SECRETARY-GENERAL MANAGER'S REPORT

SECTION I — INTRODUCTION

Your Secretary - General Manager humbly acknowledges the sincere and dedicated efforts of the many volunteer workers, the department superintendents and their subordinates, the Board of Managers and the loyal and hardworking permanent staff in helping to make the 1966 Minnesota State Fair an all-time recordbreaker.

There is no doubt also, that a tremendous part of the credit of the success of the 1966 Fair was due to the splendid cooperation the management has received at all times from the press, radio and television people of the state in the presentation of the programs of the Fair to the people. Their continued support of the Fair's aims and their contributions of space and time brought the State Fair to millions of readers, listeners and viewers.

It presents a tremendous challenge to all of us to improve and grow by presenting the very best in panoramic visual education and top wholesome entertainment. To that end we solicit the continued help and support of all members and friends of the Society and, at the same time, pledge to them our sincere efforts in striving to be worthy of this support.

Respectfully Submitted,
JOHN E. LIBBY
Secretary-General Manager

SECTION II — GENERAL

The 105th Minnesota State Fair, staged August 27 through September 5, 1966, established an all-time attendance record of 1,359,750 admissions. This was the 12th consecutive Fair with an admissions total exceeding one million. It clearly established the Minnesota exposition as the leading 10-day Fair in North America.

The largest single-day total in Minnesota State Fair history was recorded on the second Sunday, September 4, when 196,839 admissions were registered. In all, single-day records were established six of the ten days. On one day—Thursday, September 1—admissions fell below 100,000. This also was the only day marred by rain. The total for the entire Fair includes 35,578 admissions on Friday, August 26, because an entrance charge was in force from noon onward that day.

Weather conditions were nearly ideal. The average mean temperature was a comfortable 72 degrees, compared to 58.2 degrees during the 1965 Fair. As mentioned previously, rainfall was restricted to one shower on Thursday evening Sept. 1. By contrast, four days of rain plagued the 1965 exposition and no fewer than two days of rain have been recorded during each of the past 20 Fairs.

In keeping with the "Pageant of Midwest Progress" theme, exhibits portraying the booming economy of the Upper Midwest were in abundance. All exhibit buildings and outside exhibit and concession areas were filled to capacity with displays of high quality.

The livestock departments were flooded with entries for both open-class and junior shows. In some cases, it became necessary to turn entries away because of lack of stalling facilities. Additional pens were constructed for the sheep department in the west section of the Sheep-Poultry Building to accommodate overflow.

Cash premiums and awards exceeding $259,000 were paid to outstanding exhibitors in the Fair's 20 competitive departments. There were more than 8,500 exhibitors who showed approximately 62,000 animals and articles.

Five thousand boys and girls from all of Minnesota's 87 counties participated in 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America programs at the Fair. With the cooperation of these two excellent organizations, the Minnesota Exposition continues to provide one of the nation's largest and most comprehensive Fair youth programs.

Both afternoon and evening Grandstand attendance increased noticeably over the previous year. It is probable that favorable weather conditions and a healthy economy were responsible for much of this improvement, but top variety acts featuring "name" talent also had a favorable effect. The first five night programs featured The Supremes, top recording artists plus television comedian Jerry Van Dyke. The second five nights offered The Smothers Brothers, making their second Minnesota State Fair appearance, and George Kirby, a talented comedian and singer.

Because of the traditionally light attendance on Labor Day night, night show dates were moved ahead one step so that the first performance was staged on Preparation Night, Friday, August 26.

Improvements in recent years, such as paving the race track surface and providing a cover for a portion of the stage, helped prevent cancellation of any of the afternoon or evening Grandstand shows. Even the performance marred by rain on Thursday night, September 1, was completed.

Major improvements were made to the area occupied by the Teen Age Fair during the previous two years. A permanent Young America Center was constructed on this site across Commonwealth Avenue from the Midway. The Young America Center was completely enclosed, with a permanent wall providing a backdrop for 61 cabana-style booths along two sides of the Center. An exhibit building was constructed on the eastern end to provide additional facilities for fashion shows, stage presentations, and similar attractions. Together with the existing carousel dance floor at the west end of the Center and a complete re-surfacing project, these additions created a considerably improved attraction. Attendance leaped past the 120,000 mark.

Attendance at the English and Western Horse Shows in the Hippodrome was well above the average of the preceding ten years. It was only slightly behind attendance in 1965, when the Royal Canadian Mounted Police "Musical Ride" was featured.

Royal American Shows shattered its all-time record for a Fair engagement. Royal American broke its single-day mark twice — on the second Saturday, and again on the final Sunday. Previous daily highs were surpassed on nine of the ten days. Only Thursday's rain prevented a clean sweep for the 45-year-old show.

The Conservation Building, which was vastly improved and enlarged in advance of the '66 Fair, drew more than 600,000 visitors into its log structures. More than 120,000 persons climbed 73 steps to the top of the new 65-foot Forest Ranger Tower built alongside the Conservation Building.

Nearly all concessionaires reported unsurpassed business. The warm, dry weather was nearly perfect for vendors of food and beverages. The Space Tower and Swiss Sky Ride broke records, too, in their second and third seasons of operation.

Efforts to attract children and teen-agers during recent years paid rich dividends in 1966. In both categories, new highs were established. There were 114,881 teen-agers and 340,387 youngsters under 12 years registered at the outside gates.

A new "host" greeted visitors in 1966. A 24-foot fiberglass statue of the Fair's Gopher advertising mascot attired in barker's clothing was erected opposite the Administration Building. A contest to name the Gopher resulted in selection of "Fairchild."

A handsome new Administration Building, with Executive Offices, Board of Managers room, and Space Rentals, Bookkeeping and Entry departments, was opened in advance of the Fair. The former Administration Office next door was remodeled to house the Publicity-Advertising Department, Treasurer's Office, Post Office and Medical Aid Center. Old buildings which had housed three of these departments had been razed the previous fall. Public Safety Headquarters was moved into a new structure alongside Commonwealth Avenue near the Midway and Young America Center. A Child Care Center was installed in the building which formerly housed Public Safety. Over 1,100 "lost kids" were registered and returned to their parents by Child Care during the run of the Fair.

Another major improvement to the physical plant was a new pedestrian bridge over Como Avenue connecting the South Como parking lot with the main Fairgrounds at Underwood Street. The first such bridge was built near the Hippodrome in 1965. A large new concrete structure was built in West Plaza Park to showcase operations of KSTP-TV and Radio. Also, a public address system was installed throughout the Fairgrounds to provide background music and handle emergency messages.

An exchange of property between the State Agricultural Society and the University of Minnesota in November provides the Fair with additional parking space and an access road to a new entrance on Larpenteur Avenue. The Larpenteur gate is expected to relieve traffic pressure from Snelling Avenue by enabling people approaching the Fair from Minneapolis and northwest Twin Cities suburban areas to enter the Grounds without going eastward to Snelling. Grading, fencing and gate construction will begin next spring. The Society exchanged land at Como and Raymond Avenues for the Larpenteur-access tract. A rental arrangement also was negotiated which enables University students to use the Fair's race track parking lot during the school year.

One of the welcome elements of the 1966 State Fair was an "around-the-clock" grounds cleanup program instituted by Superintendent James Libby. Four hundred brightly-colored trash barrels were distributed and 100 men in white coveralls worked throughout the day to pick up trash. These factors were added to the regular overnight cleanup operation and made the grounds cleaner than ever despite record crowds.

Outside gate admission charges remained the same as in 1965. Adults and automobiles were admitted for $1.00; teen-agers paid 75 cents, and children under 12 were admitted free. The free admission age level was upped to under-17 on the two Children's Days — Monday, August 29, and Friday, September 2. Prices to the Grandstand and Hippodrome attractions also remained the same as the previous year.

Mrs. Roy Holst of Minneapolis and Mr. Ted Zimmerman of LeCenter were presented with 1966 Senior Citizen Awards during the evening Grandstand show Thursday, September 1.

An initial report of the Hall of Fame Committee, appointed January 6, 1965, was made to the Society by Chairman T. H. Arens. Mr. Arens explained that the purpose of the Hall of Fame was to recognize persons, who by means of their services, had contributed to the success and development of the State of Minnesota through the medium of the State Fair. In accordance with this, Mr. Arens proposed for election the names of six individuals for posthumous membership in this honor society: D. K. Baldwin, Axel Hansen, A. J. McGuire, John Brandt, Charles B. Crandall and T. H. Erickson. These individuals were then duly elected and placed upon the roll of the Hall of Fame with the intention to give these persons due recognition at a suitable permanent location on the Fairgrounds.

SECTION V — FINANCES

Part A - Operating Statement

It should be noted that the operating statement, later in this section, includes only receipts and expenditures pertaining directly to the operation of staging the 1966 State Fair together with the maintenance of real estate and other property of the Society during the year.

Total operating receipts of $2,174,012.20 represent an increase of approximately $260,000.00 over 1965. This increase is no doubt due to a healthy economy and near ideal weather conditions during last years fair. Operating expenses $1,763,838.06 represent an increase of approximately $56,000.00 over 1965.

The difference between the operating receipts and the operating expenses shows an operating gain of $410,174.14. It should be noted here, however, that the operating statement does not reflect the amount of money expended for improvements to structures, real estate, etc. More than $360,000.00 was spent for permanent improvements to the plant. If the amount expended for permanent improvements was deducted from the operating gain it would show a net gain of approximately $50,000.00.

Premiums paid in 1966 totaled $258,032.00. This represents the second largest amount of premium money ever paid in the history of the Minnesota State Fair and reflects the large number of entries in all departments.

As mentioned above, a total of $362,395.00 was expended this past year for additions and improvements to real estate and buildings on the Fairgrounds. A more detailed analysis shows that of this amount $192,110.57 was spent for improvements or additions to structures; $16,750.57 was expended for improvements to land, streets, and sidewalks; $61,393.76 was expended for improvements to the electric plant, and $82,601.26 was expended for the acquisition of additional personal property.

Among the major items included in the improvements to structures are: The completion of the new Administration Building; re-vamping the old Administration Building sight to accommodate Post-Office, Publicity Headquarters, and Medical Aid Center; a new exhibit building and permanent wall complete with cabana-type exhibit booths at the Young America Center; addition of another wing at the Conservation Building; an additional pedestrian bridge spanning Como Avenue at the Underwood Gate; construction of the new Police Station at the corner of Commonwealth and Liggett; removal of the center island in the Agriculture-Horticulture Building to accommodate additional floral displays and reducing the size of the dormitory in that building to accommodate the newly established Christmas Tree Department and a competitive Crop-Arts Display; and re-vamping of the old Police Station to establish a Child-Care Center.

