Thanks for Making it Work!

Members of the Metropolitan Council and its advisory bodies
1967-1987

Metropolitan Council
300 Metro Square Building
7th and Robert Sts.
St. Paul, Minnesota 55101

Pub. No. 310-87-094

Organizations always boil down to people. And few organizations have received the help from people that the Metropolitan Council has experienced since its creation two decades ago.

More than 3,000 regional citizens have worked on Council advisory committees, boards and task forces in the last 20 years. They've put in thousands of hours and produced hundreds of recommendations, guiding the Council in its planning for the region's growth and development.

Moreover, these advisory groups help ensure that the Council stays in touch with the community's values. Reflecting those bedrock values is the main job of the Council, says Council Chair Steve Keefe.

To all those current and former citizens, the Council's 20th-anniversary theme is particularly directed:

"Thanks for making it work!"
