1999 Annual Report

Minnesota State Fair fireworks presentation, early 1900s.

At the meeting of the State Fair board on January 17, 1899, the members voted to light the buildings and grounds of the Minnesota State Fair. In prior years, the fair was forced to close its gates at "sundown." For the first time, the busy people of the Twin Cities, unable to spare time during the day, were able to attend the fair at night. Records show the board also declared there would be evening entertainment in the Grandstand including a fireworks display called "the Burning of Manila." Thus began a tradition that celebrated its 100th anniversary in 1999.

STATE OFFICE BUILDING ST. PAUL, MN 55155

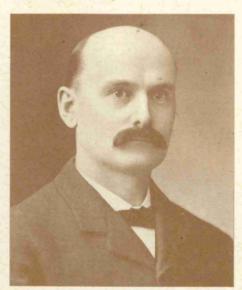

The Report of the Executive Vice President

Dear Friends.

Two very different fair visitors, each of whom was at the '99 State Fair within hours of the other, beautifully summed up what the Great Minnesota Get-Together is all about.

The first was 97-year-old John Haggenmiller, who grew up near the fair's Como & Snelling gate and still lives in the St. Paul area. Mr. Haggenmiller and his daughter stopped in for a visit on a warm afternoon during the fair. He has attended the fair religiously since 1906, and has witnessed enormous changes during almost a full century of fairgoing. He did all the talking and his daughter and I did the listening. What a remarkable man, and what a remarkable memory! He liked the fair back then, but he likes it all much better today especially the agriculture. Thank goodness for that. Mr. Haggenmiller would let us know in no-nonsense terms if he didn't.

Eugene Wilson Randall, Secretary of the Society during John Haggenmiller's first fair visit in 1906.

Later that evening, I watched a little girl no more than two who was having a great time dancing by herself at Hal Ketchum's Bandshell Tonight! performance. Her hops and skips were punctuated by little red winky lights in her shoes. Mom and dad decided it was time to go, but the little winky dancer kept pulling away from her folks and running back to the Bandshell to resume the party. This went on for nearly five minutes before she was finally corralled for good, strapped into her stroller and wheeled reluctantly toward home.

For me, these two encounters said it all. On one side of the chronological scale is a grand gentleman for whom the State Fair has provided a rock-solid reference point in a rapidly-changing world. For Mr. Haggenmiller, the fair fulfilled its mission to reflect our society's evolution of agriculture, industry, education and entertainment.

The little girl with the winky shoes could care less about this high-minded stuff. All she knew is that she was having a great time at this big and wonderful place that hopefully is already special in her young memory. The rest can come later.

Together, they provided a graphic definition of what the fair is: Young, old and everyone in between getting together at the great annual end-of-summer ritual that defines our year the same way as the seasons, and defines our identity as a people and as a state.

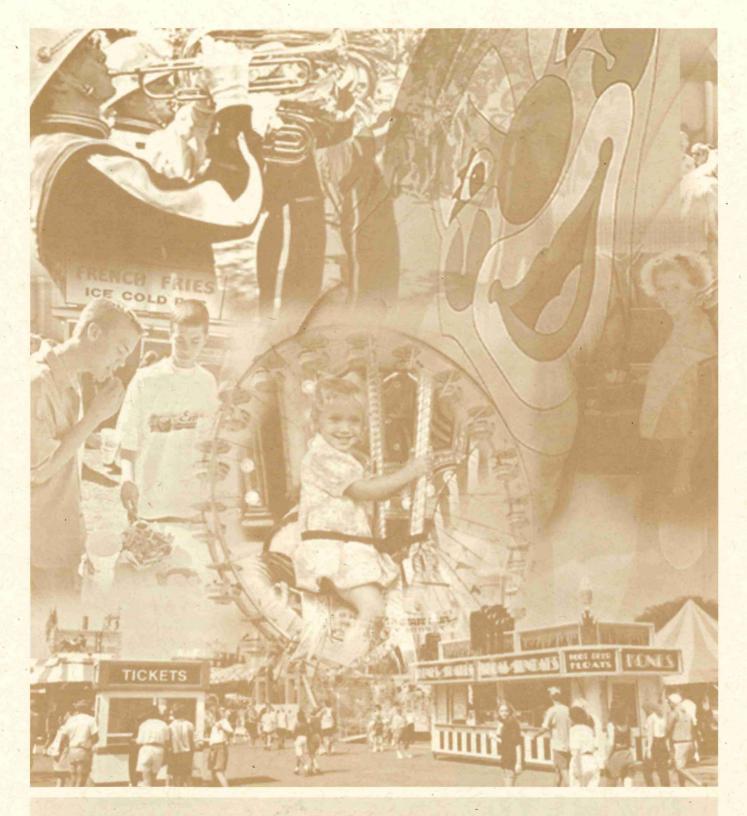

As caretakers of the State Fair, we have the sacred duty to see that this grand institution carries on and moves into the future as a fundamental and vital part of Minnesota's social fabric. This won't be easy. In the coming years, the challenges we face will grow. Our well-kept but aging fairgrounds will demand significant attention. The expense of producing the annual event will continue to outpace revenue. Competition from other entertainment venues, longer school years and a suffocatingly-tight job market show no signs of letting up soon, if ever. The manner in which we deal with these obstacles will define our direction.

But I have every confidence that the State Fair will grow and prosper and continue to be one of the greatest fairs in the world. This is an enormously resilient institution blessed with a remarkable group of people to carry the weight.

It is my most sincere hope that one day, about 100 years from now, the little girl with the winky shoes will stop in for her 100th visit to the State Fair. She'll have several generations of family in tow, and she'll tell them about how wonderful the fair was way back in 2000. She'll also tell them about the tremendous changes she has seen and how, over the years, the fair became much better. God bless you all.