Among the major items included in the amount expended for personal property was the purchase of: furniture and equipment for the new Administration Building; approximately 90 large metal containers and several hundred small fiber containers used in the new sanitation program; and the purchase of additional trucks, tractors and mowers.

REPORT OF PUBLIC EXAMINER
FINANCIAL AFFAIRS
of the
MINNESOTA STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY
Year Ended November 30, 1966

ACCOUNTANT'S REPORT

This report on an examination of the financial affairs of the State Agricultural Society covers the year ended November 30, 1966.

This examination included a limited general audit as defined by the National Committee on Governmental Accounting. The examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as this department considered necessary in the circumstances.

It is the opinion of this department that the balance sheet and statement of operations contained in this report present fairly the financial position of the State Agricultural Society on November 30, 1966, and the results of its operation during the year then ended. The statements were prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

COMMENTS

The State Agricultural Society is a public corporation with the right of perpetual succession. Its membership is composed of the following:

1. Three delegates from each agricultural society or association in the State which maintains an active existence, holds annual fairs, and is entitled to State aid.
2. One delegate from each county in the State in which no county or district agricultural society exists, to be appointed by the county board.
3. Individuals, who by reason of eminent service to agriculture, horticulture, or in the arts and sciences connected therewith, or by long and faithful service to the Society, have been elected as honorary members.
4. Delegates from qualified State societies and associations as listed in M.S.A. Section 37.03 (4).
5. Members of the Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society.

Members of the Board of Managers are elected at the annual meeting of the State Agricultural Society for a period of three years. The Board of Managers consists of a president, two vice-presidents, and one member from each of the seven regional districts not represented by a vice-president.

The year-around business is conducted under the stewardship of a secretary-general manager, elected by the Board.

All employees serve at the pleasure of the Board and the secretary-general manager. The secretary-general manager is authorized to make adjustments in the assignments and compensation of employees as he deems advisable.

Activities of the Society are financed by receipts from the annual fair and from rental of buildings and grounds.

Attendance

The following is a record of the attendance at the last four annual fairs:

	1963	1964	1965	1966
Admitted through outside gates .	1,183,125	1,228,474	1,176,633	1,359,750
Admitted to grandstand	192,017	219,985	139,949	189,852

Attendance at the 1966 fair was the largest not only in the history of the fair but also the largest in a single day with 196, 839 visitors. Weather conditions were generally ideal during the ten-day period of the fair.

Balance Sheet

A balance sheet as of November 30, 1965 and 1966 is presented in Exhibit A.

Cash not currently needed is invested in United States Treasury bills.

In the previous report, it was stated that the value of personal property shown in the balance sheet is not substantiated by an inventory of the individual items. It was recommended that inventories of personal property be taken periodically and that the records be adjusted to show the proper value of such property.

It is understood that employees have been in the process of taking an inventory of the personal property belonging to the Society.

Education Building

On February 8, 1967, the Education building on the fairgrounds collapsed resulting in a total loss of the building.

Fixed asset accounts in the records of the Society show the cumulative cost of the Education building to be $325,976.47 at November 30, 1966. However, this amount includes a portion of the cost of the Home Activities building annex which was constructed under the same general contracts as the Education building. On the basis of contracts awarded, the cost of the Education building is estimated as being between $200,000.00 and $220,000.00. Fittments added after construction brought the total value to nearly $250,000.00.

It is recommended that the costs recorded in the Education building account be analyzed to determine the cost of each unit and the records adjusted for the actual loss sustained.

An investigation into the causes of the collapse of the building was made by the Attorney General for the purpose of determining the possibility of any liability of persons involved in the design or construction of the building.

The investigation revealed that regular-weight concrete had been used in fabricating the roof of the building instead of the light-weight concrete called for in the specifications. The change in specifications resulted in a savings to the general contractor of $975.00.

The claims for payments submitted by the general contractor did not show any deductions for this change totaling $975.00, nor do the records of the Society indicate that the savings were passed on to the Society.

All modifications of a contract should be approved in the same manner as the original contract, and all items of additions and deductions should be shown on the architect's approved application for payment.

Accounts Receivable

Upon recommendation made in prior reports, the Society submitted accounts deemed uncollectible to the Executive Council for cancellation. The Executive Council in December 1966 approved the cancellation of accounts totaling $8,135.93 which had previously been charged to surplus.

Operations

A comparative statement of income and expense for the years ended November 30, 1965 and 1966, is presented in Exhibit B.

The following is a total of the income and expense for the years mentioned:

	Year Ended November 30 1965	1966
Total income	$1,901,862.04	$2,174,742.10
Total expense	1,690,340.62	1,763,838.06
Net income	$ 211,521.42	$ 410,904.04

The increase in total income was generally due to greater attendance. An increased effort was put forth to attract teenagers by furnishing more attractions at the Young America Center at the fairgrounds. There also was no Federal excise tax on admissions to the grandstand, thereby increasing gross receipts to the Society. There were no changes in admission fees during the year.

PROCEEDINGS

108th ANNUAL MEETING

of the

MINNESOTA STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

January 9, 10, 11, 1967

RADISSON HOTEL

Minneapolis, Minnesota

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Monday Morning, January 9, 1967

The meeting was called to order at 10:35 o'clock a.m., Section 2, Star of the North Hall, Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Ladies and Gentlemen: Welcome to the 108th Annual Meeting of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society and the Federation of County Fairs. At this time I would like to apologize to the Board of Directors of the Federation for my inability to attend their dinner meeting last night. I think most of you know that I come from the "snow country." We have had a little difficulty in Duluth. In fact, last Friday was the first time in my life that I had to call my family that I wouldn't be home at night because I was stalled at a neighbor's house. I apologize to your Board for not being able to be there and I hope I can make it some other time.

We have to get organized here but before we do I would like to urge all of you to take in the meetings of this convention. This convention has been set up for a purpose and we have tried to set up a good program, one that is serious and also one that has some laughs in it. We want to encourage everybody to attend the meetings. That is really what we are here for so let's take an interest in those things.

We have to appoint a Credentials Committee and a Resolutions Committee. This is done by grouping ourselves into districts as we have done in former years, having the Chairman get your meeting organized and get these suggestions in for the members of the Credentials and Resolutions Committees. In a moment we will recess this meeting and you will meet by districts starting with one at this end and so on around the room. When we are through with the nominations we will convene again and announce the results and then be adjourned until the Federation Meeting this afternoon.

. . . The various districts held their caucuses for the appointment of committee members . . .

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Our Secretary, Hubert Ransom will read the Committee members.

. . . Secretary Hubert Ransom read the Committee members as submitted by the Regional Districts as follows: . . .

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: The names of these committees will be posted on the blackboard at the rear of the room so that you may refer to it. The meeting places are listed in the program.

We have concluded the business we are supposed to take care of this morning and we stand adjourned until two o'clock tomorrow afternoon here in this room.

. . . The meeting recessed at 11:00 o'clock a.m. to reconvene at 2:00 o'clock p.m. Tuesday, January 10, 1967 . . .

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Tuesday Afternoon, January 10, 1967

The meeting was called to order at 2:10 o'clock p.m., Section 2, Star of the North Hall, Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis, Minnesota, President D. T. Grussendorf, presiding.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: We have had a little trouble with our microphones so we have had to delay for a moment. If you will refer to your program you will note that we were to begin at two o'clock with Opening Remarks by the President.

The first time I went to the State Fair was about 50 years ago when I was about ten or twelve years old and I went with my Dad. The one thing I remember is that we were in the grandstand and I had to go to the rest room. I went around the turnstiles and I couldn't find my way back to my Dad and I was quite bewildered. Since that time I have had many fine associations with the State Fair which is about 50 years, as an exhibitor, a 4-H Club exhibitor and a County Agent and now as a member of the Board of Managers and President.

Yesterday you heard Jim Hill speak about the necessity of getting exhibits for our Fair which were probably not agriculturally-oriented. In other words, broadening the scope. I think most of you will agree that the Minnesota State Fair has been trying to do that. On the other hand, let's not sell agriculture short. A recent survey made by the University of Minnesota of the 1965 income in the State indicates that 32 percent of the jobs in the State have their background in agriculture, or agri-business, so to speak. That means that one out of three jobs in the State have their background in agriculture and that is a pretty good chunk. We have the other two-thirds oriented in other areas and we must appeal to them, too, with our Fairs. I think county fairs and State fairs are doing that but maybe we have to raise our sights.

Because other members of our staff will be making reports, it will not be necessary for me to go too much into some of the things that have happened this past year. It is true, we have had our trials and tribulations but at the same time we have had our satisfactions and gratitudes of a Fair that was tops in every way — attendancewise, moneywise, in the entertainment field and in the field of education. So we have much to be grateful for. Our attendance last year was 1,359,750, with 8,500 exhibitors and about 5,000 youths exhibiting — F.F.A. and 4-H. We are all quite familiar with the larger areas of the State Fair. I thought I would take two smaller areas which are not too often recognized to show you that a lot of things go into making a State Fair.

One area I would like to spend a moment on is the area we call our medical station. Most of you don't even know it exists out there and I would like to tell you a little bit about it to show you this broad scope. Last year we had 81 volunteer Red Cross Nurses at our medical station and we had a doctor on duty 24 hours a day. Last year the medical station took care of 1,250 emergency patients, that is at the rate of about 125 per day. It is not a hospital, it is merely a medical station but it is just one of the areas which most people aren't too concerned about but which has to be taken care of.

You will recall that last year we moved the medical station to the old administration building. We had very fine quarters for it, much better quarters than we ever had before, so we could do a good job.

