INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Public Television Association (MPTA) is comprised of Minnesota's six independent public television stations, whose broadcast signals together reach the entire state of Minnesota and some surrounding areas: WDSE-WRPT (Duluth), Lakeland Public TV (Bemidji), Pioneer Public TV (Appleton), TPT - Twin Cities PBS (St. Paul/Minneapolis), Prairie Public Television (Fargo-Moorhead) and KSMQ-TV (Austin).

The MPTA's accomplishments and achievements made possible by Legacy funding are detailed in this report. All television and digital programs produced and educational resources created with these funds are documented using consistent reporting categories and definitions of measurement. This report aligns both the narrative and financial sections to the State's fiscal calendar, July 1, 2015 to June 30, 2016 and are accompanied by the required financial reports, following the Department of Administration's recommendation.

The MPTA is proud to report its growing archive of arts, cultural and history programming available statewide, its broad reach and impact, the critical recognition this body of work has received and the positive feedback and comments from viewers, educators and artists from our state and from around the world.

With the generosity of the Legacy Legislative Committees in the past, each MPTA station has created many seasons of arts and cultural series and specials specific to their local communities, along with documentaries examining many subjects of Minnesota history.

Legacy-funded content is broadcast statewide on The Minnesota Channel (as an additional local service by each of the MPTA stations), and is increasingly being seen nationwide: on PBS' The World Channel, First Nations Experience and on local PBS affiliates across the country. Legacy programs are broadcast to millions of households throughout the US, giving our content and Minnesota unprecedented visibility.

Legacy-funded content and educational materials are free and available for classroom use. This ever-growing digital archive provides rich documentation of the arts and cultural legacy of our time, for current and future generations, and serves as a tool and resource for students, educators and citizens.

The return on Legislative investment has been realized many times over and in many ways: creating jobs to benefit our local economies, increasing awareness of our arts community, inspiring viewers to participate in the arts, attend arts events and purchase work by local artists (who are themselves small businesses), and connecting all of the Minnesotans who live and work in our areas of service.

The six stations of the MPTA are grateful to the State Legislature for designating the MPTA as a grant recipient for the Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund. We reaffirm our commitment to support the arts, arts education and arts access, and to preserve Minnesota's history and cultural heritage.

We are grateful for your generosity, through which the following achievements were made.

Thank you,

The six public media services of The Minnesota Public Television Association (MPTA) harness the power of media and build upon their tradition of creating high-quality programs that sustain viewers in order to document, promote and preserve the arts, culture and history of Minnesota's communities.

The following sections review the reach and impact of the work created by the MPTA as supported by our proficiency as media broadcasters, by our relationships with educators, by our standing within our respective communities and by the distribution opportunities available through our industry.

PRODUCING A LEGACY

Through the funds awarded by the Legacy Amendment, the MPTA creates a rich, multi-faceted portfolio of content and experiences that share stories of artists and arts traditions, significant moments in Minnesota history and explorations of culture through lifestyle to viewers all across Minnesota, throughout the country and around the world.

The arts and cultural series produced by each station provide an essential stage and invaluable visibility for the local arts, connecting artists to consumers, educators to free classroom materials and students to a whole new world of learning.

The MPTA has created more than 700 hours of arts and cultural programming since the funds were first awarded in 2009, with nearly 100 hours produced this year alone. The MPTA's Legacy-funded projects are contributing to the economic impact of the arts in Minnesota. Featured artists attribute sales of their work, exhibition opportunities, grant awards and increases in their audiences directly to their appearances on these programs.

"It has only been a week since the appearance but already I have sold two original pieces of work and received a commission for another. I believe it is as a result of the credibility the program has given me as an artist"

— Kristi Abbott

minnesota public television association

To the Northeast, WDSE · WRPT serves the 431,000 people who proudly call the vibrant communities, soaring forests, and sparkling waters of northern Minnesota their home.

Located in the heart of the fertile Red River Valley, Prairie Public Broadcasting tells the story of the arts, history and culture of the more than 396,000 families throughout the northern prairie region.

Lakeland Public Television serves approximately 383,500 individuals over an estimated 7,500 square miles in northern and central Minnesota, a vast geographic expanse that covers primarily rural communities and encompasses all or parts of four different Native American reservations.

As the public television service for the Twin Cities and Central Minnesota, Twin Cities PBS draws approximately 1.2 million viewers to its four broadcast channels.

Pioneer Public Television is honored to serve more than 300,000 households in the small towns and farming communities of the fertile prairie and lakes region of western and southwestern Minnesota.

KSMQ Public Television reaches over 655,000 households in Southwest Minnesota, covering the communities and farmlands of Austin and Albert Lea, the bluff region from Rochester to Winona, and the river valley of Mankato, and the surrounding areas.

History also comes to life through the work of the MPTA. Since 2009, viewers have been captivated by more than 60 highly-researched, educational and entertaining history documentaries produced. The work of this fiscal year has added nine programs with topics ranging from life on the North Shore at the turn of the last century to the exploration of the modern-day relationship between Montevideo, MN and Montevideo, Uruguay.

Millions of people are able to access and enjoy this work; the Legacy-funded programs of the MPTA are broadcast on 17 channels in Minnesota, over the air, on cable and on satellite, reaching more than 4.75 million households in our region. In addition, PBS stations and other broadcast and digital services share this work with their audiences, reaching more than 30 million households across the United States. Beyond broadcast, every program produced is available online to audiences around the world; 34% of video views on the YouTube channel for TPT's MN Original were from outside the country.

The PBS name is known for creativity and integrity and our storytellers reflect that image. The production teams tasked with this work are some of the best in the region. The full-time and freelance media professionals employed by the MPTA are celebrated in their industry for their ability to relate compelling stories to public audiences. The National Academy of Arts and Sciences, Minnesota Citizens for the Arts and Conservation Minnesota, the Telly Awards and the PBS Online Film Festival have consistently awarded these truly one-of-a-kind video presentations for their excellence. The Legacy-funded work of the MPTA received 34 Upper Midwest Regional Emmy Awards and nominations in this fiscal year alone, totaling 148 awards and nominations since 2010.

Legacy Impacts Our Classrooms

Educators have discovered that the Legacy-funded work of the MPTA provides a valuable source of classroom-ready materials for formal and informal educational settings. Whether utilizing one of the hundreds of video excerpts available for classroom streaming, working more directly with activity guides created for educators or by training the teachers themselves, each station's work impacts its local students.

Prairie Public Broadcasting provides northwest Minnesota schools and the families they serve high-quality, research-based multi-media resources and professional development with emphasis on cross-curricular application of the arts, history and culture. Prairie Public's commitment to education predates the Legacy Amendment, and Legacy funds help augment and expand the work, particularly in early childhood education, teacher professional development and distribution of educational resources.

"Every Monday I start my advanced classes with a different artist from your website. The kids love listening to and hearing from living practicing artists in Minnesota!"

— Educator

One of the station's key Legacy-funded educational services continues to be the Teacher Training Institute. A collaboration with the Lakes Country Education Services Cooperative in Fergus Falls and the Northwest Service Cooperative in Thief River Falls, the 2016 institute's "Innovate, Integrate, Motivate 2016: Creative Tech for Teaching" provided training to Minnesota classroom teachers on integrating technology into classroom activities.

Additionally, Prairie Public launched PD4ME, a pilot program of twelve different online professional development classes for rural teachers. Each of the sessions was delivered via the popular GoToMeeting platform in short 30-minute segments designed to conveniently fit into teachers' workdays. The project offered flexible scheduling and low technology requirements to accommodate rural teachers who often lack high-speed Internet access needed by many streaming services.

Twin Cities PBS (TPT) also integrates teacher trainings into their educational activities. MN Original partners with Saint Paul Public School's (SPPS) on their DigitalWorks initiative, a 4-year U.S. Department of Education grant aimed at integrating technology and media arts into classrooms. Staff from MN Original present workshops to SPPS's DigitalWorks educator grantees, teaching basic production techniques that the teachers can integrate into their classroom work with iPads. The teachers are also introduced to the library of activity guides and videos available through MN Original and work to create their own curriculum utilizing these resources.

Nearly every one of the nearly 700 segments of TPT's MN Original has a corresponding activity guide to encourage students, educators, caregivers and viewers to explore the artists' work beyond the broadcast or online experience. These guides are available on the series website, as part of the collection at the Minnesota Humanities Center and on PBS Learning Media.

WDSE has partnered with Ojibwe educator and Native Report education specialist Christina Woods (Bois Forte Ojibwe) to create culturally sensitive, classroom ready educational materials that bring lessons from Native artists to Minnesota students. WDSE's ongoing commitment to telling the authentic stories of Native communities has led to the production of a treasure trove

“[Steamship America] will be come and will of course, always be part of my History of Duluth course that I teach each spring.”

of Native Report segments that are available for educational use. WDSE's arts series The PlayList has partnered with a Duluth art educator Christine Valento to create over 40 classroom ready lessons that span social studies, history, and art in all its disciplines, an effort that has led to further outreach bringing local artists into Duluth schools to teach students directly. WDSE produced original historical documentaries like Glensheen and the Congdon Legacy come to life in the classroom thanks to lesson plans that bring regional history to life. Lesson plans for the WDSE documentary Steamship America "A North Shore Legend" were created by a Duluth high school social studies teacher with a personal connection to the Lake Superior communities served by the vessel.

