Introduction

During the 1998 session, legislation was passed requiring that the complaint process work group, which was established in 1997 by the Commissioners of Health and Commerce, continue to meet to develop a complaint resolution process for health plan companies to make available to enrollees as required under:

- Minnesota Statutes, section 62Q.105, which requires health plan companies to establish and make available an informal process for the resolution of enrollee complaints, including a mechanism for appeals of the health plan company decisions;
- Minnesota Statutes, section 62Q.11, which requires the Commissioners of Health and Commerce to make available dispute resolution processes for enrollee complaints against health plan companies; and
- Minnesota Statutes, section 62Q.30, which requires the Commissioners to make available an expedited fact finding and dispute resolution process for enrollee complaints against health plan companies.

The legislation also states that [t]he commissioners of health and commerce shall . . . submit final recommendations to the legislature, including draft legislation on developing such a process by November 15, 1998. (See Laws of Minnesota 1998, chapter 407, article 2, section 101.) The recommendations must include a permanent method of financing the Office of Health Care Consumer Assistance, Advocacy, and Information. This report contains our final recommendations to the legislature.

In undertaking this effort, it was the desire of the Departments that the group would be able to work together to create a system which is fair and reasonable from the perspective of consumers, purchasers, health plan companies, and regulators. The work group was not able to reach a consensus. Nonetheless, the Departments are submitting this report for the purposes of describing the issues and the options to consider. The report includes the recommendations of the Departments on specific issues. We have included draft legislation which incorporates the Departments' recommendations. (See Appendix A.)

Background

The 1997 Patient Protection Act directed the Commissioners of Health and Commerce, in consultation with the Consumer Advisory Board and other affected parties, to make recommendations to the 1998 legislature on developing a complaint resolution process for health plan companies to make available for enrollees. (Laws of Minnesota 1997, chapter 237, section 20.) Accordingly, in the fall of 1997, the Departments of Health and Commerce organized a work group of stakeholders for the purpose of developing those recommendations. The work group was facilitated by Roger Williams, an outside neutral party, from the Minnesota Office of Dispute Resolution. In organizing the work group, it was the goal of the Departments to bring together interested parties to work together in an effort to build consensus by identifying and addressing issues and concerns related to the development of a complaint resolution process. Approximately 30 persons actively participated in the sessions. The participants represented many diverse interests and included appointees from consumers groups, health plans, indemnity insurers, self-insured employers, and the Departments of Health, Commerce, Human Services, and Employee Relations. The group was also assisted by legislative staff.

By late fall of 1997, there was general discussion by the group about whether a complaint process should include mechanisms for internal and external appeal, and that the role of the regulatory agencies should not be diminished. The group also agreed, generally, that enrollees should be able to access the external review appeal process following an adverse utilization review decision made pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, section 62M.06. As the discussion continued, however, the focus of the group turned to the creation of an office of health care consumer advocacy, and the group did not have enough time to resolve further details related to the complaint process. Therefore, the Departments recommended that the group continue to meet to develop recommendations for the development of a uniform complaint process to be presented to the legislature during the 1999 legislative session.

Accordingly, 1998 legislation was passed requiring that the work group continue to meet to develop a complaint resolution process for health plan companies to make available to enrollees as required under Minnesota Statutes, sections 62Q.105, 62Q.11, and 62Q.30. The legislation also mandates that the recommendations include a permanent method of financing the office of health care consumer assistance, advocacy, and information. (See Laws of Minnesota 1998, chapter 407, article 2, section 101.)

The complaint process work group was reconvened in May 1998, and the group met on June 8, July 13, August 10, September 9, September 28, October 26, and November 5, 1998. A list of members of the workgroup appears in Appendix B of this report. The legislative report submitted by the Departments of Health and Commerce in January of 1998 was used as a starting point when the group reconvened following the 1998 legislative session. A number of issues relative to both internal and external processes were discussed in detail by the workgroup. However, the group did not reach consensus regarding draft legislation. Furthermore, there were no votes taken to verify consensus on any specific issue.

Internal Process

Overlaps and inconsistencies exist between internal review processes provided under Chapter 62D, which applies to HMOs only, and Chapter 62M, which applies to utilization review organizations, including indemnity insurers and HMOs, but only to the extent those health plan companies are conducting utilization review under Chapter 62M. Furthermore, the requirements for indemnity insurers appear in Chapter 72A, Regulation of Trade Practices. This section of the report is intended to recommend changes which will make the internal processes for all health plan companies consistent and understandable.

62Q

Medical Appeals versus General Grievances

Language must be added to both Chapter 62Q and Chapter 62M to clarify that general complaints would be determined under the process provided in Chapter 62Q but that any appeal requiring a medical determination would be determined under the process provided under 62M.

Currently there is some confusion about whether disputes related to needed medical care are general complaints under Chapter 62D or appeals of medical determinations under Chapter 62M. When a dispute requires a medical determination, the work group discussed a process in which appeals of the matter should always be considered under procedures in Chapter 62M, regardless of whether the issue started as a general complaint or as a utilization review decision.

Procedures for Filing and Disclosure

Receipt of inquiries and complaints by telephone is a common customer service procedure for health plan companies. Therefore, the group discussed whether, in addition to filing a complaint in writing, an enrollee should be able to file a complaint over the telephone.

Those who oppose allowing complaints to be filed by telephone feel that it would burden the health plan companies with an unnecessary statutory mandate. They have pointed out that health plan companies typically conduct telephone customer service on complaints and there is no need to impose any statutory requirements related to complaints made by telephone. Those in favor of allowing this type of procedure dispute that the telephone inquiries and complaints are currently being documented and argue that many telephone inquiries and complaints are left undocumented and unresolved.

An advantage of allowing a complaint to be filed by telephone would be to permit documentation of the telephone inquiry and disclosure to the consumer of his options. Furthermore, procedures similar to those considered by the work group are mandatory for health plan companies which contract to provide prepaid medical assistance services and, based upon soon to be published Rules, all health maintenance organizations will be required to maintain records of complaints received by telephone.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that there be an expectation that the health plan companies provide full disclosure of options to enrollees who indicate by telephone that they have a concern or complaint, but to allow flexibility as to how health plan companies will accomplish this and meet the Commissioners' expectations in this regard.*

Timeframes and Notice Requirements for the Health Plan Company Decisions

The work group discussed two options for the timeframe within which the health plan company must make its initial decision on a complaint, and provide notification thereof to the complainant.

One option is similar to the timeframe currently required for HMOs under Chapter 62D. That is, the decision shall be made within 30 days unless there are circumstances beyond the health plan company's control. In this case, the enrollee is notified of the reason for delay and the health plan company is allowed another 14 days to make its decision. The other option is similar to the current language for appeal in Minnesota Statutes, chapter 62M. The timeframe under this option is less specific: it provides that a decision must be made within 45 days after receipt of all information reasonably necessary to make a decision.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the timeframe within which the health plan company must make its initial decision on a complaint, and provide notification thereof to the enrollee, be 30 days.

Additional Internal Review

The work group discussed whether an enrollee should have the right to appeal an adverse complaint decision through a health plan company's internal appeals process, either in writing or by hearing. Also, there was discussion that a health plan company must notify a complainant of this process, including applicable time lines, when the complaint decision is adverse to the complainant.

The group also discussed whether the complainant has the right to proceed directly to an external appeals process without exhausting the health plan company's internal appeals process.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend an enrollee be allowed to proceed to an external appeals process only after exhausting the health plan company's statutorily mandated internal appeals process. This is consistent with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' model act on grievance procedures.

62M

Clarification of Medical Decisions in Chapter 62M

There is need to clarify the law to assure that all decisions on appeals requiring a medical determination will be made under medical review procedures in Chapter 62M, instead of under the procedures provided for general complaints under Chapter 62Q.

