THE MINNESOTA CAPITOL

Minnesota's first capitol, which stood at Tenth, Cedar, Exchange, and Wabasha streets in St. Paul, served the territory and state from 1854 until 1881, when it was destroyed by fire. A second capitol was immediately erected on the site of the first, but before many years the increase in the activities of state government required a larger building. In 1893 the legislature authorized the appointment of a commission to select a site for and to construct a new building, and provided for the necessary taxation to pay for it.

The original commission appointed by Governor Knute Nelson consisted of Henry W. Lamberton, George A. Du Toit, Charles H. Graves, Eben E. Corliss, John De Laittre, and James McHench, with Channing Seabury as chairman. Vacancies resulting from deaths and resignations of commissioners were filled by Daniel Shell, Edgar Weaver, John Ludwig, and Henry M. Lamberton. Frank E. Hanson was secretary of the commission.

After holding two competitions for architects, the commission adopted the design submitted by Cass Gilbert, who began his career in St. Paul in 1883 and later removed to New York, where he won fame as the designer of many public and other buildings, among them the Woolworth Building. Ground for the new building was broken on May 6, 1896, by Channing Seabury, in the presence of a large gathering of citizens, and the cornerstone was laid on July 27, 1898, by Alexander Ramsey, the first governor of Minnesota Territory. The building, which was completed at a total cost of $4,500,000, including the site and the furnishings, was ready for occupancy by the legislature in 1905. The first governor inaugurated in the new Capitol was John A. Johnson.

Soon after the building was completed, the following statement was made in a leading architectural journal: "It is probable that no other structure in the United States of its size and stability cost as little money"—a tribute to the integrity, loyalty, and efficiency of the Capitol Commission.

MINNESOTA STATE SEAL

The state seal is similar in design to the territorial seal, although various other devices were proposed and even adopted as laws.

First official reference to the seal appears in the message of Governor Ramsey to the first territorial legislature, September 9, 1849. A legislative committee, October 31, recommended as a seal device, "an every-day scene, consisting of an Indian family with their lodge, canoe, etc., and a single white man visiting them, with no other protection than the feeling of hospitality and friendship existing between the two people. The white man is receiving from the Indian the pipe of peace." That seal was authorized by law but never used.

The territorial seal depicted instead a scene at St. Anthony Falls, as shown in the accompanying engraving. The earlier proposal may have influenced the design, but substitution of the musket and powderhorn for the pipe of peace may have had special significance. The motto, "Quo sursum velo videre," the third word a misprint for "volo," meaning "I wish to see what lies beyond," was selected by H. H. Sibley, while a delegate in Congress. Governor Ramsey commissioned D. O. Hare of Washington to engrave the seal and the cost was $157.

Although ridiculed by journalists as representing "a scared white man and an astonished Indian," and "a man plowing one way and looking another," this territorial seal was used until the adoption of the state seal in 1858.

During the first session of the state legislature, assembled December 2, 1857, Charles F. Lowe, a member of the convention of 1857 which drafted the state constitution, including a provision for a state seal, procured from Mr. Buechner, a St. Paul artist, a design shown on page 658 of W. H. C. Folsom's "Fifty Years in the Northwest."

The state government upon beginning operations in May, 1858, was without a state seal. Authorizing temporary use of the territorial seal, Governor Sibley brought up the subject at the adjourned legislative session in June and a special committee was named. W. H. C. Folsom, chairman, submitted the design mentioned, which on July 16 was adopted by joint resolution. When the new seal was delivered, however, it was found that the legislative intent had failed, and in place of that elaborate design one resembling the territorial seal was used, as it appears in the illustration. The word "state" was added and the date of admission substituted for the territorial year. The motto was changed to "L'Etoile du Nord," translated "The North Star," and this state seal has ever since been in official use. The Minnesotan published articles ridiculing the French motto and declaring that Governor Sibley had chosen it simply because he spoke that language.

MINNESOTA STATE FLAG

The State Legislature of 1893, by Chapter 16, provided for a state flag.

Mrs. Franklyn L. Greenleaf, Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. Edward Durant, Mrs. F. B. Clarke, Mrs. H. F. Brown and Mrs. A. T. Stebbins were by this act named a commission to select an appropriate design.

This commission called for designs, and on Feb. 28, 1893, met, and adopted the design presented by Mrs. Edward H. Center, of Minneapolis.

Following is a description of the flag: "The ground is of white silk, and the reverse side of blue silk, bordered with bullion fringe. In the center is the state seal, wreathed with white moccasin flowers, on a blue ground. The red ribbon of the seal bearing a motto is continued through the wreath, entwining the blossoms and floating carelessly over the lower portion of the flag. It bears, in gold, the dates 1819, the time of the settlement of Minnesota, and 1893. Above, also in gold, is the date 1858, the time of the admission of Minnesota to the Union. Below the design, in gold letters, is wrought 'Minnesota.' Grouped around the seal are nineteen stars in the design of star points, with the North Star, significant of the North Star State, in a group of three at the top."

The choice of the number nineteen is a peculiarly happy one, as Minnesota was the nineteenth state, after the original thirteen, to be admitted to the Union. The standard to the flag was surmounted by a golden gopher, and tied with a gold cord and tassel. The execution of the design is entirely in needle work.

MINNESOTA STATE FLOWER

The state flower is the pink and white moccasin flower, pictured in the accompanying illustration, known as Cypripedium spectabile and by the earlier name of Cypripedium reginae.

The state legislature adopted a state flower during February, 1892, on a petition signed by Mrs. A. L. Stebbins of Rochester and other members of the Woman's Auxiliary, Board of World's Fair Managers, urging adoption of the "Wild Lady Slipper or Moccasin Flower," Cypripedium calceolus, which was followed.

Women of the St. Anthony Study Circle, through Mrs. E. C. Chatfield of Minneapolis, announced later that the calceolus was not found in Minnesota and in February, 1902, the legislature changed the designation to the reginae.

The name Cypripedium, from the Greek words meaning the shoe of Venus, published for this genus in 1737 by Linnaeus, and its common English and American popular names, as Lady's Slipper, Moccasin Flower and Indian Shoe, refer to the saccate and somewhat shoe-like form of the most conspicuous petal (in this Orchis family called the lip) of the flower. The plants grow in cool and moist woods and in bogs, flowering from May to July. Cypripedium spectabile is one of six species of Cypripedium found in Minnesota.

NOTE—Minnesota has fourteen genera, including forty-one species, of the Orchis family, to which the Cypripediums belong. In total, 1,583 species of flowering plants, and sixty-eight ferns and their allies, making together 1,650 species, were tabulated, as known to grow without cultivation in this state, by Warren Upham in the Catalogue of the Flora of Minnesota, published in the Twelfth Annual Report of the Geological and Natural History Survey for the year 1883 (193 pages, with a map showing the areas of forest and prairie). Within the basin of the Minnesota river, according to the report in 1892 by Prof. Conway MacMillan, the state botanist, 1,174 species and varieties of flowering plants, including all our Cypripediums, are known and have been collected for the Herbarium of the State University. The State Flower is thus chosen from among more than a thousand others which blossom on our prairies, in the northern woods, in their cool bogs, and in our streams and lakes.

Chapter 409 L. '25 provides for the protection of the Minnesota State Flower as well as other varieties of wild flowers.

A soldier in two wars, a brilliant trial attorney and a keen analyst of contemporary thought, Associate Justice Royal Augustus Stone brought to the Supreme Court of Minnesota a vigorous personality and a searching skepticism of legal precedent.

Governor J. A. O. Preus, who appointed him to the Supreme Court May 25, 1923, said "I regard Mr. Stone as one of the ablest attorneys in the state," an opinion shared by all who knew him then or who came to know him during his 19 years on the bench.

Mr. Stone was born June 26, 1875, at Le Sueur, Minn., and grew up on a farm near Morris to which his family moved when he was a year old. Educated in Morris public schools, he completed high school training at Carleton Academy, then studied law in the office of a Morris attorney for a year when crop failure made it impossible for him to continue his schooling.

He then entered the University of Minnesota, but again family finances interfered, and he transferred to Washington University at St. Louis, where he completed a two-year law course and earned his LL.B. degree in 1897. In the spring of 1942, Washington University voted to confer the LL.D. upon him, but illness prevented his attending the ceremonies and receiving this honor.

After admission to the Minnesota Bar he began practicing law at Morris in 1897, but the following year enlisted in the Army and served through the Spanish-American war with the 15th Minnesota, emerging as Quartermaster Sergeant. He then returned to Morris and resumed his law practice, which expanded rapidly through western Minnesota and into the Dakotas. He served for a time as Morris village attorney.

On Aug. 14, 1901, he married Olive Whiting of Spring Valley, and in 1905, when he was appointed Assistant Attorney General, moved with her to St. Paul, where they lived thereafter.

After two years' service in the Attorney General's office he resumed private practice in St. Paul, in which he continued until 1917, when he again volunteered in his country's service, entering the First Officers Training Camp. He became a Captain, and was Commanding Officer of Company A, 349th Infantry, at Camp Dodge, Iowa, then was promoted to Major and given command of the Third Battalion, 14th Infantry. After the Armistice he was transferred to the Inspector General's office in the War Department.

Upon his discharge in 1919, Gen. W. T. Wood wrote: "Major Stone's services in the Inspector General's Department have been meritorious and extremely valuable. He is an officer of discretion and sound judgment, and his discharge will be a loss to this Department."

Throughout his service on the Supreme Court the influence of Justice Stone's previous career as an active practitioner was evident. Especially during his early years on the Bench his interruptions of counsel with pertinent questions enlivened many an argument as he brought rambling lawyers face to face with the point at issue.

In his written decisions, Justice Stone set forth his conclusions in concise and forceful language, calling things by their right names as he saw them.

Justice Stone was elected to the Supreme Court in 1924, the year after his appointment, and was re-elected in 1930 and 1936. In 1942 he was nominated as a candidate to succeed himself, but died shortly after receiving that nomination.

NORTH STAR STATE

Minnesota is a big state, a state with enormous natural riches, and one that defies glib description and generalities.

It is a land of iron and butter, of farms, factories, stockyards and forests, of backwoods settlements and of cities that pulse with the commercial lifeblood of an area that stretches far beyond its borders.

The story of Minnesota cannot be told in a few pages, or a few books. It's a story that must include the rich, rolling farm lands of the south and west, the vast deposits of iron ore in the northeast, the lake-studded woodlands and the broad rivers that roll out of the state.

It must take in the people of every nationality who saw the promise in the North Star state and helped it keep that promise, the men and women who transformed it, in a couple of generations, from an outpost of the nation to a position in the foreground of the world's food and industrial picture.

The name of Minnesota comes from a river, called Minisota (Mini, meaning water, and sota, sky colored) by the Dakotas. It was General Henry Sibley, first governor of the state, who first called it "The Star of the North" during argument over the territorial seal in 1858, shortly after the state had been admitted to the Union.

Minnesota has an area of 84,286.53 square miles, and is the eleventh state in the nation in size. It is approximately 406 miles long, north and south, from latitude 43 degrees 30 minutes to 49 degrees 23 minutes, and it is about 358 miles wide, from longitude 89 degrees 29 minutes to 97 degrees 13 minutes west.

Of its total area, 5,673 square miles are water, including approximately 11,000 lakes and the headwaters of great river systems flowing south to the Gulf of Mexico, north to Hudson Bay, and east to the Atlantic. Largest of its bodies of water is Red Lake, covering 440 square miles.

The geographical center of North America lies within the borders of Minnesota.

Altitude of the state ranges from 602 feet above sea level on the shore of Lake Superior to 2,230 feet at the summit of the Misquah hills in Cook county.

Average mean temperature for the year is 44 degrees, and the summer mean temperature is about 70 degrees. According to federal health reports, it possesses an ideal climate, and throughout the more than 90 years of its agricultural history, there has been no instance of general crop failure.

Its farms produce more flax, barley, alfalfa seed and sweet clover seed than those of any other state, and its dairies lead the nation in production of butter. The state ranks second in the United States in production of oats, milk and rye, and third in corn and turkeys. The third largest stockyards in the nation are at South St. Paul.

While agriculture is the state's leading industry, mining is an important second. In 1942, the iron mines of northeastern Minnesota poured 74,309,252 tons of ore into the nation's blast furnaces, more than 70 per cent of the country's total.

Twenty state-owned mines contributed to this huge aggregate. Income from state mines, taxes on privately mined ore, and revenue from other state-owned lands had raised Minnesota's permanent trust funds to a total of $115,387,307 by June 30, 1942.

These huge trusts have been built up through sale and lease of public lands that originally comprised about 8,300,000 acres, and through royalties on iron ore. Income from the funds is reserved, with minor exceptions, for continuance and development of the state's school system.

A third major industry is the entertainment of vacationists, who come here each summer from throughout the nation to enjoy the state's recreational facilities. In recent years this business has amounted to nearly $150,000,000 annually, according to federal government reports.

Lumbering, once the major industry in Minnesota, declined with depletion of the original stands of big timber. Lately, however, scientific forestry practices have opened new sources of supply, and new manufacturing processes have created demands for forest products that once were ignored.

Minnesota leads all states in size of state forests. Boundaries of its 40 state forests enclose 5,385,519 acres, of which the state owns 1,412,452 acres and is steadily acquiring more. Timber cut under state permits was valued at $313,852 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942. In all, it is estimated the state owns 2½ billion board feet of merchantable timber.

From the start, Minnesota's government has recognized its duty to preserve spots of especial scenic or historic interest, and today its park system covers 50,605 acres, in 48 parks, roadside areas and monument sites. This property has a replacement value inventoried at $5,793,806.

Besides the natural resources of fields, mines and forests there are many others in the state that have assumed increasing importance in late years. Among these are rich deposits of granite, marble, limestone, jasper, sandstone, travertine, mica and feldspar. Pottery of excellent quality is made from clays found here, and there are deep beds of sand used in making glass. Minnesota also produces much cement.

There, in brief, are a few of the highlights of the picture of Minnesota, a picture that could not be complete without many additional details.

It should show, for example, a wide-spread school system, headed by the second largest state university in the United States and stretching downward through public schools in which 526,000 pupils receive instruction each year.

It should show the 19 state institutions, with a combined population of over 18,000 and a total value of more than $33,600,000.

And it should show the state highway system, 11,267 miles of roads, of which 3,165 miles are paved, 4,941 miles are bituminous surfaced, and 3,161 miles are gravelled.

Nor would the picture be adequate without showing long ore boats steaming eastward out of the harbor at Duluth, which in point of tonnage handled is the second port in America. Big river barges, hauling heavy freight between the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul and ports down the Mississippi river and up the Ohio should also be remembered in describing the state.

