic and clerical force of the Senate and House respectively, for not to exceed five days after the close of the Session, such employees as may be necessary to finish the business of the Legislature for such Session, at salaries not to exceed the salaries paid such employees under the rules of the Senate or House, as the case may be.

Persons so employed by the Secretary of the Senate shall upon proper certification by the Secretary of the Senate, and persons so employed by the Chief Clerk of the House shall upon proper certification by the Chief Clerk of the House, be paid for such services out of the Legislative Expense Fund of the Legislature for such Session.

No certificate authorizing the payment of any money appropriated by the Legislature shall be issued by the Secretary of the Senate or by the Clerk of the House by virtue of any motion or resolution, unless such motion or resolution shall have been carried by a majority of all members of the House in which it was introduced.

No cause appropriating money for a local or private purpose shall be contained in a bill appropriating money for the state government or public institutions, and all resolutions authorizing the issuing of certificates by the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the House for the payment of money shall be upon the call of the "yeas" and "nays."

Within sixty legislative days after the convening of the Legislature in regular session and at least twenty days prior to the adjournment thereof, the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Appropriations of the House shall report to their respective Houses six separate appropriation bills as follows:

1. A bill appropriating money for the general administrative and judicial expenses of the state government for the succeeding two fiscal years including salaries, office expenses and supplies and other necessary expenses connected therewith.

2. A bill appropriating money for the support and maintenance of all state penal and charitable institutions, and other institutions of the state except educational for the two succeeding fiscal years.

3. A bill appropriating money for the support and maintenance of all state educational institutions for the two succeeding fiscal years.

4. A bill covering all appropriations providing for the payment of claims against the State of Minnesota which may have been allowed by the Finance Committee of the Senate or the Appropriations Committee of the House.

5. A bill covering all appropriations made to aid in the maintenance of state or county fairs including parks, fish hatcheries and other semi-state activities.

6. A bill covering all appropriations relating to public welfare.

No other appropriations shall be contained in any of said bills but all other appropriations shall be contained in separate bills.

RULES OF JOINT CONVENTION

16. The rules of the House shall be the rules of the Joint Convention of both Houses in all cases where the foregoing rules are not applicable.

TITLE OF BILLS SHALL EXPRESS THEIR SUBJECT

17. The subject of each bill shall be clearly expressed in the title and when a bill is amendatory of an existing act, it shall not be sufficient to refer to the chapter, section or page, but the subject thereof shall be clearly stated.

PART II.

I. HISTORY

MINNESOTA

A BRIEF SKETCH OF MINNESOTA HISTORY*

The development of Minnesota has been conditioned to no slight degree by the glaciers that in the ice ages covered most of its area. Their story is written in the thousands of lakes left in their wake; in the terminal moraines that rise as bluffs and mounds to give a varied aspect to the scenery; and in the deep rich soil, ground fine by the age-long passage of ice rivers. Glacial action may even explain the presence in eastern and northern Minnesota of splendid pine and hardwood forests; and it may account for the absence of trees on the prairies that stretch away to the south and west.

French, English, and American explorers found their way into the region at surprisingly early dates through the innumerable waterways left as glacial imprints. By the main highways of water that lead into the heart of Minnesota—the Red, the St. Louis, the Pigeon, and the Mississippi and its tributaries, the Minnesota and the St. Croix—came traders in their light birch canoes, lured by the treasures of furs and skins that brought fortunes in distant European and Asiatic markets; explorers to seek the elusive Northwest Passage or to set up claims to an inland empire; and settlers who were to build the foundations of a commonwealth. These lakes and streams not only have influenced the course of Minnesota's history, but they have also by their beauty entered into the very concept of "Minnesota," an Indian name probably meaning "cloud-tinted water."

Scarcely were the Pilgrim Fathers settled on their rocky shore when the exploration of the Minnesota region began. Who the white man was that first trod its soil may never be known, but Radisson and Groseilliers seem to have been the first to leave written records of their visits. Radisson's narratives of his "voyages" into the "upper country" not long after the middle of the seventeenth century record vividly the life of the native tribes at the beginning of their contacts with the white men and before the clashes between the Sioux and Chippewa Indians that pushed the former back from Lake Superior and from the region of Wisconsin. The Chippewa, armed with guns and ammunition, forced the Sioux to retreat continually toward the west and south, until, when British and American traders reached the headwaters of the Mississippi after the close of the French régime in 1763, the Chippewa were living in the former habitat of the Sioux, and the latter had become a prairie tribe with an inveterate hatred for their Chippewa aggressors.

Best known among the many Frenchmen who made their way into the Northwest after the visits of Radisson and Groseilliers were Nicolas Perrot, who in 1686 built a fort on the shores of Lake Pepin and took possession of the region in the name of the king of France; Du Lhut, who between 1679 and 1689 explored the country between the Kaministiquia, the Mississippi, and the St. Croix rivers and exercised a wise restraint over the savage tribes of the region; Michel Accault and Father Hennepin, who explored the upper Mississippi in 1680, when Hennepin discovered and named the Falls of St. Anthony; Le Sueur, a companion of Perrot at Lake Pepin in 1686, who built a post on Prairie Island in 1695 and Fort L'Huillier on the Blue Earth River in 1700; and the knightly La Vérendrye, who with his sons and his nephew, La Jemeraye, opened the great canoe route from Lake Superior to Lake Winnipeg between 1731 and 1743.

Peace between Great Britain and France in 1763 brought eastern Minnesota under the British flag. It brought also freer trade with the Indians, and as a result many traders built their palisaded forts on Minnesota rivers and lakes. Two interesting figures of the British régime were Jonathan Carver and Peter Pond. Carver spent the winter of 1766-67 on the Minnesota River and during the following summer journeyed from Prairie du Chien to Grand Portage with Captain James Tute's expedition, which, inspired by Robert Rogers of Mackinac, intended to cross the continent in quest of the Northwest Passage. The plan had to be given up, but Carver later wrote and published an account of his travels which became a "best seller" of its day and gave to thousands on both sides of the Atlantic their first information about the Minnesota country. Pond, a Connecticut Yankee, spent two successive winters as a fur trader on the Minnesota River, beginning in 1773. Other traders operating in Minnesota during the British period were Jean Baptiste Perrault, who from 1783 to 1800 was an almost constant sojourner in this promised land of the fur traders; and Jean Baptiste Cadotte, who is believed to have opened to British traders the contested territory between the Sioux and the Chippewa in central and western Minnesota. Through northern Minnesota from the Red River to Lake Superior in the winter of 1797-98 passed David Thompson, a trader for the Northwest Company, who was also employed in determining scientifically the location of the forty-ninth parallel. His travels for the combined purpose of trade and exploration resulted in a great map of northwestern North America, and the diaries in which he recorded his observations are the earliest scientific data known to be extant on Minnesota topography.

The peace of 1783 granted to the United States the region between the Mississippi and Lake Superior, but British traders continued to ply their trade and to maintain their forts in the area until after the War of 1812, when Congress passed an act prohibiting foreigners from serving as chief traders in the fur trade of the United States. After 1816 the Northwest Company passed from the Minnesota scene, and the American Fur Company, which had been incorporated by John Jacob Astor in 1808, took up the business of exploiting Minnesota's fur resources.

To protect American traders in the region a military post originally known as Fort St. Anthony and later called Fort Snelling was established in 1819 as part of a broad scheme of frontier defense. The land on which this fort was built was obtained from the Sioux in a treaty made in 1805 by Lieutenant Zebulon M. Pike. After the Louisiana Purchase had made Minnesota west of the Mississippi American territory, Pike was sent into the region to explore the headwaters of the Mississippi, conciliate the Indians, and obtain fort sites. His selection of the site at the mouth of the Minnesota River was approved in 1817 by Major Stephen H. Long while engaged in a government reconnaissance.

With the establishment of Fort Snelling a new era began for the Minnesota country. Trade relations were opened with the Selkirk colony on the lower Red River in Canada; steamboats appeared on the Mississippi in 1823, making possible communication with the settlements to the south and east; an Indian agent, Lawrence Taliaferro, settled at the fort and exercised a wise influence over the savage tribes for twenty years; and explorers made the fort the objective or point of departure for their expeditions. Among the explorers who stopped at Fort Snelling may be mentioned Governor Lewis Cass, who attempted to find the source of the Mississippi in 1820; Giacomo C. Beltrami, an Italian explorer, who three years later sought the same objective; Major Long, whose second Minnesota journey in 1823 took him up the Minnesota and down the Red River; Henry R. Schoolcraft, who discovered Lake Itasca, the source of the Mississippi, in 1832; George Catlin, whose journey of 1836 took him to the famous pipestone quarry; Joseph N. Nicollet, whose tours in the late thirties resulted in the first scientifically accurate map of the present area of Minnesota; and Major Samuel Woods, who marched with dragoons through the Red River country in 1849.

Just at the time of the founding of the fort missionaries began to appear among the Sioux and Chippewa Indians. The Catholics, Dumoulin and Edge, were at Rainy Lake and Pembina as early as 1818. They were followed in 1829 by the Presbyterians, Coe and Stevens, and in 1831 and 1833 by the Congregationalists, Ayer, Ely, and Boutwell. In 1836 three Swiss Protestants, Gavin, Dentan, and Rossier, began a mission station at Red Wing's village; and the following year the Methodist elder, Brunson, opened a station at Kaposia. Other prominent missionaries were Dr. Williamson, Stephen Riggs, Father Ravoux, and Gideon and Samuel Pond, who labored among the Sioux; and Father Pierz, who established a church and school at Grand Portage in the early forties.

For some years before the arrival of Father Ravoux at St. Peter's, settlers had been collecting about the fort. Many of them were old voyageurs, and others were colonists from the Red River settlements. Hither in 1834 came a man who was destined for an important role in Minnesota history—Henry H. Sibley, the agent of the great American Fur Company. The Reverend Lucian Galtier came as priest to the Catholic populace in 1840 and built a little log church across the river from St. Peter's, by that time called Mendota. This chapel he dedicated in 1841 to the great missionary apostle, and from the church the settlement round about took the name St. Paul.

Meanwhile other settlements of whites had begun. In 1837 the United States government had purchased from the Indians the triangle of land between the lower St. Croix and the Mississippi, and at once lumbering camps began to dot the pine forests. Settlements began at Dakota (Stillwater), Marine, and St. Croix Falls; and in 1848 a land boom started at St. Paul. Within a year immigration had increased the population to the number requisite for a territory; and in 1849 this region, which, in whole or in part, had been successively a portion of the French, English, and Spanish empires, the Northwest Territory, and the territories of Louisiana, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Iowa, and Wisconsin, came into the Union as Minnesota Territory, with Alexander Ramsey of Pennsylvania as its first governor.

From 1849 to 1858 Minnesota remained a territory. This period witnessed the establishment of counties, the building of roads, the survey and sale of large tracts of the public domain, the extensive development of the lumber industry, and, in general, the laying of the foundations of a frontier state. One of the usual prerequisites for such a foundation is land, and until 1851 most of the land in Minnesota had not been secured from the Indians. In that year the treaties of Traverse des Sioux and Mendota opened for settlement a large tract of land in the southern and western portions of the territory, which had been occupied by the Sioux; and in 1854 and 1855 the Chipewewa Indians likewise yielded up a large area in the northeastern and north central parts of the territory. The former region was wanted by settlers, the latter by lumber interests.

After 1851 the settlement of southeastern Minnesota was rapid, especially along the valleys of the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers. The majority of settlers in the years before the Civil War were native Americans, largely New Englanders, New Yorkers, and Pennsylvanians. Many of them came in colonies or townsites parties, and the new hamlets had much of the tone of eastern villages. Education was stressed from the start, both by the territorial legislature, which in its first session evolved a comprehensive system of free public schools and in 1851 passed an act to incorporate the University of Minnesota, and by religious bodies like the Methodists and the Benedictine monks, who in 1854 and 1857, respectively, established Hamline University and St. John's University. Another characteristic of these frontier settlements was the prevalence of lyceums, reading circles, and lecture programs. A high standard was set for journalism by the early newspapers, particularly by the first newspaper, the Minnesota Pioneer, established in 1849 at St. Paul by James M. Goodhue.

Immigration was stimulated by the territorial government, which appointed a board of immigration, and by transportation agencies. This was the heyday of steamboats on the upper Mississippi, which brought settlers up the river from Galena, Dunleith, or St. Louis. A great desire for railroads was felt and expressed, but the panic of 1857 and the Civil War retarded the early movement in this direction. Even before the war, however, the immigration of Irish, Germans, Norwegians, Swedes, and other nationalities had begun, and the movement increased for many years.

By 1857 settlement had progressed so far that statehood was a possibility. The desire for land grants, which Congress could be expected to make only to states, and the need of representatives in Congress to urge the building of a Pacific railroad through Minnesota led in that year to a demand for statehood. The story of the rival conventions, Democratic and Republican, that met in St. Paul, in July, 1857, held separate sessions, and produced two constitutions almost identical in phrasing is a dramatic one. Even more so is that of how Congress kept Minnesota standing before the portals until "Bleeding Kansas" had been ministered unto, despite all Stephen A. Douglas' efforts in Minnesota's behalf. Finally, after almost a year of waiting, on May 11, 1858, Minnesota took its place among the states.

Immigration from the East and from Europe went on apace, even after the outbreak of the Civil War, but in 1862 a rude setback was experienced. In August of that year the Sioux Indians, goaded by the lack of food, the tardiness of their annual payment, and other causes, rose against the whites and massacred scores of helpless settlers in the Minnesota Valley. Fort Ridgely and New Ulm were besieged and many cabins and settlements were attacked. Two important engagements with soldiers sent out from St. Paul under General Sibley were necessary before the Sioux were quelled. Most of the Indians who did not escape to the plains or to Canada were captured and sent to a reservation beyond the boundaries of the state. Thirty-eight of those found guilty of gross offenses were hanged. Many of the newer settlements were almost depopulated as a result of this uprising and it was many years before the hysteria and hatred of the Indian to which it gave rise were obliterated.

The settlement of Minnesota continued until the early 20th century. First the southeast and middle sections of the state were settled, then the south and west, and, finally, the northeast, which still remains sparsely populated. Earlier immigrants came from northern Europe; in the later period there were added Minnesota's population Finns, Poles, Czechs, Slovaks, Russians, Italians, Greeks, and other nationalities.

The building of railroads in the state began with ten miles of road completed between St. Paul and St. Anthony in 1862. This line was constructed by the St. Paul and Pacific, the road that was reorganized under the leadership of James J. Hill in 1879 and eventually became the Great Northern. The first road to connect Minnesota with the Pacific coast, the Northern Pacific, was completed under the guidance of Henry Villard in 1883.

During the years following the Civil War the lumber resources of the state were intensively exploited. Minneapolis and Duluth owed their rapid growth during the seventies and eighties in part to the milling and shipping of lumber. In 1905 the production of lumber reached its peak with the cutting of two billion feet of timber.

In the early sixties agriculture in Minnesota emerged from the frontier subsistence type of farming and in the next two decades developed into commercial farming, devoted largely to a single crop. The state became one of the world's great wheat-producing centers. Beginning in 1880, however, wheat gradually gave way to corn as the staple produce, and agriculture became diversified. Dairying did not become an important industry in Minnesota until the early eighties, but its development since then has been rapid, especially during the last two decades. Minnesota now produces more butter than any other state, and there has been a remarkable growth of marketing through farmers' co-operative creameries. The rise and decline of wheat raising in Minnesota are reflected in the story of the Minneapolis flour mills. Between 1870 and 1890 they gained a position of undisputed leadership in the milling industry, a rank that they held until 1915. Since that time, however, the output of the mills has declined.

Rich beds of iron ore were discovered in the northeastern section of the state in the last decades of the nineteenth century. In 1884 the first shipment of ore was made from the Vermillion Range, finding its way to Lake Superior and eastern markets by way of Two Harbors. Later Duluth developed into an important lake port for the shipment of ore from the Mesabi Range, discovered by the Merritt brothers in 1890, and the Cuyuna Range. Minnesota became a national center for iron mining.

In the years following the Civil War the state gradually assumed increased responsibility for the care of poor, sick, and defective citizens. The first of six hospitals for the insane was opened at St. Peter in 1866; since then colonies for epileptics, hospitals for consumptives, and schools for feeble-minded, deaf, blind, dependent, and indigent crippled children have been established. The organization of a state board of health in 1872 was followed by the passage of laws compelling quarantine for contagious diseases, establishing a bureau of vital statistics, setting standards for pure foods, and in other ways meeting the requirements of new social points of view.

Cultural and educational transition and development have marked the state's progress. The University of Minnesota opened its doors in 1869 and in the decades that followed sought to meet and serve the changing needs of the state in higher education under such leaders as Folwell, Northrop, Vincent, Burton, Coffman, and Guy Stanton Ford. Musical organizations became active in St. Paul as early as the sixties, and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra can trace its beginnings to a musical society of the seventies. Free libraries appeared in the cities in the eighties, and the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts was incorporated in 1883. The woman's movement had reached the state about 1870, when women's clubs began to appear and the state suffrage association had its origin. Athletics and outdoor sports attracted increasing interest in the eighties and nineties. In the field of literature Minnesota has produced noted authors and critics. Rølvaag, Lewis, and others have pictured Minnesota scenes in novels that have won wide acclaim; Firkins and Upson have won distinction in criticism and poetry; and Neill and Folwell have contributed outstanding historical studies.

The first Minnesota state governor was a Democrat, Henry H. Sibley. The Republican party, which put Ramsey in the governor's chair in 1860, was dominant for a generation after the Civil War, giving the state such governors as Miller, Marshall, Austin, Davis, Pillsbury, Hubbard, McGill, Merriam, Nelson, and Clough. Challenges from the Democrats and third parties increased toward the end of the century and in 1898 John Lind won the governorship. The Republicans, with Van Sant, then held the office for two terms, when John A. Johnson, Democrat, appeared and carried the state three times. Eberhart, Republican, was followed by Hammond, Democrat, and he in turn by Burnquist, Preus, and Christianson, Republicans. Donnelly was a leader of the agrarian movement in its early years; the nonpartisan league, with the elder Charles A. Lindbergh among its leaders, appeared in the World War years; and the Farmer-Labor party, organized after the war, elected Floyd B. Olson governor in 1930. Governor Olson's career was cut short by his death in office on August 22, 1936, and his position was filled by Hjalmar Petersen until Elmer A. Benson took office in 1937. The Republican party returned to power in the state elections of 1938. Governor Harold E. Stassen was inaugurated as the state's chief executive in 1939. United States senators from Minnesota have included such men as Rice, Shields, Ramsey, Windom, Washburn, Nelson, Clapp, Kellogg, and the present incumbents, Henrik Shipstead and Joseph H. Ball.

No brief sketch can gather up the many forces that have played parts in developing the commonwealth of Minnesota or call the long roll of its distinguished sons and daughters. The people of the state naturally have been influenced by all the factors that have been fundamental in modern American life generally. To the national life, too, the state and its people have made notable contributions both in wars—Civil, Spanish-American, and World—and in the pursuits of peace—statesmanship, the church, with Bishop Whipple and Archbishop Ireland notable figures, science, invention, the arts, and the professions. From the day of the explorers to the present time, Minnesota has been intimately bound to the larger world in which its transition from wilderness to commonwealth has had its setting.

THE NORTHWEST ANGLE

The Northwest Angle—that detached, isolated part of Lake of the Woods County separated from the rest of Minnesota by the Lake of the Woods and bounded on the north and west by Canadian territory—has a very deep historical interest.

In 1731 an expedition under Pierre Gaultier de Varennes, sieur de la Vérendrye, French voyageur, explorer, and fur trader, arrived at the mouth of the Kaministiquia River on the north shore of Lake Superior. The expedition was authorized by King Louis XV and Charles de Beauharnois, governor of New France, to search for the Western Sea; and La Vérendrye was promised a monopoly of the fur trade beyond Lake Superior—a promise which won financial support for his undertaking from Montreal merchants. That winter a detachment of the expedition built Fort St. Pierre at the western end of Rainy Lake, and the following summer, in 1732, the party crossed the Lake of the Woods and built Fort St. Charles on the north shore of Magnuson's Island at the Northwest Angle Inlet.

Fort St. Charles was the longest occupied French post on Minnesota soil. Posts were later established to the west and north, for which Fort St. Charles became important as a supply depot and as a point of departure for furs to be sent to Montreal. While some of the newer posts later overshadowed it in importance, it continued to be a scene of activity until shortly before the British conquest of New France. Ultimately the buildings were destroyed by fire, and, as the years passed, even the site of the fort was forgotten.

Toward the end of the last century interest was aroused in the early posts of the West, and in 1890, 1902, 1905, and 1907 investigations and excavations were made at the Northwest Angle, the results of which led investigators to believe that Fort St. Charles had been on the north, or Canadian, side of the inlet. In 1908 a new expedition, under the auspices of the Historical Society of St. Boniface, unearthed definite evidence that Fort St. Charles had stood, not on the north side of the inlet, but on the south, or American, side.

The Northwest Angle is the most northern point in the United States, with the exception of Alaska. Here is the lonely post office of Penasse, which receives its mail by sea plane, dog sled, or boat, as there is no road south across Manitoba to the United States. It is a natural game preserve.

On the map, the Northwest Angle appears to be carved out of Canada. It is United States territory because of the treaty makers' ignorance of the geography of the region. Following the Revolutionary War, the Treaty of Paris, signed in 1783, provided that the boundary between the United States and Canada was to follow the line of water communication from Lake Superior to the Lake of the Woods and through that lake to its northwestern point; and thence it was to run due west to the Mississippi River. Such a line, it was later found, was impossible to run; for the source of the Mississippi proved to be a considerable distance south of the Lake of the Woods. The Convention of 1818 adopted the proposal that the boundary line should run along the forty-ninth parallel, with the proviso that a boundary line should be drawn due south from the northwesternmost point of the Lake of the Woods to the forty-ninth parallel. In 1824 and 1825 the Northwest Angle Inlet was selected as the northwest point of the Lake of the Woods, and this selection was confirmed by the Webster-Ashburton Treaty of 1842.

In its final report, signed at Washington in 1931, the International Boundary Commission established the northwesternmost point of the Lake of the Woods at latitude 49° 23' 04" north, longitude 95° 09' 11" west. This point is marked in the Northwest Angle Inlet by a monument in a cast iron base set in concrete, protected by a cribwork of logs. It is about thirty miles north of the forty-ninth parallel.

In recent years there has been a revival of interest in the Northwest Angle area, and in 1940 a movement was under way to create there a state park commemorating the site of Fort St. Charles.