There is currently some confusion about whether appeals are being considered by HMOs as general complaints under Chapter 62D or as appeals of medical determinations under Chapter 62M. The work group discussed that when a dispute requires a medical determination, the matter should always be considered under procedures in Chapter 62M, regardless of whether the matter originally arose as a general complaint or from a utilization review decision.

Disclosure and Procedures for Filing

Disclosure of the process for obtaining certification or approval for coverage under utilization review needs to be clear and concise. The work group discussed that such disclosure shall be provided as a part of the certificate of coverage.

Procedures for Review Determinations

Every utilization review organization must have written procedures to ensure that all determinations and decisions are conducted in accordance with statutory requirements. Once the determination is made to certify or not to certify, notification must promptly be provided by telephone to the provider and enrollee. Written notification must then be sent, along with information about the right of appeal and the process for initiating this appeal.

For an expedited review determination, the work group discussed two standards. One definition followed the current Medicare appeal process, (expedited review determination if standard procedure would jeopardize the enrollee's life, health, or ability to regain maximum function) while the other option was to use current language found in Minnesota Statutes section 62M.06, subd. 2 (expedited appeal of determinations not to certify if the attending physician believes that the determination warrants immediate appeal).

Recommendation: The Departments recommend using the language currently contained in section 62M.06, subdivision 2, which allows for an expedited review determination if the attending physician believes that the determination warrants immediate consideration. The attending physician is in the best position to determine whether the circumstances warrant an expedited review determination. Notification of the expedited determination decision should be provided within 72 hours of the initial request. Furthermore, additional language should be added requiring that if the utilization review organization and the claim administrator are separate entities, the utilization review organization must forward a notification of certification or determination not to certify to the appropriate claim administrator for the health benefit plan.

Appeals of Determination Not to Certify

Currently, Utilization Review Organizations must provide a written procedure for appeals of determination not to certify, including the expedited appeal process. The group discussed whether to use the Medicare expedited appeal process language (if standard procedure would jeopardize the enrollee's life, health, or ability to regain maximum function) or the language currently contained in Minnesota Statutes §62M.06, subd. 2 (expedited appeal of determinations not to certify if the attending physician believes that the determination warrants immediate appeal).

Recommendation: Like the expedited review determination process, the Departments recommend using the language currently contained in Minnesota Statutes §62M.06, subd. 2 (expedited appeal of determinations not to certify if the attending physician believes that the circumstances warrant immediate appeal).

Current language has no time requirement requiring the utilization review organization to notify the enrollee, attending health care provider or their designee by telephone of his or her determination for this expedited appeal process. The group discussed adding language requiring this notification to be made no later than 72 hours after receiving the expedited appeal. With this notification, the enrollee must be informed of his or her right to submit an appeal to an external review process and the procedures for initiating this external appeal.

Time frames and Notice Requirements for Standard Appeal

The work group discussed two options for the time frame within which the health plan company must make its initial decision on a standard appeal, and provide notification thereof, to the enrollee or patient, attending health care provider and claim administrator.

One option is similar to the time frame currently required for each HMO under Chapter 62Q. The decision must be made within thirty days unless there are circumstances beyond the utilization review organization's control. Then the enrollee must be notified of the reason for the delay and the utilization review organization has an additional fourteen days.

The other option is similar to the current language for appeal in Minnesota Statutes section 62M.06. It provides that a decision must be made within forty-five days after receiving the required documentation on the appeal.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the time frame within which the health plan company must make its decision on a standard appeal, and provide notification thereof, be 30 days.

Second Appeal Options

There was discussion about whether a utilization review organization may establish and offer a second appeal process if the determination not to certify is not reversed through the standard appeal mechanism. If a utilization review organization offers a second appeal option, it must meet the requirements of the internal appeal process described in chapter 62Q.

There was also discussion suggesting that complainants not be required to exhaust a second appeal option, if it is offered, before submitting the appeal to an external appeal process.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that a health plan company be allowed to offer a second appeal option, as described above. The enrollee may choose to utilize the second appeal option, but should not be required to do so. Once an enrollee has gone through the standard appeal process, he or she may opt to proceed directly to the external process, even if the health plan company offers a second appeal option.

When May an Enrollee Access the External Appeal Process?

This question must be resolved for issues that arise under either 62Q or 62M. Because an external appeal process could be costly, industry representatives argue that a consumer should be required to exhaust the standard internal appeal process before accessing the external appeal process. The Departments agree. The health plan company should have the opportunity to review its own decision, and make any corrections if appropriate, before being required to proceed to an external appeal process. In theory, the mere existence of the external appeal process will improve the quality of the internal appeal process, making the external appeal process necessary or attractive in fewer circumstances. However, the enrollee should not be required to exhaust any secondary internal appeals that are offered at the health plan company's option. And of course, a consumer may contact the appropriate state regulatory agency at any time.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the consumer be required to exhaust one level of an internal appeal process prior to proceeding to the external appeal process, but the enrollee should not be required to go through a second internal appeal process offered at the health plan company's option.

External Process

As noted earlier in this report, as early as last year (1997), the group discussed that a complaint resolution process which would include mechanisms for both internal and external appeal, and that the role of the regulatory agencies should not be diminished. There was also general discussion that enrollees should be able to access the external appeal process following an adverse utilization review decision made pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, section 62M.06.

The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has drafted a model act to provide standards for the establishment and maintenance of procedures by health carriers to assure that covered persons have the opportunity for the appropriate resolution of their grievances. The NAIC model act is referred to as the "Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act." The NAIC is working toward amending the model act to include an external grievance process. Although still in draft form, the work group used the NAIC draft amendments to help guide the discussion of the issues related to an external process. This report will discuss each issue raised by the NAIC draft amendments, as they were discussed by the work group. It also includes the Departments' recommendations on each issue.

What entities' decisions would be eligible for the external appeals process?

There was extensive discussions by the work group about whether the external appeals process should apply to all state regulated health plan companies, including indemnity insurers.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that an external appeal process apply to all state regulated health plan companies.*

Who may request an external appeal?

The following ideas were discussed by the group:

- Under 62Q, an appeal may be requested by the enrollee or an enrollee's designee, (enrollee's designee may be any consumer or provider acting on the consumer's behalf); and
- Under 62 M, an appeal may be requested by the enrollee, the enrollee's designee, or a health provider involved in the enrollee's care.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that an external appeal may be submitted by either the enrollee or the enrollee's designee.*

What types of decisions are eligible for external appeal?

The work group generally discussed that decisions involving claims (chapter 62Q) and medical necessity (chapter 62M) would be eligible for the external appeal process.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that all issues which relate to health care services or claims be eligible for external appeal. Issues that are not related to health care services or claims, such as claims based on fraudulent marketing practices or agent misrepresentation, should not be eligible for external appeal.

Should there be a dollar threshold for external appeal, and if so, how much?

There was no general agreement during the discussion of this issue. However, the ideas discussed by the group were the following:

- No dollar threshold; or
- Impose a dollar threshold in an amount which would encourage the use of the external process for larger cases only.

Imposing a dollar threshold amount is one way to limit the number of disputes eligible for external appeal process. Industry representatives argue that imposing a dollar threshold amount would provide some assurance that the external appeal process would be used for meritorious claims only. On the other hand, it is not uncommon for a dispute involving a smaller dollar amount to be a recurring dispute. Furthermore, imposing a dollar limit would add a costly administrative complexity to the process.

Research done by the Georgetown University Institute for Health Care Research and Policy shows that the number of cases that have gone to an external appeal mechanism in the states that have instituted such a mechanism have been minimal. For example, in Michigan, there were only 49 cases that went to an external appeal mechanism in three and one half years; in Connecticut, there were only 18 cases that went to an external appeal mechanism in seven months. (See Key Features of State and Medicare Programs for External Review of Health Plan Decisions, Karen Pollitz, M.P.P., p. 6).

The NAIC model does not impose a dollar threshold for submission to some type of external appeal process. Rather, a dollar threshold could be one of the criteria used to determine the type of external appeal process that should be used.