Sincerely,

Jerry Hammer

Making New Friends.. Keeping the Old

The Minnesota State Fair is famous for its traditions, but along with returning favorites, it always has something new to offer loyal fans.

NEW IN 1999

Coca Cola's Wall of Speed

Race fans got behind the wheel of a real NASCAR Winston Cup automobile at Coca Cola's Wall of Speed. This virtual-reality display, located in the Amphitheater, allowed visitors to race on some of the nation's fastest tracks at simulated speeds up to 195 mph.

Wild West Show

History came to life at the 1999 Minnesota State Fair during the Wild West Show. The show featured trick riding, rope tricks and a salute to Buffalo Bill. The show was presented at all paid English and Western horse shows in the Coliseum.

Dorothy Landis and Archie Phillips were wed in a balloon at the 1928 fair.

Alliance with Youth

The Minnesota Alliance with Youth celebrated "Five Days of Promise" at the '99 State Fair. Activities included the construction of a Habitat for Humanity home by more than 250 youth and special appearances by Minnesota Twins great Kirby Puckett and Basketball Hall of Famer Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. The Minnesota Alliance with Youth is a statewide effort to mobilize Minnesota citizens around the goals of the President's Summit for America's Future, emphasizing education, responsibility, leadership and community involvement.

The Garden

The fair's newest food and entertainment area, The Garden (formerly known as "Beer"), hosted an exciting mix of dining, dancing and music. The area featured four new restaurants, including Tejas, Rajin Cajun, Ball Park Café and Chicago Dogs. A variety of entertainment was also presented daily on the Garden Stage.

Wedding

Two couples' lives were changed forever when they exchanged wedding vows during the 1999 State Fair. The lucky couples were selected by two radio stations from hundreds of entrants who wrote about why they wanted to get married at the fair. The double wedding took place in Carousel Park on Sept. 3, and after the nuptials the festivities moved to the Blue Ribbon Picnic Area, where the lights of the Mighty Midway served as a backdrop and the wedding parties and their guests danced the night away.

Public nuptials at the fair remained popular for decades. Both the journal and the small-town press papered the Upper Midwest with a call for photographs of potential brides and grooms. If selected, as the "Prettiest Farm Girl" and "The Lucky Man of Her Choice" the couple was promised a clergyman and a band, flowers, a ride in an automobile and brandname gifts, donated by corporate well wishers that ranged from a pair of mattresses to a pair of stout shoes for the gentleman.

Roving Entertainment

Kids and adults were delighted by two new roving entertainment acts at the '99 State Fair. The crazy antics of the B.C. Characters costumed critters and Hillbilly Bob's unique Model A Ford drew crowds wherever they appeared on the fairgrounds.

Jason Joyner, Jeanine Laursen, Kara Anderson and Steve Hviding were wed in Carousel Park at the 1999 fair.

RETURNING FAVORITES

Adventure Park

Adventure Park beckoned thousands of thrill seekers in 1999. The fair's popular thrill ride area delighted visitors with the newest addition to the area, the SkyScraper. Other extreme rides included the Ejection Seat giant reverse bungee, the Reactor Simulator. Theater and the SkyCoaster — which propels riders through the air like Superman.

Barn Tours

Tens of thousands of fair visitors learned about farm animals and agriculture during free, guided tours of the fair's livestock complex. Livestock professionals from throughout the United States served as Barn Tour guides, providing a wealth of knowledge from interesting animal trivia to animal care facts.

Agri-Land

Minnesota agriculture was the highlight of Agri-Land, a free exhibit area located on Machinery Hill. The area featured real growing crops, the On The Farm Game Show and the Old Iron Show. New to the area was Farmer For A Day, which allowed kids to test their farming skills by participating in a variety of activities including digging for potatoes and picking apples.

The North Woods

The North Woods was back and even bigger in '99. The outdoor-oriented exhibit area featured the Ironjack Forest Sports Tour lumberjack show, Fear No Ice ice sculptors, Ron Schara with guests from his Minnesota Bound television show and an antique fishing display. All attractions were free.

One-Hundred Years of Grandstand Entertainment

In the 1960s the Grandstand went "show-biz" with a parade of headline acts and celebrities. But the fireworks program with which the big night show began in 1899 remains the only truly satisfying finale to a day at the Minnesota State Fair.

Competition and Recognition

Fairs began as markets where people gathered to buy, sell and trade their wares. From the beginning, the very best of livestock and produce could be found at these annual events and it was only a matter of time before competition began to determine the best of the best. That competition continues today and has expanded to include 25 departments consisting of over 200 classes of livestock, farm products, creative arts and school projects.

Fine Arts

Painting, sculpture, photography and many other fine arts were on display at Minnesota's largest juried art show. A total of 332 works were selected from 1,482 entries in the annual Fine Arts competition. Jurors awarded over $9,500 in premium money to winning artists. The winner of the People's Choice Award was titled "Chester the Juggler" and was exhibited by Kimber Fiebiger of St. Paul.

State champion canning team, 1918, sporting the four-leaf-clover emblem, the symbol of the 4-H clubs, on caps as well as jars.

Creative Activities

Award winning handi-crafts, baked goods, canning and more were on display. There were 5,788 entries in 1999, which was near an all-time high. Several companies sponsored canning and baking competitions including Gedney, Land, 'O Lakes, Nestle', C & H Sugar, Pillsbury, Hormel and the Minnesota Turkey Growers.