Pioneer Public Television has ongoing classroom partnerships with Lac qui Parle Valley High School, the Montevideo High School, and the Willmar High School. Their materials have also been used at Ridgewater College. In addition, Pioneer has held several events at Southwest State University and, each year, holds workshops with hundreds of teachers of the Minnesota River Valley Education District on how to use their local Legacy content effectively in the classroom.

KSMQ continued to distribute copies of its documentary Beyond the Bully to area schools.

Lakeland Public Television's (LPTV) educational work is closely tied to their commitment to share the stories of the Native American citizens of their region. Two recent documentary projects illustrate the success they've had activating the educational potential of their programming. Red Lake Tribal College utilized Why Treaties?, a recent Legacy-funded documentary, as a discussion tool in their Treaty class. The documentary examines the historic context of Minnesota land cession treaties between 1837 and 1889 to understand the forces in play that led both the US government and the Ojibwe Nations to sign the documents. Through the documentary, students looked at the world views of settlers and indigenous peoples in northern Minnesota at the time the treaties were signed, to appreciate what the specific terms of those treaties were and to summarize how those treaties are affecting life in northern Minnesota today.

During the summer of 2016, Grant Goltz, a former collaborator on a Legacy-funded project, offered LPTV the opportunity to film First Nations women learning ancient pottery techniques. Goltz, an experimental archaeologist, has developed a theory regarding the creation process of pre-contact "Blackduck pottery," a theory that explains mysterious characteristics of the ancient pottery. The production documents Goltz's process and the discoveries of the women learning these techniques. It will be shared with the Manitoba Craft Council so indigenous artists who were unable to attend the training may learn and preserve the process going forward.

Legacy Impacts Our Communities

The programs and outreach opportunities made possible by the Legacy funds speak to each station's region specifically, and create a direct and lasting impact on the communities they call home. Not only is this funding allowing MPTA stations to tell stories from smaller, more remote, and traditionally underserved communities, it is also helping to form and cement long time relationships with organizations within these communities.

KSMQ initiated the production R-Town, a program that documents the rapid changes occurring in Rochester in light of initiatives like Destination Medical Center. The series captures historically and culturally significant stories to help Rochester-area residents engage with their community. Sunny Prabhakar from The Commission, a council in Rochester made up of young professionals working to integrate younger generations into the professional workforce, discussed their goal of making a lasting impact in Rochester by creating sustainable programs through relationship building, mentorship, and professional development. R-Town additionally featured a conversation with Regina Mustafa, founder of Community Interfaith Dialogue on Islam (CIDI), about the misperceptions of Islam to bridge divides and form stronger community. The program also examined the changing perceptions of what it means to be a senior citizen through conversations with the directors of a new senior center in Rochester.

Lakeland Public Television continues to work closely with the Native American population in their area through Common Ground and documentary productions. This past season, Common Ground producers followed some of the key people involved in Bemidji's Shaynowishkung Statue committee as they collaborated with living relatives of the great leader and peacemaker Shaynowishkung, "He Who Rattles". The program featured those who worked to create an aesthetically high quality, culturally sensitive, and historically accurate portrayal in bronze of the man who lived through a tumultuous time of war and colonization where the city of Bemidji would eventually grow.

In 2015, LPTV also showcased the Bemijigamaag Powwow within a full episode of Common Ground. Viewers saw local leaders including Bemidji Mayor Rita Albrecht, Leech Lake Chairwoman Carri Jones, Red Lake Chairman Darrell G. Seki Sr., and former White Earth Chairwoman Erma Vizenor explain the historical and cultural significance of the Sanford Center Powwow of April, 2015. Common Ground went behind the scenes with organizers KOJB's Brad Walhof & Darryl Northbird, and KAXE's Maggie Montgomery, as they prepared to receive Minnesota's Governor Mark Dayton, plus thousands of citizens from the surrounding communities to celebrate at Bemidji's Sanford Center.

"I just began watching your show and find it very interesting and educational. I believe so much can be learned by different cultures and I for one would love to hear about cooking, healing herbs, and true stories of Native history. Thank you for doing this show!"
— Kris Woadhal-Bateman

WDSE has forged strong and enduring relationships with the leaders, elders, and community members of Minnesota's Indian Nations through ongoing production of the series Native Report. From Grand Rapids celebrating its first ever Indigenous People's Day, to a group of Cromwell students experiencing their first gallery visit with Ojibwe artist Wendy Savage, to Indian Nations celebrating sobriety at the Mash-Ka-Wisen Pow Wow, Native Report tells the stories of Minnesota's tribes and all of Indian Country with a strong indigenous voice. For eleven seasons and one-hundred-sixty-five episodes, Native Report has continually celebrated Native American art, culture and heritage and is currently the longest running series for public television stations focused on covering Indian Country. By developing relevant content and outreach, it is fostering a new generation of Native American journalists. Through a unique internship program over a dozen Native American college students from Minnesota have experienced professional television production and learned storytelling skills while working in their own cultural communities. These talented young Native storytellers have helped us focus attention on Native artists who work in traditional mediums, taking their cultural knowledge and inspiration to new heights in mediums like glass, oil and acrylic painting.

Gaining publicity can be a hurdle for artists living in rural areas. Prairie Public's monthly anthology series Prairie Mosaic features profiles of painters, sculptors, potters, glass blowers and other artists in small communities across northwestern Minnesota. By highlighting the talented individuals who pursue their art in rural Minnesota, Prairie Public helps these individuals build a market for their work. These profiles are also featured in the weekly series Prairie Pulse and streamed on Prairie Public's YouTube channel Prairie Public Originals. In addition, these YouTube videos are provided to the artists to use to enhance their websites and for other publicity efforts.

Prairie Public seeks out talented local musicians who write and perform original music for the series Prairie Musicians, a series of music specials. Music videos are an extremely effective way for musicians to reach new listeners and turn them into customers, but the cost of producing a 30-minute performance video is far beyond most rural musician's budgets. Featuring a wide variety of music genres ranging from Hip hop to bluegrass to classical, Prairie Musicians highlights the talented local musicians who may be well known in their town but struggling to find an audience on the regional and national stage. Using the recorded performances, stand-alone music videos are also produced that are broadcast as interstitials on Prairie Public's high definition channel and statewide on the Minnesota Channel, and streamed on the YouTube channel Prairie Public Originals.

Awareness, exposure, confidence, recognition—artists in northern Minnesota featured on WDSE's The PlayList gain tangible value through their appearance on the show. “We cannot replace the exposure we get,” says Karin Kraemer, owner of Duluth Pottery. Both sales and web traffic jumped after her episode aired. “I’m very surprised about what happened with it. It’s been great.” Stories created by The PlayList through legacy funds document the talent of independent artists and musicians, who in turn leverage the exposure to connect with potential customers, grantmakers, galleries and venues.

The PlayList's digital archive documents the work of 1,800+ artists & musicians in the Arrowhead region. Featured guests report increases in traffic on their social media sites and a boost in sales of their work. Viewers gain inspiration, access to the arts, and an expanded view of the region.

“[The PlayList] strengthens our awareness about how the health and vitality of a community is a function of the arts,”

— Jamie Harvie, Duluth

Rural, remote and underserved communities in Minnesota's Arrowhead region have access to live, classical music performances thanks to a Legacy-funded partnership between WDSE and the Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra. This year they heard the soaring sounds of 265 voices performing with the DSSO Chorus, and the powerful talents of the Lake Superior Youth Chorus in concert with the DSSO's rendition of Carl Orff's momentous Carmina Burana.

Small galleries, museums, and historical societies struggle to increase visitorship outside their local communities. By partnering with rural cultural destinations to produce Prairie Mosaic features on items in their collections, events they sponsor, and interviews with the archivists and curators on their staffs, Prairie Public draws attention to the diverse and valuable cultural destinations in rural Minnesota communities.

Pioneer Public Television's relationships with the regional arts councils, SMAC and LRAC continue to deepen as they use the Postcards episodes to lift up emerging and established artists in their respective regions. Pioneer staff participates in arts resources fairs and retreats that are hosted by these organizations.

The relationship formed during the production of Pioneer Public Television's documentary War Birds, funded in part by Legacy, resulted in the largest donation ever given to a public television station in the United States.

As a result of this incredible gift, in 2017, Pioneer Public Television will move into a state-of-the-art television campus in Granite Falls.

Beyond funding productions that feature artists from smaller and underserved communities, Legacy dollars allow the stations of the MPTA to further activate these programs with outreach events.

Through several community based screenings, Pioneer is reaching out to smaller rural communities and engaging the region in dialogues about the Vietnam War, Anti-immigration sentiment and the history of black baseball in Minnesota. Pioneer's relationship with the local Native American, Somali, Micronesian and Hmong communities in their viewing region have led to greater statewide awareness about the issues those communities face.

KSMQ's documentary, Arrival: Finding Home, was screened at an event held by the American Association of University Women (AAUW) in Austin. The Typist, another KSMQ production, was shown in Rochester and St. Cloud, Minnesota, as well as Sacramento, California.

In Duluth, WDSE encourages personal engagement in MN arts and cultural heritage through in-studio performances and events. Local musicians are recorded with a live audience for later playback on The PlayList. Large scale, multi-camera productions on location in Virginia and at Duluth's Bayfront Park captured the energy of the community and talent of Minnesota musicians in additional episodes. WDSE has hosted multiple screenings of work to engage local communities, including a well-attended screening of The PlayList in the Iron Range, and a Grand Marais screening of the WDSE documentary Steamship America "A North Shore Legend" that attracted 150 people.