These, and countless other details must figure largely in any attempt to describe, or to understand, the true extent and importance and grandeur of the North Star State. There are the bluffs towering above the Mississippi at Winona, vast wheat fields rippling over prairies of the western section, cows grazing in green meadows and deer browsing beside isolated lakes.

There is the state fair at Hamline, largest in the world, with more than 160 acres of ground and superb buildings, attracting annually exhibitors of the finest cattle and hogs and horses and farm products that will be found anywhere in the nation.

Finally, there are the people who live in the state. They come, or their forefathers did, from every country on the globe. Those of German and Scandinavian descent are the most numerous, but each race, each creed and color has shared in the progress of the state and has contributed something of its own to making Minnesota the Star of the North.

MINNESOTA HISTORY

The broad outlines of Minnesota's history were laid down during the glacial era, when great ice sheets, in their comings and goings, etched the land with lakes and rivers, ground rocks to powder or heaped them into hills.

Later, in the varied tracks of the glaciers, prairies rolled wide and fertile, and forests blanketed thousands of square miles. Great rivers offered natural highways, determining the course of exploration and the location of cities.

Before the first white men arrived the wooded, lake-studded area that is now northern Minnesota was the battle ground and the prize of two powerful Indian tribes—the Sioux and the Chippewa. In the course of their traditional warfare, the Sioux were pushed west and south, out of the forests, and became a plains tribe, their enemies controlling the woodlands.

Then French explorers and traders found their way into the forest sections, following the Red river down from the north, or the Mississippi, the St. Croix, the Pigeon and St. Louis rivers from the south and east. They made maps of the country, established trading posts, and, around the middle of the seventeenth century, began to send out stories of land rich in furs and ripe for exploitation.

Radisson and Groseilliers were the earliest Minnesota visitors whose written accounts of their findings have been preserved. Among those who followed soon after were Nicolas Perrot, who built a fort beside Lake Pepin in 1686 and took possession of the region in the name of the king of France, and Du Lhut (Duluth), who explored the country between the Kaministiquia, the Mississippi and the St. Croix rivers from 1679 to 1689. Father Hennepin explored the upper Mississippi and discovered and named the Falls of St. Anthony in 1680. LeSueur built a post on Prairie Island in 1695 and another on the Blue Earth river in 1700.

British influence began after 1673, when eastern Minnesota became a crown possession. One of the earliest Englishmen in the region was Jonathan Carver, who spent the winter of 1766-67 on the Minnesota river and wrote an account of his travels. Peter Pond, a Yankee from Connecticut, traded for furs on the Minnesota river in 1773 and 1774.

In the peace of 1783 the territory between Lake Superior and the Mississippi river became a part of the United States, but the English continued their fur trading in the region until after the war of 1812, when congress prohibited their activities. The Northwest Company, for years the dominant trading concern, then was replaced by John Jacob Astor's American Fur Company.

Ft. Snelling, originally called Ft. St. Anthony, was established in 1819 on land Zebulon M. Pike obtained from the Sioux in 1805. The fort speedily became the keystone of the whole structure of trade and settlement in the Minnesota area, and was the taking-off point for such explorations as that of Gov. Lewis Cass in his search for the source of the Mississippi in 1820, and Giacomo C. Beltrami's expedition toward the same goal three years later.

Major Stephen H. Long started from Ft. Snelling on his journey up the Minnesota river and down the Red river in 1823, and Henry R.

Schoolcraft set out from there on the expedition that led to his discovery of the headwaters of the Mississippi in 1832. Others who used Ft. Snelling as the springboard for plunges into the wilderness were George Catlin, who found the famous pipestone quarries in southwestern Minnesota in 1836, Joseph N. Nicollet, who drew the first reliable maps of the area a few years later, and Maj. Samuel Woods, who led a column of dragoons through the Red River valley in 1849.

Missionaries moved into the Minnesota country during this same period. Dumoulin and Edge, Catholic missionaries, were at Rainy Lake and Pembina by 1818, and those of other churches soon appeared throughout the territory.

A settlement inevitably grew up at Ft. Snelling because of its position as the heart and nerve center of the northwest. This village was known at first as St. Peter's, and it was there, in 1834, that Henry H. Sibley entered Minnesota history as an agent of the American Fur Company.

By 1840, when the Rev. Lucian Galtier arrived to minister to the Catholic settlers, the name of St. Peter's had been changed to Mendota. In 1841 Galtier built a chapel across the river from that settlement, and dedicated it to St. Paul. The community around it took its name from the church.

St. Paul began to boom, in size and importance, in 1848, following development of the lumber industry in the area between the Mississippi and lower St. Croix rivers. The federal government bought that land from the Indians in 1837 and the villages of Marine, Stillwater and St. Croix Falls soon appeared as links between the new lumber camps and the rivers down which they floated their logs.

Minnesota Territory was organized in 1849, with Alexander Ramsey as its governor and Sibley, the one-time Mendota fur trader, as its delegate to congress. Up to this time Minnesota had hung on the outskirts of the Union as a part, at one time or another, of Louisiana, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Iowa and Wisconsin.

It remained a territory nine years, while settlers laid the groundwork for future statehood. Counties were established during this period, and roads began to thread out from the river towns. The treaties of Traverse des Sioux and Mendota opened southern and western tracts for settlement, through agreement with the Sioux, and in 1854 and 1855 a Chippewa pact opened the forests of northeastern and north central Minnesota to loggers and farmers.

In its first session, the territorial legislature provided for a public school system, and in 1851 it authorized organization of the University of Minnesota at St. Anthony. Religious groups also joined in the early promotion of education, notably the Methodist church, which established Hamline University in 1854, and the Benedictine monks, who started St. John's University in 1857.

Minnesota was admitted to the Union as a state May 11, 1858. Samuel Medary, appointed territorial governor a year earlier, served until May 24, when Sibley took office as the new state's first elected governor. Two years later Ramsey, the first territorial governor, succeeded Sibley.

Terror swept southern Minnesota in August, 1862, when the Sioux, hunger-ridden, impoverished and angered at delays in their payments from the government, massacred scores of settlers in the Minnesota river valley. The outbreak started at Acton, swept through the Lower Sioux agency near Redwood Falls, and on to New Ulm, to Birch Coulee, to Ft. Ridgely, Ft. Abercrombie and Wood Lake.

Troops under Gen. Sibley finally quelled the uprising after two battles, and 38 Indians were hanged at Mankato the following Dec. 26.

Many more were sent to a reservation outside the state for participating in the outbreak.

The year 1862 was, in effect, the end of the pioneer period of Indian warfare because, save for sporadic disturbances and relatively minor outbreaks, climaxed by a final engagement between federal troops and a band of Chippewa Indians on Leech Lake in 1898, the Indians never again flared into murderous hostility against the advance of the white man.

That year also was the start of an important new phase of Minnesota's development, for it was in 1862 that the first railroad in the state—a 10-mile stretch between St. Paul and St. Anthony—was completed. It was built by the St. Paul and Pacific line, which later, under guidance of James J. Hill, became the Great Northern railroad. The first line connecting Minnesota with the Pacific coast was completed by the Northern Pacific in 1883.

It was during the sixties, too, that agriculture in the state emerged from the frontier level at which each farmer tried only to raise enough food for himself and his family, and became a commercial enterprise, with huge wheat farms pouring floods of grain into the world's markets. Within the next 20 years Minnesota became one of the greatest wheat areas in the world, and from 1890 to 1915 it was the undisputed leader in production of flour.

The one-crop system, however, began to give way to diversified farming as early as 1880, and corn gradually replaced wheat as the major field crop. Along with this came development of the dairy industry, which continued until today Minnesota leads all states in butter production.

The state's enormous iron mining industry started late in the century, on the Vermillion range, from which first shipments to eastern steel centers were made in 1884 through Two Harbors.

Six years later the Merritt brothers discovered the fabulous Mesabi range, and in 1892 the first ore from those rich deposits was shipped eastward on Lake Superior. Since then, a third range, the Cuyuna, has been opened, Duluth has become the second largest port in America in point of tonnage, and Minnesota has become the nation's principal source of iron ore.

Thus has Minnesota progressed, within the lifetime of many who are still alive, from a collection of frontier settlements, hemmed in by unexplored wilderness, to a place among the leaders of the world in industry and agriculture.

Northwest Angle, northernmost point in the United States, is separated from the rest of Minnesota by Lake of the Woods and by the border wilderness of Manitoba. Its residents get mail by airplane, by automobile across the ice in winter, by dog sled, or by boat. In unfavorable weather, or when the ice of the lake is too thin to support traffic, it is isolated, miles beyond the end of the nearest road.

Its position as a detached portion of the United States is traceable to early confusion about Minnesota geography. The treaty of 1783 provided the boundary between the United States and Canada should follow the line of water communications between Lake Superior and Lake of the Woods, and should run from the northwest corner of the latter lake straight west to the Mississippi river.

However, since the source of the Mississippi is far south of the lake, it was impossible to draw such a boundary, and in 1818 it was agreed the line should run from the northwest point on the lake due south to the forty-ninth parallel. It was not until 1931 that the International Boundary commission finally determined the northwest point about 30 miles north of the forty-ninth parallel.

Northwest Angle was visited by French traders as early as 1731, and Ft. St. Charles, built at Angle Inlet in 1732, was the last post on United States soil to be abandoned by the French.

- 1654-60. Radisson and Groseilliers, French traders, made two expeditions into the west. In 1654-56 some suppose they came to Prairie Island, in the Mississippi between Red Wing and Hastings. In 1659-60 they again traveled in the west and came in contact with Sioux Indians.
- 1679. July 2, Daniel Greysolon DuLhut (Duluth) held council with Sioux on shore of Mille Lacs. DuLhut, in July, 1680, reached the Mississippi, met Hennepin.
- 1680. Louis Hennepin, after being captive in a village of Mille Lacs Sioux, discovered Falls of St. Anthony, which he named in honor of his patron saint.
- 1689. Nicolas Perrot, at his Fort St. Antoine, on Wisconsin shore of Lake Pepin, laid formal claim to surrounding country for France. He built a fort also on Minnesota shore of this lake, near its outlet.
- 1695. Le Sueur built a fort or trading post on Prairie Island.
- 1700. Le Sueur established Fort L'Huillier, on Blue Earth river (near mouth of the Le Sueur).

PERMANENT RULES OF THE SENATE

CALLING SENATE TO ORDER

1. The President shall take the chair at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order, and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall proceed with the regular order of business. He shall preserve order and decorum; may speak on points of order in preference to members, and shall also decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any member but such appeal shall be decided by a majority vote of those present and voting thereon.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEES

2. All committees of the Senate and members of commissions to be appointed by the Senate authorized by rule, statute, resolution or otherwise, shall be appointed by a Committee on Committees, subject to confirmation by the Senate, and all such appointments made by such committee on committees shall likewise be subject to confirmation by the Senate.

QUESTIONS—HOW STATED AND DECIDED

3. He shall rise to put the question, but may state it sitting.
4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be) say Aye," and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion say No." The President shall declare all votes, but if any member rise to doubt a vote, he shall order a division.

CONFIRMATIONS

When nominations or appointments made by the Governor which require confirmation by the Senate have been transmitted to the Senate, the final question on every nomination shall be, "Will the Senate advise and consent to this nomination?" which question shall not be put on the same day on which the nomination is received, nor on the day on which it may be reported by a committee unless by unanimous consent.

Every such nomination shall, upon request of any Senator, be referred to a committee, and if a question shall arise as to the proper committee, the same shall be referred without debate to the Committee on Rules to report the proper reference thereof and upon adoption of the report of such committee it shall be referred accordingly.

PRESIDENT PRO TEM.

5. The President shall call some member to the chair when the Senate goes into Committee of the Whole. In the absence of the President the President Pro Tem. shall preside, and in the absence of both the President and the President Pro Tem. a member may be called to perform the duties of the chair; but substitutions shall not extend beyond adjournment.

FURTHER DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT

6. The President of the Senate shall sign all acts, memorials, addresses and resolutions; and all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by the Senate shall be signed by him and attested by the Secretary.

ORDER IN DEBATE

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise to his feet, and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," but shall not proceed to speak further until recognized by the chair. He shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality. In discussing any resolution, senators shall be limited to five minutes each.

13. When any member is called to order he shall sit down until it is determined whether he is in order or not, and if a member is called to order for words spoken in debate, the words excepted to shall be taken down in writing immediately.

14. When two or more members shall happen to rise at once, the President shall name the member who is to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question on the same day without leave of the Senate.

CONDUCT DURING BUSINESS

16. When the President is putting any question, or addressing the Senate, no one shall walk out of, or cross the room; nor when a member is speaking shall any one pass between the member speaking and the chair. No member, or other person, shall proceed to or remain by the Secretary's desk while the ayes and nays are being called or counted.

17. Upon a division and count of the Senate on any question no member without the Senate chamber shall be counted.

SENATORS TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED

18. Every member who shall be in the Senate when the question is put shall give his vote unless the Senate for special reasons shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the Senate divides or before he gives his vote upon a call of the ayes and nays. Any member wishing to be excused from voting may make a brief statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

MOTIONS

19. When a motion is made and seconded it shall be stated by the President; or, being in writing it shall be handed to the Secretary and read aloud for debate.

20. Every motion or amendment shall be reduced to writing if the President or any member desires it. In such case it must be signed by the member or committee offering it.

21. After a motion is stated by the President, or read by the Secretary, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn by the author at any time before decision or amendment.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS

22. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received, but

To adjourn.

To lay on the table.

For the previous question.

Which three motions shall be decided without debate.

To commit.

To postpone to a day certain.

To amend, or

To postpone indefinitely.

These and several motions have precedence in the foregoing order; but a motion for the previous question having been seconded, or the main question ordered, a motion to lay on the table shall not be in order.

A motion to postpone to a certain day, to commit, to postpone indefinitely, or to amend, being decided, shall not again be allowed on the same day, nor at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

23. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and also a motion to adjourn to a time certain. The latter motion is debatable. When either motion is refused it shall not be renewed until further business shall be transacted.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION

24. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon all pending amendments in their order and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the ordering of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order, but after a majority shall have ordered such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

25. On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

RECONSIDERATION

26. When a motion or question has been once put and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for reconsideration thereof, on the same day on which the vote was taken, or within the next two days of actual session of the Senate thereafter; and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions except a motion to adjourn. A motion for reconsideration being put and lost, shall not be renewed.

DIVISION OF QUESTION

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the same will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed to be indivisible. A motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude an amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

PETITIONS AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

28. In presenting a petition, memorial, remonstrance or other communication addressed to the Senate, the members shall only state the general purpose of it.

29. Every petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill and report of committee, shall be indorsed with its appropriate title, and immediately under the indorsement the name of the member presenting the same shall be written or printed.

