To the people of Minnesota:

This volume of the Minnesota Legislative Manual continues to document the story of Minnesota as past manuals have done since 1860. Publication of the manual has made available an invaluable and ongoing historic record.

As we proceed through the decade of the 1980's, Minnesotans are experiencing changes in the state's environment, economy, and technology. Education and human services are constantly adapting in order to meet the needs of a rapidly changing society, both in Minnesota and worldwide. Our achievements, as a state and as a people, bear witness to the importance of the work of our ancestors in paving the way for the society we know today.

It is important that we too leave behind an updated and factual account and description of the three branches of state government and of our elected officials. Therefore, it is my privilege to present this Minnesota Legislative Manual 1985-86 to the citizens of the state of Minnesota. I gratefully acknowledge my indebtedness to the many people responsible for revising and compiling this publication.

I dedicate this volume to present and future students of history, as we continue to work together in Minnesota's democracy.

ENDURING TREASURE: MINNESOTA STATE CAPITOL

Seat of state government, dominant landmark of the St. Paul landscape, and destination for sightseeing and school excursions, the Minnesota State Capitol serves as an important state symbol. 1985 marked the eightieth birthday of this enduring state treasure.

The present capitol building is the state's third. The first statehouse was built while Minnesota was still a territory. When it burned, a new building was constructed in Romanesque style. This building soon became inadequate, and the 1893 legislature approved the building of a new capitol and the appointment of a Board of State Capitol Commissioners to purchase a site and arrange a competition to select an architect.

Governor Knute Nelson appointed a commission with one member from each of Minnesota's seven congressional districts. The group selected Channing Seabury of St. Paul as its vice-president (by law the governor was president and ex-officio member of the board). Seabury was the guiding force of the commission and largely responsible for the success of the project.

The commission quickly demonstrated that they intended to act prudently but independently. Convened in May 1893, by June 28 the commission was ready to open bids for the land on which to build the capitol. They decided that a parcel of land bordered by Park Avenue, Cedar Street, University Avenue, Wabasha Street and Central Avenue, although most expensive, was more desirable than three other sites. By use of independent appraisals and condemnation, they purchased the desired site, which had been bid at $480,000, for $285,225.

The commissioners conducted a capitol design competition as specified by the enabling legislation. The Minnesota chapter of the American Institute of Architects expressed dissatisfaction with the legislative restrictions, and the commission's architectural advisors were unenthusiastic about all of the designs submitted. The commission did not act on the designs but requested the legislature to broaden their powers, increase the fee to be paid the architect, allow the selected architect to be superintendent of construction, and give the commission the authority to discharge the architect if unsatisfactory.

With the increased authority and independence given them by the 1895 legislature, the commission again accepted designs. The winning design, by Cass Gilbert of St. Paul, was a derivation of 16th century Renaissance palace style with projecting wings and a dome supported by a colonnade block. The theme was a familiar one in American public buildings but handled with finesse in Gilbert's design.

Ground was broken for the new capitol on May 6, 1896, and the foundation and steel frame for the basement were completed that winter. The commission and the architect then had to survive a storm of controversy over the selection of the exterior building material. Gilbert favored marble as the most aesthetic and durable choice, but considerable pressure was exerted for the use of native stone. The Minneapolis Journal and newspapers in central Minnesota were particularly vehement in favor of Minnesota stone. The final compromise was to build the basement of St. Cloud granite and the superstructure of Georgia marble. The cornerstone was laid at an elaborate ceremony on June 27, 1897.

The original legislation had anticipated expenditure of $2,000,000. The commission secured bonding authority in 1897, chiding the legislature that no private building was ever constructed on the intermittent wait-for-money process then common for public buildings. As the building progressed, additional requests for money were necessary to complete the project in the style developed by the architect. The final amount allowed for the building, furnishings, landscaping and all other expenses was $4,500,000. When the commission completed its work, $41,000 remained unspent.

Channing Seabury and the Board of State Capitol Commissioners had brought into existence a building planned to express state pride and self-confidence. Cass Gilbert had envisioned the Minnesota capitol as a dignified, unified whole with himself in charge of every detail. He designed the building, selected the furnishings, chose and directed the artists who embellished the interior, and planned the landscaping. The commission exercised its authority to secure value and quality but did not often interfere with Gilbert's insistence on his vision.

Members of the thirty-fourth legislature first occupied the building when they convened on January 3, 1905. On the eve of the legislative opening, citizens crowded the building and acclaimed it as "worthy of great pride". They certainly agreed with The Architectural Record of August 1905 in its description of the new Minnesota capitol: "When its white dome first swims into view there is a shock of surprise, then a rapidly growing delight in its pure beauty, and as one studies the building, inside and out, the surprise and delight increase".

Subsequent generations were not always so uncritically enthusiastic. In a book written to commemorate the state's centennial in 1958, a University of Minnesota art professor criticized the building as unsuitable for the functions of modern government. He noted that the interior was poorly lighted with "dark, wasteful corridors" and that the "drum and dome are too heavy for the mass of the building and too high to be in harmony with the lower domes that cover the terminal wings."

On the eightieth anniversary of the state capitol, most Minnesotans are unconcerned with changing evaluations of the building. They simply cherish it as an irreplaceable historic and artistic legacy. Built to be true to the spirit of its time, the Minnesota State Capitol has endured to become a treasure for our time and times to come.

The Minnesota Historical Society hosted an 80th birthday party for the capitol on January 5, 1985. Descendants of members of the original board of commissioners blew out the candles.

MINNESOTA'S CHANGING POPULATIONState Demographer: R. Thomas Gillaspy

The population of Minnesota increased by 7.1% between 1970 and 1980. From 1980 to 1982, the population increased by 1.4% to an estimated population of 4,133,000 as of July 1, 1982.

In 1970, Minnesota ranked 19th among the states in size of population. In 1982 and 1983, Minnesota ranked 21st.

During the 1970s more people moved into Minnesota than moved out, for the first time since the 1930s. Minnesota tends to receive people in their thirties, children and persons over seventy-five, while the greatest outmigration occurs among young adults.

Longevity continued to increase during the 1970s. Life expectancy at birth in 1980 was 79.1 years for women and 72.0 years for men.

Within Minnesota, the most rapidly growing areas appear in the suburban belt around the Twin Cities and the north central portion of the state. The slowest growing areas appear in a belt of counties in the southern, southwestern, and western part of the state.

During the 1970s, thirty-three counties increased in population by more than 11.4% (the national growth rate). Thirty-one counties lost population.

Between 1970 and 1980, central cities of the six metropolitan areas of Minnesota lost population at an average rate of 1.1% per year while suburban areas increased at a rate of 1.9% per year and rural areas increased by 0.7% per year.

The average Minnesotan lived in a smaller community in 1980 than in 1970, the first time in the history of the state that this figure has declined.

Projections of population show a continued growth of over 7% during the 1980s, slowing to 5.3% during the 1990s.

Median age (the age at which half of the population is older and half younger) is expected to increase from 29.2 years in 1980 to 32.5 years in 1990 and 39.2 years by 2010. This increase in median age reflects the aging of the baby-boom generation and expected increases in longevity.

The largest minority racial group in Minnesota in 1980 was black with 53,342 or 1.3% of the state's population. The total non-white population comprises approximately 3.4% of the state's people.

According to the 1980 census, the largest single ancestry group in Minnesota is German with 17.3% of the population, followed by Norwegian with 6.6% and Swedish with 4%. More than half of the population (54.2%) listed a single ancestry group.

During the 1970s, the number of households in Minnesota increased by almost 25%, while the average size of households declined from 3.2 persons in 1970 to 2.74 in 1980.

Educational attainment is increasing and remains above national averages. In 1980, 73% of Minnesotans 25 years and older have at least a high school diploma compared to 47% in 1970 and 66% nationally in 1980.

During the 1970s, the labor force of Minnesota increased by almost 30%, as large numbers of young adults and increasing proportions of women entered the labor force.

During the 1970s, 375,000 Minnesotans, or almost 10% of the population, had incomes below the poverty line. Only four states had a smaller percentage of population below the poverty line.

The median income of Minnesota families in 1979 was $21,217, fourteenth highest in the nation and third in the north central region behind Illinois and Michigan. 5.6% of Minnesota families earned more than $50,000 in 1979.

MINNESOTA SYMBOLS

State Flag

The present state flag was adopted by the 1957 legislature. Pictured in the center of the flag is the state seal. Three dates are woven into a flowered wreath: 1858, the statehood year; 1819, the establishment of Fort Snelling; and 1893, the year the original flag was adopted.

State Seal

The Great Seal of the State of Minnesota is the insignia which the secretary of state affixes to government papers and documents to make them official. It is, in effect, the signature of the state.

Minnesota actually has two seals. One, for the territory of Minnesota, was adopted in 1849 and approved by Governor Alexander Ramsey and the territorial legislature.

When Minnesota became a state on May 11, 1858, there was no official state seal and according to law no official act could be undertaken without it. The territorial seal was used until a new design was adopted by Governor Sibley. The legislature did not approve this design. Governor Sibley made some changes in the proposed seal including changing the original Latin motto to French: L'Etoile du Nord, thereby making Minnesota the North Star State. In 1861, after three years of use, the legislature adopted the changed design making it the official state seal. In Laws of 1983, Chapter 119, the legislature revised the design of the state seal.

State Tree

The Red (pinus resinosa) or Norway Pine became the official state tree in 1953.

It is a tall stately tree which reaches a height of 60 to 100 feet. The trunk is straight and uniform and may grow to three to five feet in diameter. It is usually bare of branches for two-thirds of the way up the trunk, with the top or crown rounded.