Another area I would like to call your attention to which didn't make the headlines too much was our new Child Care Center. Last year we had about 1,100 kids that were lost at the Fairgrounds. It so happens that the custodian or one of the matrons of the Child Care Center which was housed in the old police station out there, was somebody that I picked from Northern Minnesota — a very good friend of mine, a Mrs. Wolfe. Because I knew her I spent a little time in that station to see how things were operating. They had a booming business. I remember one evening about 11:00 I stopped in there and a little girl about 17 years old had lost her brother. Her brother was ten years old. It seems the family had driven down from Hinckley to see the Fair and spend the day there. They were dairy farmers. About five in the afternoon Father said, "We have to go home and milk those cows," but they couldn't find little Johnnie. They asked the sister to stay back at the Fairgrounds and locate Johnnie. We know a dairyman thinks a lot of his cows and has to milk on time but this is one who probably thought more of his cows than he did the kid who was lost at the Fairgrounds. The young girl was quite frantic because she had quite a responsibility. The mother and father went back to Hinckley to milk the cows and they left her. Come one o'clock in the morning, the boy still hadn't been found. He had been informed where to report if he got lost. At two o'clock, still no boy. The next morning, still no boy. The police were alerted and I was concerned myself as to what could have happened to that youngster. The police assured me that never once in the history of the State Fair had they lost a boy or girl that wasn't returned to the parents. The next morning we contacted the family in Hinckley by telephone and the boy was home. He had hitch-hiked his way home. He probably found somebody on the grounds from Hinckley and he got home.

In the Child Care Center one evening I went in and found an old couple, a man and wife who were in their 80's and they had become lost. They had come to the Fair from Albert Lea with their son who was 39 or 40 years old and he became very much engrossed in the Fair and forgot about his parents. They sat there until about two or three in the morning and finally our management found a motel for them to go to and we put them up for the night.

This is just an interesting, human element about the Fair which I thought you might be interested in knowing about.

The Fair was great because of the help of all of you people. As was said yesterday by our fine speaker, Jim Hill, the County Fairs are the pipelines to the State Fair. County Fair people get the first opportunity to see these exhibits. They are then sent to the State Fair. You County Fair people, you Extension Agents, Future Farmer people, 4-H, agricultural men, press, radio, television, volunteer leaders back in the community, are all things that make the Fair successful. We, as a State Agricultural Society, are interested in county fairs because they siphon to the State Fair. We hope you have a successful County Fair this week.

The "castle of opportunity" is right at home. I often think of a story of a little boy about six years old. He got up about five in the morning as they sometimes do and with his great imagination he looked out at the sun. The sun was a large ball of fire, so to speak, appearing in the eastern sky. He imagines that sun is a big castle and there are doors and windows. He looks in and sees all kinds of things he would like to get his hands on. He starts off to meet that sun. He goes across the playground and comes to a neighbor boy's home and they sit down and play in the sand. The day wears on and toward the end of the day he remembers he was starting off for that castle and he was going to grab something out of it. Evening had worn on and the castle had moved to the other side. He turns around toward that castle and arrives right back home, which is the "castle of opportunity."

Your County Fairs, in the things you can do locally to build a good Fair, eventually siphon off to the big Minnesota State Fair.

It has been a pleasure for me to act as your President this past year. Because of weather conditions and economic conditions and because of fine cooperation, it was an outstanding Fair. We hope that next year we can exceed what we have done this year.

I wish to close my remarks at this time and we will go on to some of the other reports. Thank you. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Are there any comments? If not, all in favor signify by saying "Aye," contrary?

. . . The motion was carried . . .

As with all organizations, we have a Treasurer. We have had a very good Treasurer for quite a few years, Mr. Roy C. Sorenson. In introducing him it reminds me of a story of an experience I had one time when I was on a Committee called a Pulpit Committee of a church where we were looking for a new Pastor. Some of you have no doubt acted on such a Committee. We went to a neighboring town where we thought they had a pretty good Minister and did pretty well with his parish. We asked one of the fine ladies in the church how they liked this particular Pastor whom we were intending to offer a bid to come to our church. She said, "Just fine! We didn't know what sin was until he came." But that isn't the part I wanted to apply to Mr. Sorenson. It was the next part. We also wanted to know whether this Pastor was good at financing a church, which is very important. We asked her about that. She said, "Oh, yes. He is just tops at financing the church. One Sunday he made the announcement just prior to the offertory that one of the parishioners had been unfaithful to his wife and if he would drop $5 in the collection plate, nothing more would be said. In the collection plate was 19 $5 bills and $2 clipped together with a sheet of paper saying 'I will pay the balance next Sunday.'" Sorie, you are also a good financier. Would you come forward and give your report:

MR. ROY C. SORENSON (Report of the Treasurer): Mr. President, Members and Friends of the Society: If you will turn to page 23 I will give my short report.

The cash balance for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1966 was $443,217.23. The total cash receipts for the year were $2,217,588.15. The cash disbursements for that same period were $2,057,198.55 which left an excess of receipts over disbursements of $160,389.60. This gives us a balance as of November 30, 1966 of $603,606.83 as of November 30, 1966.

These funds consist of the following:

General Cash Fund, Northwestern National Bank	$106,936.83
Contingent Fund, Midway National Bank, St. Paul	1,000.00
Payroll Fund, Northwestern National Bank	10,000.00
U. S. Treasury Bills, Northwestern National Bank	485,670.00
	$603,606.83

Mr. President, I move the acceptance of this report.

MR. AL THOMPSON (Spicer): I second the motion.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Any comments? If not, all in favor of accepting the Treasurer's Report say "Aye"; opposed?

. . . The motion was carried . . .

Our next report will be given by our Secretary-General Manager, John Libby. I suppose some of you wonder how John ever got his job as Secretary-General Manager of our Fair. It wasn't easy to get that job. He had to pass a very rigid examination. It was in the form of an examination in which he was to give definitions for certain items. For instance, he was asked to give nine definitions. He was to define the meaning of "neck." He defined it as: Something if you don't stick out, you won't get in trouble up to. The meaning of "petition": A list of people who didn't have the nerve to say "No." The meaning of "red light": The place where you catch up with the motorist who passed you at 80 miles an hour two miles back. The meaning of "service station": A place where you fill the car and drain the family. The meaning of "tact": The ability to make your guests feel at home when you wish they were. The meaning of "unaware": What you put on first and take off last. The meaning of "virus": A Latin word used by doctors to mean "your guess is as good as mine." The meaning of "will power": The ability, after you have used three-fourths of a can of paint and finished a job, to close the can and clean the brush instead of painting something else that really doesn't need it. "Younger Generation": A group that is alike in many disrespects.

John Libby —

(Applause)

MR. JOHN E. LIBBY: (Report of Secretary-General Manager): Thank you, Mr. President. I sometimes wonder, too, after the last year, call it a "family vendetta" or whatever you want to call it, not only how I got the job but why. Seriously, though, I do want to express my appreciation to the President and members of the Board for your understanding and cooperation during 1966. It has made my job much easier.

The printed report has been distributed on the chairs and covers in detail most of the operation — in fact all of the operation of the 1966 Fair. I am not going to read it but I would like to make a few brief comments regarding it and suggest that you take it home and study it at your leisure.

Mr. Grussendorf mentioned the total attendance of 1,359,750. This was the 12th consecutive year that we have broken the million area. I am sure you will agree after the weather we experienced in 1966, the importance of favorable weather conditions to any out-door amusement, especially Fairs. You have probably heard the question many times and perhaps you have asked it yourself, "I wonder what the attendance would be if we had ten perfect Fair days." I think we came closer to learning the answer to that question in 1966 than ever before — at least any time in the last 20 or 30 years. The only rain we experienced during the ten days was on Thursday, September 1st when it started raining about seven or eight in the evening and rained quite hard. That day, by the way, was the only one in which the attendance did not exceed the million mark. I think it was a little better than 96,000. Page 20 of the Report will give you the total day by day attendance figures. New records were established on six of the ten days and highlighted by a new all-time single record day attendance of 196,839 on Sunday, September 4. These crowded conditions naturally created a lot of additional problems for most of our departments, especially sanitation, grounds, Police Department. I think a special tribute here should be paid to the department superintendents and their subordinates for handling these problems in the way they did.

Most of the important financial figures have been given to you by Mr. Sorenson but it should be noted that in the Operating Statement contained in this book, although it shows a little over $410,000 operating profit, it does not reflect the fact that more than $362,000 was expended in 1966 for permanent improvements to the facilities. This would reflect a net gain if these were considered in the operating statement, of less than $50,000. Your Board of Managers has already tentatively approved a very energetic building and improvement program for 1967, which points out the fact that they are continually striving to make permanent and lasting improvements through the facilities which I think are better than most any Fair in the country. We do not have to take a back seat to any organization as far as Fairs are concerned.

As part of the improvement program it is planned to construct a 28,000 square foot structure to house dairy products and other animal products, as well as to construct a new gate and parking area on the north end of the grounds which will give us another entrance on Larpenteur Avenue. These are but two of the improvements we are planning for 1967 and which we hope will be a reality.

I would like to express my gratitude to the permanent staff who have worked so many extra hours, for helping to make my job so much easier. I can't tell you enough how much I appreciate their help and their assistance and loyalty and dedication. Without them, it would be a pretty disastrous task, believe me.

The record year that we experienced in 1966 presents a tremendous challenge to all of us to improve and to grow by presenting the very best in panoramic visual education and top, wholesome entertainment. To that end, we solicit the continued help and support of all members and friends of the Society and at the same time, pledge to them our sincere and dedicated effort in striving to be worthy of that support. Thank you very much. (Applause)

I would like to move the approval of the Secretary-General Manager's Report.

MR. LEO KESKINEN (Grand Rapids): I second the motion.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: It has been moved and seconded that we accept this report. All in favor signify by saying "Aye"; contrary? It is accepted.

. . . The motion was carried

We come now to that delightful part of our program when we have our youth present their case. I mentioned awhile ago that we had roughly 5,000 youth exhibitors at our State Fair. It is customary to have a representative of the 4-H and F.F.A. with us and I am sure this year they are very fine representatives as they always have been. We will hear from the 4-H representative first, Miss Sharon Schmidt of Pipestone. Sharon has been in 4-H for nine years. She has majored in home economics activities but also has been in the feeder cattle project. She has a brother 15 years old in 4-H and her Mother and Father have both been local volunteer 4-H Club leaders.

MISS SHARON SCHMIDT (President, Minnesota 4-H Federation): Good afternoon. It is a pleasure for me to be here this afternoon before such a distinguished audience and it is really different to look out and see people instead of in a class looking at a T-V. I just came from class in chemistry, looking at all of these difficult formulas and it is really a change and I am glad to be here. I am all caught up on classes this afternoon and can skip a few.

It is also different for me to speak to mostly a male audience. I do see some of my sex but most of you are males and this ratio is something that is not seen very often. The only time I can remember of this is at the American Institute of Co-ops Convention in Colorado, the ratio there was four boys to one girl and this was a different experience for me and I really enjoyed it. Usually conventions end up with six girls to one boy and this was a change of pace and I liked it.