CALL OF THE SENATE

30. Any member may make a call of the Senate, and require absent members to be sent for, but a call of the Senate cannot be made after the voting has commenced; and the call of the Senate being ordered and the absentees noted, the doors shall be closed, and no member permitted to leave the room until further proceedings under the call be dispensed with by a majority vote of all the members of the Senate and the matter or question, if any, under consideration at the time of the call be disposed of, or the Senate adjourns.

33. Amendments made in the Committee of the Whole shall be entered on a separate piece of paper, and so reported to the Senate by the chairman standing in his place, which amendment shall not be read by the President unless required by one or more of the members. On adoption of the report by the Committee of the Whole, all bills recommended to pass, shall be placed upon the calendar.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS—LIMITING NUMBER OF AUTHORS

34. Bills, memorials and joint resolutions may be introduced by any member in his place, or by order of the Senate on a report of a committee. The number of authors and co-authors upon any bill shall not exceed three (3). Each member so introducing such bill, memorial or joint resolution shall, at the time of such introduction thereof, furnish to the Secretary of the Senate three copies thereof which shall be endorsed "copies."

Every bill, memorial or joint resolution shall have prefixed thereto the name of the person introducing it, and when reported from a committee, the name of said committee shall be endorsed thereon. Every proposed amendment to any bill, memorial or joint resolution, and every committee report, shall be in triplicate form, and shall be written on only one side of the paper.

The title of every bill must give its single subject and briefly state its purpose as far as practicable.

If the bill be for an amendment of a present statute, it shall contain the full text of the chapter, section, subdivision or numbered or lettered paragraph to be amended. Then in the proper place shall be inserted the words and characters constituting the new amending matter which shall be underscored, and when printed, put in italics. The words and characters to be eliminated by the amendment shall be stricken out by a line drawn through the eliminated matter, and when the bill is printed such eliminated matter shall be capitalized and inclosed in brackets. The chairman of each committee to which such bill is referred shall see that the bill conforms to this rule before it is favorably reported.

 "Mason's Supplement 1940, Section—."
 "General Statutes 1923, Section—."
 "Revised Laws 1905, Section—."

When referring to laws passed at the session of 1891 and prior years, and in those cases only, references shall be as follows:

"Special Laws—, Chapter—, Section—."
 "General Laws—, Chapter—, Section—."

Whenever possible, reference shall be made to Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927 rather than to the General Statutes 1923.

Reference shall be made to Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927 and to Mason's Supplement 1940, as the case may be, for provisions appearing therein, unless reference to previous Session Laws is required for some special reason. Where a section of Mason's Statutes or Supplement has been amended by Laws 1941 or subsequent laws, reference shall be made to the section in Mason's Statutes or Supplement as amended by the later act.

Whenever an existing law is sought to be amended or repealed the title of the amendatory act shall contain a proper reference to the law or laws amended and in addition thereto shall briefly express the subject matter thereof.

All numbers in the titles shall be expressed in figures. All numbers of section or chapter of laws shall be in figures. In the body of the bill numbers in excess of 10 should be in figures except for a special reason they may be written, but when written they should not be followed by numbers in parentheses.

READING OF BILLS

35. Every bill, memorial, order, resolution or vote requiring the approval of the Governor shall receive three several readings previous to its passage; the first and third readings shall be at length; and no such bill, memorial, order or resolution shall be read twice on the same day.

COMMITMENT

36. No bill or joint resolution shall be committed or amended until it has been once read at length. If objections are made to a bill on its first reading the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no objection be made or the question to reject be lost, the bill shall go on its second reading.

ALL BILLS TO GO TO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

37. All bills, memorials, orders, resolutions and votes requiring the approval of the Governor shall, after a second reading, be considered in Committee of the Whole before they shall be finally acted upon by the Senate.

AMENDMENT ON THIRD READING

40. No amendment shall be received on third reading except to fill blanks without the unanimous consent of the Senate. In filling blanks, the largest sum, the longest time and the greatest distance shall be first taken.

41. A bill or resolution may be committed at any time, prior to its passage, and if any amendment be reported on such commitment to any other than a Committee of the Whole, it shall be again read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, and the question for third reading and passage again put.

ENGROSSMENT

42. Every bill, memorial, order or resolution originating in the Senate shall be carefully engrossed in typewriting before being transmitted to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

TRANSMITTING OF BILLS TO THE HOUSE

43. Immediately after the passage of any bill or other paper to which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is to be asked it shall be the duty of the Secretary to transmit the same to the House, unless some member of the Senate shall make a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate passed the said bill or other paper; in which case the Secretary shall not transmit said bill or other paper until a motion to reconsider has been put; and on the concurrence of any bill or other paper of the House of Representatives by the Senate, or on the concurrence or disagreement in any vote of the House it shall also be the duty of the Senate to notify the House thereof.

MEMORIALS TO THE UNITED STATES OR ANY OTHER STATE OR FOREIGN GOVERNMENT

44. Memorials or petitions to the President or Congress of the United States, or any branch or member thereof, or any department or officer of the United States, or any state or foreign government, including all motions, resolutions, joint or concurrent resolutions in relation thereto, shall follow the same course of procedure as bills before being adopted.

ANY SENATOR MAY DEMAND AYES AND NAYS

45. It shall be competent for any member, when a question is being taken, to call for the ayes and nays, which shall be entered on the Journal. A call for the ayes and nays cannot be interrupted in any manner whatever.

(a) Minor clerical errors in any bill, memorial, or resolution, such as errors in orthography or grammar, or the incorrect use of one word for another (as "affect" for "effect"), or wrong numbering of references, whether such errors occur in the original bill or any amendment thereto, shall be corrected by the Chief Clerk, as a matter of course, upon the approval of the Chairman of any committee to which the bill was referred.

(b) The Chief Clerk shall insert the enacting clause in any bill before its passage if the same shall have been omitted.

(c) Any corrections made by the Chief Clerk under this rule shall be noted by him in the Journal.

(d) Webster's New International Dictionary shall be the standard authority in matters falling under the above rules.

NO ONE TO REMAIN BY THE CLERK'S DESK

23. No member, or other person, shall remain by the Clerk's desk when the yeas and nays are being called.

DUTIES OF THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

24. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to execute all orders of the House or of its presiding officer; to perform all duties that may, from time to time, be assigned to him connected with the policing and good order of the House; to exercise supervision over the ingress and egress of all persons to and from the Chamber; to see that all messages, etc., are promptly executed; and that the hall is properly ventilated and open for the use of the members; and to perform all other services pertaining to the office of Sergeant-at-Arms.

MOTIONS TO RECESS

25. All motions to recess for the purpose of granting the privilege to any person or persons to appear before the House during said recess shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, and no such motion shall be acted upon without a favorable report from said committee.

ORDER IN DEBATE

26. No member shall speak more than twice on the same subject without leave of the House, nor more than once until every other member wishing to speak on the pending question shall have spoken.

MOTIONS

27. No motion shall be debated or put unless the same be seconded. It shall be stated by the Speaker before debate, and any such motion shall be reduced to writing if the Speaker or any other member requires it.

After a motion has been stated by the Speaker, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the House, but may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before amendment or decision; but all motions, resolutions or amendments shall be entered in the Journal unless withdrawn the same day.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

28. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order except during roll call.

When a motion to adjourn is made and seconded it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state any fact to the House, relative to the condition of the business of the House, which would seem to render it improper to adjourn at that time. Such statement, however, shall not be debatable and shall not, in any case, occupy more than two minutes.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS

29. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but:

1. Fix time to which to adjourn.
2. To adjourn.
3. To lay on the table.
4. For the previous question.
(Which four motions shall be decided without debate.)
5. To commit.
6. To postpone to a day certain.
7. To amend.
8. To postpone indefinitely.

These several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order; but the previous question having been seconded, and the main question ordered, a motion to lay on the table shall not be in order.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION

30. (a) The previous question shall be in this form: "The Gentleman from _____ moves the previous question. Do fifteen members second the motion?" If the motion be properly seconded, the question shall be stated as follows: "As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'no'." There shall be a motion for the previous question, which, being ordered by a majority of all members present, shall have the effect to cut off all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions upon which it has been ordered.

The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions allowable under the rules or an amendment or amendments; or it may be made to embrace all authorized motions or amendments and include the bill to its passage or rejection.

(b) On a motion for the previous question and prior to the ordering of the same, a call of the House shall be in order, but after a majority shall have ordered the previous question, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

(c) When the previous question is decided in the negative it shall leave the main question under debate for the residue of the sitting, unless sooner disposed of by taking a vote, on the question or in some other manner.

INCIDENTAL QUESTIONS OF ORDER

31. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question during the pendency of such motion, or after the House shall have determined that the main question now be put, shall be decided whether on appeal or otherwise without debate.

PETITIONS, ETC.—HOW PRESENTED

32. Petitions, memorials and other papers presented to the House shall be presented by the Speaker or member in his place, and a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally, and endorsed thereon, together with the name of the member introducing the same.

EVERY MEMBER TO VOTE UNLESS EXCUSED

33. Every member who shall be present before the vote is declared from the chair, shall vote for or against the matter before the House, unless the House shall excuse him, or unless he is immediately interested in the question, in which case he shall not vote.

PROCEDURE IN EXCUSING MEMBER FROM VOTING

34. When a member declines to vote on a call of his name, he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor; and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the House, "Shall the member, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And the proceedings shall be had after the vote has been taken and before the chair has announced the vote, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

ORDER DURING SESSION

35. When the Speaker is putting the question, no member shall walk out of or across the House, nor when a member is speaking shall any other member entertain any private discourse or pass between the speaking member and the chair.

ORDER OF PUTTING QUESTION

36. All questions, whether in committee or in the House, shall be put in the order in which they are moved, except in the case of privileged questions, and in filling up blanks the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

DIVISION OF A QUESTION

37. If the question in debate contains several points any member may have the question divided. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

QUESTIONS OF ORDER

38. If any member of the House, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules, the Speaker shall (or any member may) call him to order, in which case he shall immediately sit down unless permitted on motion of another member to explain, and the House, if appealed to, shall decide in either case without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise; and if the case require it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the House may deem proper.

CALLED TO ORDER FOR OFFENSIVE WORDS IN DEBATE

39. If any member be called to order for offensive words in debate the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the clerk's desk and no member shall be held to answer, or be subjected to the censure of the House, for language used in debate if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

MEMBERS MAY DEMAND YEAS AND NAYS

40. The yeas and nays shall not be ordered unless demanded by 15 members, except upon final passage of bills, joint resolutions, and motions directing the payment of money. In these cases yeas and nays shall be ordered without demand.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO DEBATE

41. Upon any member giving notice of his intention to debate any resolution, the same shall lie over one day without debate or any other action. This notice of intention to debate may be given at any time before the vote is taken on the resolution.

CALL OF THE HOUSE

42. Ten members may demand a call of the House and require absent members to be sent for; but a call of the House cannot be made after the voting has commenced, and such call being ordered, the doors shall be closed and no member permitted to leave the chamber until the call is suspended. And, pending the call, no motion shall be in order except it pertains to matters incidental to the call or motion to suspend further proceedings under the same, provided that the call shall not be suspended until a record of those present has been completed. Thereafter the call may be suspended by majority vote of the whole House only when all members are present or at any time by a two-thirds vote of the whole House. After the call of the House has been ordered and proceedings thereunder are suspended, the Sergeant-at-Arms shall not permit any member to leave the chamber unless excused by the Speaker.

SUSPENSION OF THE RULES TO HASTEN A BILL

43. Every bill shall be read on three different days, unless, in case of urgency, two-thirds of the whole House deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed until it shall have been read at length twice, provided that no motion for suspension of the rules to advance a bill for consideration out of its regular order shall be made or entertained unless presented to the Speaker in writing stating the present position of the bill and then only under the order of business "Motions and Resolutions," as such order of business is reached under Rule 3. Unanimous consent must be first obtained by the member making the motion before the Speaker can entertain the motion to suspend the rules at any other time.

A motion to suspend the rules together with the subject matter to which it pertains shall be open to debate but the previous question may be applied thereto.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO MAKE A MOTION

44. Whenever unanimous consent to make a motion is requested by a member, the member as a part of such request shall state briefly the purpose of such motion and the subject matter involved.

PROCEEDINGS ON THE PASSAGE OF BILLS

45. No resolution involving the expenditure of money out of the legislative expense fund or otherwise, or joint resolution, shall be declared passed until voted for by a majority of all members elected to the House, to be determined by a roll call. All resolutions and motions involving the expenditure of money out of the legislative expense fund shall be referred to the Rules Committee before being acted upon by the House. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of its being an amendment. No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating therein any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS

46. No amendment increasing the amount or amounts carried by any appropriation bill shall be declared passed until voted for by a majority of all members elected to the House.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

47. When a question has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party to move for the reconsideration thereof; but no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, or other official action upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the House, announcing their decision. Nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless made on the same day upon which the vote was taken, or within the next two days of actual session of the House thereafter.

Such motion shall take precedence over all other questions, except the motion to adjourn; provided, that when notice of the intention to move such reconsideration shall be given by a member, the Clerk of the House shall retain the said bill, resolution, message, report, or other official action, until after the expiration of the time during which such motion can be made, as hereinbefore provided, unless the same is previously disposed of. Such notice of intention to move reconsideration shall have precedence over the motion to reconsider, except that it shall be in order for any member who voted on the prevailing side to make the motion to reconsider on the last day allowed for the making thereof, unless the same has been previously disposed of. A motion for reconsideration having been put and lost shall not be renewed.

THE MOTION TO RESCIND

48. The motion to rescind shall not be in order at any time in any proceeding in the House or of any committee thereof.

AUTHORIZED MANUAL OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE

49. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with these rules and orders of the House and the joint rules and orders of the Senate and House of Representatives.

52. The Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall examine all bills after they are engrossed, and report the same to the House "correctly engrossed" before the third reading. The said Committee may report at any time, and all bills shall be engrossed in typewriting.

The Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall examine all House bills, memorials, and joint resolutions which have passed the two houses and when reported "correctly enrolled" they shall be presented to the presiding officers of the two houses for their signatures; and when so signed, to the Governor for his approval. Should it be necessary to hold a special meeting or for any reason change temporarily the regular meeting of the committee, the notice by the chairman of said committee of such change shall be read from the desk at least one day in advance thereof, and also posted upon the bulletin board at the same time, or on a majority vote of the House, fixing the time therefor at any time. Any committee shall have the right to change the time of its meeting.