Recommendation: In the interests of providing a fair and accessible process, and also in order to maximize administrative economies, the Departments' recommendation is that no dollar threshold be imposed. If there is a dollar threshold amount imposed, we recommend that the amount be established at a level no higher than the costs of providing an external appeal.

Should there be a cost-sharing requirement?

Requiring the consumer to contribute to the cost of an external appeal process is another way of limiting the use of the external appeal process to meritorious claims. Cost sharing could be accomplished by imposing a set filing fee or requiring the consumer to pay a percentage of the cost of the external appeal process. Either of these types of fees could be waived upon a showing of hardship and/or reimbursable should the consumer prevail. Another option would be to require a consumer to share in the cost of the external appeal if the external appeal was decided in favor of the health plan company.

Under the NAIC model, there is no cost sharing requirement imposed upon the consumer.

The ideas discussed were the following:

- Impose a modest cost sharing requirement on the enrollee (less than $100 - allow for hardship exception; tie amount to inflation; tie fee to use of the internal process; and/or tie fee to outcome); or
- Impose no cost sharing requirement.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that there be no cost sharing requirement at this time. The law could be amended at a later date if the external appeal system is in fact flooded with large numbers of non-meritorious appeals.*

Should exhaustion of internal appeals procedures be required before allowing access to the external appeals process?

Because an external appeal process could be costly, industry representatives argue that a consumer should be required to exhaust the internal appeal process before accessing the external appeal process. The Departments agree. The health plan company should have the opportunity to review its own decision, and make any corrections if appropriate, before being required to proceed to an external appeal process. In theory, the mere existence of the external appeal process will improve the quality of the internal review processes, making the external appeal process necessary or attractive in fewer circumstances. However, the enrollee should not be required to exhaust a second internal appeal option that is offered at the health plan company's option. And of course, a consumer may also contact the appropriate state regulatory agency at any time.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the consumer be required to exhaust the internal appeal process prior to proceeding to external review, but the enrollee should not be required to go through a second internal appeal processes offered at the health plan company's option.*

What type of review process will be used for an external appeal, will there be filing requirements, and who will chose the person or entity that will perform the external appeal?

A number of ideas were discussed by the group. The draft amendments to the NAIC model act provide no specific recommendations.

During the discussions, the Departments pointed out several principles that they felt were important to incorporate into an external appeal process:

- the enrollee/designee must make an active written request for review;
- the regulatory agencies must maintain regulatory functions and review all matters of law;
- the regulatory agencies may refer cases involving factual disputes to an independent decision maker for review; and
- the regulatory agencies determine proper mechanism for review.

Model #1: One model for an external appeal mechanism which was discussed by the group involves an administrative structure which would act as a funnel and direct the appeals through either a regulatory review mechanism or to a "decision maker." Under this model, the administrative structure would apply established criteria to determine which review mechanism is appropriate. (See Appendix C.) For example, if the resolution of the enrollee's complaint is a matter of applying the terms of an enrollee's contract and/or the relevant rules and statutes to undisputed facts, the review would be purely regulatory in nature and therefore, would be appropriate for regulatory agency review by the commissioner with jurisdiction. On the other hand, if the resolution of the enrollee's complaint requires the resolution of factual disputes, in addition to legal analysis, the issue would be appropriately funneled to the "decision maker." An inter-agency office could be established to conduct the external review of the cases referred to the "decision maker." Both the Departments of Health and Commerce could refer cases involving the resolution of factual disputes to the inter-agency office to conduct the external review. The interagency office would be under the joint authority of both Commissioners.

If a case referred to the inter-agency office involves complex medical issues, the "decision maker" will have the discretion to solicit an independent expert medical opinion, either from an individual expert, or in more complicated cases, a panel of experts. The "decision maker" will then consider the expert medical opinion in making its determination.

Model #2. Another model for external appeal which was discussed by the group would provide a number of mechanisms for an enrollee to appeal an adverse decision by a health plan company, including a regulatory review, independent medical review, arbitration, or litigation. Under this model, there would be statutory criteria, to be applied by the Departments, which must be met in order for arbitration and independent medical review organizations to be certified as external review organizations. Under this model, an enrollee would have the right to seek regulatory review at any time during the internal or external review process. (See Appendix D.)

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that an approach similar to model #1 be adopted. The Commissioners, however, should retain the ultimate decision making authority. This model would allow the regulatory agencies to appropriately and effectively conduct their regulatory functions, and it allows for an independent decision to resolve issues involving factual disputes. By serving as the channeling agent, the agencies would remain informed, in a timely manner, of all potential regulatory compliance issues. One benefit of this model is that it correlates with what is already being done by the regulatory agencies and will fit well within the existing administrative structures. Under this model, however, the cases which require the resolution of conflicting evidence, especially conflicting medical evidence, will be funneled to an interagency office. Such an office would be better suited to resolve these types of disputes than the regulatory agencies. As a part of the interagency external appeal process, each party will be able to present its version of the facts and arguments to the office. The office will determine the facts and make recommendations to the Commissioners. For cases involving complex medical issues, the office will have the authority to seek independent expert medical opinion. The inter-agency office should primarily be made up of existing staff of the departments.

How will the external appeals process be funded?

The NAIC model act does not address this issue. The ideas discussed were the following:

- An external appeal process could be funded with state funds---(tobacco settlement monies), and the costs to regulated plans would not be increased;
- Provide state funds for the start up costs of the program;
- No general fund appropriations.
- Fund external appeal process with state government special revenue funds.

Research shows that the direct costs per case for external review in states that have implemented such a mechanism has been nominal. (See Key Features of State and Medicare Programs for External Review of Health Plan Decisions, p. 20.)

Recommendation: There are a number of viable options for funding an external appeal process, including general fund appropriations and state government special revenue funds supported by industry fees. However, the Departments feel that decisions related to funding for an external appeal process are best left to the legislature.

How will conflicts of interest be avoided?

Some of the most obvious conflicts of interest occur when a reviewer has a financial or familial affiliation with one of the parties involved in the dispute or where the reviewer is paid by the health plan company. The ideas discussed were the following:

- Any financial, professional, or familial affiliation between reviewer and any of the parties involved should be avoided.
- Protect anonymity of parties involved; and/or

- Protect anonymity of reviewer.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that conflicts of interest be avoided by prohibiting any financial, professional, or familial affiliation between the reviewer and any of the parties involved in the dispute, and by protecting the anonymity of the parties involved and/or the reviewer.*

What standard of review will be used in the external process?

The ideas discussed were the following:

- de novo review, where either party may submit additional evidence;
- allow no additional evidence to be considered on appeal;

The NAIC model act provides that during the external review, the enrollee has the right to present his case to the decision maker, submit supporting material both before and at the review meeting, and be assisted or represented by a person of his choice.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the external process allow for a de novo review and that we follow the NAIC draft amendments on this issue.*

What time frames will be applied to the external appeals process?

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the decision maker be required to issue a decision as soon as practical but in no case later than 30 days.*

Will the decision following the external review be binding on any and/or all parties?

Another issue to address is whether the decision made following the external review should be a binding decision, and if so, binding upon both parties or binding on the health plan company only. The ideas discussed were the following:

- The decision should not be binding on the consumer but should be binding on the health plan only; if the consumer is not satisfied with the outcome of the external review process, he or she could still choose to litigate thereafter; or
- Decision should be binding on both parties; neither party could choose to litigate following the external review process; or
- Decision should be binding on neither party.

Under the NAIC Model Act, the decision maker has the legal authority to bind the health plan company to its decision upon external review.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the decision following the external review be binding on both parties.

Should attorneys' fees be awarded to an enrollee who prevails on the external appeal?

The ideas discussed were the following:

- Do not allow for award of attorney's fees; or
- Allow decision-maker discretion to award attorney's fees; or
- Automatic award of attorney's fees to consumer if they win on appeal.