Agriculture Horticulture

Due largely to the mild summer weather, entries in many departments were near record levels. Increased participation was noted in vegetables, flowers and bee culture. Once again Spooky World sponsored the popular Giant Pumpkin Contest and Travis Gienger from Andover, Minnesota took the honors, weighing in his monster at 341 pounds!

Livestock Shows

The 4-H show moved to the first four days of the fair and the FFA to the final four in a major restructuring of the schedules. Animal numbers continued to be strong. The llama show had 158 animals entered which was the highest number on record.

The largest boar of the 1999
Minnesota State Fair was owned by Ralph and Myrna Wermerskirchen and weighed in at a whopping
1,320 pounds!

Education

This year, another $20,000 was distributed through the Ben C. Hallberg Scholarship. A total of 20 rural students actively involved in the State Fair received scholarships of $1,000 each. The scholarships are named for the late Mr. Hallberg, who served at the old State Fair Farm Boys Camp from 1939 to 1964.

Century Farms

The Minnesota State Fair and the Minnesota Farm Bureau recognized 253 Minnesota farms as Century Farms in 1999. Qualifying farms are at least 50 acres in size, and must be in continuous family ownership for at least 100 years. Recipients of the award receive a building sign and certificate. Since the Century Farm program began in 1976, a total of 7,133 farms in Minnesota have been recognized as Century Farms.

The Wonders of Technology

Showing what the country's leading high tech organizations were doing right here in Minnesota. The free exhibit, located in the Progress Center, celebrated its sixth year at the fair this year and offered visitors the opportunity to talk to NASA representatives, surf the Internet and play with the newest technological gadgets. This year, more than 30 organizations participated in the display covering a variety of technology-based industries, including software, manufacturing, health care, education and entertainment.

The University of Minnesota

Highlighted in a new exhibit in the North Auditorium of the Crossroads Building the display featured University Relations, men's and women's athletics, the College of Agriculture, the Raptor Center, the Institute of Technology and the Bell Museum, plus daily demonstrations by a variety of the University's colleges and departments.

Y2K at the Fair

The Minnesota Bankers Association was on hand in the Education Building to respond to consumer concern over the potential Y2K crisis in the banking industry.

The Minnesota Planning Agency was also in the Education Building with an interactive survey regarding the State of Minnesota going into the year 2000 and information regarding the census 2000 program.

Shopping

New products of interest included; Eldon's Sausage & Jerky Fixings, located in the Merchandise Mart, (a full line of sausage and jerky fixings, equipment, supplies and training on how to make your own); The Golf Simulator, located in the upper Grandstand, (after hitting a golf ball into a video screen a computer analyzes all aspects of your golf swing); the Custom Playhouses, near

"What I like about the fair," exclaimed a woman admiring the quilts and the fancywork in 1905, "is the ideas it gives you." She was referring to a homemade portiere of varnished acorns but, in fact, any number of new ideas were abroad in the fair's feminine precincts.

Outside in the courtyard the Ball Park Cafe was like dining in the infield of an open air ballpark serving up breakfasts, rotisserie chicken, burgers, dogs and all the traditional ball park foods while plywood fans in the stands gazed on.

Step Right Up... Come On Down

Livestock and agricultural competition was the heart and soul of the fair in 1899 and remained so in 1999. However, Minnesotans who have never set foot on a farm have many new ways to compete.

Celebrity Look-A-Like Contest
Sponsored by KOOL 108, Everybody
Is A Star Day (August 31) featured a celebrity look-alike contest in Carousel Park. Willie Nelson, Tiny
Tim, Anthony Edwards and Elton
John were all spotted in the starstudded audience. But the hands down winner was Rob Nelson, a reporter from KMSP TV Channel 9 who could be the identical twin to Niles Crane from the *Frasier*television sitcom.

Dance Contest

The Way We Were Day (September 1) was sponsored by KDWB, K102 and KLBB and brought back the great oldies with dance lessons and competition in disco, swing and country line dancing.

Special Contests

Fun games and activities drew families and kids of all ages to the State Fair's Special Contest Tent in west Carousel Park. The contests, free to all fair visitors, included "Ode to Food on a Stick," "Pin the Mosquito on the Camper" and the "Spooky World Scream Contest."

Talent Contests

After 10 nights of semi-final competition, individuals from across the state showcased their extraordinary talents during the 27th annual State Fair Amateur Talent Contest finals on Sunday, Sept. 5. The free event in the Grandstand attracted more than 10,000 enthusiastic fans. Grand prize winners were Erin Callahan (open division: baton twirler from Cambridge), Holly Stiles (teen division: violin soloist from Roseville) and Jillian Marie LaVasseur (preteen division: vocal soloist from Buffalo Lake).

Winners of county fair talent contests from throughout the state participated in the MSF County Fair Amateur Talent Contest, held in Baldwin Park. Grand prize winners were Marcoux Corner (open division: barbershop quartet representing Clay County), Lezley Chase, Josh Pawelk and Josie Jaunich (teen division: dance group representing Wright County) and Angelique Hughes (preteen division: violin soloist representing Washington County).

Marching Bands

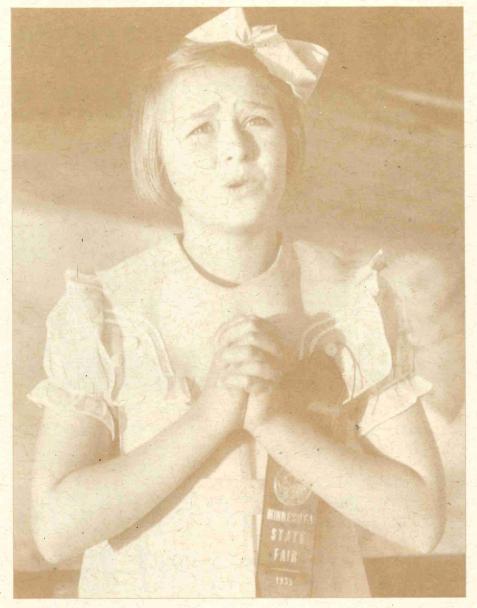

High school marching bands from across the state were judged during the 2 p.m. daily mall parade.
Winners of the competition were:

- Class A—Champlin Park
- Class B—Winona Cotter
- Class C—Elk Mound

Champlin Park and Winona Cotter each won for the third year in a row in their respective classes. With this honor, the two schools were given the fair's "traveling winners' flag" to keep as a momento of their accomplishments.