Students from the Washburn Blackbox Acting Program of Washburn high school were featured on Twin Cities PBS' MN Original and then performed their original play, Untold Stories, at TPT in May 2016. The play explored issues including domestic abuse, racism, Islamophobia, and anxiety. Following the performance, students engaged the audience in a discussion about the issues raised, the use of art as a tool for social justice, and how activism can continue beyond the classroom.

Legacy Impacts Our National Reach

Every program produced by the MPTA creates its own unique network of partners and distinct opportunities to spread the impact of the work. Heralded by well-respected media services that have their own far-reaching networks, the MPTA has the potential to distribute Minnesota's talent and rich history across the state and far beyond. Millions of people across the country learn about Minnesota through public television.

WDSE offers Native Report free of charge to all PBS public stations and the program is carried by PBS stations across the country and by First Nations Experience (FNX) the first and only nationally distributed TV channel exclusively devoted to Native American Indigenous content. FNX is carried by 20 affiliate stations broadcasting into 18 states and is available to more than 22 million households across the U.S. Through a strong and ongoing partnership between WDSE and FNX the past four seasons of Native Report, 60 episodes in all have aired to the national FNX audience.

Native Report is the longest running series for public television stations focused on covering Indian Country and is fostering a new generation of Native American journalists. Through a unique internship program over a dozen Native American college students from Minnesota have experienced professional television production and learned storytelling skills while working in their own communities and culture. These talented young Native storytellers have helped us focus attention on Native artists who work in traditional mediums, and take their cultural knowledge and inspiration to new heights in other mediums like glass, fiber art, sculpture, oil and acrylic painting.

Through its own partnership with First Nations Experience (FNX), Lakeland Public Television has shared much of its Native American themed Legacy content with audiences throughout the United States. Over the past four years, LPTV has shared three one-hour documentaries and nine episodes of Common Ground with FNX, resulting in a greatly expanded audience viewing this unique Minnesota-based programming.

In May 2016, American Public Television (APT) began nationally distributing a collection of 13 MN Original episodes from Twin Cities PBS, featuring over 800 artists. MN Original made its national premiere on May 25, 2016 on KQED Plus in San Francisco and by June 30, 2016, was airing in an additional 9 new markets including Orlando, Florida; Richmond, Virginia; and Green Bay, Wisconsin. This new national distribution opportunity increased MN Original's potential reach by 6.5 million households. National PBS viewers are discovering Minnesota's artists and its extraordinary artistic communities through MN Original.

Prairie Public's 30-minute documentary Built To Last: The Legacy of the CCC In Minnesota was distributed to public television stations regionally through the Midwest Programmers Group which includes public television stations in Kansas, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and nationwide through the programming service of NETA (National Education Television Association). The film focuses on the Civilian Conservation Corp (CCC), which provided work opportunities to thousands of young men in Minnesota during the Depression. The CCC also left behind a lasting legacy through hundreds of beautiful structures in the state parks and national forests in Minnesota.

KSMQ continues to make an impact with online viewership leading to the longevity and consistent relativity of the stories it produces. One story, "Intricate Glass Paperweights" continued to receive praise online despite being posted more than three years ago. Another story about writer Amanda Hawking, shared online four years ago, also continued to receive recent praise.

Hello Montevideo, Pioneer Public Television's documentary exploring the relationship between Montevideo, Minnesota (pop 5000) and Montevideo, Uruguay (pop 1 million) through the eyes of videographers, photographers and contemporary youth, is being championed by the National Office of Partners of the Americas in Washington, D.C. as an example of how to effectively engage youth through the use of media. This project also inspired a large, international cell phone company to travel to Montevideo to feature the sister-city relationship in a commercial. The commercial recently won best TV Commercial in Uruguay.

Weekly Minnesota Arts Series, New Specials, and Classroom Resources

The PlayList is WDSE•WRPT's arts series. It is a celebration of art, music and theater, and a community stage where neighbors share their talents. It provides valuable exposure and media tools for working artists, and invites people in northeastern Minnesota to participate in the arts in new ways. In its seventh season, The PlayList team created ten new episodes adding to a collection of 159 programs broadcast and posted online. The PlayList's digital archive documents the work of thousands of artists & musicians in the Arrowhead region.

New Minnesota History Documentaries

Minnesota's most-visited house museum, Glensheen, is much more than its beautiful landscaping, rich design, and historic status. It's a tribute to a family that put down deep roots in northern Minnesota, whose good works live on more than a century after their "home place" was built. This new documentary Glensheen and the Congdon Legacy chronicles a family's story of hard work, fortunate timing and a life-long pursuit of knowledge.

The documentary Steamship America: A North Shore Legend captures Minnesota's North Shore on the cusp of modern connectivity. Passengers, fish and freight jockeyed for square footage aboard the ship in the early 1900's, a time when the Lake Superior shoreline was a wild frontier. The documentary brought back memories for many shore residents and offers students a window to explore part of Minnesota history that is the bedrock of the region's culture, tourism, maritime commerce today.

The story of Virginia native Paul Metsa and his band "Cats Under the Stars" celebrates 40 years of music making beginning in the early-seventies when they played jazz, reggae, blues and rock and roll. Founder Paul Metsa then went on to a solo career playing with some of the biggest names in the music industry and was dubbed "the other great folksinger from Minnesota's Mesabi Iron Range" by the Huffington Post. Bringing It Back Home - Paul Metsa and Cats Under the Stars features original music and a 40th anniversary reunion concert recorded live in Duluth.

New Minnesota Musical Performance

The soaring sound of 265 voices and the Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra fill symphony hall with sound and emotion during Carl Orff's momentous Carmina Burana. The Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra (DSSO) and WDSE•WRPT joined forces with the DSSO Chorus, the UWS Chorus, the Minnesota Chorale and the powerful talents of the Lake Superior Youth Chorus to create this epic live broadcast Heaven & Earth May 7, 2016 which included a performance of Church Windows by Ottorino Respighi.

Minnesota Arts Segments Connecting to Diverse Communities and a Nationwide Audience

Native Report is a series produced by WDSE•WRPT that celebrates Native American culture and heritage, listens to tribal elders, and talks to some of the most powerful and influential leaders of Indian Country today. We work collaboratively with tribal leaders, elders, youth and members to create groundbreaking stories that reach across generations. Season ten of this series incorporated profiles of six Minnesota Native Artists. Native Report airs to a national audience that reaches from Alaska to California, Florida to New York, and 22 million households on the First Nations Experience (FNX) program service. Each of these Legacy funded stories is available online at www.native-report.org with downloadable teacher's guides to maximize classroom use of these segments.

Committed to Vibrant Minnesota Diversity

WDSE•WRPT Legacy programming reflects the diversity of our community including the spectrum of arts, cultures, races, and ages which are found here. Our Native Report series is led by a team of Ojibwe and Oneida producers ensuring that stories from Indian Country are told with a strong indigenous voice. The Native Report intern program encourages and trains a new generation of Native Americans to tell the stories of their own communities, and the Native Artist lesson guides are being prepared by an enrolled member of the Bois Forte Band of Ojibwe.

Minnesota Legacy ONLINE

One hundred hours of Legacy programming is available on the www.wdse.org website. In FY 2016 our Legacy content logged 370,676 page views.

LEGACY PROGRAMS FROM WDSE•WRPT

The Playlist - Weekly Art Series

Episodes 701 - 710

Broadcast Premiere March 31, 2016 - June 2, 2016

The Playlist is dedicated to building a stronger, more connected and creative community through the arts. The program supports working artists, documents historic preservation on the Iron Range and adds visibility for arts & cultural events in Minnesota's Arrowhead region. Stories created by The Playlist through Legacy funds document the talent of independent artists and musicians, who in turn leverage the exposure to connect with potential customers, grantmakers, galleries and venues. The Playlist's digital archive documents the work of thousands of artists and musicians in the Arrowhead region.

This year in-studio sessions connected the public with local music at the WDSE WRPT studios. Multi-camera productions on location in Virginia and at Duluth's Bayfront Park captured the live energy of the community and talent of Minnesota musicians. In May, The Playlist celebrated original music in Virginia with a community screening of two special Iron Range-specific episodes.

Awareness, exposure, confidence, recognition—artists featured on The Playlist say they gain tangible value through their association/appearance on Duluth PBS. "We cannot replace the exposure we get," says Karin Kraemer, owner of Duluth Pottery. Both sales and web traffic jumped after her Playlist episode aired. "I'm very surprised about what happened with it. It's been great."

Featured artists take advantage of quality videos posted online and use them as promotional tools and in their grant applications. They see increases in traffic on their social media sites and a boost in sales. Viewers gain inspiration, access to the arts, and an expanded view of the region. "It strengthens our awareness about how the health and vitality of a community is a function of the arts," says Jamie Harvie, Duluth.

Educational resources from The Playlist are accessed regularly by parents and educators and span art, culture and history. See sample lesson plans in appendix and online at <http://www.wdse.org/shows/playlist/teachers>

BRINGING IT BACK HOME—Paul Metsa and Cats Under the Stars
Historical and Performance Documentary
Broadcast Premiere December 1, 2015

Virginia native Paul Metsa and his band "Cats Under the Stars" celebrate 40 years of making music beginning in the early-seventies when they started out playing jazz, reggae, blues and rock and roll. Then founder Paul Metsa started his solo career and went on to play with some of the biggest names in the music industry. His story and that of the 'Cats' takes us from the hard drinking, riotous '70s on the Iron Range to the unrestrained, creative '80's Minneapolis music scene and beyond. Group members Metsa, Tim O'Keefe and Jack Pasternacki share the ups and downs of lifelong musicianship, and a bond that remains today. Featuring original music from throughout their careers including the 40th reunion concert recorded live in Duluth.