The issue of attorney's fees is not addressed by the NAIC model act.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the decision-maker have limited and narrow discretion to award attorney's fees in favor of the consumer when, after considering all the relevant circumstances, such an award is warranted.

Should the liability of the external reviewer be limited?

The ideas discussed were the following:

- The reviewer should be protected from liability for decisions made within the scope of the reviewer's duties; or
- Allow for liability for gross misconduct only.

This issue is not addressed in the NAIC.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that language be included in statute which would provide immunity from civil liability to the decision maker (and its staff) for any action taken in good faith, within the scope of the reviewer's duties, and does not constitute willful or reckless misconduct.

What types of data reporting requirements should be imposed for the external process?

Requiring data reporting will provide for accountability to the general public, as well as the regulators, for the decisions made and actions taken as a result of the external appeal process. The ideas discussed include the following:

- Allow external process to be non-public and require reporting of general numbers only; or
- Require reporting of synopsis of cases, but keep information on individuals non-public.

Recommendation: The Departments recommend that the external appeal process be non-public, but that there be a requirement that the summary data from the external process, including the numbers of cases heard and decided and final outcomes, be made available upon request.*

Implications for Indemnity Insurers and Self-Insureds

Every Minnesotan deserves a simple and efficient system where they can appeal their health care decision and complaints. Our goal is to create a better complaint resolution process that will not disrupt the current health care market; can be used by all enrollees, including those covered by self-insured employers; and is fair and equitable to all parties.

In proposing these new or modified statutes, we reviewed the current complaint processes that exist for the health maintenance organizations, the non-profit health service plans and insurance companies. By proposing the modification of these existing statutes, we have set forth a credible process for the establishment and maintenance of procedures by licensed health carriers to assure that a person covered by a regulated plan has an opportunity for appropriate resolution of his or her complaint or grievance.

The primary source of health care insurance coverage for all Minnesotans comes from three sources: self-insurance, private insurance and the government (through either Medicare or Medicaid). Approximately 29 percent of the market today is through self-insurance, another 38 percent through the fully insured market (health maintenance organizations, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, and insurance companies), approximately 24 percent through the government, and about 9 percent who are uninsured.

Under a fully-insured health plan, insurance companies or HMOs are paid premiums and assume the risk for insuring enrollees. Under a self-insurance plans, the employer pays covered medical expenses out of organization assets rather than purchase insurance. Thus, the employer assumes the risk of losses directly, rather than transferring the risk to a third party.

Based on current trends, there has been a shift toward employer self-insurance and away from the use of fully-insured plans in the private market. Second, there has been a shift within the health self-insured and fully insured segments of the private market toward managed health care (network of providers and pre-authorization).

It is important to monitor the continuing shift toward employer self-insurance and the private market because federal law exempts self-insured plans from state regulations. Self insured plans are regulated by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act Of 1974 (ERISA), which means that the individual employee must either complain to their employer or to the U.S. Department of Labor and not the state. Additionally, by not being able to regulate these self-insured employers, the burden of certain taxes and assessments (such as the assessment that funds the Minnesota Comprehensive Health Association) is distributed across a smaller base (small employers and individual health plans).

Each time a new health care mandated benefit is added, or a health carrier or the employer is required to implement a new administrative procedure, cost can increase or the employer becomes self-insured. Additionally, these changes in health care regulation have a potential to reduce competition by having national health carriers withdraw from the Minnesota market. Trying to comply with 50 different states' requirements can be time consuming and administratively costly. The withdrawal of any health carrier from Minnesota's health care market, especially in rural Minnesota, can be expensive to the enrollee in the form of less competition and variety of benefits, and increased premiums.

We want to provide standards for the establishment and maintenance of procedures by licensed health carriers to assume that the covered person has opportunity for appropriate resolution of their complaint or grievance. For most health carriers, the proposed legislative changes will cause very little disruption of the current health care market, since most health carriers already have an internal appeal process and are in compliance with the utilization review organization requirements. However, a few national carriers might find these proposed changes to be an additional administrative burden and exit Minnesota's health care market. This may reduce competition, especially in rural Minnesota. Therefore, although we must move ahead, we must do so cautiously.

Repealers

If legislation is passed incorporating the recommendations contained in this report, it would also be appropriate to repeal Minnesota Statutes 1998, sections 62D.11, subdivisions 1b and 2; 62Q.105; 62Q.11; 62Q.30 and Minnesota Rules, parts 4685.0100, subparts 4 and 4a; and 4685.1700. (See p. 34 of draft legislation contained in appendix A.)

Funding for the Consumer Assistance Office

The work group did not address the issue of funding of the newly created Office of Health Care Consumer Assistance, Advocacy, and Information. The Departments recommend, however, that the new office be funded with a general fund appropriation. The office will be accessible to all Minnesotans, including those who receive their health care benefits through employer self-insured plans. In contrast to the funding for the cost of an inter-agency external appeal process, the Departments feel that it would not be appropriate to fund the Office of Health Care Consumer Assistance, Advocacy, and Information by the assessment of fees on state regulated plans only.

Summary of Recommendations

The Departments have made a number of recommendations throughout this report. The recommended changes relative to the internal appeal process, if adopted, will serve to clarify the law, and eliminate current overlapping and inconsistencies. Furthermore, the creation of an external appeal process which incorporates many of the principles upon which the draft amendments to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) model act are based will provide a fair and cost-effective method for independent review of health plan company decisions.

The specific recommendations relative to internal review of enrollee complaints are as follows:

1. The Departments recommend that there be an expectation that the health plan companies provide full disclosure of options to enrollees who indicate by telephone that they have a concern or complaint, but allow flexibility as to how health plan companies will accomplish this and meet the Commissioners' expectations in this regard.
2. The Departments recommend that the timeframe within which the health plan company must make its initial decision on a complaint, and provide notification thereof, be 30 days.
3. The Departments recommend an enrollee be allowed to proceed to an external appeal process only after exhausting the health plan company's internal appeal process. This is consistent with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' model act.
4. The Departments recommend using the language currently contained in Minnesota Statutes, section 62M.06, subdivision 2, which allows for an expedited review determination if the attending physician believes that the determination warrants immediate consideration. The attending physician is in the best position to determine whether the circumstances warrant an expedited review determination. Notification of the expedited determination decision should be provided within 72 hours of the initial request. Furthermore, additional language should be added requiring that if the utilization review organization and the claim administrator are separate entities, the utilization review organization must forward a notification of certification or determination not to certify to the appropriate claim administrator for the health benefit plan.
5. Like the expedited review determination process, the Departments recommend using the language currently contained in Minnesota Statutes, section 62M.06, subdivision 2 (expedited appeal of determinations not to certify if the attending physician believes that the circumstances warrant immediate appeal).

6. The Departments recommend that the time frame within which the health plan company must make its decision on a standard appeal, and provide notification thereof, be 30 days.
7. The Departments recommend that a health plan company be allowed to offer a second appeal option. The enrollee may chose to utilize the second appeal option, but should not be required to do so. Once an enrollee has gone through the first internal appeal process, he or she may opt to proceed directly to the external appeal process, even if the health plan company offers a second appeal option.
8. The Departments recommend that the consumer be required to exhaust one level of an internal appeal process prior to proceeding to the external appeal process, but the enrollee should not be required to go through a second internal appeal process offered at the health plan company's option.