A ribbon for fancy footwork at dance competition at the 1999 fair.

A ribbon for dramatic declamation at the 1935 fair.

Milk Run

More than 1,500 runners participated in the State Fair's annual Milk Run, an eight-kilometer footrace, sponsored by the American Dairy Association and WCCO Radio. The overall winners of the race were:

- Men—Steve Plasencia, Shoreview (25:18)
- Women—Janice Ettle, Roseville (30:31)

Twelve classes for both men and women were designated for the run, ranging from 19-years-of-age-and-younger to 70-years-and-older.

Vic Snider, age 75, was the eldest competitor who placed, winning third place in the 70-and-older division. Joshua Klawitter was the youngest placing contestant; at just 14, he won third place in his division.

Outstanding Seniors

Julia Bohmbach of Rochester and Jim Schnell of Willmar were named Minnesota's Outstanding Senior Citizens during a recognition ceremony Thursday, Sept. 2 at the State Fair Bandshell.

A total of 130 people from throughout the state were recognized for their contributions to their communities. Bohmbach and Schnell were selected to represent Minnesota's seniors based on their activities since age 65. Bohmbach participates in many organizations, but she is most proud of her efforts in starting the first-of-its-kind Alzheimer's Disease support group in Rochester. She also serves as a member of the National Federation of the Blind and is a charter member of the Olmsted County Medical Auxiliary.

Schnell is involved in a variety of community organizations such as Ridgewater College Ministry, Willmar Area Marriage Encounter and The Barn Theater. He also serves as a mentor to young boys and teaches a 55 Alive driving course.

The Outstanding Senior Citizens program is sponsored by the Minnesota Board on Aging, the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs and the State Fair.

Board of Managers and Superintendents

The Minnesota State Agricultural Society is the governing body of the Minnesota State Fair and is charged exclusively with operating the exposition and maintaining the 360-acre fairgrounds. The society is a quasi-state agency, operating with no public subsidy of any kind, and consists of delegates from the state's county fairs and various agri-business groups. Every January, these delegates meet to conduct formal business, including the election of officers to fill alternating terms of the 10member State Fair board of managers.

Board members set policy for the administration of the fair, serve on committees dealing with specifics of the fair's operation and serve as a liaison between the Agricultural Society membership and State Fair staff. The board is comprised of one representative from each of the society's nine regional districts, plus a president who serves at-large.

THE FAIR OF 1909 — THE NEW GRANDSTAND OF THAT YEAR

Completed September 6, 1909 the first day of the fair. Constructed entirely of steel and concrete, absolutely fireproof and unbreakable; cost $275,000, of which sum the Society paid $75,000.

Maintenance and Improvements

In 1899, a total of $9,725 was spent on permanent improvements to the then 14-year-old

State Fairgrounds and its buildings. In 1999, a like amount was spent to paint the exterior of one restroom. This painting project was a small but important part of the fair's '99 budget of $3.9 million for upkeep of the 360-acre State Fairgrounds.

Maintaining and improving the State Fairgrounds is perhaps the greatest challenge faced by the State Agricultural Society today. All State Fair facilities are maintained through revenue generated by the fair, without any public funding of any kind.

The total value of the State Fair's buildings and infrastructure is conservatively estimated at $150 million. Many of the fair's facilities were built as WPA projects in the 1930's. Other's such as the Progress Center ('07), Arts Center ('07) and Grandstand ('09), are truly historic. The common denominator shared by all State Fair facilities, regardless of age, is that they require constant attention and upkeep.

Much of this upkeep, particularly to the infrastructure, appears to be invisible. For instance, fair visitors will find little evidence of the State Fair's annual $300,000 investment in sewer separation, nor will they see any signs of the hundreds of thousands of dollars spent each year on roof replacement and repair. Continual upgrades to the fair's utility services are visible only to those who notice progressively larger, flashier exhibits and displays each year.

OFFICE OF THE LEGISLATIVE AUDITOR

STATE OF MINNESOTA • James Nobles, Legislative Auditor

Independent Auditor's Report

Mr. Donald Simons, President Board of Managers State Agricultural Society

Members of the State Agricultural Society

Mr. Jerry Hammer, Executive Vice President State Agricultural Society

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of the State Agricultural Society as of and for the years ended October 31, 1999 and 1998, and the related statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the years then ended as presented on pages 22 to 25. These financial statements are the responsibility of the society's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and the significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the State Agricultural Society as of October 31, 1999 and 1998, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated March 22, 2000, on our consideration of the State Agricultural Society's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, and grants. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be read in conjunction with this report in considering the results of our audit.

The accompanying financial information included on pages 26 to 30, is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the society's financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

James R. Nobles
Legislative Auditor

NOTE 1: SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Minnesota State Agricultural Society is charged with the conduct of the annual State Fair and management of the State Fairgrounds, as outlined by Chapter 37 of Minnesota Statutes. The financial activities of the Society are accounted for as an enterprise fund which operates in a manner similar to a private business enterprise. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are presented on the accrual basis. The Society's accounting practices conform to generally accepted accounting principles as prescribed by the Governmental Standards Board. In accordance with Governmental Accounting Standard No. 20, the Society does not apply any pronouncements of the Financial Accounting Standards issued after November 30, 1989. Compensated absences consist of employee vacation and sick leave benefits. These benefits are determined based on a formula with a maximum number of hours accumulated and are payable upon death, termination, or retirement. Compensated absences are reported as current liabilities.