NATIVE REPORT – NATIVE ARTISTS – Magazine Series Arts Segment

Episodes 1103 - 1115

Broadcast Premiere January 21, 2016 - May 2, 2016

Native Report is an entertaining, informative magazine style series that celebrates Native American culture and heritage, listens to tribal elders, and talks to some of the most powerful and influential leaders of Indian Country today. This series is seen on PBS stations across the country. Season 11 of Native Report featured six Minnesota Native American artists, musicians, and authors and their signature works.

- Episode #1103, "Wendy Savage"
Original Broadcast Date – January 21, 2016
Wendy Savage is a multicultural educator, consultant and independent curator of the Ojibway arts. Wendy's paintings are striking and are based upon traditional Ojibwe beadwork patterns and colors from the 1800's.
- Episode #1107, "Leah Yellowbird"
Original Broadcast Date – January 29, 2016
Leah Yellowbird is an Anishinaabe artist who uses the traditional art forms of her ancestors while adding a modern voice to the imagery. The merging of the traditional and modern in her artwork is the result of many hours of pointillism-style painting.
- Episode #1111, "Delina White"
Original Broadcast Date – April 7, 2016
Delina White is a mixed-media artist best known for her beadwork and applique pieces for regalia. She and her daughters put together a unique fashion show, the Great Lakes Woodlands Skirts Project, that displayed their beautiful creations while exploring the history of Native fashion.
- Episode #1113, "Jes Durfee"
Original Broadcast Date – April 21, 2016
Jes Durfee creates functional and sculptural art such as beads, animal totems, variations on plant life, and abstract art. His influences are based on elements of the natural world as they relate to him, and his Ojibwa heritage. We visit the studio of the artist who transforms glass into amazing works of art.
- Episode #1114, "Eastman Johnson Exhibit"
Original Broadcast Date – April 28, 2016
Eastman Johnson was one of America's finest portrait, figure and genre scene painters. A permanent exhibit of his work focusses on the Ojibwe who lived in settlements on Lake Superior during the mid-19th Century.
- Episode #1115, "Karen Savage-Blue"
Original Broadcast Date – May 2, 2016
Artist Karen Savage-Blue challenged herself to paint one painting each day for 365 days; enjoy how this ambitious project showcases the extraordinary beauty of everyday scenes.

Commitment to Cultural and Ethnic Diversity

Native Report is the longest running series for public television stations that is focused on covering Indian Country with a strong indigenous voice. The Native Report team is led by founding producer Tadd Johnson, an enrolled member of the Bois Forte Band of Ojibwe, and producer Michael LeGarde, a member of the Grand Portage Band of Chippewa. Tadd is also an attorney and Professor at the University of Minnesota Duluth where he is the Head of the American Indian Studies Department. Our new co-hosts and producers, Rita Aspinwall, an enrolled member of the Fond du Lac Band of Ojibwe, and Ernie Stevens III from the Oneida Nation, lend a fresh perspective and young voice to the series. Contributing producer and education specialist Christina Woods, a member of the Bois Forte Band of Chippewa, continues to add classroom-friendly, online education materials that make Native Report segments useful tools for students, teachers, and families. For 11 seasons and 165 episodes, Native Report has focused on celebrating Native American culture and heritage, listening to our elders, and talking to some of the most powerful and influential leaders of Indian Country today.

Native Report is fostering a new generation of Native American journalists. Through a unique internship program Native American students experience professional television production and learn storytelling skills within the context of their own communities and culture.

Education Materials Available

Educators have discovered the teaching resources available connected to WDSE WRPT Legacy-funded productions. Resources and lesson plans are promoted and posted online, and are free to educators and families. Historical lesson plans accompany our documentary productions.

Public engagement and outreach

Legacy funding has been instrumental in helping TPT reach a broad and rich audience of Minnesotans and exposing them to the work of MN Original, The Lowertown Line and Legacy-funded documentaries and performance specials. This outreach and engagement has been instrumental in reaching underserved audiences as well as those that are typically not engaged through public media.

Some examples of these efforts include:

- Ongoing partnership with the MinnPost Artscape columnist, Pamela Espeland
In 2016, MN Original developed an editorial relationship with the MinnPost Artscape columnist to feature previews of upcoming episodes of MN Original. Pamela previews each episode of MN Original and includes a sneak peak write-up in her weekly Artscape column.
- The Lowertown Line Partnership with Vega Productions
Local non-profit, Vega Productions, is invited to each taping of The Lowertown Line to run an instrument drive; collecting instruments which are then donated to local schools.
- Paid advertising and marketing plan
Both MN Original and The Lowertown Line are working with local media sources as well as on social media to spread the word about the good work of TPT's legacy productions. Media partners include: MPR, The Current, City Pages, The Pioneer Press, The Star Tribune, and more.

In FY2016, TPT's Legacy-funded programs were well represented in the press with over 42 million print and digital impressions (the possible number of individual people reached through content accessed on computers and mobile devices).

- MN Original
  - 27 media mentions
  - Reach: 34,130,428 impressions
- The Lowertown Line
  - 16 media mentions
  - Reach: 7,603,805 impressions
- Kevin Kling: Lost & Found
  - Reach: 1,200,000 impressions

Monthly e-newsletters are distributed to a subscription list for MN Original with information on upcoming broadcasts, related events and behind the scenes details. In FY2016, 12 editions of the newsletter circulated to 4,141 subscribers. The Lowertown Line and Legacy-funded documentaries and performance specials are frequently included in the TPT and Rewire e-newsletters. Rewire reaches 2,613 subscribers with a 25% open rate while TPT reaches 62,312 subscribers and has a 23% open rate.

Commitment to Creating Impactful Work

TPT is committed to creating work that will have measurable impact for the artists we feature and for existing and new audiences. Through focused efforts to share and distribute content and to report survey results and collected anecdotes and testimonials, TPT is working together with featured artists and others to identify specific ways our content can grow awareness for their work and arts in our community and beyond.

Appendix B - Twin Cities PBS, Minneapolis/Saint Paul

Surveys are sent to artists, educators, event participants and general audience to capture essential information. Artists are reporting their networks have grown and they have sold work, sold tickets, been commissioned and/or received a grant as a result of appearing on our programs. Educators are reporting they are using our materials in their classrooms. The community is reporting they are participating and spending money in the arts because they were inspired by the artists they discovered through our programs.

77% of featured artists surveyed experienced increased awareness of and interest in their work.

20% of visual artists surveyed attribute $143,000 in sales as a result of appearing on MN Original, with an additional 31% of visual artists experiencing an increase in potential sales.

Performing Artists attribute over $500,000 in new bookings to their appearance on MN Original or The Lowertown Line.

  - MN Original segments are scored by local musicians. To date, we've partnered with 1,119 Minnesota musicians in 380 bands to grow our scoring library to 6,554 songs and counting.

Representation of Cultural and Ethnic Diversity

In accordance with the U.S. Census, Twin Cities PBS considers a person to be diverse if they are Native American, African, African American, Middle Eastern, Asian, Asian American or Latino. Youth and artists with a disability are also considered diverse.

All episodes of MN Original premiering between July 1, 2015 and June 30, 2016 featured artists from diverse populations.

Examples of MN Original profiles featuring diversity:

- Author and Macalester professor Marlon James' latest novel, A Brief History of Seven Killings, is rooted in his native Jamaica. The work earned him critical praise and one of the most prestigious literary awards in the world, the Man Booker Prize for Fiction.
- Asian brush painter Yudong Shen combines traditional tools and techniques with local subject matter creating stunning Minnesota landscapes.
- Oil painter Leslie Barlow explores multiculturalism, identity and the idea of "otherness" through the uses of figure and narrative elements.
- Russell Harjo, Leya Hale and Jennie Kappenman explore the meaning, history and regalia of three unique Native American dances.
- Syrian photographer Osama Esid's moving work explores notions of his own personal identity and the communities he is a part of, most recently traveling to refugee camps in Turkey to photograph school children.

Showcasing a Diversity of Arts Disciplines

Each half-hour episode of MN Original consists of multiple segments showcasing various arts disciplines. The following two charts represent the diversity of disciplines within the visual and performing arts featured on episodes of MN Original that premiered in the State's fiscal year.

Of the segments that premiered in FY2016:

- 49% featured performing artists
- 44% featured visual artists
- 6% featured literary artists

“MN Original shared the segment about our chorus, the Giving Voice Chorus, on their Facebook page and then national PBS reshared their post. We almost instantly had inquiries from all over the world. Most recently, Giving Voice Chorus received a visit from an arts programmer in Vancouver, British Columbia who had seen the segment, and was so inspired that they created their own Alzheimer’s chorus in Canada which will debut in February 2017.”

— Mary Lenard, Giving Voice Chorus
Co-President and Founder

Education

- Minnesota Humanities Center (MNHUM)
Educators at MNHUM created activity guides for the first six seasons of MN Original, encouraging students, educators, caregivers and viewers to explore the artists' work beyond the broadcast or online experience. 472 unique, downloadable guides are available as part of the Absent Narratives Collection, MNHUM's free online resource collection.
- Saint Paul Public Schools (SPPS) DigitalWorks Initiative
In May 2016, MN Original worked with SPPS's DigitalWorks grantees to lead a professional development and curriculum workshop focused on media arts integration in the classroom for St. Paul Public School Teachers. DigitalWorks is a 4-year U.S. Department of Education grant that is aimed at integrating technology and media arts into classrooms.

