METHODOLOGY

Most third party payment systems, (except Medicare, the VA programs, and self-insured company health plans), are regulated by state statutes or rules. Most of the providers of Mental Health/Chemical Dependency/Social Service services or facilities are regulated by state government. Therefore, the first step in the study was to review statutes and rules regulating the health insurance and the governmental third party payment programs, governmental grant or funding programs, governmental occupational and faculty licensing programs for Mental Health/Chemical Dependency/Social Services facilities, agencies, and services.

Interviews were held with key staff people in each of the programs and regulatory units. This involved discussions with many persons in the Minnesota Departments of Welfare and Health, and the State Insurance Commissioner's Office. The purpose of these discussions was to gather information about how the programs or regulations work, how the programs and regulations are being implemented, what and how the funds from the public programs flowed, and how the regulations affect third party reimbursements in Mental Health/Chemical Dependency/Social Services. The list of persons interviewed is in the appendix.

A search was made of the literature, including governmental publications. Of Particular help was the Department of Public Welfare's "1979 Mental Health Plan" and the "1979 Report on Residential Care". Important sources were papers prepared by the Department of Public Welfare on the Community Social Services Act, the Legislative hearings on this Act and "Minnesota's Children, a Growing Concern, A study of the Cost of Care of Children Out of the Home," prepared by the Minnesota Social Services Association.

From these interviews and documents, it was possible to trace the flow of funds and the general outlines of how the systems function. To determine more exactly how the systems work, it was then necessary to talk with a number of representatives of third party payers, including Blue Cross/Blue Shield, commercial insurance carriers, Medical Assistance, and HMOs.

The Insurance Federation of Minnesota, DPW, and other third party payers were very helpful. These representatives shared information about how their systems work, whom they pay, and under what conditions.

Because of the large number of third party payers and their differing policies, it was necessary to contract a selected number of providers in each of the areas of Mental Health/Chemical Dependency/Social Services and ask them for their views of what third party payers will pay, under what conditions, and what occupational qualifications or credentials are needed to secure reimbursement. Typical providers in each regulated group or subgroup of a regulated group were sought rather than a random sample. Usually the director or the person handling third party billings proved to be the best information sources. To help determine the third party payments made to different types of providers in different settings, interviews were held with major or typical providers as suggested by the state agency staff, professional associations, from the lists of licensed facilities or from the phone book.

Where occupational groups work independently of agencies or facilities, it was necessary to contract individual professionals in the same manner as above. Initially, it was planned to contact individuals from different professional/occupational groups working within facilities or agencies, but it was found that many of these individuals were either unfamiliar or even incorrectly informed about the different third party payment systems, their policies, and how payments were handled.

The study involved the contributions of many persons. Over 100 persons were interviewed, including twenty three persons in the Department of Public Welfare. Over forty reviewed sections or the entire draft of the study. In addition, the member of the Human Services Occupations Advisory Council reviewed the draft. The time and information that these persons gave was appreciated and without which the study would not have been possible because little of the information is written in such a way as to be readily accessible if not at all for the purposes of studying the mental health and chemical dependency third party payment systems.

Of particular help in the preparation where: Mary Killary, Ed. D., Maureen Lundquist, Susan Erstad, Connie Larson and James Brunsgaard.

Others of the staff of the Health Department helped in review and preparation of this report. The list of those who were interviewed in the course of the study follow this section.

Although Medicare has been highly publicized, its provisions are still hazy in the minds of many people. This summary gives the full Federal Government Program but in outline form which can be readily understood. The first part of the summary outlines Medicare benefits; the second part spells out those areas and items not covered by Medicare.

Eligibility for the coverage outlined below is primarily for those individuals 65 or older. Effective July 1, 1973, eligibility was extended to certain other individuals of any age who have been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months.

IMPLICATIONS OF THE COMMUNITY SOCIAL SERVICES ACT
FOR MENTAL ILLNESS PROGRAMS

Overview

The 1979 session of the Legislature passed The Community Social Services Act, which has major implications for the delivery of community-based mental health services. This bill replaces the Commissioner of Public Welfare's funding and grant-making authority for community social services with block "social services" grants to county boards and transfers coordination, planning, and service responsibility formerly held by multicounty mental health boards as well.

