INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and to maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are eight categories of workers excluded from coverage under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local levels of government.

TERMS

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and then dividing again by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries have more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the effect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower-paid seasonal workers were laid off.

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salespeople who have no attachment to a specific work site or those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

FOURTH QUARTER 1993 COVERED EMPLOYMENT

From the Prior Quarter

As the economic recovery continued, the Minnesota economy added approximately 52,000 jobs between third and fourth quarter 1993. This exceeded by 7,000 the number of jobs added between third and fourth quarters of 1992 and indicates that the economy is continuing to strengthen. The Retail Trade industry experienced typical seasonal growth during the holidays, and Local Government returned to normal levels with the return of school employees. CONSTRUCTION employment began its seasonal decline in the fourth quarter. AGRICULTURE, FORESTRY, AND FISHING employment did not decline as quickly in the fourth quarter, and will be discussed in the flood update below.

Year to Year Comparison

Minnesota's average covered employment for the fourth quarter of 1993 was 2,223,006. This represented a net increase of 59,168 jobs, compared to fourth quarter of 1992, for a growth rate of 2.7 percent. The average weekly wage for the fourth quarter was $536, up four-tenths of one percent from the prior quarter.

All major sectors of the state economy added additional employees, with the exception of mining, which was affected by a strike which then became a lockout. Region 3 (which includes the iron range) suffered the loss of 522 MINING jobs, which accounted for almost one half percent of that region's total covered employment. MINING statewide lost only 466 positions (contracting 6.2 percent from a year ago).

In the rest of the state's economy, the FINANCE, INSURANCE, AND REAL ESTATE sector experienced the fastest overall growth, increasing 5.1 percent over last year and adding 6,586 jobs. This job growth occurred in the mortgage banking sector and is attributable to home mortgage refinancing driven by declining interest rates.

SERVICES sector employment grew 4.0 percent compared to the 4th quarter a year ago, the second fastest rate of growth by economic sector. SERVICES also contributed the largest net increase in employment adding 22,196 jobs, which accounted for 37.5 percent of job growth statewide. SERVICES employment increased fastest in Business Services, which includes Help Supply Services, Employment Agencies, Building and Cleaning Services, and Computer Related Services. Growth in these sectors appears to indicate that employers may have been contracting out or leasing certain types of employees rather than hiring additional workers directly.

Other growth areas were Health Services which includes Medical Clinics, and Skilled Nursing Care Facilities, and Social Services which includes Residential Care Facilities and miscellaneous Social Advocacy Services groups.

Wholesale and Retail Trade employment increased by 2.6 percent adding 14,093 jobs. The TRADE sector experienced the third fastest employment growth rate, and represented 24 percent of all new jobs created in the fourth quarter. Wholesale Trade accounted for 2,586 additional jobs, four-fifths of these in Durable Goods. Specific growth areas included Computers, Computer Peripherals and Software, Electrical Apparatus and Equipment, Wiring Supplies, and Construction Materials, Electronic Parts and Equipment, miscellaneous Durable Goods, and Automobiles and other Motor Vehicles.

Retail Trade added 11,507 jobs, compared to one year ago. The fastest job growth occurred in Grocery Stores, Eating and Drinking Places, Catalog and Mail-Order Houses, Direct Selling Establishments, and Miscellaneous Retail Stores.

Despite the normal seasonal contraction, CONSTRUCTION held 1,940 more jobs in the fourth quarter, increasing that industry's employment 2.4 percent over a year ago. Perhaps signaling continued job growth in the future, Greater Minnesota construction employment held more jobs than the State as a whole. The Special Trades Contracting sector (industry group number 17) grew 4.5 percent in Greater Minnesota compared to the fourth quarter of 1992, contributing almost half of the total increase in construction employment statewide, compared to last year. (Special Trades includes skilled CONSTRUCTION labor such as electricians, plumbers, masons, carpenters, etc.)

MANUFACTURING employment experienced some growth characteristics comparable to CONSTRUCTION. While MANUFACTURING employment statewide increased 1.8 percent compared to fourth quarter a year ago, MANUFACTURING employment in Greater Minnesota increased by 2.5 percent. This means that of the 7,365 additional MANUFACTURING jobs, 3,741 or just slightly more than half were added outstate.

TRANSPORTATION, COMMUNICATIONS, AND PUBLIC UTILITIES employment increased 1.5 percent compared to the fourth quarter a year ago. This reverses a slight contraction in employment that occurred in 1992. The Transit sector experienced its traditional seasonal boost from the return of school bus drivers.

Greater Minnesota led the growth in TRANSPORTATION, COMMUNICATION AND PUBLIC UTILITIES, adding four out of every five jobs. This may be attributable to the disruption of agriculture production resulting from record rainfall and flooding which delayed planting and harvest, and pushed crop transport back into the fourth quarter. The flooding also transferred freight transport from Water Transportation sector to the more labor intensive Motor Freight Transportation sector. This is discussed in the flood update below.

