LETTER FROM THE CHAIR

It has been an honor to serve these past two years as the Chair of the Interstate Commission for Juveniles, where I have had the privilege of working alongside individuals within this Commission and other juvenile justice professionals whose unwavering commitment, knowledge, and skills continue to enhance this Commission's efforts to preserve child welfare and promote public safety.

I am pleased to present the Commission's Fiscal Year 2024 Annual Report, which serves as an overview of the valuable work of the Commission's committees, regions, and state ICJ Offices. This year, the Commission continued our focus on collaboration, implementation science, and advancing our strategic plan.

The Executive Committee led efforts to expand collaborations with justice and social service systems partners. This allowed us to address gaps in our resources by teaming up with stakeholders to emphasize new areas of interest and provide further education and assistance to state ICJ Offices, courts, and others working directly with ICJ cases. In addition, several Commission leaders completed the Implementation Leadership Academy. These Commission leaders applied their newly acquired skills to their work within the Commission's committees and regions to analyze future initiatives to assess feasibility and impact, determine what priorities need to be addressed first and what we can do better.

The Rules Committee worked diligently on a national rollout of the new rule amendments to ensure a smooth transition, as these amendments went into effect on April 1, 2024. The Information Technology Committee worked to improve data collection, efficiency, and accuracy within the UNITY data management system. The Compliance Committee continued their expansion of proactive monitoring by carving out new pathways for future compliance monitoring that will further assist state ICJ Offices and enable the Commission to identify statewide and nationwide trends.

In addition, the Training, Education, and Public Relations Committee continued to provide captivating learning experiences by expanding nationwide live and virtual trainings and resources to states ICJ Offices and juvenile justice personnel. The Racial Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) Committee continued their work in analyzing ICJ Rules and practices to ensure racial diversity, equitable outcomes and experiences for all juveniles served by the Compact and all parties in the Compact. These partnerships with community and justice stakeholders led to innovative and highly sought-after training opportunities. The Finance Committee's fiscal oversight ensured adequate funding for these activities and the Commission's future.

As this Commission and the juvenile justice system evolves, working together with our community partners, stakeholders, and courts becomes increasingly important. The Commission would not have achieved all that we have without the assistance, guidance, and support of the National Office staff. I am proud to be a part of this Commission and work among a group of amazing individuals who give their all to help improve the lives of juveniles, their families, and their communities.

Nina Belli, Commission Chairperson

ICJ AT A GLANCE

Interstate Compact for Juveniles (ICJ)

is the law that regulates the interstate movement of juveniles who are under court supervision or need to be returned to their home states as a runaway, probation/parole absconder, accused delinquent, or escapee. The ICJ is a contract that has been adopted as law throughout the United States. Therefore, all state and local officials are legally bound to honor and enforce the terms of the Compact.

Interstate Commission for Juveniles is the governing body for the ICJ. Commission members from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. Virgin Islands work together to ensure all ICJ youth and families are safe, supported, and treated equitably. The Commission is responsible for promulgating and enforcing rules to implement the ICJ.

THE COMMISSION CELEBRATES 15TH ANNIVERSARY AT 2023 ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING IN SALT LAKE CITY

Since the first Annual Business Meeting in 2008, the Commission has continued to evolve, define, and bring the Compact to the forefront of juvenile justice. Over 96 state and national leaders gathered in Salt Lake City in September 2023 to receive training, conduct business, and celebrate the Commission's 15th Anniversary.

Each year, the Commission's Training Committee crafts an agenda designed to highlight the most pressing issues and provide tools for addressing them. To kick off this meeting, Dr. LaMarr D. Shields presented an engaging keynote address titled Running on Empty: Self Care for Those Who Serve and Care for Others. Then, the focus shifted to ICJ Rule amendments; improving outcomes when abuse or neglect is suspected; and strategies for in-state ICJ training.

The Compact provides a mechanism for the Commission to promulgate rules, which carry the weight of federal law and supersede conflicting state laws. Every other year, the Commission votes on proposed amendments to the ICJ Rules. In 2023, 12 rule amendment proposals and one new rule proposal were considered. Rules Committee members presented an informative session that highlighted the justification and fiscal impact of each proposal to prepare Commissioners to make informed votes.

State ICJ Offices provide training about the Compact and ICJ Rules to state and local court staff throughout the nation. To support these efforts, a workshop on Effective Strategies for In-State Training was provided to help ICJ Offices create and execute state-specific training plans. This was the first time the Training Committee utilized the 'train-the-trainer' model at the Annual Business Meeting. A new and improved comprehensive ICJ training presentation was also introduced to ensure quality and continuity of training throughout the nation.