During the daylong workshop hosted in the TPT studios, 25 teachers spent the morning learning how to integrate digital storytelling and media with the help of MN Original resources, and the afternoon writing new or tailoring existing curriculum to include the usage of MN Original digital media and activities guides in their classroom.

MN Original digital media and learning resources provide educators with safe and easily available online materials to incorporate into their curriculum. MN Original resources give students the ability to learn about the importance of art from artists working in their own communities and see what a practicing contemporary local artist looks like. The workshop also showed teachers how they can use the tools they already have in their classroom (such as iPads and iMovie) to teach storytelling and have students tell their own stories based on the MN Original storytelling model.

Appendix B - Twin Cities PBS, Minneapolis/Saint Paul

To date, TPT collaborated with 35 teachers and reached hundreds students in grades k-12 across the St. Paul Public School District.

- Educational Conferences

In the fall of 2015, MN Original presented to more than 100 educators over the course of the Education Minnesota conference (MEA) and the Art Educators of Minnesota conference (AEM). The presentations were focused on arts integration and showed teachers how to find and implement the resources.

“Arts integration is so important to building well-rounded students. MNOriginal.org is a great resource for teachers!”

— Education Director at a
Performing Arts Venue

“I am already incorporating the videos from MNO into my art and music classes. Thank you for the treasures!”

— Kiersten Dahl-Shetka,
Arts Specialist at New Country School

Distribution of MN Original

- The Public Television Major Market Group

TPT and MN Original are proud to partner with The Public Television Major Market Group (MMG), representing 28 of the largest public television stations in the country, on the PBS National Arts and Cultural Content Management and Sharing System. This innovative system allows stations to share arts content with other stations in the group, resulting in a rich cultural exchange. The MMG makes it possible to leverage productions of MN Original and to share the work of Minnesota artists with other major markets across the country.

Each of the 28 participating stations contributes stories to the national feed and selects other stations' stories for broadcast and/or the web to serve their own community needs. Stories cover the performing and visual arts and feature interviews with disparate artists, writers, composers and performers.

In FY2016, MN Original segments on artists Kim Matthews, Mike Welton, Kurt Seaberg were included in national feeds.

In total, 28 MN Original segments have been shared with the MMG and continue to broadcast nationally.

28 Participating MMG Stations:

KAET/Phoenix	KVIE/Sacramento	WEDH/Connecticut	WSKG/Binghamton
KETC/St. Louis	MATC/Milwaukee	WEDU/Tampa	WTTW/Chicago
KLRN/San Antonio	MPT/Maryland	WETA/Washington DC	WTVS/Detroit

KTCA/Twin Cities	SOCAL/Los Angeles	WNET/New York
KUHT/Houston	WCNY/Syracuse	WPBT/Miami

Appendix B - Twin Cities PBS, Minneapolis/Saint Paul

- American Public Television

MN Original is now broadcast on PBS stations across the country. In May 2016, American Public Television (APT) began distributing nationally a collection of 13 MN Original episodes, featuring 891 artists. MN Original made its national premiere on May 25, 2016 on KQED Plus in San Francisco and by June 30, 2016, was airing in these 10 Nielsen markets:

Green Bay-Appleton, WI
La Crosse-Eau Claire, WI
Madison, WI
Monterey-Salinas, CA
Orlando, FL

Rapid City, SD
Richmond-PtRbg, MD
San Francisco, CA
Sioux Falls, SD
Wausau-Rhineland, WI

This new national distribution opportunity increased MN Original's potential reach by 6.5 million households. National PBS viewers are discovering Minnesota's artists and its extraordinary artistic communities through MN Original.

- See 18 Film Screen Room at MSP

MN Original is featured at MSP. The See 18 Film Screening Room at MSP International Airport is the first of its kind in a major US airport. Dozens of artists stories from MN Original, along short films and award-winning documentaries by filmmakers from the Upper Midwest, are featured on rotation around the clock. MSP estimates every year, 3 million travelers pass through See 18 on Concourse C and have the opportunity to discover Minnesota artists and our arts communities through MN Original.

- PBS NewsHour ArtsBeat Blog

Local Beat is an ongoing series on PBS NewsHour's Art Beat blog that features arts and culture stories from PBS member stations around the nation. In the past fiscal year they have shared 4 MN Original segments:

- "The step-by-step process of an artist who covers herself in paint"
Gadu Doushin, published August 11, 2015
- "This Minneapolis cabaret wants actors to resist typecasting"
Musical Mondays shared on January 26, 2016

Greta Claire, published February 9, 2016
- "This pyrotechnic artist paints with gunpowder and fire"
Lisa Friedrich, published March 8, 2016

- "Silent Night" on "A Minnesota Holiday Vol. 7"

"A Minnesota Holiday Vol. 7" includes the track "Silent Night" performed by Aby Wolf and The New Standards at their 2014 Holiday Show. The concert was recorded by Twin Cities PBS for a Legacy-funded television special. The 2015 holiday CD credited TPT and Legacy for use of the track. More than 3,000 CDs were sold in partnership with Kowalski's Markets for charity, raising money for Minnesota non-profits including Second Harvest Heartland, Union Gospel Mission, and the Saint Paul Police Foundation and for Minnesota residents in need of transplants.

“Malamanya is absolutely thrilled to be a part of The Lowertown Line legacy. In fact, the release of our episode was very timely in our efforts to be booked for a festival in Panama. We just returned from Panama last week from that very gig. I know that our Lowertown Line feature was quite instrumental in getting that booking.”

— Jesse Marks, Malamanya

“The Lowertown Line added a level of legitimacy to my band that couldn't be achieved any other way...Overall stock went up. Varies show to show, but we played the Pizza Luce block party and the Stonearch Bridge festival in town because of the PR spike. We saw a large increase in awareness of work.”

— Mike Blaha, The Blind Shake

“Giving a limelight to the individual artists in a community helps inspire and grow the art community as a whole and draws in tourists and new residents who are interested in living in a place with a rich culture of arts.”

KEVIN KLING: LOST & FOUND – Documentary Special Broadcast Premiere: November 16, 2015

Kevin Kling: Lost & Found tells the compelling story of the Minnesota playwright and storyteller. In the one-hour special, Kling reveals with wit and poignance, how his experience of loss and journey to healing have shaped his art and life. The production blends documentary and performance, and features original animations that bring Kevin's stories brilliantly to the screen.

Kevin Kling is part humorist, part poet and philosopher, part sacred fool. He tells his extremely funny and moving tales in a Minnesota accent straight out of the movie "Fargo." Kling was born with a congenital birth defect — a shortened left arm with no wrist or thumb. Fourteen years ago, a devastating motorcycle accident left him with a paralyzed right arm. Kling channels his profound experiences with trauma, disability and loss into stories that bring a message of healing and connection.

Kling's stories draw not only on his childhood growing up in suburban Minnesota, but also on Shakespeare, Dante and Homeric legend, with wisdom and relevance that transcends to modern day life. "Kevin Kling: Lost & Found" is filled with surprise, humor, depth and a unique prism on disability.

Distribution of Kevin Kling: Lost & Found

Kevin Kling: Lost & Found was distributed national by PBS Plus, after the first local broadcast on November 17, 2015. TPT made the show available to stations across the country and in FY2016, 137 stations broadcast the program 188 times, reaching 42% of US television households. Kevin Kling does presentations around the country and references the program and its availability in these talks.

"Kevin speaks so eloquently about disability and belonging. And he's so dang funny. Definitely a conversation driver in my circle."

— Betsy Spethmann, Northfield

THE LEGENDARY SAINT PAUL WINTER CARNIVAL - History Documentary In Production, Broadcast Premiere in FY2017

The Legendary Saint Paul Winter Carnival's traditions of gathering Saint Paul's neighborhoods to participate in ten days of winter sports, activities and parades, building elaborate ice palaces and crowning a fabled royal family have continued for generations. Hundreds of thousands visit Saint Paul for Carnival every year. This one-hour documentary is rich with archival film and images that capture Saint Paul since Carnival began in 1886, making The Saint Paul Winter Carnival one of the oldest winter festivals in the country.

ADDITIONAL LEGACY-FUNDED INITIATIVES FROM TWIN CITIES PBS

Digital Initiative

Over the course of the current biennium, Twin Cities PBS conceived, designed and built a new web site for its critically acclaimed arts and cultural series, MN Original. The new site will be released in the first quarter of 2017 and will be tightly integrated within TPT's popular and completely revamped web portal, tpt.org.

Visits to tpt.org in its first year since a redesign of its own have risen nearly 65% year over year. This new integration of MNO's web site and digital content will give those new visitors even easier opportunities discover the digital videos, artist profiles, educator guides, and bonus materials distributed as part of the production of the MNO series.

As part of the integration, earlier seasons of MN Original are also being uploaded to the PBS video system that tpt.org uses, ensuring every episode and segment ever produced are available to stream on tpt.org and beyond, onto PBS station sites around the country and onto national digital streaming services including ROKU, Apple TV and Amazon Fire through the PBS video "app."

Play + Learn

Arts tablet application for children

Play + Learn is a dynamic tablet application engaging early elementary-aged children and their parents and caregivers, helping them discover hidden gems of the local art scene while introducing simple arts principles through game play and experimentation. Young users are presented with 3 games, each with 2 levels of play, and each relating directly to an artist profiled on MN Original. Level completion unlocks access to video excerpts that inspired the activity. This app is now available for download in the iTunes App Store.

