INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and to maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are eight categories of workers excluded from coverage under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local levels of government.

TERMS

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and then dividing again by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries have more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the effect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower-paid seasonal workers were laid off.

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salespeople who have no attachment to a specific work site or those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

FIRST QUARTER 1994 COVERED EMPLOYMENT

Summary

The State of Minnesota continued to enjoy the benefits of an expanding economy during the first quarter of 1994. Employment during the first quarter 1994 averaged 2,171,405, an increase of 2.9 percent over the first quarter of 1993, representing an increase of 60,237 jobs. In comparison to the prior year, every major industrial sector added employees in the first quarter of 1994, with the exception of the MINING sector, which suffered an employer lockout of production workers at one operation.

Total wages in Minnesota were $13.8 billion dollars in the first quarter of 1994, up $900 million from the first quarter 1993. The average weekly wage in the State was $489 for the first quarter of 1994, an increase of 4 percent over a year ago.

During the first quarter, the SERVICES sector was updated by the Annual Refiling Survey (ARS). All SERVICES firms were contacted in order to verify and update their location and industrial classification coding. A certain number of those firms received new industry or location codes to more accurately reflect the activity of the business. The Annual Refiling Survey also assists in identifying unreported multiple location employers. Those employers are then required to provide plant location data, which may significantly redistribute their previously reported employment. The result is that certain employment variations between the prior quarter and the current quarter are the result of obtaining more accurate information, rather than a specific change in economic activity between quarters. These changes will also effect certain firms outside the SERVICES sector.

Quarterly Variations: Seasonality

While first quarter 1994 employment and wages increased on an annual basis, the economy experienced a normal seasonal decline, between the fourth and the first quarters. This seasonal decline represents the normal decrease in employment resulting from the end of the holiday season, the end of the fall harvest and associated Food Processing, and the effects of the weather on CONSTRUCTION and certain forms of TRANSPORTATION.

The seasonal decline resulted in a 2.4 percent reduction in employment between the fourth quarter 1993 and the first quarter of 1994. This contraction compares favorably with the prior year, which experienced a larger 2.5 percent contraction in employment between the fourth quarter of 1992 and the first quarter 1993. All major sectors of the economy experienced the seasonal effect with the exception of the FINANCE, INSURANCE, AND REAL ESTATE group. The FINANCE, INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE sector is the only major industry group to avoid fourth to first quarter contraction in both of the last two years.

Annual Changes in Major Industries: Employment and Wages

As in the prior quarter, the FINANCE, INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE, was the fastest growing major industrial group of the State economy and posted an annual employment growth rate of 5.6 percent. Growth was led by the Nondepository Credit Institution group, and Security Brokers and Dealers. This growth was driven by record low interest rates, which support the mortgage markets and other borrowing. Wage growth in this sector also outperformed the economy as a whole. The weekly wage in Nondepository Credit Institution sector increased 15 percent compared to the prior year, increasing an average of $121 a week during this period. Total FINANCE, INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE sector wages increased 8 percent in the first quarter, increasing an average of $53 a week compared to the prior year.

The second fastest growing major industrial group was the SERVICES, with a 3.7 percent annual employment growth rate. Business Services provided more than half of the total increase in the SERVICES employment. This sector contains Personnel Supply Services, which includes Employment Agencies and Help Supply Services, commonly known as Temporary Help Agencies. In this economic recovery the Temporary Help industry has been a leader in Employment growth, indicating that firms may be reluctant to hire permanent employees as their businesses expand. Average first quarter wages in the SERVICES sector increased 3.3 percent, or $13 a week compared to a year ago.

TRADE employment expanded 3.5 percent in the first quarter of 1994, compared to the first quarter a year ago, with most major industrial sectors of TRADE contributing to this growth. Wages in the TRADE sector increased an average of 5.6 percent in the first quarter of 1994, compared to one year ago.

Employment in the Durable Goods sector of Wholesale Trade grew 5.0 percent over first quarter one year earlier, adding 3,600 jobs. Because Durable Goods includes capital goods, items used to produce other goods, growth in this sector generally indicates increased investment in capacity and infrastructure, signaling a continuing economic expansion. The Durable Goods sector of Wholesale Trade includes Motor Vehicles, Parts, and Supplies; Furniture; Lumber and Construction Materials; Professional and Commercial Equipment and Supplies; Metals and Minerals; Electrical Goods; Hardware, and Plumbing and Heating Equipment; Machinery, Equipment, and Supplies. Average first quarter wages in the Durable Goods sector of TRADE increased 5.6 percent or $36 a week compared to the prior year.

Five out of every six jobs added to the TRANSPORTATION, COMMUNICATIONS, AND PUBLIC UTILITIES sector occurred in Motor Freight Transportation. This 2.7 percent annual increase in first quarter TRANSPORTATION, COMMUNICATIONS, AND PUBLIC UTILITIES employment is believed to be a continuing response to the disruption to Water Transportation which occurred in 1993 because of flooding. (See this publication, Fourth Quarter 1993).