MINNESOTA CHRONOLOGY

- 1635. Jean Nicolet, a French explorer, spent the winter in the neighborhood of Green Bay on Lake Michigan. He took back to Montreal the first information about the Minnesota Indians.
- 1654-60. Radisson and Groseilliers, two French traders, made two expeditions into the West, reaching the Wisconsin region and possibly the Minnesota country. In 1654-56 some suppose that they went as far west as Prairie Island, in the Mississippi River between Red Wing and Hastings. In 1659-60 they again traveled in the West and came in contact with Sioux Indians.
- 1665. Father Claude Allouez, a Jesuit, established a mission at La Pointe, near Ashland, Wisconsin.
- 1679. July 2, Daniel Greysolon DuLhut (Duluth) held a council with the Sioux at their principal settlement on the shore of Mille Lacs. DuLhut, in July, 1680, by way of the St. Croix river, reached the Mississippi and met Hennepin.
- 1680. Louis Hennepin, after being held as a captive in a village of the Mille Lacs Sioux, discovered the Falls of St. Anthony, which he named in honor of his patron saint.
- 1689. May 8th, Nicholas Perrot, at his Fort St. Antoine, on the Wisconsin shore of Lake Pepin, laid formal claim to the surrounding country for France. He built a fort also on the Minnesota shore of this lake, near its outlet.
- 1695. Le Sueur built a fort or trading post on Isle Pelee, now called Prairie Island, above Lake Pepin.
- 1700. Le Sueur established Fort L'Huillier, on the Blue Earth river (near the mouth of the Le Sueur).
- 1727. The French established Fort Beauharnois near the site of Frontenac on Lake Pepin, with the Sieur de La Perriere as commander.
- 1728. Great flood in the Mississippi.
- 1731-32. La Vérendrye, his sons, and his nephew, La Jemeraye, established on the present north boundary of Minnesota two trading posts, Fort St. Pierre, near the mouth of Rainy lake, and Fort St. Charles, on the Lake of the Woods, within the present area of Minnesota.
- 1736. June 6th, the eldest son of La Vérendrye, Father Aulneau, and nineteen French voyageurs, were massacred by a war party of the Sioux on an island in Lake of the Woods.
- 1750-56. Joseph Marin and his son maintained the last French post on the upper Mississippi. It was located on Lake Pepin near the present site of Frontenac.
- 1763. By the Treaty of Versailles, France ceded the part of Minnesota, east of the Mississippi to England, the country west of the river having been ceded to Spain the previous year.
- 1766-67. Captain Jonathan Carver visited the Falls of St. Anthony and the Minnesota river. He claimed to have made a treaty with the Indians in the following spring, at a cave afterward called "Carver's Cave," within the present limits of St. Paul, by which he said

- they ceded to him a very large tract of land, long known as "Carver's Claim," but it was never recognized by the government.
- 1784-1816. The Northwest Company carried on extensive fur-trading operations in the Minnesota country and established many posts in the region. During much of the period the company's headquarters were at Grand Portage.
1800. May 7th, that part of Minnesota east of the Mississippi became a part of Indiana by the division of Ohio.
1803. April 30th, the area of Minnesota west of the Mississippi, for the preceding forty years in possession of Spain as a part of Louisiana, was ceded to the United States by Napoleon Bonaparte, who had just obtained it from Spain.
- 1805-06. Lieutenant Z. M. Pike visited Minnesota to establish government relations here, and obtained cessions, including the subsequent Fort Snelling reservation, from the Sioux.
1809. Minnesota East became part of Illinois Territory.
1812. The Sioux, Chippewa, and Winnebago under the leadership of hostile traders, joined the British during the war. Red river colony established by Lord Selkirk. June 4th the area of this state west of the Mississippi was included in Missouri Territory.
1817. The American Fur Company, under the leadership of John Jacob Astor, began trading operations in the Minnesota country.
1818. Minnesota East became part of Michigan Territory.
1819. Minnesota east of the Mississippi became a part of Crawford county, Michigan. Fort St. Anthony (renamed Fort Snelling in 1825) established, beginning as a post at Mendota occupied by troops on August 24th, under command of Colonel Henry Leavenworth. Major L. Taliaferro appointed Indian agent at the new post.
1820. Cornerstone of Fort St. Anthony, later called Fort Snelling, laid September 10th. Governor Cass visited Minnesota and made a treaty of peace between the Sioux and Chippewa at Fort St. Anthony, August 1st. Colonel Josiah Snelling took command of the post.
1823. The first steamboat arrived at Fort Snelling on May 10th. Major Stephen H. Long explored the Minnesota river, the Red River valley, and the northern frontier. Beltrami explored the region near the sources of the Mississippi.
1825. Dividing line between the Chippewa and Sioux agreed upon at Prairie du Chien.
1826. Great flood on the Red river; a part of the Selkirk colony driven to Minnesota, settling in 1827 near Fort Snelling.
1832. Schoolcraft discovered the source of the Mississippi, and named it Lake Itasca. It had been known earlier to Indians and traders as Elk Lake.
1834. The portion of Minnesota west of the Mississippi attached to Michigan. H. H. Sibley settled at Mendota as a trader for the American Fur Company. Pond brothers came to Lake Calhoun.
1835. Catlin and Featherstonhaugh visited Minnesota. Lac qui Parle mission founded.

1836. The territory of Wisconsin organized, embracing the whole area of Minnesota. Joseph N. Nicollet began his explorations in Minnesota. Catlin visited the pipestone quarries.
1837. Governor Dodge of Wisconsin made a treaty at Fort Snelling with the Chippewa, by which they ceded all their pine lands on the St. Croix and its tributaries; a treaty was also effected at Washington with a deputation of Sioux, for their lands east of the Mississippi. These treaties led the way to the first settlements from the eastern states within the area of Minnesota.
1838. Franklin Steele made a claim at the Falls of St. Anthony. Pierre Parrant built a shanty and settled on the present site of St. Paul.
1839. St. Croix county, Wisconsin, including all of Minnesota east of the Mississippi established.
1841. The "Chapel of St. Paul" built and consecrated, giving the name to the future capitol of the State.
1847. The Wisconsin constitutional convention met. The town of St. Paul surveyed, platted, and recorded in St. Croix county register of deeds' office. First improvement of the water power at the Falls of St. Anthony.
1848. May 29th, Wisconsin admitted to the Union, leaving the area of Minnesota east of the Mississippi without a government. August 26th, the "Stillwater convention" held, taking measures for a separate territorial organization, and asking that the new Territory be named Minnesota. October 30th, H. H. Sibley elected delegate to Congress.
1849. January 15th, Sibley admitted to a seat in Congress. March 3rd, the bill organizing Minnesota Territory passed. March 19th, its territorial officers appointed. June 1st, Gov. Ramsey, in a proclamation, declared the Territory organized. September 3rd, the first territorial legislature assembled. November 15th, the Minnesota Historical Society organized.
1850. Great floods. Commercial steamboating inaugurated on the Minnesota river. Census shows 6,077 inhabitants.
1851. Location of the capitol, university, and penitentiary at St. Paul, St. Anthony and Stillwater. By the treaties of Traverse des Sioux and Mendota, in July and August, the territory west of the Mississippi was opened to settlers. Rt. Rev. Joseph Cretin, first Catholic bishop of Minnesota arrived.
1853. W. A. Gorman appointed governor. The capitol building completed. Construction of Fort Ridgely begun.
1854. Celebration of the opening of the Rock Island railroad, the first road to the Mississippi river, by a mammoth excursion, which reached St. Paul on June 8. Large immigration this season and the three succeeding ones. The real estate boom commenced. Commercial flour milling begun by establishment of the "Minnesota" mill on Hennepin island.
1857. Minnesota Enabling act passed by Congress, February 26th. Gov. Samuel Medary (appointed by Buchanan) arrived on April 22d. Legislature passed a bill to remove the capitol to St. Peter, but failed to accomplish the object. Inkapaduta massacre at Springfield (now Jackson), March 26th. July 13th, constitutional convention assembled. Real estate speculation reached its height, and was checked by the financial panic, August 27th. Great revulsions and hard times. Census shows 150,037 population. October 13th, constitution adopted and state officers elected.

- 1858. State loan of $250,000 negotiated. Five million loan bill for railroads passed by the legislature, March 9th; ratified by vote of people, April 15th. Great stringency in money market. State admitted to Union May 11. State officers sworn in, May 24th. H. B. Whipple, first Episcopal bishop of Minnesota arrives.
- 1859. Hard times continued. Work on the land grant railroads ceased. Collapse of the five million scheme. First export of wheat from Minnesota.
- 1860. Federal census, 172,023.
- 1861. Civil war began. April 15th, president called for troops; the first Minnesota regiment recruited at once; June 22d, it left Fort Snelling for the seat of war.
- 1862. Call for 600,000 men. July 2d, first railroad in Minnesota opened between St. Paul and Minneapolis. August 17th, murders by Sioux at Acton; August 18th, outbreak at Lower Sioux Agency, eight miles east of Redwood Falls; 19th, New Ulm attacked; 20th, Fort Ridgely attacked; 23d, second attack on New Ulm; 30th, Fort Abercrombie besieged; September 2d, attack on Birch Coulee; September 23d, battle of Wood Lake; 26th, captives surrendered at Camp Release; military commission tried 321 Indians for murder, rape, etc.; 303 condemned to die. December 26th, 38 Indians hanged at Mankato.
- 1863. July 3d, Little Crow, leader in the Sioux War, killed. General Sibley's expedition to the Missouri river to suppress the Sioux.
- 1864. Large levies for troops. Expedition to Missouri river against Sioux under Gen. Alfred Sully. Inflation of money market. Occasional Indian raids.
- 1865. Civil war ended. Minnesota regiments returned and were disbanded. In all 22,016 troops furnished by the State. Census shows 250,099 inhabitants.
- 1866-72. Rapid railroad building; heavy immigration; real estate inflation; and "good times." White Earth Indian Reservation established. State university opened with William Watts Folwell as first president.
- 1873. January 7th, 8th, and 9th, a polar wave swept over the State; seventy persons perished. September, the Jay-Cooke failure created another panic. Grasshopper raid began and continued five seasons.
- 1877. Biennial session of Legislature amendment adopted.
- 1878. May 2d, three flour mills at Minneapolis exploded; eighteen lives lost.
- 1881. March 1st, the state capitol burned. Within the next two years the second capitol, on the same site, was built, and occupied by the legislature, January, 1883.
- 1884. January 25th, the state prison partially burned. First iron ore shipped from Vermillion Range. Cyrus Northrop became president of the University of Minnesota.
- 1889. The first electric street railway started in the State at Stillwater.
- 1890. Iron ore discovered on the Mesabi range by the Merritt brothers.
- 1892. June 7th, national Republican convention met at Minneapolis. First iron ore shipped from the Mesabi range.
- 1893. The legislature authorized the appointment of a capitol commission to select a site for a new capitol, and provided a tax of two-tenths of a mill for ten years to pay for the site and the erection - of a building. A great financial crisis caused the failure of several banks and many mercantile and manufacturing establishments in the larger cities of the State. Rev. Edward D. Neill, noted historian of Minnesota, died September 26th.

1894. Forest fires started September 1st in the neighborhood of Hinckley, in Pine county, carrying death and destruction over nearly four hundred square miles of territory, destroying the towns of Hinckley and Sandstone.
1895. Minnesota Legislature passed a child labor law.
1896. The Red Lake Indian reservation was diminished to about a quarter part of its former area, and on May 15th a large tract of agricultural and timber lands formerly belonging to that reservation was opened for settlement.
1897. July 2d, the monument at Gettysburg to the First Minnesota Regiment was dedicated.
1898. July 27th, the cornerstone of the new capitol was laid. Minnesota supplied four regiments for service in the Spanish war, being the first state, May 7th, to respond to the President's call. October 5th, the Pillager band of Chippewa attacked United States troops near Sugar Point, Leech lake.
1899. Semi-centennial of the territory and state celebrated by the old Settlers' Association, June 1st, and by the Historical Society, November 15th. John Lind became the first non-Republican governor since the Civil War.
1900. Death of Senator Cushman K. Davis, November 27th.
1901. In the Pan-American Exposition, at Buffalo, N. Y., the superior exhibits of wheat, flour, and dairy products of Minnesota caused her to be called "the Bread and Butter State." State board of control established.
1902. August 23rd, the fortieth anniversary of the Sioux war celebrated at New Ulm. Monuments and tablets erected there and at other places in the Minnesota valley.
1903. Tide of immigration into Minnesota, particularly in northern and western sections. April 22d, death of Alexander Ramsey, first territorial governor, later governor of the state, United States senator, and secretary of war.
1905. January 3d, the legislature convened for the first time in the new capitol.
1906. State Highway Commission created.
1908. The fiftieth anniversary of the admission of Minnesota to statehood was celebrated in connection with the State Fair, its attendance during the week being 326,753.
1909. Death of Gov. John A. Johnson on September 21st.
1910. Forest fires in northern Minnesota during the second and third weeks of October, in the driest autumn season on record, resulted in death to 29 people and the destruction of about $2,661,265 of property. Spooner and Baudette villages were almost entirely wiped out.
1911. The legislature ratified the proposed amendment to the United States constitution for election of U. S. senators by popular vote. George E. Vincent became president of the University of Minnesota. On October 17th, Hugh Robinson attempted the first air mail flight from Minneapolis to New Orleans, completing the portion of the journey from Minneapolis to Rock - Island, Illinois, a distance of 371 miles, and carrying 25 pounds of mail.

1912. The legislature in special session enacted a new primary election law and "corrupt practices" act. October 19th, the statue of Governor Johnson on the Capitol ground was unveiled.
1913. Dunn Good Roads Law enacted—compulsory 1 mill road tax.
1915. In November, the last bonds of indebtedness of the state resulting from the five million loan bill for railroad building, enacted in 1858, readjusted by legislation in 1881, were paid and burned. December 30th, Governor Hammond died and Lieutenant Governor Burnquist took the oath of office as his successor.
1916. In February, iron and steel manufacture and production of Portland cement, each on a very large scale, were begun at Duluth. May 29th, James J. Hill, railway builder, organizer of the Great Northern Railway system, died at his home in St. Paul. July 19-21, the National Prohibition convention was held in St. Paul.
1917. April 6th, the United States entered the World War, which began in the last days of July, 1914. During nineteen months until the war closed, Minnesota gave 107,902 men in the army service, and 15,423 in the navy, the marine corps and coast guard, an aggregate of 123,325 troops. July 1st, Marion LeRoy Burton became president of the University of Minnesota.
1918. May 11th, dedication of the building of the Minnesota Historical Society, erected by the state at a cost of $500,000. September 25th, death of Archbishop John Ireland, archbishop of St. Paul since 1888. October 12-13, forest fires after a long draught, driven by a great wind, spread over large areas in Carlton county and the south part of St. Louis county, inflicting loss of 432 lives of agricultural settlers and residents in many villages, with vast destruction of property. November 11th, signing of an armistice terminated the World War and opened a new era of reconstruction.
1920. Population of Minnesota, by the national census, 2,387,125: of Minneapolis, 380,582; of St. Paul, 234,698; of Duluth, 98,917. July 1, Lotus D. Coffman became president of the University of Minnesota, which for the year 1918-19 had an enrollment of 7,379 students. Babcock Good Roads Amendment adopted.
1921. About 300,000 tourists spend parts of the summer in the "State of Ten Thousand Lakes." Minnesota Industrial Commission established.
1922. Cyrus Northrop, president of the State University from 1884 to 1911, died April 3. The sixtieth anniversary of the Sioux massacre and war, in August, was celebrated at New Ulm, and at the State Park on the site of Fort Ridgely.
1923. April 28th, death of Knute Nelson, who was governor of this state in 1893-95, and later through twenty-eight years a United States senator.
1924. The new library building of the University of Minnesota was opened to public use in June with about 425,000 volumes and space for two million volumes. November 15th, dedication of the stadium of the University, with capacity for an audience of 51,000, "in remembrance of the thousands of Gopher soldiers who answered the great call in 1917."
1925. Reorganization of state government. Norse-American Centennial celebration in St. Paul.

- 1929. September 18, death of Dr. William W. Folwell, first president of the University of Minnesota.
- 1930. Population of Minnesota by National census, 2,563,953.
- 1932. Minnesota's nine Representatives to the 73rd Congress were elected at large. New state office building occupied.
- 1933. Legislature passed a new apportionment act dividing the state into nine Congressional districts. Diamond jubilee celebration of 75th anniversary of the admission of Minnesota to statehood.
- 1934. Extensive federal and state aid projects for relief of unemployed.
- 1935. Death of Senator Thomas D. Schall, December 22. Centennial of Sibley House, Mendota.
- 1936. Old Age Assistance Act effective March 1. Death of Governor Floyd B. Olson, August 22.
- 1937. Death of Frank Billings Kellogg, December 21, former United States senator, ambassador to Great Britain, secretary of state, co-author of the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, and World Court justice.
- 1938. Death of Lotus D. Coffman, president of the state university, September 22, succeeded by Guy Stanton Ford. Harold E. Stassen elected governor, November 8.
- 1939. Death of Dr. Charles H. Mayo, May 20, and of Dr. Wm. J. Mayo, July 28, founders of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester. Death of Pierce Butler, Associate Justice, United States Supreme Court, November 16. Reorganization of state government.
- 1940. Death of Ernest Lundeen, United States Senator from Minnesota, August 31.

DESCRIPTIVE

NAME.

This state derives its name from the river called "Minisota" by the Dakotas, pronounced "Min-nee-sotah" (Mini, water; sotah, whitishly clouded, sky-colored). For correct pronunciation, the convention held at Stillwater in 1848, to secure a territorial organization, instructed their delegates that the name of the Territory be written Minnesota.

GEOGRAPHY.

Minnesota includes the geographic center of North America. The state is bounded on the south by Iowa, on the west by South and North Dakota, on the north by Manitoba and Ontario, and on the east by Wisconsin. It extends from latitude 43 degrees 30 minutes to 49 degrees 23 minutes, and from 89 degrees 29 minutes to 97 degrees 13 minutes west longitude. It is about 406 miles long, and from its most eastern point to the extreme western point about 358 miles wide. In a foot-note on article 2 of the State constitution, the boundaries are fully defined, with explanation of the part projecting twenty-six miles north beyond the forty-ninth parallel, at the west side of the Lake of the Woods.

AREA.

In area Minnesota is the eleventh state of the Union. It contains 84,286.53 square miles, or 53,943,379 acres, of which 5,637 square miles, or 3,607,680 acres, are water. The headwaters of three great river systems are found in its limits, those of streams flowing northward to Hudson bay, eastward to the Atlantic ocean, and southward to the Gulf of Mexico. About a third of this surface, on the south and west, consists of rolling prairie. The district north and west of Lake Superior has rich iron ore ranges. On the northwest border of this state, reaching also west into North Dakota and north into Manitoba, is the very fertile and broad Red river valley, formerly the bed of the Glacial Lake Agassiz, famed for its great harvests of wheat. This ancient lake, also its large Beltrami island, are shown by the map on page 146.

RIVERS.

Few states are so well watered as Minnesota. Its navigable rivers are the Mississippi, the Minnesota, the St. Croix, the Rainy river, the St. Louis, the Red River of the North, and the Red Lake river, all of which, near their sources, have valuable water powers. Smaller streams include the Rum river and Snake river, the Cannon, Zumbro and Root rivers, the Vermilion, Crow Wing, Sauk and Elk rivers, the Blue Earth, Le Sueur, Des Moines, Cottonwood and Chippewa rivers.

LAKES.

Minnesota has about ten thousand lakes, the largest of which is Red Lake, with an area of 440 square miles, in the central northern part of the State. On the same northern slope, in St. Louis county, is the beautiful Vermilion lake. Adjoining the northeast part of the State for one hundred and fifty miles, the waters of the great Lake Superior wash its shores. On the southward slope of the State is Itasca lake, the source of the Mississippi, with Bemidji and Cass lakes, Lake Winnebagoishish, Leech Lake, and a multitude of others, all adding volume to the water of the Mississippi, eventually flowing into the Gulf of Mexico. There we have also Mille Lacs, about 200 square miles in area, the source of Rum river. The picturesque Lake Minnetonka, White Bear, Bald Eagle, the Chisago lakes, and very many more, have been much utilized as summer resorts. The northeastern and southwestern sections, likewise, have many lakes to attract the summer visitor.

ELEVATION.

The shore of Lake Superior is the lowest land in the State, 602 feet above sea level. The waters of the northeastern part of the State south of the Mesabi iron range, flow into Lake Superior, and are carried east to the Atlantic ocean. The Mississippi river, having its chief source in Lake Itasca, at 1,462 feet elevation, leaves the State at 620 feet above sea level.

The Red River of the North, beginning near Itasca, at a height of 1,500 feet above the ocean, leaves the State at an elevation of 750 feet. The average altitude of the State is about 1,250 feet. The highest elevations are the tops of the Misquah hills, near the center of Cook county, which rise about 1,630 feet above Lake Superior, or 2,230 feet above the sea.