NOTE 2: CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

The Society cash balance includes only deposits in the bank.

Minn. Stat. Sec 118.01 requires that deposits by municipalities, including public corporations, be secured by depository insurance or a combination of depository insurance and collateral security. The statute further requires that total collateral computed at its fair market value be at least 10 percent more than the amount on deposit in excess of any insured portion at the close of the business day.

NOTE 3: PROPERTY, STRUCTURES, UTILITIES & EQUIPMENT

Property, structures, utilities and equipment are recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lifes of the related assets. Costs of improvements and renovations that add to the original value or materially extend the useful life of the related asset, are capitalized and written off as depreciable charges over their estimated useful life.

NOTE 5: RETIREMENT PLAN

The following pension disclosures are made to comply with GASB Statement 27, Accounting for Pensions by State and Local Government Employees

Plan Description

All Society-full-time employees must participate and are-covered by defined benefit pension plans administered by the Minnesota State Retirement System (MSRS). MSRS administers the State Employees Retirement Fund (SERF) which is a cost-sharing, multiple-employer retirement plan. The payroll for employees covered by MSRS plans for the year ended October 31, was $2,616,113 for 1998 and $2,795,607 for 1999. Total Society payroll was $5,130,245 for 1998 and $5,410,111 for 1999. MSRS issues a publicly available financial report that includes financial statement and required supplementary information. That report may be obtained by writing to the MSRS plan administrator at the Minnesota State Retirement System, 175 West Layfayette Frontage Road, Suite 300, St. Paul, Minnesota 55107.

MSRS provides retirement benefits as well as disability benefits to members, and benefits to survivors upon death of eligible members. Benefits are established by State Statute and vest after three years of credited service. The defined retirement benefits are based on a member's average salary from the five highest successive years of covered salary, age, and length of service at termination of service. Two methods are used to compute benefits, the Step formula and the Level formula. Under the Step formula the annual accrual is 1 percent of average salary for the first ten years of service and 1.5 percent for each remaining year. Under the Level Formula, the annual accrual amount is 1.5 percent for each year of service. For MSRS members whose annuity is calculated with the Step Formula," a full annuity is available when age plus years of service equal 90.

There are two types of annuities available to members upon retirement. The Single-life annuity is a lifetime annuity that ceases on the death of a member. The Optional annuity provides joint and survivor annuity options that reduce monthly annuity payments because the annuity is payable over joint lifes. Members may also leave their contributions in the fund upon termination of public service in order to qualify for a deferred annuity at retirement age. Refunds of contributions are available to members who leave public service, but before retirement benefits begin."

Funding Policy

Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 352 sets the rate for employee and employer contributions." Contributions are made to the fund by employees and the Society based on a percentage of gross salary. The Society matches employee contributions and also pays an additional amount to retire prior years unfunded liabilities. The actuarially determined required contribution rates were 7.13% for 1998 and 6.48% for 1999. The current rates are 4.00 percent for employees and 4.00 percent for the Society for a total of 8.00 percent. The total employer contributions for the Society were "$103,092 for 1998 and $111,816 for 1999."

Related Party Investments

As of October 31, 1999, and for the fiscal year then ended, MSRS held no securities issued by the Society or other related parties.

Deferred Compensation

All Society full-time employees are eligible to participate in the Minnesota Deferred Compensation Plan for public employees. Deferred compensation is a plan that allows employees to place a portion of their earnings into a tax deferred investment program for long-term savings to supplement retirement and other benefits. The deferred compensation plan is administered by Minnesota State Retirement System.

NOTE 6: NOTE PAYABLE

Notes payable consists entirely of promissory notes. The obligations bear interest rates related to the current prime rate in effect from time to time, ranging from .737 of the prime rate to 1% over the prime rate, and are due through 2006.

NOTE 7: RESERVED FUNDS

This represents reserved funds as set forth by Minnesota Statutes, Section 297A.25.

NOTE 8: LEASE PAYABLE

Leases meet the criteria of a capital lease as defined by Statement of Financial Accounting Standards #13,"Accounting for Leases," which defines a capital lease generally as one which transfers benefits and risks of ownership to the lessee. The lease payable represents one lease for financing of one copier. The equipment was capitalized and the lease payable obligations were computed using the present values of the total lease payments.

Report on Compliance and on Internal Control over Financial Reporting Based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance with Government Auditing Standards

Mr. Donald Simons, President Board of Managers State Agricultural Society

Members of the State Agricultural Society

Mr. Jerry Hammer, Executive Vice President State Agricultural Society

We have audited the financial statements of the State Agricultural Society as of and for the year ended October 31, 1999, and have issued our report thereon dated March 22, 2000. We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States:

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the State Agricultural Society's financial statements are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit and, accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit, we considered the State Agricultural Society's internal control over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal control over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the State Agricultural Society's ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the financial statements. We describe the reportable conditions as Finding 1 in the accompanying section entitled Current Finding and Recommendations.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce, to a relatively low level, the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we consider the reportable condition described in Finding 1 to be a material weakness.

We also noted other matters involving the internal control over financial reporting that we have reported orally to the management of the State Agricultural Society at an exit conference held on April 17, 2000.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the State Agricultural Society's management and the Legislative Audit Commission and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Current Finding and Recommendations

1. The society has not adequately documented its computerized accounting systems.

The society does not have formal, written documentation to show how its computer programs relate to each other and how data flows through and between the various programs. The society also does not adequately document changes made to its computer programs. The society is heavily dependent on one person, its computer consultant, for software maintenance and support.