The Treaty of Paris, following the French and Indian War, ceded French territory east of the Mississippi River to England.

1784

The North West Company became important in the fur trade after the Revolutionary War; Grand Portage was its headquarters.

1797

David Thompson, a North West Company trader, completed the mapping of the Minnesota area of the Northwest Territory.

1803

President Thomas Jefferson acquired that part of Minnesota lying south and west of the Mississippi River from the French emperor Napoleon Bonaparte in the Louisiana Purchase.

1812

The Dakota, Ojibway and Winnebago joined the English in the War of 1812.

1817

The American Fur Trading Company, under the leadership of John Jacob Astor, began operations in Minnesota.

1818

The Convention of 1818 with England put all of Minnesota including the Red River Valley under the American flag.

1819

The United States established Fort St. Anthony (renamed Fort Snelling in 1825) to protect the confluence of the Minnesota and Mississippi Rivers.

1823

On May 10, the first steamboat arrived at St. Anthony. American explorer Stephen H. Long visited the Minnesota River, the Red River, and the northern frontier.

1832

With Ojibway guide Ozawindib, Henry R. Schoolcraft discovered the source of the Mississippi River and named it Lake Itasca.

1836

On April 20, after Michigan became a state, the territory of Wisconsin was organized to include the entire area of Minnesota. Joseph N. Nicollet began explorations in Minnesota.

1837

Governor Henry Dodge of Wisconsin signed a treaty at Fort Snelling with the Ojibway, who agreed to cede all their pine lands on the St. Croix and its tributaries. A treaty was also signed at Washington, D.C. with representatives of the Dakota for their lands east of the Mississippi. These treaties led the way for extensive white settlements within the area of Minnesota.

1838

Franklin Steele established a claim at the Falls of St. Anthony, in what is today Minneapolis; and Pierre Parrant built a shanty and settled on the present site of the city of St. Paul, then called "Pig's Eye".

1841

The Chapel of St. Paul was built and consecrated, giving the name to the future capital of the state.

1848

On August 26, after the admission of Wisconsin to the Union, the Stillwater Convention adopted measures calling for a separate territory to be named Minnesota. On October 30, Henry Hastings Sibley was elected delegate to Congress.

1849

On March 3, Congress passed the bill organizing Minnesota as a territory. Territorial officers were appointed March 19. Governor Alexander Ramsey proclaimed the organization of the territory on June 1, and the first territorial legislature assembled on September 3. On November 15, the Minnesota Historical Society was organized.

1850

The first U.S. census taken in Minnesota showed a population of 6,077.

1851

St. Paul, St. Anthony and Stillwater were selected for the locations of the capitol, university, and penitentiary. In July and August, the treaties of Traverse des Sioux and Mendota opened a large area in southern Minnesota to white settlers.

1853

The first capitol was constructed.

1855

On January 23, the first bridge to span the main channel of the Mississippi River anywhere along its length was opened between Minneapolis and St. Anthony.

EARLY STATEHOOD1857

The process of establishing state government in Minnesota began when Congress passed the Minnesota Enabling Act on February 26. The legislature passed a bill to make St. Peter the state capital, but since the bill was stolen before it was filed with the territorial secretary of state, the move was never made. The constitutional convention assembled on July 13 with such a rift between Democrats and Republicans that two constitutions were adopted. By October 3 one constitution was agreed upon and state officers were elected. Minnesota had a population of 150,037 at this time.

1858

Minnesota became the 32nd state on May 11. At the time of its entry Minnesota was the third largest state in land area — only Texas and California were larger.

1861

On April 14, Governor Alexander Ramsey offered President Lincoln 1,000 men — making Minnesota the first state to offer troops to the Union. The first Minnesota regiment left Fort Snelling on June 22.

1862

The first railroad in Minnesota opened between Minneapolis and St. Paul. Indian discontent with the treaties that made them relinquish their lands in Minnesota to white settlers who threatened their traditional way of life and frustration with a corrupt and slow annuity system were among the causes of the Dakota War of the late summer. Several settlements in the Minnesota Valley were attacked. After 392 Indians were tried by a military commission and many of those convicted were pardoned by President Abraham Lincoln, 38 Indians were hanged at Mankato on December 26.

1863

At the battle of Gettysburg on July 2, the 1st Minnesota Regiment made its famous charge and 215 of the 262 men were killed or wounded.

1865

At the close of the Civil War, Minnesota troops in the Civil and Indian wars totaled 21,982. The population of Minnesota was 250,099.

1867

The legislature created the state board of immigration to encourage immigration to Minnesota.

1869

William W. Folwell became the first president of the University of Minnesota, some 18 years after the institution had received its charter from the territorial legislature.

1870

Technological advances in flour milling during the 1870s helped make Minneapolis the flour milling capital of the world. From 1881-1930, Minneapolis was the nation's leading center of flour production.

1881

The first state capitol burned and a second was built within two years on the same spot.

1883

The Northern Pacific Railroad completed its transcontinental route from Minnesota to the Pacific.

1884

The first iron ore was shipped from Minnesota, a product of the Soudan Mine on the Vermillion Range. Six years later iron was discovered on the Mesabi Range and shipped from there beginning in 1892.

1889

St. Mary's Hospital opened in Rochester, marking the birth of the Mayo Clinic.

1891

Itasca State Park, Minnesota's first state park, was established.

1894

On September 1, killer forest fires started, destroying over 400 square miles near Hinckley and Sandstone. More than 418 people died.

1896

Three-fourths of the Red Lake Indian Reservation was opened for white settlement.

1898

The cornerstone of the new capitol was laid July 27. Minnesota supplied four regiments to serve in the Spanish-American War — the first state to respond to the president's call for volunteers.

TWENTIETH CENTURY1900

During the late 19th and early 20th centuries, the tide of immigration into the U.S. and Minnesota swelled. Germany, Sweden, and Norway contributed most to the state's population increase with smaller migrations from other European countries, the Middle East, and China.

1905

Following twelve years of planning and construction, Minnesota's third and present state capitol was occupied. Lumber production from Minnesota sawmills peaked.

1909

President Theodore Roosevelt issued a proclamation establishing the Superior National Forest.

1913

The legislature passed the state's first workers' compensation bill.

1918

During World War I, Minnesota contributed 123,325 troops.

1919

Prohibition began. A Minnesota congressman, Andrew J. Volstead, authored the enforcement legislation (repealed in 1933). The Minnesota legislature ratified the woman suffrage amendment to the U.S. constitution on September 8.

1920

The state trunk highway system was created by passage of the Babcock Good Roads Amendment, named after the state highway commissioner.

1927

On May 20-21, Charles A. Lindbergh made his trans-Atlantic flight from New York to Paris.

1930

Minnesotan Frank B. Kellogg, serving as U.S. secretary of state, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for his work on the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact signed in Paris in 1928. Floyd B. Olson was elected the first Farmer-Labor governor of Minnesota. The state had a population of 2,563,953.

1931

Sinclair Lewis from Sauk Centre won the Nobel Prize for literature.

1972

The DFL gained control of the legislature — the first time since 1859 that the Democrats had a majority in both houses. The 1973 legislature repealed a 60 year old law providing for the nonpartisan election of legislators and restored party designation.

1978

An era in Minnesota politics ended with the death of Hubert Humphrey. Independent-Republicans captured both U.S. senate seats and the governorship.

1980

The state population was 4,077,148. The state's greatest influx of immigrants since displaced persons arrived after the end of World War II came in the late 1970s and early 1980s. 26,000 southeast Asians settled in Minnesota.

INTO THE PRESENT

Urban redevelopment was in high gear in both St. Paul and Minneapolis with more attention paid to existing structures than during the post-World War II urban renewal projects. Doctors at the University of Minnesota performed numerous organ transplants, some of them involving very young children.

Revenue shortfalls caused a series of budget reductions extending over several legislative sessions from August 1980 through December 1982. Iron Range residents and farmers were among the hardest hit by a nationwide recession, but individuals all over the state suffered despite the availability of food shelves and churches where the homeless could sleep.

In 1982 Minnesotans rejected the candidates endorsed for governor by both major political parties. Rudy Perpich became the first governor in state history to serve two non-consecutive terms, and Marlene Johnson became Minnesota's first female lieutenant governor. He broke with precedent by taking the oath of office in Hibbing instead of St. Paul. The voters approved a constitutional amendment allowing the legislature to provide for parimutuel betting on horse racing.

In 1984, Walter Mondale won the Democratic presidential nomination, but was defeated by Ronald Reagan.

FUNDAMENTAL CHARTERS AND LAWS

Introduction: This section of the Legislative Manual includes six fundamental charters and laws which affect the state of Minnesota. Maps illustrating the several boundaries and hegemony of four sovereign nations over the land area now known as Minnesota are reprinted from Minnesota Under Four Flags by Mary W. Berthel, published by the Minnesota Historical Society.

Minnesota Under Four Nations

The land area of Minnesota has at various times been under the governments of four nations — France, Spain, England and the United States. The early territorial claims of France, Spain and England were vague and overlapping. Formal government was nonexistent.

Formal dominion over this area was probably first expressed by the French when in 1671 the Sieur de Lusson, in a picturesque ceremony held at the Sault de Ste. Marie, claimed for France the vast northwest area of North America.

However, British dominion over northeastern Minnesota appears to have provided the first written constitution nominally in effect in the land area of Minnesota. This occurred when Minnesota was made a part of the province of Quebec under the Quebec Act of 1774. But England's claim to this area was not exclusive inasmuch as Virginia maintained a claim to the same area under its colonial charter of 1609.