The statement has been made many times that the youth of today will be the leaders of tomorrow. I feel that 4-H definitely teaches us the basic foundation for being a good leader. Fairs help us to begin this basic foundation. Through Fairs we learn exactly how our Democratic enterprise is based. It is based on the main attribute of competition. In Fairs I feel we learn a lot on competition because this is what the 4-H exhibits are based on. I must say that I enjoy competing in Fairs because it does have a lot of basis for my future. Some day I hope to be a housewife — I don't know how soon, but some day. Demonstrating and exhibiting at Fairs has helped me to gain a lot of knowledge in this field. I do not want to set forth a meal that is not attractively prepared and does not taste good, too. I want to be able to make a good loaf of bread, to prepare a good-looking batch of cookies and to be able to make a crust that is flaky and good. Without competition, I cannot find out exactly what I am doing wrong. Through competition at the Fairs I find out just exactly where my products have fallen down and where not to make this mistake again.

We also become good sportsmen. Even though we can't all be winners, I must say that I have received my white and red ribbons as well as my blue and champion. After getting over the initial shock of seeing a white or red ribbon, I look at the situation objectively and try to figure out where my product fell down. I can remember one year I exhibited some butterscotch cookies. I didn't think they looked too well when I took them to the Fair but I had made quite a few batches and they had all turned out the same. They were a refrigerator cookie that you cut from rolls and they were small when I cut them off the roll but this large when I took them out of the oven. They didn't look quite right but I took them anyway. When I saw the other cookies that were exhibited of the same kind I knew mine weren't as good as they should be. They are supposed to be a small size and light in color, but mine were exactly the opposite. I finally remembered that I had baked on a hot and humid day and I forgot to add some extra flour. That is why the cookies sprawled out all over the cookie sheet.

Through Fairs I have found out how to make my products more attractive and more delicious.

With the availability of so many projects in 4-H, each of us can become a more well-rounded person. Until my brother joined 4-H I was mainly in the home ec project. When he joined I also enrolled in the swine project. This was a change in my 4-H program because they say that "variety is the spice of life" and I certainly found that out in this swine project. In this project when I did show at the Fair I was able to show a different aspect in life because I found out in the swine project the many different phases in the industry of livestock. I also found out the cuts of meat, how to actually show a pig. Sometimes it didn't turn out too well, especially when my pig got ornery and ran through the judge's legs. That can be expected because they cannot be trained quite as well as the dairy animals can be.

Besides showing just what we have accomplished in 4-H at Fairs it often gives us an opportunity to demonstrate. I feel demonstrating is of great importance to 4-H'ers and the public at a Fair. We let the public know what we have learned in 4-H and we let them know if they have trouble spots in the topic we are demonstrating, how to correct them. When I first tried to put a zipper in an article I didn't quite understand the directions. But when somebody showed me, I was able to go back home and put it in correctly. I gave a demonstration to show how to put a zipper in and I am sure I helped a few people to learn how to put in a zipper and make it look attractive. This gives a chance for 4-H'ers to participate in a Fair.

Fairs also give us a chance to get away from home — every one of us enjoys getting away from home for awhile. It gives us a chance to be responsible for our own actions. At a Fair we are responsible for what we do. We have to account for our own actions and we have to prepare each of our exhibits for the shows. This is most important in the livestock exhibits because we do have to get our own animals ready for the Fair. It makes us feel a little prouder and happier when we are able to show an animal that we have worked with for almost a year. Through Fairs we gain so much experience I couldn't possibly tell you all I have gained in experience through Fairs. Even more thrilling is to win a trip to the Minnesota State Fair. I have won two trips and the last one was in 1964 to the State Dress Review. This was a different experience for me because I never went to the State Dress Review before. This time I was completely on my own. I stayed in the 4-H building and there I had to be responsible for being on time at different meetings and making different engagements. Fairs do help us to become more responsible citizens in this society.

With all of this we learn and have a lot of fun. I must say that in the learning and fun part, neither outweighs the other because it is always on a 50-50 basis.

One of the fun parts of a Fair is working in the 4-H food stands. Here we are able to give the public a service — keeping their stomachs from growling while they are seeing the exhibits at the Fair. I am sure I can say for all 4-H'ers that we try to put our best foot forward in whatever we do. Fairs help us to strive to do a better job on all of our projects each year that we exhibit at the Fair. We try and strive to live up to the 4-H motto to "make the best better" and I am sure we all try to show this at the Fairs.

The contribution of Fairs to 4-H'ers is a long and endless list. I have tried to tell you a few that I feel are very important to me. Fairs do teach us competition, to be good sportsmen, to take our white and red ribbons and also our blue and our champion ribbons with a smile, knowing we can learn from our failures and successes. It teaches us to have independence, to show that we really have a head on our shoulders. Most of all, it gives us a chance to show our accomplishments and what we have done in the projects we are enrolled in. We are able to provide activities to the public through the 4-H food stands at the County Fairs, by just showing our exhibits and letting people know what we have done.

Where I come from, the town of Pipestone is mostly a farming community. The public does show up for the livestock judging. This really does give entertainment for the people in our community. As I said before, they really do have a turn-out at the County Fair and I know they do at the State Fair, too.

Fairs give us a chance to learn and have fun and as I said before, I feel that neither outweighs the other.

I want to thank all of you, the Fair Board members and delegates here for your continuous support to 4-H'ers in this State. I know you will never let us down. Once again, thank you for your labor of love. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: How could anyone let down a young lady like that and the tremendous organization, the 4-H Club. All of us who have anything to do with Fairs are doing our part.

Now we will call on a young man who represents the Future Farmers of America. His name is Tom Schultz. He goes to the University at Morris. He took time away from his school, too. I don't know whether he is enjoying the cutting of classes like the young lady did but I assume he does. He has been in Future Farmer work for five years. He comes from a general farm and a dairy farm. I believe he has beef cattle and his father has dairy cattle. Tom Schultz — (Applause)

MR. TOM SCHULTZ (President, Minnesota F.F.A.): Thank you, Mr. Grussendorf. It is indeed a pleasure for me to be here today speaking to this 108th Annual Meeting of the State Agricultural Society of the State of Minnesota.

In the State Fair we find, as Future Farmers, that we do two parts of our 4-line motto. That is, "learning to do and doing to learn." The State Fair offers us many places and many opportunities to learn to do and to do through learning. The 14,000 members of the Future Farmers of America indeed are proud to come to the State Fair with our livestock, with our projects, and are also thankful that the State Fair gives us this chance to be involved in competition where we can learn to better ourselves, better our farming programs and be a better prepared citizen of our State and our nation.

One of the basic areas I can think of in Future Farmers of America is the F.F.A. Livestock Show at the State Fair. Indeed it is a large livestock show, the largest livestock show in the world. When we first made this claim, Texas jumped on us right away. As you know, Texas claims to have the largest and biggest of anything. When we compared figures, Minnesota came out hands down. We were indeed proud to be a part of this very large livestock show which could not be made a reality without the help and the work done for us by the Minnesota Agricultural Society of the State Fair.

These activities which I have mentioned briefly, not touching on them too deeply, have indeed a part in our vocational agricultural picture. Boys need the opportunity in learning and education, to go to other counties, other towns, county and state fairs, to learn more than they can get locally of the vocational agricultural picture. The State Fair, which has supported us so fine for all of these years, gives us a chance to reflect and to respond to all of the support they have given us.

In mentioning a few other areas of activity which have been supported by the State Fair, I would like to mention the F.F.A. Crop Show where boys have the opportunity to bring their crops in so they can find out and compete; as Miss Schmidt mentioned she has learned a lot in exhibiting as to what she had done wrong, what she had done right and how she could improve what she put forth as her product.

The F.F.A. Dairy and General Livestock Judging Contest is also a very appropriate area for vocational educational training. The boys here learn to look for the best in livestock. They learn to make natural selections so they can carry out their farming programs to a larger extent. In my own farming program I, too, know how hard it is — especially when you have your favorite animals — to make decisions, but these decisions are necessary for the future of your farming program depends on a good natural selection by yourself and also by making selections that will help your herd through the future years.

One area in which we receive a lot of comment and congratulations about is our F.F.A. Children's Barnyard. Those of you who have been to the Fair and visited this, as I am sure most of you have, will know that this is one of the favorite places for children and for adults to come to, to see the goats, horses, cattle, chicks, ducks, geese — you name it and we have it as far as animals on a farm. This last year at the State Fair we had our three millionth visitor to the Children's Barnyard. It was indeed a proud moment when we found our three millionth visitor and we had Princess Kay of the Milky Way there and presented this young girl who was our three millionth visitor, with a basket of dairy products — very typical and appropriate for the Future Farmers of America to do.

In addition to the above-mentioned activities which I have enumerated, there is also the F.F.A. and 4-H Farm Boys' Camp. At this Camp we, members of the Future Farmers of America, have a chance to go out and help people in the grandstands. I think this is one of the wonderful ways by which the Future Farmers serve the public. In the grandstands we learn a lot about courtesy, about how to help people, how to handle sticky situations. Last year at the 1966 State Fair I visited the Farm Boys' Camp for a couple of days. It was indeed a lot of fun for me to go out to the grandstand and help people find their seats, to recover things they have lost and the likes, and still enjoying the grandstand performances which we were admitted to.

Another area in which Future Farmers have an opportunity to learn about vocational education is through demonstrations. We, too, as the 4-H Clubs, are also interested in demonstrations. We find that many boys have a great time coming to the Fair to teach some other persons through demonstrations about what they have learned in vocational agricultural courses. Our demonstrations run all the way from farm mechanics, to farm business record keeping. I am sure that any F.F.A. member who went to the State Fair to demonstrate never regrets it.

We also have F.F.A. booths in the new educational building. We feel that through this chance to demonstrate something about what we have learned in F.F.A. and vocational agriculture in the new education building, we have a chance to help the public understand that although we know that farming, as we know it, is by some people sold down the drain, that we are not all gone yet and as Mr. Grussendorf mentioned, 32 percent of the jobs in the State of Minnesota come from agriculture or ag-related businesses. We, in the Future Farmers of America, indeed do look toward the future, a future of young men in the public school system of our State, and also learn through methods of judging of competition at the Minnesota State Fair.