Effective October 1, 1979, all of the federal reimbursement for social services available under Title XX, and effective January 1, 1980, the state grant-in-aid appropriations for community mental health, retardation, and chemical dependency, developmental achievement, and child care services will be made available to county boards of commissioners on the basis of formulas.

The only mental health funds not included for the 1979-81 biennium are the appropriations for the cost of care for emotionally disturbed children, the new $2 million for services for chronically mentally ill people, the appropriation for Sharing Life in the Community (SLIC), the continuation of the mental illness deinstitutionalization funds, and the state hospital appropriations.

For the next two years, calendar years 1980 and 1981, county boards cannot reduce the funding for child care, mental health, chemical dependency, or mental retardation below the 1979 funding level for those services. It is not yet clear whether this means, for example, each mental health service or all mental health services, but it probably means the latter.

II. Duties of County Boards of Commissioners

Two or more contiguous counties in the same region can combine and county boards can purchase services from Human Service Boards, multicounty boards, political subdivisions, or private organizations and make grants to public or private agencies to establish or operate programs.

Boards of county commissioners will be responsible for the administration, planning and funding of community social services programs.

Each county board must prepare a biennial plan. The board may appoint a director or community social services to carry out its administrative functions and, if they wish, the duties of welfare director as well.

The county board may designate a) itself, b) a Human Service Board, or c) a County Welfare Board to administer its income maintenance programs (AFDC, MSA, MA, GAMC, EA).

The county board must make the final approval of its biennial plan, but it can contract for services or programs with:

- a) a Human Service Board;
- b) a multicounty board established by a joint powers agreement;
- c) other political subdivisions; or
- d) private organizations.

County boards must publish proposed biennial plans starting 5/1/80 with citizen participation in plan development, as well as allocation of funds. The date the final plan is submitted to DPW must be coordinated with the dates of the proposed and final plan for Title XX.

Starting 1/15/81, county boards must submit annual program effectiveness reports to DPW using standard methods developed by DPW in collaboration with county boards.

Each county program must be evaluated against measurable program objectives and performance criteria.

The 50,000 population requirement for the establishment of a community mental health services program has been eliminated.

County boards may make grants to public or private agencies to establish and operate local mental health programs, providing such agencies have established a community mental health board. (Previously, this funding authority belonged to the Commissioner of Public Welfare.)

Community mental health boards no longer have to establish and operate a detox center, and they now report directly to the county board (rather than the state) for the purpose of reviewing and evaluating community mental health services. Other than that, the duties of community mental health boards remain the same as before under Minnesota Statutes 1978, Section 245.68.

Any town, city, county (or combination of these) may (without regard to population size) establish its own "community mental health services program" and set up "clinics". A public or private corporation can apparently do the same thing.

But before any of these entities can apply to the county board for a grant to help establish or fund their program, they must first establish their own community mental health board. This board must be appointed by:

- For cities: The chief executive officer
- For towns or counties: The chairman of their governing body
- For nonprofit corporations: The corporation.

The Minnesota Hospitalization and Commitment Act (MHCA) is revised so that county boards can select a "designated agency" to provide certain services formerly provided by the County Welfare Department, such as commitment petition investigations, transportation, and aftercare.

A licensed child-caring institution provides shelter, food, training, treatment, and other aspects of care on a 24-hour day for 10 or more kids under age 16. The care is for emotionally or social handicapped children who "in the judgment of a professional social worker, a psychologist, or psychiatrist is exhibiting those symptoms and behavior patterns that are determined to be of such a nature that the child needs the care and treatment given" in a Rule 5 institution. Treatment is defined as, "those professional services that are deemed necessary and appropriate to assist the child in returning to the community in a manner that will enable the child to function to the child's fullest possible extent."

