Grant	Privacy, Security, Consent Part A	Gray Plant Mooty		$ 200,000.00	The proposal represented a comprehensive approach to issues. The budget was well done and included discounted hourly rates to provide work within the budget available. The grant hours seemed reasonable and the in-kind match was significant and demonstrated a desire to do this work. The level of expertise is greater than with other applicants. A corporate law firm bringing expertise and get the "answer" but that might not be what's needed. Introductions seen as vignettes of the work they've done as opposed to "advertisement". They have worked in Minnesota and are very familiar with Minnesota Data Practices. Firm of this size would have a depth of expertise beyond health care to draw on (e.g., estates). It appears they have the capacity to address these issues and would be able to respond to Part B grant needs. What is needed is really good legal review and this applicant would be seen as that trusted expert with credibility and objectivity. They are strongest legal team in Minnesota- maybe not as much in HIE but in HIPAA and privacy. They clearly understood the drivers of the MN SIM work-indication that they can be "easily educated" and willing to learn and develop additional expertise. Their proposal acknowledge the necessary review of state policy levers and mandate SharePoint site as evidence of transparency. Applicant may need additional insights, through community engagement activities, of what the needs in the field are and a better understanding of what a Medicaid population looks like. Applicant hosts an annual public health law summit; this summer's was very good and demonstrated their level of expertise and capacity for dissemination of information--consistently over 5 years of these summits with significant provider expertise and breadth of knowledge. Reviewers recommended funding this proposal.

Grant	Privacy, Security, Consent Part B	Hielix		$ 299,137.00	Proposal reflected what was asked for (requirements) and included additional aspects that were not required. They referenced attention to specific Minnesota legal requirements and their ability to do significant outreach and use materials already developed by Part A grantee and others. Their national experience may be very helpful and participation in national workgroups is notable. They would direct training to privacy officers and described patients as consumers and included language around caregiver minor consent. Reviewers expressed concern about hours related to project management- thought that less was needed-- and some concern about grant product quality based on application typos/errors. Reviewers recommended funding this applicant after receipt and approval of additional information on personnel, evaluation and budget modifications.