Of Minnesota's land area the portion east of the Mississippi River was the first to come under the jurisdiction of the United States. This was established by the treaty of peace between England and the United States in 1783. Four years later, under the Ordinance of 1787, the first genuine government was extended to this area, and the Minnesota country began its march to statehood.

The Northwest Ordinance of 1787

One of the great charters in Minnesota history is the Northwest Ordinance passed by the Congress of the Confederation on July 13, 1787. The Ordinance of 1787 was made possible when several states, including Massachusetts, New York, Virginia and Connecticut released their claims to the land area west of the Appalachian Mountains extending to the Mississippi River. This area became known as the Northwest Territory.

The Ordinance of 1787 followed the fundamentals of Thomas Jefferson's Ordinance of 1784 and established a government over the Northwest Territory and gave impetus to the westward expansion of this nation. It was an outstanding governmental document. It gave first national recognition to the Bill of Rights, abolished primogeniture, provided for the encouragement of education, prohibited slavery, and established the great new principle that new states should be admitted to the federal government on equal footing with the original states.

The full effect of the Northwest Ordinance upon Minnesota law has yet to be determined. For example, the question of whether common law in Minnesota dates from the revolution or from the Ordinance of 1787 has been left open by decisions of the Minnesota courts.

The ordinance provided for the formation out of the Northwest Territory of not less than three nor more than five states. The states were to be admitted to the federal government on an equal footing with the original states.

By May of 1848 five states had been formed out of the Northwest Territory — Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

The state of Wisconsin was organized out of the territory of Wisconsin, the last remnant of the Northwest Territory. Although in 1848 the territory of Wisconsin extended to the Mississippi River, the state of Wisconsin voluntarily limited its western boundary to the St. Croix River. This boundary limitation by the state of Wisconsin left the land area between the St. Croix and the Mississippi available for eventual inclusion in the state of Minnesota.

Thus it is that the state of Minnesota can trace much of its fundamental governmental principles, and a substantial portion of its territory, back to the Northwest Ordinance of 1787.

The Organic Act of 1849

The organic act was passed by Congress on March 3, 1849, to provide for the territorial government of Minnesota. The boundaries of the territory of Minnesota were Canada on the north, Wisconsin on the east, Iowa on the south and the Missouri and White Earth Rivers on the west.

The movement to create a Minnesota territorial government arose out of the necessity for formal government in the remnants of land area which remained after the formation of the states of Wisconsin and Iowa.

Minnesota's land area west of the Mississippi was left without territorial government when the state of Iowa was formed out of the territory of Iowa in 1846.

The triangular area between the St. Croix River and the Mississippi River was left without territorial government when the state of Wisconsin was admitted to the Union in 1848.

Thus, by 1848 the land area from the St. Croix River west to the Missouri and White Earth Rivers was without territorial government — a veritable "no man's land."

Consequently, when Henry H. Sibley was elected delegate to Congress from this area, he worked together with Senator Stephen A. Douglas, chairman of the senate committee on territories, to bring about the passage of the organic act for the establishment of a territorial government over this area — the territory of Minnesota.

The organic act provided for a governor, secretary, judicial system, legislative assembly and a delegate to Congress. Legislators and the delegate to congress were elected all other officers were appointive.

The legislative assembly consisted of two houses, a council composed of nine members and a house of representatives with eighteen members. The first session of the legislature convened on September 3, 1849, in the Central House at the corner of Bench and Minnesota Streets in St. Paul. Since that time St. Paul has been the capital of Minnesota. However, in 1857 a bill was introduced in the territorial legislative assembly to have the capital removed from St. Paul to St. Peter. This action was promoted by the east and west boundary group which contended that the boundary to be established for the state of Minnesota should extend from Wisconsin west to the Missouri River, with the north line of the state being just north of St. Paul. Although this bill passed both houses of the legislative assembly, it was stolen before it could be presented to the territorial governor for his signature. Thus, the bill failed to pass because of assembly member Joseph Rolette, who disappeared with the bill and held it until the close of the legislative session.

An important provision of the organic act was the reservation of sections 16 and 36 of each township for school purposes.

Alexander Ramsey, a Whig, was the first territorial governor. He was followed by Willis A. Gorman and Samuel Medary, Democrats.

Minnesota progressed under the territorial government, but many groups felt that progress would be accelerated if Minnesota were a state. Within a short time there arose a strong desire for statehood.

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT OF MINNESOTA.

[Passed March 3, 1849]

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That from and after the passage of this act all that part of the territory of the United States which lies within the following limits, to-wit: Beginning in the Mississippi river at the point where the line of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes of north latitude crosses the same, thence running due west on said line which is the northern boundary of the state of Iowa to the northwest corner of the said state of Iowa, thence southerly along the western boundary of said state to the point where said boundary strikes the Missouri river, thence up the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river to the mouth of White Earth river, thence up the middle of the main channel of the White Earth river to the boundary line between the possessions of the United States and Great Britain, thence east and south of east along the boundary line between the possessions of the United States and Great Britain to Lake Superior, thence in a straight line to the northernmost point of the state of Wisconsin in Lake Superior, thence along the western boundary line of said state of Wisconsin to the Mississippi river, thence down the main channel of said river to the place of beginning, be and the same is hereby erected into a temporary government by the name of the Territory of Minnesota, provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing said Territory into two or more territories, in such manner and at such times as Congress shall deem convenient and proper or from attaching any portion of said Territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

Sec. 2 And be it further enacted. That the executive power and authority in and over said Territory of Minnesota shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. The Enabling Act

Henry M. Rice, delegate to Congress from the territory of Minnesota, at the opening of Congress in December, 1856, introduced a bill for an act to authorize a state government for Minnesota. The Rice bill proposed that the north, south and east boundaries of Minnesota be continued, and that the west boundary be established as a line beginning at a point in the center of the main channel of the Red River of the North at the Canadian border and running south through Lake Traverse, through Big Stone Lake, to the Big Sioux River and to the northwest corner of Iowa. In place of the Big Sioux River Congress substituted a line from the outlet of Big Stone Lake due south to the Iowa border.

Considerable controversy had arisen in the territory over proposed boundaries for the state of Minnesota. There were two general groups, the east and west group and the north and south group. The east and west group proposed the Missouri River as the west boundary, and a point just north of St. Paul as the north boundary. The Rice bill followed the proposal of the north and south group.

The bill for an enabling act was not without opposition in Congress. However, Minnesota again found a friend in Senator Stephen A. Douglas who was still chairman of the senate committee on territories. The enabling act passed Congress and was approved on February 27, 1857.

In addition to establishing boundaries for the state of Minnesota, the enabling act provided for a constitutional convention and an election of delegates to that convention. It further provided that the following proposals be submitted for the consideration of the constitutional convention: that 72 sections of land be reserved and set aside for a state university; that ten sections be granted to the state to complete and erect public buildings at the capitol; that all salt springs, not exceeding 12, be granted to the state for its use; and that five per centum of net proceeds from the sale by Congress of public lands lying within the state of Minnesota be paid to the state for public road purposes.

The enabling act also authorized the state of Minnesota to have one representative in Congress and such additional representatives as the population of the state would entitle it to at the current ratio of representation. For the purpose of determining the population the act authorized a census to be taken by the United States marshal for the territory of Minnesota. The census was completed in October of 1857. population 150,037.

The Minnesota Constitution

The state of Minnesota is unique among constitutional governments in that it doesn't have a constitution — it has two. The circumstances which gave rise to this historical anomaly depict the strong feeling for independent political thinking which has pervaded Minnesota politics since statehood. However, any thought of illegality because of two constitutions should be promptly dismissed, for the two instruments are substantially identical, and all challenges on this issue have been quickly overturned.

The Constitutional Convention

In accordance with the enabling act of February 26, 1857, an election was held on June 1, 1857, at which Republican and Democratic delegates were elected to the constitutional convention. When these delegates assembled in St. Paul on July 13, 1857, to draft the Minnesota constitution, bitterness between the two parties was so intense that Republican delegates and Democratic delegates refused to meet in the same convention. As a result each party held separate sessions in different rooms of the first capitol building.

The Democratic convention was presided over by Henry H. Sibley, later elected first governor of Minnesota. The Republican convention was presided over first by John W. North, and later by St. Andrew D. Balcombe.

The political cleavage was so great that the two bodies never acted in joint meeting during the entire constitutional convention — July 13 to Aug. 29. The final work of writing the constitution was done through a conference committee composed of five conferees from each of the conventions. The conferees, by reporting to and receiving advice from their respective conventions, were able to draft a constitution that would be acceptable to both bodies. On August 28, 1857, in spite of numerous protests by delegates, the report of the conference committee was adopted without amendment by both the Republican and Democratic conventions.

However, when it came time to sign the constitution, the bitter feeling was still so intense that Democrats would not sign an instrument which bore Republican signatures, and the Republicans likewise objected to signing an instrument which bore the signatures of Democrats. The solution to this impasse is a credit to Minnesota political ingenuity — two constitutions. One constitution was written on white paper and signed only by Republicans. The other constitution was written on blue-tinted paper and signed only by Democrats. Thus, on the twenty-ninth day of August, after seven weeks of political dispute and disagreement, the two conventions adjourned when as many members as could bring themselves to do so signed the copy of the constitution enrolled for their particular convention.

Both copies of the constitution are now in the custody of the Minnesota Archives Commission where they are being preserved as evidence of our fundamental law, and as testimony to a unique and exciting political history.

Election to Accept the Constitution

The schedule to the constitution provided for an election to be held on October 13, 1857. At this election the voters were to accept or reject the constitution. The ballots used for this purpose were printed to provide only for affirmative votes. A voter who wished to reject the constitution had to alter his ballot and write in a negative vote. The result — 30,055 for acceptance and 571 for rejection.