The institution shall serve a definite geographic area and recommend that it be within reach of public transportation. The institutions must be incorporated with a sound financial base and facility. Each child shall have a comprehensive confidential case file including medical exam reports, reports on psychiatric and psychological studies, a social study of the family or investigation including information about custody, legal and financial responsibility, verified age, a record of child's development, individual and family casework, reasons for continuing on casework, family casework, plan for discharge. The financial plan shall contain how payments are made to cover what costs including medical, clothing, allowances, vacations, gifts, visitation, arrangements for hold-a-bed, and on a court-ordered placement, the rights and responsibilities of the parents.

SUMMARY

Rule 8 Group Homes Licensing Practice and Standards (1969)

A "licensed group home" is defined as a specialized facility providing 24-hour a day specialized, planned care and treatment and provides food and shelter for a selected group of ten or less children age 16 or under. The group home parent (single or married) carries out the continuing daily living program and provides care for the child. A social agency, institution or operator provides social services, administration, direction and control of the program with a written agreement with the group home parents. The agreement spells out the admissions, and discharge policies, roles, authorities, program, plans, payments, standards, number of children, social services, and other services provided. The agency coordinates the efforts with the schools, other agencies and the community. Section 9d0 (8) calls for the agency to provide psychiatric consultation, psychological consultation, a trained group worker, volunteer services and other service personnel, and all medical and dental services. There is a recommended staff ratio of one to five. School age children go to school in the county's schools and use community-based social services. There is a planned program of group living, community living experiences, and clearly defined program of social services and leisure time activities. There are physical facilities standards as well.

DPW RULE 35

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE RULE FOR THE LICENSING
OPERATION OF ALL RESIDENTIAL PROGRAMS FOR INEBRIATE AND DRUG DEPENDENT PERSONS

- I. Statutory Citation - Minnesota Statutes, Section 245.78 through 245.82, establishes the authority of the Commissioner of Public Welfare to license all residential facilities providing programs for five or more inebriate, and drug-dependent persons and establish such rules, regulations, and guidelines necessary to carry out the purpose of the statute. These rules, therefore, carry the force and effect of law.
- II. Statement of Purpose -
 - A. This rule is designed to aid in the development of a system of residential programs for inebriate and drug dependent persons which:
 1. Promotes the greatest degree of independence possible for the resident and at the same time guards against overdependency on the program.
 2. Enhances the ability of each resident to cope with his environment.
 3. Maximizes and fosters the human qualities of each resident.
 4. Provides a home-like atmosphere where the resident is recognized as an individual whose personal interests are maintained and developed and whose personal dignity is respected and safeguarded.
 5. Elicits and maintains behavior that allows for the maximum degree of individual behavioral differences compatible with community laws.
 6. Provides appropriate treatment and rehabilitation programs and staff.
 - B. The rule encourages residential programs to organize services differently, consistent with the needs of individual residents and with quality outcomes.
 - C. The rule mandates that the residents be provided care and services appropriate to their needs, whether those services are provided in the facility or in the community.
 - D. The rule mandates that sufficient information about the program and services be given to residents and referrants to enable comparisons among programs.
 - E. The rule provides specific criteria so that, in combination with other sources of information, the licensing agency can evaluate the program.
 - F. The rule mandates careful and realistic individual planning at all stages, including admission, occupancy, post-occupancy, and transfer.
- III. Definitions - for the purposes of this rule, the following terms shall mean:
 - A. Applicant - any person, agency or organization applying for a license or renewal license under this rule.
 - B. Commissioner - the Commissioner of the Department of Public Welfare or a designated representative of the Commissioner.