Asset Digitization

Twin Cities PBS has an extensive archive of video assets stretching back to 1957. Many of these programs exist only on film or early video and they continue to degrade with time. Clips in our collection featuring national figures such as John F. Kennedy and Minnesota political giants such as Hubert Humphrey, Orville Freeman and Elmer L. Andersen still await to be digitized.

To preserve these significant televised moments of Minnesota's cultural and political heritage, some Legacy funds have been allocated to digitize these treasures so they may be available for future generations of Minnesotans via the online Minnesota Video Vault. 100 archival programs were digitized in FY2016.

PROJECTS PRODUCED IN PARTNERSHIP WITH LEGACY FUNDING

TV TAKEOVER - Arts Series

4 Live TV Events, April 2016

Cross-platform artist-driven television, TV Takeover partners with some of the most inventive Twin Cities arts organizations to bring you eclectic, fresh, exciting episodes of television like you've never experienced it before.

TV Takeover partners "take over" TPT's airwaves and studio curating an hour-long episode featuring art, media, dance, music and more!

Appendix B - Twin Cities PBS, Minneapolis/Saint Paul

- TV Takeover by IFP Minnesota

Live Broadcast Premiere: April 8, 2016

Independent Filmmaker Project Minnesota (IFP MN) places the spotlight on the local female filmmaking community, featuring a variety of short films by female filmmakers, the creation of a music video over the duration of the broadcast, live scoring of a silent film by a string quartet, and more.

- TV Takeover by Circus Juventas

Live Broadcast Premiere: April 15, 2016

Circus Juventas explores the "art of happiness" through performances and explorations of the different elements of dance, theatre, puppetry, and costumes that make up contemporary circus. Performances include hand balancing, juggling, unicycling, contortionists, a fashion show of circus costumes, aerial acts, and more.

- TV Takeover by American Craft Council

Live Broadcast Premiere: April 22, 2016

American Craft Council celebrates what it means to be a craft maker in Minnesota through "Craft Cage Match" activities such as blindfolded pot throwing, "Let's Make" Inspiration Stations, craft trivia, and more.

- TV Takeover by Black Label Movement

Live Broadcast Premiere: April 29, 2016

Black Label Movement collaborates with a range of performance groups off of the light rail, ending at a black and white affair themed prom in TPT's studios. Dance performances by Black Label Movement, Hmong Breakers Leadership Council, Contempo Physical Dance and DanceBums. Musical performances by Michelle Kinney, Jacqueline Ultan, Andrea Reynolds, and more.

"Public television serves as a megaphone for local arts, expanding its reach across the state and the minds of those who tune in. Depth of content is something I feel we're losing in entertainment and culture generally, but TPT fights that trend by providing time and resources for producers to generate profoundly detailed & different television - which is invaluable to the creative & intellectual lives of Minnesotans."

Educational Efforts From Prairie Public and its Partnership with Minnesota Legacy

- Granted 5 Share a Story Family Literacy Events to schools, four of which were Title I schools.
- Presented at or distributed materials at five teacher/caregiver workshops/conferences, including a staff development workshop for staffers who educate children of migrant workers. We also attended the Art Educators of Minnesota conference, where we held a presentation that specifically promoted programs that highlighted Minnesota artists and projects.
- Engaged 875 people at Family Literacy Events, including two that serve residents of the White Earth Nation.
- Provided a day of free learning activities, food and resources to approximately 500 Minnesota residents at our annual Share a Story event.
- Distributed 623 books.
- Published 10 Lesson plans.
- Broadcast 1,557 hours of education programming
- Distributed 1,965 free mobile app vouchers for iPad, iPhone and Android users to schools, early childhood educators and families using mobile technology as a teaching tool.
- Attended Giving Tree event in Moorhead. This event directly targets underserved residents in the region by providing free holiday gifts to families who can't afford them. At this event alone, we distributed 1,500 handouts and 500 app vouchers, plus held a drawing and awarded two free Android tablets to families.
- Provided an early childhood e-newsletter, a K-12 e-newsletter, two print mailings to 150 different Minnesota schools, numerous video and online services to all Northwest Minnesota educators:
  - 83 school districts
  - 4,410 teachers
  - 47,727 students
  - 200 early childcare professionals
  - 1,557 hours of education programming
  - 2,500 Video programs for broadcast or lease.
- Promoted tens of thousands of online resources through PBS LearningMedia, PBS KIDS, and Prairie Public's websites and social media.

Social media presence

- An average of 2-3 Facebook entries per school day
- 429 Facebook followers
- 529 tweets plus numerous re-tweets on Twitter
- 720 total pins on Pinterest

Total Number of Education Materials available on website: 246 lesson plans

“As far as its impact on me and my teaching, this is by far the best project I have done in 35 years of teaching. My students learned writing and listening skills, desktop publishing, how to use a video camera, and how to meet deadlines.”

Financial Report

Report on Legacy Expenses: Cost of Production for State Fiscal Year 2016

For Period: July 1, 2015 through June 30, 2016

129D.18 GRANTS TO PUBLIC TELEVISION

Article 4 Sec. 7 Subd. 4. Reporting. A public station receiving funds appropriated under this section must report annually by January 15 to the commissioner, the Legislative Coordinating Commission, and the chairs and ranking minority members of the senate and house of representatives committees and divisions having jurisdiction over arts and cultural heritage policy and finance regarding how the previous year's grant funds were expended.

The report must contain specific information for each program produced and broadcast, including the cost of production, the number of stations broadcasting the program, estimated viewership, the number of hours of legacy program content available for streaming on Web sites, and other related measures. If the programs produced include educational material, the public station must report on these efforts.

Prairie Public's commitment to education predates the Legacy Amendment, and Legacy funds help augment and expand the work, particularly in early childhood education, teacher professional development, and distribution of educational resources. In June, 2016 the Legacy Amendment supported the two-day graduate credit-approved "Innovate, Integrate, and Motivate: Create Tech for teaching 2016" for 28 northwest Minnesota pre-K-12 teachers, which featured experts on educational technology. We also presented breakout sessions highlighting PBS and Prairie Public at regional educational conferences and workshop trainings for preK-12 educators, and used our monthly e-newsletter and social media platforms to promote free resources to 6,700 northwest Minnesota teachers representing 43,500 students. Educational programs and video collections on the arts, history, and culture were made available to Minnesota school districts via the free PBS Learning Media digital resource portal. Family Literacy Event Grants worth $2000 per event were awarded to six Minnesota schools committed to building literacy skills at home, encouraging parental involvement in their children's learning and sparking a love of reading, discovery, curiosity, and learning in young learners .

Representation of cultural and ethnic diversity

In working with the community of Montevideo to document public art projects and the Hello Montevideo documentary resulted in a large international cell phone company coming into town to make a commercial of the same sentiment as our documentary. Over the past three years, we have been working with the Hmong elders of Walnut Grove to create a documentary about their community. We worked with the community of Worthington to create a documentary on the Dakota dance and music ensemble Brulé which will air in the coming year.

Through several community based screenings of Legacy, PBS and other local content, Pioneer is reaching out to the small rural communities we serve and engaging the region in dialogues about the Vietnam War, Anti-immigration sentiment and the history of black baseball in Minnesota. Pioneer's relationship with the local Native American, Somali, Micronesian and Hmong communities in our viewing region have led to greater statewide awareness about the issues they face.

Showcasing a diversity of arts disciplines

Pioneer's Legacy-funded programs feature a wide variety of artistic disciplines such as painting, sculpting, dancing, woodworking, culinary, fabric art and many more. We strive to represent a wide variety of artists from different backgrounds.

Several partnerships this past year include the Lac qui Parle County Museum where we captured stories about native son, Robert Bly.

Our relationship with the regional folk music community through the Minnesota Bluegrass and Old Time Music Association (MBOTMA) has led us to a second season of our roots music show Grassland Jam. We have developed a strong relationship with MBOTMA's members and have participated in their annual calendar of music festivals during the past year.

Our relationships with the regional arts councils, SMAC and LRAC continue to deepen as we use the Postcards episodes we create to lift up emerging and established artists in their respective regions. Pioneer staff participates in arts resources fairs and retreats that are put on by these organizations.

Many of the artists we featured (such as PlaceBase Productions) have successfully applied for Legacy grants and we've helped support and promote their projects.

Education efforts

Pioneer has ongoing classroom partnerships with Lac qui Parle Valley High School, the Montevideo High School, and the Willmar High School. Our materials have been used at Ridgewater College and we have held several events at Southwest State University. Each year, Pioneer holds workshops with teachers of the Minnesota River Valley Education District about how to use our local Legacy content in the classroom.

Pioneer worked with the Willmar Public Schools to provide education about Somali culture. The Postcards episode on Somali culture is used in many classrooms at the high school and this year was used for training by the Minneapolis Public Schools. One teacher in particular, Peggy Karstens, has created specific lesson plans around our Postcards content and gives students extra credit for watching and reporting on episodes of Postcards.

Our Micronesian Culture in Milan episode of Postcards has also been widely used for education throughout the La Qui Parle school district and is utilized in local hospitals to help support cultural understanding.

"I'm a Program Facilitator in the Minneapolis Public Schools, where we serve about 1,200 Somali K-12 students and their families. I recommended this wonderful video to all of my teachers. Thanks to you and everyone who worked on this project."

— Anonymous, Minneapolis

History

We have worked with the world-class museum in Granite Falls, Fagen Fighter WWII Museum over the past year to help tell the story of the Holocaust. It was the relationship formed during the creation of our War Birds documentary about the museum helped generate one of the largest donations ever given to a rural public television station in the nation. As a result, we will be moving to a state of the art television campus in Granite Falls in 2017.