Approval by Congress

The procedure for acquiring statehood not only requires a constitution to be approved by the voters of the proposed state, the constitution must also be approved by Congress. In December of 1857 the Minnesota constitution was submitted to the United States senate for ratification.

A certified copy of the Democratic constitution was transmitted to the senate by the territorial secretary — a Democrat. This copy was attached to the bill for the admission of Minnesota into the union. However, when the bill was reported back from the senate, historians report that the Republican constitution was attached. In any event, there is substantial authority that both constitutions were before Congress when Minnesota was admitted to the union on May 11, 1858.

But, in reality the constitution ratified by Congress was not the original constitution. At the election of October 13, 1857, in addition to voting on the constitution, the voters elected executive, legislative and judicial officers. The state officers were content to wait for the act of Congress before assuming office. But the legislature took a contrary view. It convened on December 3, 1857, on the theory that under the enabling act the statehood of Minnesota began when the voters approved the constitution. Even though this theory was incorrect, the legislature proceeded to enact laws, the effects of which have remained undisturbed by the courts. The first two acts passed by the legislature were proposed amendments to the constitution. One amendment authorized a loan to railroads of $5,000,000, and the other related to the term of office of the first state officers. These amendments were ratified by the voters at a special election held April 15, 1858. Thus, it would appear that the constitution which Congress approved on May 11, 1858, was an amended constitution — not the original adopted by the constitutional convention and approved by the voters in 1857.

The Minnesota Constitution • 1974

The legislature in 1971 established a constitutional study commission to review the constitution and make recommendations to maintain its utility. After two years study, the commission recommended that an amendment restructuring the constitution for easy reference and rewriting it in modern language be prepared.

The amendment was introduced and passed in both houses, signed by the governor, and approved by the voters on November 5, 1974. The previous wording of the constitution is printed, with all the amendments approved by voters since its adoption in 1857, in the Minnesota Legislative Manual, 1973-1974, pages 445-484. The amendment approved in 1974 did not alter the meaning of the constitution. In cases of constitutional law, the original document remains the final authority.

CHAPTER 1 MINNESOTA: THE NORTH STAR STATE

Sec. 3 Liberty of the press. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right.

Sec. 4 Trial by jury. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy. A jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature may provide that the agreement of five-sixths of a jury in a civil action or proceeding, after not less than six hours' deliberation, is a sufficient verdict.

Sec. 5 No excessive bail or unusual punishments. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted.

Sec. 6 Rights of accused in criminal prosecutions. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law. The accused shall enjoy the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense.

Sec. 7 Due process; prosecutions; double jeopardy; self-incrimination; bail; habeas corpus. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment for the same offense, nor be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless the public safety requires it in case of rebellion or invasion.

Sec. 8 Redress of injuries or wrongs. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive to his person, property or character, and to obtain justice freely and without purchase, completely and without denial, promptly and without delay conformable to the laws.

Sec. 9 Treason defined. Treason against the state consists only in levying war against the state, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 10 Unreasonable searches and seizures prohibited. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized.

Sec. 11 Attainers, ex post facto laws and laws impairing contracts prohibited. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Sec. 12 Imprisonment for debt; property exemption. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in this state, but this shall not prevent the legislature from providing for imprisonment, or holding to bail, persons charged with fraud in contracting said debt. A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law. Provided, however, that all property so exempted shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair or improvement of the same, and provided further, that such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed.

Sec. 16 Freedom of conscience; no preference to be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship. The enumeration of rights in this constitution shall not deny or impair others retained by and inherent in the people. The right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience shall never be infringed, nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any religious or ecclesiastical ministry, against his consent, nor shall any control of or interference with the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference be given by law to any religious establishment or mode of worship; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of the state, nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious societies or religious or theological seminaries.

Sec. 17 Religious tests and property qualifications prohibited. No religious test or amount of property shall be required as a qualification for any office of public trust in the state. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series.

Sec. 21. Passage of bills on last day of session prohibited. No bill shall be passed by either house upon the day prescribed for adjournment. This section shall not preclude the enrollment of a bill or its transmittal from one house to the other or to the executive for his signature.

If approved by two-thirds of that house, it becomes a law and shall be deposited in the office of the secretary of state. In such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered in the journal of each house. Any bill not returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it is presented to him becomes a law as if he had signed it, unless the legislature by adjournment within that time prevents its return. Any bill passed during the last three days of a session may be presented to the governor during the three days following the day of final adjournment and becomes law if the governor signs and deposits it in the office of the secretary of state within 14 days after the adjournment of the legislature. ARTICLE IX AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION

Section 1. Amendments; ratification. A majority of the members elected to each house of the legislature may propose amendments to this constitution. Proposed amendments shall be published with the laws passed at the same session and submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at a general election. If a majority of all the electors voting at the election vote to ratify an amendment, it becomes a part of this constitution. If two or more amendments are submitted at the same time, voters shall vote for or against each separately.

CHAPTER 1 MINNESOTA: THE NORTH STAR STATE

Sec. 2. Constitutional convention. Two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature may submit to the electors at the next general election the question of calling a convention to revise this constitution. If a majority of all the electors voting at the election vote for a convention the legislature at its next session, shall provide by law for calling the convention. The convention shall consist of as many delegates as there are members of the house of representatives. Delegates shall be chosen in the same manner as members of the house of representatives and shall meet within three months after their election. Section 5 of Article IV of the constitution does not apply to election to the convention.

Sec. 3. Submission to people of constitution drafted at convention. If three-fifths of all the electors voting on the question vote to ratify the revision, it becomes a new constitution of the state of Minnesota.

ARTICLE X TAXATION

Section 1. Power of taxation; exemptions; legislative powers. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation except as provided in this section. There may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200 for each household, individual or head of a family, and household goods and farm machinery as the legislature determines. The legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to cash valuation. The legislature by law may define or limit the property exempt under this section other than churches, houses of worship, and property solely used for educational purposes by academies, colleges, universities and seminaries of learning.

Sec. 2. Forestation. To encourage and promote forestation and reforestation of lands whether owned by private persons or the public, laws may be enacted fixing in advance a definite and limited annual tax on the lands for a term of years and imposing a yield tax on the timber and other forest products at or after the end of the term.

Sec. 3. Occupation tax; ores. Every person engaged in the business of mining or producing iron ore or other ores in this state shall pay to the state an occupation tax on the valuation of all ores mined or produced, which tax shall be in addition to all other taxes provided by law. The tax is due on the first day of May in the calendar year next following the mining or producing. The valuation of ore for the purpose of determining the amount of tax shall be ascertained as provided by law. Funds derived from the tax shall be used as follows: 50 percent to the state general revenue fund, 40 percent for the support of elementary and secondary schools and ten percent for the general support of the university.

Sec. 4. Motor fuel taxation. The state may levy an excise tax upon any means or substance for propelling aircraft or for propelling or operating motor or other vehicles or other equipment used for airport purposes and not used on the public highways of this state.

Sec. 5. Aircraft. The legislature may tax aircraft using the air space overlying the state on a more onerous basis than other personal property. Any such tax on aircraft shall be in lieu of all other taxes. The legislature may impose the tax on aircraft of companies paying taxes under any gross earnings system of taxation notwithstanding that earnings from the aircraft are included in the earnings on which gross earnings taxes are computed. The law may exempt from taxation aircraft owned by a nonresident of the state temporarily using the air space overlying the state.

Sec. 6. Taconite taxation. Laws of Minnesota 1963, Chapter 81, relating to the taxation of taconite and semi-taconite, and facilities for the mining, production and beneficiation thereof shall not be repealed, modified or amended, nor shall any laws in conflict therewith be valid until November 4, 1989. Laws may be enacted fixing or limiting for a period not extending beyond the year 1990, the tax to be imposed on persons engaged in (1) the mining, production or beneficiation of copper, (2) the mining, production or beneficiation of copper-nickel, or (3) the mining, production or beneficiation of nickel. Taxes imposed on the mining or quarrying of taconite or semi-taconite and on the production of iron ore concentrates therefrom, which are in lieu of a tax on real or personal property, shall not be considered to be occupation, royalty, or excise taxes within the meaning of this amendment.

Sec. 7. [Repealed, November 5, 1974]

Sec. 8. Parimutuel betting. The legislature may authorize on-track parimutuel betting on horse racing in a manner prescribed by law. [Adopted, November 2, 1982]

ARTICLE XI APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCES

Section 1. Money paid from state treasury. No money shall be paid out of the treasury of this state except in pursuance of an appropriation by law.

Sec. 2. Credit of the state limited. The credit of the state shall not be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation except as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 3. Internal improvements prohibited; exceptions. The state shall not be a party in carrying on works of internal improvements except as authorized by this constitution. If grants have been made to the state especially dedicated to specific purposes, the state shall devote the proceeds of the grants to those purposes and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from the works in aid of their completion.

Sec. 4. Power to contract public debt; public debt defined. The state may contract public debts for which its full faith, credit and taxing powers may be pledged at the times and in the manner authorized by law, not only for the purposes and subject to the conditions stated in section 5. Public debt includes any obligation payable directly in whole or in part from a tax of state wide application on any class of property, income, transaction or privilege, but does not include any obligation which is payable from revenues other than taxes.