TIME LIMIT FOR CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

56. Fifteen legislative days after a bill has been referred to committee (other than a bill for appropriations or claims) and no report has been made upon the same by such committee, the author thereof may request that such bill be returned to the House and such request shall be entered in the Journal for the day. Such committee shall then have seven calendar days thereafter in which to report back the bill requested. If the committee shall fail to report such bill back within such seven days, such author may at any time during the legislative session within five calendar days after the expiration of such seven days in writing presented to the Speaker, demand the return forthwith to the House of the bill in question, which demand shall forthwith be entered in the Journal for the day and shall constitute the demand of the House and thereupon such bill shall at once be considered to be in possession of the House and shall be placed at the foot of General Orders for the following day in the manner prescribed by Rule 13 subject to re-reference by the House. A motion for such re-reference if made on the day of such demand or within one legislative day thereafter shall take precedence over all other motions except privileged motions and shall be in order at any time.

The House may recall any bill from any committee at any time, give the same its second reading and advance the same to General Orders by a majority vote of the whole House.

SUBSTITUTIONS OF BILLS

57. No standing or special committee, nor any member or members thereof, shall report any substitute for any bill or bills referred to such committee, which substitute relates to a different subject or is intended to accomplish a different purpose from that of the original bill for which it is reported or which, if adopted and passed, would require a title essentially different from the title of the original bill; and every substitute bill so reported shall be rejected whenever the House is advised that the same is in violation of this rule. This rule shall not be suspended without the unanimous consent of the House.

All bills of general nature, including all bills appropriating money or lands, shall be printed, provided that no bill shall be printed until after the same shall have been favorably reported by the committee to which it shall have been referred unless ordered printed by a majority vote of the House.

In case of bills received from the Senate which have been amended in the Senate after having been printed by that body, it shall be the duty of the Committee of the House to which the same are referred to make a report to the House as to the advisability or inadvisability of having the same printed. All Committee Chairmen shall be furnished with a copy of this Rule.

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE

JOINT CONVENTIONS—HOW GOVERNED

1. The Speaker of the House shall preside at all conventions of the two branches of the Legislature, and shall call the members to order. The Chief Clerk of the House shall be the Secretary, and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House shall be the Sergeant-at-Arms at the convention.

DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT

2. The President of the convention shall preserve order and decorum, may speak on all points of order in preference to other members; shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the convention by any member. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

QUESTIONS—HOW STATED

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be), say 'Aye,'" and after an affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say 'No'." If the President doubts, or a division be called, the convention shall decide—those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise and afterwards those in the negative.

PRESIDENT'S RIGHT TO VOTE

4. The President shall have the right of voting in all cases except on an appeal from his decision, and on all questions he shall vote last.

ORDER OF DEBATE

5. When any member is about to speak or deliver any matter to the convention, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and confine himself to the question under debate and avoid personalities.

6. Whenever any member is called to order he shall be seated until the point of order is determined; and if called to order for words spoken in debate the exceptional words shall be reduced to writing immediately.

7. When two or more members rise at the same time, the President shall name the member who is in order.

8. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, without permission of the convention.

CALL OF THE CONVENTION

9. Any five members may move a call of the convention, and require absent members to be sent for, but a call cannot be made after voting is commenced; and a call being ordered and the absentees noted, the doors shall be closed and no member permitted to leave the hall until the report of the Sergeant-at-Arms be received and acted upon, or further proceedings under the call are suspended by a vote of the majority of all the members of the convention.

EITHER HOUSE MAY AMEND, ETC.

10. It shall be in the power of either House to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

BILLS—HOW ENROLLED AND SIGNED

11. After a bill, memorial or resolution shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled in typewriting by the enrolling clerk of the House in which it originated. The Senate and House Committees on Enrolled Bills, acting jointly, shall then carefully compare the enrollment with the engrossed copies as passed by the two Houses, and after correcting all errors that may be discovered in the enrollment, report the same as correctly enrolled to their respective Houses. They shall then obtain the signatures and certificates of the proper officers to the enrolled copies, present the same to the Governor for his approval, and report the date of such presentation to their respective Houses.

ELECTIONS BY JOINT CONVENTIONS

12. Whenever there shall be an election of any officers in Joint Convention, the result shall be certified by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, and by them announced to their respective Houses, and shall be entered on the Journal of each and communicated to the Governor by the Secretary of the convention.

COMMITTEES OF CONFERENCE

13. In all cases of disagreement between the Senate and House on amendments, adopted by either House to a bill, memorial or resolution passed by the other House, a Committee of Conference, consisting of not less than three members, nor more than five members from each House, may be requested by either House, and the other House shall appoint a similar committee. The manner of procedure shall be as follows: The Senate, for instance, passes a bill and it is duly transmitted to the House, which body adopts an amendment to the bill and passes the bill as amended, returning the same with the record of the actions of the House, to the Senate; the Senate refuses to concur in the House amendment, asks for a Committee of Conference, appoints such a committee on the part of the Senate, and with a record of the action of the Senate, returns the bill to the House; if the House adheres to its amendment, a like committee is appointed on the part of the House. The joint committee shall at a convenient hour agreed upon meet and state to each other, verbally or in writing, the reason of their respective Houses for or against the disagreement, and confer thereon, and shall report to both Houses such agreement as they may arrive at, if any—and if not, the fact of a disagreement. ## MINNESOTA GOVERNMENT

Minnesota's government is divided into three branches—the legislative to make the laws, the judiciary to interpret the laws, and the executive to enforce and administer them.

All operate within the framework of the state constitution, which is subject to amendment by the voters of the state acting on provisions submitted to them by the legislature.

LEGISLATURE

The Legislature is composed of the House of Representatives and the Senate. It meets regularly every odd-numbered year, for not more than 90 legislative days, and can be summoned by the governor for special sessions at any time. Each branch makes its own rules for conduct of members, and legislators are not liable for anything said during discussion on the floor. One Senator and one or more Representatives are elected in each of the state's 67 legislative districts.

House of Representatives—131 members, elected for two-year terms. Salary $1,000 per term plus $10 per day up to 30 days during special sessions. Presided over by a Speaker, elected by Representatives from among their own membership. All revenue raising measures must originate in the House.

Senate—67 members, elected for four-year terms. Salary $2,000 per term plus $10 per day up to 30 days for special sessions, Lieutenant Governor is presiding officer. Senate elects a President Pro Tempore from among its membership, to serve during absence of Lieutenant Governor. President Pro Tempore is next in line for succession to the Governor's office if Governor and Lieutenant Governor are both unable to serve. Gubernatorial appointments of department heads and members of boards and commissions are subject to Senate confirmation.

JUDICIARY

State Supreme Court—One Chief Justice, six Associate Justices. Elected for six-year terms. Chief Justice salary $9,000 per year. Associate Justices' salary $8,500 per year. Clerk of Supreme Court, elected for four-year term, salary $5,000 per year.

The court has direct jurisdiction in certain remedial cases, and receives appeals from district and certain municipal courts. It is in session from first Monday in January each year to the end of the year, with recesses at discretion of the court. A reporter appointed by the court prepares its decisions for publication in "Minnesota Reports."

District Courts—One or more in each of 19 judicial districts in the state. Judges elected for six-year terms, salary $6,000 per year. They have jurisdiction over civil and criminal cases, and can receive appeals from municipal or probate courts and justices of the peace.

Probate Courts—One in each county. Judge of Probate elected by voters of county. Jurisdiction only over estates of deceased persons and over cases involving persons under guardianship.

Municipal Courts—Established in cities and villages. Jurisdiction in civil cases involving not more than $500, in criminal cases when punishment does not exceed $100 fine or three months imprisonment. Jurisdiction co-extensive with county in which located.

Justices of the Peace—Elected in townships, villages, cities. Jurisdiction over actions arising within county when amount of civil case does not involve more than $100, or when criminal case involves punishment not exceeding $100 fine or three months imprisonment.

State election machinery and final canvassing of votes operates through his office. He is charged with preparing laws for publication, registering all motor vehicles and examining and licensing chauffeurs.

The Commission's Grain Inspection Division samples, inspects and weighs grain. Appeals from its decisions may be taken to Boards of Grain Appeals at Duluth and Minneapolis, each board consisting of three members appointed by the governor. The boards are independent of the Commission, but salaries and expenses are paid from the grain inspection fund.

Other divisions within the Commission inspect weights and measures to see that they conform to federal standards, regulate rates and charges of public stockyards and license commission merchants, and license and regulate operations of public warehouses.

HANDLING THE STATE'S BUSINESS

The reorganization act of 1939 re-grouped various departments of the state government and established a system of cross-checking and auditing to enable each department to know how much money it would have for operating expenses during any quarter, and to prevent spending in one quarter money provided for operation during the succeeding one.

Under this system, each department submits to the Commissioner of Administration (the "state business manager") a detailed biennial budget. The Commissioner studies these budgets in the light of the total amount needed by all departments, and the expected revenue that will be available to meet the charges.

He then can revise the several budgets to bring about a balance between total state expenditures and total income, after which he submits them to the Legislature for the necessary appropriations.

When appropriations have been granted, each department head prepares a budget for the Commissioner of Administration showing the amount that will be required for operation of the department during the next fiscal quarter. Similar budgets are submitted before the start of each quarter. The Commissioner can approve this budget or order it reduced, and his ruling is binding on the department head, who is forbidden to spend or encumber more than the stipulated amount.

To assure adherence to this rule, each proposed departmental expenditure is submitted to the State Auditor to determine that money is available in the proper funds to pay it. If the expenditure is proper, the State Auditor issues a warrant against the departmental appropriation, and signifies in his records that the appropriation has been encumbered to that amount.

(In addition to his duties of surveying departmental budgets, the Commissioner of Administration has charge of all state purchases and is official custodian of state properties.)

After expenditures have been made, they come under scrutiny of the Public Examiner, who makes an audit of each department at least once a year, checking accuracy of accounts and determining legality of departmental transactions. Reports of these examinations, filed with the department concerned, the Governor and the Legislature, may recommend more businesslike methods of handling departmental affairs. If misfeasance, malfeasance or nonfeasance is discovered, copies of the reports are filed also with the Legislative Advisory Council and the Attorney General. The Public Examiner also determines that departmental receipts are properly handled.

The Public Examiner also makes annual audits of all counties, of all cities of the first class, of other governmental units on request, and examinations of concerns taxed by the state on a gross earnings basis.

Supervising collection of the state's tax income is the Commissioner of Taxation, to whom the 1939 legislature transferred all duties formerly vested in the State Tax Commission, as well as the responsibility for collection of oil and gasoline taxes formerly exercised by the State Department of Agriculture.

The general administrative division of the Department of Taxation has supervision over administration of general property assessment laws, including those relating to assessors and equalization boards of local governmental subdivisions. It administers laws governing occupation and royalty taxes on the iron mining industry, gross earnings taxes on public utilities, and chain store taxes. Laws relating to cigarette licenses are administered in this division.

Other divisions in the department are charged with administration of income tax statutes, collection of taxes on petroleum products and the general supervision of the gasoline and oil industry required in that connection, and supervision of all laws relating to inheritance and gift taxes.

Appeals from decisions of the Commissioner of Taxation can be taken to the Board of Tax Appeals, a three-man body created by the same 1939 law establishing the taxation department. The board has power to review and redetermine such appealed decisions respecting fees, taxes or assessments.

Laws relating to care of and assistance to the indigent, unemployed, and physically and mentally handicapped are administered by the Department of Social Security, composed of the Division of Social Welfare, the Division of Employment and Security, and the Division of Public Institutions. Directors of the three divisions make up the Social Security Board, of which the director of the Division of Social Welfare is chairman.

The Division of Social Welfare has general supervision over expenditure of state funds for relief purposes and for aid to old persons, dependent children, needy blind and persons otherwise handicapped who are outside of state institutions. It inspects jails and poor-houses, maternity hospitals and children's homes, administers aid to county tuberculosis sanatoria, and is legal guardian of all persons who are wards of the state.

The Division of Employment and Security assists unemployed persons in finding work and handles unemployment compensation payments to workers who lost their jobs through no fault of their own.

The Division of Public Institutions supervises the State Prison, State Reformatory for Men, State Training School for Boys, School for the Feeble-minded, State Hospitals for the Insane, State Braille and Sight-Saving School, State School for the Deaf, State Public School for Dependent Children, State Epileptic Colony, State Hospital for Indigent, Crippled and Deformed Children, State Hospital for Inebriates, State Sanatorium for Consumptives, Home School for Girls and State Reformatory for Women.

The Department of Agriculture, Dairy and Food headed by the Commissioner of Agriculture is charged with encouragement of agricultural development. It administers laws governing organization of co-operatives, supervises agencies handling farm products and enforces laws regulating cold storage places. It collects and compiles agricultural statistics and has charge of weed inspection.

The department also enforces dairy and food laws, inspects places where foods are manufactured, stored or sold, administers laws regulating sale of cigarettes and prohibiting fraudulent advertising. It issues licenses for milk, eggs, Babcock test, creameries, oleomargarine, ice cream, cold storage warehouses, fertilizer and wholesale dealers.

The Commissioner of Highways directs maintenance of the more than 11,000 miles of trunk highways in the state, and construction of additions to the system as authorized by the Legislature.

With the State Auditor and the State Treasurer he allots money in the state road and bridge fund and the counties' share of state gasoline tax revenues. The Commissioner also administers the State Highway Patrol and the Drivers' License Division.

The Commerce Commission has the general duty of protecting residents of the state against fraudulent or unsound business practices. It is composed of three divisions:

The Division of Banking has supervisory powers over state banks, savings banks, building and loan associations, trust companies, credit unions, small loan concerns and other financial organizations.

The Insurance Division supervises all insurance companies doing business in the state and has authority to pass on their securities. The Commissioner of Insurance is ex-officio the State Fire Marshal, with the duty of enforcing laws relating to fire prevention, licensing of theaters and dry cleaning establishments, and investigations and prosecutions for arson.

The Division of Securities passes upon all applications for licenses to sell securities in the state and investigates and prosecutes violations of the state securities act.

Minnesota's natural resources are under supervision of the Department of Conservation, headed by a commissioner and composed of five departments.

These are the Division of Lands and Minerals, concerned with administration of iron mines and other lands held by the state; the Division of Water Resources and Engineering, responsible for flood control measures and development of state-owned water power; the Division of Game and Fish, which regulates hunting, fishing and wild life propagation; the Division of Forestry, which administers state-owned forests and regulates cutting and sale of timber, and the State Tourist Bureau, which promotes utilization of the state's vacation resources.

The Department of Labor and Industry handles problems directly affecting workers and employers. Within the department are eight divisions—Accident Prevention, Boiler Inspection, Painting Standards, Statistics, Steam-fitting Standards, Voluntary Apprenticeship, Women and Children, and Workmen's compensation.