The society's computer system consists of a customized group of software programs that support general accounting, payroll, ticket sales, space rentals, and other functions of the fair. The society's current computer consultant originally programmed the various components of the computer system several years ago. The computer consultant continues to be under contract with the society to program and maintain the society's computer information system. Under this contract, the consultant's duties include the following:

...program and assist in managing the society's computer information systems ... complete programming as requested by the society, properly maintain the computer system, including, but not limited to, file and system maintenance and file backups.

The contract does not require the consultant to create or maintain system or program documentation as part of the contractual deliverables. The computer consultant received approximately $182,000 in fees from the society in fiscal year 1999.

The society does not have detailed documentation to support either the computer programs' original design or the subsequent changes that have been made. The society does not have overall system or program documentation that shows how transactions are processed through the system and how the computer programs are intended to operate. It also does not have diagrams or narrative descriptions of how data is processed through each program and how the output from the various subsystems feed the society's general ledger. After consultation with the society's management, the computer consultant solves software problems and makes enhancements. The consultant also makes emergency programming changes when needed. However, the society and its consultant have not followed industry standards in documenting or establishing controls over changes. The consultant relies on program end users to test the changes and to create any supporting documentation the society's employees believe is necessary.

The lack of computer system documentation makes the society dependent on the consultant to keep its computer programs functioning. Unlike agencies that purchase ready-made packaged software, the society could have difficulty finding alternate vendors who could service its existing computer programs. Without an overall system architecture and adequate program documentation, a vendor unfamiliar with the customized software would need a substantial amount of time to learn to effectively manage the society's computer system. A computer system failure if the consultant became unavailable could have potentially serious implications for the society.

State Agricultural Society

In addition, as the society continues to develop its overall system architecture, changes should be based on the society's long- and short-range business goals. The computer system and any changes made to it should be well-planned, documented, and support the society's system architecture.

Recommendations

- The society should create documentation for its computer system and programs, including detailed descriptions of processes and data flows. The society should update this documentation whenever system or program changes are made.
- The society-should require any computer consultants to provide documentation as one of the consultant contract deliverables.

Status of Prior Audit Issues As of March 22, 2000

Most Recent Audit

An audit of the State Agricultural Society is performed annually by the Office of the Legislative Auditor. Legislative Audit Report 99-22, dated February 19, 1999, covered the fiscal year ended October 31, 1998. The audit scope included those areas material to the society's financial statements. There were two findings in the report. We consider all prior recommendations to have been implemented.

THE GREAT MINNESOTA GET-TOGETHER 12 DAYS OF FUN ENDING LABOR DAY

Jeanine Leifeld, Audit Manager Office of the Legislative Auditor Centennial Building, 658 Cedar St. St. Paul, MN 55155

Dear Jeanine,

April 17, 2000

We interpret the issue as follows: The State Agricultural Society's computer software for accounting systems would have greater stability if detailed operating manuals were created for our custom software programs. We agree. Further, in our discussions with you after the conclusion of field work, the issue appeared to boil down to the benefits of custom software and its inherent dependence on a programming consultant versus the benefits of off-the-shelf programs and their more readily-available manuals and support.

In the mid- and late-'80s, as the Society's operation was gradually computerized, custom software was created because the highly-specialized programs necessary to meet the unique needs of operating a state fair did not exist with off-the-shelf programs. It was determined that custom software was the best and, in fact, the only way for us to go at that time. To a large extent, that remains true today. Regardless, the programs were designed to meet our very specific needs, and they continue to work very well for us.

The issue of creating operating manuals for our custom software has been discussed regularly among staff over the years; the expense, however, has been prohibitive. Current estimates show that it will take anywhere from $65,000 to $200,000 to create the manuals. Since we are half-way through fiscal 2000, it is unlikely that we will be able to make much headway this year; however, we will do what we can in 2000 while looking ahead to 2001.

The bigger issue is the direction we are taking with our computer system; part of the process will be to decrease our reliance on custom software where we can, and we are already headed in that direction. For example, one of the largest components of our custom computer operation - ticket sales - is being outsourced to a commercial ticket firm this year and will no longer be maintained in-house. Our custom payroll program - another large part of our computer accounting system - is scheduled for replacement this fall with an off-the-shelf program. These changes are a result, in part, of our annual detailed computer systems analysis.

Thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

Jerry Hammer

EMPLOYEE BULLETIN #3Y . . . MINNESOTA STATE FAIR

To: State Fair Salaried Personnel & Department Superintendents

From: Jerry Hammer, Executive Vice President

Re: Travel Regulations

The following bulletin, issued at the direction of the board of managers of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society, outlines rules and regulations relative to travel by society officers, board members and employees on society business and expenses incurred thereon. (Said Bulletin #3Y supersedes and replaces MSAS Employee Bulletin #3X, issued 7-1-98). These rules go into effect 1-1-2000.

1. AUTHORITY - Authority to travel at society expense, in-state and out-of-state, may be granted by the executive vice president or such person as he may designate when necessary or beneficial to the conduct of State Fair business. Such authorization shall be granted prior to the incurrence of the actual expense and shall be subject to the availability of funds.

All official employee expense reports must be checked, approved and signed by the person granting authority for said travel.