In closing, I would like to sum up what I have understood and talked to boys about who have exhibited or taken part in some of the various activities of the State Fair. The story I would like to relate to you would explain it thus:

Three riders were riding on the Sahara Desert one night. They came to an oasis where there was water. Their horses and feet were tired. After the horses drank their fill a voice in the night said, "Don't turn around." The men, indeed, were frightened. He then instructed them all to pick up a pocketful of stones. The three men, not wishing to anger the hidden stranger, did as he instructed. He told them to mount their horses and before they rode away he said, "Tomorrow you will be both sad and happy from this incident." The next morning the three men awoke, scared, looking over their shoulders to see if the stranger had followed them. He had not. Then they checked their pocketful of stones which bothered them slightly and they found in their pocket instead of pebbles and rocks, it had changed to precious stones. Indeed, these three horsemen were saddened. They were sad, but they were also happy because they had picked up stones that had turned to jewels — but they were also sad that they had not picked up more.

Our Future Farmers members, 14,000 strong in Minnesota, relate this story to me and I relate it to you. Our boys are both sad and happy — happy that they have taken part in the activities of the Minnesota State Fair and sad that they do not take part in more.

I again want to thank you for all you have done to help us through the past years and I hope we will be able to merit your support in the future years for the Future Farmers of America. Thank you. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Thank you, Tom. Both of you are fine examples of your organization.

We come now to the part of the program we are all waiting for — the introduction of Mr. Donald "Red" Blanchard. All you know so far is what you read in the program and what his topic is to be. We are pleased to present to you a veteran of the Fair industry. Our speaker tells us he has been appearing at State and county Fairs for 36 years. In recent times our speaker has earned a wide reputation as a television personality in the Chicago area. He is Master of Ceremonies and comedienne of Chicago's number one T-V show seen in color over WGN-TV. Now in his 35th year in broadcasting, our speaker is President of Radio Station KCFI in Waterloo, Iowa, and Vice President of Farm Belt Radio, Dixon, Illinois. He also is a recording artist for KRPP Records. To round things out, he is author of a column "The Common Commemator" syndicated throughout the Midwest. Born in Pittsville, Wisconsin, our speaker was brought into the world in a little log cabin which he built himself. That should tell you something about his style of humor. We asked him what his speech would be about and he said, "What do you think of the title 'Should Married Men Work?'" He was with the Barn Dance from 1932 until World War II when he and two M.P.'s went down and enlisted.

Now, for a stimulating discussion concerning the important topics of the day, we present to you Donald "Red" Blanchard. (Applause)

MR. DONALD "RED" BLANCHARD ("Should A Married Man Work?"):

Thank you very much, Mr. President. That is a better introduction than we had agreed on. Your President mentioned Pittsville, Wisconsin. I see Tiny Uthmeier sitting back there. He is an old friend of mine from Marshfield, a suburb of Pittsville. Pittsville is the town where I was born and raised. It is a little town — we didn't even have a village idiot there, we had to take turns and I think I had that job longer than anyone else. It certainly is a financial pleasure to be here and bring you this message today. This is not my first time in Minneapolis. When you do a good job you come back. I was here in 1927 and they said it would be a cold day when I would be invited back — and they didn't miss it by far either, it is colder than bathroom linoleum. I got off the plane here — of course I have my long underwear on and I don't have to worry too much. I wasn't going to wear it but my wife said, "You put those on and keep your trap shut!" So I have them on.

It was a couple of months ago when John Libby contacted me to be the speaker here today. I asked my wife if it would be all right. She agreed after we talked about it for awhile. I said, "John told me he would take me up to the Press Club for lunch and take good care of me." She said, "All right, you can go. He sounds like he would be a good fellow. It is just too bad we couldn't do something for him." I said, "We could. We could name a room in our house after him." So on one of our doors we have a sign that says, "John."

It is hard for me to follow a speaker like you had yesterday in Jim Hill. I have known Jim for a long time. He is from WCCO in Minneapolis and a nice fellow — the kind of a guy who would vote a town dry and then move. I see many folks that I know around here. I see Scottie Swan back there at the door. Scottie is from Chippewa Falls and I have known him for a good many years. Scottie, hold up that finger. I happen to know how he got it. It is all wrapped up. He was going back to his room last night and somebody stepped on it. These conventions can be kind of fun, you know — not for me — I don't smoke, drink or use margarine, but I am going to be around tonight. They said "You couldn't possibly get a room." I didn't have reservations. I thought I was going back to Chicago. They said, "You have to have a reservation because we have the Fair Convention and everybody is here." I didn't know what to do and finally I said, "If Lady Bird was here you would have a room for her." They said, "Well, we certainly would." I said, "Give me her room. She won't be here." So I have a place to stay tonight.

Even before I started to talk I wanted to say a few words because like your President said, I was born in the State of Wisconsin and I think agriculture is so important to Fairs, whether it is county or state. I was born on a dairy farm and we lost our cows during deer season from Bang's Disease. We would get all of these fellows from the Fair Board up there deer hunting and they would shoot the minute they would see those four udders hanging down. I go hunting but I am different because I am a farm boy. Minnesota is the greatest state for hunting. I was here last Fall trying out my new shot gun — not a new one, it was used by a wealthy widow and she only used it once. They think she shot her husband. They found powder marks on him and in fact they think that is why she shot him. I shot a moose in this good State of Minnesota last Fall. I didn't know he was a moose until I found his card in his bill fold.

Back on the farm many years ago I joined the 4-H about the same day Buffalo Bill joined the Cub Scouts. I am touching 40 — not only touching it but I am beating the living daylight out of it — but being a farm boy, you kind of live forever. My Uncle is 87. He is from Wisconsin and he got married awhile ago. He married a girl 21. The doctor told him the difference in age could prove fatal and he said, "If she dies she dies!" But she didn't. We got a letter and they are building a home near a school. I joined the 4-H many years ago. That is where my wife learned to cook was in the 4-H, and she is a good one. You have heard the old saying "If you want good food, stop where the truck drivers stop." She must be a good cook because every time I come home there is some truck driver there. Last night she fixed instant pizza for me. It makes you sick right away instead of at three o'clock in the morning. We were going to have chicken last night and then it got well.

I want to tell you a little before I get to the message here. We have a young lady who is a journalist scholar, Miss Houston down here, and I have to get to the message right away because she has to make a report on this. I will keep my message short because the slides take a long time. She is very nice. I flirted with her. I said, "Where have you been all my life?" She said, "For the first three-fourths I wasn't even born." The thing I can't stand about the younger generation is the fact I don't belong to it. My wife had 43 candles on her last cake — that is on the slice I got. She was going to blow them out but the heat drove her back.

Like I said, I was born and raised on a farm and you don't smoke and you drink milk all the time — like you folks, being connected in one way or the other with agriculture. Like tonight, I imagine you will all drink milk. It is not only good for you but it is the only liquid that has the tendency to turn sour when it isn't fit to drink. We drink milk and try to help the farmers all we can. In Minnesota, I believe, the farmers are doing fine. I saw one yesterday who had a manure spreader with white sidewalls. We didn't have anything when we were on the farm. This was back when things were rough. My Dad and the neighbor were talking one day about what they would do if they inherited a million dollars. The neighbor said, "I wouldn't do anything. I would just go fishing." My Dad said, "I think I would keep right on farming until it was all gone." That is the way farming was, so I left the farm and I joined the old Barn Dance. It is a syndicated program now. I have been on it for 36 years. I know we just started on the station down in Rochester and it is in several places all over the country. That was a goal I had years ago — to get on the Barn Dance. That would give me a chance to get out and work at Fairs and I enjoy it a whole lot. We have more fun than a cat full of canaries.

I had another goal back in 1931. I passed a Cadillac garage and here is a Cadillac about this long. I thought, "I am going to own one some day. I am going to work the Fairs, hang on to my money." About thirty days ago I got a 1931 Cadillac. It was a hearse. My wife likes it. She gets in the back and sleeps on a trip and does she attract attention when she sits up to see where we are, too. I joined the Barn Dance back in 1931. Then Gene Autry came along and then George Gobel, Lulu Bell and Scottie, Fibber McGee and Molly. They all moved to Hollywood and I went to Lombard, Illinois. They have nothing but money — but they are not happy — and I have no money and I am not happy either.

I got on the plane this morning, and if you folks ever fly, you take an airplane. That was exciting. It only took 50 minutes to get here. Flying at 30,000 feet is exciting. Everything on there is made by the lowest bidder. It makes you feel good when you run into a storm. It got dark in there and the women started to scream and the Stewardess turned on the lights and made me get back in my own seat again. I am like John Libby — I like chasing but I can't remember why. The Stewardess gave me some gum so my ears wouldn't hurt and what a mess it was getting that out of there. Then we landed here and I was still a little nervous. I could hardly walk and I was a little nervous and unfastened the wrong seat belt. I checked with the Bus Company and I could have left this morning on a bus and I would have been here in time for your State Fair. I was to make an appearance one time and took a bus and we never did make it. There was a woman and her husband sitting there and she hollered to the bus driver, "Can't you go a little bit faster? I am going to have to get to a hospital. I am going to have a baby." The bus driver said, "Why did you get on in that condition?" She said, "I didn't!" So that is why I took an airplane. They have pretty good train service but we were talking about that the other night. The last time we were on a train was on our honeymoon and she went along. I will never forget that because we didn't have any kids then. In fact, that is one agreement we had — no kids. She didn't like kids because her parents never had any. Nobody likes kids — isn't that awful? I get so disgusted when I talk to people about birth control. Everybody that is for it has already been born. I shouldn't tell you this because it is none of your business, and it doesn't have anything to do with Fairs either — but my wife bought some pills and I dumped them out because I like kids. I filled the bottle with aspirin. We have seven kids now but she has never had a headache.

I will wait until all of you people sit down. It takes some people a long time to do the milking but we are glad to see you anyway. Tonight we are going to have a big banquet and everything. Of course I won't have any fun because I don't — although once in awhile I might take something to steady my nerves. Sometimes they get so steady I can hardly move.

We were doing some housecleaning the other day and we found another room. My wife is the neatest person. I got up one night and went to the bathroom and came back to bed and the bed was made. She was cleaning a closet and she said, "Where do all of these empty bottles come from?" I said, "Don't ask me. I never bought an empty bottle in my life." I used to sit at a bar every night and I got rheumatism from putting wet change in my pocket.