The three members of the Industrial Commission, which administers the Department of Labor and Industry, also form an appellate body to hear and determine appeals from decisions of referees in workmen's compensation cases.

The Division of Conciliation is nominally a unit of the Department of Labor and Industry, but operates as an independent department under direction of a Labor Conciliator appointed by the Governor. The Conciliator administers the state labor relations act, designed to settle labor disputes, avoid strikes and lockouts and promote industrial peace.

Under terms of this law, workers or employers must notify the Conciliator 10 days in advance of any projected strike or lockout. He then attempts settlement of the dispute. If he fails and if the dispute involves an industry in which a stoppage would be detrimental to the public interest, he may refer the matter to the Governor, who can name a three-man fact-finding commission to investigate it and report its findings and recommendations to him within 30 days. During the period of these attempts at negotiation, the proposed strike or lockout must be delayed. Neither the Conciliator nor the fact-finding commissions have judicial or police powers, but violations of the law are enforceable in the courts.

The Civil Service Department has jurisdiction over general conditions of employment of the 10,000 state employees in the classified service. The department is headed by the Civil Service Board of three members appointed by the Governor, which board appoints a Civil Service Director on the basis of a competitive examination.

The board makes rules to carry out the provisions of the state civil service act, designed to place state employment on a merit basis, to assure equal pay for equal jobs, to provide opportunities for promotion, and to establish definite procedures for demotion or discharge. The Director of Civil Service administers these rules, and in case of vacancy in the state classified service, certifies to the department head names of prospective employees who have qualified through competitive examination for the job.

The Department of Rural Credit was established in 1923 to make loans on farms to owner-occupants. Lending was stopped in 1933 and disposition of business of the department was placed under a Conservator, who was directed to wind up its affairs with the smallest possible loss to the state.

Administration of state liquor laws is vested in the Liquor Control Commissioner, appointed by the Governor. The Commissioner regulates importation and sale of intoxicating liquor, wine and beer, designates denomination of excise tax stamps and enforces collection of state taxes. Liquor tax stamps are sold by the State Treasurer, but it is the responsibility of the Commissioner to prevent sales of unstamped liquor and to regulate wholesale dealers and distributors. The Commissioner also promulgates rules governing liquor advertising, and assists with temperance education.

The Bureau of Criminal Apprehension is a division of the Attorney General's office, but is headed by a superintendent appointed by the Governor. Investigators in the Bureau cooperate with other peace officers in the state in detection of crime and apprehension of criminals, and maintain a laboratory and files of fingerprints and other criminological data. The Bureau operates a radio broadcasting system to aid in the arrest of offenders and recovery of property.

The State Department of Health is the operating force for the State Board of Health, composed of nine members appointed by the Governor for three-year terms.

The Board is the official agency for administering health and sanitation laws of the state. It has power to issue regulations, which have the force of law, concerning use of diseased or decayed animal or vegetable matters, sewage disposal, location of cemeteries, pollution of streams, management of lying-in houses and infants' boarding homes, sanitation of public institutions, treatment and quarantine for communicable diseases, treatment of eyes of newborn babies, recording of births and deaths, and other matters affecting public health.

It has general supervision over all health officers, and administers laws relating to licensing of hotels, restaurants, plumbers, embalmers, funeral directors, and compounders and wholesalers of narcotics.

The requirements are 20 or more years' service at age 65, or 35 years' service if under 65. The act as amended in 1939 provides for proportional deferred annuities after 10 years' membership, beginning at the date the member would have been eligible to receive an annuity had he remained in the state service. Funds are provided by a step rate of deductions from salaries, the rates being from 3½ per cent to 6 per cent of all salaries not in excess of $300.00 a month; and the act as amended by the 1939 Legislature provides for contributions on the part of the state in an amount equal to 50 per cent of the sum paid in annuities each year. The management of the association is vested in a Board consisting of the State Auditor, State Treasurer, Commissioner of Insurance, and four state employees to be chosen one each year from the association membership.

The Minnesota Historical Society, incorporated less than two months after the convening of the territorial legislature in 1849, is the oldest institution in the state. It is supported mainly by legislative appropriation. It has one of the largest historical libraries in the west, containing more than 200,000 books, pamphlets, and newspaper volumes. A historical museum visualizes the external conditions of life in Minnesota's past.

The society's voting membership comprises three delegates from each county agricultural society in the state; one delegate from each county in the state in which no county agricultural society exists; individuals who have been elected honorary life members of the society; two delegates and the president of each of twenty-five statewide organizations affiliated with agriculture and kindred pursuits; one delegate from each of seventeen similar statewide organizations; and the incumbent members of the governing board.

MINNESOTA STATE PARKS

---

The state park system in Minnesota was started in 1889, when the legislature appropriated funds for purchase of a site for a monument on the Camp Release battlefield in Lac qui Parle county, to commemorate the last decisive battle with the Sioux in 1862. By 1943 the state had established 48 parks or other recreational areas, comprising 50,605 acres.

STATE PARKS

Alexander Ramsey State Park, purchased in 1911, comprises 185.38 acres of land adjacent to Redwood Falls. Included is a section of the Redwood River Valley and the Valley of Ramsey Creek. The slopes of the valley are precipitous. A zoo, which includes elk, deer and buffalo, is a feature of the park.

Beaver Creek Valley State Park contains 325.17 acres and is located near Caledonia. It derives its name from a trout stream which rises from artesian springs within the park and threads its way to the pool of the "Old Schech Mill" constructed in 1896 and still operating. State Reformatory for Women at Shakopee was established at the 1915 session of the legislature. The first two buildings were opened in February, 1920, at which time all women housed in The State Prison at Stillwater were transferred to this institution. The administration building and reception hospital contains living quarters for officers, a kitchen, a dining room, a living room for inmates, a laundry, classrooms, and twenty bedrooms for inmates. Each of the three other cottages contains 21 bedrooms for inmates, a dining room, a living room, a kitchen, and officers' rooms. A farm of 160 acres adjoins the main campus.

State Reformatory at St. Cloud opened in 1889. The present laws provide for commitment of all male offenders regardless of age with the exception of those convicted of first degree murder who are received only by transfer. Located on the extensive grounds is one of the finest granite quarries in the state. From this quarry has been taken practically all the stone used in the construction of the institution buildings, and the quarrying, cutting, and placing of the stone has been done entirely by the inmates. The woodworking industry turns out sash, doors, blinds, screens, storm sash, and furniture for state use and in the tailoring department is made almost all of the men's clothing used in the various institutions. There are also a number of other shops for the instruction of trades and the manufacture of necessary articles. An extensive farm is operated and establishment of a farm colony where approximately 65 inmate farmers are housed has proved a success. Three prison camps located at East Grand Forks, Walker and Moose Lake are operated from the institution with selected prisoners who are engaged in farming, logging, and maintenance work. The institution consists of an administration building, nine cell houses and dormitories, hospital, central power plant, and six residences. The grounds are enclosed by a granite wall from 22 to 30 feet high, the enclosure of 55 acres being one of the largest in America.

Number of inmates, 1,021; area, 1,057 acres; value of lands and buildings, $2,027,469; officers and employes, 154.

Minnesota State Prison at Stillwater, the oldest state institution, was originally founded in 1851. The new prison opened in 1912. The buildings consist of an administration building and connecting corridors containing offices of the warden and assistants, an office for use of the board of parole, reception room, barber shop, telephone exchange, rooms for officers and guests, officers' kitchen and dining rooms, school rooms and lecture halls, library, printing office where the "Mirror," the newspaper published by the inmates, is printed, and space for the Bertillon and fingerprint system used in the identification of criminals; two large cell houses, each containing 512 cells; a modern prison hospital, chapel, central power plant, greenhouse, and residences for the warden and other officers. Space is provided for two subsidiary cell houses, one of which has been completed, thus providing accommodations for 1,224 inmates. The industrial group includes the twine factory, a warehouse for storage of raw material and manufactured twine, the farm machinery plant, containing machine shop, woodworking and assembling departments, foundry, blacksmith shop, steel storage house, and three large warehouses.

The buildings on the farm adjacent to the prison are a house and garage, large dairy barn, granary, machine shed, blacksmith shop, horse barn and two silos. The Barker farm is equipped with a large brick house, a barn and root cellar. On the South farm there is a small house and large hay shed. On the West farm there is a house, two large barns, large chicken coop, two brooder houses, hog house and shelter barn, and a corn crib. Outside the prison wall and adjacent to the home farm has been constructed a farm colony building, as living quarters for inmates who work on the farm and in the shipping department.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND NAVAL AFFAIRS

The National Guard and Naval Militia of Minnesota mobilized for active duty with the Army and Navy during late 1940 and early 1941, and were among the first United States forces to enter active foreign service.

These included Co. "A", 194th tank battalion under command of Col. Ernest B. Miller, which participated valiantly in the battle of Bataan; the 34th division, first American troops to land in North Ireland, and the 101st brigade, Coast Artillery (anti-aircraft), part of which was dispatched to Alaska before start of the war.

Foreseeing certainty of the National Guard being called out of the state, the Adjutant General began organizing the Minnesota State Guard (at first called the Defense Force) in 1940. By Feb. 10, 1941, when the last of the National Guard units was mobilized, the State Guard numbered 4,000 officers and men.

Immediately after declaration of war, Dec. 8, 1941, this guard force was increased to its present strength of 5,943 officers and men. The members, all volunteers, are uniformed, armed, equipped and trained by the state, and constitute a body of troops designed to provide protection against sabotage or riots, to aid state or local authorities in event of disasters or calamities, and in general to take over the duties formerly handled by the National Guard.

Air branch of the State Guard is the state wing of Civil Air Patrol, which serves as its observation, courier and liaison branch as well as functioning as an auxiliary to the U. S. Army air forces and as an adjunct to the Civilian Defense organization. Its 914 members are all volunteers, pilots provide their own planes in return for nominal rental and expense payments, and members furnish their own uniforms and serve without pay.

The state's military forces are under command of the Governor as Commander-in-Chief, with Adjutant General Ellard A. Walsh as administrative officer. They are charged with the duty of assuring security of the state and its residents.

In this connection, in addition to formation of the State Guard, a state-wide system of preparedness for air attack was organized. This includes an air raid warning service, through which blackout warnings are transmitted to the Civilian Defense organization for relay to affected communities; an airplane spotting service of more than 3,000 observation posts manned by over 54,000 volunteer watchers trained to report movements of planes, and an evacuation service, which has been planned but which will not be activated until this area is declared an enemy target.

The state's prime military center is Camp Ripley, near Little Falls. Originally the center for training and supply of the National Guard, Camp Ripley now serves the same purpose for the State Guard, and is used also as a training site for members of the Highway Patrol, the game wardens and other state bodies. It is ranked as one of the finest field training sites in the nation.

OFFICE OF CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Following a plan of organization suggested by the National Office of Civilian Defense, a system of county defense councils was initiated in Minnesota in 1941, under Ernest L. Olrich as State Coordinator.

The program was put on a wartime basis by an executive order of the Governor Dec. 10, 1941, which provided for a Chief of Staff and a force to carry out the organization and training of persons volunteering to act on the protective side of civilian defense. C. A. Zwiener of St. Paul was named Chief of Staff and served in that capacity until succeeded by Allan Briggs on July 7, 1942.

Defense councils were established in each of the 87 counties and in 19 of the larger cities of the State and are now functioning.

The civilian defense system is divided into the Citizens Defense Corps, which numbered 86,361 persons Jan. 1, 1943, and the Citizens Service Corps, with 105,526 persons the same date.

The Defense Corps includes units trained to act to minimize damage that may result from enemy attack. Among these forces are air raid wardens, auxiliary police and firemen, emergency medical, public works and emergency welfare units.

The Service Corps includes 45,800 Victory Aides, women organized to deal directly with their neighbors in each block in the cities and villages of the State as well as in rural areas. The functions of the Service Corps consist in providing volunteers and promotion for activities that have become more necessary in wartime, relating to consumer interest, nutrition, recreation, welfare, salvage, etc.

In addition to operating through these two corps, the civilian defense office cooperates with the Department of Agriculture, Department of Education, Department of Social Welfare, and Vocational Training programs.

Its purpose primarily is to coordinate and use existing agencies in meeting adjustments necessitated by war.

STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

Article VIII of the State Constitution makes it "the duty of the legislature to establish a general and uniform system of public schools," establishes the permanent school fund, and requires the legislature to "make such provisions, by taxation or otherwise as, with the income arising from the school fund, will secure a thorough and efficient system of public schools in each township in the State."

The whole area of the state is organized into school districts. Each is under direction of a school board elected by the people, with the exception of a few special districts in which direction of the schools is vested in some other municipal body.

County superintendents of schools, elected for a four-year term, have administrative and supervisory powers in relation to rural ungraded schools.

Chapter 334, Laws of 1919, created a State Department of Education under direction of a non-salaried board of five citizens, appointed for five-year terms by the Governor with consent of the Senate. The State Board of Education also acts as the State Board for Vocational Education in administering federal programs of vocational education. The board is required by law to hold an annual meeting the first Tuesday in August and to hold regular meetings quarterly.

Secretary and executive officer of board is the Commissioner of Education, elected by the board for six years. The Commissioner is ex officio a member of the State Teachers Retirement Fund Board and a member and secretary of the State Teachers College Board. He is "responsible for efficient administration and discipline of the various offices and divisions in the organization of the Department of Education."

The schools of the state derive support from both local and state sources. The state's share approximates a third of the cost of school maintenance. Four state funds contribute to the support of schools:

(1) The Endowment Fund, income from the permanent school fund.

(2) The Current School Fund, derived from a one-mill tax.

(3) The Special State Aid Fund, appropriated biennially by the legislature from the general revenue fund of the state.

(4) The Income Tax School Fund.

The first two funds make up the General School Fund which is apportioned to districts on the basis of school attendance.

The purposes of the Special State Aid Fund and the basis for determining the sums to be paid the several school districts are found in the state aid laws. The first purpose is to equalize educational opportunities, through (a) payment of reimbursement aid for transportation or board of resident pupils in school districts which are consolidated; high school pupils residing in districts not maintaining high schools; crippled children who cannot walk to school, and isolated elementary school pupils, (b) payment of tuition in high schools for nonresident pupils, and (c) aid in purchase of library books.

The second purpose is to aid in establishing minimum standards. An amount fixed by law is paid for each school which meets classification standards established by the State Board of Education.

The third purpose is to stimulate educational progress. The aid for this purpose is designed to encourage (a) establishment of special classes for children who are handicapped by blindness, deafness, defective speech, subnormal mentality, or physical impairment, (b) establishment in high schools of special departments for training in agriculture, home economics, trade and industrial and commercial work, (c) maintenance of evening schools for adults. Federal aid is also provided for vocational training in agriculture, home economics, trade and industrial education and distributive occupations.