The Departments also recommend that an external appeal mechanism be created, incorporating specific principles, as follows:

9. The Departments recommend that an external appeal process apply to all state regulated health plan companies.
10. The Departments recommend that an external appeal may be submitted by either the enrollee or the enrollee's designee.
11. The Departments recommend that all issues which relate to health care services or claims be eligible for external appeal. Issues that are not related to health care services or claims, such as claims based on fraudulent marketing practices or agent misrepresentation, should not be eligible for external appeal.
12. In the interests of providing a fair and accessible process , and also in order to maximize administrative economies, the Departments' recommendation is that no dollar threshold be imposed. If there is a dollar threshold amount imposed, we recommend that the amount be established at a level no higher than the costs of providing an external appeal.
13. The Departments recommend that there be no cost sharing requirement at this time. The law could be amended at a later date if the external appeal system is flooded with large numbers of non-meritorious appeals.
14. The Departments recommend that the consumer be required to exhaust the internal appeal process prior to proceeding to external review, but the enrollee should not be required to go through an second internal appeal process offered at the health plan company's option.
15. The Departments recommend that an approach similar to model #1 be adopted. The Commissioners, however, should retain the ultimate decision making authority. This model would allow the regulatory agencies to appropriately and effectively conduct their regulatory functions, and it allows for an independent decision to resolve issues involving factual disputes. By serving as the channeling agent, the agencies would remain informed, in a timely manner, of all potential regulatory compliance issues. One benefit of this model is that it correlates with what is already being done by the regulatory agencies and will fit well within the existing administrative structures. Under this model, however, the cases which require the resolution of conflicting evidence, especially conflicting medical evidence, will be funneled to an interagency office. Such an office would be better suited to resolve these types of disputes than the regulatory agencies. As a part of the interagency external appeal process, each party will be able to present its version of the facts and arguments to the office. The office will determine the facts and make recommendations to the Commissioners. For cases involving complex medical issues, the office will have the authority to seek independent expert medical opinion. The inter-agency office should primarily be made up of existing staff of the departments.

16. There are a number of viable options for funding an external appeal process, including general fund appropriations and state government special revenue funds supported by industry fees. However, the Departments feel the decisions related to funding for an external appeal process are best left to the legislature.
17. The Departments recommend that conflicts of interest be avoided by prohibiting any financial, professional, or familial affiliation between the reviewer and any of the parties involved in the dispute, and by protecting the anonymity of the parties involved and/or the reviewer.
18. The Departments recommend that the external process allow for a de novo review and that we follow the NAIC draft amendments on this issue.
19. The Departments recommend that the decision maker be required to issue a decision as soon as practical but in no case later than 30 days.
20. The Departments recommend that the decision following the external review be binding on both parties.
21. The Departments recommend that the inter-agency office have limited and narrow discretion to award attorney's fees in favor of the consumer when, after considering all the relevant circumstances, such an award is warranted.
22. The Departments recommend that language be included in statute which would provide immunity from civil liability to the decision maker (and its staff) for any action taken in good faith, within the scope of the reviewer's duties, and does not constitute willful or reckless misconduct.
23. The Departments recommend that the external appeal process be non-public, but that there be a requirement that the summary data from the external process, including the numbers of cases heard and decided and final outcomes, be made available upon request.

Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 1998, section 62M.03, is amended to read:

62M.03 [COMPLIANCE WITH STANDARDS.]

Subdivision 1. [LICENSED UTILIZATION REVIEW ORGANIZATION.] Beginning January 1, 1993, any organization that meets the definition of utilization review organization in section 62M.02, subdivision 21, must be licensed under chapter 60A, 62C, 62D, 62T, or 64B, or registered under this chapter and must comply with sections 62M.01 to 62M.16 and section 72A.201, subdivisions 8 and 8a. Each licensed community integrated health care network or health maintenance organization that has an employed staff model of providing health care services shall comply with sections 62M.01 to 62M.16 and section 72A.201, subdivisions 8 and 8a, for any services provided by providers under contract.

Subd. 2. [NONLICENSED UTILIZATION REVIEW ORGANIZATION.] An organization that meets the definition of a utilization review organization under section 62M.02, subdivision 21, that is not licensed in this state that performs utilization review services for Minnesota residents must register with the commissioner of commerce and must certify compliance with sections 62M.01 to 62M.16.

Initial registration must occur no later than January 1, 1993.

The registration is effective for two years and may be renewed for another two years by written request. Each utilization review organization registered under this chapter must notify the commissioner of commerce within 30 days of any change in the name, address, or ownership of the organization.

Subd. 3. [PENALTIES AND ENFORCEMENTS.] If a utilization

1 review organization fails to comply with sections 62M.01 to
2 62M.16, the organization may not provide utilization review
3 services for any Minnesota resident. The commissioner of 4 commerce may issue a cease and desist order under section
5 45.027, subdivision 5, to enforce this provision. The cease and
6 desist order is subject to appeal under chapter 14. A
7 nonlicensed utilization review organization that fails to comply
8 with the provisions of sections 62M.01 to 62M.16 is subject to 9 all applicable penalty and enforcement provisions of section
10 72A.201. Each utilization review organization licensed under 11 chapter 60A, 62C, 62D, 62N, 62T, or 64B shall comply with 12 sections 62M.01 to 62M.16 as a condition of licensure.

13 Sec. 5. Minnesota Statutes 1998, section 62M.04, is 14 amended to read:

15 62M.04 [STANDARDS FOR UTILIZATION REVIEW PERFORMANCE.]

16 Subdivision 1. [RESPONSIBILITY FOR OBTAINING
17 CERTIFICATION.] A health benefit plan that includes utilization
18 review requirements must specify the process for notifying the 19 utilization review organization in a timely manner and obtaining 20 certification for health care services. Each health plan
21 company must provide a clear and concise description of this
22 process to an enrollee as part of the policy, subscriber
23 contract, or certificate of coverage. In addition to the 24 enrollee, the utilization review organization must allow any 25 ~~licensed-hospital,-physician-or-the-physician's~~ provider or 26 provider's designee, or responsible patient representative,
27 including a family member, to fulfill the obligations under the 28 health plan.

29 A claims administrator that contracts directly with 30 providers for the provision of health care services to enrollees
31 may, through contract, require the provider to notify the review
32 organization in a timely manner and obtain certification for 33 health care services.

34 Subd. 2. [INFORMATION UPON WHICH UTILIZATION REVIEW IS 35 CONDUCTED.] If the utilization review organization is conducting
36 routine prospective and concurrent utilization review,

1 utilization review organizations must collect only the
2 information necessary to certify the admission, procedure of 3 treatment, and length of stay.

4 (a) Utilization review organizations may request, but may
5 not require ~~hospitals, physicians, or other~~ providers to supply
6 numerically encoded diagnoses or procedures as part of the 7 certification process.

8 (b) Utilization review organizations must not routinely
9 request copies of medical records for all patients reviewed. In 10 performing prospective and concurrent review, copies of the 11 pertinent portion of the medical record should be required only
12 when a difficulty develops in certifying the medical necessity
13 or appropriateness of the admission or extension of stay.

14 (c) Utilization review organizations may request copies of 15 medical records retrospectively for a number of purposes,
16 including auditing the services provided, quality assurance
17 review, ensuring compliance with the terms of either the health
18 benefit plan or the provider contract, and compliance with 19 utilization review activities. Except for reviewing medical 20 records associated with an appeal or with an investigation or 21 audit of data discrepancies, ~~health-care~~ providers must be
22 reimbursed for the reasonable costs of duplicating records
23 requested by the utilization review organization for 24 retrospective review unless otherwise provided under the terms
25 of the provider contract.

26 Subd. 3. [DATA ELEMENTS.] Except as otherwise provided in 27 sections 62M.01 to 62M.16, for purposes of certification a
28 utilization review organization must limit its data requirements
29 to the following elements:

17 nonrenewals of coverage; administrative operations; and the 18 quality, timeliness, and appropriateness of health care services
19 rendered. If the complaint is from an applicant, the complaint
20 must relate to the application. If the complaint is from a
21 former enrollee, the complaint must relate to services received
22 during the period of time the individual was an enrollee. Any 23 grievance requiring a medical determination in its resolution
24 must be processed under the appeal procedure described in 25 section 62M.06.

26 Subd. 3. [COMPLAINANT.] "Complainant" means an enrollee,
27 applicant, or former enrollee, or anyone acting on behalf of an 28 enrollee, applicant, or former enrollee who submits a complaint.