Sec. 5. Public debt and works of internal improvement; purposes. Public debt may be contracted and works of internal improvements carried on for the following purposes:

- (a) to acquire and to better public land and buildings and other public improvements of a capital nature and to provide money to be appropriated or loaned to any agency or political subdivision of the state for such purposes if the law authorizing the debt is adopted by the vote of at least three-fifths of the members of each house of the legislature.
- (b) to repel invasion or suppress insurrection.
- (c) to borrow temporarily as authorized in section 6.
- (d) to refund outstanding bonds of the state or any of its agencies whether or not the full faith and credit of the state has been pledged for the payment of the bonds.
- (e) to establish and maintain highways subject to the limitations of article XIV.
- (f) to promote forestation and prevent and abate forest fires, including the compulsory clearing and improving of wild lands whether public or private.
- (g) to construct, improve and operate airports and other air navigation facilities.
- (h) to develop the state's agricultural resources by extending credit on real estate security in the manner and on the terms and conditions prescribed by law, and
- (i) to improve and rehabilitate railroad rights-of-way and other rail facilities whether public or private, provided that bonds issued and unpaid shall not at any time exceed $200,000,000 par value, and
- (j) as otherwise authorized in this constitution.

As authorized by law political subdivisions may engage in the works permitted by (f) and (g) and contract debt therefor.

Sec. 6. Certificates of indebtedness. As authorized by law certificates of indebtedness may be issued during a biennium, commencing on July 1 in each odd-numbered year and ending on and including June 30 in the next odd-numbered year, in anticipation of the collection of taxes levied for and other revenues appropriated to any fund of the state for expenditure during that biennium.

No certificates shall be issued in an amount which with interest thereon to maturity, added to the then outstanding certificates against a fund and interest thereon to maturity, will exceed the then unexpended balance of all money which will be credited to that fund during the biennium under existing laws. The maturities of certificates may be extended by refunding to a date not later than December 1 of the first full calendar year following the biennium in which the certificates were issued. If money on hand in any fund is not sufficient to pay all non-refunding certificates of indebtedness issued on a fund during any biennium and all certificates refunding the same, plus interest thereon, which are outstanding on December 1 immediately following the close of the biennium, the state auditor shall levy upon all taxable property in the state a tax collectible in the ensuing year sufficient to pay the same on or before December 1 of the ensuing year with interest to the date or dates of payment.

Sec. 7. Bonds. Public debt other than certificates of indebtedness authorized in section 6 shall be evidenced by the issuance of bonds of the state. All bonds issued under the provisions of this section shall mature not more than 20 years from their respective dates of issue and each law authorizing the issuance of bonds shall distinctly specify the purposes thereof and the maximum amount of the proceeds authorized to be expended for each purpose. The state treasurer shall maintain a separate and special state bond fund on his official books and records. When the full faith and credit of the state has been pledged for the payment of bonds, the state auditor shall levy each year on all taxable property within the state a tax sufficient with the balance then on hand in the fund to pay all principal and interest on bonds issued under this section due and to become due within the ensuing year and to and including July 1 in the second ensuing year. The legislature by law may appropriate funds from any source to the state bond fund. The amount of money actually received and on hand pursuant to appropriations prior to the levy of the tax in any year shall be used to reduce the amount of tax otherwise required to be levied.

Sec. 8. Permanent school fund; source; investment; board of investment. The permanent school fund of the state consists of (a) the proceeds of lands granted by the United States for the use of schools within each township, (b) the proceeds derived from swamp lands granted to the state, (c) all cash and investments credited to the permanent school fund and to the swamp land fund, and (d) all cash and investments credited to the internal improvement land fund and the lands therein. No portion of these lands shall be sold otherwise than at public sale, and in the manner provided by law. All funds arising from the sale or other disposition of the lands, or income accruing in any way before the sale or disposition thereof, shall be credited to the permanent school fund.

Within limitations prescribed by law, the fund shall be invested to secure the maximum return consistent with the maintenance of the perpetuity of the fund. The principal of the permanent school fund shall be perpetual and inviolate forever. This does not prevent the sale of investments at less than the cost to the fund; however, all losses not offset by gains shall be repaid to the fund from the interest and dividends earned thereafter. The net interest and dividends arising from the fund shall be distributed to the different school districts of the state in a manner prescribed by law.

A board of investment consisting of the governor, the state auditor, the state treasurer, the secretary of state, and the attorney general is hereby constituted for the purpose of administering and directing the investment of all state funds. The board shall not permit state funds to be used for the underwriting or direct purchase of municipal securities from the issuer or the issuer's agent.

Sec. 9. Investment of permanent university fund; restrictions. The permanent university fund of this state may be loaned to or invested in the bonds of any county, school district, city or town of this state and in first mortgage loans secured upon improved and cultivated farm lands of this state, but no such investment or loan shall be made until approved by the board of investment, nor shall a loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed 15 percent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the county, school district, city or town issuing the bonds; nor shall any farm loan or investment be made when the investment or loan would exceed 30 percent of the actual cash value of the farm land mortgaged to secure the investment; nor shall investments or loans be made at a lower rate of interest than two percent per annum nor for a shorter period than one year nor for a longer period than 30 years.

Sec. 10. Exchange of public lands; reservation of rights. As the legislature may provide, any of the public lands of the state, including lands held in trust for any purpose, may be exchanged for any publicly or privately held lands with the unanimous approval of the governor, the attorney general and the state auditor. Lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust, if any, to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject. The state shall reserve all mineral and water power rights in lands transferred by the state.

Sec. 11. Timber lands set apart as state forests; disposition of revenue. School and other public lands of the state better adapted for the production of timber than for agriculture may be set apart as state school forests, or other state forests as the legislature may provide. The legislature may also provide for their management on forestry principles. The net revenue therefrom shall be used for the purposes for which the lands were granted to the state.

Sec. 12. County, township or municipal aid to railroads limited. The legislature shall not authorize any county, township or municipal corporation to become indebted to aid in the construction or equipment of railroads to any amount that exceeds five percent of the value of the taxable property within that county, township or municipal corporation. The amount of taxable property shall be determined by the last assessment previous to the incurring of the indebtedness.

Sec. 13. Safekeeping state funds; security; deposit of funds; embezzlement. All officers and other persons charged with the safekeeping of state funds shall be required to give ample security for funds received by them and to keep an accurate entry of each sum received and of each payment and transfer. If any person converts to his own use in any manner or form, or shall loan, with or without interest, or shall deposit in his own name, or otherwise than in the name of the state of Minnesota, or shall deposit in banks or with any person or persons or exchange for other funds or property, any portion of the funds of the state or the school funds aforesaid, except in the manner prescribed by law, every such act shall be and constitute an embezzlement of so much of the aforesaid state and school funds, or either of the same, as shall thus be taken, or loaned, or deposited or exchanged, and shall be a felony. Any failure to pay over, produce or account for the state school funds, or any part of the same entrusted to such officer or persons as by law required on demand, shall be held and be taken to be prima facie evidence of such embezzlement.

ARTICLE XII
SPECIAL LEGISLATION; LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Section 1. Prohibition of special legislation; particular subjects. In all cases when a general law can be made applicable, a special law shall not be enacted except as provided in section 2. Whether a general law could have been made applicable in any case shall be judicially determined without regard to any legislative assertion on that subject. The legislature shall pass no local or special law authorizing the laying out, opening, altering, vacating or maintaining of roads, highways, streets or alleys, remitting fines, penalties or forfeitures, changing the names of persons, places, lakes or rivers, authorizing the adoption or legitimation of children, changing the law of descent or succession, conferring rights on minors, declaring any named person of age, giving effect to informal or invalid wills or deeds, or affecting the estates of minors or persons under disability, granting divorces, excepting property from taxation or regulating the rate of interest on money, creating private corporations, or amending, renewing, or extending the charters thereof, granting to any private corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever or authorizing public taxation for a private purpose. The inhibitions of local or special laws in this section shall not prevent the passage of general laws on any of the subjects enumerated.

Sec. 2. Special laws; local government. Every law which upon its effective date applies to a single local government unit or to a group of such units in a single county or a number of contiguous counties is a special law and shall name the unit or, in the latter case, the counties to which it applies. The legislature may enact special laws relating to local government units, but a special law, unless otherwise provided by general law, shall become effective only after its approval by the affected unit expressed through the voters or the governing body and by such majority as the legislature may direct. Any special law may be modified or superseded by a later home rule charter or amendment applicable to the same local government unit, but this does not prevent the adoption of subsequent laws on the same subject. The legislature may repeal any existing special or local law, but shall not amend, extend or modify any of the same except as provided in this section.

Sec. 3. Local government; legislation affecting. The legislature may provide by law for the creation, organization, administration, consolidation, division and dissolution of local government units and their functions, for the change of boundaries thereof, for their elective and appointive officers including qualifications for office and for the transfer of county seats. A county boundary may not be changed or county seat transferred until approved in each county affected by a majority of the voters voting on the question.

Sec. 4. Home rule charter. Any local government unit when authorized by law may adopt a home rule charter for its government. A charter shall become effective if approved by such majority of the voters of the local government unit as the legislature prescribes by general law. If a charter provides for the consolidation or separation of a city and a county, in whole or in part, it shall not be effective without approval of the voters both in the city and in the remainder of the county by the majority required by law.

Sec. 5. Charter commissions. The legislature shall provide by law for charter commissions. Notwithstanding any other constitutional limitations the legislature may require that commission members be freeholders, provide for their appointment by judges of the district court, and permit any member to hold any other elective or appointive office other than judicial. Home rule charter amendments may be proposed by a charter commission or by a petition of five percent of the voters of the local government unit as determined by law and shall not become effective until approved by the voters by the majority required by law. Amendments may be proposed and adopted in any other manner provided by law. A local government unit may repeal its home rule charter and adopt a statutory form of government or a new charter upon the same majority vote as is required by law for the adoption of a charter in the first instance.