The fourth purpose stated in the law is to assist school districts which have a high tax levy. Under this provision the state supplements the amounts which districts with low valuation are able to raise, in order to maintain satisfactory schools.

The fifth purpose is the maintenance in high schools of departments for the training of teachers for the rural schools.

From receipts of the State Income Tax the districts are apportioned $10 per year for each child six to sixteen years of age in the district and $10 for each child sixteen to seventeen years of age attending public schools. Except in cities of the first class school districts must use the fund to retire existing indebtedness.

The State Department of Education makes the distribution of these aids according to law. It also exercises general supervision over the public schools of the state and advises superintendents and school boards. The Department exercises the same supervision over the public junior colleges as over high schools.

The Rural School Division conducts institutes for rural teachers in each county in the state and meetings for rural school board members, assists in organization of consolidations, supervises transportation of pupils, and under an agreement with the federal government supervises approximately forty schools attended by Indian children.

The Division of High School Teacher Training and Handicapped Children supervises instruction in the high school teacher training departments, approves teachers selected for the work and requires annual reports of progress. The division also supervises special classes for handicapped children in public schools.

The Vocational Education Division under direction of the State Board for Vocational Education supervises programs of training in agriculture, home economics, trade and industrial education and distributive occupations in accordance with state plans approved by the United States Office of Education to assure that these departments maintain standards entitling them to reimbursement from federal and special state aid funds. In addition, it administers the war production training program, supported entirely from federal funds.

Division of Vocational Rehabilitation provides vocational advisement and training for physically handicapped persons through use of state and federal funds. It operates in cooperation with the State Department of Labor and Industry, the Division of Services for Crippled Children and the Division for the Blind in the State Board of Control, the public schools, and various other public and private agencies which work with the handicapped.

The Division of Health and Physical Education, in addition to supervising the school programs in these fields, aids in planning community recreation programs.

Division of School Buildings and Business Administration examines the plans and specifications and advises with local school officials and architects in planning and improvement of school plant facilities. Rules for schoolhouse construction including rules of the State Board of Health relating to sanitary standards are prepared and distributed by this division.

The Division of Teacher Personnel issues certificates of qualification to teach in public schools and examines qualifications of teachers employed by local districts. The Teachers Employment Bureau is maintained as a part of this division.

The Library Division serves as a clearing house on all library problems, publishes a quarterly bulletin, and aims to give impetus to library development in the state. It operates a circulating library to provide books and other reading materials for rural communities.

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGES

At the first session of the State Legislature, in 1858, provision was made for three state normal schools "to educate and prepare teachers for teaching in the common schools." These were established at Winona in 1860, Mankato in 1868 and St. Cloud in 1869. Schools were opened, at Moorhead in 1888, at Duluth in 1902, and at Bemidji in 1919. In 1921 the Legislature designated all as Teachers Colleges and gave the State Teachers College Board authority to grant appropriate degrees to students who complete prescribed courses.

The Teachers Colleges devote themselves primarily to the preparation of teachers for the elementary and secondary schools. Each maintains two-year courses to prepare teachers for elementary schools. Each maintains four-year courses for more advanced training of elementary teachers, for training supervisors and teachers of special subjects, and for training secondary school teachers. The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred upon those who complete a four-year course. The diplomas of the Teachers Colleges are accepted by the State Department of Education as basis for the issuance of certificates which qualify teachers for employment in public schools.

Each conducts a summer term, under the same standards of instruction as the regular term, designed to give opportunity for further training of rural teachers.

The Teachers Colleges are supported by appropriations made biennially by the Legislature and by tuition charged the students.

All of the colleges are under direction of the State Teachers College Board. Eight members of the board are appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate, one "resident director" from each county in which a Teachers College is located and two from the other counties of the state. The board members serve without compensation for four-year terms. The Commissioner of Education serves as ninth member and secretary of the board. The president of the board is elected by the board at an annual meeting which is held the first Tuesday in June.

The Teachers College Board is charged with responsibility for appointment of all presidents, teachers and other employes, general management of the colleges, and recommendations for improvements.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Because it prepares young people for the future, training them in the professions, broadening their outlook and strengthening their sense of service, the University of Minnesota may properly be called the most important among state institutions.

The University of Minnesota is the second largest state university in the United States in numbers of full-time students of college and graduate ranking. It is operated on a business basis that has kept its cost to the taxpayers well below that of comparable institutions in other states.

Besides its cultural and professional activities it devotes itself to the study and advancement of such major Minnesota concerns as Agriculture, Forestry, Mining and Dairying. It is the fountainhead of training and practice in the various fields of Health and of Public Education.

Admission to the University of Minnesota is granted those who have completed a course in an accredited high or secondary school. The various professional schools and the Graduate School set their own standards for admission of students who have done satisfactory pre-professional work.

Gross figures of attendance of students of college grade, not at any one time but in the total over nine months, approach 20,000 and have been higher. Counting those who attend summer sessions, extension courses, short courses, continuation institutes and those who take studies by mail, the total approaches 40,000 annually.

The University is governed by a board of 12 regents, elected for six year terms by the State Legislature in joint convention. The president of the University is the administrative head, and the comptroller is chief business and finance officer.

Faculty and staff participation in University government is brought about through the operations of the University Senate, to which persons with rank of associate professor and above, or its equivalent, belong. It operates through committees, each of which handles special problems, such as Intercollegiate Athletics, Relations to Other Institutions of Learning, Business and Rules, and the like. These committees report to the Administrative Committee, composed of deans and directors, over which the president of the University presides. Final actions of the Administrative Committee are reported to the full senate for approval.

COLLEGES AND DEPARTMENTS

College of Science, Literature and the Arts (Academic college) is the college in which students not specializing in a professional school study to obtain a liberal education in the broad cultural sense. Here also they take the preliminary work fitting them for admission to the professional or semi-professional colleges. (Four year course.)

The University of Minnesota Hospitals are available for treatment of indigent patients from any Minnesota community. Half the expense of hospitalization is paid by the state and half by the county.

Minnesota Hospital and Home for Crippled Children, a unit of the University Hospitals, created and endowed by the gifts of the late William Henry Eustis of Minneapolis. It consists of a hospital for the care of children disabled by crippling or other afflictions, and a convalescent home in which these children may be cared for and instructed during the period when it is necessary to keep them under special care after they leave the hospital.

School of Dentistry: A professional school for training dentists and dental hygienists. Two years of work in the Academic College are required for admission. (Three year course.) A course for Dental Hygienists is also maintained.

Library Instruction Division operates under the direction of the University Librarian, to train workers for duties in libraries.

University College is for students who have special objectives not provided for in regular curricula. The degree of B.A. or B.S. is granted upon completion of an approved course of study.

General College is made up in its curriculum entirely of broad, survey courses of various fields of knowledge and activity. It is designed to give a two year general education, a foundation in the humanities at the university level which is terminated by the Associate in Arts degree for those who cannot take a longer course. It is, also, purposed that this college shall serve to give a broad foundation of knowledge for further specialized work and to help students arrive at an understanding of themselves and their capacities. (Two year course.)

Center for Continuation Study: A center in which students live and work together under one roof during their residence on the campus. It is a continuation school designed to provide further education over relatively short periods of time for those who have already received the usual professional, technical, and general instruction in the regular schools and colleges.

University Extension: In addition to giving instructions in the above schools and colleges, the University renders two very significant services to the people of the state. First, it conducts many instruction services off the campus, in classes of the General Extension Division maintained by the University during the evening hours in the more populous centers of the state. These courses provide credit toward graduation from the university to students who have complied with the entrance requirements. In addition students may take regular work by correspondence, in general extension short courses, and in agricultural short courses.

Finally, primarily in the interest of those students who desire to fit themselves for the pursuit of agriculture and yet have not finished high school and therefore are not entitled to enter the University classes, the University conducts work of less than college grade at five different centers. Visual instruction, community service, and the like, the work of the Four-H clubs and the Home Demonstration agents of the Department of Agriculture serve further to extend the institution's effectiveness throughout Minnesota.

Institute of Child Welfare: Under a ten-year grant from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial, a foundation, the Institute of Child Welfare is conducting an investigation into the habits, abilities, and methods of training and educating young children, and is publicizing these findings through extension classes, lectures, and bulletins.

Research: Continuous researches to help find solution for urgent problems of health, agriculture, education, business and the like, are conducted by University specialists.

Special Services: The Minnesota tax commission employs the expert services of members of the University staff in valuing ore deposits and in placing valuation on the properties of public service corporations. The University also provides laboratory space on the campus for the State Highway Department. It conducts at Excelsior, Minnesota, the state fruit breeding station, operates a Forest Experiment Station at Cloquet and a Biological Station in Itasca Park. It supervises the work of county agents and pays their salaries in part. It conducts numerous annual short courses in agriculture, chief among them being Farmers and Homemakers Week, and the yearly short course for editors. On the main campus short courses are conducted for physicians, dentists, morticians, and the like. The secretary of the League of Minnesota Municipalities is a member of the university staff. Schoolmen's Week, conducted annually by the College of Education, with the co-operation of the State Department of Education, offers special opportunities for teachers, principals, supervisors, and superintendents to hear the ideas of national leaders in education. #### WAR PARTICIPATION

The University of Minnesota is participating in the war effort in a great many ways. It has loaned many highly trained specialists to government departments and military and naval branches. Others of similar capabilities have entered service directly.

Researches: An extended program of war-related researches is carried on upon the campus. For the most part these are secret, some of them being known only to the highest University officers and the persons at work on them. Among the fields in which these studies are carried on are medicine, physics, chemistry, agriculture, mining and metallurgy, aeronautics, and chemical engineering.

Reserve Officer Training: The University maintains full R.O.T.C. programs for both the United States Army and the United States Navy. Upon graduation or prior call to service, men in these units become trained officers.

Special Training Courses for Army and Navy: Under contract with the Navy and the Army, the University of Minnesota is providing housing, meals, recreation and instruction for actual military units of enlisted personnel. Among these are Navy machinists, Navy electricians, Navy cooks and bakers, Army pre-radar specialists, Army medical officers studying laboratory techniques, Navy officers in aeronautical engineering, Army mechanical specialists and the like. It conducts a pre-meteorological course for the Army Air Corps.

Other War-Related Projects: The University houses a unit of the Army Air Corps devoted to study of the Arctic, with special relation to aviation. It maintains a school for engineering "cadettes" of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation and runs a large number of special Engineering, Science and Management short courses to fit civilians for entering war industry on an efficient basis. It maintains directly a Key Center for War Information. All units of the University take whatever opportunities they have for furthering the war effort.

Instructional Readjustments: The University has established "accelerated" or year-around programs of instruction in medicine, dentistry, nursing, public health, engineering, mathematics, physics, chemistry and other subjects with a view to turning out trained personnel more rapidly, while at the same time obtaining constant use of its educational facilities. Nursing enrollments have been greatly expanded, and special courses for nurses' aids and refresher courses in nursing established.

Short Courses and Institutes: Especially at University Farm and in the Center for Continuation Study, many special courses ranging from a day to a week in length have been maintained for the instruction of the public and the professions and callings. These deal with Victory Gardens, Income Taxation, Postwar Planning, Public Health and Nursing Techniques, Handling of Bulk Materials, as in the vital mining of iron ore, and a wide range of other subjects, largely in medicine and other practical techniques.

University Administrative Officials also have been intent on throwing their entire influence behind practices and attitudes that go to strengthen and advance the war effort of the United States and its associates.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first day of December in each year, to the president of the United States, and at the same time two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate for the use of Congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or necessary absence of the governor from the Territory, the secretary shall be and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and the duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence, or until another governor shall be duly appointed to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power and authority of said Territory shall be vested in the governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of nine members having the qualifications of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives shall, at its first session, consist of eighteen members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. The number of councilors and representatives may be increased by the legislative assembly, from time to time, in proportion to the increase of population; provided, that the whole number shall never exceed fifteen councilors and thirty-nine representatives. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the members of the council and of the house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the districts for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties and districts of the Territory to be taken, and the first election shall be held at such time and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct, and he shall, at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties and districts shall be entitled under this act.

The number of persons authorized to be elected having the highest number of votes, in each of said council districts for members of the council, shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected to the council, and the person or persons authorized to be elected, having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county or district shall be entitled, shall also be declared by the governor to be duly elected members of the house of representatives; provided, that in case of a tie between two or more persons voted for, the governor shall order a new election to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place on such day as the governor shall appoint, but thereafter the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning of the representation in the several counties or districts to the council and house of representatives, according to the population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular session of the legislative assembly; provided, that no one session shall exceed the term of sixty days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of said Territory at the time of the passage of this act, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be prescribed by the legislative assembly; provided, that the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States and those who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, consistent with the Constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws passed by the legislative assembly and governor shall be submitted to the Congress of the United States, and if disapproved shall be null and of no effect.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district and county officers, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota. The governor shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, appoint all officers not herein otherwise provided for, and, in the first instance, the governor alone may appoint all said officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased, while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, except postmasters, shall be a member of the legislative assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually; and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the supreme court, at such time and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of probate courts and justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law; provided, that the justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each district court, or the judges thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception and appeals shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court shall be allowed, and may be taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed one thousand dollars; and each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws; and writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said Territory, the same as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of the late Wisconsin Territory received for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin received. There shall also be a marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts, when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the late Territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate justices, attorney and marshal, shall be nominated and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively, take an oath or affirmation, before the district judge, or some justice of the peace in the limits of said Territory, duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws now in force therein, or before the chief justice, or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person by whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings; and the chief justice and associate justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation, before the said governor or secretary, or some judge or justice of the peace of the Territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,500 as governor, and $1,000 as superintendent of Indian affairs. The chief justice and associate justice shall each receive an annual salary of $1,800. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of $1,800. The said salaries shall be paid quarterly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of $1,000, to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory; and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum to be expended by the secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses, and the secretary of the Territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said Territory shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the Territory of Wisconsin and to its inhabitants; and the laws in force in the Territory of Wisconsin at the date of the admission of the State of Wisconsin shall continue to be valid and operative therein, so far as the same be not incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said Territory of Minnesota; and the laws of the United States are hereby extended over and declared to be in force in said Territory, so far as the same, or any provision thereof, may be applicable.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Minnesota shall hold its first session in St. Paul; and at said first session the governor and legislative assembly shall locate and establish a temporary seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible; and shall at such time as they shall see proper prescribe by law the manner of locating the permanent seat of government of said Territory by a vote of the people. And the sum of twenty thousand dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby appropriated and granted to said Territory of Minnesota, to be applied by the governor and legislative assembly to the erection of suitable public buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate of the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as are exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such times and places and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and at all subsequent elections the times, places and manner of holding the elections shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process and proceedings, civil and criminal, at law or in chancery, and all indictments and informations, which shall be pending and undetermined in the courts of the Territory of Wisconsin, within the limits of said Territory of Minnesota, when this act shall take effect, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined in the district courts hereby established, which may include the counties or districts where any such proceedings may be pending. All bonds, recognizances, and obligations of every kind whatsoever, valid under the existing laws, within the limits of said Territory, shall be valid under this act; and all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws, in force within said limits, may be prosecuted, tried, and punished in the courts established by this act; and all penalties, forfeitures, actions and causes of action may be recovered under this act the same as they would have been under the laws in force within the limits composing said Territory at the time this act shall go into operation.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and all other judicial and ministerial officers, who shall be in office within the limits of said Territory, when this act shall take effect, shall be and they are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices as officers of the Territory of Minnesota, temporarily, and until they or others shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill their places, in the manner herein directed, or until their offices shall be abolished.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of $5,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by and under the direction of the said governor of the Territory of Minnesota, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the governor, legislative assembly, judges of the supreme court, secretary, marshal, and attorneys of said Territory, and such other persons and under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 18. And be it further enacted, That when the lands in said Territory shall be surveyed under the direction of the government of the United States, preparatory to bringing the same into market, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in each township in said Territory shall be and the same are hereby reserved for the purpose of being applied to schools in said Territory, and in the state and territories hereafter to be erected out of the same.