- 2. SEAT BELTS When traveling in a State Fair vehicle, a leased or rental vehicle or your personal vehicle on State Fair business, you are expected to use safety belt systems provided in such vehicles. You should also encourage other occupants in the vehicle to use such systems.
- 5. TRAVEL BY PRIVATELY-OWNED OR STATE FAIR OWNED VEHICLES IN STATE If possible, State Fair owned vehicles shall be used by employees when traveling within the state on official business. In such cases, the employee shall be reimbursed for the actual expenses incurred in the operation or maintenance of the State Fair vehicle.

The compensation for use of personal automobiles by employees traveling on official State Fair business shall be 32.5 cents per mile. (Changes in this mileage rate shall be made through formal action of the board and are effective on the date of such action.) No additional reimbursement will be made for any expense incident to the operation or maintenance of such personal car excepting only toll charges and parking fees. Mileage shall be paid for the shortest direct route according to highway department records. Mileage for deviations from the shortest direct route, such as vicinity driving or point of departure, shall be shown as a separate item on the expense report along with an explanation for each day before reimbursement will be allowed.

4. TRAVEL - OUT-OF-STATE - Payment for expenses for transportation by personal vehicle for out-of-state travel shall be made on the basis of a single coach airfare. A State Fair vehicle may be used, if available, for which the employee will be reimbursed for actual expenses incurred in such use. Reimbursement for meals and lodging shall be limited to such period of time as would be required if travel were by commercial transportation, unless the use of a fair-owned vehicle results in a total cost to the State Fair that is less than the cost by commercial transportation. In such cases, reimbursement may be obtained for additional meals and lodging, and mileage reimbursement will be made in accordance with above Rule No. 3. Reasonable gratuities may be included in commercial travel costs.

When personal vehicles are used in driving to out-of-state locations not serviced by commercial transportation, travel reimbursement shall be made on an actual mileage basis in accordance with the rules cited above. In these situations, reimbursement for meals and lodging shall be limited to a reasonable period of time.

5. TRAVEL BY COMMON CARRIER - Society personnel may travel by common carrier when properly authorized by the executive vice president or his agent. Such personnel may travel first class rail and, whenever possible, advantage should be taken of round-trip fares in connection therewith. First class shall include cost of lower berth or roomette and chair car. Any expense incurred for sleeping accommodations in excess of lower berth or roomette shall be assumed by the employee. Air transportation may be authorized for an employee who is traveling in-state or out-of-state. Personnel must book tourist or coach space, unless not available. Air charter service may be used for either in-state or out-of-state travel when charter service is more practical than commercial transportation. Miles accumulated during business flights, shall be credited to the Minnesota State Fair corporate frequent flyer accounts. When an employee has a reservation for a flight that is not going to be used, such employee shall be accountable for cancellation of such reservation.

Ms. Leach and Mr. Hammer offered updates on the status of entertainment facilities proposed for construction in the Twin Cities area. Also discussed was the potential renovation of the Bazaar and the Grandstand. Information only; no action required. Meeting adjourned at 11:05 a.m. on a motion by Mr. Simons, seconded by Mr. Recknor and carried (Aye-7; Nay-0).

Selected were: seventh district - Dennis Baker, Spicer; eighth district - Chauncey Wargin, Hermantown; and ninth district - Clarice Schmidt, Sabin.

Members of the Society met for breakfast at 8 a.m. Sunday Jan. 16, and at 8:30 a.m. convened in general session. President Vern Prokosch introduced the head table and called on Secretary Hammer. Following a short video presentation on the '99 State Fair, Hammer offered his report:

We all know how special the fair is to our visitors. That came through loud and clear in the video. The State Fair has been referred to as part of our social fabric. For many families it's a tradition that spans generations. People come from all over North America to see it and we keep hearing from visitors that it's the best fair they've ever seen. It's our obligation to keep working hard and make sure that we remain the best.

But what really convinced me that the fair is a truly beloved event is something that I saw in the St. Paul newspaper on New Years Day. Readers were asked what they would put in a time capsule to tell people about life in the year 2000. There wasn't much space in this time capsule, so they could only include a few things. On a very short list of items, they included food from the State Fair...specifically, Pronto Pups and cheese curds. Now think about this for a minute. People love the fair so much that they would give up precious space in a time capsule for cheese curds because they're from the State Fair. Everybody knows that cheese curds last forever anyway. In the fossil record millions of years from now, cheese curds will be intact.

Every year, the fair takes on its own character. The '99 State Fair was characterized by excellent attendance once again, very good participation in our agriculture and education programs, early school openings which are my personal favorite, perhaps the best midway we've ever had, a top-notch entertainment lineup and, most important, a whole lot of satisfied customers. Attendance was just short of 1.7 million paid, and, by any yardstick, that has to be considered a darn good year. The weather cooperated, for the most part. There were a few very hot and humid days, but that's pretty typical for that time of year. On the second Saturday of the fair, normally our biggest day, the weather people were predicting gloom and doom all day long. Oh, I love weather people at fair-time. I'd really love them if they'd all take a nice long vacation to South America. On that day, it was raining all around us, literally just a few miles away. The radar showed rain to the west, rain to the north and south, breaking up over St. Paul, and reforming again to the east. It was like we were in a bubble. On Sunday, the weather people said there was no explanation for it. Someone suggested to me that it was all the hot air rising from the fairgrounds. Maybe it was the cheese curds. You never know.

During the course of the fair, we all run into lots of people. At the '99 fair, two of them really stood out for me, and I wrote about them in the newsletter that's on your tables. The first was John Haggenmiller — a 97-year-old gentleman who grew up in the same neighborhood that I did right near the fairgrounds at Como and Snelling. He wanted to visit a little about the neighborhood, but he really wanted to talk about the fair. It was a completely one-sided conversation. He did all the talking. What a neat old guy, and what a memory, and what a long history at the fair. The Grandstand? He calls it the new Grandstand. He was there when it was built back in 1909. I must have looked surprised because he said "You act like that was a long time ago." I guess it's all relative. Here's a guy who's witnessed incredible changes in society during his lifetime, and what served as the touchstone of his life is the State Fair. It was gratifying and humbling to see what an important part of his life the fair is. The best thing he said, though, was that he liked the fair when he was a kid, but he likes it a lot better now — especially the agriculture.