29 Sec. 19. [62Q.67] [COMPLAINT RESOLUTION.]

30 Subdivision 1. [ESTABLISHMENT.] Each health plan company
31 must establish and maintain an internal complaint resolution
32 process that meets the requirements of this section to provide 33 for the resolution of a complaint initiated by a complainant.

34 Subd. 2. [PROCEDURES FOR FILING A COMPLAINT.] (a) A
35 complainant may submit a complaint to a health plan company
36 either by telephone or in writing. If a complaint is submitted

1 orally and the resolution of the complaint is partially or
2 wholly adverse to the complainant, the health plan company must
3 inform the complainant that the complaint may be submitted in 4 writing and must promptly mail a complaint form to the 5 complainant. The complaint form must include the following
6 information:

7 (1) the telephone number of the office of health care
8 consumer assistance, advocacy, and information, and the health
9 plan company member services or other departments or persons
10 equipped to advise complainants on complaint resolution;
11 (2) the address to which the form must be sent;
12 (3) a description of the health plan company's internal 13 complaint procedure and the applicable time limits; and 14 (4) the toll-free telephone number of either the 15 commissioner of health or commerce and notification that the 16 complainant has the right to submit the complaint at any time to 17 the appropriate commissioner for investigation.

18 (b) Upon receipt of a written complaint, the health plan
19 company must notify the complainant within ten business days
20 that the complaint was received, unless the complaint is 21 resolved to the satisfaction of the complainant within the ten
22 business days.

23 (c) At the complainant's request, a health plan company
24 must provide a complainant with any assistance needed to file a
25 written complaint.

26 (d) Each health plan company must provide, in the member
27 handbook, subscriber contract, or certification of coverage, a
28 clear and concise description of how to submit a complaint and a
29 statement that, upon request, assistance in submitting a written
30 complaint is available from the health plan company.

31 Subd. 3. [NOTIFICATION OF COMPLAINT DECISIONS.] (a) The 32 health plan company must notify the complainant in writing of 33 its decision and the reasons for it as soon as practical but in 34 no case later than 30 days after receipt of a written complaint.

35 (b) If the decision is partially or wholly adverse to the 36 complainant, the notification must advise the complainant of the

1 following:

2 (1) the right to appeal the decision through the health
3 plan company's internal appeal process, either in writing or by 4 hearing, and the procedure for initiating an appeal, including
5 the applicable timelines; and

6 (2) the right to submit the complaint at any time to either
7 the commissioner of health or commerce for investigation and the 8 toll-free telephone number of the appropriate commissioner.

9 Sec. 20. [62Q.68] [APPEAL OF THE COMPLAINT DECISION.]

10 Subdivision 1. [ESTABLISHMENT.] (a) Each health plan
11 company shall establish an internal appeal process for reviewing 12 a health plan company's decision regarding a complaint filed in 13 accordance with section 62Q.67. The appeal process must meet
14 the requirements of this section.

15 (b) The person or persons with authority to resolve or 16 recommend the resolution of the internal appeal must not be
17 solely the same person or persons who made the complaint
18 decision under section 62Q.67.

19 (c) The internal appeal process must permit the receipt of 20 testimony, correspondence, explanations, or other information
21 from the complainant, staff persons, administrators, providers,
22 or other persons as deemed necessary by the person or persons
23 investigating or presiding over the appeal.

24 Subd. 2. [PROCEDURES FOR FILING AN APPEAL.] If a
25 complainant notifies the health plan company of the 26 complainant's desire to appeal the health plan company's
27 decision regarding the complaint through the internal appeal
28 process, the health plan company must provide the complainant
29 the option for the appeal to occur either in writing or by 30 hearing.

31 Subd. 3. [NOTIFICATION OF APPEAL DECISIONS.] (a) Written
32 notice of the appeal decision and all key findings must be given 33 to the complainant within 30 days of the health plan company's 34 receipt of the complainant's written notice of appeal.

35 (b) If the appeal decision is partially or wholly adverse 36 to the complainant, the notice must advise the complainant of

1 the right to submit the appeal decision to the external review
2 process described in section 62Q.71 and the procedure for
3 initiating the review process.

4 (c) Upon the request of the complainant, the health plan
5 company must provide the complainant with a complete summary of 6 the appeal decision.

7 Sec. 21. [62Q.69] [NOTICE TO ENROLLEES.]

8 Each health plan company shall provide to enrollees a clear
9 and concise description of their complaint resolution procedure
10 and the procedure used for utilization review as defined under 11 chapter 62M as part of the member handbook, subscriber contract,
12 or certificate of coverage. The description must specifically
13 inform enrollees:

14 (1) how to submit a complaint to the health plan company;

15 (2) if the health plan includes utilization review
16 requirements, how to notify the utilization review organization
17 in a timely manner and how to obtain certification for health
18 care services;

19 (3) how to request an appeal either through the procedures
20 described in sections 62Q.67 and 62Q.68 or through the 21 procedures described in chapter 62M;

22 (4) of the right to file a complaint with either the 23 commissioner of health or commerce at any time during the 24 complaint and appeal process;

25 (5) the toll-free telephone number of the appropriate
26 commissioner;

27 (6) the telephone number of the office of consumer
28 assistance, advocacy, and information; and

29 (7) of the right to obtain an external appeal under section
30 62Q.71 and a description of when and how that right may be 31 exercised.

32 Sec. 22. [62Q.70] [RECORDKEEPING; REPORTING.]

33 Subdivision 1. [RECORDKEEPING.] Each health plan company
34 shall maintain records of all enrollee complaints and their 35 resolutions. These records shall be retained for five years and 36 shall be made available to the appropriate commissioner upon

1 request.

2 Subd. 2. [REPORTING.] Each health plan company shall
3 submit to the appropriate commissioner, as part of the company's 4 annual filing, data on the number and type of complaints that 5 are not resolved within 30 days. A health plan company shall 6 also make this information available to the public upon request.

7 Sec. 23. [62Q.71] [EXTERNAL APPEAL OF ADVERSE
8 DETERMINATIONS.]

9 Subdivision 1. [DEFINITIONS.] (a) For purposes of this
10 section, the term defined in this subdivision has the meaning
11 given it.

12 (b) Adverse determination means a complaint relating to a
13 health care service or claim that has been appealed in 14 accordance with section 62Q.68 and the appeal decision was 15 partially or wholly adverse to the complainant; or any
16 determination not to certify made by a utilization review
17 organization as defined under section 62M.02, subdivision 21,
18 that has been appealed in accordance with section 62M.06 but was 19 not overturned upon appeal. An adverse determination does not 20 include complaints relating to fraudulent marketing practices or 21 agent misrepresentation.

22 Subd. 2. [RIGHT TO EXTERNAL APPEAL.] (a) Any enrollee or 23 anyone acting on behalf of an enrollee who has received an
24 adverse determination may obtain an external appeal by filing a
25 written request for an external appeal of the adverse
26 determination with the commissioner.

27 (b) If an enrollee requests an external appeal, the health
28 plan company must participate.

29 Subd. 3. [REGULATORY AUTHORITY.] Upon receiving a request
30 for an external appeal the commissioner shall determine whether 31 the request involves the commissioner's regulatory authority
32 described under chapters 45, 60A, 62A, 62C, 62D, 62Q, 72A, or 33 144. All requests that do not involve a regulatory issue shall 34 be sent to a joint interagency for an external appeal.

35 Subd. 4. [JOINT INTERAGENCY PROCESS.] (a) The 36 commissioners of health and commerce shall establish a joint

1 interagency external appeal process. This process shall be
2 separate from the regulatory functions within the department of
3 health or commerce and shall provide an external appeal of all
4 adverse determinations that do not involve the regulatory
5 authority of the commissioners.

6 (b) Upon receiving a request for external appeal, the joint 7 interagency must provide immediate notice of the appeal to the 8 enrollee and to the health plan company. Within ten business
9 days of receiving notice of the appeal the health plan company
10 and the enrollee must provide the joint interagency with any 11 information that they wish the joint interagency to consider.
12 Each party shall be provided an opportunity to present its 13 version of the facts and arguments. An enrollee may be assisted 14 or represented by a person of the enrollee's choice.