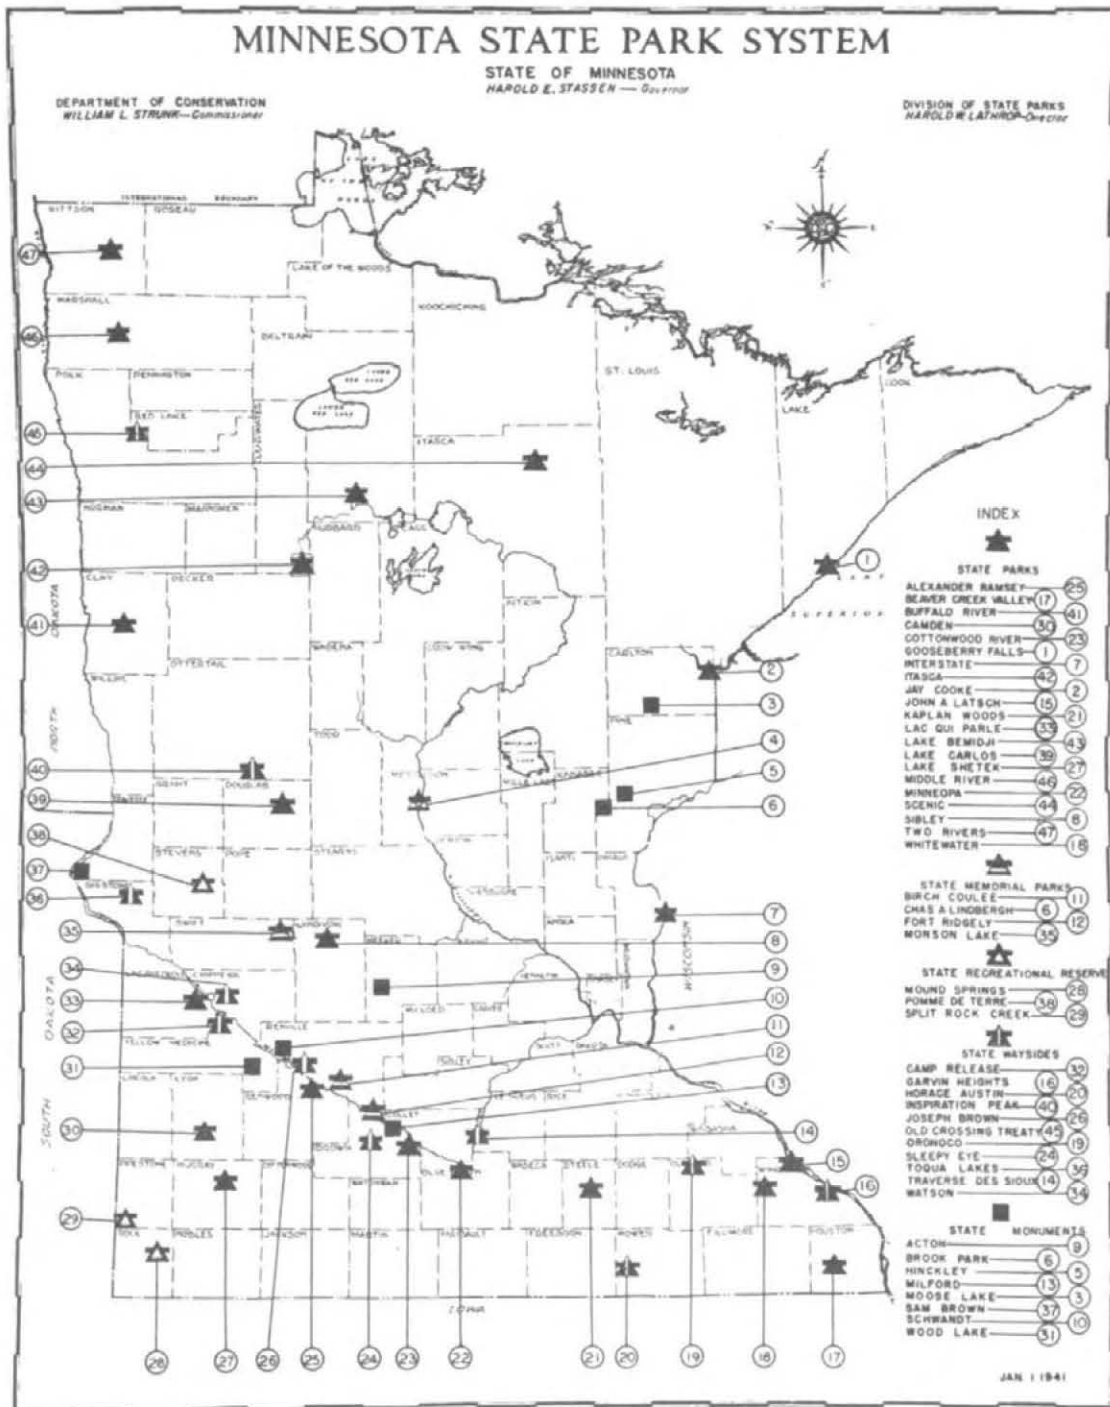

CLIMATE.

Recorded observations through long series of years show that Minnesota has an annual mean temperature of 44 degrees, and its mean summer temperature is about 70 degrees, like that of middle Illinois, Ohio, and southern Pennsylvania. The high latitude gives longer days in summer than in states farther south, and during the middle part of the growing season there are two and a half hours more of sunshine than in the latitude of Cincinnati. The winters are not severe, and the rainfall during the summer is usually abundant.

Through all the ninety-one years since considerable agricultural settlements were first made within the area of this State, its temperature and rainfall, though showing marked contrasts in different years, have always been so favorable for farming that there has been no instance of failure to secure at least a generally remunerative harvest, while most of the years have yielded very abundantly.

II.

STATE FORESTS AND PARKS

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF MINNESOTA STATE PARKS AND STATE RECREATIONAL RESERVES, WAYSIDES AND MONUMENTS

The Minnesota State Park System had its beginning in 1889, when the Legislature of that year appropriated funds for the purchase of a site, for a monument on the battle field and camp ground of Camp Release in Lac qui Parle County, to commemorate the historical events connected with the last decisive battle with the Sioux Indians in the 1862 Uprising. The following Legislature in 1891, established Itasca State Park. Four other areas were established during the remaining sessions of that decade. Thus in 1900, Minnesota with six areas had indicated that its many lakes, rivers, water falls, rock formations and virgin timber afforded natural opportunities for enjoyment of outdoor life, entitling it to recognition as a pioneer in the State Park movement.

The people of our State may have taken for granted that such primitive beauties would always be available and that there would be little need of their preserving a portion of our original Minnesota, in order that future generations might have the same privilege of enjoying nature as have our forbearers. Thus the Legislature since 1891, who have made possible the establishment of the fine system the State enjoys today, are entitled to the credit for their action.

STATE PARKS

Alexander Ramsey State Park was purchased by the State in 1911 and comprises 185.38 acres of land adjacent to Redwood Falls in Redwood County. Included is a section of the Redwood River Valley and the Valley of Ramsey Creek which has its junction with the Redwood River within the park boundary. The slopes of the valley are quite precipitous and in some cases take the form of vertical cliffs. Ramsey Creek tumbles over a falls in a rock gorge, which scenic attraction, together with the panoramic views, from an elevation above them, are the principal natural attractions of the area.

Many points of historical interest, concerning the Indian Outbreak of 1862 are in the neighborhood of the park. Picnicking and hiking are the principal forms of recreation. A zoo, which includes elk, deer and buffalo creates much public interest.

Beaver Creek Valley State Park contains 325.17 acres and is located in Houston County near Caledonia. It derives its name from a trout stream which rises from artesian springs within the park and threads its way to the pool of the "Old Schech Mill" constructed in 1896, which is still operating, thence to the Root and Mississippi Rivers. The park extends for approximately two miles through the narrow valley flanked by hills some three hundred feet high with numerous outcroppings of sandstone topped with limestone all profusely covered with many species of deciduous plants and red cedar. The valley is very picturesque and accordingly the outstanding scenic value was the prime justification for acquiring this pristine area.

The park, undeveloped as yet, will serve principally as a scenic picnic spot for the people of the southeastern corner of the state. Hiking will be an added form of recreation.

Buffalo River State Park with an area of 280 acres is located approximately one-half mile south of U. S. Highway No. 10, 32 miles west of Detroit Lakes and 12½ miles east of Moorhead. It was acquired in 1936, and has, as its primary purpose, active physical recreation, including picnicking, swimming and hiking.

The area commemorates the prehistoric Campbell Beach of Lake Agassiz and is approximately one mile long divided by the Buffalo River. It is covered with elm, basswood, oak and poplar and other deciduous trees and shrubs native to the river bottoms of northwestern Minnesota. Complete picnic facilities and a bathhouse and swimming pool are provided.

Camden State Park was acquired by the state in 1934 and embodies 469.96 acres of hilly country through which the Redwood River flows. It is located in Lyon County, a few miles south of Marshall. The western plains section of Minnesota suddenly becomes rugged in topography as one approaches this unusually scenic oasis in a countryside that is flat for many miles, a countryside that is intensively cropped and almost devoid of tree growth. The hill-sides are covered with dense stands of deciduous trees which have been badly damaged by drouth the last few years.

Facilities for camping and picnicking provide a shelter, comfort stations, camp stoves, swimming pool with bathhouse, refectory and pure drinking water. Trails wind through the densely wooded areas and along the crest of the valley where hikers may view the many points of interest.

Cottonwood River State Park embodies 836.48 acres purchased by the state in 1934, adjacent to the south boundary of the city of New Ulm in Brown County. The area comprises a portion of the river valley including the tops of the bluffs which rise from the valley floor. The hills are covered with many species of deciduous trees.

A concrete dam constructed across the river created a lake of 209 acres, which affords canoeing, boating, swimming and fishing. A modern bathhouse and refectory, a fine sand beach, boating and picnic facilities are provided.

A fine group camp is available for organized use on the south shore of the lake with fine bathing beach accommodations.

Gooseberry Falls State Park consists of 637.83 acres acquired in 1933 because of its exceptionally high scenic value and its strategic position in the state from a recreational angle. The Gooseberry River, a highly turbulent stream, with two water falls of approximately thirty feet in height, flows through the area to Lake Superior. The park is located forty miles northeast of Duluth on U. S. Highway No. 61, Minnesota's famous Lake Superior North Shore Drive. Igneous volcanic rock void of any cover is prevalent on the shore of the lake and the river. The remainder of the area is covered for the most part with second-growth deciduous birch, poplar and alder mingled with black spruce.

The picnic ground and the camp ground are segregated along the shore of the lake. They are completely developed with modern toilets, pure drinking water, shelter buildings and refectories.

A highway concourse at the river has been accorded a physical treatment in architecture and landscape design, conforming in scale with the spectacular area of the river and water falls.

Gooseberry Falls is an ideal place to spend a day, a week, or even a month with plenty to see and do. It is but a few hours' trip to lakes where those not interested in trout fishing can get their limit of pike, bass and crappies. It affords wonderful relief for hay fever sufferers.

Interstate Park consists of 154 acres of St. Croix River valley extending from Taylors Falls down the river for a distance of 1.1 miles. It was acquired in 1895 by purchase. The river is a highly turbulent stream in a rock gorge which rises perpendicularly in places two hundred feet from the water's edge.

The park, which is of glacial origin, is divided into two distinct types of areas. The upper part, known as the "Glacial Gardens," consists of stratified and precipitous igneous rock formations, in which are spectacular examples of pot holes. These were created after the "Ice Age" by the whirling and surging motion of rotating water and boulders which set up a grinding action in depressions, and over a lapse of thousands of years created these large kettle holes, one of which is sixty feet deep. Ripple marks of a glacial stream are also in evidence. Vegetative cover is sparse, consisting mainly of white pine and many types of deciduous trees.

The lower area consists of about sixteen acres of grassy, heavily deciduous wooded bottom land rising at a more gentle grade from the water's edge. For the upper area a parking space and a combination concession and shelter building have been provided adjacent to the pot holes, and in the lower section complete facilities pertinent to picnicking and camping have been supplied in addition to four overnight cabins.

The area provides an opportunity for hiking, study of natural phenomenon such as the pot holes, study of archaeology, petroglyphs, and opportunity for boating, fishing and swimming.

Itasca State Park is located in Hubbard, Clearwater and Becker Counties, midway between Bemidji and Park Rapids on U. S. Highway No. 71. It consists of 31,816 acres, a portion of which was acquired in 1891. It was established primarily to preserve for posterity an exceptionally fine scenic piece of northern Minnesota, unaltered from its natural state.

Topographically, the area is an undulating, glacial moraine dotted with 157 lakes, foremost of which is Lake Itasca, the source of the Mississippi River. In the area are large stands of virgin Norway and white pine.

The park lies in a belt of most agreeable weather conditions. Days are sufficiently warm to permit activities such as swimming, and nights in turn are pleasantly cool. The area has an added interest in that it enfolds the source of the Mississippi River, which was the objective of a number of frontier expeditions, accomplished finally by Schoolcraft in 1832.

A newly developed camp ground on the east shore of Lake Itasca provides complete modern facilities for three hundred cars. Limited cabin accommodations are available in this area.

Douglas Lodge, a dignified hotel and cabin development, located at the south end of Lake Itasca among tall virgin pines, is state-owned. It is operated on the American plan by a concessionaire. Canoeing, boating, horseback riding, pitch-and-putt golf, foot trails and other recreational facilities are available for the enjoyment of guests.

A State Forestry School and Biological Station is operated by the University of Minnesota for summer school students. It provides housing units, laboratories, an arboretum and recreational facilities.

The picnic ground near the Headwaters of the Mississippi River, is completely developed. Ample parking space, tables, benches, fireplaces and well-water are available for public use. Modern toilets and an interesting museum complete the development.

Itasca State Park is nationally famous. Approximately 275,000 people enjoyed its scenery and facilities during 1940.

Jay Cooke State Park, an area of 3,375 acres, was established in 1915 and is one of Minnesota's most popular state parks. It extends from the limits of Thomson, in Carlton County for a distance of seven miles downstream on both sides of the St. Louis River to the limits of the village of Fond du Lac in St. Louis County. The river runs through a very picturesque gorge of basaltic rock formation. The terrain is exceedingly spectacular because of the ruggedness of slope from the shore of ancient Lake Duluth to the present river bed. The glacial drift, which mantels portions of the rock, is covered with mixed deciduous and coniferous plant life. A scenic highway runs through the entire length of the park connecting with the City of Duluth's Skyline Parkway.

Camp and picnic grounds are equipped with tables, stoves, pure drinking water, shelters, and comfort stations.

John A. Latsch State Park lies along one of Minnesota's most scenic recreational routes U. S. Highway No. 61. It is located a few miles north of the city of Winona, which makes it an important entrance, from the south, to the Minnesota state park system. It was established in 1925 and comprises 350.2 acres. Three limestone bluffs, which rise abruptly nearly 450 feet above the highway, are old landmarks along the Mississippi River.

The Whitman Dam and Locks, contiguous with the park, play an important part in navigation on the Mississippi River and afford much interest to park visitors. A large portion of the park area is inaccessible because of rough topography, but trails have been constructed which allow access to one of the bluffs from which a visitor can obtain a broad panoramic view of the Mississippi Valley.

Small areas for picnicking have been developed provided with fireplaces, water supplies and toilet facilities.

Kaplan Woods State Park is located in Steele County, two miles south of Owatonna on State Trunk Highway No. 65. It is 180 acres in area and was acquired by the State in 1935. The park is of unusual scenic beauty because of the fine mature stand of mixed deciduous trees and the deep ravines through which the Straight River and tributary creeks flow. It comprises one of the few remaining remnants of the hardwood forest that once covered this section of Minnesota. The park has been developed for hiking and picnicking.

Lac qui Parle State Park is comprised of two areas at the foot of Lac qui Parle Lake, having a total acreage of 267 acres. A seventeen acre tract on the east side of the lake was established in 1931 to commemorate the first Protestant Mission in Minnesota, erected in 1835, under the leadership of Reverend Riggs. This Mission had the first church bell and manufactured the first cloth in Minnesota.

A heavily wooded area on the southwest side of the lake was purchased in conjunction with the Lac qui Parle flood control project and has been developed for extensive picnicking and camping purposes. Such wooded area is outstanding in the western section of the State, and it is expected that it will serve an extremely heavy demand because of the fine facilities offered.

Lake Bemidji State Park, established in 1923, embodies 205.48 acres of lakeshore land, about six miles northeast of Bemidji. Within the virgin Norway pine forest are found many natural locations for picnicking. A public camp ground has been constructed with complete facilities for this type of recreation and the picnic grounds have been completely developed for public use, including a bathhouse.

Lake Carlos State Park is located ten miles north of Alexandria on the north end of Lake Carlos. Its 403.56 acres were acquired in 1937 and are located in rolling topography covered with sugar maple and other deciduous trees on the higher portions and dense tamarack swamps in the lower area. Deer and other wild life are plentiful. The park is being developed at the present time to provide complete picnic facilities, and an organized group camp.

Lake Shetek State Park comprises 184.62 acres, located six miles north of Slayton on the shores of Lake Shetek, one of the few lakes in southwestern Minnesota. Three islands, Keeley, Valhalla and Loon are within the park area, and on the portion known as the east mainland is located the Lake Shetek Monument which commemorates the massacre of a white family during the Indian Uprising of 1862.

Fishing, bathing, boating, picnicking, hiking and camping are the chief forms of recreation. Complete picnic facilities are now available on the east mainland and a complete camp for organization use will be available on Keeley Island, in addition to one now available on the east mainland.

Middle River State Park, consisting of 285 acres, was purchased by the state in 1937, and is located seventeen miles northeast of Warren on State Highway No. 3. The area is bisected diagonally by a winding river, which gives the park its name. The area is partially covered with poplar, boxelder, elm and other deciduous stock common to this part of the state. The remnants exist of an old water-power operated flour mill, constructed originally in 1780. The original grindstones, which were shipped from France to Fargo, North Dakota, and from there hauled to the site by oxcarts, are still in preservation. This park provides all the necessary accommodations for swimming, picnicking and hiking.

Minneopa State Park has as the principal natural attraction Minneopa Creek which tumbles over two water falls into a deep-cut gorge covered with a dense mature stand of mixed deciduous timber. The name "Minneopa" is an Indian word meaning "Two Falls" and it is this feature that makes the park an unusual beauty spot. Its 110.24 acres are located in Blue Earth County six miles west of Mankato on U. S. Highway No. 60. It was acquired in 1905 and now affords excellent picnic facilities including a water system, a modern comfort station, picnic kitchen and shelter, and refectory.

Scenic State Park consists of 2,121.3 acres, located forty miles north of Grand Rapids and six miles east of Big Fork, was acquired by the state in 1921. This area is the most primitive of all Minnesota state parks and comprises large stands of virgin Norway pine, the most outstanding of which is located on Chase Point, a long peninsula which separates Coon and Sandwick Lakes. Both of these lakes are widely known for their beauty and for their abundance of many species of game fish.

Boating, swimming, fishing, hiking and nature study provide diversified recreation. Camp and picnic grounds are completely developed and afford modern comfort to park visitors, as do the limited cabin accommodations. Those who love the wilderness should certainly visit Scenic State Park.

Sibley State Park, established by the 1919 Legislature, contains 378.83 acres along the north shore of Lake Andrew in Kandiyohi County, seven miles west of New London and twenty-two miles north of Willmar.

Virgin hardwoods and red cedar cover the morainic hills of kettle and knob type of topography. Mount Tom, the highest point in the county, is, however, barren at its crest except for grasses. Lake Andrew provides excellent boating, fishing and swimming, and a fine sand beach and bathhouse are available. Interesting foot trails radiate from the completely developed picnic and camp grounds and afford recreation for hikers who wish to view the beautifully wooded areas and the panorama from Mount Tom.

Two Rivers State Park has an acreage of 711.76 acres, of which 327 are located in a lake area which was created by impounding the south branch of Two Rivers. The park is located about two miles east of the village of Bronson on U. S. Highway No. 59. The lake is very irregular in shoreline thus creating many beautiful landscape pictures.

A bathhouse and sand beach provide swimming facilities, and picnicking, boating, fishing, camping and hiking are the more important additional forms of recreation.

Whitewater State Park is the most beautiful of developed park areas in southern Minnesota. It is located in Winona County, about midway between the cities of Winona and Rochester. It was acquired by the state in 1919 and now has an acreage of 688.28 acres. The surrounding territory is typical rolling agricultural land, but the park itself includes a wide deep ravine through which the Whitewater River and secondary creeks flow. The Whitewater River, although normally a small stream, becomes a roaring river after each heavy rain. It derives its name from the Indians who were impressed with the white surging water at flood time. Unusual escarpments and formations of limestone resemble towers and other unusual shapes, some of which contain caves high above the valley floor, all of which add to the picturesqueness of the park. Except for a portion in the valley, the park is covered with a dense growth of mature timber containing a limited amount of red cedar and occasional groups of white pine. Foot trails lead to promontories where inspiring vistas over the valley are afforded. A distinctive feature and attraction in the park, is the naturalistic swimming pool. The bathhouse with life-guard service is invaluable to the section of the state where natural lakes suitable for swimming are infrequent. Picnic and camp grounds equipped with modern structures and overnight cabins provide facilities for the comfort and enjoyment of park users.

STATE MEMORIAL PARKS

Birch Coulee State Memorial Park containing eighty-two acres was established in 1889, and is located $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles north of Morton. One of the hardest fought battles of the 1862 uprising took place on this site and several suitable markers indicate the locations of the battle. Complete picnicking facilities are provided.

Charles A. Lindbergh State Memorial Park, an area of 110.42 acres along the Mississippi River, two miles south of Little Falls, was established in 1931 as a memorial to Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, father of the "Flying Colonel." It includes the boyhood home of the famous flyer which has been preserved and contains many objects intimately connected with his childhood.

Across the road from the residence is a large wooded tract available for picnicking. A picnic shelter and kitchen, water system, comfort station, and foot trails have been provided for public enjoyment.

Fort Ridgely State Memorial Park is located just west of State Trunk Highway No. 4 seven miles south of Fairfax in Nicollet County. The park was created by the state legislature in 1911. It consists of 214 acres and is divided, naturally, into two distinct areas by an abrupt change in topography. The lower area, through which the Fort Creek runs, is rugged and heavily wooded with deciduous trees and provides an ideal area for picnics because of the complete facilities.

The upper area contains the site of old Fort Ridgely, built in 1853, around which occurred some of the fiercest battles with the Sioux Indians in 1862. One of the old fort buildings, the commissary, has been restored to provide museum space and a meeting-hall for historical gatherings. The foundations of the remaining fort buildings have been rebuilt to a natural grade so that it is easy to visualize the complete picture of the Fort layout.

Foot trails have been constructed through the park, and from these, in the upper area, beautiful views of the Minnesota River valley may be obtained. A golf course adds to the recreational facilities of the area.

Monson Lake State Memorial Park, commemorates the massacre of a white family in the Sioux uprising of 1862. The park is located in Swift County four miles west of Sunberg and about twenty-five miles from the principal towns of Benson and Willmar. This area of 198.85 acres, was acquired by the state in 1935. Picnic tables and benches, a shelter and picnic kitchen building, comfort station, well and ample parking space have been provided for public use.

STATE RECREATIONAL RESERVES

Mound Springs State Recreational Reserve, of 195.7 acres, is located seven miles north of Luverne in Rock County and one mile east of U. S. Highway No. 75. Mound Creek, a tributary of the Rock River, runs through the park and two dams have been constructed within the area impounding lakelets totalling about eight acres. The stream tumbles over a rocky gorge, composed of beautifully colored Sioux quartzite, in a portion of the park that is unusually picturesque with hardwood trees growing close to the rock outcropping.

Work is now in progress to provide picnic facilities for this park, and a bathing beach and bathhouse are planned for future developments.

Pomme De Terre State Recreational Reserve, of 363.51 acres, acquired by the state in 1936, is adjacent to the town of Morris in Stevens County. A dam has been constructed across the Pomme de Terre River forming a lake. A bathing beach, bathhouse, comfort station and well have been provided for public use.

Split Rock Creek State Recreational Reserve is located one mile east of Ihlen in Pipestone County a few miles from Pipestone, the county seat. The area contains 227.64 acres. A dam across Split Rock Creek provides a small lakelet and the outcropping of beautifully colored Sioux quartzite adds to the landscape picture. The area is being developed for picnicking and bathing.

STATE WAYSIDES

Camp Release State Memorial Wayside, purchased by the state in 1889, includes 17.3 acres, located in Lac qui Parle County, just west of the city of Montevideo on U. S. Highway No. 212. A granite shaft, located near the center of the park, commemorates the release, on September 26, 1862, of 269 prisoners to General Sibley. At the site stood the Sioux Village of Red Iron, friendly chief during the outbreak of 1862. His opposition checked the hostile retreat and allowed other friendly Indians to gain possession of white captives. Remnants of General Sibley's entrenchments still remain on the east side of the area. A well, picnic tables and benches, and toilets have been provided for public pleasure.

Garvin Heights State Scenic Wayside, of seventeen acres, overlooks the city of Winona. The area lies 575 feet above the parkway which runs between the foot of the bluff and Winona Lake. The view from the heights is outstanding and includes the lake at the base, the city beyond, and a broad panorama of the Mississippi Valley in the distance.