AGRICULTURE, FORESTRY, AND FISHING added 327 jobs compared to one year ago. This 1.8 percent employment increase between fourth quarter 1993 and 1992 did not compare favorably to the 6.8 percent increase between 1992 and 1991 fourth quarters. The AGRICULTURE Production sector experienced negative employment growth, contracting 1.2 percent statewide for a net loss of 60 jobs compared to a year ago. The likely explanation for this loss of employment during harvest season is the residual effects of summer flooding.

Flood Update*

Our third quarter publication described the effects of flooding on the state economy, and the sectors of the economy where that effect can be detected. Minnesota Department of Agriculture statistics provide additional insight into the magnitude of the weather's impact on the 1993 farm economy.

According to the Minnesota Agriculture Statistics 1994 Annual publication, many crops in 1993 were significantly delayed. The Cash Grain Production sector of AGRICULTURE bears this out, showing a 7 percent employment decline compared to the prior year. The October seasonal peak employment was off by 14 percent compared to the fourth quarter of 1992. Winter wheat was only 17 percent harvested in the first full week of August 1993, compared to 79 percent harvested in a normal year.

Corn and Soybeans never caught up. Soybean production was the lowest since 1976. Corn production was the lowest since 1975, and lower than in the drought of 1988. Covered employment in Agricultural Corn Production for 1993 reflects this, down almost one-third compared to the peak of the prior year.

The weather's effect can also be seen in the Canned, Frozen, and Preserved Fruits, Vegetables, and Food Specialties sector of MANUFACTURING. (See Figure 1) Until May 1993, this sector of Food Products had employment consistent with the previous year's levels. But by August 1993, employment was down over 25 percent compared to a year ago. The 1993 annual peak employment in this sector occurred in September, one month later than 1992, and under-performed the August 1992 peak employment by about 20 percent.

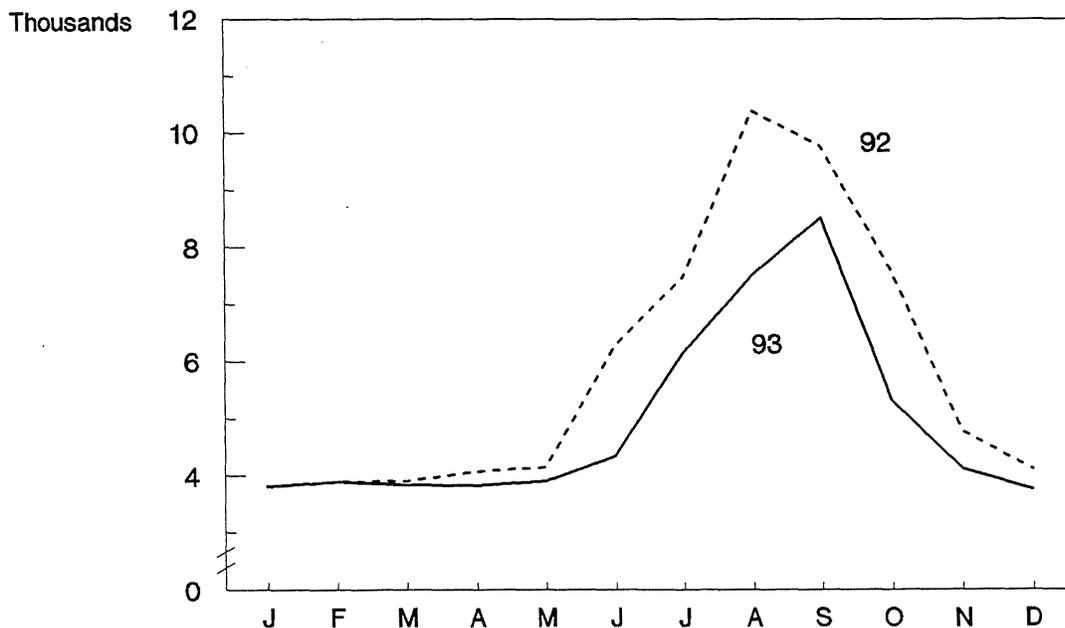

Figure 1

Sugar Beet processing, a sector of Sugar and Confectionery Products MANUFACTURING also experienced a one month delay in peak employment compared to 1992. The impact on employment in this sector did not appear until September, but then seasonal employment began lagging, and continued to lag throughout the rest of the year. (See Figure 2) Employment in this sector never achieved last year's peak level, returning to the 1992 post harvest levels one month late.