15 (c) As part of the joint interagency external appeal
16 process, an independent medical opinion may be sought or a
17 medical review panel may be established to provide additional 18 technical expertise.

19 (d) The joint interagency shall make a recommendation to 20 the appropriate commissioner as soon as practical but in no case
21 later than 30 days.

22 (e) The appropriate commissioner must send written notice
23 of the final decision to the enrollee and the health plan
24 company within ten days after the commissioner has received the 25 joint interagency's recommendation.

26 Subd. 5. [EFFECTS OF EXTERNAL APPEAL.] A decision rendered
27 under this section shall be binding on both the enrollee and the 28 health plan company. Either party may seek judicial review of 29 the decision on the grounds that the decision was arbitrary and 30 capricious or involved an abuse of discretion.

31 Subd. 6. [IMMUNITY FROM CIVIL LIABILITY.] A person who 32 participates in an external appeal by investigating, reviewing
33 materials, providing technical expertise, or rendering a
34 decision shall not be civilly liable for any action that is 35 taken in good faith, that is within the scope of the person's 36 duties, and that does not constitute willful or reckless.

1 misconduct.

2 Subd. 7. [ATTORNEY FEES.] The commissioner may award
3 attorney fees to the enrollee if the commissioner determines
4 such an award is warranted.

5 Subd. 8. [DATA PRIVACY.] Any medical record provided to 6 the commissioner or to the joint interagency for purposes on an
7 external appeal shall remain confidential and shall be used only
8 for the purpose of rendering a decision under this section.

9 Subd. 9. [DATA REPORTING.] The commissioners shall make 10 available to the public, upon request, summary data on the 11 decisions rendered under this section including the number of 12 appeals heard and decided and the final outcomes.

13 Sec. 24. Minnesota Statutes 1996, section 72A.201,
14 subdivision 4, is amended to read:

15 Subd. 4. [STANDARDS FOR CLAIM FILING AND HANDLING.] The 16 following acts by an insurer, an adjuster, a self-insured, or a
17 self-insurance administrator constitute unfair settlement
18 practices:

19 (1) except for claims made under a health insurance policy,
20 after receiving notification of claim from an insured or a
21 claimant, failing to acknowledge receipt of the notification of 22 the claim within ten business days, and failing to promptly
23 provide all necessary claim forms and instructions to process
24 the claim, unless the claim is settled within ten business
25 days. The acknowledgment must include the telephone number of 26 the company representative who can assist the insured or the 27 claimant in providing information and assistance that is 28 reasonable so that the insured or claimant can comply with the 29 policy conditions and the insurer's reasonable requirements. If 30 an acknowledgment is made by means other than writing, an 31 appropriate notation of the acknowledgment must be made in the 32 claim file of the insurer and dated. An appropriate notation
33 must include at least the following information where the 34 acknowledgment is by telephone or oral contact:

35 (i) the telephone number called, if any;

36 (ii) the name of the person making the telephone call or

1 oral contact;

2 (iii) the name of the person who actually received the
3 telephone call or oral contact;

4 (iv) the time of the telephone call or oral contact; and

5 (v) the date of the telephone call or oral contact;

6 (2) failing to reply, within ten business days of receipt,
7 to all other communications about a claim from an insured or a
8 claimant that reasonably indicate a response is requested or 9 needed;

10 (3) unless provided otherwise by law or in the policy,
11 failing to complete its investigation and inform the insured or 12 claimant of acceptance or denial of a claim within 30 business
13 days after receipt of notification of claim unless the 14 investigation cannot be reasonably completed within that time.
15 In the event that the investigation cannot reasonably be
16 completed within that time, the insurer shall notify the insured
17 or claimant within the time period of the reasons why the 18 investigation is not complete and the expected date the 19 investigation will be complete. ~~For-claims-made-under-a-health~~
20 ~~policy-the-notification-of-claim-must-be-in-writing~~ Claims made
21 under a health policy must be processed in accordance with 22 sections 62Q.66 to 62Q.71;

23 (4) where evidence of suspected fraud is present, the 24 requirement to disclose their reasons for failure to complete
25 the investigation within the time period set forth in clause (3)
26 need not be specific. The insurer must make this evidence
27 available to the department of commerce if requested;

28 (5) failing to notify an insured who has made a
29 notification of claim of all available benefits or coverages
30 which the insured may be eligible to receive under the terms of 31 a policy and of the documentation which the insured must supply
32 in order to ascertain eligibility;

33 (6) unless otherwise provided by law or in the policy,
34 requiring an insured to give written notice of loss or proof of 35 loss within a specified time, and thereafter seeking to relieve 36 the insurer of its obligations if the time limit is not complied

1 with, unless the failure to comply with the time limit
2 prejudices the insurer's rights and then only if the insurer
3 gave prior notice to the insured of the potential prejudice;

4 (7) advising an insured or a claimant not to obtain the 5 services of an attorney or an adjuster, or representing that 6 payment will be delayed if an attorney or an adjuster is 7 retained by the insured or the claimant;

8 (8) failing to advise in writing an insured or claimant who 9 has filed a notification of claim known to be unresolved, and 10 who has not retained an attorney, of the expiration of a statute
11 of limitations at least 60 days prior to that expiration. For 12 the purposes of this clause, any claim on which the insurer has 13 received no communication from the insured or claimant for a
14 period of two years preceding the expiration of the applicable
15 statute of limitations shall not be considered to be known to be 16 unresolved and notice need not be sent pursuant to this clause;

17 (9) demanding information which would not affect the 18 settlement of the claim;

19 (10) unless expressly permitted by law or the policy,
20 refusing to settle a claim of an insured on the basis that the 21 responsibility should be assumed by others;

22 (11) failing, within 60 business days after receipt of a
23 properly executed proof of loss, to advise the insured of the 24 acceptance or denial of the claim by the insurer. No insurer
25 shall deny a claim on the grounds of a specific policy
26 provision, condition, or exclusion unless reference to the 27 provision, condition, or exclusion is included in the denial.
28 The denial must be given to the insured in writing with a copy
29 filed in the claim file;

30 (12) denying or reducing a claim on the basis of an 31 application which was altered or falsified by the agent or 32 insurer without the knowledge of the insured;

33 (13) failing to notify the insured of the existence of the 34 additional living expense coverage when an insured under a
35 homeowners policy sustains a loss by reason of a covered
36 occurrence and the damage to the dwelling is such that it is not

1 habitable;

2 (14) failing to inform an insured or a claimant that the
3 insurer will pay for an estimate of repair if the insurer
4 requested the estimate and the insured or claimant had
5 previously submitted two estimates of repair.

6 Sec. 25. Minnesota Statutes 1998, section 72A.201,
7 subdivision 4a, is amended to read:

8 Subd. 4a. [STANDARDS FOR PREAUTHORIZATION APPROVAL.] If a
9 policy of accident and sickness insurance or a subscriber
10 contract requires preauthorization approval for any nonemergency
11 services or benefits, the decision to approve or disapprove the 12 requested services or benefits must be ~~communicated-to-the~~ 13 ~~insured-or-the-insured's-health-care-provider-within-ten~~

18 Sec. 26. [APPROPRIATION.]

19 $..... is appropriated from the state government special
20 revenue fund to the commissioners of health and commerce for the 21 biennium ending June 30, 2001, for the purpose of establishing
22 and operating the joint interagency described in Minnesota
23 Statutes, section 62Q.71.