I think everyone should have a hobby. You are probably wondering what I do at Fairs and things. I usually get up and sing 30 or 40 of my latest recordings and that always goes over real big. My last record sold 12. I made one before that but it was a flop. It wasn't my fault — it was an 8-inch record with a 12-inch hole. It is kind of a hobby of mine to get out to the Fairs. You meet more good people. I like people. Before we get to the message here today, I thought that as long as I brought my steel guitar with me (that is what I call it because that is how I got it) — if you folks will all just visit, I will be right back. It shouldn't take over 20 minutes. This is it here and it cost me three payments and four changes of address so far. Actually, this was my Christmas present. My wife got it for me — she sent for it. We order everything out of the catalog, usually. We look in the catalog to find something we want and later on when we get in the house if we still want it, we send for it. We always exchange gifts on Christmas and she got me this. I got her something she has always wanted — a Living girdle. Two days after Christmas it died.

I am just tuning up now — and there is a difference if you listen real close. After I get it tuned, I will have it soldered. I have a little sore throat because of this changeable weather — one day it is colder than a mother-in-law's kiss and the next day it warms up. The doctor gave me a shot yesterday. He said, "Your throat is in terrible shape. You have to have a shot." He doesn't even know where the throat is. He gave my Uncle six months to live and at the end of six months my Uncle paid the bill and he gave him another six months.

I can read music a little bit but not enough to hurt my playing any. My hands are all crippled up from milking. It doesn't take us long to milk. We have one cow left and he doesn't give any milk — I get so mad at him sometimes.

I am not a good singer or anything but this is kind of a hobby. We sing around home a lot, my wife and I — we believe in this "togetherness." I wash clothes with her, I wash dishes with her, the other day I mopped the floor with her. She is a classical singer. If you want some real talent at your Fair, you let me know because she is a classical singer and sprays her throat before she sings and all of that. She doesn't have much of a voice but it keeps the flies out of her mouth.

Years ago before we married we were single. We were courting and I went with her for — I don't remember what for now — but we used to go out every night and park like you do when you are young. We parked so often they started to show us on road maps. I can tell you this because I am here and she is home. I used to trust her but I don't any more. We moved from Pittsville to Chicago and we still have the same Culligan man.

This night we were sitting alongside the road and she started singing one of these classical numbers. The policeman came along and stuck a flashlight in our face and he said, "Are you choking that woman?" I said, "Of course not." He said, "Then you get out and hold the flashlight."

Actually, I shouldn't talk this way. This is our anniversary. If I was home we would be celebrating our 14 wonderful years together. That isn't bad out of thirty-two! We had one fight. I lost my temper once and struck her and after that I felt so bad I couldn't look her in the face for two weeks. About the third week I got to where I could see out of one eye.

I thought I would give you a little sample of my singing here and then you will realize what you have been missing.

This is one of my favorite songs — "Beautiful, Beautiful Brown Eyes." I'll bet you thought I was going to be lousy. This is in the key of "D" if you want to sing along. I recently learned it in three flats — I had to move twice. There are more words to this song and I did know them but now I have forgotten them. I get mixed up sometimes. I came home one night and put my pants to bed and hung over a chair all night. My wife is worse than that, she wound the cat one night and put the clock out. She got all scratched up trying to set the alarm. The reason I am learning this song is because my wife has brown eyes. Isn't that romantic? I was in a pool hall one day and a fellow was talking and he said "If a woman has brown eyes, she has the best disposition of all." I couldn't remember what color her eyes were. I went home and she was on the davenport sound asleep. I walked over, lifted up her eyelids and looked at her eyes. I said, "Well I'll be dog-goned — Brown!" Brown came crawling out from beneath the davenport and said, "How did you know I was here?"

I do have this sore throat and I don't believe I will sing any more. I want to save my throat for my next recording. But I have one more thing I would like to do here today and then we will get to the message this afternoon. I just want to show you something else I do that goes over with a big round of indifference. My wife has the car and in fact she is on duty this afternoon. She had to learn to drive because she is on the P.T.A. and every year they want to raise money. Last year they had a rummage sale and it didn't go over so well so this year they rented a police car and they are operating a speed trap. She drives good — I am not afraid — well, she drives, anyway. She ran over my snow plow and she said it was my fault for leaving it on the front porch. She brought the car home one day and said, "There is a little dent on the front fender, if you want to go out and look at it, it is in the trunk." I said, "What did you hit this time?" She said, "I have a list." I am going to try to play a little tune on this gadget here. I have my orchestra here because I didn't have help with me here today and in order to do this I brought this little electronic gadget — I think it is electric, everything else is. I have an electric razor at home, made by John Deere. It not only cuts off the whiskers, it packs them up in little bundles, too. I got my wife an electric blanket. That comes in handy — I just plugged it in the toaster this morning and popped her out of bed. I brought my music with me and my glasses are up in my room, so I don't know how this is going to work because I don't see so well without my glasses. I think maybe if I put this on — this is my baseball cap. I sure thought we had something going with the Twins a year ago. They sure came close! I am a Twins fan and listen to all of the games. I get so busy running into the bathroom to see how I am fixed for blades that I never see what the score is. As Tiny Uthmeier will tell you, I played baseball in Pittsville years ago. Things were rough and we didn't have any money. The crash of 1929 came along and that didn't bother us. We went broke in 1928. We couldn't even wait. I got me a job in a drug store. That is where I met my wife. She came walking in one day and wanted to buy some soap. She said, "Do you have any Lifebuoy?" I said, "You just set the pace." More things happen in a drug store. I shouldn't tell you this, but I have always been a little bow-legged anyway. I remember one day some big heavy set lady came walking in and said, "Do you have any talcum powder?" I said, "Certainly, walk this way." She said, "If I could walk that way, I wouldn't need the talcum powder." I was working in the drug store and all these baseball players used to come in there to buy deodorant. They figured when they slid into first base, why should they be only half safe. This was before "Poof." My sister-in-law bought a giant sized bottle of that stuff called "Poof" and went home and blew her whole arm off. My wife won't use it.

She uses "Raid" — no, that doesn't sound right — "Fumes" — a new deodorant. You spray it on and it doesn't make you smell any better but it makes you invisible so you can't tell who it is that smells so bad. Well, they said if I had a uniform I could play baseball, but we didn't have any money so Mom took a paint brush and painted a uniform on me. She got a little too much terpentine in the paint and I made four home runs before I ever got up to bat. We went to Chicago and played the Socks and beat the pants off of them. We played the Cubs and we beat the pants off them. We played the Bloomer Girls and it rained that day.

I would like to come back some time and tell you about my football career. I won't take time now because I want to get to the message. I want to keep it short because we want to have plenty of time for the discussion period. Tony Uppmeier will tell you about the ball team we had in Pittsville. Notre Dame came up and beat us with their Protestant squad. They had the meanest players! They bit off one guy's ear, another guy's finger — it got to where we would only play them on Fridays. I only got hurt once playing football. I got kicked in the cheek and they sent me to the hospital. There was a "plastered surgeon" there and he took some skin off my hip and grafted it on my cheek and you can't notice it unless you look real close. When my mother-in-law comes over and kisses me on the cheek, I just grin. Mothers-in-laws are like seeds — you don't need them but they come with the tomato.

I have my orchestra here and I hope this works out all right. If I can see the notes, it is a pretty number. It is written by "Paganinne" — or is that "Page 9"? Well, we will just do the best we can. This is the hottest suit I ever had. It has two pair of pants and boy is it hot!

. "Oh Johnnie" played on tire pump . . . (Applause)

You folks, being connected with Fairs, have seen all the entertainment and everything else and it kind of scares you a little — but of all the audiences, and I have seen all types, I think you folks are one of them. It is always fun to have a good time but I can't stand up here and be silly all afternoon. (My hair is so thin I have to carry my dandruff in my billfold.) I like to have a good time. I can have a good time just thinking about all the fun I would be having if I was enjoying myself. This is a good convention and I'll bet you folks will go home and say that you had a real good time. Sometimes you go somewhere and you have such a lousy time that by the time you get home you are so glad to be home you are glad you went. Years ago I didn't enjoy myself at all. I thought I had an inferiority complex. I went to a psychiatrist and found out I don't even have a complex. I am inferior. He said, "Cheer up because things could be worse." So I cheered up and sure enough, things got worse. He said, "Make new friends and see what happens." Now I am stuck with a whole bunch of friends and nothing happened.

I do get around at Fairs and I will tell you what happened. I took my wife along so I didn't have to kiss her good-bye. You know what I get disgusted with is when you get to a Fair and they have these girl shows. That is what happened. I had my son with me and they had girl shows and the girls were out in front dancing. Then they went in the tent and he wanted to go in and see them. I said, "Don't go in there, you might see something you are not supposed to." But he did anyway — and he did, too. He saw me. I remember they had horse races. The reason I remember that is because my wife noticed her shoestrings was untied and she leaned over to tie it and somebody threw a saddle on her and said "You're off" and she finished third. She can run! We looked around the cattle barn and everything. When I go to a Fair I want to see everything. My son is the slowest talker you ever saw. He said, "Boy, did you see that new convertible?" I said "Where?" He said, "It's gone." "Boy, did you see that pretty girl?" I said "Where?" He said, "She's gone." I was getting a little disgusted about that time. The next time he said, "Say, did you see — " I said, "Yes, I saw it." He said, "Then how come you stepped in it?"

I do enjoy getting out to the Fairs and seriously I think Fairs start the minute you get up to the gate. I always feel so bad when I have the family along and we pull up to the gate of the Fair and they act like thy are mad at you because you came there. I think it would be very nice if the guy at the gate would say, "Thanks very much for coming to our Fair and we hope you and the kids have a good time." I think that is where the Fair starts. I think everybody, whether they are connected with a Fair or whatever it is should learn a lesson from an old fellow I met one morning. I drove all night after being on a personal appearance and about six in the morning I was tired and disgusted with the whole world like you sometimes get. I pulled into a gas station to get some gas and an old fellow came out, whistling away and I said, "Boy, you are happy this morning!" He said, "I should be — I have never lived this day before." I think we could all learn something from that.

I am not going to get to the message because it is getting kind of late. I think what I will do is just mail it to you. Thanks very much for letting me be here. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Thank you, "Red" for coming and giving us something to laugh about. I know we are going to remember this part of the program when we remember this convention because of you having been here. We have an announcement concerning a couple of districts that are going to caucus. I will call on John to give you the announcement on that.

MR. JOHN LIBBY (Secretary-General Manager): In accordance with the statutes, there are anticipated vacancies in the seventh and ninth regional districts, and they are to caucus today to submit a certificate of nomination for the Board of Managers of this society to be elected tomorrow. District 7 will meet in Duluth A, across the mezzanine, and District 9 in LaSalle C, in the other corner of the mezzanine.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Of course this evening we have the banquet. I know you are all going to be there and have a good time. Tomorrow morning the final session will begin at 9:30 in the LaSalle Room. We would like to have a lot of you come for that final session.