ARTICLE XIII
MISCELLANEOUS SUBJECTS

Section 1. Uniform system of public schools. The stability of a republican form of government depending mainly upon the intelligence of the people, it is the duty of the legislature to establish a general and uniform system of public schools. The legislature shall make such provisions by taxation or otherwise as will secure a thorough and efficient system of public schools throughout the state.

Sec. 2. Prohibition as to aiding sectarian school. In no case shall any public money or property be appropriated or used for the support of schools wherein the distinctive doctrines, creeds or tenets of any particular Christian or other religious sect are promulgated or taught.

Sec. 3. University of Minnesota. All the rights, immunities, franchises and endowments heretofore granted or conferred upon the university of Minnesota are perpetuated unto the university.

Sec. 4. Lands taken for public way or use; compensation; common carriers. Land may be taken for public way and for the purpose of granting to any corporation the franchise of way for public use. In all cases, however, a fair and equitable compensation shall be paid for land and for the Sec. 5. Prohibition of lotteries. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery or the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 6. Prohibition of combinations to affect markets. Any combination of persons either as individuals or as members or officers of any corporation to monopolize markets for food products in this state or to interfere with or restrict the freedom of markets is a criminal conspiracy and shall be punished as the legislature may provide.

Sec. 7. No license required to peddle. Any person may sell or peddle the products of the farm or garden occupied and cultivated by him without obtaining a license therefor.

Sec. 8. Veterans' bonus. The state may pay an adjusted compensation to persons who served in the armed forces of the United States during the period of the Vietnam conflict. Whenever authorized and in the amounts and on the terms fixed by law, the state may expend monies and pledge the public credit to provide money for the purposes of this section. The duration of the Vietnam conflict may be defined by law.

Sec. 9. Militia organization. The legislature shall pass laws necessary for the organization, discipline and service of the militia of the state.

Sec. 10. Seat of government. The seat of government of the state is in the city of St. Paul. The legislature may provide by law for a change of the seat of government by a vote of the people or may locate the same upon the land granted by Congress for a seat of government. If the seat of government is changed, the capitol building and grounds shall be dedicated to an institution for the promotion of science, literature and the arts to be organized by the legislature of the state. The Minnesota Historical Society shall always be a department of this institution.

Sec. 11. State seal. A seal of the state shall be kept by the secretary of state and be used by him officially. It shall be called the great seal of the state of Minnesota.

ARTICLE XIV PUBLIC HIGHWAY SYSTEM

Section 1. Authority of state; participation of political subdivisions. The state may construct, improve and maintain public highways, may assist political subdivisions in this work and by law may authorize any political subdivision to aid in highway work within its boundaries.

Sec. 2. Trunk highway system. There is hereby created a trunk highway system which shall be constructed, improved and maintained as public highways by the state. The highways shall extend as nearly as possible along the routes number 1 through 70 described in the constitutional amendment adopted November 2, 1920, and the routes described in any act of the legislature which has made or hereafter makes a route a part of the trunk highway system.

The legislature may add by law new routes to the trunk highway system. The trunk highway system may not exceed 12,200 miles in extent, except the legislature may add trunk highways in excess of the mileage limitation as necessary or expedient to take advantage of any federal aid made available by the United States to the state of Minnesota.

Any route added by the legislature to the trunk highway system may be relocated or removed from the system as provided by law. The definite location of trunk highways numbered 1 through 70 may be relocated as provided by law but no relocation shall cause a deviation from the starting points or terminals nor cause any deviation from the various villages and cities through which the routes are to pass under the constitutional amendment adopted November 2, 1920. The location of routes may be determined by boards, officers or tribunals in the manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 3. County state-aid highway system. A county state-aid highway system shall be constructed, improved and maintained by the counties as public highways in the manner provided by law. The system shall include streets in municipalities of less than 5,000 population where necessary to provide an integrated and coordinated highway system and may include similar streets in larger municipalities.

Sec. 4. Municipal state-aid street system. A municipal state-aid street system shall be constructed, improved and maintained as public highways by municipalities having a population of 5,000 or more in the manner provided by law.

Sec. 5. Highway user tax distribution fund. There is hereby created a highway user tax distribution fund to be used solely for highway purposes as specified in this article. The fund consists of the proceeds of any taxes authorized by sections 9 and 10 of this article. The net proceeds of the taxes shall be apportioned: 62 percent to the trunk highway fund, 29 percent to the county state-aid highway fund, nine percent to the municipal state-aid street fund. Five percent of the net proceeds of the highway user tax distribution fund may be set aside and apportioned by law to one or more of the three foregoing funds. The balance of the highway user tax distribution fund shall be transferred to the trunk highway fund, the county state-aid highway fund, and the municipal state-aid street fund in accordance with the percentages set forth in this section. No change in the apportionment of the five percent may be made within six years of the last previous change.

Sec. 6. Trunk highway fund. There is hereby created a trunk highway fund which shall be used solely for the purposes specified in section 2 of this article and the payment of principal and interest of any bonds issued under the authority of section 11 of this article and any bonds issued for trunk highway purposes prior to July 1, 1957. All payments of principal and interest on bonds issued shall be a first charge on money coming into this fund during the year in which the principal or interest is payable.

Sec. 7. County state-aid highway fund. There is hereby created a county state-aid highway fund. The county state-aid highway fund shall be apportioned among the counties as provided by law. The funds apportioned shall be used by the counties as provided by law for aid in the construction, improvement and maintenance of county state-aid highways. The legislature may authorize the counties by law to use a part of the funds apportioned to them to aid in the construction, improvement and maintenance of other county highways, township roads, municipal streets and any other public highways, including but not limited to trunk highways and municipal state-aid streets within the respective counties.

Sec. 8. Municipal state-aid street fund. There is hereby created a municipal state-aid street fund to be apportioned as provided by law among municipalities having a population of 5,000 or more. The fund shall be used by municipalities as provided by law for the construction, improvement and maintenance of municipal state-aid streets. The legislature may authorize municipalities to use a part of the fund in the construction, improvement and maintenance of other municipal streets, trunk highways, and county state-aid highways within the counties in which the municipality is located.

Sec. 9. Taxation of motor vehicles. The legislature by law may tax motor vehicles using the public streets and highways on a more onerous basis than other personal property. Any such tax on motor vehicles shall be in lieu of all other taxes thereon, except wheelage taxes imposed by political subdivisions solely for highway purposes. The legislature may impose this tax on motor vehicles of companies paying taxes under the gross earnings system of taxation notwithstanding that earnings from the vehicles may be included in the earnings on which gross earnings taxes are computed. The proceeds of the tax shall be paid into the highway user tax distribution fund. The law may exempt from taxation any motor vehicle owned by a nonresident of the state properly licensed in another state and transiently or temporarily using the streets and highways of the state.

Sec. 10. Taxation of motor fuel. The legislature may levy an excise tax on any means or substance used for propelling vehicles on the public highways of this state or on the business of selling it. The proceeds of the tax shall be paid into the highway user tax distribution fund.

Sec. 11. Highway bonds. The legislature may provide by law for the sale of bonds to carry out the provisions of section 2. The proceeds shall be paid into the trunk highway fund. Any bonds shall mature serially over a term not exceeding 20 years and shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest. If the trunk highway fund is not adequate to pay principal and interest of these bonds when due, the legislature may levy on all taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency or it may appropriate to the fund money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

CHAPTER 1 MINNESOTA: THE NORTH STAR STATE

laid the Minnesota bill for several months. Minnesota's bill also met with general opposition from congressmen from southern slave states.

On May 11, 1858, the bill for the admission of Minnesota was passed by Congress and approved by President James Buchanan. However, word of its passage did not reach St. Paul until almost two weeks later. Minnesota had no telegraph lines or railroads, so a telegram was sent to Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin, and carried up the Mississippi River to St. Paul by steamboat. On May 24, 1858, the state officers took their oaths of office and Minnesota's state government began to function.

This ended the long trek toward statehood, which had seen the area of the state of Minnesota under four nations — France, Spain, Great Britain and the United States, and under nine territories — Northwest, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Louisiana, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota.

ACT OF ADMISSION INTO THE UNION

An Act for the admission of Minnesota into the Union.
[Passed May 11, 1858.]

Whereas, An act of Congress was passed February twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An act to authorize the people of the Territory of Minnesota to form a constitution and state government preparatory to their admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original states"; and, whereas, the people of said Territory did, on the twenty-ninth day of August, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, by delegates elected for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government, which is republican in form, and was ratified and adopted by the people at an election held on the thirteenth day of October, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, for that purpose; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the State of Minnesota shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatever.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That said State shall be entitled to two representatives in Congress, until the next apportionment of representatives among the several states.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That from and after the admission of the State of Minnesota, as hereinbefore provided, all the laws of the United States which are not locally inapplicable shall have the same force and effect within that State as in other States of the Union, and the said State is hereby constituted a judicial district of the United States, within which a district court, with like powers and jurisdiction as the district court of the United States for the district of Iowa, shall be established; the judge, attorney and marshal of the United States of the said district of Minnesota shall reside within the same, and shall be entitled to the same compensation as the judge, attorney and marshal of the district of Iowa; and in all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States, upon any record from the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, the mandate of execution or order of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the district court of the United States for the district of Minnesota, or to the supreme court of the State of Minnesota, as the nature of such appeal or writ of error may require; and each of those courts shall be the successor of the supreme court of Minnesota Territory, as to all such cases, with full power to hear and determine the same, and to award mesne or final process therein.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

Preamble We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE II

Section 1 The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each, which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates; and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be appointed, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote: a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.