- C. "Department" - the Department of Public Welfare.
- D. "Drug-Dependent Person" - any inebriate person or any person incapable of managing himself or his affairs or unable to function physically or mentally in an effective manner because of the use of a psychological or physiological dependency producing drug including alcohol.
- E. "Inebriate Person" - any person incapable of managing himself or his affairs by reason of habitual and excessive use of intoxicating liquors, narcotics or other drugs.
- F. "License" - the certificate issued by the Commissioner that validates compliance with this rule, and authorizes the applicant to operate a residential program.
- G. "Program Director" - the staff member responsible for planning and implementing all aspects of the program. The Program Director may delegate specific functions to other staff members, but the director shall be held accountable for the functioning of the program and compliance with these rules and regulations.
- H. "Provisional License" - the certificate issued by the Commissioner, prior to or in lieu of the issuance of a license. A provisional license may be issued to an applicant when compliance with all provisions of the rule cannot be made, but, in the opinion of the Commissioner, the applicant will nevertheless provide adequate care, treatment, or rehabilitation to its residents. A provisional license will be valid for a period not to exceed six months, and may be renewed for one additional period of six months. A residential program holding either a license or a provisional license shall be considered a duly licensed residential program.
- I. "Residential Program" - a planned and purposeful set of conditions and events for the care of inebriates and drug-dependent persons which in the normal course of that program provides care and treatment for five or more inebriate or drug-dependent persons on a 24-hour basis. Excluded from the definition are receiving (detoxification) centers for intoxicated persons as defined in Minnesota Statutes 1971, Chapter 892 and contained in DPW Rule 32. "Residential Programs" include:
1. "Residential Primary Treatment Program" - a social rehabilitation setting that provides, on a residential basis, relevant intensive rehabilitation services for the treatment of inebriate or drug-dependent persons.
 2. "Extended Rehabilitation Program" - a social rehabilitation setting that provides long-term assistance in major life-style changes through therapeutic milieu with highly specialized facilitative rehabilitation services.
 3. "Halfway House" - a social rehabilitation setting that provides a program of services to assist in making transition from treatment to responsible community living in a supportive environment with a home-like atmosphere.
 4. "Hospital" - any medical facility licensed under provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Section 144.50 - 144.58, Minnesota State Hospital; US Public Health Service Hospital; Veterans Administration Hospital; or any medical or psychiatric facility which is equipped to provide intensive medical treatment and care to inebriate and drug-dependent persons with acute and critical health needs.

IV. Licensure

- A. Every residential program must have a current and valid license or provisional license to operate in the state of Minnesota. The license shall prescribe the maximum number of residents to be cared for and the location of the program.
- B. Every residential program must apply to the Commissioner within 60 days of the effective date of this rule and comply with the provisions of the rule to obtain and maintain a license. Application for renewal of license shall be made each year 45 days prior to the date of expiration. Application and re-application shall be made on forms furnished by the Commissioner.
- C. A license shall be valid for one year after the date of issuance. A license may not be transferred from one program or location to another. Changes in the membership of the governing body or advisory board or program director must be reported in writing to the Commissioner within 20 days of the change.
- D. Any changes in the maximum number of residents to be cared for or the location of the program must have prior written approval of the Commissioner.
- E. Every residential program shall hold or have applied for a facility license from the Minnesota Department of Health.
- F. Every applicant shall be furnished with a copy of these rules.
- G. If the Commissioner determines that the applicant or the license-holder is not complying with the provisions of this rule, or that the public interest is not served by granting or continuing the license, the license may be denied, revoked, or not renewed after notice to the applicant or license-holder. The denial, revocation, or failure to renew shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 15.
- H. There shall be a review team appointed by the Commissioner, made up of no fewer than five persons. The review team shall be staffed by the Department. At least one member of the review team shall be a consumer.

It shall be the responsibility of the review team to examine the application for a new residential program and to conduct whatever inquiries are appropriate and necessary to make a recommendation to the Commissioner concerning issuance or denial of a license.

The review team shall submit a written report to the Commissioner and the applicant at the same time. This report shall contain the review team's findings and recommendations about licensure, provisional licensure, or denial of license. The report shall take into account the cultural and life-style interests of the persons to be served. The Commissioner shall consider the recommendations of the review team before final action is taken on the application.

- I. Prior to the issuance of a license or provisional license, the following steps shall be completed:
 1. The need for the program shall be determined under Area Board coordination. A mechanism for the determination of local need shall be established on the basis of guidelines set by the Commissioner.
 2. A completed application shall be submitted to the Commissioner.

3. A written report with recommendations about licensing or not licensing the prospective program shall be submitted to the Commissioner by the review team.
 4. The fee for license shall be paid. An annual license fee of not less than $25.00 and not more than $150.00 shall be set by the Commissioner.
- J. Licensing policies and procedures shall be available to the public.
- K. A specific regulation may be waived for not more than one year with the approval of the Commissioner, provided that the health and safety of residents is assured. The granting of a waiver shall not constitute a precedent.
- L. No resident shall be discriminated against in relation to admissions, terminations or treatment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or religion.