At this time we are adjourned.

(The meeting recessed at 3:50 o'clock p.m.)

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Wednesday Morning, January 11, 1967

The meeting was called to order at 9:35 o'clock a.m., LaSalle A Room, Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis, Minnesota, President Grussendorf, presiding.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: We will call this meeting to order. This is the final session of this year's annual meeting. We have had some pretty good meetings this year, I think. We had a lot of fun yesterday and we had some "meat" too. I thought yesterday afternoon the meeting we had was tops because of the humorous speaker and the fine representatives we had from the 4-H and F.F.A. Then, of course, the reports that were given by our Secretary-General Manager and our Treasurer were given but we do have a few more items of business left to conduct.

Our program states we have the Resolutions Committee to report but we had that yesterday. We do have to elect a President for a term of one year. Mr. Carnes will take over.

MR. NORRIS CARNES (St. Paul): The Chair will entertain a nomination for the Office of President of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society for a term of one year.

MR. AL THOMPSON (Spicer): I would like to place in nomination the name of Mr. D. T. Grussendorf to succeed himself for the year 1967. He has done a most outstanding job through the years on the Board of Governors as well as the past year as our President. I nominate him for President for another year.

MR. NORRIS CARNES (Acting Chairman): Are there other nominations? If not, the Chair will entertain a motion to the effect that nominations cease and the Rules be suspended and the Secretary instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Mr. Grussendorf.

MR. ROERT ANDREWS (Minneapolis): I will so move.

The motion was regularly seconded

MR. NORRIS CARNES (Acting Chairman): All in favor say "Aye"; opposed?

. The motion was carried .

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: I was a candidate for the Legislature two different years. I put up vigorous campaigns and was defeated both times, so I am used to defeat, you see.

Now, we are going to elect a Vice President for a term of two years. It is customary to elect Vice Presidents from Minneapolis and St. Paul. This year the Vice President will be elected from the Fourth Regional District.

MR. JOHN LIBBY (Secretary-General Manager): Mr. President, in keeping with past precedent, I have a letter from the Chamber of Commerce of St. Paul, signed by the Executive Vice President, recommending that Norris K. Carnes succeed himself from the Fourth Regional District for a period of two years.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: You have heard the recommendation from St. Paul. Is there support to the nomination?

MR. LEO KESKINEN (Grand Rapids): I support the nomination.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: The nomination of Norris K. Carnes has been supported. Are there any other nominations? Are there any other nominations? It might be well to read this letter which is addressed to John Libby:

It is our distinct pleasure to recommend the reappointment of Mr. Norris Carnes to another term as Vice President of the State Fair Board. Mr. Carnes has done an outstanding job in this capacity. He is without question the best representative from the Fourth District due to his qualifications and his relationships with all types of groups and organizations and his executive leadership and ability.

The St. Paul Chamber of Commerce hopes that Mr. Carnes will be re-elected. If there are no other nominations, I will entertain a motion that the rules be suspended and the Secretary cast a unanimous ballot for Norris Carnes.

MR. ROBERT ANDREWS (Minneapolis): I so move.

MR. AL THOMPSON (Spicer): I second the motion.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: All in favor say "Aye"; contrary?

. . . The motion was carried . .

MR. NORRIS K. CARNES (St. Paul - Vice President): I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the confidence you have expressed in me in re-electing me to this Board of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society. I can truthfully say to you that as long as I am a member of this illustrious Board I will do what I consider to be for the best interest of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society.

Now we have the election of two Board members. One is from the 7th district and the other from the 9th.

MR. JOHN LIBBY (Secretary - General Manager): Mr. President, I have a certificate of nomination from the delegates of the Seventh District who in accordance with the statute met yesterday and nominated Mr. Frank L. Mitchell to succeed himself for a term of three years.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: You have heard the nomination from the district caucus of Frank L. Mitchell of Canby. Are there any other nominations?

MR. AL THOMPSON (Spicer): I am happy to approve this nomination. I know that Frank Mitchell has served the Board well. I had the privilege of serving on the Board with him for a period of two years and I move that the rules be suspended and the Secretary cast a unanimous ballot for Frank Mitchell to succeed himself for a term of three years.

MR. CARNES (St. Paul): I second the motion.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Motion has been made and seconded that the rules be suspended and the Secretary be ordered to cast a unanimous ballot for Frank Mitchell. Are you ready for the question? All in favor say "Aye"; opposed?

. . . The motion was carried . . .

MR. FRANK MITCHELL (Canby): Somehow I lost my voice but I do want to say thanks a million. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Next, from the Ninth District.

MR. JOHN LIBBY (Secretary - General Manager): In accordance with the statute, the Ninth District also caucused yesterday and I have a certificate of nomination from that caucus signed by the Chairman and Secretary nominating Mr. Albin Johnson of Fertile to succeed himself for a term of three years.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Are there any other nominations?

MR. O. M. MATTSON (Warren): I have worked a good many years with Albin Johnson in our Red River Valley circuit. We found him trustworthy, able and willing to do a good turn for someone else. I think he has done a good job for the State Fair Board during the years he has served. I move that nominations be closed and the Secretary instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Albin Johnson to succeed himself.

. . . The motion was regularly seconded . . .

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: All in favor say "Aye"; opposed?

. . . The motion was carried . . .

MR. ALBIN JOHNSON (Fertile): I want to thank my good friends that let me stay on this Board that I enjoy so much and I hope I will be able to be of some help to our Secretary - General Manager and the rest of the Board members this coming year. Thank you all. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: You have heard speeches by those who were re-elected and I believe I forgot to make one. I want to inform you that I greatly appreciate your confidence in me in returning me to the presidency this coming year. It has been a great pleasure working with all of you fine men and with the State Fair organization in putting on a great Fair. I appreciate having had the opportunity to do so.

Now we will have a report on the Hall of Fame Committee. Ted Arens is Chairman of that Committee.

MR. TED ARENS (Hall of Fame Committee): Members of the State Agricultural Society; I am sorry I am late. I did want to say something about Mr. Grussendorf before you voted but it is too late now.

At the last annual meeting I presented the proceedings up to date with reference to our State Fair Hall of Fame. I took considerable time. Your President warned me this time to make it short and sweet and I assure you that is what I will do and merely read to you the Minutes of the Hall of Fame Committee held August 31, 1966.

This was the meeting at which your present names of nominees to the Hall of Fame were selected and approved by the Committee to be submitted to the Board of Managers who, in turn would approve or disapprove, and those which you did approve would be submitted for final approval for installation in the Hall of Fame.

On August 31, 1966 the Committee meeting was held at 4:30 p.m. Present were Chairman Arens, Lammers, Carnes, Muckle, Grussendorf, Libby and Secretary Frost. Chairman Arens opened the meeting with remarks concerning guide lines for selection of future members and the Committee was polled for suggestions for categories and sources of membership. Mr. Lammers moved that the Committee, in choosing nominees, stay within the scope of "Agriculture" and for the present, at least, confine the nominations to men who have served Agriculture, directly or indirectly, in some manner through the State Fair. This motion was seconded and carried. Nominations were then asked for with the following results:

Mr. Muckle nominated C. I. Buxton, Senior, and Cline A. Tincher. For the information of the delegates here, because some of these men are pioneers, I will give you just a few words in regard to each nominee.

Mr. Buxton laid the basis for the Minnesota Implement Dealers Association. It has now become the largest Implement Retail Dealers Association on the continent. He also laid the foundation for the formation of the Implement Dealers Association Mutual Insurance Company — Federated Mutual of Owatonna, which now is the largest of its kind in the world, I believe, and it is spread all over the United States and still maintains administrative offices in Minnesota.

Cline A. Tincher, as most of you remember, was in charge of our horse races. He laid the programs and had direct charge of the affair. You might say it was the beginning and the end of our horse racing program at the Minnesota State Fair.

Mr. Libby nominated Raymond A. Lee and Ray P. Speer. I don't think there is any need for further comment on these two men for their wonderful contributions. Mr. Lee as General Manager and Secretary and Mr. Speer in our Publicity Department.

Mr. Grussendorf nominated P. A. Anderson. Phillip Anderson was a Professor of Animal Husbandry at the time I was on the ag campus and he performed in a grand manner on the State Fair all of these years from way back up to 1960 at the time of his departure from the Minnesota State Fair. He was in charge of the Sheep Division of our Livestock Section.

Mr. Lammers nominated Mr. W. S. Moscrip, former President of the Board. You all know of his performance on the Board and other than that, he was the founder of the Twin City Milk Producers Association and was instrumental in taking that organization into the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., as we know them here. You will recall that a year ago we nominated A. J. McGuire and Mr. Brandt, founders of this Land O'Lakes organization which is the largest co-op in the world in the processing of dairy products and today they have their administrative office still here in the State.

Mr. Carnes nominated J. Seneca Jones, one of the first secretaries of the Farm Bureau Association. Mr. Jones, not only being an outstanding Secretary of that great Farmers' organization, he was instrumental in putting the forces of the Farm Bureau behind the movement at that time, back in the early 20's to organize the Land O'Lakes Corporation I mentioned a few moments ago. Other than that, I might say that Mr. Jones' heart was in the State Fair and he contributed his efforts in many, many ways.

Mr. Frost nominated David J. Murphy, a former Board member who died in office. Mr. Murphy contributed all that was necessary to lay the foundation for this tremendous Machinery Hill that the Minnesota State Fair is so proud of. He at that time, not only being a Board Member, was also President of the Manufacturers and Distributors Association here in the Northwest in the Farm Implement line, so in that capacity, he had numerous contacts that assisted him and our good friend Harry Frost to lay the foundation for the greatest exhibit of farm machinery in the world. Mr. Murphy died in office. A street was named after him. In those days the State Fair recognized the work of its members. When I came along, K. C. Wright built a 26-hole chic sales on machinery hill and my co-workers dubbed it "Ted's biffy." Perhaps those remarks don't belong here but not being here too often I would like to remind my affectionate co-workers that I still remember them at times.

The Committee then voted unanimously to accept these eight nominees as the men to be certified to the Board of Managers at the November, 1966 Board Meeting and if approved by the Board at that meeting, would be presented for election at the Annual Meeting in January, 1967.