In response to growing concerns about safely returning runaways when abuse or neglect is suspected, the Annual Business Meeting featured a panel discussion titled, ICJ & Child Welfare: A Collaborative Effort. The panel consisted of ICJ members from each region, as well as representatives from the Utah Division of Child and Family Services and the Utah Attorney General's Office. The panelists provided an overview of the child protective referral process, discussed federal laws and state discretion, and highlighted opportunities for states to collaborate with their child welfare agencies.

The General Session is the only formal meeting of the full Commission and convenes on the last day of the Annual Business Meeting. This year, the welcome address was presented by Judge Susan H. Eisenmann from Utah's 3rd District Court. To elevate the voice of youth with lived experience, a young adult who was previously involved with the juvenile system was invited to address the Commission. Formal business included updates from committee chairs and regional representatives on the past year's accomplishments.

The Commission also approved 12 amendments to nine ICJ Rules, which went into effect on April 1, 2024. Finally, the meeting culminated with the election of officers. Chairperson Nina Belli (OR), Vice Chairperson Julie Hawkins (MO), and Treasurer Sherry Jones (MD) were all re-elected to another term.

NEW LEGACY AWARD RECOGNIZES EXCELLENCE

To commemorate the Commission's 15th anniversary, the Legacy Award was introduced and presented to all state commissioners, compact administrators, deputy compact administrators, designees, and state ICJ Office staff who have worked in a state ICJ Office for 15 or more years. In 2023, 15 Legacy Awards were presented. The wealth of knowledge and experience that these individuals utilize daily benefits the entire Commission. Thank you all for your commitment!

2023 LEADERSHIP AWARD PRESENTED TO MICHAEL FARMER

Each year, the Commission presents the ICJ Leadership Award to an individual who exhibits outstanding leadership and commitment to the Commission. The 2023 Leadership Award was presented to Michael Farmer, Deputy Compact Administrator and Designee from California.

His colleagues said, "Throughout the years he has displayed remarkable leadership within this Commission" and "His hard work, determination, and insight into the Compact always lead to a solution that serves in the best interest of the juveniles, their families, and the communities we serve; there is never an ICJ challenge or situation that he can't find a solution to."

The following was said about Ms. Montelongo: "She came into ICJ and hit the ground running. She has been quick to respond to requests and offered additional assistance in every interaction. She quickly got involved in committees and has been an active participant with a fresh, new perspective."

MISSION

The Interstate Commission for Juveniles, the governing body of the Interstate Compact for Juveniles, through means of joint and cooperative action among the compacting states, preserves child welfare and promotes public safety interests of citizens, including victims of juvenile offenders. With a focus on racial justice, the Commission provides enhanced accountability, enforcement, visibility, and communication in the return of juveniles who have left their state of residence without permission and in the cooperative supervision of delinquent juveniles who travel or relocate across state lines.

VISION

The Interstate Commission for Juveniles will promote public safety, victims' rights, and juvenile accountability that is balanced with safeguarding those juveniles in a fair and equitable way.

ICJ RESULTS STATEMENT

All ICJ youth and families are safe, supported, and treated equitably.

VALUES

The Interstate Commission for Juveniles values:

1. We honor the Compact's spirit of communication, collaboration and mutual respect among all parties in the Compact.
2. We hold ourselves accountable to our compact agreements.
3. We expect and support continuous knowledge and skill development.
4. We seek sustainability of ICJ via leadership development and national visibility.
5. We value racial diversity and seek equitable outcomes and experience for all juveniles served by the Compact and all parties in the Compact.
6. We ensure that everything we do supports the outcomes stated in our mission.

STATE COUNCILS ON INTERSTATE SUPERVISION PROMOTE PARTNERSHIPS TO SUPPORT COMPACT IMPLEMENTATION

State ICJ Offices and State Councils on Interstate Supervision are integral parts of preserving child welfare and promoting public safety.

State councils and ICJ Offices work diligently to return runaways who cross state lines and secure supervision for probationers and parolees who reside in other states. They work with courts, law enforcement, detention centers, child welfare agencies, probation and parole officers, and others to facilitate interstate returns and transfers of supervision.

State Councils on Interstate Supervision provide the mechanisms to ensure that all systems work together to improve outcomes for youth, enhance public safety, and promote effective intrastate programming. These state councils bring together key stakeholders from all branches of government to support successful implementation of the Compact.