Its principal use is scenic but a few picnic tables and two shelters have been provided for picnic use.

Horace Austin State Scenic Wayside comprises fifty acres located adjacent to the City of Austin just above the power dam on the Red Cedar River. On this spot several companies of the first United States Dragons camped in 1835. The developments are principally of a city park type with bathhouse, beach, camping and picnic facilities.

Inspiration Peak State Scenic Wayside, an area of 82 acres, was acquired by the state in 1931. It is located in Ottertail County just north of the Douglas County line and west of the village of Urbank. It consists of a wooded hill from the summit of which is afforded a spectacular view over a number of lakes and into parts of three counties. The hillsides, except at the peak, are covered chiefly with oak, and a small picnic ground has been developed, with fireplaces, tables, water supply and toilets.

Joseph R. Brown State Memorial Wayside, of three acres, was donated to the state in 1937. The ruins of the Brown Mansion still exist on the site. Major Brown was an Indian Agent representing the Government in the middle of the 1800's and built the elaborately furnished mansion overlooking the Minnesota Valley seven miles south of Sacred Heart in Renville County. The building was burned by the Indians during the uprising of 1862.

Old Crossing Treaty State Historical Wayside, of 8.8 acres, was established in 1932. It is situated between the County Highway No. 45 and Red Lake River, a few rods west of the village of Huot. It embodies the site of the old Pembina Trail ford and more important, the site of a historic peace conference between the white-man and the red-man. Here a treaty was signed which ceded to the United States the north half of the Red River Valley. A beautiful bronze statue of an Indian, extending his hand with a peace-pipe, commemorates this event. The area has received very limited development.

Oronoco State Scenic Wayside is located on Shady Lake near U. S. Highway No. 52, seven miles north of Rochester in Olmsted County, and adjacent to the west edge of the small town of Oronoco. The artificial lake is created by a dam which impounds the water of the Zumbro River. A scattering of deciduous trees over a high knoll, with an open plain at the base breaking into a dry-run provides a very interesting landscape. The park provides facilities for picnickers.

Sleepy Eye State Scenic Wayside, of 40 acres, is located at the edge of the town of Sleepy Eye bordering a lake of the same name. The area is wooded with deciduous trees. The park was named after Chief Sleepy Eye, an Indian leader who camped on the shore of the lake each year, and in whose memory a monument has been erected a short distance from the park. The area is provided with the necessary facilities for picnicking.

Toqua Lakes State Scenic Wayside is an area of 40 acres just south of Graceville in Bigstone County and adjacent to State Highway No. 28. The lakes, which originally added much beauty to the area, are now dry, but the wooded park area makes a pleasant picnic spot. A well, toilets, picnic tables, and extensive playground apparatus have been provided for public recreation.

Traverse des Sioux State Historical Wayside is a 2.27 acre tract which lies along the west side of U. S. Highway No. 169, just north of St. Peter in Nicollet County. At the "Crossing of the Sioux" the Indian and Red River trails running up the Minnesota Valley crossed to the bank of the river and cut across the bend on the bank of the Cottonwood. Here, among the fur trade and mission posts, the treaty of Traverse des Sioux was signed, July 23, 1851.

This historical wayside was created by the Legislature in 1896. A hewed log cabin with a rough slab roof exists on the area together with a well and toilets, which allow a limited amount of picnicking.

Watson State Scenic Wayside, comprises twelve acres, purchased in conjunction with the Lac qui Parle flood control project, adjacent to the Chippewa diversion dams, is located two miles northeast of the village of Watson.

This tract is covered with a fine growth of hardwoods, and adequate accommodations have been provided for picnicking.

STATE MONUMENTS

Acton State Monument was erected in 1909 to commemorate the spot where the first blood was shed in the Sioux uprising of 1862. It is located on a one-tenth acre tract, four miles south of Grove City near State Highway No. 4.

Brook Park Monument was erected on October 11, 1915, on an area of .25 acres adjacent to the village of the same name in Pine County. It commemorates the many who lost their lives in the Hinckley fire.

Hinckley State Monument is a marble shaft erected on one-tenth of an acre in the village of Hinckley Cemetery along State Highway No. 48. The area was acquired in 1899 and the monument was erected in memory of a large number of people who lost their lives in the great forest fire of 1898.

Milford State Monument is located on a one-acre tract about three miles north of Essig. The monument consists of a rough cut cross of granite with a beautifully designed statue of a young woman on the steps of the approach to the cross, erected in memory of the many who lost their lives in the Indian massacre near that place.

Moose Lake State Monument is a marble shaft erected, on one-tenth of an acre in 1929, for the purpose of suitably memorializing the 183 victims of the Moose Lake fire of 1918. The area adjoins the limits of the village of Moose Lake and U. S. Highway No. 61.

Sam Brown State Monument is located on the west edge of the town of Browns Valley. On the one-acre tract is located the old log home of the Brown family, and beside the building stands a bronze plaque, set in masonry, in memory of Samuel Jerome Brown's ride on April 19, 1866, to warn the people of the frontier and Fort Sisseton of an Indian uprising. The old Brown cabin now serves as a museum which is open to the public.

Schwandt State Monument was erected on a one-tenth acre tract in 1915, in memory of the Schwandt family who were murdered by the Sioux Indians on August 18, 1862. It overlooks the Minnesota River Valley some 12 miles south of the town of Renville.

Wood Lake State Monument is reached by traveling south several miles from Granite Falls on State Highway No. 67 to the Wood Lake County Road, thence one-quarter mile west. The monument is erected on a one-acre tract and commemorates the battle of Wood Lake where on September 23, 1862, during the Sioux outbreak, Little Crow's warriors ambushed General Sibley's troops. The Indians were defeated by the Whites, and the area was purchased by the State in 1907 to commemorate this event.

III.

EXECUTIVE AND ADMINISTRATIVE.

EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS AND BOARDS

OFFICERS IN 1941

Hon. Harold E. Stassen, South St. Paul—Governor.
Hon. C. Elmer Anderson, Brainerd—Lieutenant Governor.
Hon. Mike Holm, Roseau—Secretary of State.
Hon. Stafford King, St. Paul—State Auditor.
Hon. Julius A. Schmahl, St. Paul—State Treasurer.
Hon. J. A. A. Burnquist, Minneapolis—Attorney General.

The constitution of the state provides that these officers shall be elected for two years, except the state auditor, whose term of office is for four years. They constitute the executive department.

The Governor. The duties of the governor are prescribed by the constitution and the laws of the state. He has the appointment of all appointive state officials, and of elective officials to fill vacancies. Connected with the executive office is the appointment of notaries public.

The Lieutenant Governor is ex-officio president of the senate, and has no other duties to perform, except in a protracted absence of the governor from the state he may be called to act. In case of vacancy in the office he becomes governor during said vacancy.

The Secretary of State is the recording officer of the state and the official custodian of official papers. All private and public corporations of the state are recorded, and the official bonds of all state and county officers are filed in this office. He is the custodian of all the volumes of laws and journals and all the legislative records of whatever nature as well as the United States government surveys of Minnesota. The whole machinery of state elections and the final canvassing of votes is carried forward in his office. The preparation of the volumes of law for publication is part of his duty. His office is the place of registration of motor vehicles, and the examining and licensing of chauffeurs.

The State Auditor is the state's chief accounting officer, and keeps, on an accrual basis, all records and accounts. He pre-audits all claims against the state and issues warrants in payment thereof. He handles the control over state expenditures against legislative appropriations, encumbrances and cash in the state treasury; and maintains the encumbrance control against all allotments and appropriations. His records are open to the public at all reasonable times, and he makes biennial reports to the legislature and annual and quarterly reports to the Governor. All state contracts which extend over a twelve month period are filed with him. He, together with the Public Examiner and the Commissioner of Administration, is charged with the development, institution and continuance of a uniform accounting system for all state institutions and departments.

He is a member of the State Executive Council, the State Board of Investment, the State Claims Commission, the Land Exchange Commission, the State Testing Mill Commission, the Highway Board of Allotment, and is a member of the board of directors of the retirement associations of Public Employees, State Teachers and State Employees.

The Treasurer is the receiving and disbursing officer of the state. His duties are defined by law to keep an accurate account of the receipts and disbursements of the treasury, specifying the names of persons from whom received, to whom paid, on what account the same is received and paid out, and the time of such receipt and payment.

The Attorney General is the chief law officer of the state, appears for the state in all civil actions and in the supreme court in all criminal appeals. He is legal adviser to all state officers and departments, renders opinions on legal questions to them and to county, city, village, town, and school district attorneys; prepares forms for all state contracts and bonds, and passes upon the form and execution of bonds given by state and county officers and by depositaries of state funds, on applications for loans from the state trust funds, and on proceedings for extradition of criminals. He conducts all legal proceedings for acquisition of lands and right of way for trunk highways and other state purposes. He has charge of legal matters relative to the determination and collection of all inheritance and gift taxes, also of actions for the collection of delinquent income taxes, gross earnings taxes, iron mining occupation taxes, gasoline taxes, and chain store taxes. He serves as a member of the pardon board and the executive council.

The Executive Council. Created by Chapter 426 of the General Laws of 1925, and consists of the governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer and the attorney general. The Governor is chairman of the council, which performs the duties formerly imposed upon the Board of Timber Commissioners, State Board of Deposit, the Minnesota State Land Commission, State Board of Relief, the Capitol Grounds Commission and other statutory duties. It meets on the first and third Wednesday of each month.

State Board of Investment. This board consists of the governor, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general and a designated member of the Board of Regents of the University. It invests the permanent trust funds, the state employees' retirement fund, the public employees' retirement fund, the teachers' insurance and retirement fund and the soldiers' welfare fund. It meets the first and third Wednesday of each month.

The Board of Pardons. Created by Chapter 23 of the General Laws of 1897, and consists of the governor, chief justice of the supreme court and the attorney general. It has power to grant pardons and to commute the sentence of any person convicted of any offense against the laws of this state. The board meets quarterly, in January, April, July and October.

DEPARTMENTS, BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

The Department of Administration, created by the Reorganization Act of 1939, is under the supervision of a Commissioner of Administration. The Department is constituted as a staff agency of the Governor, dealing with: (a) budgeting and finances, (b) purchasing and contracting, and (c) care and custody of State properties. All State departments and agencies are subject to the Department of Administration, except the University, certain examining and licensing boards, the Legislature, and the judiciary.

Preparation of a biennial budget, operation of a quarterly allotment system, and supervision of state expenditures through an encumbrance system are responsibilities of the Department. The law provides that budget allotments from any state fund shall not exceed available current resources of that fund.

Supervision and control of state purchases and contracts are placed under the Commissioner. The Department does centralized purchasing for the state and operates central supply and central duplicating divisions. The Commissioner appoints a State Printer who supervises printing and advertising for state departments and exercises duties relating to publication of legal notices.

The Department maintains and operates the capitol group of buildings, and provides telephone and mailing services therefor. It supervises the maintenance and repair of other state-owned buildings, controls rental of property by the State, supervises construction of buildings, and maintains a perpetual inventory and periodical inspection of state property.

Department of Public Examiner. The Public Examiner is required to post audit and make an examination of the financial transactions of all State departments, boards, commissions and other State agencies, at least once a year. Reports covering such audits should set forth whether funds have been expended for the purposes outlined in the appropriations therefor; whether all receipts have been accounted for; all illegal and unbusinesslike practices, if any; and recommendations for greater simplicity, accuracy, efficiency and economy. Such audit reports must be filed with the department concerned, the Governor and the Legislature, and in cases of malfeasance, misfeasance, or nonfeasance on the part of any officer or employee, a verified copy of the report must be filed with the secretary of the Legislative Emergency Committee and the Attorney General.

Examination must also be made of railroad and other corporations and companies which are required by law to pay taxes to the State upon a gross earnings basis, for the purpose of disclosing any errors or omissions in the gross earnings as reported by such companies.

The Public Examiner is also required to make annual audits of all counties of the State, cities of the first class, and to make examinations of other local units of government when called upon to do so either by request of the governing body or upon petition of freeholders.

The Public Examiner is also directed to inquire into the accounting and budgeting systems of all local units of government and to prescribe suitable systems of accounts and budgeting. He is also required to collect annually from all local units of government information as to the assessment of property, collection of taxes, receipts from various sources, expenditures of public funds for all purposes, borrowings, etc., and to file in his office a summary report of the information so collected.

Department of Taxation. The Department of Taxation, as successor to the Minnesota Tax Commission, was created by Laws 1939, Chapter 431, Article Six thereof. Under the provisions of this Article the Minnesota Tax Commission is abolished and all powers and duties formerly exercised by that Commission are transferred to and imposed upon a Commissioner of Taxation. In addition, all powers and duties formerly exercised by the Department of Agriculture in relation to the inspection of oil and gasoline and the imposition and collection of taxes thereon; and in relation to laws relating to the licensing and sale of cigarettes, are transferred and imposed upon the Commissioner of Taxation.

This Department also by virtue of Article Six, exercises administration over the Inheritance and Gift Tax Laws, formerly administered by the Attorney General.

To carry out these various activities the Commissioner, under powers granted him by Section 2, Subdivision B of said Article Six, has established several divisions within the Department with a director in charge of each division. These divisions are classified as General Administrative, Income Tax, Petroleum, and Inheritance and Gift Tax. Under direct supervision of the Commissioner each of these divisions conduct the following activities:

General Administrative.

This division exercises general supervision over the laws formerly administered by the Minnesota Tax Commission, which in the main consists of administration of general property assessment laws, laws relating to assessors, town, village, city and county boards of review and equalization. This division also administers the laws governing occupation taxes on the mining industry and royalty taxes, gross earnings taxes of railroads, express, freight lines, sleeping car, trust, telegraph and telephone companies and chain store taxes. In addition, and as a part of general administrative activities, the Department, as before indicated, administers the laws relating to the licensing and sale of cigarettes. These general powers comprehend also authority to issue instructions and directions to assessors and other public officers administering tax laws. County auditors are required to report to the Department as to the assessment of property and levying of taxes and such other information as may be required effecting taxation generally.

Income Tax Division.

This division is charged exclusively with the administration of the income tax statutes.

Petroleum Division.

This division has charge of and makes inspections of all gasoline, kerosene and other petroleum products shipped into the state. The duties of this division include imposing inspection fees and gasoline taxes as provided for by statute, collecting the amount of said fees and taxes from distributors, licensing and bonding of petroleum distributors, keeping records and reports of petroleum products shipped into the state and amount of taxes collected, investigating and reporting fraudulent refund claims and tax evasions by oil companies, making laboratory tests of petroleum products. The division also passes upon claims for refunds of taxes paid on gasoline which has been used for purposes other than upon highways, certifies as to the validity of the claims and issues checks refunding valid claims.

Inheritance and Gift Tax Division.

This division exercises exclusive supervision over all laws relating to inheritance and gift taxes.

The Board of Tax Appeals was created by Chapter 431, Article 6, Laws of 1939, which Act provides that "The Board of Tax Appeals shall have power to review and redetermine orders or decisions of the Commissioner of Taxation upon appeal therefrom in the cases authorized by law. Except as otherwise provided by law, an appeal to the Board may be taken . . . from any official order of the Commissioner of Taxation respecting any tax, fee, or assessment, or any matter pertaining thereto, by any person directly interested therein or affected thereby, or by any political subdivision of the state directly or indirectly interested therein or affected thereby, or by the Attorney General in behalf of the State, or by any resident taxpayer of the state in behalf of the State in case the Attorney General, upon request, shall refuse to appeal."

Legislative Emergency Committee. The chairman of the senate committee on taxes and tax laws, the chairman of the senate committee on finance, the chairman of the house committee on taxes and tax laws, the chairman of the house committee on appropriations, and the governor are designated as members of this committee by section 21, chapter 431, Laws of 1939. The commissioner of administration is the secretary of the committee. Control of the general contingent appropriation authorized for each year of the biennium is vested in this board.

The Department of Civil Service. The Department of Civil Service was established by the Civil Service Act of April 22, 1939, for the purpose of providing and administering an effective system of personnel administration for the state service. The department, which has jurisdiction over more than 10,000 classified employees, has established a system of classification and proposed a compensation plan, allocated positions to classes in the classification plan, considered allocation appeals, and started a program of open competitive and promotional examinations. Its functions include the certification of names to vacancies and supervision of transactions involving salary adjustment, change in status, lay-off, resignation, leave of absence, retirement, suspension, dismissal, transfer, and demotion.

The Civil Service Act provides that the department shall consist of a board of three members appointed by the governor, a director chosen by the board on the basis of an open competitive examination, and other officers and employees selected by the director in accordance with the provisions of the Act and Rules. Special functions of the board include the establishment of rules for carrying out the provisions of the Act, the power of making investigations and conducting hearings.

The civil service program is based on a merit system plan and is directed at increasing the efficiency and economy of the state service. It establishes the framework for a career service in government employment by providing for training programs, promotional opportunities, and definition of the rights and relationships of employees and appointing authorities.

Department of Social Security. Division of Social Welfare. The Minnesota Division of Social Welfare was created by Article VII, Chapter 431, Laws 1939. It succeeded the former State Board of Control in all of that Board's activities except general control over state institutions and its duty to promote the enforcement of laws for the prevention of cruelty. The Division of Social Welfare is administered by the Director of Social Welfare who has the following powers and duties.

Administration of aid to fourteen county tuberculosis sanatoria.

"State agency" for the administration of federal and state laws providing for old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid and services to the needy blind, services for crippled children, and child welfare services, cooperation with state board of parole.

Supervision over the paroled insane.

Inspection of jails, lock-ups, poor houses and infirmaries; examination of all plans for new structures or for repairs of such buildings; and supervision over all such institutions.

Promoting the enforcement of all laws for the protection of defective, dependent, neglected and delinquent children.

Inspection, investigation, and licensing of maternity hospitals, infants' homes and agencies for receiving and caring for children or placing them in private homes.

Legal guardianship of the estate and persons of all wards of the state, guardianship of whom was previously vested in the Board of Control; and guardianship of wards later committed to guardianship under the same laws.

Safeguarding the interests of illegitimate children, establishing their paternity, and securing for them the nearest possible approximation to the care, support, and education that they would be entitled to if born to lawful marriage.

Inspection of all petitions for the adoption of children, including visits to the child and to the homes in which they have been placed.

Maintenance of a central index of persons receiving care in public institutions, child welfare services, certain aids, etc.

Administration of funds appropriated for disabled war veterans' relief.

Supervision over expenditure of state funds for general relief purposes.

Supervision over the feeble-minded and epileptic who are not in institutions.

Provision of mental or psychological examinations for all children for whom courts, county welfare boards, schools, or private social agencies request such examinations.

Administration and supervision of all mental hygiene work involving persons not in a state institution.

Administration and supervision of all non-institutional services to handicapped persons, including the blind, the deaf, the tubercular, the crippled, and otherwise handicapped persons.

Cooperation with the Division of Public Institutions, the Division of Employment and Security, other state departments and federal departments and agencies.

Chairmanship of the State Social Security Board which is composed of the Directors of the Division of Social Welfare, Public Institutions, and Employment and Security.

The Division of Employment and Security, one of three in the Department of Social Security, was created by the Re-organization Act of 1939, which transferred jurisdiction of the Unemployment Compensation program and the State Employment Service from the Industrial Commission to the new agency. It has two essential functions, namely: (1) to assist in finding jobs for people who register with the Division, and (2) to pay unemployment compensation benefits to workers who have lost their employment through no fault of their own and who otherwise are qualified for such benefits, according to law.

The Division of Public Institutions as organized within the Department of Social Security was created by Chapter 431, General Laws of 1939.

All the powers and duties vested in or imposed upon the State Board of Control with reference to the institutions of the State of Minnesota are transferred to, vested in, and imposed upon the Director of Public Institutions, and in relation thereto the director is charged with and has the exclusive power of administration and management of all of the following State institutions: The State Prison, the State Reformatory for Men, the State Training School for Boys, the School for the Feeble-minded, State hospitals and asylums for the insane, the State School for the Blind, the State School for the Deaf, the State Public School for Dependent Children, the State Epileptic Colony, the State Hospital for Indigent, Crippled and Deformed Children, the State Hospital for Inebriates, the State Sanatorium for Consumptives, the Home School for Girls, and the State Reformatory for Women. The Director has power and authority to determine all matters relating to the unified and continuous development of all of the foregoing institutions and of such other institutions, the supervision of which may, from time to time, be vested in the Director. By this Act that there is vested in the Director all of the powers, functions, and authority formerly vested in the State Board of Control relative to State institutions.

The director of public institutions or his designated agent is secretary of the Social Security board.

State Board of Parole. This board was created by legislative enactment in 1911. It is given power to parole prisoners from the state penal institutions, except such prisoners who have a life sentence for murder. The act creating the board also incorporates the indeterminate sentence law. By this law the board is given power to release on parole prisoners at our state penal institutions when they are fit to take their place in society. By a statute enacted in 1933, Courts were authorized to place persons convicted of crimes on probation to the Board of Parole. The board as now constituted, under the act of 1931, consists of a full time chairman and two citizens or part time members, all appointed by the Governor for six year terms so arranged that only one term expires every two years.

The Social Security Board was created under the Reorganization Act of 1939. The directors of the divisions of the Department of Social Security constitute the Social Security Board, which is an agency of the department. The director of social welfare acts as chairman of the board, and the director of public institutions or his designated agent acts as secretary of the board. The board has the power and duty to co-ordinate the functions, activities, budgets, and expenditures of the several divisions of the department and to provide for the prompt exchange of information between divisions so as to avoid duplication and promote efficiency and economy. In all cases where the different divisions have similar or related functions, it is the duty of the board to provide, by rules and regulations, for the joint use by such divisions of information, services and facilities relating to the performance of such functions, so far as practicable. Otherwise the board does not have power to direct or control the acts of any member of the department except as expressly authorized by law.

The Bureau of Criminal Apprehension was created by the legislature in 1927. It is in charge of a superintendent, appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the senate. The Bureau has a staff of expert investigators who cooperate with peace officers throughout the State in the detection of crime and the apprehension of criminals. It also has an up-to-date scientific crime-detection laboratory equipped to make chemical, microscopical, and other technical tests and analyses in criminal cases. In addition, the Bureau maintains a division of identification for the collection and distribution of criminal records, fingerprints, photographs, and other data; operates a radio broadcasting system to aid in the arrest of offenders and the recovery of property; and has a division of criminal statistics for the collection of information on offenses known, persons prosecuted, and related data to further the study of crime and the administration of justice.

Minnesota Society for Prevention of Cruelty. Organized December, 1869, by a group of public spirited citizens for the purpose of inculcating humane principles, the enforcement of humane laws and the prevention of cruelty to children and animals in general. It is incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota and receives state aid. During the reorganization act of 1925 a humane bureau was set up under the Board of Control. The duties of said bureau were to enforce the humane laws of the state and to investigate complaints. The prevention of cruelty to children was taken over by the Children's Bureau of the Board of Control, leaving the humane education feature to the Minnesota Society for Prevention of Cruelty without further state aid.