Mr. Chairman, I move the acceptance of this list of nominees for installation in the State Fair Hall of Fame: C. I. Buxton, Sr., Cline A. Tincher, Raymond A. Lee, Raymond P. Speer, P. A. Anderson, W. S. Moscrip, J. Seneca Jones, David J. Murphy.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: Thank you, Ted, for that report. You have heard this list of men, together with their biographies. I think most of you know these men and they are all fine men. Is there support for the motion?

MR. NORRIS K. CARNES (St. Paul): I second the motion.

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: All in favor of adding this list of men to our Hall of Fame signify by saying "Aye"; opposed?

. . . The motion was carried . . .

Now we will go into Unfinished Business. Does anyone have anything in this particular line?

MR. AL THOMPSON (Spicer): Mr. President, delegates and friends of the State Agricultural Society. At each of these annual meetings it is our duty to select, nominate and elect a Life Honorary Member to the State Agricultural Society. This being a year without an out-going President, it then becomes our duty to select another person who has made great contributions and rendered conspicuous service to the State Agricultural Society. I am sure that you gathered here this morning vitally interested and connected with your county fairs, realize that your grounds crew, your electricians, your carpenters, your plumbers, are very important people. Without them, you could never hold a Fair.

Today it is my privilege to place in nomination a man who has served in this manner most faithfully — James L. Libby, better known to his friends and associates as "Jim."

Jim Libby has been a member of the State Fair family since 1919. He joined the staff as a laborer that year. I understand he commanded the huge salary of 45 cents an hour. He graduated to timekeeper after the 1919 exposition. The following year Jim became a Foreman on the Grounds Crew. He exhibited qualities of leadership very early in his new post and became Assistant Superintendent of Grounds in 1921. Jim became Superintendent of Grounds in February, 1959, following the retirement of the late Ed Diemer, who had been his boss for 40 years. During those years Jim and Ed had developed a partnership marked by loyalty and efficiency, producing improvements which established the Minnesota State Fair as the most attractive exposition grounds in America.

STATE OF MINNESOTA

When Jim Libby began working at the State Fair there were no paved roads. The sidewalks were cinder paths. There still were dry plumbing facilities to use, horse-drawn wagons for the grounds crew. I know that Jim feels he is fortunate to have spent so many years at his post because it gave him an opportunity to realize a great many objectives within his own career. He has guided and witnessed the remarkable series of advancements which have sustained the Minnesota State Fair's position of leadership.

There are only four major buildings or structures on the fairgrounds which were there when Jim Libby began his services to the State Fair — the grandstand, the home activities building, the dairy building and the State exhibit building. The value of the physical plant has soared from less than five million dollars to more than 55 million dollars, even though the size of the grounds has increased only 10 percent. Maybe it is a revelation to many, but the grounds and sanitation staff grew from 70 to 75 workers during the summer months to more than 400 while the Fair is in progress. This is an annual miracle of planning and supervision, a credit to Jim and the foremen under his direction.

A remarkable element in Jim Libby's make-up is his willingness to change to meet new demands. He has a dislike for the normal, even in his 69th year. He is constantly striving to improve upon the previous year's format. Witness the remarkable improvement he put into effect in the 1966 Fair when the round-the-clock grounds clean up was established for the first time. This change was made despite the fact that the Minnesota State Fair had a fine reputation for grounds clean up already.

Another inside into Jim's point of view is the fact he doesn't consider the physical improvements to the State Fair to be the most significant advancement during his years with this institution. Rather, he strongly believes that the most important progress made by the State Agricultural Society during the past half century of creation is the 4-H and Future Farmers of America programs, the largest rural youth activities of any Fair on the continent.

Jim and his good wife Eva are parents of four children, two sons, John and James and daughters, Arlene and Shirley. They have lived at 24th Avenue, South, in Minneapolis for many, many years.

Thinking of livestock and all I think of a classification in the livestock portion of the premium book and I believe there is one classification that Jim surely is worthy of and has earned the purple ribbon and that is the get of sire classification whereby he has produced John, our General Manager-Secretary and also the President of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

Mr. President, I consider it a privilege and an honor to place in nomination for Life Membership in the State Agricultural Society the name of James L. Libby. (Applause)

MR. NORRIS CARNES (St. Paul): In seconding the nomination I don't believe my good friend, Al Thompson, has left much for me to say but I do want to second everything that he has said. I think everyone here this morning is cognizant of the fact that I have been associated with the Minnesota State Agricultural Society for many years. My span of time expends back to just about the time when Jim Libby first came to the Minnesota State Fair. I learned at an early date that if I were to carry out my various assignments in the various departments, that when it was necessary for me to have a modification or an improvement or an addition to some of these facilities on the grounds in order to carry out my duties efficiently and effectively, the best man for me to contact was Jim Libby. I can say when I contacted Jim Libby I could always forget about it because when he agreed to do something, it was done. I think that is one of the finest attributes a man can possess. I am satisfied that over a period of many years, Jim Libby has worked diligently, earnestly and tirelessly, efficiently, effectively and above all, honestly, for what he considered to be the best interest of the Minnesota Agricultural Society and the Minnesota State Fair. I am happy to second his nomination for this honor. (Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: I think it is seldom that a man with as long and efficient a background has been recommended for a life member as is being offered here this morning.

It has been moved and seconded that James Libby be elected to the Life Membership of the Society. All those in favor say "Aye"; opposed? By the look on the faces of everyone here, I am sure there are none who would vote against this because this is a very fine decision.

The motion was carried unanimously . .

Mr. James L. Libby came forward . . .

MR. AL THOMPSON (Spicer): I want to congratulate you, Jim. We are happy to have you aboard. I want to present this gold life membership card, not for its intrinsic worth or value but more for what it represents — the esteem in which we hold you, the faith we have in you, and a little of something for the things you have done. I notice they have forgotten one item on here which was attached to the one I received some years ago — a slip of paper which said, "Not good at the outside gate." Knowing that you must know the fences and all the gates on those grounds pretty well, they felt they could leave that off.

MR. JAMES L. LIBBY (Life Membership Recipient): I am not going to tell you that I am not a public speaker. You are going to find that out very shortly.

This thrills me. I think that Al and Norris are a little confused. They have me mixed up with someone else. As Superintendent of Grounds I would like to hire the fellow they are painting the picture of.

I was quite fortunate that John wasn't the one to present this to me. John, through Mother's and my bringing up, has always tried to be honest. He knows more about me than Norris and Al.

I accept this, gentlemen, with a great degree of humility. I feel I am the benefactor having had a chance to work for the State Fair, the great organization and great institution that it is. It has been a means to an end to raise, rear and educate our family. It has been a great joy. There have been times when it has been a little boresome but over all, I have enjoyed it immensely.

I want to say, in getting this recognition, you certainly have answered a question which I have been unable to answer for many years. Ever since I have been at the Fair I have been asked the question, "Where do you work?" A lot of people have nose trouble and want to know your business. "What do you do? How much do you get? Is it steady?" Most of the time I don't have an answer for these questions, especially when they say, "Do you work steady?" I always say, "I don't know. They haven't told me yet." Now I will be able to tell them that I think it is going to be steady.

Gentlemen, I have been asked the question over the years many, many times: What is the reason that the State Fair is such a great success? Why do you love it so? Why do you stay there if you can get more pay some place else? There is a lot more to a job than just the pay. I have been asked this question many times and I have never hesitated to give this answer: The reason for the Fair having been such a success is not fellows like myself that have worked there, but the foundation of the Fair, the basis on which it was formed — agriculture, livestock, and such as that — and the tremendous men who have served as the State Fair Board of Managers. I never had the privilege before to meet with the Board but I want to assure you it certainly is a pleasure. I have had the utmost respect and admiration for these men. I could go down the line and name any number of them that I have thought the world of. I have respected them, I felt they had ability, integrity, and a great deep concern and interest in serving the Fair.

Along with that, I would like to testify that in most cases these men that I am talking about sought Divine Guidance in their decisions, their actions and their work. What makes me think that is that I was to an Open Service they had one morning at the Farm Boys Camp and while there and after I left I saw no less than six of the Board members who were on the State Fair Board at that time, in that service. It certainly convinced me that they, like myself, sought Divine Guidance in their operations.

I don't think I have contributed very much to the Fair. I wish I could have contributed a lot more. My heart and soul has been there. If there has been any success, I would like to leave this testimony with you men — and I hope that my son, if he ever attains any success — (success is not material things entirely) — I would like to leave this testimony particularly to him. Since I became Superintendent of Grounds, every morning that I could, I have in my office an inner-office, and unless I was waylaid with five or six individuals who grab you, I go in there and before I begin my day's work, I seek the Lord's guidance for that day. I can truthfully state, fellows, that those are the days that it went well. If we had a fuse burn out or a truck break down, it was the day I wasn't able to do that.

I would like to share this honor with my dear wife. I don't think any fellow in any job can do a good job unless he has somebody that is concerned with him. I have. I feel it is wonderful to be honored this way and to be brought into a group with men who have had this honor previously — men such as Harry Frost, K. C. Wright — two men that I think the world of. I don't know if you fellows know them as well as I do but I don't think there are two men that ever have contributed as much to that Fairgrounds as those two. Harry Frost took over in the early 20's when the space rental department was in shambles. They had to put men on the street to go out and get concessionaires and exhibitors. After Harry worked on it a few years we had a waiting list of exhibitors wanting space. Mr. Wright came into the picture in W.P.A. days and you know what has happened since then. These dirt roads that Al spoke of and the dry toilets and such as that, Mr. Wright has been responsible for such improvements over the years. I appreciate all they have done and the help they have given to me over the years. They have been more or less like fathers to me. I respect both of those men highly.

In passing I want to say that the reason I respect these men so much is not for their ability alone but for the great manhood they have. I know them more intimately. I know there are other men of the same character as these two men but I know these fellows more intimately than I do the rest. Fellows, I respect you both for the fathers and husbands they have been. You have been a great help to me.

As I told you, I am not a public speaker but I do want to thank you all. (Standing Applause)

PRESIDENT GRUSSENDORF: That certainly is a great philosophy of life that you have and I hope that it will rub off on all of us.

This would be a good way to end our Convention. Possibly we do have another item or two. Does anyone have any other Unfinished Business? If not, we will have a Board Meeting very shortly. We will meet immediately in this room so that we will wind up sooner this afternoon. The Life Members will have lunch with us at noon.

If there is nothing else to come before the meeting, I declare the meeting adjourned.

(The 108th Annual Meeting of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society adjourned at eleven o'clock a.m.)