MANUFACTURING employment, compared to the previous year, increased 1.8 percent in the first quarter of 1994. MANUFACTURING wages increased an average of 5.4 percent, or $33 a week, during the same period. Of the 19 industrial groups that make up MANUFACTURING, fifteen reported an increase in employment, adding over 8,300 jobs. Defense related production suffered the largest losses of the four industrial groups that lost employment in MANUFACTURING. The Textiles and the Paper Industries also experienced small employment declines. Overall, MANUFACTURING had a net increase of over 7,000 jobs.

An important effect which is not reflected in these numbers is the number of hours worked. An informal analysis of the Current Employment Statistics data, which tracks number of hours worked, indicates that the number of hours worked per week has increased in MANUFACTURING and the broader economy as well. An increase in hours worked, combined with the job losses in the defense industry, would account for MANUFACTURING's relatively slow employment growth despite the economic expansion. MANUFACTURING wages increased in every major industrial group, including those which lost employment.

Overview: Minnesota Establishments, Employment, and Wages

Minnesota Jobs: Establishments, Employment and Wages

Using a classification established by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, this agency currently assigns every business site in covered employment a size code every year based on its reported March employment. Size code data is used for sample selection in a number of ongoing surveys conducted by the BLS.

It is important to acknowledge that size coding does have certain limitations. Employment in every month will tend to reflect certain seasonal influences, and many industries exhibit some seasonal variations. Examples of seasonal employment variations include: CONSTRUCTION employment which peaks in the summer; Agricultural Production and Processing which peaks in the fall and winter; School employment which drops in the summer. Because March employment is used to determine the size of firm, most seasonal industry employment variations are understated.

An associated reporting issue relates to small employers who don't receive accurate size coding because they do not report employment or wages for the month of March. Use of a single annual pay period will tend to overstate the number of units reporting no employment in March and affect the distribution of employment in this report. Variations in the disbursement of wage bonuses will also affect the wage distribution reported in any given quarter.

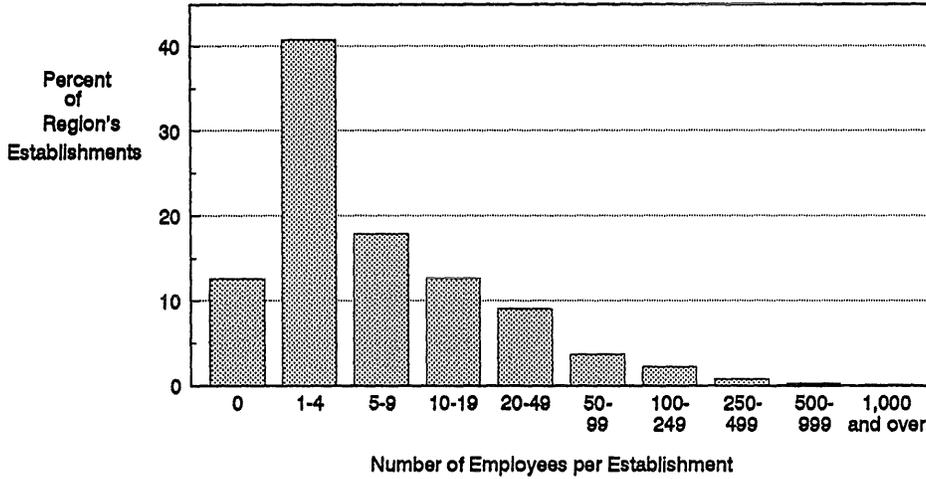

The number of establishments, as always, describes the work sites, not the number of companies. For example, the U.S Post Office in Minnesota employs 16,350 in Minnesota and is headquartered in Hennepin County. Postal employment in Hennepin County is about 5,800 people. Rather than reporting all postal employment to the headquarters, the 10,500 postal workers who work outside Hennepin County are correctly reported to over 600 establishment work sites throughout the State. This reporting method emphasizes the accurate distribution of employment and wages, but tends to understate the presence of large employers operating from multiple sites rather than one large facility.

A special study was recently undertaken to more fully describe the businesses in the Twin Cities, which has made the following information available. The following graphs illustrate the distribution of firms and quarterly wages, by size code, which is determined by March employment. While not as accurate as average quarterly employment, March employment should offer a reasonable depiction of the distribution of employment in the first quarter. The size distribution is separated by region. Metro totals include Anoka, Carver, Dakota, Hennepin, Ramsey, Scott, and Washington counties. Greater Minnesota includes the rest of the state. The distributions are shown as regional totals, and the proportion of each regions total to the state total are shown for each category.

The following graphs show size of establishment by the number of employees. The scale used represents the defined Bureau of Labor Statistics size codes.