The Legislature of 1939 abolished the humane bureau under the Board of Control and restored all former powers to the Society, except the children's work, which is now being conducted by the State Social Service Department.

The duties of the Society at the present time consist in the investigation of complaints, the enforcement of the humane laws of the state, inspection of cattle trucks for proper loading and transportation as prescribed by law, and the inspection of the various stock markets in the state.

The Society conducts an extensive humane educational program in the public schools, civic recreational centers and juvenile organizations of all types. The Society also conducts a junior humane division, which is known as the Minnesota Junior Humane Society, which was inaugurated in 1939 and now has a membership of grade school age of approximately 10,000 boys and girls throughout the state. There are no dues or fees of any kind for junior members for the reason that the Society does not wish to bar from membership the underprivileged child. The Society also distributes free humane literature.

The Department of Agriculture, Dairy and Food is in charge of a commissioner appointed by the Governor. The duties of this department are regulatory work in connection with the agencies handling Minnesota farm products, the administration of the co-operate law, and the organization of co-operative marketing associations. It administers the cold storage law, agricultural statistics are collected, and it has power to establish grades for certain farm products. In co-operation with the federal bureau of markets it issues market reports and crop estimates, and in general encourages agricultural development in Minnesota. Under a special act it has conducted investigations relative to costs and trade practices in the necessities of life, issuing reports and recommendations relative to its findings. It has charge of weed inspection work.

It also is charged with the enforcement of the dairy and food laws, also special laws regulating the manufacture and sale of feeds for domestic animals, the sale of commercial fertilizers, the sale of cigarettes and prohibiting of fraudulent advertising. Its aim is to prevent fraud and deception in the manufacture of foods and drinks and of feeds for domestic animals. The commissioner and inspectors have access to all places where foods are manufactured, stored or kept for sale and are authorized to take all proper educational measures to foster and promote the manufacture and sale of pure food products. It administers the Nursery, Apiary, Egg, Wholesale Dealers, Beverage, and Canning law. It issues and collects for the following licenses: milk, eggs, Babcock test, creamery, oleomargarine, ice cream and frozen food, cold storage warehouse, fertilizer, and wholesale dealer licenses.

State Board of Health. This is the official agency for health administration in the state. It has authority to exercise general supervision of all health boards and officers; investigate and learn the source of diseases and epidemics; gather and diffuse information upon all subjects to which its duty relates; gather statistics and advise all state officials and boards in public health matters; report its doings and recommendations to the legislature. It has authority to adopt state-wide regulations having the force of law, concerning the manufacture into articles of commerce other than food, of diseased or decayed animal or vegetable matters; the disposal of sewage; location of cemeteries, and disposal of the dead; management of lying-in houses and boarding places for infants; the pollution of streams and other waters; the construction and equipment in respect to sanitary conditions of schools, hospitals, lodging houses, and other public institutions; treatment of persons suffering from communicable diseases and infection and disinfection and quarantine for such diseases, and the reporting of sicknesses therefrom; prevention of infant blindness and the treatment of the eyes of the newborn; furnishing of vaccine, and assembling during epidemics of smallpox, with other persons not vaccinated; accumulation of filthy and unwholesome matter; collection, recording and reporting of births and deaths; construction and equipment in respect to sanitary conditions of industrial camps, tourist camps, summer hotels and resorts. It has general supervision over all local health officers and boards, and through its various Divisions aids such boards in diagnosing suspected communicable diseases, and discovery of their sources; investigating and advising local officials in respect to water supply, sewers, and waste disposal. It administers the laws providing for the licensing of hotels and restaurants, compounders and wholesalers of narcotic drugs, and the examination and licensing of plumbers, embalmers and funeral directors. The central offices of the Board, including the Division of Administration, Division of Birth and Death Records and Vital Statistics, and Division of Hotel Inspection, are located at 469 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minn. The Division of Preventable Diseases with its diagnostic laboratories, the Division of Sanitation with its water, sewage and milk laboratory, and the Divisions of Child Hygiene and Public Health Nursing have their quarters in the State Department of Health Building, which is located on the Campus of the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

The Board is composed of nine members, trained in sanitary science, appointed by the Governor for terms of three years. Such a Board was created by the Legislature in 1872, being at that time the third state to establish such a board. The members receive no compensation for their services, other than necessary traveling expenses in attending quarterly and special meetings. It exercises its authority through the State Department of Health, which department is the working force of the Board.

Commissioner of Highways. The State Highway Commission, as such, was abolished by the 1917 Legislature and one commissioner was provided for, to be appointed by the Governor and to be known as "Commissioner of Highways" upon whom devolved all powers, rights, duties, privileges and obligations theretofore imposed upon the State Highway Commission. The Commissioner of Highways, State Auditor and State Treasurer constitute a commission to annually allot the moneys in the State Road and Bridge Fund, and also the counties' one-third share of gasoline tax revenues. The commissioner also administers the Highway Patrol, created by law in 1929; the Drivers License Division, established by virtue of Chapters 351 and 352, Session Laws of 1933, and the Accident Recording functions and Uniform Traffic Regulations created by law in 1937. The Highway department Central Office is located at 1246 University avenue, St. Paul, and the Patrol, Drivers License and Accident Recording headquarters at 1279 University avenue.

Law Library. The state library was originally established by an act of Congress creating the Territory of Minnesota in 1849. It is under the general supervision of the supreme court, and, though the scope of the library is not fixed by law, it has in fact been built up as a law and legislative reference library. It contains a fairly comprehensive collection of books of law, American, English, Canadian and Colonial. It also contains collections of Minnesota public documents and documents of other states and of the United States. It contains approximately 150,000 volumes. The state librarian is appointed by the governor for a term of two years.

The Commerce Commission was created by the Reorganization Act. This Commission is composed of the Insurance Commissioner, the Commissioner of Banks and the Commissioner of Securities. The Act abolished the Securities Commission and a majority of the duties of such Commission was conferred upon the Commissioner of Securities and the remainder upon the Commerce Commission. The Commission has authority to grant charters to State Banks and other financial corporations and to authorize insurance companies to do business in this State; to pass upon securities applications and the licensing of securities brokers and dealers. The Department of Commerce is divided into three divisions, viz.: the Banking Division, in charge of the Commissioner of Banks; the Insurance Division, in charge of the Commissioner of Insurance, and the Securities Division, in charge of the Commissioner of Securities.

The Department of Banking has supervisory powers over all state banks, savings banks, building and loan associations, state trust companies, credit unions, small loan companies, and other financial corporations. The Commissioner of Banks is statutory liquidator of all closed state banks. This department is obliged by law to examine periodically those institutions under its supervision.

The Insurance Department was organized in 1872. The department has supervision of all classes of insurance companies doing business in the state. The commissioner is required to examine each domestic company at least once in three years, and he may examine foreign companies whenever in his opinion such examination is necessary. The commissioner is given authority to pass upon securities issued by insurance companies doing business in this state.

The State Fire Marshal. By the reorganization act of 1925 the office of state fire marshal was abolished and the commissioner of insurance was appointed ex-officio state fire marshal. The duty of this division is to enforce the laws relative to fire prevention, storage, sale and use of combustibles and explosives, the licensing of theatres and dry cleaning establishments, the investigation of suspicious fires, and the institution of prosecutions for arson.

The Division of Securities passes upon all applications to sell securities in the State of Minnesota. It has jurisdiction over such sales activity, including the licensing and supervision of securities dealers, brokers and agents. The administration of the Minnesota Securities Act includes investigation and presentation for prosecution of violations of the Act. The Commissioners of Banking, Insurance and Securities compose the Commerce Commission and act together upon securities applications, bank charters and applications of insurance companies requesting authority to do business in Minnesota.

State Employees Retirement Association. This association was created by the 1929 Legislature for the purpose of providing annuities for employees. The requirements are 20 or more years' service at age 65, or 35 years' service if under 65. The act as amended in 1939 provides for proportional deferred annuities after 10 years' membership, beginning at the date the member would have been eligible to receive an annuity had he remained in the state service. Funds are provided by a step rate of deductions from salaries, the rates being from $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent to 6 per cent of all salaries not in excess of \$300.00 a month; and the act as amended by the 1939 Legislature provides for contributions on the part of the state in an amount equal to 50 per cent of the sum paid in annuities each year. The management of the association is vested in a Board of seven members, consisting of the State Auditor, State Treasurer, Commissioner of Insurance, and four state employees to be chosen one each year from the association membership.

The Minnesota Historical Society. Incorporated less than two months after the convening of the territorial legislature in 1849 and chartered by it, the Minnesota Historical Society is the oldest institution in the state. It is supported mainly by legislative appropriation. By gift and purchase it has accumulated one of the largest and best historical libraries in the West, containing more than 200,000 books, pamphlets, and newspaper volumes. An important part of the library consists of materials on Minnesota history—the most comprehensive collection of its kind in existence. The library is strong in the general field of Americana, particularly in the subjects of the West, the Northwest and Canada. It has also one of the largest collections of genealogical and biographical publications in the United States; and an extensive collection of material relating to the Scandinavians in the United States, which is supplemented by the special library of the Swedish Historical Society of America, on permanent deposit with the state society. In the society's division of manuscripts is a constantly growing body of letters, diaries, and other documents left by men and women who have played some part in the making of Minnesota. Included in this unique collection are about a dozen farmers' diaries and the papers of such men as Sibley, Ramsey, Taliaferro, Donnelly, Bishop Whipple, Knute Nelson, John Lind, Dr. William W. Folwell, and Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh. Scarcely less important historically are the 20,000 bound volumes of Minnesota and other newspapers in the society's library, files extending from the first newspaper published in the territory down to the present. A historical museum, with varied displays, visualizes the external conditions of life in Minnesota's past. Of special interest are a series of miniature models of scenes and situations illustrative of life on the Minnesota frontier.

In 1919 the legislature recognized the society in effect as a state department of archives, and since that date non-current archives have been received for custody and administration from ten state departments and eleven commissions and boards. These materials include executive records, census schedules, and pension papers from the offices respectively of the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Adjutant General.

The society publishes a quarterly magazine, Minnesota History, which was established under a slightly different title in 1915. Among its other publications are Dr. William W. Folwell's four-volume History of Minnesota, a two-volume history of Minnesota in the War with Germany, and seventeen volumes in a series of Collections. The Mayer Diary, issued in 1932, the first in a new series, Narratives and Documents, was followed in 1934 by the letters of Jane Grey Swisshelm, militant woman editor, and in 1939 by the diaries of two pioneer farmers who established homes in Minnesota in the forties and fifties. A series of Special Bulletins was inaugurated in 1935 with a Guide to the Personal Papers in the Manuscript Collections of the society. A monthly clip sheet, the Minnesota Historical News, makes available to newspapers short articles on Minnesota history.

The society holds an annual meeting in January and conducts each summer a historical tour and convention. It promotes the organization of local history work, co-operates with county historical societies (now 63 in number), sponsors a survey of historic sites in the state, encourages the teaching of Minnesota history in the schools, conducts an "Information Bureau" which has prepared hundreds of reports in response to questions put before it, supplies speakers from its staff for many meetings, and in other ways supplements this program of public education. It has co-operated with the Minnesota highway department in the erection of more than a hundred historical markers along state highways, and has engaged in a number of recent archaeological investigations.

The society has a membership of more than sixteen hundred. Dues amount to three dollars for annual, ten dollars for sustaining, and fifty dollars for life members. Membership, which is open to all, may be secured through application and payment of dues. The governing body is an executive council composed of thirty elected members and six state officers ex-officio.

The society occupies the Historical Building adjacent to the Capitol. This building was erected by the state at a cost of $500,000 and was dedicated on May 11, 1918. The reading rooms, manuscript division, and museum are open to the public daily from 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M.

The State Live Stock Sanitary Board was established by Chapter 352, Laws of 1903. It consists of five members appointed by the Governor for a term of five years. One member is selected and recommended by the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' Association. Two members shall be persons financially interested in the breeding of livestock in the State, and two members shall be practicing veterinarians and graduates of a regularly organized and recognized veterinary college.

The duties of the Board are to protect the health of the livestock, including poultry, of the State. The law provides the Board shall hold quarterly meetings in St. Paul. The Secretary and Executive Officer and the field veterinarians employed by the Board are required to be graduate, licensed veterinarians.

The Stallion Registration Board was created by the 1907 Legislature. It is made up of the professor of animal husbandry of the Minnesota College of Agriculture, the veterinary of the State Experimental Station and the president of the Minnesota Horse Breeders' Association. The act makes suitable provisions for the inspection of all animals subject to registration and provides for a licensing of the animal by the board.

The Liquor Control Commissioner is charged by law with the enforcement of the Liquor Control and Revenue Acts. The actual sale of liquor tax stamps is made by the State Treasurer, leaving the supervision of the sale through control accounts.

This supervision and enforcement consists of regulating the sale, manufacture, and importation of intoxicating liquor, wine and beer, designating the denomination of excise tax stamps, and ascertaining that proper tax stamps and labels are affixed to each container of liquor and wine, and each case and barrel of beer sold for consumption within the state. Supervision has also been established for the use of sacramental wine and alcohol for medicinal and industrial purposes. Investigation is made of all applications before the issuance of wholesale liquor, brewery and distributors' licenses, pharmacists' permits, alcohol licenses, salesmen's and distillery representatives' cards, out-of-state importers' permits, etc.

Other duties of this office include designation of the age and type of liquor that shall be offered for sale to the consumers in this state, together with the labelling thereof; determining the standards of fill for liquor, wine and beer; assisting with temperance education as prescribed by Chapter 46, Section 9, Extra Session Laws 1933-1934; regulating and approving advertising of liquor before publication, and promulgating rules and regulations.

The office of the Liquor Control Commissioner checks and audits many hundreds of reports received each month from Minnesota manufacturers, wholesale liquor and wine dealers, breweries, malt beverage distributors, pharmacists, alcohol permittees and others. Also, reports are received and audited from out-of-state distillers, rectifiers, winers, wholesale distributors and breweries shipping liquor, wine and beer into Minnesota. These reports show total gallonage, cases and barrels manufactured, sold and imported, and the amount of the Minnesota excise tax stamps purchased, and the tax liability.

The Department of Conservation was created by Chapter 186, Laws of 1931, which established the five-man Conservation Commission. The Legislature of 1937, under Chapter 310, reorganized the Department of Conservation by eliminating the five-man commission and created the office of the Commissioner of Conservation, to be appointed by the Governor for a term of six years, removable for cause only. The Commissioner of Conservation is authorized to appoint a Deputy Commissioner and a Director for each of the divisions of Game and Fish, Forestry, Lands and Minerals, State Parks, Drainage and Waters and the Tourist Bureau. Each Division Director may appoint a deputy, subject to the approval of the Commissioner. The Commissioner of Conservation is responsible for the formulation and adoption of policies governing the six divisions and for the administration thereof.

The Department of Labor and Industry embraces eight organized divisions, each of which is under the immediate direction of a chief, as follows:

Accident Prevention, Boiler Inspection, Painting Standards, Statistics, Steam-fitting Standards, Voluntary Apprenticeship, Women and Children, and Workmen's Compensation. The department is administered by the Industrial Commission, which consists of three members, who are appointed by the Governor for terms of six years, expiring two years apart. The commission also serves in a quasi judicial capacity in acting as an appellate body in hearing and determining appeals from decisions of referees in workmen's compensation cases.

The Division of Conciliation was authorized by the Minnesota Labor Relations Act of 1939, and it is established in the Department of Labor and Industry but not subject to the control of that department. It is administered by Labor Conciliator who is appointed by the Governor.

The Minnesota Labor Relations Act is a new experiment in labor relations, and the purpose of it is to provide a State office to aid in the avoidance and settlement of labor disputes and promotion of industrial peace. In September, 1939, rules for procedure were promulgated by the Labor Conciliator, covering the various sections of the Act under his administration, as follows: the conciliation of labor disputes where no notice of intention to strike or lockout has been filed, conciliation of labor disputes where notice of intention to strike or lockout has been filed, three-man fact-finding commissions appointed by the Governor under the public interest clause of the Act, arbitration as provided in the Act, and investigation and certification of representatives for collective bargaining. The Conciliator maintains a list of labor organizations and employers' organizations, who have filled out the regular listing forms provided by this office. The Act does not give the Conciliator any judicial or police powers, and consequently leaves the matter of violations of the law to the local courts.

The Railroad and Warehouse Commission is made up of three (3) elective Commissioners who serve for six year terms. The Commission has general jurisdiction over railroad rates and service and suburban electric lines; a jurisdiction over rates and certain security issues of street railways; a general jurisdiction over rates and service of express companies; the sampling, inspection and weighing of grain at country and terminal points; the licensing and bonding of hay, grain, and straw commission merchants; the inspection and weighing of hay and straw; the weighing of commercial coal in carload lots at Duluth; the inspection and sealing of terminal elevator scales; full jurisdiction of weighing and measuring devices; the licensing, bonding and general regulation of local and terminal grain warehouses; the regulation, licensing and bonding of public storage, warehousemen (other than grain and cold storage) in cities and villages of 5,000 population and over; the regulation as to rates and service of more than 2,000 telephone companies in the state; the weighing of livestock at the South St. Paul market; the regulation of common carrier motor vehicle operation where the same is afforded between fixed termini and over a regular route; and also the regulation of contract carriers who perform special services and irregular route common carriers who may carry property any place in the state but not between fixed termini and over a regular route; the regulation of the construction, operation and maintenance of telephone lines and the lines of other utilities to prevent induction from one set of wires to another; the inspection of electric meters outside of cities of the first class, and many other incidental matters of importance to the public.

The various departments carrying out the powers of the Commission are the Grain Inspection and Weighing Division, the Live Stock Weighing Department, the Department of Scales, Weights and Measures, in addition to the Engineering, Telephone, Statistical, Railroad Rate and Auto Transportation Company Divisions, a part of the General Office of the Commission. The Grain Inspection and Weighing Division, and the Live Stock Weighing Department are self-supporting from fees derived from the service performed.

The Grain Inspection Division is in charge of a Chief Inspector. The state is divided into three principal inspection districts—Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth—the inspection and weighing service, or both, have been established at many other places within the state.

The Weights and Measures Division was created by the Legislature in 1911 and it is the duty of those in charge of this department to see that all weights and measures conform to the United States standards.

The Telephone Division exercises powers over the telephone lines of the state similar to those exercised by the Commission over railroads and express companies. Over two thousand telephone companies are supervised.

The Stock Yards Division regulates rates and charges and requires proper sanitary facilities, and supervises the weighing in all public yards; the licensing of livestock commission merchants and the control of their trade practices, subject to certain limitations imposed by the Federal Control Act of 1922.

The Boards of Grain Appeals at Duluth and Minneapolis consist of three members each, appointed by the governor. The boards are required to meet annually in joint session and establish grades of all grains to be known as "Minnesota Grades." Appeals may be taken to these boards from the decision of inspectors of the Grain Inspection Department as to grades and dockage. The board is entirely independent of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, but its salaries and expenses are paid from the Grain Inspection fund.

The Department of Rural Credit was originally established under the Minnesota Rural Credit Bureau by Chapter 225, Laws of 1923, for the purpose of making loans upon improved farms in the state to owner-occupants. The stated objectives for the establishment of the system were the promotion of agriculture, dairying, and livestock raising, and the development of farm lands in the state. Chapter 429, Laws of 1933, stopped the loaning activities of the department, abolished the Rural Credit Bureau, and placed the disposition of the affairs of the department under a conservator who is charged with the responsibility of husbanding the assets of the department and meeting its indebtedness in a manner that will result in the smallest possible loss to the state.

The Minnesota Voting Machine Commission which was created by the Legislature of 1905 consists of three members, including the Attorney General, who is chairman. The other two members, who must be master mechanics or graduates of a school of mechanical engineering are appointed, one by the Governor and one by the Attorney General. Each member is appointed for a four year term and vacancies are filled by the appointing power. The commission examines any voting machine submitted to it by any person, company or corporation as to its compliance with the requirements of the law and on its accuracy, durability, efficiency and capacity to register the will of the voters, and files its report with the Secretary of State. If, in the opinion of the commission, the machine so examined complies with the legal requirements and can be safely used at elections in the state, it is deemed approved and machines of its kind may be used at elections in the state.

The Minnesota Resources Commission is a representative body appointed by the Governor to study and analyze the resources of the State and to recommend to the legislature and the people of the State action for the development, utilization and conservation of such resources with a view to promoting jobs, income and the welfare of each and every citizen as well as posterity.

The Commission is organized into a number of committees which coordinate the research work and its interpretation.

The present Commission was appointed in 1939 and succeeds the former Minnesota State Planning Board which was organized in 1934.

Board of Regents of State University. The State Constitution vests the government and general educational management of the State University in a Board of Regents, consisting of 12 members to be elected by the Legislature. Its rights and duties are prescribed and fixed by an act of the 1851

Territorial Legislature and confirmed and perpetuated by the State Constitution. This act cannot be repealed or amended by the Legislature.

Board of Commissioners for the Promotion of Uniformity of Legislation. This board, consisting of three lawyer members, is appointed by the Governor, the Chief Justice and Attorney General, under the provisions of Chapter 68, Session Laws of 1911, to cooperate with other national and state organizations in promoting the adoption of uniform state laws on various subjects.

State Athletic Commission. This commission was created at the 1915 session of the Legislature to consist of three members who have charge of boxing in Minnesota as defined under the sections of the act. The members are appointed by the Governor.

In 1933 a new act relating to boxing and sparring exhibitions created a new Athletic Commission, to consist of five commissioners, citizens of this State, who shall be appointed by the Governor and shall hold office for a term of three years, except as hereinafter provided, and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

The Tri-State Waters Commission was created by Chapter 234, Laws of 1937, which act provided a compact between the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota, to study the utilization and control of that portion of the Red River of the North and that portion of its drainage basin lying within North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota. The Commission consists of nine members, three from each state. The Minnesota representatives on the Commission consist of two members appointed by the Governor from residents of the Tri-State Waters area, to serve a term of two years; the third to be the Commissioner of Conservation.

The Minnesota Commission on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Project was provided for in a joint resolution of the Legislature of 1919, to promote in conjunction with like commissions in other states the establishment of a deep waterway connection for ocean-going vessels between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean. Three members named by the Governor make up the commission and they serve without pay, but its expenses are provided for by Legislative appropriation.

Upper Mississippi and St. Croix River Improvement Commission. This commission was created by the 1927 Legislature for the purpose of promoting the development of navigation on the Upper Mississippi and the St. Croix Rivers. It is composed of five members appointed by the Governor who serve without compensation.

Minnesota Soldiers' Home. Management: Board of Trustees. Resident Manager: The Commandant. The Minnesota Soldiers' Home is located on land at the confluence of Minnehaha Creek with the Mississippi river in Minneapolis. It was established by the Legislature of 1887, acting on recommendations of a committee of the Department Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which made a study of two or more years' duration. The present estimated value of the property as in its going conditions, according to inventory, is $1,750,000.