Just a few hours later, I saw someone literally at the other end of the age spectrum. It was a little girl who couldn't have been more than two, and she had these little tennis shoes on with the winky red lights in the heels. She was dancing up a storm at a show at the Bandshell. Her mom and dad were trying to get her to leave, but she kept pulling away and running back towards the Bandshell to keep dancing. This went on for five minutes before they finally got her into her stroller and headed home.

So on the one hand, we have the 97-year-old gentleman who is a well-versed and intelligent critic of the fair with a love of the fair that goes back nearly a century. On the other hand is a little kid who I'm sure really didn't know or care where she was, but she knew she was having a great time. I hope that for her this was the start of a lifelong romance with the fair and that, like Mr. Haggenmiller, the fair can play a big part in her life for the next, 97 years.

The very special State Fair moments for me almost always involve our unbelievably fabulous staff. Fair-time staff and summer staff and our full-time team of expert professionals. Day after day, I see them going that extra mile to make sure that our guests have a great fair experience.

During the fair, four of our staff members were recognized with a One Goal Plus Award. The One Goal is exceptional customer service, and these four people are among the many who consistently go above and beyond the call of duty. I'm very pleased to report that all four are here this morning, and I would like to introduce them to you and present them each with a little keepsake.

First, I'd like to introduce you to James Hammar, who splits time between three fair departments . . . employment services, marketing and sanitation. His busy fair days usually start at sun-up and don't end until after midnight. Thank you James.

Next, please welcome Ron Battles, Senior, of the sanitation department. Ron has probably the toughest job at the fair. . . keeping the Food Building and surrounding area clean. You know what that means. Cheese curds. Ron has been described as a model employee, and we are fortunate to have him. Thank you Ron.

Next, meet our good friend Bob Bloom, who heads up our telecommunications. The fair's phone and cable network is vast, literally miles and miles of phone lines, computer lines, fiber optics, and Bob and his team make the whole thing go. I can't imagine where we'd be without Bob. Thank you Bob, so very much.

Finally, meet Larry Streif, who is a long-time member of the attractions ticket takers. Larry takes care of 80 people who live and work out of the ticket takers dorm during the fair. He wears many hats and he wears them well. Congratulations, Larry, and thank you for being here this morning.

Now I'd like to ask all of the State Fair staff to stand. Many of you are here today. If you worked at the fair, please stand. Fair-time, seasonal, full-time, please rise. We owe all of these good people a profound debt of gratitude because, without them, there simply is no fair. Let's give them all a nice round of applause.

And now it's time to look ahead. There's an old Arab saying that goes "He who looks in the crystal ball, eats broken glass," and there's a lot of truth to that. Can we accurately predict where the fair is headed? No. Do we know what the world will be like 10 or even five years from now? No. All we know is that the world is changing very fast, and that we'll face extraordinary challenges during the next few years.

We will have unprecedented competition from what's becoming a plague of festivals and events and entertainment venues. At this moment, there are three amphitheaters proposed for the Twin Cities. It appears that two of them could become reality. There's also a brand-spanking new arena under construction in downtown St. Paul that will be open next fall. It's being built for hockey, but they're going to need to book a whole lot of events in addition. Where will the amphitheaters and the arena get the acts they'll need to survive? The same place we do. It's already tough booking acts, and it's going to get a whole lot tougher.

School opened before Labor Day the past two years, forcing our attendance to pile up on the weekends. I sure hope our kids are a whole lot smarter with those two extra school days. I sure hope their test scores-improve from two extra days added on to their nine months in school. Because on the days when the kids were in school, the fair hit the wall. . . hard. At 5 p.m. on one of the school days - a time of day that should be high tide for us - I saw a lone concession worker playing solitaire on the counter of her food stand. I thought I'd never see that at our fair. People still came to the fair, but the weekends grew too large for us to provide our guests with the service they deserve. Fulfilling our mission is challenging enough as it is. Early school openings is a trend that serves no one.

Our booming economy means that folks have plenty of money and plenty of jobs, and that's good. What's bad is that it makes it very difficult for us to hire the 3,700 people we need to present the fair. Our concessionaires face the same problem. For the forseeable future, that won't change.

Our fairgrounds, which are the nicest in North America, are getting old. Our staff goes to heroic lengths to keep everything ship shape, but we've reached the point where age is catching up with us. Serious updating and renovation needs to begin soon.

That's the bad news, and those are the challenges we face. It doesn't take a crystal ball to see, so I won't be eating any glass, at least not today. Now here's the good news. Our dedicated board and terrific staff are up to the challenges. We're up to the job. With your help and your support, we'll get the job done and we'll get it done right. This fair will continue to be the best there is. I promise you that.

Before I close, I need to thank all of our partners who made the '99 State Fair a success. That includes commercial and competitive exhibitors, concessionaires, entertainers, our contractors, our ad agency, all of our business partners and, most of all, our guests. I also need to thank a man whom I have known for a long time and, during the last two years, has become a very good friend - Vern-Prokosch - our president who retires today after 15 years of service to the board. And Helen, Vern's wife, who is a great lady. Thank you for everything. Last night, Helen and I shared a very special moment. We got t-shirts from Mad Dog Vachon.

Finally, I need to thank you for the privilege of serving this great institution. God bless you all.