Representation of cultural and ethnic diversity

LPTV's Legacy production crew is committed to embracing diversity in people and ideas throughout northern and central Minnesota. We actively strive to tell the stories of the diverse cultures present in our region, including the many Native American communities that contribute to our rich history and culture. For example, Bronze sculptor Gareth Curtiss works closely with Bemidji's Shaynowishkung statue committee to replace a beloved but dated lakeside statue of Chief Bemidji. Hear from some of those on the Shaynowishkung committee, (Carolyn Jacobs, Sandy Kaul, Mitch Blessing & Kathryn "Jody" Beaulieu), which dedicated years to finding a just and accurate representation of the man for whom Bemidji is named. Also, we heard from local leaders including Bemidji Mayor Rita Albrecht, Leech Lake Chairwoman Carri Jones, Red Lake Chairman Darrell G. Seki Sr., & former White Earth Chairwoman Erma Vizenor about the historical and cultural significance of the Bemijigamaag Powwow of April, 2015.

Showcasing a diversity of arts disciplines

LPTV's Legacy productions have presented a broad variety of arts disciplines that showcase many of the talented individuals across our entire region. In the past year, Common Ground has featured sculptors, dancers, poets, musicians, authors and quilters, among others. In Focus segments have featured graphic designers, traditional native artists, local theater, and authors, among others.

Advisory board/consultants

LPTV measured the success of these productions through feedback received from our Community Advisory Councils. These volunteer groups of LPTV viewers gather bi-monthly in both our Brainerd and Bemidji studios to provide programming feedback and inform staff of the general pulse of LPTV in their communities. Our Legacy Production crew also hosted and organized two focus group/luncheons in the Bemidji and Brainerd areas in June 2016. Attendees, comprised of past participants in Legacy productions, local arts board members and area legislators, provided feedback regarding improvements for Legacy productions as well as suggestions for future content.

LEGACY PROGRAMS FROM LAKELAND PUBLIC TELEVISION

“I just watched Harnessing the Headwaters; First Dams on the Mississippi and Boardwalks to Bike Paths; Northern Minnesota's State Parks. WOW! What great films and even having been a lifetime (age 74) resident I learned so much! How can I access more... and more?”

— Carolyn Kile

“I wanted to send you a word of thanks for granting the [art]ifact team permission to use your in-depth video about the creation of a la crosse stick from the Common Ground show. As you know “[art]ifact: where history meets art” was an exhibit that took place at the Pump House Regional Arts Center in La Crosse WI from 26 February – 16 April, 2016. The project had used objects from the La Crosse County Historical Society that University of Wisconsin La Crosse students researched and studied extensively. These objects and their stories were then paired with regional artists (some of whom were from Minnesota) who made modern interpretations of these objects in mixed media, sculptures, woodcuts, photographs, and paintings.

When the students were researching Native American Ho Chunk objects they found that much of the information about them was vague and sometimes unreliable. The video from Common Ground was a quality in-depth look at how la crosse sticks were made that was done in a culturally sensitive manner. The quality of the film was excellent and the choice of content—explaining how sticks were made from a single piece of timber—was particularly important for the exhibit written content, but also for the artist who re-created a la crosse stick in the manner described in the video as his art piece.

You were very generous to give us permission to edit and use the video as part of the exhibit. I hope that you will be able to continue to produce great work through Common Ground and that we will be able to work together again in the future.

Thank you again for your great work and for your support of our project.”

— Ariel Beaujot, Associate Professor
University of Wisconsin La Crosse
History Department

“My wife, Jill, and I thought it was time to applaud your programming decisions that enable Common Ground to be shared with us. We are persistently pleased by the shows that apparently Scott Knudson puts together. I'm sure that it is a challenge to find the people to feature. I guess we all know characters up here, but he seems to find an edge to approach his subjects that makes them more captivating. My sister is moving back to the area after living in Michigan for the last decade and she looks forward to seeing our legacy funds at work through such programs that just don't exist elsewhere. Please accept our thanks for supporting the show, and keep it on the air. We have a couple of people that Scott might find interesting and we'd be happy to share them if that would help.”

“Common Ground’s Biking Bemidji episode was the opening bell for six months of good weather, fun outdoors, healthy living, and active transportation. We loved the expose and received enthusiastic feedback from viewers. It wasn’t long after the episode aired that the Star Tribune sent a reporter and photographer up here to learn to learn about Nice Ride Bemidji! As a community initiative, Nice Ride Bemidji thrives on partnerships with our local media, and we just plain love watching Common Ground. Thanks for sharing your creative energy!”

Report on Legacy Expenses: Cost of Production for State Fiscal Year 2016

For Period: July 1, 2015 through June 30, 2016

129D.18 GRANTS TO PUBLIC TELEVISION

Article 4 Sec. 7 Subd. 4. Reporting. A public station receiving funds appropriated under this section must report annually by January 15 to the commissioner, the Legislative Coordinating Commission, and the chairs and ranking minority members of the senate and house of representatives committees and divisions having jurisdiction over arts and cultural heritage policy and finance regarding how the previous year's grant funds were expended.

The report must contain specific information for each program produced and broadcast, including the cost of production, the number of stations broadcasting the program, estimated viewership, the number of hours of legacy program content available for streaming on Web sites, and other related measures. If the programs produced include educational material, the public station must report on these efforts.

LEGACY PROGRAMS FROM KSMQ

OFF 90 – Art, Culture and History Series Episodes 701 - 708, 710 - 713

Our Off 90 crew travels across southern Minnesota exploring its unique people, places, and events. The goal of Off 90 is to educate and inform viewers about the art, culture, and history inherent to our region of the state.

Each individual story featured on Off 90 is also shown separately on KSMQ as interstitial programming calling Quick Stops.

- Episode 701, Broadcast Premiere: November 8, 2015

In the spirit of the shepherds, spinners and weavers of old, Faribault Woolen Mill is keeping craftsmanship alive as they create beautiful blankets from wool. The mill recently celebrated its 150th anniversary.

Rochester artist Cassandra Buck has created a series of pieces documenting the identities associated with being a woman. Each work of art represents a woman that was interviewed to complete the project. Cassandra Buck presented her work at the Creative Salon in Rochester. Her exhibit was called "Herself: A Series about Identity."

John A. Latsch was a Winona businessman who loved fishing and exploring on the Mississippi River. He was a lifelong patron of conservation and has done much to preserve land in the river valley. However, due to his sense of humility, his efforts remain largely unsung. We went to Winona to discover a little more about the man.

Forestville/Mystery Cave State Park is a park located in Southeastern Minnesota. We explored the dark subterranean world of Mystery Cave, the longest cave in Minnesota, with its stalactites, stalagmites, and underground pools.

- Episode 702, Broadcast Premiere: November 22, 2015

The National Farmers' Bank of Owatonna, Minnesota is a bank building designed by Louis Sullivan. It was built in 1908, and was the first of Sullivan's "jewel boxes," a series of designs Sullivan made for several banks that all had the same theme. Sullivan, who once was a prominent architect living in Chicago, had fallen on hard times. The commission in Owatonna breathed new life into his career.

Thomas Blahník turns twisted, disfigured pieces of wood yield amazingly beautiful works of art. The grain of the wood dances to life as Thomas turns them carefully on his lathe. Join us as we follow an oak from the forest to fine art.

The Southeastern Minnesota Bluegrass Association, or SEMBA, has a goal, which is to provide the best traditional country and bluegrass music to Southeast Minnesota. The group hosts a few festivals each year. We caught one of their concerts at Cushon's Peak Campground, which is by the Root River Bike Trail near Houston.

The Tamburitzaans are a dance troupe from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. They perform ethnic dances from several Eastern European countries. You can expect to see elaborately choreographed moves set to authentic traditional music with the flare and elegance of cultural attire at a Tamburitza concert. We recorded a performance at Crossings in Zumbrota.

- Episode 703, Broadcast Premiere: December 27, 2015

In the early 1900s, a man named Cy Thomson built several then-futuristic livestock farms, along with an entertainment park. Unfortunately, he used embezzled money to build his farms.

There aren't many hats that Lynette Yencho doesn't wear as an artist. She draws, she paints, she sculpts, she designs websites, she designs costumes. Her creativity is fueled by her love of the irreverent and her cherished dogs. We visited her in her home in Owatonna, which is filled with her creations.

A group of young filmmakers from Rochester have taken that quote to heart. The members of the Rochester Filmmakers Community joined together to achieve one goal: to make movies. We met with the group's founders to talk about what it takes to make movies in southern Minnesota.

- Episode 704, Broadcast Premiere: January 10, 2016

In the early 1900s, Hollandale, Minnesota, was a marsh. Then along came a developer who figured out that if he drained the marsh, he could create a farming community and take advantage of the rich, underlying peat soil. Hollandale thrived for a time growing sugar beets, potatoes, onions, and other produce. The developer recruited people of Dutch ancestry, who he presumed to be good at raising produce in former marshes. We take a look at Hollandale today.

Rory Mattson has been painting for more than forty years. His favorite subject is nature. How convenient that he can just look out his kitchen window and spot eagles, wild turkeys, herons and songbirds for inspiration. He is a classic watercolorist in the English style. He takes his time and loves creating every last detail. Join us as we visit his studio in Albert Lea.