State Board of Education. This Board was authorized by Chapter 334, Session Laws of 1919, and consists of five representative citizens of the state, who are appointed by the governor, by and with the approval of the Senate, for a term of five years.

State Teachers' College Board. Section 2970, G. S. 1913, vests the educational management of the Teachers Colleges in a board of eight, who, with the Commissioner of Education, shall constitute this board. They are to be appointed by the Governor, subject to the confirmation of the Senate, for a term of four years. There shall be one director-resident in each county in which a state teachers college is located and no two shall be residents of the same county.

The State Teachers' Retirement Fund is organized under authority of Chapter 406 of the Laws of 1931 which repealed Chapter 199, Laws of 1915, under which the old Teachers Insurance and Retirement Fund was operated. The management of the Fund is vested in a Board of Trustees composed of the following: The state commissioner of education, the state auditor, the commissioner of insurance, and two members elected by the Fund Association.

State Agricultural Society. Organized in 1854 as the Minnesota Territorial Agricultural Society, it was incorporated, in 1860, as the Minnesota State Agricultural Society, its function being the operation of the Minnesota State Fair. In 1903 the legislature confirmed and established the society as a public corporation and a department of state.

The society's voting membership comprises three delegates from each county agricultural society in the state; one delegate from each county in the state in which no county agricultural society exists; individuals who have been elected honorary life members of the society; two delegates elected by, and the president, ex-officio, of each of twenty-five statewide organizations affiliated with agriculture and kindred pursuits; one delegate from each of seventeen similar statewide organizations; and the incumbent members of the governing board.

At the annual meeting of the society, held three days beginning the Wednesday first following the second Tuesday in January, are elected the members of the governing board, which body directly manages and operates the State Fair. The membership of this board comprises a president at large, for a term of one year; two vice-presidents, one from the fourth, the other from the fifth, congressional district, both for terms of two years; and seven managers, representing, respectively, for terms of three years, the first, second, third, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth congressional districts. The terms of the vice-presidents overlap, as do those of the managers, so that at any annual meeting not more than one vice-president nor more than three managers are elected. The governing board in turn elects a secretary and a treasurer, both for terms of one year.

From 1854 to 1884, the Fair, unanchored, moved periodically about the state, being held, with varying degrees of success, at Fort Snelling, Minneapolis, Owatonna, Red Wing, Rochester, St. Paul.

By virtue of Ramsey county's gift to the state, in the early spring of 1885, of a 200-acre tract lying in Rose town, midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis, that year marked the permanent location of the State Fair grounds on its present site and it also noted, for the Fair, the beginning of an era of unprecedented growth.

The period from 1885 to the present has witnessed a phenomenal expansion in the educational activities of the Fair and has seen the construction of improved facilities not only for proper presentation of the myriad competitive and industrial exhibits annually on display but also for the comfort and convenience of the Fair patrons. Especially during the years beginning with 1934, a planned development program has brought forth several substantial, spacious, well equipped new exhibition buildings of modern architectural design, as well as greatly augmented automobile parking areas and general improvements to streets and other utilities on the Fair grounds, all of which has been accomplished with funds from earnings in operation of the Fair and from contributions made by the federal government, the Minnesota legislature and the Minnesota state executive council.

The record attendance to date was set in 1939, when the outside gate turnstiles registered 706,619 admissions in the ten days of operation of the Fair.

The Minnesota State Fair today occupies, among expositions of its kind, a place second to none as an educational institution, its curriculum embracing a diversity of subjects vital to the welfare of the people of Minnesota, principally, agriculture, livestock raising, home-making, the arts and, probably of farthest reaching importance and value, boys' and girls' 4-H Club work, the beneficent influences of which find their way into nearly fifty thousand farm homes of the state.

State Horticultural Society, organized in 1866, gathers and disseminates knowledge pertaining to fruit, flowers, tree, and vegetable growing and prepares lists of suitable varieties recommended for planting in Minnesota.

The society is composed of 600 life members and more than 5,175 annual members.

The Minnesota Horticulturist is the official publication and in it is published the reliable information gathered by the society. The society encourages the organization of local societies or garden clubs throughout the state in order to interest more people in home and community gardening. The following state wide societies are affiliated: Minnesota Beekeepers Association, Minnesota State Florists Association, Minnesota Garden Flower Society, Minnesota Peony and Iris Society, State Growers Association of Minnesota, Minnesota Nurserymen's Association, Minnesota Gladiolus Society, Minnesota Fruit Growers Association, Minnesota Dahlia Society, and Minnesota Greenkeepers Association. In addition there are more than 150 local societies affiliated with the state society.

A few of the many interests of the society are: a fruit, flower and vegetable garden for every home; a shelter belt for every farm, and school grounds and highways suitably planted with trees and flowers.

EXAMINING BOARDS

State Board of Law Examiners. This board consists of not less than three nor more than seven attorneys at law, appointed for a term of three years by the justices of the supreme court. Its officers are a president and secretary. It is required to hold public examinations of persons desirous of being admitted to the bar and report to the supreme court at least three times a year. Certificates authorizing the holder to practice law are issued by the court upon recommendation by the board.

State Board of Medical Examiners consists of seven physicians appointed by the Governor. The Board is authorized to grant licenses upon examination to persons desirous of practicing medicine, midwifery or massage, and to revoke such licenses for cause.

The State Board of Pharmacy consists of five registered pharmacists actually engaged in the retail drug business, appointed by the governor for a term of five years. The state pharmaceutical association may recommend five names for each appointment to be made from which the Governor may select. It has general supervision over all places where drugs, medicines and poisons are sold, compounded or manufactured. The board is required to meet at least once in every six months to examine applicants for registration as pharmacists.

The State Board of Dental Examiners consists of five practicing dentists appointed by the Governor, each for a term of three (3) years. At least two regular meetings are held each year at times fixed by the Board and may hold special meetings as occasion demands. Regular meetings are held at the College of Dentistry of the State University, special meetings are held at places convenient for all concerned. The board is authorized to revoke licenses for cause, as well as grant licenses by examination for the practice of Dentistry and Dental Hygiene.

The State Veterinary Examining Board consists of five qualified veterinarians appointed by the Governor for a term of five years. It is authorized to issue licenses upon examination to persons wishing to practice the veterinary profession.

The State Board of Osteopathy consists of five osteopathic physicians appointed by the Governor. Its officers are a president and secretary. Its regular meetings are the second Tuesday of March and September, and such other meetings as may be necessary. It is authorized to examine applicants and grant licenses to practice osteopathy.

The State Board of Examiners of Nurses was provided for by the 1907 session of the Legislature. The board consists of five nurses appointed by the Governor for a term of five years. The board may appoint a Director of Nursing Education. Examinations for the registration of graduate nurses are held semi-annually in Duluth, Rochester and St. Paul, and in Fergus Falls when it seems necessary.

The State Board of Optometry consists of five optometrists appointed by the Governor for a term of three years. The board is required to meet at least once a year at St. Paul to examine applicants for certificates to practice optometry.

The State Board of Barber Examiners consists of three members appointed by the Governor, each for a term of three years. One of said members must be a member of or recommended by a Union of Journeymen Barbers which shall have existed at least two years, and one of said members must be a member of or recommended by the Master Barbers Association of Minnesota. The Board conducts examinations of applicants not more than four times each year, at such time and place as the Board determines and grants certificates to successful applicants.

The State Board of Chiropractic Examiners as created in 1919 is made up of five members, graduates of five different Chiropractic Schools. It is authorized to license Chiropractors and revoke licenses for stated reasons. It also takes action in cases of criminal or illegal practice by licensed or unlicensed Chiropractors. One full time employee is maintained at the office of the Board's Secretary-Treasurer, 337-8 Loeb Arcade, Minneapolis.

State Board of Chiropody Examiners, established under a law of 1917, consists of five members, appointed by the Governor, each for a five-year term. Its duties are to examine and license chiropodists to practice in Minnesota.

The State Board of Electricity consists of five members, residents of the state, appointed by the Governor, each for a term of five years, and until his successor qualifies, of whom two are Master Electricians who are Contractors, two Journeyman Electricians, and one a consulting electrical engineer or electrical inspector of a city of the first class. Vacancies are filled in the same manner and from the same class from which the retiring member belonged. The board is authorized to issue licenses to persons wishing to engage in the occupation of operating, installing or repairing electrical wires or apparatus after examination.

State Board of Accountancy. Provision for this board is made in Chapter 439, Laws of 1909. Its members are certified public accountants appointed by the Governor for a term of three years. It issues certificates to those successfully passing an examination in practical accounting, accounting theory, auditing, commercial law, economics and public finance and such other subjects pertaining to accounting as the board may deem necessary. The board may revoke certificates for bad moral character, dishonesty, conviction of crime, incompetency or unprofessional conduct.

The Board of Basic Sciences was created by the 1927 Legislature, and consists of five members appointed by the Governor. The duties of the board are to pass upon the qualifications of those who desire to treat ailments of the human body, and to issue certificates of registration in the basic sciences to those who pass the prescribed examination.

Board of Registration for Architects, Engineers and Land Surveyors. This board was created by Chapter 523, Laws of 1921, and consists of seven members appointed by the Governor, for the registration of architects, engineers and land surveyors.

Minnesota State Board of Hairdressing and Beauty Culture Examiners was created by the 1927 Legislature. It is composed of three members appointed by the Governor. It is authorized to issue licenses to hair dressers and beauty culturists, after they have taken and passed the prescribed examination.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND NAVAL AFFAIRS

Commander-in-Chief

GOVERNOR HAROLD E. STASSEN

Executive Officer of the Department

Major General Ellard A. Walsh, The Adjutant General
Lieutenant Colonel J. E. Nelson, Assistant Adjutant General
Brigadier General Charles A. Green, Adjutant General
Colonel Frederick G. Stutz, Executive Officer, Defense Force

The Adjutant General is charged primarily with the administration, training, discipline and equipping of the Military and Naval Forces of the State. In addition, he is charged with administering certain activities of a non-military nature pertaining to the Division of Soldier Welfare, Soldiers' Pensions, Spanish War Veterans' Relief, burial allowances and providing headstones, markers and flags, World War bonus, maintenance of war records and registration of graves of Veterans.

The armed forces of the State are divided into two parts — the National Guard and the Naval Militia. The National Guard in its capacity as a component of the Army of the United States is almost entirely equipped and maintained by the Federal Government in conformity with the provisions contained in the Federal Act of July 3, 1916, as amended. At the present time this force has a strength of 8,000, consisting of the following organizations and units: State Staff Corps, State Detachment, 101st Coast Artillery Brigade (Anti-aircraft), comprising the Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, the 215th, 216th and 217th Coast Artillery Regiments (Anti-aircraft), and the following elements of the 34th Division: Headquarters 34th Division, 34th Military Police Company, 109th Ordnance Company, 59th Field Artillery Brigade, consisting of Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 125th and 151st Field Artillery; the Headquarters Company 68th Infantry Brigade, 135th Infantry and Companies "D," "E" and "F," 109th Quartermaster Regiment. In addition to the foregoing, the 109th Squadron (Observation) Aviation and Company "A," 194th Tank Battalion are non-divisional troops.

The Naval Militia is organized while on land as a regiment of Infantry, consisting of a Regimental Headquarters and three Battalions consisting of a total of seven Divisions. This force has a strength of 60 officers and 700 men and is organized in accordance with the Federal Act of February 28, 1925.

THE JUDICIARY DEPARTMENTS

The Judiciary

The constitution vests the judicial power of the state in a supreme court, district courts, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts, inferior to the supreme court, as the legislature may from time to time establish by a two-thirds vote. Pursuant to this power the legislature has established municipal and conciliation courts.

The Supreme Court

The supreme court consists of a chief justice and six associate justices, each elected for a term of six years.

The supreme court has original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and has appellate jurisdiction in all cases both in law and in equity. Appeals may be taken to it from all district courts and from some municipal courts.

One term of court is held in each year, beginning on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January and continues to the end of the year, with such recesses as the court may order.

The clerk of the supreme court, elected for a term of four years, keeps such dockets, journals and other records as may be required.

The reporter of the supreme court is appointed by the court to report all cases decided by it and prepare for publication, in volumes known as "Minnesota Reports," the opinions of the court and appropriate data incident to them.

The Lower Courts

The district courts are divided by the legislature into 19 judicial districts, each having one or more judges elected for a term of six years, and holding terms as provided by law. They are courts of general jurisdiction and have jurisdiction of all civil actions and criminal prosecutions, including appeals from probate courts, municipal courts, and from justices of the peace.

There is a probate court established in each county, presided over by a judge elected for a term of four years. It has exclusive jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction.

Justices of the peace are elected in cities, villages and towns. A justice of the peace has jurisdiction over actions at law arising within his county where the amount involved does not exceed $100, and over criminal prosecutions where the punishment prescribed does not exceed a fine of $100 or imprisonment for not more than three months.

Municipal courts are established in cities and villages, and generally have jurisdiction in civil actions at law where the amount involved does not exceed five hundred dollars, and in criminal prosecutions where the punishment does not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars or imprisonment for not more than three months. The jurisdiction of a municipal court is coextensive with the county wherein it is located. Appeals may be taken direct to the supreme court from the judgments of the municipal courts in some of the larger cities.

STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

Article VIII of the State Constitution makes it "the duty of the legislature to establish a general and uniform system of public schools," establishes the permanent school fund, and requires the legislature to "make such provisions, by taxation or otherwise as, with the income arising from the school fund, will secure a thorough and efficient system of public schools in each township in the State."

The whole area of the state is organized into school districts ranging from the small rural district maintaining a single one-room school or transporting its children to a school in a neighboring district, to the unorganized territory of several counties such as St. Louis and Koochiching, the county school district of Lake County and the school districts of the larger municipalities in which kindergarten, elementary, secondary, higher and adult education are provided. Each school district is under the direction of a school board elected by the people, with the exception of a few special districts in which direction of the schools is vested in some other municipal or county body.

County superintendents of schools, elected by the voters of the county for a four year term, have administrative and supervisory powers in relation to the rural ungraded schools. Certain official reports are made by all local districts through the county superintendent's office.

Chapter 334, Laws of 1919, created a State Department of Education under the direction of a non-salaried board of five representative citizens, appointed for overlapping five-year terms by the governor with the consent of the Senate. The powers and duties of the former Superintendent of Education, High School Board and State Library Commission were transferred to this Board. The Board of Education also serves as the State Board for Vocational Education for the purpose of State co-operation in the Federal programs of vocational preparation and training. The Board is required by law to hold an annual meeting the first Tuesday in August and to hold regular meetings quarterly.

The secretary and executive officer of the State Board of Education is the Commissioner of Education, elected by the Board for a statutory term of six years. The Commissioner is ex officio a member of the State Teachers Retirement Fund Board and a member and secretary of the State Teachers College Board. He is "responsible for the efficient administration and discipline of the various offices and divisions in the organization of the department of education," and has authority to propose plans for organization of the department and to nominate persons to carry on its work, subject to approval by the Board.

The schools of the State derive support from both local and state sources, and local supervision is supplemented by the work of the State Department of Education.

The state's share in school support approximates from year to year a third of the cost of school maintenance. There are four state funds for the support of schools as follows:

- (1) The Endowment Fund which consists of the income from the Permanent School Fund.
- (2) The Current School Fund which is the amount derived from a one-mill tax.
- (3) The Special State Aid Fund which consists of the sums appropriated biennially by the legislature from the general revenue fund of the state for purposes designated in law.

(4) The Income Tax School Fund.

The first two funds together make up the General School Fund and are apportioned to districts on the basis of school attendance.

The purposes of the Special State Aid Fund and the basis for determining the sums to be paid the several districts are found in the state aid laws. The first purpose is to equalize educational opportunities, including (a) payment of reimbursement aid for transportation or board of resident pupils in consolidated school districts; high school pupils residing in districts not maintaining high schools; crippled children who cannot walk to school with the exercise of normal effort; and isolated elementary pupils, (b) payment of tuition in high schools for nonresident pupils, and (c) aid in the purchase of library books.

The second purpose is to aid in establishing minimum standards. An amount fixed by law is paid for each school which meets classification standards established by the State Board of Education.

The third purpose is to stimulate educational progress. This aid is designed to encourage (a) the establishment and maintenance of special classes in the public schools for children who are handicapped by blindness, deafness, defective speech, subnormal mentality, or physical impairment, (b) the establishment and maintenance in the high schools of special departments for training in agriculture, home economics, industrial and commercial work, (c) the maintenance of evening schools for adults. Federal aid is also provided for vocational training in agriculture, home economics, trade and industrial education and the distributive occupations. Aid for the evening schools assists local communities in providing instruction for illiterates, preparation of aliens for citizenship, and general adult education. A part of the Federal Aid for vocational training is also used in support of part-time and evening vocational classes.

The fourth purpose stated in the law is to assist school districts with a high tax levy. Under this provision the state supplements the amounts districts with low valuation are able to raise, in order to maintain satisfactory schools. This is, in effect, another equalization of educational opportunity, and the amounts distributed as "supplemental aid" constitute the largest part of the Special State Aids.

The fifth purpose is the maintenance in high schools of departments for the training of teachers for the rural schools.

In 1935 the legislature authorized the transfer of $500,000 annually from the Current School Fund to the Special State Aid Fund if the sums appropriated were insufficient to pay the Special State Aids in full. Even with this transfer and increases in appropriations for special state aid, funds have been inadequate to pay these aids in full. The special state aids which were subject to prorating were paid at 64.7 per cent for 1936-37 and 60.7 per cent for 1937-38. For 1938-39 and 1939-40 the legislature provided that supplemental (equalization) aid be paid at 65 per cent. The remaining special state aids were paid at 58.5 per cent for 1938-39 and 54 per cent for 1939-40. The 1939 session of the Legislature appointed an Interim Committee whose primary duty has been to study the problem of state aid to schools. It is recommending changes in the state aid laws which will, if enacted, provide greater equalization.

From the receipts of the State Income Tax the districts are apportioned $10.00 per year for each child six to sixteen years of age and in addition $10.00 for each child sixteen to seventeen years of age attending school. Except in cities of the first class school districts must use the fund to retire outstanding indebtedness if such exists.

The State Department of Education directs the distribution of these aids according to law. It also exercises general supervision over the public schools of the state and advises superintendents and school boards. When necessary it secures the advice of the attorney general on problems affecting the administration of the schools.

As a part of its supervisory work the Department needs to make studies of the curriculum, organization and management of the schools, to publish bulletins and manuals on these subjects, and to report and make recommendations to the Legislature, all of which it is authorized by law to do. In so far as funds permit studies of an administrative and supervisory nature are carried on, both through the Division of Statistics established in the Department and by the various other Divisions with relation to their special fields of work. Funds available for this service have been seriously curtailed during recent years.

The Directors of the High and Graded School Division are required by law to visit each high and graded school each year and to make a written report on such visits. The Directors assist local school boards, superintendents and teachers with their professional problems and give advice in matters of curriculum, supervision and management. They co-operate with the local schools to maintain minimum standards and proper use of state funds. Through this division the Department exercises the same supervision over the public Junior Colleges as over the High Schools of the State.

The Rural School Division conducts institutes for rural teachers in each county in the state, conducts meetings for rural school board members, assists in establishment of consolidated schools, supervises transportation of pupils, supplies record books and forms needed by rural boards, supervises instruction in the High School Teacher Training Departments, and under an agreement with the Federal Government supervises approximately forty schools attended by Indian children.

The Vocational Education Division supervises the programs of training in agriculture, home economics, trade and industrial education and distributive occupations under agreements with the United States Office of Education and assures that these departments maintain standards entitling them to reimbursement from the Federal and Special State Aid Funds on a matching basis. In addition, it administers Federal funds for the training of defense workers. This program is paid for entirely from Federal funds and provides training for adults, for youth employed on work projects of the National Youth Administration, and for out-of-school youth, rural and non-rural. It is conducted through local school systems in accordance with a state plan approved by the United States Office of Education.

A Division of Vocational Rehabilitation provides vocational advisement and training for physically handicapped persons through the use of state and federal funds. This Division is concerned directly with persons of employable age. It operates in co-operation with the State Department of Labor and Industry, the Division of Services for Crippled Children and the Division for the Blind in the State Board of Control, the public schools, and various other public and private agencies which work with the handicapped. In close co-operation with this Division the state supervises the special classes for handicapped children in the public schools.

The Division of Health and Physical Education, in addition to supervising the school programs in these fields, aids in planning community recreation programs in which the schools participate under the state recreation law passed by the 1937 legislature.

A Division of School Buildings and Business Administration examines the plans and specifications for the erection, enlargement, and change of school buildings and advises with local school officials and architects in the planning and improvement of school plant facilities, in relation to such matters as heating, ventilation, lighting, etc. Standard blueprints and specifications for one- and two-room school buildings are offered free of charge to public schools. Rules for schoolhouse construction including the rules of the State Board of Health relating to sanitary standards are prepared and distributed by this Division. It also assists public school officials with local problems in fiscal accounting, management, insurance programs, protection of school funds and other phases of public school business administration.

Under a Division of Teacher Personnel the Department issues certificates which are evidence of qualification to teach in the public schools of the state and examines the qualifications of the teachers employed by the local districts. The Teachers Employment Bureau is also maintained as a part of this Division to secure employment for teachers in the public schools of the state and to furnish information to school boards and other proper authorities regarding the experience, qualifications and character of teachers seeking employment.

The Department has jurisdiction over library development in the state through its Library Division which serves as a clearing house on all library problems, publishes a quarterly bulletin, and aims to give impetus to library development in the state. It operates a state circulating library from which rural communities may borrow reading material from the open shelves or from the traveling library collection. The Library Division keeps statistics of school and public libraries of the state, secures regular reports from them, and publishes these statistics annually in Minnesota Libraries. The Division is also charged with the general supervision of school libraries, the maintenance of standards of service, standards for certification of librarians, and the administration of school laws and regulations relating to the libraries.

The State Department of Education sponsors a large number of W.P.A. activities including adult education, recreation, nursery schools, art projects, writers projects, research studies, and library demonstration projects.

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGES

At the first session of the State Legislature, in 1858, provision was made for three state normal schools "to educate and prepare teachers for teaching in the common schools." These were established at Winona in 1860, Mankato in 1868 and St. Cloud in 1869. As population extended west and north additional schools were provided and opened, at Moorhead in 1888, at Duluth in 1902, and at Bemidji in 1919. In 1921 the Legislature designated all of these schools as Teachers Colleges and gave the State Teachers College Board authority to grant appropriate degrees to students who complete prescribed four-year curriculums.

The Teachers Colleges devote themselves primarily to the preparation of teachers for the elementary and secondary schools. Each maintains two-year courses to prepare teachers for the rural and graded elementary schools. Each maintains four-year courses for more advanced training of elementary teachers, for the training of supervisors and teachers of special subjects, and for the training of secondary school teachers. The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred upon those who complete a four-year course. The diplomas of the Teachers Colleges are accepted by the State Department of Education as basis for the issuance of appropriate certificates which qualify teachers for employment in the public schools. Each Teachers College maintains a demonstration school for observation and practice teaching and has co-operative relationships with neighboring rural, graded and high schools for the same purpose.