24 Sec. 27. [REPEALER.]

25 Minnesota Statutes 1998, sections 62D.11, subdivisions 1b
26 and 2; 62Q.105; 62Q.11; and 62Q.30, are repealed.

27 Minnesota Rules, parts 4685.0100, subparts 4 and 4a; and 28 4685.1700, are repealed.

RE: Complaint Process Work Group

Dear Commissioner Gruenes and Commissioner Barry:

On behalf of the Insurance Federation of Minnesota, we submit this letter for your consideration and ask that it be made a part of the report and recommendations that you will submit to the legislature in accordance with the statutory mandate. We wish to be on record with our objection to the process and substance of the Complaint Process Work Group meetings and, by this letter, we formally resign and withdraw from that group. We feel strongly that the direction of the group is not in the interest of buyers of insurance products from our members and likewise is not warranted as applied to these insurance carriers.

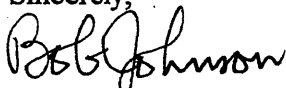

The Insurance Federation of Minnesota has just formally adopted a position to evaluate all legislative and regulatory medical insurance proposals according to a set of important principals: whether the proposals promote competition, choice and affordability with respect to medical insurance for Minnesota health care consumers. Our goal is to promote competition and expanded choices in the medical insurance marketplace for the benefit of consumers.

Measured against the principals described above, the revisions to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 62Q, that the group has discussed or proposed to date, do not accomplish the desired goals. We formally oppose the proposals which would impose new and different processes for internal and/or external complaint or appeals procedures. It has been acknowledged publicly that few if any of the problems with the payment of claims or provision of care according to the insurance policy provisions have resulted from actions or decisions of indemnity carriers as they currently operate. Generally, complaints or grievances have been dealt with satisfactorily through the existing internal company processes and with access to the Department of Commerce and, ultimately, to litigation if necessary. Consequently, we object to a reworking of the current process which is, by all accounts, satisfactorily serving its intended purpose. Although uniformity may be a generally laudable goal, we feel strongly that in this case, uniformity for its own sake is unwise and unwarranted. Different types of "insurers", whether they be HMOs, ERISA plans or indemnity carriers, are treated differently in numerous ways for necessary and legitimate reasons. Different types of insurers should be dealt with differently for this purpose as well.

We remain committed to serving policyholders in a fair, timely and satisfactory manner. We believe that is best accomplished through the process currently in place under Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 72A and the processes created by the carriers to serve their policyholders.

Sincerely,

Dear Commissioner Gruenes and Commissioner Barry:

On behalf of the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce I submit this letter for your consideration and ask that it be made part of the report and recommendations that you will submit to the legislature in accordance with Laws of Minnesota 1997, chapter 237, section 20.

As the primary purchaser of health care, employers desire a system in which their employees have timely access to the services they have contracted for and a fair resolution of disputes when they arise. The following principles guide what we believe is a fair and reasonable complaint resolution process. This process:

- must not increase the disparity of costs between regulated and self-insured plans.
- must discourage frivolous disputes.
- should improve on the existing system by making it simpler and more consumer friendly before creating new systems.
- must lead to timely, efficient and fair resolution of disputes.
- should be funded through the general fund.

Unfortunately, the recommendations put forward in this report fail to meet the first three principles. As a result, had the Minnesota Chamber been given the opportunity to vote on these recommendations and the coinciding legislation, we would have voted against them.

Improvements in consumer protections must be accomplished without increasing health care premiums, reducing the number of people who have health care coverage or the creation of new bureaucracies that will harm quality care. We look forward to working with you in the future to create a system that meets this criteria.

Sincerely,

Carolyn B. Jones

RE: Complaint Process Work Group Report and Recommendations

Dear Commissioners Gruenes and Barry:

On behalf of the Insurance Federation of Minnesota, we write to express our extreme disappointment at the draft report and proposed legislation presented by the staff of the Commerce and Health Departments regarding complaint processes. Although the Federation formally withdrew from this working group by letter dated November 3, 1998, we must be on record in response to the ill-advised report and legislative recommendations issued by the Departments' staff.

As acknowledged in the report, this working group was unable to arrive at consensus on virtually any of the issues concerned despite on-going lengthy meetings and intense discussion. Further, staff stated to participants as recently as last month that because of the inability to agree, there would be no legislative recommendations issued by the Departments on behalf of the group. Yet Commerce and Health Department staff saw fit to issue a report with specific and comprehensive legislative proposals for a major overhaul of numerous chapters of Minnesota statutes, NONE OF WHICH IS SUPPORTED BY THE WORKING GROUP.

Additionally, we wish to note that, as in the past, the materials were sent to us with virtually no time to review and comment in a meaningful way. We received the draft report and proposed legislation on Monday, December 28th with instructions to submit comments by Wednesday, December 30th (a week during which many are typically out of the office). As a membership organization, it is impossible for us to get input from our members on the proposal in such a short timeframe, particularly during the Holiday season, and it is outrageous to be required to comment in two days' time.

We respectfully submit our opposition to this report, the accompanying proposal, and the entire process. We ask you to consider issuing NO report given the circumstances. Thank you.

RE: Final Report to the Legislature on Recommendations on Developing a Complaint Resolution Process for Health Plan Enrollees

CC: Commissioner Anne Barry, Minnesota Department of Health
Commissioner David Gruenes, Minnesota Department of Commerce

Dear Mr. Giese and Mr. Gross:

Members of the council and other interested parties began meeting over two years ago with the staff from the Departments of Health and Commerce to address problematic language in statute relating to complaint processes and alternative dispute resolution for health plans. After an enormous amount of time and energy spent in good faith trying to resolve this issue, I am writing to express my disappointment with the outcome and the final report. Ultimately, no consensus was reached on key issues. Your report should make it clear that the recommendations in the report reflect agency staff positions rather than being based on the work group's decisions or consensus.

Despite multiple requests by the council and its representatives to take a broader view, the work group was never able to focus on what impact the proposed changes would have on the entire health care insurance system or on the affordability of health coverage. Based on anecdote, the focus was on how to create a new system to address a small number of exceptional individual cases rather than improve the existing system. Many of the anecdotes shared during this process to justify changes were revealed to be cases that are either exempt from state regulation, or would not have had a different outcome under any of the new approaches discussed by the work group.

The report fails to acknowledge how well the health care system is working already, including high consumer satisfaction rates and small numbers of complaints, which justify using a scalpel instead of an ax. For example:

- Data collected by the Minnesota Health Data Institute in 1996 showed that 94 percent of Minnesotans are satisfied with their health plan. MHDl also found higher levels of satisfaction with HMO-type plans compared to traditional health insurance.
- Minnesota consumers file very few complaints against their health plans. Over the past several years, less than one-third of one percent of consumers file complaints. Of these complaints, only about 3.5 percent result in a formal appeal and fewer than one percent end up in lawsuits or other forms of legal action.

- The Department of Health's records show that the number of complaints has decreased significantly over the past several years. Both the total number of complaints and the complaints relating to quality of care or access to services have declined steadily since the 1980s.

The council agrees that the more informed consumers are, the more likely they are to make better choices and to know how to resolve any problems that may arise. The council recommends that state efforts should concentrate on informing, empowering and assisting consumers rather than creating costly and burdensome new regulatory systems that ultimately will not apply to most consumers anyway due to federal exemptions.

The council uses the following principles to guide us in assessing any proposed new laws:

- Any new changes to the system should not target small employers and individual policyholders for additional cost increases as a result of additional state regulations that do not apply to larger self-insured employers. We should not increase the inequities between the fully-insured and self-insured markets.
- There is a perception that the current state-mandated appeals and complaint system is complex and hard to navigate for consumers. Any changes should make the system simpler, more uniform, and easier to understand, rather than making it more complicated.
- The appeals process should lead to a fair and efficient resolution of disputes. No one benefits from long, drawn out processes with no clear end in sight.

The agency staff's recommendations in the report do not pass muster based on these principles.

The council has also attached a document with specific comments and corrections to the text of the report and the proposed legislation. However, due to the short turnaround time for comments and the unavailability of several council members because of the holidays, the council reserves the right to make further comments in the future.

We respectfully ask that you include this cover letter with the final report.

Sincerely,