Located on the Zumbro River's south fork, the city of Rochester is Minnesota's third-largest city and the largest city located outside of the Metro Area. It is home to the Mayo Clinic, one of the largest and most well-known medical facilities in the country. We did a little exploring in Rochester to find out its history, how it's doing now, and to learn about its future.

The Art Center in Albert Lea wanted to reach out to people who don't consider themselves artists but who were involved with the Art Center to have an opportunity to present their favorite pieces of art. Exhibitors displayed various objects including paintings, sculptures, and photographs that not only were aesthetically pleasing, but also help a deep meaning to their owners. The proprietors of the Albert Lea Art Center feel that their space is not just for artists, it's for everybody.

- Episode 705, Broadcast Premiere: January 24, 2016

The owl has long been a symbol of wit and wisdom. But, a good place to find facts about a Strigiform is the International Owl Center down in Houston, Minnesota. The goal of The International Owl Center is to advance the survival of wild owl populations through education and research.

Music runs in the veins of the Benson Family. As a group, they perform gospel and bluegrass music. We join them at home in Faribault as they work practice into their busy lives, and then follow them on stage as they take their harmonies to music lovers across the upper Midwest.

On hot summer nights, hundreds of people in Winona enjoy the foot stomping marches and rousing show tunes performed by the Winona Municipal Band. The band recently celebrated their 100th anniversary. From the days of celebrating store openings, to today's summertime concerts by Lake Winona, this cherished band has performed through thick and thin. Let's take a front row seat for this summertime treat.

For a small town, Spring Valley has boasted several notable residents. One of them was author Laura Ingalls Wilder, who lived in Spring Valley for a time. Another name you might recognize is Richard Sears, one of the founders of Sears, Roebuck & Company. We visit the Spring Valley Historical Society to find out more about these and other notable former residents.

All it took was one brush. Dee Teller fell in love with Chinese art because of a sumi brush. This love has taken her to China and Toronto to study, and has been rewarded by numerous international distinctions. Her specialties are horses and ancient calligraphy. We visit Dee at her home near Faribault for a lesson in art and laughter that this vibrant woman is only too happy to share.

John O'Rourke is a veteran Austin broadcaster. He worked in both radio and television for many years as a newscaster and a sports announcer, and he started the broadcasting program at Riverland Community College. O'Rourke also served as Austin's mayor for nearly a decade and he MC'ed the Miss Minnesota Pageant, back when it was held in Austin. Now O'Rourke has another claim to fame: He has been inducted into the Minnesota Broadcasting Hall of Fame. We talked to O'Rourke about his lifetime of accomplishments.

It's still true in our society – standing away from religion can cost you plenty. To question the existence of a supreme being – risks friendships, family, even employment...

A growing number of people believe they're good without Gods. Is nothing sacred? Did we make it all up? Good questions – for Minnesota's Free Thinkers.

The Day of the Dead is a traditional holiday that originated in Mexico to honor deceased loved ones. A poetry slam is a competitive poetry performance. Organizers in Rochester combined the two to create the Day of the Dead Poets Slam. We watched as competitors participated as their favorite dead poet in an environment festooned with Day of the Dead decorations and altars.

- Episode 707, Broadcast Premiere: February 21, 2016

After World War II, Minnesota boasted hundreds of baseball teams in towns across the state. State tournaments were held. Pitchers were paid by the inning. Minnesota athletes who made their mark in other sports would often go back to town baseball in the summer.

Rachmaninoff, Chopin, Liszt...these are some of the favorite composers of piano phenom Henry Wang. Henry is a senior at Century High School in Rochester, Minnesota. He's been playing piano since he was five years old. Under the tutelage of Alexander Braginsky, this young man is racking up the awards and amazing audiences.

While Michael Resman was a physical therapist employed at the state hospital in Rochester, he became interested in the history of treatment the mentally ill and disabled in Minnesota. Eventually, he wrote two books on the subject.

The Gopher Count is an annual community festival held in Viola, Minnesota. Since 1874, the event has been on the third Thursday in June. The event is actually one year older than the Kentucky Derby. Named after the practice of collecting bounty on gophers, the festival has grown over the past century to include many other family friendly activities.

- Episode 708, Broadcast Premiere: March 27, 2016

We attended the FEAST event in Rochester. This annual event gives local craft food producers a chance to show off their wares to commercial buyers and the general public. It was a delicious exploration of the great things happening in local food.

Fashion trends change regularly. Back 1800s, women didn't just throw on jeans and a T-shirt and call it good. They had to dress up, partly to show off their husbands' wealth. We visited an exhibit at The History Center of Olmsted County about the history of women's fashion.

For the last 24 years, the City of Rochester has been organizing summer concerts in Mayo Park alongside the Zumbro River. Riverside Concerts was a bold experiment that has paid off with years of great entertainment.

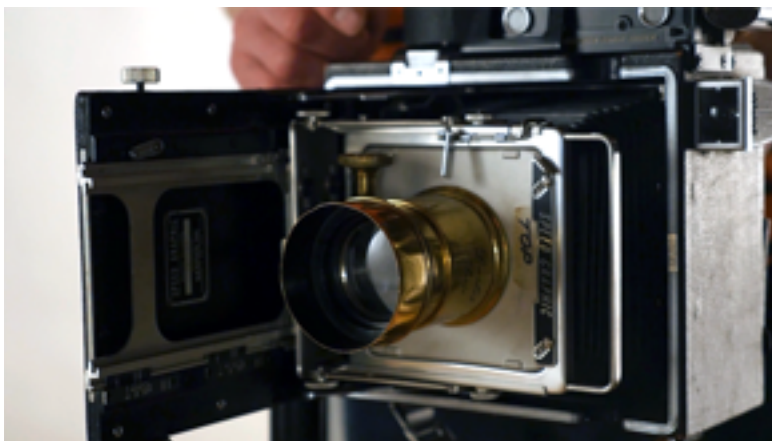

Trace Beaulieu is probably best known for his roles on the program Mystery Science Theater 3000 where he played a mad scientist as well as lending his voice and puppeteering skills to Crow T. Robot. Behind the scenes, Trace is also an artist. We talked with Trace during a recent showing of his work at the Riverland Community College in Austin

The Spring Grove Soda Pop Factory is one of those great little hometown gems that is gaining a national following. It got its start in 1895 with grape, strawberry and root beer flavors. Using pure cane sugar, today's flavors are carrying on the old-fashioned tradition. Owner Bob Hansen gave us a tour of the bottling plant where we learned what made this soda pop a growing favorite.

Twin Cities' photographer Timothy G. Piotrowski shuns modern digital photography. Instead, he uses analogue processes, such as film negatives and darkroom chemicals. Piotrowski specializes in photographing women's clothing in historical settings using antique equipment.

One frigid winter day, Michael Resman found himself outside picketing the school he worked at and wondered, "How did we get to this point?" Eventually, Mike wrote a book about the subject called "Bad Blood and Economics: A History of Teacher Strikes in Minnesota."

A few years ago, Barb Keith started a summer program aimed at making students more familiar with the techniques of filmmaking. Each student was responsible for creating their own film while the other students acted as the crew for each other's projects. The final result was a group of short, black and white, silent films.

- Episode 711, Broadcast Premiere: May 8, 2016

The Tendermaid Sandwich Shop has been an Austin institution for almost 80 years. It was built on what was once the busiest intersection in town. Known for both its hamburgers and friendly atmosphere, the Tendermaid has attracted generations of customers.

Being Sheriff is tough enough. Being the first female elected Sheriff brings an even brighter spotlight to your work. Sheriff Terese Amazi of Mower County takes it in stride. We spent some time with her to learn more about the role of the Sheriff and how she navigated the new territory of women in law enforcement.

Between 1943 and 1945, twenty-one POW camps, housing Axis soldiers captured during WWII, were established in Minnesota. Prisoners from these camps proved to be a valuable source of manpower for agriculture, logging, and small businesses. Dean Simmons wrote a book about this absorbing episode in Minnesota's history called "Swords into Plowshares."

For 65 years, Marvin Grabau has been living in rural Spring Valley. He's assembled quite a collection of interesting equipment over his lifetime from farm machinery to fuel wagons to crazy creations of his own. It's a sight to behold. He's restored many historic pieces to working order.

- Episode 712, Broadcast Premiere: May 22, 2016

Families in the United States have adopted more than 100,000 children from South Korea since 1953. As one of those adopted children, Joel Peterson shares his unique perspective in his book, "Dreams of My Mothers." We visited with Joel to find out about the cultures of these two

Report on Legacy Expenses: Cost of Production for State Fiscal Year 2016

For Period: July 1, 2015 through June 30, 2016

Grantee: KSMQ Public Service Media

Legacy Projects	Cost of Production
For period: July 1, 2015 - June 30, 2016	For period: July 1, 2015 - June 30, 2016
Off 90	$57,728.36*
Christmas at Assisi & KSMQ Holiday Music Special	$12,465.34*
Legacy Documentaries	$45,324.19*
R-Town	$116,073.29*
On Q segments, On Q Insight, Farm Connections Segments	$1,128.84*

**Note: actual expenses for these programs were higher than cost of production numbers listed above. These numbers only reflect what was submitted to the State for reimbursement. Additional expenses were absorbed by KSMQ in our non-Legacy budget categories due to the State-reduced amount to fund Capitol restoration. KSMQ is committed to its Legacy programming and corresponding staff, and chose to financially cover the gap created by the reduction in Legacy funding during the temporary shortfall. Should Legacy funding not be fully restored, KSMQ will not be able to fund these programs' shortfalls in the future, resulting in a decrease in Legacy projects.*