CHAPTER 1 MINNESOTA: THE NORTH STAR STATE

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president; and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Sec. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Sec. 3. He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Sec. 4. The president, vice president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III

Section 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Sec. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

Sec. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV

Section 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Sec. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

Sec. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States, and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in the Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress: provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution, but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Thereafter, when the President transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that no inability exists, he shall resume the powers and duties of his office unless the Vice President and a majority of either the principal officers of the executive department or of such other body as Congress may by law provide, transmit within four days to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office. Thereupon Congress shall decide the issue, assembling within forty-eight hours for that purpose if not in session. If the Congress, within twenty-one days after receipt of the latter written declaration, or, if Congress is not in session, within twenty-one days after Congress is required to assemble, determines by two-thirds vote of both Houses that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Vice President shall continue to discharge the same as Acting President; otherwise, the President shall resume the powers and duties of his office.

THE MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

Senate Office, 231 State Capitol, St. Paul 55155, (612) 296-2343.

House Information, 175 State Office Bldg., St. Paul 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Constitution provides: To be elected a state senator or representative, a person must be a qualified voter, 21 years old, a resident of Minnesota for one year, and a resident of the legislative district for six months immediately preceding the election (Article IV).

Term: senator — 4 years; representative — 2 years.

Compensation: $21,140 annually; round trips between home and state capital; per diem allowance for living expenses during session.

Membership and apportionment: The state of Minnesota is divided into sixty-seven senate districts, each of which is divided into two of the one hundred and thirty-four house districts. Each senate district is entitled to elect one senator and each house district is entitled to elect one representative.

The United States district court for the district of Minnesota ordered a reapportionment of the legislative districts on March 11, 1982. The population goal for each senate district was 60,835. The court ordered that no future elections could be conducted under any apportionment plan except that adopted by the court or a constitutional plan adopted after that date by the state of Minnesota.

Laws of Minnesota 1983, Chapter 191 adopted the court reapportionment plan with an adjustment between districts 39A and 39B and provided for metes and bounds descriptions of the legislative districts to be coded into Minnesota Statutes.

Organization: Members of the Minnesota legislature are nominated and elected with party designation. At the November 2, 1982 and November 6, 1984 general elections, Minnesota voters elected legislators affiliated with the state's two major political parties: Democratic-Farmer-Labor (DFL) and Independent-Republican (IR). The DFL caucus organized both houses of the legislature during the 1983 session, but the IR caucus gained control of the house for the 1985 session.

Presiding officers: Senate members elect the president of the senate from among their ranks. The president presides over the senate and shares with the speaker the chairmanship of the legislative coordinating commission. The speaker of the house is both a voting member of the house and the presiding officer. The speaker also presides over joint sessions of the house and senate.

Senator Jerome Hughes is president of the senate. Representative David Jennings is speaker of the house. Each house elects top staff members. The secretary of the senate, Patrick E. Flahaven, and the chief clerk of the house, Edward A. Burdick, are the highest ranking staff officers in each body.

Committees: The speaker appoints members of the house to committees and names committee chairmen. Nominated by the majority caucus, the speaker works closely with the house majority and becomes a leading spokesman for caucus policies.

In the senate, the chairman of the committee on rules and administration, normally the leader of the majority group, has similar power. The senate committee on committees names the committee members and chairmen.

The committee system is a vital component of the legislative machinery. The volume of legislation pending before a single session is too great to permit all legislators to work closely with all proposals. It is at the committee level that the public may testify for or against a bill. Committees hear testimony from proponents and opponents of legislation before they make recommendations to the full legislature. A committee may decide the fate of any legislative proposal. After study, hearing, research, and deliberation, a committee may amend, recommend passage, re-refer to another committee, or table a bill.

The number of committees in each house and the number of members serving on each committee varies from session to session as state concerns and problems dictate. In addition to the standing committees which operate during each session, some committees continue to study specific problems during the legislative interim to report findings to the next legislative session.

Convening the legislature: On the first day of a regular session both houses of the legislature convene at noon. The lieutenant governor, having already taken the oath of office, calls the senate to order. The house of representatives is called to order by the secretary of state who presides over that body as its convening authority until a speaker is elected and has taken the oath of office. After convening, the oath of office is administered to all members of each house.

Special sessions: The legislature may be called into special session at any time by the governor. Special sessions become necessary when legislative action is needed to meet emergencies or when legislative work is unfinished at the end of a regular session. The governor is the only official empowered to call a special session. The governor does not have the power to limit the length or scope of the session.

Functions and powers: The principal legal task of the legislature is to make law by which public policy is established. Legislative activity affects a wide range of state programs and resources including agriculture, conservation, crime prevention, consumer protection, contracts, education, economic development, elections, environment, finance, forestry, health, highways, human rights, insurance, labor relations, natural resources, property, pollution control, recreation, safety, taxation, transportation, utilities, unemployment compensation, veterans' affairs, workmen's compensation, and other matters that may necessitate state action.

Additional legislative functions include proposing amendments to the state constitution for approval by the electorate, electing regents of the University of Minnesota, confirming certain gubernatorial appointments (senate) and performing legislative oversight or review.

The legislature possess a judicial function. It judges the election and qualifications of its members, may punish or expel members for contempt or disorderly behavior, and may impeach or remove from office members of the executive and judicial branches.

Each legislative body has a rules committee which directs the operating procedures of the legislature. The rules the two houses adopt, their joint rules, state statutes, and the state constitution provide the guidelines under which the legislature conducts legislative business.

House members confer during a session.

Regular sessions: The Minnesota legislature convenes in regular session each odd-numbered year on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January. The 1972 flexible session amendment to Article IV of the constitution authorized the legislature to meet in regular session in both years of the biennium, for a total of 120 legislative days, providing that the legislature cannot meet after the first Monday following the third Saturday in May of any year.

The temporary adjournment between the session of the first year and the second year of the biennium is not a final adjournment, as the biennial session is considered as one continuous session. For this reason the journal pages of both houses are numbered consecutively through both years and bills are numbered consecutively in order of introduction through both years.

Three test cases were brought in district court for declaratory judgments to determine whether three bills passed on the last day of session in 1973 were valid enactments of law by the legislature. The district court ruled and the supreme court affirmed that the 1973 session and the 1974 session are technically one session separated by a temporary adjournment.

Bills which have not become law or been defeated by legislative action or vetoed by the end of the first half of the session are still available for possible action in the second half of the session. This means standing committees may hear such bills in the interim recess and make recommendations on their passage.

Passage of laws: All revenue (tax measures) must originate in the house. All other matters may originate in either the house or the senate. There is no stated time schedule; speed is often related directly to the legislative support a proposal gathers.

Committee meetings are open to the public, and anyone wishing to speak for or against proposals being considered is given a chance to be heard. The house and senate index offices in the capitol keep a file of bills by number, and anyone may visit these offices to request and receive a copy of a bill without charge.

Senators consider a section of a proposed bill.

ENACTMENT OF LEGISLATION

A bill for an act is an idea for a new law or an idea to change or abolish an existing law. Ideas follow ten steps on their way to becoming Minnesota laws:

1. The idea: Anyone can propose an idea for a bill — an individual, a consumer group, corporation, professional association, a governmental unit, the governor — but most frequently ideas come from members of the legislature.
2. The chief author: Each bill must have a legislator to introduce it in the legislature as chief author. The chief author's name appears on the bill with the bill's file number as identification while it moves through the legislative process.
3. Other authors: The chief author of a bill, under legislative rules, may select other authors, but no more than a total of five in the house and five in the senate. These authors' names also appear on the bill.
4. The revisor of statutes: The revisor puts the idea into the proper legal form as a bill for introduction into the house of representatives or the senate, usually both. The revisor also updates Minnesota Statutes after the legislative session to include all new laws.

5. Introduction: When introduced in the house a bill receives a house file number (H.F. 2312, for example); in the senate, a senate file number (S.F. 503, for example). These numbers indicate the bill's chronological order of introduction in each body.

6. Committee consideration: Next the bill has its first reading (the Minnesota constitution requires three readings for all bills — on three separate days), and the presiding officer of the house or senate refers it to an appropriate standing committee.

All committee meetings are open to the public. A committee may:

- recommend passage of a bill in its original form.
- recommend passage after amendment by the committee.
- make no recommendation, in which case a bill may die when the session ends.
- refer a bill to another committee (one requiring funds to the appropriation or finance committee, for example).

After acting on a bill, the committee sends a report to the house or senate, stating its actions and recommendations.

Representatives consider a bill.

7. General orders: After adoption of the committee report in the house and senate, the bill has its second reading and goes onto "general orders of the day". Acting as a committee of the whole legislators discuss bills on general orders. they may debate the issues, adopt amendments, present arguments on the bills, and they may vote to recommend:

- that a bill "do pass".
- that a bill not pass.
- postponement.
- further committee action.

8. The calendar: The calendar is a list of bills the committee of the whole recommends to pass. At this point a bill has its third reading. Amendments to the bill must have the unanimous consent of the entire body and legislators vote on it for the final time.

By committee recommendation, bills of a noncontroversial nature can by-pass general orders and go directly onto a "consent calendar", usually passing without debate.

Every bill requires a majority vote of the full membership of the house and senate to pass. Voice votes may be used in house and senate votes until the bill is being voted on in final passage. That final vote and vote on any amendments are roll call or recorded votes.