Each of the colleges is required to conduct a summer term under the same standards of instruction as apply to the regular term. These summer terms are especially designed to give opportunity for the further training of rural teachers.

The Teachers Colleges are supported by appropriations made biennially by the Legislature and by the proceeds of nominal tuition and fees charged the students.

All of the colleges are under the direction of the State Teachers College Board. Eight members of the Board are appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate, one "resident director" from each county in which a Teachers College is located and two from the other counties of the state at large. The board members serve without compensation for four-year terms, half the terms expiring each two years. The Commissioner of Education serves as the ninth member and secretary of the Board. The president of the Board is elected by the Board at an annual meeting which is held on the first Tuesday in June.

The Teachers College Board is charged by law with responsibility for the appointment of all presidents, teachers and other employes, the general management, supervision and control of the several colleges, inspection of the school plants and methods of instruction, biennial reports on the condition, wants and prospects of each school, and recommendations for improvement.

The presidents of the Teachers Colleges are required to make annual reports.

The presidents of the colleges in the current year are:

Winona—Guy E. Maxwell, appointed in 1904 (Deceased, January 3, 1939) Acting President—Arthur T. French
Mankato—Frank D. McElroy, appointed in 1930
St. Cloud—George A. Selke, appointed in 1927
Moorhead—Roy B. MacLean, appointed in 1923
Duluth—Herbert E. Sorenson, appointed in 1936
Bemidji—Charles R. Sattgast, appointed in 1936

GENERAL INFORMATION

The University of Minnesota is the most widely known and most broadly serviceable institution maintained by the State of Minnesota.

Offering, as it does, the benefits of higher education and the consequent possibilities of advancement, to every boy and girl born in Minnesota who has the perseverance to complete a high school course or its equivalent, it holds out one of the great hopes for the future Minnesota, both to the young, who look forward to attendance there, and to the parents, who long to see further ambitions of their own fulfilled by the accomplishments of their children.

Although its enrollment makes the University of Minnesota one of the largest institutions of higher education in the entire world, and although its recognized high rank in scholarship and accomplishment has long made it one of the best known universities, education at Minnesota can be obtained at a cost much below that required by conditions at the great endowed institutions of the East. Government statistics show also that cost of living in Minneapolis and St. Paul is consistently lower than it is in most of the other cities or towns where state universities, west or east, are established. Tuition charges at the University of Minnesota are well below those of most endowed universities and colleges.

Official figures compiled by the Registrar show that on December 9, 1939, a total of 26,906 students, omitting all duplications, were receiving instruction in courses directed by the University of Minnesota. Of these, 15,940 were enrolled in the sixteen schools and colleges which comprise the University proper. In the five schools of secondary grade supported by the University, namely, the University High School, Central School of Agriculture, Northwest School of Agriculture, West Central School of Agriculture, and North Central School of Agriculture, and Center for Continuation Study, were 2,211 students. The Nursery School and Kindergarten had an enrollment of 66 students. Evening extension class students totaled 6,562, members of the correspondence classes numbered 2,498. Two hundred and fifty-eight persons were attending the various short courses offered by the University.

COLLEGES AND DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY

University Administration: The University of Minnesota is governed by a board of twelve regents whose terms of office are six years. The president of the University of Minnesota is the administrative head, and the chief business and finance officer is the comptroller.

Internal affairs of the University of Minnesota are governed by the University Senate, composed of the president, deans, all professors, including associate and acting professors, the comptroller, certain other administrative officers, and the University Librarian. Some others who do not devote full time to university work are members without power to vote. The registrar of the University is clerk of the Senate and custodian of its records.

College of Science, Literature, and the Arts (Academic College): This is the college in which students not specializing in a professional school study to obtain a liberal education in the broad cultural sense. Here also they take the preliminary work fitting them for admission to the professional or semi-professional colleges. (Four year course.)

The Zoological Museum: A department of the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts devoted to the recording and preserving of data and specimens of Minnesota animal life and to the instruction of the public with respect to birds, animals, and fish.

Minnesota Geological Survey: A department of the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts, which, as a continuous state investigation allotted to the University, annually conducts an intensive study of some important phase of the state's mineral resources, water, soils, or topography.

Institute of Technology: The Institute of Technology which was established November 1, 1935, embraces the College of Engineering and Architecture, the School of Chemistry and the School of Mines and Metallurgy.

College of Engineering and Architecture: A division of the Institute of Technology devoted to the technical education of those who desire to make a profession of engineering or of architecture. (Four year course.)

Engineering Experimental Laboratories: A department of the Institute of Technology concerned with various engineering problems. The Minnesota State Highway Department maintains its division of tests and inspections in this station.

School of Chemistry: A department of the Institute of Technology specializing in the science of chemistry. (Four year course.)

School of Mines and Metallurgy: A department of the Institute of Technology offering a four year course in preparation of the profession of a mining engineer.

School of Mines Experiment Station: A department of the Institute of Technology which as a state supported research institution works on the problems of extraction and treatment of the mineral resources of Minnesota. An office of the United States Bureau of Mines is maintained at the station.

College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics: This college is to all intents and purposes described by its title. Men and women whose life work is to be agriculture, the allied profession of forestry, or the capable conduct of the home are here given the best possible opportunities to acquire expert knowledge based on the experience and research of generations. (Four year course.)

Medical School: A professional school for training physicians and surgeons for service to the people of Minnesota. Two years of work in the Academic College are required for admission. (Five year course.)

School of Nursing: As a division of the Medical School, the school of Nursing is conducted for the training of both general and special nurses. A course for Medical Technicians is also maintained. (Three to five year course.)

The University of Minnesota Hospitals: Under the act creating the Minnesota General Hospital, the hospitals on the University campus are available for the care and treatment of indigent patients from any Minnesota community, thousands of whom are treated each year. A certificate signed by a county commissioner will warrant admission. Half of the expense of hospitalization is then paid by the state and half by the county.

Minnesota Hospital and Home for Crippled Children: This is a unit of the University Hospitals, created and endowed by the gifts of the late William Henry Eustis of Minneapolis. It consists of a hospital for the care of children disabled by crippling or other afflictions, and a convalescent home in which these children may be cared for and instructed during the period when it is necessary to keep them under special care after they leave the hospital.

College of Dentistry: A professional school for training dentists and dental hygienists. Two years of work in the Academic College are required for admission. (Three year course.) A course for Dental Hygienists is also maintained.

Law School: A professional school to fit students for admission to the Minnesota bar and for the expert and ethical practice of law. Two years of work in the Academic College are required for admission. (Two, three and four year courses.)

College of Pharmacy: Devoted to the instruction of men and women who desire to become registered pharmacists under the law of the State of Minnesota which now includes graduation from a recognized college of pharmacy. (Four year course.)

College of Education: A college specializing in the preparation of men and women to serve as teachers in Minnesota high schools, as supervisors, principals or superintendents of Minnesota public schools, or as college teachers. (Two and three year courses.)

Graduate School: The unit of the University of Minnesota in which students who have been granted the bachelor's degree at the completion of a four year course may continue their studies along some specialized line, leading to graduate degrees.

School of Business Administration: A collegiate division of the University in which are offered the courses of economics, accounting, marketing and allied subjects, together with specialized training that particularly fits the student to enter the business field. (Two year course.)

Library Instruction: In 1929 a Division of Library Instruction was instituted, under the direction of the University Librarian, to train workers for duties in high school, college, and public libraries. (One year course.)

University College: This is a college for students who have special objectives not provided for in regular college curricula. With the advice and sanction of the University College Committee these students may be permitted to pursue programs of work best adapted to their individual needs and purposes. As a rule students enter this college only after one or more years of attendance at the University. The degree of B.A. or B.S. is granted upon the satisfactory completion of an approved course of study.

General College: This college is made up in its curriculum entirely of broad, survey courses of the various fields of man's knowledge and activity. It is designed to give a two year general education, a foundation in the humanities at the university level which is terminated by the Associate in Arts degree for those who cannot take a longer course. It is, also, purposed that this college shall serve to give a broad foundation of knowledge for further specialized work and to help students arrive at an understanding of themselves and their capacities so that they can make out a reasonable future educational and vocational plan. (Two year course.)

Center for Continuation Study: A center in which students live and work together under one roof during their period of residence on the campus. It is a continuation school designed to provide further education over relatively short periods of time for those who have already received the usual professional, technical, and general instruction in the regular schools and colleges.

University Extension: In addition to giving instructions in the above school and colleges, the University renders two very significant services to the people of the state. First, it conducts many instruction services off the campus. During 1939-40 8,429 students received regular instruction in classes of the General Extension Division maintained by the University during the evening hours. Some of these were maintained in Minneapolis, others in St. Paul, others in Duluth, others in Hibbing, and so on throughout the more populous centers of the state. These courses provide credit toward graduation from the University to students who have complied with the entrance requirements.

In addition, there were 3,221⁶ students who took regular work by correspondence, 234 who enrolled in general extension short courses, and 3,534 others who took work in agricultural short courses.

Finally, primarily in the interest of those students who desire to fit themselves for the pursuit of agriculture and yet have not finished high school and therefore are not entitled to enter the University classes, the University conducts work of less than college grade at five different centers. In these schools there were last year 1,674 students enrolled.

Besides the phases of instruction off the campus already mentioned, which carry the University's services throughout the state by means of short courses, extension and correspondence work, visual instruction, community service, and the like, the work of the Four-H clubs and the Home Demonstration agents of the Department of Agriculture serves further to extend the institution's effectiveness throughout Minnesota.

Institute of Child Welfare: Under a ten-year grant from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial, a foundation, the Institute of Child Welfare is conducting an effective and practical series of investigations into the habits, abilities, and methods of training and educating young children, and is publicizing these findings through extension classes, lectures, and bulletins.

Research: Continuous researches that extend the boundaries of knowledge and solve, or help find solution for, urgent problems of health, agriculture, education, business and the like, are conducted by University specialists. Examples of the effectiveness of research may be found in the development of new crop varieties, fruits and berries; in discovering means to resist plant disease, ways of planting areas with peculiar soils; remedies for animal diseases such as mineral deficiency or contagious abortion, black-leg or hog cholera, or the diseases of fowls. Contributions of research workers under the Medical School and Mayo Foundation are nationally recognized, as are many of the contributions to educational science produced at Minnesota. Researches looking to the solution of the problem of marketing low-grade iron ore as commercial material will eventually add hundreds of millions of dollars to the state's resources.

Special Services: The Minnesota tax commission employs the expert services of members of the University staff in valuing ore deposits and in placing valuation on the properties of public service corporations of some kinds. The University also provides laboratory space on the campus for the State Highway Department. It conducts at Excelsior, Minnesota, the state fruit breeding station, operates a Forest Experiment Station at Cloquet and a State Experimental Creamery at Albert Lea. It supervises the work of county agents, wherever situated in the state, and pays their salaries in part. It conducts numerous annual short courses in agriculture, chief among them being Farmers and Homemakers Week, and the yearly short course for Editors. On the main campus short courses are conducted for physicians, dentists, morticians, and the like. The secretary of the League of Minnesota Municipalities is a member of the University staff. Schoolmen's Week, conducted annually by the College of Education, with the co-operation of the State Department of Education, offers special opportunities for teachers, principals, supervisors, and superintendents to hear the ideas of national leaders in education. Statewide athletic events are conducted by the Department of Physical Education and Athletics. The Statewide High School Music Contest has been an event of recent years.

MINNESOTA'S GOVERNMENT

Minnesota, "The Land of Sky Blue Waters," was called by Henry Sibley, during argument concerning the territorial seal, "The Star of The North," a probable reference to the fact that the Northwest Angle, beyond the Lake of the Woods, is the northernmost land in the United States.

For six centuries, from the date on the Kensington Rune Stone recording the Viking exploration into Minnesota, and for more than 300 years of written history, the drama of Minnesota has been in the building.

Until Minnesota became a territory, her lands and lakes and rivers were constantly subjected to French and English exploration, and her titles, originally in the Sioux and Chippewa, were by exploration, conquest and grant centered partly in England and partly in Spain.

After the Revolutionary War, the title to the land east of the Mississippi came to the newly created government of the United States, and that west of the Mississippi was still retained by France and was sold to the Federal Government under the terms of the Louisiana Purchase. Subsequently, all Sioux and Chippewa lands were transferred to the Federal Government excepting certain areas reserved, by agreement, for the Indian tribes, and not subject to private sale.

The history of the State is rich in the story of the explorer, the trapper, the trader, the priest and the soldier who, as pioneers, blazed the trail for the democratic government and the personal liberty which the State and its people today enjoy.

Out of lands at that time part of the territory of Wisconsin, Minnesota became a territory in 1849. After passage of the Enabling Act of 1857, Minnesota was admitted to the Union on May 11, 1858, adopting under her Constitution a government in conformity with the Constitution of the federal government.

Minnesota's government is divided into three branches — the Legislative, to make the law; the Judiciary, to interpret the law; and the Executive, to enforce the law.

For more than eighty years she has been a liberal and progressive commonwealth changing and supplementing her statutes, and upon occasion amending her Constitution to give added protection, opportunity and security to her citizens. The result is that she is one of the nation's leaders in cooperatives, in welfare and relief legislation, in education facilities, in business, labor and industrial progress, and in youth opportunity. Meantime, she has with pride and unswerving loyalty carried her fair share of responsibility in both peace and war to the union and to her sister states.

The State Constitution is subject to change through amendment and after a state-wide referendum submitted by the State Legislature to the people, and upon a majority vote.

The Legislature is bi-cameral and is composed of the Senate and House of Representatives. There are sixty-seven legislative districts, each of which elects one member to the State Senate, and from one to four members to House, there being sixty-seven State Senators, and one hundred and thirty-one Representatives.

Both Senators and Representatives receive $1,000.00 per session; the Senators being elected for a four year term and the Representatives for a two year term.

There have been fifty-one regular sessions of the State Legislature, the fifty-second session having convened in the first week of January, 1941, in the State Capitol at St. Paul. Regular sessions occur every odd numbered year. Special sessions are called on extraordinary occasions by the Governor.

No session of the Legislature shall exceed ninety legislative days. Each House provides rules for its own conduct, and no member can be held liable for any speech or debate in either House.

All bills having to do with the raising of revenue must originate in the House of Representatives. The Legislature makes all appropriations relative to the expenditure of State money, and usually as its last act before adjournment establishes the State rate of taxation for the following biennium and authorizes the State Auditor to certify it to the various County Auditors.

The Legislature cannot, by direction or indirection, change the Constitution nor the constitutional responsibilities of any officer of the State. In all other matters, subject only to judicial interpretation and gubernatorial veto, it can make and repeal laws for the State and its people.

The Executive Branch of government is headed by the Governor, and is composed of the Lieutenant Governor, the Secretary of State, the State Auditor, the State Treasurer, and the Attorney General as constitutional officers. The Clerk of the Supreme Court and the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, consisting of three members, are also elected by the people. The duties of these officers are fixed by the Constitution and by statute.

A constitutional officer is not subject to the control or direction of the judiciary in the performance of his duties.

All the members of the Executive Branch of government serve for two years excepting the State Auditor who is elected for a four year term. The Clerk of the Supreme Court, a constitutional member of the Judicial branch, is elected also for four years. The Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners serve for six year terms.

The Lieutenant Governor is president of the Senate, receives the same salary as a State Senator, and becomes Chief Executive upon the death of the Governor and during his absence from the State.

The Senate, at each session, chooses a president pro tempore who, in case of vacancy, becomes Lieutenant Governor. There being a vacancy in the Governor's office and neither the Lieutenant Governor nor the president pro tempore of the Senate being available, the Secretary of State becomes acting Governor.

The Judicial branch of the State consists of the Supreme Court and the District Courts. The counties and municipal subdivisions have their own Probate Courts, Municipal Courts, Conciliation Courts, Traffic Courts and Justices of the Peace, the judges usually being elective and their duties and functions being established by the Constitution and by Statute.

The Railroad and Warehouse Commission, consisting of three members chosen by popular vote, has administrative authority over regulations governing railroads, telephone, street railways, stock yards, grain inspection and associated activities.

The State Executive Council, composed of five constitutional officers, the Governor, the Secretary of State, the State Auditor, the State Treasurer and the Attorney General, exercises duties provided by Statute, including calamity relief, transfer of title to state lands and settlement of certain claims. The same group of officers, with the substitution of a representative of the University Board of Regents for the Secretary of State, comprises the State Board of Investment which handles the investment of all State funds, including the public trust funds, most of which are loaned, as the Legislature directs, to secondary subdivisions of government within Minnesota.

The Governor, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the Attorney General constitute the State Pardon Board.

The Legislative Emergency Committee (five members), created by statute in 1939, is composed of the Governor, the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance and the House Committee on Appropriations, and the Tax Committees of both House and Senate. It administers the distribution of appropriated funds for welfare activities to various state departments between legislative sessions, and has the authority to authorize the State Auditor and the State Treasurer to issue, when necessary, Revenue Fund Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Governor, the State Auditor and the Attorney General are the members of the Minnesota Claims Commission, the State Testing Mill Commission and the State Land Exchange Commission.

The heads of other State Departments, such as Highway, Rural Credits, Conservation, Education, Administration, Tax Commission, Social Welfare and State Institutions, are appointed by the Governor, subject in most cases to senatorial approval. The Governor likewise appoints members of various State Boards and Commissions and institution heads.

The Department of Motor Vehicle Licenses is under the Secretary of State, and the Highway Patrol under the Commissioner of Highways. The Division of Criminal Apprehension is under the Attorney General.

The Highway Commissioner, the State Auditor and the State Treasurer compose the State Board of Allotment which apportions, according to Legislative direction, the income from motor vehicle and gasoline taxes to the various counties and to the use of the Highway Department, the counties receiving one-third of the gasoline tax. Such monies, by virtue of a Constitutional amendment, can be used only for highway purposes.

In 1939 the State Legislature abolished the Board of Control and substituted a Department of Social Security with a Division of Public Institutions, a Division of Social Welfare, and a Division of Employment and Security; the Division of Public Institutions having the care of institutionalized persons, and the Division of Social Welfare that of persons not institutionalized, including the amalgamation of the Board of Parole. It passed a Labor Relations Act and provided for a Conciliator in disputes between employer and employee. It created a Department of Civil Service, provided for a Civil Service Commission and the appointment of a Civil Service Commissioner after competitive examination. It abolished the Department of Administration and Finance and divided the duties thereof amongst the State Auditor, an elective official, and the Commissioner of Administration and the Public Examiner, both appointed by the Governor. It created a Board of Tax Appeals, not subject to the supervision of the Commissioner of Taxation, and provided that its membership of three should be appointed by the Governor.

Minnesota has 87 counties, in all of which is a Board of County Commissioners, an Auditor, a Treasurer, a Register of Deeds, a County Attorney, a Surveyor, a Coroner, a Judge of Probate, a Clerk of Court, a Superintendent of Schools, a Sheriff and, in many counties, Court Commissioners. The salaries of these county officers are neither equal nor uniform and vary according to county.

The State has 1,990 organized townships, each with its regularly elected Board of Trustees and other township officers, all symbolizing and maintaining the township government which is the foundation of democracy in America.

Minnesota is the 11th State in size in the Union. It averages about 350 miles in length, from north to south, and in width about 240 miles. It comprises 84,286 square miles, and has total land acreage of almost exactly 51,750,000 acres divided on a ratio of three to five between native prairie and native forest land. It contains more than 11,000 fresh water lakes and has an average of 5,638 square miles of lakes and rivers, or about 1/7th of its entire area. It lies from 600 feet to 2,300 feet above sea level, and possesses, according to federal health reports, an ideal climate. Its population, while chiefly of Scandinavian and German extraction, is composed of representatives of almost every race and creed, all of whom have contributed substantially to the progress of the State by their industry, their loyalty and their cultural achievements.

The Public Domain (State owned lands), comprised originally some eight and one-third million acres received by the State through eight separate trust grants from the federal government:

1. For Public School.....	2,976,454 acres
2. For College of Agriculture.....	120,000 acres
3. For State University.....	91,524 acres
4. For Internal Improvements.....	496,482 acres
5. For Public Buildings.....	6,400 acres

- | | |
|---|-----------------|
| 6. For Educational & Charitable purposes..... | 4,709,038 acres |
| 7. For Geological Survey..... | 23,000 acres |
| 8. For Experimental Forest..... | 20,000 acres |

The income from the sale and use of these lands, together with one-half of the occupational tax collected on iron ore has given to Minnesota a Public Trust Fund, as of June 30th, 1940, in the vast sum of $108,131,975.71. All of these monies, excepting slightly more than 2½ million dollars of internal improvement monies, and $280,000 Swamp Land Funds, are available for school purposes. This means that Minnesota has well over $105,000,000 in cash invested for the continuance and development of its educational system. This is the second largest trust fund in any state in the union. Under the Minnesota Constitution, the principal of the fund is forever inviolate and undiminished. The interest is used solely for the purposes of the original trusts. As a result, Minnesota has the nation's second largest public State University, a nationally recognized Agricultural College, six complete and well equipped Teachers Training Colleges, and a public school system of high, graded and rural schools recognized to be the finest in America and represented by more than 9,000 individual public school buildings. Out of the original grants of land, there still remain 1,800,000 acres, 1,000,000 of which are devoted to the growing of state forests, and 800,000 of which are available for pioneer settlement.

The fundamental source of the iron and steel industry of America is found on the great Mesabi and Cuyuna iron ranges in Minnesota where the largest open pit iron mines in the world exist. The state produces 65% of the iron ore of the United States, and has averaged in production for several years more than 45,000,000 tons annually with a peak in 1937 of over 49,000,000 tons.

On State owned land, there are 45 operated mines, 15 of which are underground, and 30 open pits. One of these mines, the Mesabi Mountain, covers 160 acres and still contains nearly 20,000,000 tons of commercial ore. To date it has yielded to the Permanent Trust Funds more than $15,000,000 in cash.

There are more than 30,000,000 tons of low-grade ore in stock piles awaiting concentration. Some 39 plants have been erected for the treatment of low-grade ore; some 35% of Minnesota ore is beneficiated.

From the deposits of manganiferous ore on the Cuyuna range alone may be satisfied the nation's need for manganese.

The quarries of Minnesota produce granite, marble, limestone, jasper, sandstone and travertine equal in quality, variety, color and texture to any in the United States. Minnesota produces much cement, and her shale and clay deposits produce high-grade pottery, tile and brick of many classifications.

In the Northwest Angle is found large deposits of high-grade feldspar and mica.

It has been estimated that there are more than 6¾ billions of tons of fuel peat in Minnesota, a large portion of which is found on state owned Trust Fund lands.

Minnesota has 47 state parks and monument sites, one national monument at Pipestone, 31 state forests, and 3 federal forests. Amongst her 11,007 spring-fed lakes may be found some of the very best fishing and recreational facilities in the United States. Her forests are teeming with game, and in the Red Lake area is found the only woodland caribou herd in the union.

