Background

Wild elk are found in northwest Minnesota and can sometimes cause considerable damage to crops, fencing, and stored forage in this area. To help reduce the impact on area farmers, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) manages the Animal Damage Compensation Program which provides up to 100% compensation with a minimum claim amount of $100 and a maximum claim amount of $20,000 per producer, and a maximum claim amount of $1,800 for fence damage.

This report is submitted in accordance with Minnesota Statute 3.7371 Subd. 8:

The commissioner must submit a report to the chairs of the house of representatives and senate committees and divisions with jurisdiction over agriculture and environment and natural resources by December 15 each year that details the total amount of damages paid, by elk herd in the previous two fiscal years.

Elk Damage Payments

Payments made by the MDA to producers with documented damage from elk for fiscal years (FY) 2022 and 2023 are summarized in the table below. The herd determinations are estimates made by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and are based upon location of the claims that were made.

Table 1. Elk damage claims and payments for fiscal years 2022 and 2023.