V. Minimum Standards for Issuance of a License to a Residential Program

- A. Governing Body or Advisory Board - each residential program shall have a board of directors, a board of trustees, and/or an advisory board. Every such body shall have a community representative as a member or document that it has made reasonable efforts to secure local community involvement. Every such body shall include a resident of the program.
- B. Director - every residential program shall have a director who shall be responsible and accountable for meeting the requirements of this rule. The Director shall:
1. Be at least 18 years of age.
 2. Have at least one year of work experience in the field of chemical dependency, and demonstrated ability based on experience, in administration and personnel supervision.
 3. Have completed training in a chemical dependency program approved by the Commissioner or be currently registered or involved in such a program with the prospect of completion within one year, or have knowledge of chemical dependency gained through other education and/or experience.
 4. If the director has a documented history of dependency on alcohol or drugs, he must provide evidence to satisfy the Commissioner that he has been free of dependency for at least two years.
- C. Staffing Requirements - there shall be present at all times at the facility at least one responsible adult with skills appropriate to the program, who shall be responsible for the operation of the program.
1. Prescription medication shall be administered by qualified personnel as specified by the Minnesota Department of Health.
 2. At least one trained counselor shall be available in the facility for services to each 40 residents. A trained counselor for the purpose of this rule is defined as an individual who has demonstrated competency at counseling chemically dependent persons. Such competence may be demonstrated by a minimum of one year work experience in counseling chemically dependent persons or appropriate training or education as determined by the Commissioner. If the individual has a documented history of dependency on alcohol or drugs, that individual must provide evidence satisfactory to the Commissioner that he has been free of dependency for at least two years.

- D. Staff Qualifications - personnel involved in the direct service to residents shall demonstrate skills in the area of human relations. Skills may be demonstrated as the result of past experience in areas related to chemical dependency treatment and/or mental health, educational experience and training, or in-service training provided by the residential program.
1. If the individual has a documented history of dependency on alcohol or drugs, that individual must provide evidence to satisfy the director of the program that he is free of dependency.
 2. If the individual has not completed a training program approved by the Commissioner, that individual must work under the supervision of a staff member who has the qualifications of a director.
- E. Personnel Policies - the original application and all renewal applications shall describe the nature and extent of the training and qualifications of the staff and shall include a description of the staff organization.
1. The applicant shall maintain personnel policies including the qualifications, performance, and evaluation standards, rules, remuneration and fringe benefits for each staff position. These policies shall include procedures governing hiring, suspension, dismissal, assignment, promotion, grievance procedures, and other appropriate policies.
 2. These policies shall be maintained and communicated to the staff, prospective staff, volunteers, and prospective volunteers of the program.
 3. These policies are to be carried out without regard for sex, race, religion, creed, marital status, unrelated job disability, color or national origin.
- F. Staff Training - each program shall provide or arrange for a staff development program which includes orientation and training of new staff, continuing development of staff skills and abilities through a defined in-service program, and/or participation in other training programs. Volunteers shall be included in staff development programs.
- G. Evaluation - all residential programs shall develop an evaluation system adequate to reflect the program and administrative functioning.
1. The evaluation system shall show the adequacy of the care, treatment, and rehabilitation services provided by the applicant in light of the purpose, goals, and methodology of the program as described in the application.
 2. Every applicant shall submit a completed evaluation to the Department with his application for renewal of license.
- H. Administration and Management - every residential program shall have written administrative and management policies governing the administration and supervision of the operations, the program, and the physical facilities. Such policies shall include:

1. An admission procedure including a description of the referral process, and a copy of a physical examination report. Said examination shall be conducted no more than thirty days prior to, or three days following admission to the facility. The admission procedure shall specify the role and responsibility of community agencies.
2. An individual, confidential record shall be maintained for each resident of the facility, and shall include:
 - a. a written individual treatment plan with specific goals.
 - b. a statement signed by the resident and the director outlining the expectations, responsibilities, and legal rights of the resident and the facility.
 - c. written consent of the resident or guardian for any release of information to persons not otherwise authorized to receive it.
 - d. a written medical and social history of the resident.
 - e. written progress notes.
 - f. a written discharge summary.