9. Conference committee: When the house and the senate both pass the same version of a bill, that bill goes to the governor for his approval or disapproval. If the house and senate do not agree, a conference committee, including members of both houses, meets to reach an agreement. If both bodies then pass the bill in compromise form, it goes to the governor.

10. The governor. When a bill arrives, the governor may:

- sign it and the bill becomes law.
- veto it (return it with a "veto message" stating objections) to the body where it originated.
- pocket veto the bill (after final adjournment of the legislature).
- exercise the right to line veto portions of the appropriations bills.

If the governor does not sign or veto a bill within three days after receiving it, while the legislature is in session, the bill becomes a law.

THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE IN MINNESOTA

The office of governor is powerful, yet the governor can seldom act alone. He is the chief executive officer of a large business — the business of state government. The yearly state budget is currently more than $5 billion. Only by marshalling public opinion and convincing the legislature to adopt his ideas can the governor make them into public policy.

The major duties of the governor are to oversee the day-to-day operations of government and to take the lead in shaping public policy by proposing ideas to the legislature. The operation of the government is carried out through more than 20 major departments whose heads are appointed by the governor and make up the governor's cabinet. The departments of finance and revenue are the governor's chief advisors on financial matters. The departments of health, human services and corrections carry out social policies. The department of transportation is charged with maintaining a road system as well as exercising responsibility for other modes of transportation.

The governor reviews all bills passed by the legislature and has the power to veto those of which he disapproves. Along with a budget message every two years, the governor makes a yearly state of the state address and may appear before the legislature on other occasions. Because of the separation of powers required by the Minnesota constitution, a governor may appear in legislative chambers only with the permission of the legislature. Only the governor has the power to call special sessions of the legislature although this is usually done in consultation with legislative leaders.

The governor appoints hundreds of people to boards and commissions. The governor appoints judges for all court systems when vacancies occur.

By virtue of his office, the governor chairs the state executive council and the legislative advisory commission, both of which deal with extraordinary matters that arise when the legislature is not in session. The governor is commander-in-chief of state military forces and can dispatch the national guard for emergency duty when warranted.

THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR IN MINNESOTA

The lieutenant governor's chief function is to assist the governor in carrying out the functions of the executive branch and to be prepared to act in the governor's place in the case of the governor's absence or disability. The lieutenant governor is first in the line of succession when a vacancy occurs in the office of governor.

A bill enacted in 1971 allows the governor to delegate responsibilities to the lieutenant governor as the governor chooses, excepting those powers, duties, responsibilities or functions prescribed to the governor by the Minnesota constitution. Formerly, the lieutenant governor presided over the Minnesota Senate. However, a constitutional amendment, ratified in 1972, permits the senate to choose its own presiding officer. Consequently, the lieutenant governor became a full time official of the executive branch. Lt. Governor Johnson is the first woman to hold this office in the state of Minnesota.

CHAPTER 3 CONSTITUTIONAL OFFICERS

Functions: The lieutenant governor has statutory responsibility to serve on the executive council and as chair of the capitol area architectural planning board. In addition, the governor has delegated the following responsibilities to the lieutenant governor: to coordinate the expansion of the state's tourism promotion activities; to chair the governor's open appointments advisory commission which recommends to the governor qualified individuals for appointment to boards, councils, and commissions; to make recommendations to the governor on issues relating to the role of minorities and women in state government and the economy; to develop a coordinated state approach to small business issues; and to represent the governor at meetings and other functions as needed.

Services: The lieutenant governor's office serves constituents with concerns about the role of state government particularly as it relates to tourism in Minnesota, small businesses, participation on appointed boards, councils, and commissions, Minnesotans in rural area and communities, and citizens with special interests in the lieutenant governor's assigned areas of responsibility. These services are provided to constituents who call or come to the office and through public appearances at civic, professional, and educational functions.

Judges: Each district has three or more judges. Judges are elected by the voters of the district to six-year terms; vacancies are filled by governor's appointment. COUNTY ATTORNEYS COUNCIL

40 Milton St. N., Suite 100, St. Paul 55104, (612) 296-6972.

Law provides: that the council consists of the county attorney from each of the 87 counties and the attorney general. The council is governed by a board composed of the attorney general and five county attorneys elected by the council for one year terms. The council is responsible for maintaining and improving the quality of legal services provided by the county attorney in enforcing the state criminal code and other laws of the state (Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 388.19, 388.20).

Executive Director: David W. Larson

CITIES IN MINNESOTA

Law provides: that cities are governed by home rule charters or by the city code; of the 855 cities in Minnesota, 107 are home rule charter cities and 748 are statutory cities (Minnesota Statutes, Chapters 410, 412).

Form of government: Home rule cities may establish any form of government they choose in their charters. Twenty-nine have the council-manager plan, one has a commission, and the rest have the mayor-council plan. Statutory cities may choose a form of government from three alternatives: the mayor-council plan with either an elected clerk (standard plan), an appointed clerk (plan A), or the council-manager plan (plan B). There are eighteen plan B statutory cities; the rest are plan A or standard plan.

Functions: Police and fire protection, street maintenance, sewer and water, parks and recreation are traditional city services. In addition, cities may choose to provide utilities, sell liquor, operate a hospital, maintain an airport, and provide ambulance service, among other options.

Additional information about Minnesota cities is available from the League of Minnesota Cities, 183 University Ave. E., St. Paul 55101, (612) 227-5600.

MINNESOTA MUNICIPAL BOARD

165 Metro Square Bldg., St. Paul 55101, (612) 296-2428.

Law provides: for three members who are appointed by the governor for six year terms. At least one member must be learned in the law and one must be a resident from outside the metropolitan area. The board rules on city boundary adjustments, consolidations and incorporation of the cities (Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 414).

Executive Director: Terrence A. Merritt

TOWNSHIPS IN MINNESOTA

Law provides: that townships are governed by a board of supervisors and administrative officers elected by the people for three year terms at the annual town meeting held in each town on the second Tuesday of March. Optional forms of organization may be selected by the voters (Minnesota Statutes, Chapters 365, 368).

Functions: Townships have authority for planning, subdivision control, zoning, maintenance of public works, parks, cemeteries, and hospitals in addition to regular duties such as elections, tax levies and public roads.

Additional information about Minnesota's 1,798 townships is available from the Minnesota Association of Townships, Box 267, St. Michael 55376, (612) 497-2330.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN MINNESOTA

Law provides: that the school districts of Minnesota provide for the education of students from kindergarten through grade 12. School facilities are supplied by the 432 independent school districts, two common districts, two elementary districts and one experimental elementary district in the state. All school districts are governed by an elected school board with the exception of the experimental elementary district. Minnesota law provides that public education shall be free and no pupil can be denied an education because of economic hardship and the inability to provide the books and supplies necessary to complete the requirements for graduation (Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 120).

Additional information about Minnesota school districts is available from Education Statistics, Department of Education, 7th Floor, Capitol Square Bldg., 550 Cedar St., St. Paul 55101, (612) 296-2400.

STATES' GOVERNMENT

The fifty state governments in the United States all draw their power from those responsibilities which the United States Constitution does not direct to itself. The internal functions of each state in areas such as education, transportation, welfare and elections are to a large degree the responsibility of state government.

Each of the states maintains a legislature. Nebraska is the only state with a unicameral (one house) legislature as well as the only state which elects its legislators on a non-partisan basis. The sizes of the legislatures also vary, from New Hampshire with 424 members to Nebraska with 49. The length of sessions and the frequency with which they meet also vary. Each of the 50 states is unique in the problems and challenges its government must meet. Just as no two states are exactly alike, neither are their needs, and as a result, neither are their governments.

The executive branch of states' government is just as varied as the legislative. Some states have opted for a cabinet form of government in which the governor appoints the other executive members of the state government, generally with the approval of at least one house of the legislature. Most states, however, still elect at least some, if not most, of their state officials in statewide general elections.

The power of each state government is considerable. Each possesses a wide range of choices in what it shall do, how its government shall be organized, and how it shall finance its services. Furthermore, only an amendment to the United States Constitution approved by three-fourths of the states, could jeopardize the autonomy the states presently enjoy.

MINNESOTA MUNICIPAL BOARD

165 Metro Square Bldg., St. Paul 55101. (612) 296-2428.

Law provides: for three members who are appointed by the governor for six year terms. At least one member must be learned in the law and one must be a resident from outside the metropolitan area. The board rules on city boundary adjustments, consolidations and incorporation of the cities (Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 414).

Executive Director: Terrence A. Merritt

TOWNSHIPS IN MINNESOTA

Law provides: that townships are governed by a board of supervisors and administrative officers elected by the people for three year terms at the annual town meeting held in each town on the second Tuesday of March. Optional forms of organization may be selected by the voters (Minnesota Statutes, Chapters 365, 368).

Functions: Townships have authority for planning, subdivision control, zoning, maintenance of public works, parks, cemeteries, and hospitals in addition to regular duties such as elections, tax levies and public roads.

Additional information about Minnesota's 1,798 townships is available from the Minnesota Association of Townships, Box 267, St. Michael 55376, (612) 497-2330.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN MINNESOTA

Law provides: that the school districts of Minnesota provide for the education of students from kindergarten through grade 12. School facilities are supplied by the 432 independent school districts, two common districts, two elementary districts and one experimental elementary district in the state. All school districts are governed by an elected school board with the exception of the experimental elementary district. Minnesota law provides that public education shall be free and no pupil can be denied an education because of economic hardship and the inability to provide the books and supplies necessary to complete the requirements for graduation (Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 120).

Additional information about Minnesota school districts is available from Education Statistics, Department of Education, 7th Floor, Capitol Square Bldg., 550 Cedar St., St. Paul 55101, (612) 296-2400.