State councils review proposed ICJ Rule amendments, provide legislative and judicial updates, and help educate stakeholders to understand that all state agencies are bound to the Compact and ICJ Rules. ICJ Offices report their state councils also provide avenues for training judicial staff, court personnel, law enforcement, and child welfare agencies on the services that ICJ Offices provide.

“The Iowa Joint State Council is able to address both Adult and Juvenile Compact issues as well as recognize their overlap.... to advance practice around both Compacts.”

– Kellianne Torres, Deputy Compact Administrator, Iowa ICJ Office

What else do state councils do?

In addition to collaborating to provide intrastate solutions, state councils may also appoint compact administrators and commissioners and develop policy “concerning operations and procedures of the Compact within that state or territory.” See ICJ Rule 2-107.

Technical Assistance Supports State Council Formation

This year, the Commission provided technical assistance to two states without state councils, working to ensure they have fully functioning state councils. Compact Commissioners may request technical assistance related to state councils for a variety of support needs.

Fast Facts from the 2023 State Council Report

- In 2023, states conducted 70 state council meetings, a 37% increase from 2022.
- Many states face challenges related to member vacancies, due to changes in state legislatures and executive branch personnel.

ICJ IN ACTION: THE COMMISSION PROVIDES NATIONWIDE TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

Throughout the year, state ICJ Offices provide extensive training for local probation and parole staff, law enforcement officials, judges, court personnel, and state council members. State ICJ leaders are responsible for ensuring key stakeholders have the knowledge, skills, and competencies to administer the Compact. In Fiscal Year 2024, 36 states provided 412 training sessions for over 4,000 people nationwide. All stakeholders are encouraged to contact their state ICJ Office to request training and resources. Upon completion of each training session, commissioners, compact administrators, and/or designees complete a Training Report Form and return it to the ICJ National Office. The Training Report Form was recently updated, and Commission members can now submit multiple training events all on one form.

A National Resource: Commission Partners with Ex Officio Organizations

This year, the Commission's national training efforts focused largely on outreach and collaboration with ex officio members and other allied organizations. Staff members from state ICJ Offices across the nation joined National Office staff members to represent the Commission by presenting training sessions at four national conferences sponsored by: the American Probation and Parole Association, the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges, the National Partnership for Juvenile Services, and the Family and Youth Services Bureau.

Training topics included:

- An overview of Interstate Compact for Juveniles (ICJ)
- Returning juveniles to their home states, with special focus on challenges related to abuse and neglect, key concepts for judges, and key issues for detention center staff
- High quality home evaluations
- Collaboration strategies for working with community partners

Expanding Accessibility Through Live Training Sessions

The Training, Education, and Public Relations Committee continued to host monthly live training sessions via the Wednesday Workshop series. The trainings included a variety of topics from informational sessions presented by the National Runaway Safeline, the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children, and the Office of Refugee Resettlement, to sessions on ICJ Rule Amendments, UNITY enhancements, best practices, and UNITY reports via the Tableau data visualization software.

Beyond the Commission: New Returns & Child Welfare Toolkit

Each year, approximately 2,000 youths who have run away, escaped, or absconded are returned to their home states pursuant to the Compact. This year, the Commission focused on how to resolve challenges that arise when youths disclose abuse and/or neglect in their home state. A survey of ICJ Offices uncovered significant challenges returning these youth, especially when coordinating care with child welfare agencies. To address the findings, the Commission published the Toolkit on Returns and Child Welfare: Collaborating to Safely Return Runaways when Abuse is Reported in August 2023.

This toolkit was developed to foster collaborations between state ICJ Offices, child welfare agencies, courts, law enforcement agencies, and detention centers. The toolkit includes a legal overview, challenges when returning runaways who report abuse and/or neglect, strategies for addressing concerns, state spotlights, and additional resources and links.

Technology and Collaboration: Online Training, TTA, and More!

The Commission's website serves as the primary distribution point for new resources and training information, as well as direct paths to the ICJ Help Center (for technical support related to UNITY) and ICJ.TalentLMS (on-demand learning management system). In Fiscal Year 2024, ICJ.TalentLMS boasted 4,448 logins from 1,052 users who completed 8,594 courses.

The Commission continues to embrace technology to promote effective collaborations between members throughout the United States. In Fiscal Year 2024, 86 committee and region virtual meetings enabled Commission members to work together, regardless of their locations. The National Office hosted an additional 413 meetings with work teams, committee leaders, officers, and key vendors to advance the Commission's work.