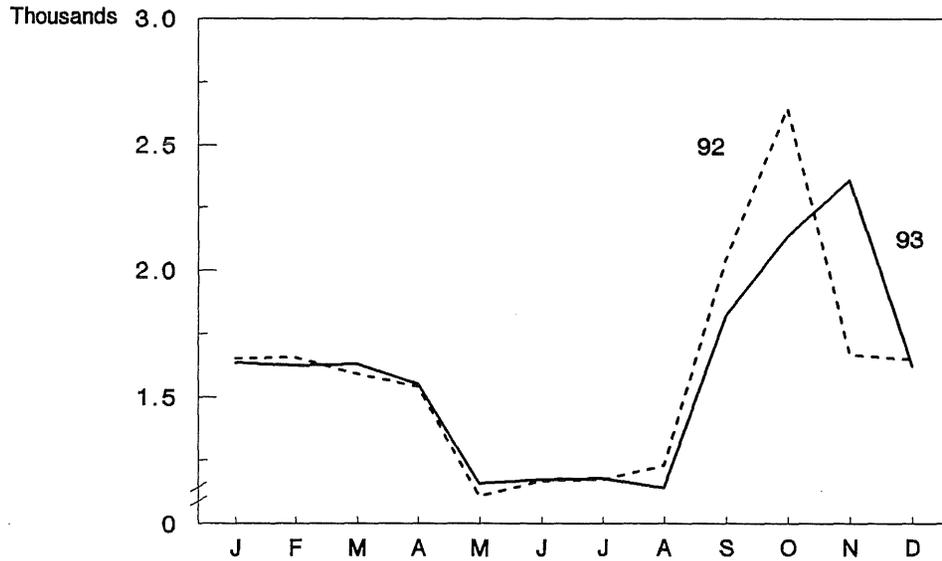

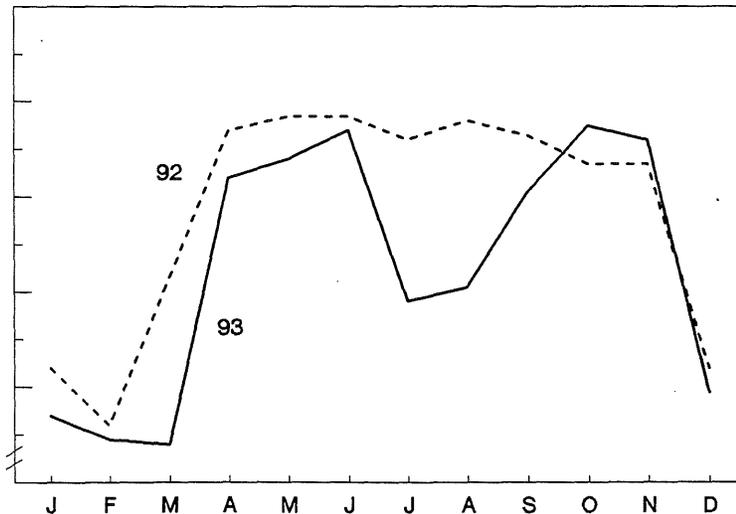

Figure 2

The additional consequences of the weather on the economy can be seen in Water Transportation. Towing and Tugboat Service employment contracted sharply in the middle of the summer. (See Figure 3) While the 1992 level of employment was achieved, it occurred in October, only one month before the end of the season. Employment in Marine Cargo Handling and Inland Water Freight was flat, and significantly under-performed the peak employment levels of last year.

Figure 3

The disruption of water traffic assisted the Motor Freight Transportation sector employment, which started 1993 only 2 percent ahead of the previous year. (See Figure 4) By October 1993 Motor Freight employment was 11 percent ahead of October 1992, and had significantly outperformed all of the last five years. Motor Freight did begin to decline after October, but had not approached normal levels by the end of the quarter.

Motor Freight Employment 1992-1993
(Transportation)

The effects described in our Fall 1993 publication continued to impact employment in the fourth quarter. The collapse of Water Transportation employment was offset, in terms of jobs, by the increase in Motor Freight Transportation employment. A cautionary note: according to the Iowa Department of Transportation (IDOT), it takes 54 large semi trailers to carry the volume of material (1500 tons) one barge will carry, or 870 trucks to replace the amount of freight hauled by one tow of 15 barges. According to the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) figures, total tonnage shipped in 1993 was down 5.2 million tons, compared to 1992. The Office of Railroads and Waterways (MnDOT) estimates that it may take the shipping industry a full three years to recover.

Minnesota based Water Transportation employment is tiny in proportion to Motor Freight Transportation employment. Therefore, considering the volume of material moved by barge, the broader effects of the flooding are not fully reflected in employment. Wages and employment effects will continue to occur as those people and firms impacted by flooding alter their normal economic behavior to cope with the disruptions, but those effects are more likely to be regional or perhaps local. Lower interest rates and a continuing economic expansion may also limit the impact on the larger economy.