All entries in the resident's record shall be legible, dated, and authorized by the signature and identification of the individual making the entry. The record keeping system shall be structured and located so as to provide a means of communication both in and out of the facility and to furnish documentary evidence of the resident's response to the program. Every resident shall have access to his records unless the director documents reasons acceptable to the Commissioner for denying such access.

3. A program plan including a statement of purpose, intake policies, maximum number of residents to be served, description of population served, description of treatment design and methodology including a documentation of availability of the following services: medical, family, psychiatric, psychological, social work, educational, religious, financial assistance, and vocational and recreational rehabilitation.
4. A description of discharge policies concerning provision for housing, relationships with family, finances, employment and follow-up. The discharge shall specify the role and responsibility of community agencies.
5. Financial records including an annual budget, records of income and expenditure fee policies, and a record of audit. New programs must document in writing assurances of funding sufficient to meet total projected program costs for a period of at least three months plus start-up costs.
6. Statistical records shall be kept on a continuing basis that accurately reflect the number and dates of residents accepted and rejected, number and dates of resident discharges, length of stay, and what happens to residents upon leaving the program.
7. Annual reports to the governing and/or advisory body covering overall status and operation of the facility. The reports shall be available to the Commissioner and contractors of service upon request.

8. A description of provisions for emergency medical and/or psychiatric care.
 9. When it is necessary for staff to supervise the use of personal funds or property, the system for such supervision shall be submitted in writing along with the application for approval by the Commissioner.
 10. Written documentation of insurance coverage in an amount sufficient to protect the interests of the residents and staff.
 11. If physical or chemical restraints are used, the program shall submit with its application a copy of its policies in these areas. No physical or chemical restraints may be used except as outlined in such a policy, approved by the Commissioner.
 12. A description of the methods by which residents' legal, civil, and human rights will be protected. This shall include the procedures for handling complaints and grievances by residents, their relatives, and/or guardians.
- VI. Explanation of Program - all residential facilities shall at the time of admission clearly explain their program and policy to those applying or being considered for treatment.
- VII. Right to Entry - the Commissioner shall be free to enter any residential program.
- VIII. Confidentiality - confidential information regarding a resident shall not be released to any person or agency, except pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1973, Chapter 572, Section 16.
- IX. Issuance of License to a Residential Primary Treatment Program - Beyond compliance with the above stated regulations, if an applicant wishes to be licensed as a residential primary treatment program as defined in III. I. 1. of this rule, the following minimum standards must be met:
- A. Director - the director shall:
 1. Have three year's work experience in the field of chemical dependency, and have demonstrated ability based on experience in administration and personnel supervision.
 2. If the director has a documented history of dependency on alcohol or drugs, that individual shall provide sufficient evidence to satisfy the Commissioner that he has been free of dependency for at least three years.
 - B. Staffing Requirements - Beyond V. C. of the rule there shall be:
 1. A written contractual arrangement for medical examination, routine medical care, emergency medical services, and medical reporting (at least at the time of admission and discharge) for all residents of the facility.
 2. At least one registered nurse or licensed practical nurse shall be on duty a minimum of forty hours a week. One such person shall be responsible to the director for the level of nursing care to the residents.
 3. At least one trained counselor as defined in V. C. 2. of this rule for each fifteen residents.

4. A Board-certified or Board-eligible psychiatrist and licensed psychologist either on staff or by written contractual agreement who shall be available, at the discretion of the director when needed for psychiatric and psychological services and consultation.
- C. Administration and Management - Beyond V. H. of this rule, policies concerning administration and management shall include:
1. Maintenance of face sheet with application and admission information, written report of a physical examination, and if deemed applicable by the director, a written report of psychiatric or psychological interviews and/or psychological testing.
 2. Quarterly report to the governing or advisory body covering the overall status and operation of the facility. The reports shall be available to the Commissioner and contractors of service upon request.