Canadian boundary waters provide unquestionably the finest canoe country in America through the only remaining wilderness east of the Rocky Mountains.

The Minnesota trunk highway system is composed of more than 11,000 miles of highways of which 3,093 are pavement, 4,864 are hard surfaced (bituminous) and 3,045 miles of gravel.

In addition, there are 107,854 miles of secondary highways (14,987 State Aid, 26,545 County Aid, 66,322 Township). Of these last three types, more than 58,000 miles are gravel surfaced or better.

Minnesota is the greatest butter producing State in the Union. She is first in the production of flax, barley, alfalfa seed and sweet clover seed. She is second in the production of oats, milk and rye, third in the production of corn and turkeys, fourth in the production of alsike seed, sixth in the production of timothy seed, seventh in eggs, high in the production of wheat, potatoes, beef and pork, and for many years has led the nation in the production of flour.

Minnesota has more co-operative marketing agencies than any other state with well over 4,000 farmers' co-operative associations.

Her National Guard has received nation-wide recognition for its size, equipment and proficiency; and at Camp Ripley, Minnesota has the largest and finest state military training area in America.

Within the state are churches and cathedrals of all denominations, numbering more than 5,000.

Duluth has one of the finest natural harbors in the world, and from the standpoint of tonnage, is the second largest port in America.

At South St. Paul is the third largest stock yards in the United States.

At Hamline, between Minneapolis and St. Paul, is the world's largest State Fair, covering more than 160 acres, with permanent buildings of which the 4-H Club Building and the Livestock Building have no equal. Here the State shows annually more than $1,000,000 worth of pure-bred cattle alone.

There are in Minnesota more than 250,000 cultivated farms, and extensive crop failure is unknown.

The timber industry, once a leader in Minnesota because of the vast acreages of white and Norway pine, is still one of her great industries. Over 45,000,000 board feet of lumber was cut in 1939, and more than 86,000,000 in 1940. In those two years Minnesota produced and sold over 1,000,000 Christmas trees. The development of synthetic products is daily giving added incentive to timber production, particularly of the aspen family.

At Cloquet is located one of the world's finest timber utilization plants, and the State's reforestation program promises a continuing and tremendously valuable annual sustained yield from her forests.

Minnesota's wealth and natural resources, her agricultural, business and educational opportunities, her cultural achievements and the very character of her people make her a leader in homes and farms, in education and roads, and offers vast opportunity to him who would make his home within her borders.

The abundance of lakes and streams, of game and fish, and of wilderness area makes the State a veritable paradise for him who seeks outdoor recreation. The liberality of her laws and her government makes her a leader in humanitarian democracy.

Truly, she is the Star of the North in the flag of the Union.

UNDER MANAGEMENT OF DIVISION OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

(Data given herein as of June 30, 1940)

Anoka State Hospital. This institution, created by an act of the legislature in 1899, was opened in 1900 with 115 patients transferred from the St. Peter State Hospital. It consists of a main building, including two wings for male patients and ten cottages for female patients, one of which is equipped as an infirmary. The central part of the main building contains the dining room and kitchen for male patients, reception room, and living rooms for employes. Other principal buildings are a service building containing kitchen for the women patients, bakery and dining room, assembly hall and chapel, administration building, greenhouse, a complete set of farm buildings, power plant, and cottages for the chief engineer and the head farmer. All principal buildings are connected by underground tunnels. Inmate population, 1,435; land area, 733 acres; Officers and employes, 128; value of land and buildings, $1,193,562. Superintendent, Walter P. Gardner, M.D.

Hastings State Hospital. This asylum, authorized by the legislature in 1899, was opened the following year with 115 patients transferred from the Rochester State Hospital. The institution was originally built for both men and women patients, but now cares for men exclusively. The buildings are a main or administration building, with east and west wings which have recently been reconstructed and fireproofed, nine cottages for patients (one of which is an infirmary), service building, laundry, occupational building, dormitory for employes, superintendent's cottage, and a new central power plant. The farm group consists of four barns, two silos, creamery, greenhouse, etc. Inmate population, 1,100; land area, 749 acres; officers and employes, 126; value of land and buildings, $1,133,658. Superintendent, Dr. Ralph Rossen.

Willmar State Hospital. This institution was established by the legislature of 1907 as a hospital farm for inebriates. In order to provide funds for the purchase of land and the construction of buildings, the act provided for the levying of a tax of two per cent upon all license fees for the sale of intoxicating liquor. The original institution was opened in 1912. In 1917 the act was amended to provide for the care of the chronic insane, and the same year 91 patients were transferred to the institution from the Fergus Falls, Rochester and St. Peter state hospitals. In 1919 the name of the institution was changed to the Willmar State Asylum, and, again, in 1937 to the Willmar State Hospital. The treatment of inebriates has been continued, but the larger part of the population is composed of insane patients. The buildings include an administration building with two wings for patients, seven cottages for men, six cottages for women, superintendent's cottage, service building and assembly hall, power house, laundry, farm buildings and cottages for the farmer and the engineer. Inmate population, 1,382; land area, 706 acres; officers and employes, 145; value of land and buildings, $1,651,072. Superintendent, M. C. Petersen, M.D.

Fergus Falls State Hospital. This institution, the newest of the three hospitals for the insane, was authorized by the legislature in 1887, and was opened in 1890 with 80 patients transferred from the St. Peter State Hospital. The hospital consists of an administration building with 12 adjoining wards for the accommodation of male patients and 10 adjoining wards for the accommodation of female patients; a psychopathic hospital divided into two wards, one for the male and one for the female patients; a hospital for contagious diseases; a separate tubercular building for men and a separate pavilion for female tuberculous patients; a building for convalescent patients; an occupational building; a nurses' home and a dormitory for male attendants; central kitchen; laundry; power house; and farm buildings. Inmate population, 1,829; land area, 1,076 acres; officers and employes, 266; value of land and buildings, $1,590,972. Superintendent, W. L. Patterson, M.D.

Rochester State Hospital. This institution was created by an act of the legislature in 1875 as the Asylum for Inebriates. Two years later the law was amended and the name changed to the Second State Hospital for the Insane. The amendment provided for a special department for the treatment of inebriates. This department was abolished by the legislature in 1897. The hospital was opened in 1879 with 68 patients transferred from the St. Peter State Hospital. The buildings comprising the institution include an administration building with wings for patients, two detached ward buildings for patients, detention or psychopathic hospital, isolation hospital, nurses' homes for men and women, laundry, storehouse, industrial pavilion, and a central power plant. The farm group consists of barns, garages, slaughter house, piggery, poultry plant, granary, blacksmith shop, greenhouse and cottages for employes. Inmate population, 1,472; land area, 1,360 acres; officers and employes, 238; value of land and buildings, $1,300,916. Superintendent, B. F. Smith, M.D.

St. Peter State Hospital. This is the oldest state institution for the insane. The legislature in 1863 authorized the Governor to place in the Iowa State Hospital not to exceed 25 destitute insane persons. Later on a few patients were sent to St. Vincent's Institution for Insane, St. Louis. In 1866 the legislature enacted a law providing for the establishment and location of a hospital for the insane. A farm of 210 acres was purchased by citizens of St. Peter and conveyed to the state. In order to provide temporary care for the patients, the state purchased an old building that had been used as a hotel in St. Peter. Nineteen patients, previously sent to the Iowa State Hospital, were transferred to St. Peter in December, 1866. The contract for the first building of the present institution was awarded in 1867. The hospital consists of a main building with two wings, detached ward buildings for men and women patients, cottage for women patients, cottage for male workers, detention or psychopathic hospital, tuberculosis hospital, industrial building, three dormitories for men and women employes, superintendent's cottage, steward's building, a complete set of farm buildings, and cottages for the farmer, engineer and assistant engineer. The Asylum for the Dangerous Insane, with accommodations for 287 dangerous and criminal insane, is operated in conjunction with this institution. Inmate population, 1,947; land area, 865 acres; officers and employes, 315; value of land and buildings, $2,052,611. Superintendent, Geo. H. Freeman, M.D.

School for Feeble-Minded and Colony for Epileptics, Faribault. The legislature in 1879 authorized the Board of Directors of the Minnesota Institute for Deaf, Dumb and Blind to open an experimental department for feeble-minded children. In July of that year a small class was organized with 15 children transferred from the Rochester and St. Peter state hospitals. In 1881 the legislature directed that the School for Idiots and Imbeciles be connected with the Minnesota Institute for Deaf, Dumb and Blind, and granted an appropriation of $25,000 for the erection of a building. This building was occupied the following year. In 1887 the school was made a department of the Minnesota Institute for Defectives. The present name was adopted in 1905. The buildings include an administration building with wings, several custodial buildings for boys and girls, a cottage for working boys, a cottage for boys employed at the dairy, Hillcrest Cottage for boys, Riverview Cottage for girls, general hospital, central kitchen and bakery, laundry, power house, superintendent's cottage, and building for women employes. The farm group includes modern dairy barns with accommodations for 120 cows. It is the largest state institution. Inmate population, 2,393; land area, 1,183 acres; officers and employes, 353; value of land and buildings, $3,047,054. Superintendent, E. J. Engberg, M.D.

School for the Blind, Faribault. The school was created by the legislature in 1864 as a department of the Minnesota Institute for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind. The first class was organized in 1866. A separate building for the blind was authorized in 1874. In 1887 the legislature provided that the school be maintained as a department of the Minnesota Institute for Defectives. The name of the institution was changed to the Minnesota School for the Blind in 1902. It is located on a high bluff overlooking the river and the city, with spacious grounds, pleasant walks and abundant shade trees. Its opportunities are free to all blind persons, or those who have not sufficient sight to pursue their studies in the public schools, who are residents of the state, between the ages of six and 21 years, and who are capable of profiting by instruction. The school year extends from September to June. Schools for adult blind men and women are maintained during the summer months. In these schools the principal emphasis is placed upon industrial and vocational training. The school cooperates with the Division of the Blind of the Board of Control in its work of aiding and assisting the blind of the state. The main building includes the administrative offices, schoolrooms, quarters for employes, kitchen and dining rooms, and dormitories for girls. There are two cottages for boys, a superintendent's cottage, an industrial building, a hospital, and a laundry. Population, 125; land area, 50 acres; officers and employes, 56; value of land and buildings, $265,700. Superintendent, J. C. Lysen.

School for the Deaf, Faribault. This institution was established by act of the legislature in 1858 under the name of the Minnesota State Institute for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb. It was opened in 1863, with eight pupils in attendance for first year. In 1864 the name was changed to the Minnesota Institute for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind. The first class for the blind was organized in 1866. In 1879 the legislature authorized the board of directors to open an experimental department for feeble-minded children. Fifteen children were transferred from the Rochester and St. Peter hospitals to Faribault in July, 1879. In 1887 the name of the institution was changed to the Minnesota Institute for Defectives, the act providing for the maintenance of separate departments for the blind, deaf and feeble-minded. Separate buildings were provided for the blind in 1874 and for the feeble-minded in 1882. The present name of the institution, Minnesota School for the Deaf, was adopted in 1902.

Minnesota has a compulsory education law for the deaf, and all children of the state between six and 20 years of age, too deaf or too dumb or defective of speech to be materially benefited by the methods of instruction in vogue in the public schools, and who are not taught in a private school or in a school having a special teacher for the deaf, are required to attend the School for the Deaf until discharge by the superintendent upon approval of the Board of Control. As in the case of the School for the Blind, the only expense is for clothing, postage and transportation.

The buildings are an administration building with wings (known as Tate Hall), Barron Hall, Noyes Hall (consisting of an auditorium, school building and library), gymnasium, service building, bakery, hospital, trades building, power house and the farm group. Population, 287; land area, 116 acres; officers and employes, 95; value of land and buildings, $824,604. Superintendent, Leonard M. Elstad.

Colony for Epileptics, Cambridge. The legislature in 1919 authorized the State Board of Control to select from the public lands of the state sites for a colony for feeble-minded and a colony for epileptics. In 1923 the law was amended to permit the purchase of a site for a colony for epileptics. Land was secured at Cambridge and the institution opened in 1925. It is the newest state institution. The buildings are an administration center group, consisting of the front main center building for administrative offices and quarters for officers and employes, a rear center building, including dining rooms for patients and employes, kitchen, bakery and quarters for employes, and ward buildings at either side of the front main center for sleeping quarters, day rooms, etc., for inmates; ten cottages for patients; central power plant; garage; root cellar; and cottages for the head farmer and the steward. Inmate population, 1,032; land area, 359 acres; officers and employes, 147; value of land and buildings, $1,640,598. Superintendent, D. E. McBroom, M.D.

State Public School, Owatonna. This school, created by the legislature in 1885, was opened at Owatonna in 1886. Dependent, neglected and ill-treated children under 15 years of age, who are normal mentally and free from disease, are eligible to admission on order of the probate and juvenile courts and by transfer from private institutions which are authorized by the Board of Control to receive and find homes for children. The main building consists of a central section with north and south wings and enlarged dining rooms. There are 14 cottages (including a nursery for babies and younger children), a service building, schoolhouse, gymnasium, superintendent's residence, laundry, power house, cottages for employes, greenhouse and sundry farm buildings. Population, 404; children in homes under supervision, 598; land area, 329 acres; officers and employes, 133; value of land and buildings, $974,789. Superintendent, M. R. Vevle.

Training School for Boys, Red Wing. This institution was created by an act of the legislature in 1867. It was first located in St. Paul, but was moved to Red Wing in 1890. It occupies a beautiful site overlooking the Mississippi river. Prior to 1911 both boys and girls were sent to this school. Commitments to the institution cover incorrigibles up to the age of 18 years. All boys committed are under the care of the institution until they attain their majority unless their conduct is such as to warrant a full discharge at an earlier date. The institution maintains a good-sized farm, a dairy herd of 50 cows, and a school of letters with a principal and six teachers. Vocational training, under competent instructors, is given in blacksmithing, carpentry and cabinet-making, baking, cooking, and meat-cutting, painting, plumbing and pipe-fitting, printing, truck-driving, and maintenance. The buildings consist of an administration building which houses the officers, storerooms and two families of boys, six cottages for inmates, school house, auditorium and gymnasium, industrial building, hospital, cottages for the superintendent, the steward and the head farmer, and the farm group. Inmate population, 396; paroled inmates, 508; land area, 560 acres; officers and employes, 78; value of land and buildings, $928,749. Superintendent, C. J. Jackson.

Home School for Girls, Sauk Center. This institution was established by the legislature in 1907. It was opened in 1911. Prior to that time it was conducted in connection with the Training School for Boys at Red Wing. It is admirably located on a tract of wooded and farm land, with Sauk lake, a beautiful body of water, in proximity. Though custodial in character, the institution is a home in every sense of the word. A large farm is operated in connection with the institution. Farming, gardening, dairying, canning of fruits and vegetables, butter-making and cheese-making are extensively carried on by the girls. The buildings include an administration building, receiving cottage and hospital, numerous cottages for girls, chapel, a modern school building containing rooms for regular and special courses, offices and a large auditorium, and adequate farm buildings to house the large dairy herd. The hospital is one of most modern arrangement. Inmate population, 298; inmates on parole, 136; land area, 512 acres; officers and employes, 78; value of land and buildings, $708,430. Superintendent, Katherine Hattendorf.

State Reformatory, St. Cloud. The legislature in 1885 appointed a commission to find a location for a second state prison. The site of the present institution, near St. Cloud, was selected. The legislature in 1887 enacted a law creating the Minnesota State Reformatory and providing that only first offenders between the ages of 16 and 30 years should be committed to this institution. It was opened in 1889. Located on the extensive grounds is one of the finest granite quarries in the state. From this quarry has been taken practically all the stone used in the construction of the institution buildings, and the quarrying, cutting and placing of the stone has been done entirely by the inmates. The woodworking industry turns out sash, doors, blinds, screens, storm sash and furniture for state institutions. In the factory attached to the institution is made nearly all of the men's clothing used in the state institutions. There are various other shops. An extensive farm is operated in connection with the institution, and the establishment of a farm colony where some 50 men employed in the farm department are housed has proved a decided success. The institution consists of an administration building containing offices and a chapel, six cell houses for inmates, hospital, central power plant, superintendent's residence, and additions, including kitchens, bakery, dining rooms, shops and storerooms. The grounds are enclosed by a wall of granite. The walled enclosure, containing 55 acres, is one of the largest in America. Inmate population, 1,212; inmates on parole, 440; land area, 1,057 acres; officers and employes, 160; value of land and buildings, $2,013,721. Superintendent, H. B. Whittier.

State Reformatory for Women, Shakopee. The State Reformatory for Women, created by the legislature in 1915, and located at Shakopee on a beautiful site overlooking the Minnesota river, was opened in 1920. At that time all women inmates of the State Prison were transferred to this institution. It serves as a reformatory and as a prison for women offenders. The institution has a fine farm, a large portion of which is under cultivation. It is planned to interest the women in gardening, dairying, buttermaking, and so on. Women's and children's clothing for other state institutions is now being made by the inmates of this institution, and it is planned to enlarge this industry. The buildings are an administration building and reception hospital, known as Isabel Higbee Hall, which includes offices, hospital and medical section, industrial workrooms, kitchen, dining rooms for officers and inmates, officers' bedrooms, and 20 rooms for inmates; three cottages for inmates; and cottages for the farmer and the engineer. Inmate population, 71; inmates on parole, 16; land area, 167 acres; officers and employes, 23; value of land and buildings, $299,433. Superintendent, Estelle Jamieson.

State Prison, Stillwater. The Minnesota State Prison at Stillwater, the oldest state institution, was originally founded in 1851. The new prison, built on the most approved lines of prison architecture and stated by experts to be the most modern institution of its kind in the world, was opened in 1912. The buildings consist of an administration building and connecting corridors containing offices of the warden and assistants, an office for use of the boards of control and parole, reception room, barber shop, telephone exchange, rooms for officers and guests, officers' kitchen and dining rooms, schoolrooms and lecture halls, library, printing office where the "Mirror," the newspaper published by the inmates, is printed, and space for the Bertillon and fingerprint systems used in the identification of criminals; two large cell houses, each containing 512 cells; a modern prison hospital, chapel, central power plant, greenhouse, and residences for the warden and other officers. Space is provided for two subsidiary cell houses, one of which has been completed, thus providing accommodations for 1,224 inmates. The industrial group includes the twine factory, a three-story and basement building 360 feet in length; a warehouse, 360 feet long, for the storage of raw material and manufactured twine; a main factory building of the same size for the farm machinery plant, containing machine shop, woodworking and assembling departments; foundry, 180 feet by 100 feet; blacksmith shop, steel storage house, and three large warehouses for storage of manufactured machines. Inmate population, 1,357; inmates on parole, 263; land area, 1,000 acres; officers and employes, institution proper, 176; and industries, 113; value of land and buildings, $3,213,068. Warden, L. F. Utecht.

Sanatorium for Consumptives, Ah-Gwah-Ching. This state institution, created by the legislature in 1903, admitted its first patient on December 28, 1907. It is situated on a beautiful wooded tract overlooking Leech lake. In 1922 the Board of Control authorized the purchase of 200 acres located about 10 miles from the sanatorium to be used for farm and garden purposes. The buildings consist of a main or administration building, infirmary, service building (including kitchen, bakery, dining rooms and quarters for employes), recreation building, numerous cottages for patients, cottages for the superintendent and the assistant superintendent, nurses' home, greenhouse, cottage for head carpenter, and sundry farm buildings. In August, 1935, an Indian Annex was added to the present property. The bed capacity of the Sanatorium has grown from the original 55 beds in 1907 to 480 beds at the present time. Number of patients, 378; land area, 881 acres; officers and employes, 215; value of land and buildings, $1,069,193. Superintendent, H. A. Burns, M. D.

Gillette State Hospital for Crippled Children, St. Paul. Minnesota has the distinction of being the first of the states to attempt the treatment of indigent crippled and deformed children at public expense. The legislature in 1897 granted an appropriation of $5,000 to be used for this purpose. Arrangements were made to have the children cared for at the City and County Hospital, St. Paul. The present institution was authorized by act of the legislature in 1907, and was opened in 1911. The medical and surgical staff is made up of the foremost specialists of St. Paul and Minneapolis. These men are on call at all times, and the services given these poor children are entirely gratuitous and unlimited. The resident medical and surgical staff is composed of students from the University of Minnesota graduate and undergraduate schools. The buildings are the main building with large additions, power plant and laundry, and a service building containing central kitchen, bakery, dining room, root cellar, storerooms, steward's office and rooms for 22 employes. A school building, known as the Michael J. Dowling Memorial Hall, is used for the education and training of indigent crippled and deformed children of the state of Minnesota. The sum of $50,000, representing one-half the cost of this building, was donated by the Minnesota Editorial Association and the Minnesota Bankers Association. Number of patients, 258; land area, 23 acres; officers and employes, 190; value of land and buildings, $618,388. Superintendent, Elizabeth McGregor.

Moose Lake State Hospital, Moose Lake. The legislature, in 1935, enacted a law authorizing the appointment of a commission of five members to select, in northeastern Minnesota, a site for a fourth state hospital for the insane. The commission selected land adjacent to the village of Moose Lake. The legislature, at its special session of 1935-36, confirmed the location, and directed the State Board of Control to purchase the land and proceed with the construction of buildings. The institution, located on a beautiful site overlooking Moosehead Lake and the village of Moose Lake, is planned for an ultimate capacity of 2,000 patients; the administration, medical center, receiving wards for men and women, kitchen, bakery, laundry, powerhouse, and sewage disposal units, at present being sufficiently large to care for this number. In addition to these buildings, there have been erected four dormitories for patients, a nurses' home and a superintendent's residence. A large dairy barn is under construction. A penal camp, with 40 to 50 inmates from the State Reformatory, has been established on the institution property. At this camp is a horse barn, dairy barn, blacksmith shop, and the camp building. There are five farm dwellings in good condition, one of which houses the farm superintendent; the others, the guards at the camp. The inmates of this camp are engaged in clearing and improving the land for farm purposes. The first patients were received by transfer from other institutions for the insane in May, 1938. Direct commitment of patients from fourteen counties located in northeastern Minnesota has been authorized, beginning August 15, 1938. Inmate population, 760; land area, 1,605 acres; officers and employes, 123; value of land and buildings, $1,929,369. Superintendent, M. W. Kemp, M.D.

PRIMARY ELECTION RETURNS

OF ELECTION HELD

SEPTEMBER 10, 1940

The returns on the following pages show the votes cast by counties for the various candidates for United States Senator in Congress, for the several State Officers, Representatives in Congress, Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the District Court, and State Senators and Representatives in the Legislature, on the Republican, Farmer-Labor and Democratic Tickets, and including Justices of the Supreme Court, and judges of the District Court, without party designation, at the state primaries on September 10, 1940. The amended primary law of 1913 provides that where a candidate for the nomination for a partisan office has no opposition his name is not to appear on the primary ballot, but he is to be deemed the unanimous nominee of his party. Hence, the names of some candidates do not appear in the tables.