SEC. 19. And be it further enacted, That temporarily, and until otherwise provided by law, the governor of said Territory may define the judicial districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said Territory to the several districts, and also appoint the times and places for holding courts in the several counties or subdivisions in each of said judicial districts, by proclamation to be issued by him; but the legislative assembly, at their first or any subsequent session, may organize, alter or modify such judicial districts, and assign the judges, and alter the times and places of holding the courts, as to them shall seem proper and convenient.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That every bill which shall or may pass the council and house of representatives, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the Territory; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated; which shall cause the objections to be entered at large upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall also be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law; but in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days, (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislative assembly, by adjournment, prevent it, in which case it shall not become a law.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Under the enabling act of Congress, approved March 3, 1857, a constitutional convention of one hundred and eight members (each council district to elect two for each councilman and representative it was entitled to) was authorized to meet at the capitol on the second Monday in July, to frame a state constitution, and submit it to the people of the territory. The election was held on the first Monday in June. On July 13th the delegates met, but, a disagreement arising in the organization, the Republican members organized one body, and the Democratic members organized separately. Each of these bodies, claiming to be the legal constitutional convention, proceeded with the work of forming an instrument to be submitted to the people. After some days an understanding was effected between them, and, by means of committees of conference, the same constitution was framed and adopted by both bodies. On being submitted to the people October 13th, it was ratified.

ARTICLE I.

Bill of Rights

Object of government. SECTION 1. Government is instituted for the security, benefit and protection of the people, in whom all political power is inherent, together with the right to alter, modify or reform such government, whenever the public good may require it.

Rights and Privileges. SEC. 2. No member of this State shall be disfranchised, or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof, unless by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the State otherwise than the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Liberty of the press. SEC. 3. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right.

Trial by jury. SEC. 4. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy, but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law; [and the legislature may provide that the agreement of five-sixths of any jury in any civil action or proceeding, after not less than six (6) hours' deliberation, shall be a sufficient verdict therein.]*

No excessive bail or unusual punishments. SEC. 5. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted.

Rights of accused in criminal prosecutions. SEC. 6. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense. (a)

When bailable. SEC. 7. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. All persons shall before conviction be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require.

*The clause in brackets was adopted Nov. 4, 1890.

(a) The jury contemplated by article 1, section 6, securing the right to jury trial in criminal cases, is a body of twelve men, and it is error to try a party charged with crime in a justice court, against his objection, with a jury of six. The fact that he may appeal to the district court, on entering into recognizance with sureties, does not change the rule. 14 Minn. 330.

Redress of injuries or wrongs. SEC. 8. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property or character; he ought to obtain justice freely and without purchase; completely and without denial; promptly and without delay, conformable to the laws.

Treason defined. SEC. 9. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

Right against unreasonable searches. SEC. 10. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized.

Prohibits ex post facto laws, or laws impairing contracts. SEC. 11. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Imprisonment for debt—property exemption. SEC. 12. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in this state, (b) but this shall not prevent the legislature from providing for imprisonment, or holding to bail, persons charged with fraud in contracting said debt. A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law. [Provided, however, that all property so exempted shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair or improvement of the same, and provided further, that such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt incurred to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed.]*

Private property for public use. SEC. 13. Private property shall not be taken, destroyed or damaged for public use without just compensation therefor, first paid or secured.**

Military power subordinate. SEC. 14. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power, and no standing army shall be kept up in this State in times of peace.

Lands declared allodial—leases, when void. SEC. 15. All lands within the State are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures of every description, with all their incidents, are prohibited. Leases and grants of agricultural lands for a longer period than twenty-one years hereafter made, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be void.

Freedom of conscience—no preference to be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship. SEC. 16. The enumeration of rights in this constitution shall not be construed to deny or impair others retained by and inherent in the people. The right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience shall never be infringed, nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any religious or ecclesiastical ministry, against his consent; nor shall any control of or interference with the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference be given by law to any religious establishment or mode of worship; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of the State, nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries.

No religious test or property qualifications to be required. SEC. 17. Division of powers. SECTION 1. The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments—legislative, executive, and judicial; and no person or persons belonging to or constituting one of these departments shall exercise any of the powers properly belonging to either of the others, except in the instances expressly provided in this constitution.*

ARTICLE IV.

Legislative Department

Legislature meets biennially—length of session. SECTION 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the State, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days; and no new bill shall be introduced in either branch, except on the written request of the governor, during the last twenty (20) days of such sessions, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor.

Apportionment of members. SEC. 2. The number of members who compose the Senate and House of Representatives shall be prescribed by law, but the representation in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5,000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2,000 inhabitants. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the State, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law.

Eligibility of members—quorum. SEC. 3. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and eligibility of its own members; a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as it may provide.

Rules of government. SEC. 4. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, sit upon its own adjournment, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled the second time for the same offense.

Officers—journal of proceedings. SEC. 5. The House of Representatives shall elect its presiding officer and the Senate and House of Representatives shall elect such other officers as may be provided by law; they shall keep journals of their proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, and the yeas and nays, when taken on any question, shall be entered on such journals.

The second article of the convention of 1818 is as follows: Article 2. It is agreed that a line drawn from the most northwestern point of the Lake of the Woods along the 49th parallel of north latitude, or, if the said point shall not be in the 49th parallel of north latitude, then that a line drawn from the said point due north or south, as the case may be, until the said line shall intersect the said parallel of north latitude, and from the point of such intersection due west, along and with the said parallel, shall be the line of demarcation between the territories of the United States and His Britannic Majesty, and that the said line shall form the northern boundary of the said territories of the United States and the southern boundary of His Britannic Majesty, from the Lake of the Woods to the Stony Mountains. This boundary was re-established and determined by a commission authorized by congress, and the surveys embracing four years were made and reported to congress in 1877.

Restriction as to holding office. SEC. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, and no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature.

Bills of revenue to originate in House. SEC. 10. All bills for raising a revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose and concur with the amendments as on other bills.

Approval of bills by Governor—action on non-approval. SEC. 11. Every bill which shall have passed the Senate and House of Representatives, in conformity to the rules of each house and the joint rules of the two houses, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the State. If he approves, he shall sign and deposit it in the office of secretary of state for preservation, and notify the house where it originated of the fact. But if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated; when such objections shall be entered at large on the journal of the same, and the house shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if it be approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature, by adjournment within that time, prevents its return; in which case it shall not be a law. The governor may approve, sign and file in the office of the secretary of state, within three days after the adjournment of the legislature, any act passed during the last three days of the session, and the same shall become a law.

Governor may cut out items of appropriation bills and otherwise approve. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be a part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Money appropriations, how made. SEC. 12. No money shall be appropriated except by bill. Every order, resolution or vote requiring the concurrence of the two houses (except such as relate to the business or adjournment of the same) shall be presented to the governor for his signature, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being returned by him with his objections, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the members of the two houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Majority vote of all members-elect to pass a law. SEC. 13. The style of all laws of this State shall be: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota." No law shall be passed unless voted for by a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the legislature, and the vote entered upon the journal of each house.

Impeachment powers. SEC. 14. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, through a concurrence of a majority of all the members elected to seats therein. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate; and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Exclusive from civil rights. SEC. 15. The legislature shall have full power to exclude from the privilege of electing or being elected any person convicted of bribery, perjury, or any other infamous crime.

Punish for disorderly conduct. SEC. 18. Each house may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence, but no such imprisonment shall at any time exceed twenty-four hours.

Open sessions. SEC. 19. Each house shall be open to the public during the sessions thereof, except in such cases as in their opinion may require secrecy.

Reading of bills. SEC. 20. Every bill shall be read on three different days in each separate house, unless, in case of urgency, two-thirds of the house where such bill is depending shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; and no bill shall be passed by either house until it shall have been previously read twice at length.

Enrollment of bills. SEC. 21. Every bill having passed both houses shall be carefully enrolled, and shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house. Any presiding officer refusing to sign a bill which shall have previously passed both houses shall thereafter be incapable of holding a seat in either branch of the legislature, or hold any other office or honor of profit in the State, and in case of such refusal, each house shall, by rule, provide the manner in which such bill shall be properly certified for presentation to the governor.

Passage of bills on last day of session prohibited. SEC. 22. No bill shall be passed by either house of the legislature upon the day prescribed for the adjournment of the two houses. But this section shall not be so construed as to preclude the enrollment of a bill, or the signature and passage from one house to the other, or the reports thereon from committees, or its transmission to the executive for his signature.

Census enumeration—apportionment. SEC. 23. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this State in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter. At their first session after each enumeration so made, and also at their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts according to the provisions of section second of this article.

Senatorial districts — term of office of senators and representatives. SEC. 24. The senators shall also be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time that members of the house of representatives are required to be chosen, and in the same manner; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series. The terms of office of senators and representatives shall be the same as now prescribed by law until the general election of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), at which time there shall be an entire new election of all senators and representatives. Representatives chosen at such election, or at any election thereafter, shall hold their office for the term of two years, except it be to fill a vacancy; and the senators chosen at such election by districts designated as odd numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and senators chosen by districts designated by even numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the fourth year; and thereafter senators shall be chosen for four years, except there shall be an entire new election of all the senators at the election of representatives next succeeding each new apportionment provided for in this article.

Qualification of legislators. SEC. 25. Senators and representatives shall be qualified voters of the State, and shall have resided one year in the State and six months immediately preceding the election in the district from which they are elected.

Senators to Congress. SEC. 26. Members of the Senate of the United States from this State shall be elected by the two houses of the legislature in joint convention, at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law.*

Divorces. SEC. 28. Divorces shall not be granted by the legislature.

Oath of office. SEC. 29. All members and officers of both branches of the legislature shall, before entering upon the duties of their respective trusts, take and subscribe

Change of form of taxation of railroads to be voted upon. SEC. 32. [a] Any law providing for the repeal or amendment of any law or laws heretofore or hereafter enacted, which provides that any railroad company now existing in this State or operating its road therein, or which may be hereafter organized, shall, in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon their real estate, roads, rolling stock, and other personal property, at and during the time and periods therein specified, pay into the treasury of this State a certain percentage therein mentioned of the gross earnings of such railroad companies now existing or hereafter organized, shall, before the same shall take effect or be in force, be submitted to a vote of the people of the State, and be adopted and ratified by a majority of the electors of the State voting at the election at which the same shall be submitted to them.

Internal improvement lands — investment of proceeds in bonds. SEC. 32. [b] All lands donated to the State of Minnesota for the purpose of internal improvement, under the eighth section of the act of Congress, approved September fourth, eighteen hundred and forty-one, being "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sale of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights," shall be appraised and sold, in the same manner and by the same officers, and the minimum price shall be the same as is provided by law for the appraisal and sale of the school lands, under the provisions of title one (1), chapter thirty-eight, of the General Statutes, except the modifications hereinafter mentioned. All moneys derived from the sales of said lands shall be invested in the bonds of the United States, or of the State of Minnesota issued since 1860; and the moneys so invested shall constitute the Internal Improvement Land Fund of the State. All moneys received by the county treasurer under the provisions of title one (1), chapter thirty-eight (38), aforesaid, derived from the sale of internal improvement lands, shall be held at all times subject to the order and direction of the state treasurer, for the benefit of the fund to which it belongs; and on the fifteenth day of June in each year, and at such other times as he may be requested so to do by the state treasurer, he shall pay over to the said state treasurer all moneys received on account of such fund.

The force of this amendment shall be to authorize the sale of the internal improvement lands, without further legislative enactment.

Against special legislation. SEC. 33. In all cases when a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted; and whether a general law could have been made applicable in any case is hereby declared a judicial question, and as such shall be judicially determined without regard to any legislative assertion on that subject. The legislature shall pass no local or special law regulating the affairs of, or incorporating, erecting or changing the lines of, any county, city, village, township, ward or school district, or creating the offices, or prescribing the powers and duties of the officers of, or fixing or relating to the compensation, salary or fees of the same, or the mode of election or appointment thereto, authorizing the laying out, opening, altering, vacating or maintaining roads, highways, streets or alleys; remitting fines, penalties or forfeitures; regulating the powers, duties and practice of justices of the peace, magistrates and constables; changing the names of persons, places, lakes or rivers; for opening and conducting of elections, or fixing or changing the places of voting; authorizing the adoption or legitimization of children; changing the law of descent or succession; conferring rights upon minors; declaring any named person of age; giving effect to informal or invalid wills or deeds, or affecting the estates of minors or persons under disability; locating or changing county seats; regulating the management of public schools, the building or repairing of schoolhouses, and the raising of money for such purposes; exempting property from taxation, or regulating the rate of interest on money; creating corporations, or amending, renewing, extending or explaining the charters thereof; granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever, or authorizing public taxation for a private purpose. Provided, however, That the inhibitions of local or special laws in this section shall not be construed to prevent the passage of general laws on any of the subjects enumerated.

Repeal of existing special laws. The legislature may repeal any existing special or local law, but shall not amend, extend or modify any of the same.

Refers to amendment of 1881, superseded as above. SEC. 34. The legislature shall provide general laws for the transaction of any business that may be prohibited by section one (1) of this amendment, and all such laws shall be uniform in their operation throughout the State.

*By chapter 71, G. L. of 1881, extra session, the proceeds of this fund were pledged to the payment of Minnesota State Railroad adjustment bonds, and the law was voted upon and approved at the general election of 1884, by 31,011 votes in favor and 13,589 votes against.

Against combinations or pools to affect markets. SEC. 35. Any combinations of persons, either as individuals or as members or officers of any corporation, to monopolize the markets for food products in this State, or to interfere with, or restrict the freedom of, such markets, is hereby declared to be a criminal conspiracy, and shall be punished in such manner as the legislature may provide.

City or village may frame its own charter—charter to be submitted to voters. SEC. 36. Any city or village in this State may frame a charter for its own government as a city consistent with and subject to the laws of this State, as follows: The legislature shall provide, under such restrictions as it deems proper, for a board of fifteen freeholders, who shall be and for the past five years shall have been qualified voters thereof, to be appointed by the district judges of the judicial district in which the city or village is situated, as the legislature may determine, for a term in no event to exceed six years, which board shall, within six months after its appointment, return to the chief magistrate of said city or village draft of said charter, signed by the members of said board, or a majority thereof. Such charter shall be submitted to the qualified voters of such city or village at the next election thereafter, and if four-sevenths of the qualified voters voting at such election shall ratify the same it shall, at the end of thirty days thereafter, become the charter of such city or village as a city, and supersede any existing charter and amendments thereof; provided, that in cities having patrol limits now established, such charters shall require a three-fourths majority vote of the qualified voters voting at such election to change the patrol limits now established.

Legislature to prescribe general limits of charter—amendment of charter—upon application of 5 per cent of legal voters. Before any city shall incorporate under this act the legislature shall prescribe by law the general limits within which such charter shall be framed. Duplicate certificates shall be made setting forth the charter proposed and its ratification, which shall be signed by the chief magistrate of said city or village and authenticated by its corporate seal. One of said certificates shall be deposited in the office of secretary of state, and the other, after being recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county in which such city or village lies, shall be deposited among the archives of such city or village, and all courts shall take judicial notice thereof. Such charter so deposited may be amended by proposal therefor made by a board of fifteen commissioners aforesaid, published for at least once each week for four successive weeks in a legal newspaper of general circulation in such city or village, and accepted by three-fifths of the qualified voters of such city or village voting at the next election, and not otherwise; but such charter shall always be in harmony with and subject to the Constitution and laws of the State of Minnesota. The legislature may prescribe the duties of the commission relative to submitting amendments of charter to the vote of the people and shall provide that upon application of five per cent of the legal voters of any such city or village, by written petition, such commission shall submit to the vote of the people proposed amendments to such charter set forth in said petition. The board of freeholders above provided for shall be permanent, and all the vacancies by death, disability to perform duties, resignation or removal from the corporate limits, or expiration of term of office, shall be filled by appointment in the same manner as the original board was created, and said board shall always contain its full complement of members.*

Mayor and legislative body. It shall be a feature of all such charters that there shall be provided, among other things, for a mayor or chief magistrate, and a legislative body of either one or two houses; if of two houses, at least one of them shall be elected by general vote of the electors.

Articles of amendment may be submitted separately. In submitting any such charter or amendment thereto to the qualified voters of such city or village, any alternate section or article may be presented for the choice of the voters, and may be voted on separately without prejudice to other articles or sections of the charter or any amendments thereto.

General laws for cities by divisions of population. The legislature may provide general laws relating to affairs of cities, the application of which may be limited to cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, or to cities of fifty and not less than twenty thousand inhabitants, or to cities of twenty and not less than ten thousand inhabitants, or to cities of ten thousand inhabitants or less, which shall apply equally to all such cities of either class, and which shall be paramount while in force to the provisions relating to the same matter included in the local charter herein provided for. The principal of all funds arising from sales or other disposition of lands or other property, granted or entrusted to this State in each township for educational purposes, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished; and the income arising from the lease or sale of said school land shall be distributed to the different townships throughout the State, in proportion to the number of scholars in each township, between the ages of five and twenty-one years; and shall be faithfully applied to the specific objects of the original grants or appropriations.

**A revolving fund of not over two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) may be set apart from the fund derived from the sale of school and swamp lands, to be used in constructing roads, ditches and fire breaks in, through and around unsold school and swamp lands and in clearing such lands, such fund to be replenished as long as needed from the enhanced value realized from the sale of such lands so benefited.

Investment of funds. Suitable laws shall be enacted by the legislature for the safe investment of the principal of all funds which have heretofore arisen or which may hereafter arise from the sale or other disposition of such lands, or the income from such lands accruing in any way before the sale or disposition thereof, in interest-bearing bonds of the United States, or of the State of Minnesota, issued after the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty (1860), or of such other state as the legislature may, by law, from time to time direct.

Swamp lands—division of proceeds. All swamp lands now held by the State, or that may hereafter accrue to the State, shall be appraised and sold in the same manner and by the same officers, and the minimum price shall be the same less one-third ( $\frac{1}{3}$ ), as is provided by law for the appraisal and sale of the school lands under the provisions of title one (1) of chapter thirty-eight (38) of the General Statutes. The principal of all funds derived from sales of swamp lands, as aforesaid, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished. One-half ( $\frac{1}{2}$ ) of the proceeds of said principal shall be appropriated to the common school fund of the State. The remaining one-half ( $\frac{1}{2}$ ) shall be appropriated to the educational and charitable institutions of the State in the relative ratio of cost to support said institutions.

No change of the boundaries of any school district after the making of any such loan shall operate to withdraw any property from the taxation herein provided for; nor shall any

Investment of permanent school and university funds. **SEC. 6. The permanent school, permanent university and swamp land funds of this state may be loaned to or invested in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town, or village of this state and in first mortgage loans secured upon improved and cultivated farm lands of this state, but no such investment or loan shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the county, school district, city, town, or village issuing such bonds; nor shall any such farm loan or investment be made when such investment or loan would exceed 30 per cent of the actual cash value of the farm land mortgaged to secure said investment; nor shall such investments or loans be made at a lower rate of interest than two per cent per annum, nor for a shorter period than one year nor for a longer period than 30 years and no change of the town, school district, city, village, or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of issuing such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

***SEC. 7. The net revenue therefrom shall be used for the purposes for which the lands were granted to the State.

****SEC. 8. Any of the public lands of the state, including lands held in trust for any purpose, may, with the unanimous approval of a commission consisting of the governor, the attorney general and the state auditor, be exchanged for lands of the United States and/or privately owned lands in such manner as the legislature may provide, and the lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust, if any, to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject, and the state shall reserve all mineral and water power rights in lands so transferred by the state.

Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, and household goods and farm machinery, as the legislature may determine; Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads.

The Legislature shall by law make the necessary provisions for carrying out the provisions of this section.

N. B.—Sections 2, 3 and 4 obsolete, because in 1906 there was adopted the section which now is Section 1 in this article. It supplanted Sections 1, 2, 3 and 4 and the unnumbered section of 1896. This amendment is sometimes called the wide open tax amendment. No amendments have been adopted to take the place of the old Sections 2, 3 and 4. There is therefore a gap in the numbering from 1 to 5.

State debt limited — how contracted. *****SEC. 5. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts, but such debts shall never, in the aggregate, exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single object, to be distinctly specified therein; and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature, to be recorded by yeas and nays on the journals of each house respectively; and

The state shall never contract any debts for works of internal improvements, or to be a party in carrying on such works, except as authorized by Section 16 of Article 9, and by Article 16 of this Constitution, but it may levy an excise tax upon any substance, material, fluid, force or other means or instrumentality, or the business of dealing in, selling or producing any or all thereof, used or useful, in producing or generating power for propelling motor or other vehicles used on the public highways of this State, and shall place two-thirds of the proceeds of such tax in the Trunk Highway Fund provided for in Section 2 of said Article 16, and one-third thereof in the State Road and Bridge Fund, and further except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the State, especially dedicated by the grant to specific purposes, and in such cases the state shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate for revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion.

Issue of bonds for created debt. SEC. 6. All debts authorized by the preceding section shall be contracted by loan on State bonds of amounts not less than five hundred dollars each on interest, payable within ten years after the final passage of the law authorizing such debt; and such bonds shall not be sold by the State under par. Disposition of funds received for bonds. SEC. 8. The money arising from any loan made, or debt or liability contracted, shall be applied to the object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or to the repayment of such debt or liability, and to no other purpose whatever.

Money drawn from the State treasury. SEC. 9. No money shall ever be paid out of the treasury of this State except in pursuance of an appropriation by law.

Credit of the State limited. SEC. 10. The Credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation, except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated "Minnesota State Railroad Bonds," under what purports to be an amendment to Section ten (10) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution, adopted April 15th, 1858, which is hereby expunged from the Constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the State, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment. *Provided, however, that for the purpose of developing the agricultural resources of the state, the State may establish and maintain a system of rural credits and thereby loan money and extend credit to the people of the State upon real estate security in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by law, and to issue and negotiate bonds to provide money to be so loaned. State school fund — investment — safe keeping. SEC. 12. All State funds to be deposited in name of State. SEC. 12. Suitable laws shall be passed by the legislature for the safe keeping, transfer and disbursements of the State and school funds; and all officers and other persons charged with the same or any part of the same, or the safe keeping thereof, shall be required to give ample security for all moneys and funds of any kind received by them; to make forthwith and keep an accurate entry of each sum received, and of each payment and transfer; and if any of said officers or other persons shall convert to his own use in any manner or form, or shall loan, with or without interest, or shall deposit in his own name, or otherwise than in the name of the State of Minnesota; or shall deposit in banks or with any person or persons, or exchange for other funds or property, any portion of the funds of the State or the school funds aforesaid, except in the manner prescribed by law, every such act shall be and constitute an embezzlement of so much of the aforesaid State and school funds, or either of the same, as shall thus be taken, or loaned, or deposited or exchanged, and shall be a felony; and any failure to pay over, produce or account for the State school funds, or any part of the same entrusted to such officer or persons as by law required on demand, shall be held and be taken to be prima facie evidence of such embezzlement.

ACT OF ADMISSION INTO THE UNION

An Act for the admission of Minnesota into the Union
[Passed May 11, 1858]

WHEREAS, An act of Congress was passed February twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government preparatory to their admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original states"; and, whereas, the people of said Territory did, on the twenty-ninth day of August, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, by delegates elected for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government, which is republican in form, and was ratified and adopted by the people at an election held on the thirteenth day of October, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, for that purpose; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the State of Minnesota shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatever.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That said State shall be entitled to two representatives in Congress, until the next apportionment of representatives among the several states.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That from and after the admission of the State of Minnesota, as hereinbefore provided, all the laws of the United States which are not locally inapplicable shall have the same force and effect within that State as in other States of the Union; and the said State is hereby constituted a judicial district of the United States, within which a district court, with like powers and jurisdiction as the district court of the United States for the district of Iowa, shall be established; the judge, attorney and marshal of the United States of the said district of Minnesota shall reside within the same, and shall be entitled to the same compensation as the judge, attorney and marshal of the district of Iowa; and in all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States, upon any record from the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, the mandate of execution or order of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the district court of the United States for the district of Minnesota, or to the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, as the nature of such appeal or writ of error may require; and each of those courts shall be the successor of the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, as to all such cases, with full power to hear and determine the same, and to ward mesne or final process therein.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

In Congress, July 4, 1776

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise, the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our government: For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has incited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which INDEPENDENT STATES may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

§ 2. If any person guilty of, or charged with, treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor, in any state, shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon the demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offense.

§ 3. Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

ART. 5. § 1. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November, of every year, with a power reserved to each state to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead, for the remainder of the year.

§ 2. No state shall be represented in congress by less than two, nor more than seven, members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years, in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States, for which he, or any other for his benefit, receives any salary, fees, or emoluments of any kind.

§ 3. Each state shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the states and while they act as members of the committee of these states.

§ 4. In determining questions in the United States in congress assembled each state shall have one vote.

§ 5. Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on, congress, except for treason, felony or breach of the peace.

ART. 6. § 1. No state, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with, any king, prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince, or foreign state; nor shall the United States in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

§ 2. No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation, or alliance whatever, between them, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

number only as, in the judgment of the United States in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such state; but every state shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

§ 5. No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit a delay till the United States in congress assembled can be consulted; nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States in congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ART. 7. ART. 8. All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all lands within each state, granted to or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States in congress assembled shall, from time to time, direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled.

ART. 9. § 1. The United States in congress assembled shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article, of sending and receiving ambassadors, entering into treaties and alliances; provided, that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever, of establishing rules for deciding in all cases what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated, of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace; appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures; provided, that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

§ 2. The United States in congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting, or that may hereafter arise, between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question, and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall, in the presence of congress, be drawn out by lot; the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing, and the judgment and sentence of the court, to be appointed in the manner before described, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear to defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive; the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress and lodged among the acts of congress, for the security of the parties concerned; provided, that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward"; provided, also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

§ 3. All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdiction, as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement or jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

§ 4. The United States in congress assembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states; fixing the standards of weights and measures, throughout the United States; regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states; provided, that the legislative right of any state, within its own limits, be not infringed or violated; establishing and regulating postoffices from one state to another, throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office; appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States, excepting regimental officers; appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States; making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

§ 5. The United States in congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside; provided, that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses; to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state, which requisition shall be binding; and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and clothe, arm and equip them, in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States, and the officers and men so clothed, armed and equipped shall march to the place appointed and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled, but if the United States in congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared, and the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in congress assembled.

§ 6. The United States in congress assembled shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same; nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States in congress assembled.

§ 7. The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state, on any question, shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

ART 10. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall, from time to time, think expedient to vest them with; provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states, in the congress of the United States assembled, is requisite.

ART. 11. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ART 12. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ART. 13. Every state shall abide by the determination of the United States in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterward confirmed by the legislature of every state.

And whereas, it has pleased the great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectfully represent in congress to approve of and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, Know ye, that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained. And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States in con-

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding

(A-37)

Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every 30,000, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose 3; Massachusetts, 8; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, 1; Connecticut, 5; New York, 6; New Jersey, 4; Pennsylvania, 8; Delaware, 1; Maryland, 6; Virginia, 10; North Carolina, 5; South Carolina, 5; Georgia, 3.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

*SEC. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year. *When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the Senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their own officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments.

When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

*Amendments ratified 1913. See Amendment No. 17.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meetings shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall, by law, appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same; excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return; in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit and trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state.

SEC. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates; and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be appointed, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.]<sup>a</sup>

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president; and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur, and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3. He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SEC. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution, but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

SEC. 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3rd day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SEC. 3. If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall
