Introduction

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1972 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are nine categories of workers excluded from covered under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local level of government;
- 9) the Red Lake Chippewa Tribe.

Terms

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and that figure by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries employ more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the effect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower paid seasonal workers were laid off.

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salesperson who have no attachment to a specific work site on those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

MINNESOTA COVERED EMPLOYMENT FOR CALENDAR YEAR 1987

Minnesota covered employment, which had barely inched upward at a rate of 1.5 percent between 1985 and 1986, accelerated to a 3.5 percent increase for 1987, adding 64,709 jobs for an average monthly employment total of 1,900,398 for the year. Total wages in covered employment rose to $38.9 billion, a 7.9 percent increase over 1986. The average weekly wage was $393, up $16 from 1986.

The Services Division led the advance in employment in 1987 with 21,754 new jobs; Trade added 19,458 positions; Construction increased by 5,105 jobs. Within the Services Division, business services provided the most new jobs, 9,120. The largest major group in this division, health services, grew by 5,468 jobs; social services added almost 2,000 jobs. Over half of the new jobs in Trade came from general merchandise stores and the food and drink industry.

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate, which grew at a rapid 5.4 percent rate in 1986, slowed to 3.3 percent in 1987, the only industrial division to grow more slowly in 1987 than in 1986. With the exception of banking all other industries in the division increased by nearly 6.8 percent, led by the credit institutions, and the insurance and real estate industries. Employment in the banking industry had been fairly steady from 1981 to 1986. In 1987, however, employment dropped by 2,042 jobs, a 7.1 percent decline, three-quarters of which occurred in the Twin City Metropolitan Area. This decline was mostly the result of bank failures and mergers within the banking system. The mergers were allowed by the liberalized banking laws which led to consolidation and centralization of such services as data processing, accounting, etc. It is not yet clear whether there will be further reductions in the banking work force.

Though the non-electrical machinery industry continued its slide, losing 544 jobs, Manufacturing recovered from the downturn of 1986 just enough (1.8 percent) to be above the employment level for 1985. The growth in Manufacturing employment occurred mainly in the lumber and wood industries (12.0 percent), printing and publishing (4.8 percent), rubber and plastics (8.2 percent), and electronic equipment and components (6.6 percent).

Employment in the Mining industry continued to decline in 1987 at an 8.4 percent rate, somewhat more slowly than in the previous two years. Most of this loss came in Region 3, the Northeastern Arrowhead Region.

Twin City Metropolitan Area

The busy Twin City Metropolitan Area continued to flex its economic muscle, adding 45,244 jobs in 1988. Almost 14,000 of these jobs were in Services, 13,635 in Trade, 3,613 in Construction, and 3,876 in Finance. The aforementioned loss of jobs in banking was more than offset by increases in almost all other areas of Finance. Employment in Government increased by 5,410, matching the 3.9 percent overall rate of growth for this region.

Business services led the surge in its division with 6,900 new jobs, one third of them in the advertising industry. In the Twin City Metropolitan Area, business services with employment totaling 78,496 has passed the food and drink industry (75,163 jobs), and is bidding to overtake health services (79,120 jobs) as the area's largest service employment industry. Total wages in business services for 1987 were $1.34 billion, making it the 4th largest paying industry in Twin City private sector, behind only non-electrical machinery manufacturing ($1.91 billion), health services ($1.67 billion), and wholesale trade in durable goods ($1.525 billion).

Of the 45,244 new jobs in the Metropolitan Area, 59 percent or 26,586 were in Hennepin County, all but 5,600 of them outside the city of Minneapolis. Dakota County was second with 14.6 percent of the new growth in jobs, followed by Ramsey County with 12.3 percent, Washington County with 5.6 percent and Anoka County with 5.5 percent. Only 1,160 new jobs developed in Carver County and 964 in Scott County.

Greater Minnesota

Employment in Greater Minnesota grew more slowly than in the Twin City Metropolitan area. A total of 17,455 new jobs were added, a 2.6 percent increase. Services continued as the leading employment growth industrial division with 6,542 new jobs, led by 2,735 in health services, 1,489 in business services, and 1,110 in social services.

Manufacturing is the only industrial division that actually grew by more jobs (4,782) in Greater Minnesota than in the Twin City area. The entire growth in electronic equipment and components occurred in Greater Minnesota with over 2,000 new jobs created among regions 6E, 9 and 10. Other manufacturing industries that grew significantly include lumber and wood with 942 new jobs and printing and publishing with 685.

Construction in Greater Minnesota grew more slowly than in the Twin City area, but still added 1,197 jobs, a 4.6 percent growth rate. Trade added 5,300 jobs, a 3.1 percent increase. Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate suffered a slight decline as banking in Greater Minnesota shared in the downturn mentioned earlier, losing 506 jobs and more than offsetting small increases by insurance carriers and real estate firms.

In 1987 there were three distinct groupings among the twelve regions of Greater Minnesota. (See the shaded areas on map, page vi.) Three regions (7E, 7W, and 6E in Central Minnesota) had a growth rate higher than that of the Twin City Region; five regions (1, 2, 4, and 5 in West and Northwest Minnesota and Region 9 in the Southeast) were near "average" in growth; and four regions (3, the "Arrowhead", and 6W, 8, and 9 in Southwest and South Central Minnesota) had little or no growth.

Central Minnesota

The growth regions in Minnesota were the three regions contiguous to the Twin City Metropolitan Area on the north, northwest, and west. Region 7E is a five county, largely rural area, directly north of the Metropolitan area. It is a region of small towns, the largest of which has about 3,325 people, and many of the its residents seem to work outside the region in the Twin City Metropolitan Area or in St. Cloud. Since the region has such a small employment base to begin with, the addition of 1,318 new jobs in 1987 brought about a 5.0 percent increase, the largest of any region in Minnesota. Of these jobs, 417 were in medical services (a 16 percent increase), 359 were in Trade (up 5.7 percent), 228 in Manufacturing (up 4.4 percent), and 158 in construction. (10.1 percent)

Region 7W, much more heavily populated, consists of the four counties along the Mississippi River to the northwest of the Twin City area. Much of the economic activity of this region is centered around St. Cloud, the third largest metropolitan area in Greater Minnesota. A total of 3,111 net new jobs developed in 1987, a growth rate of 4.0 percent. More than one-third of these were in Trade, the dominant industrial activity of the region, and 852 were in Services, the second largest activity. Manufacturing, a close third, added 467 new jobs and Construction grew by 255 jobs.

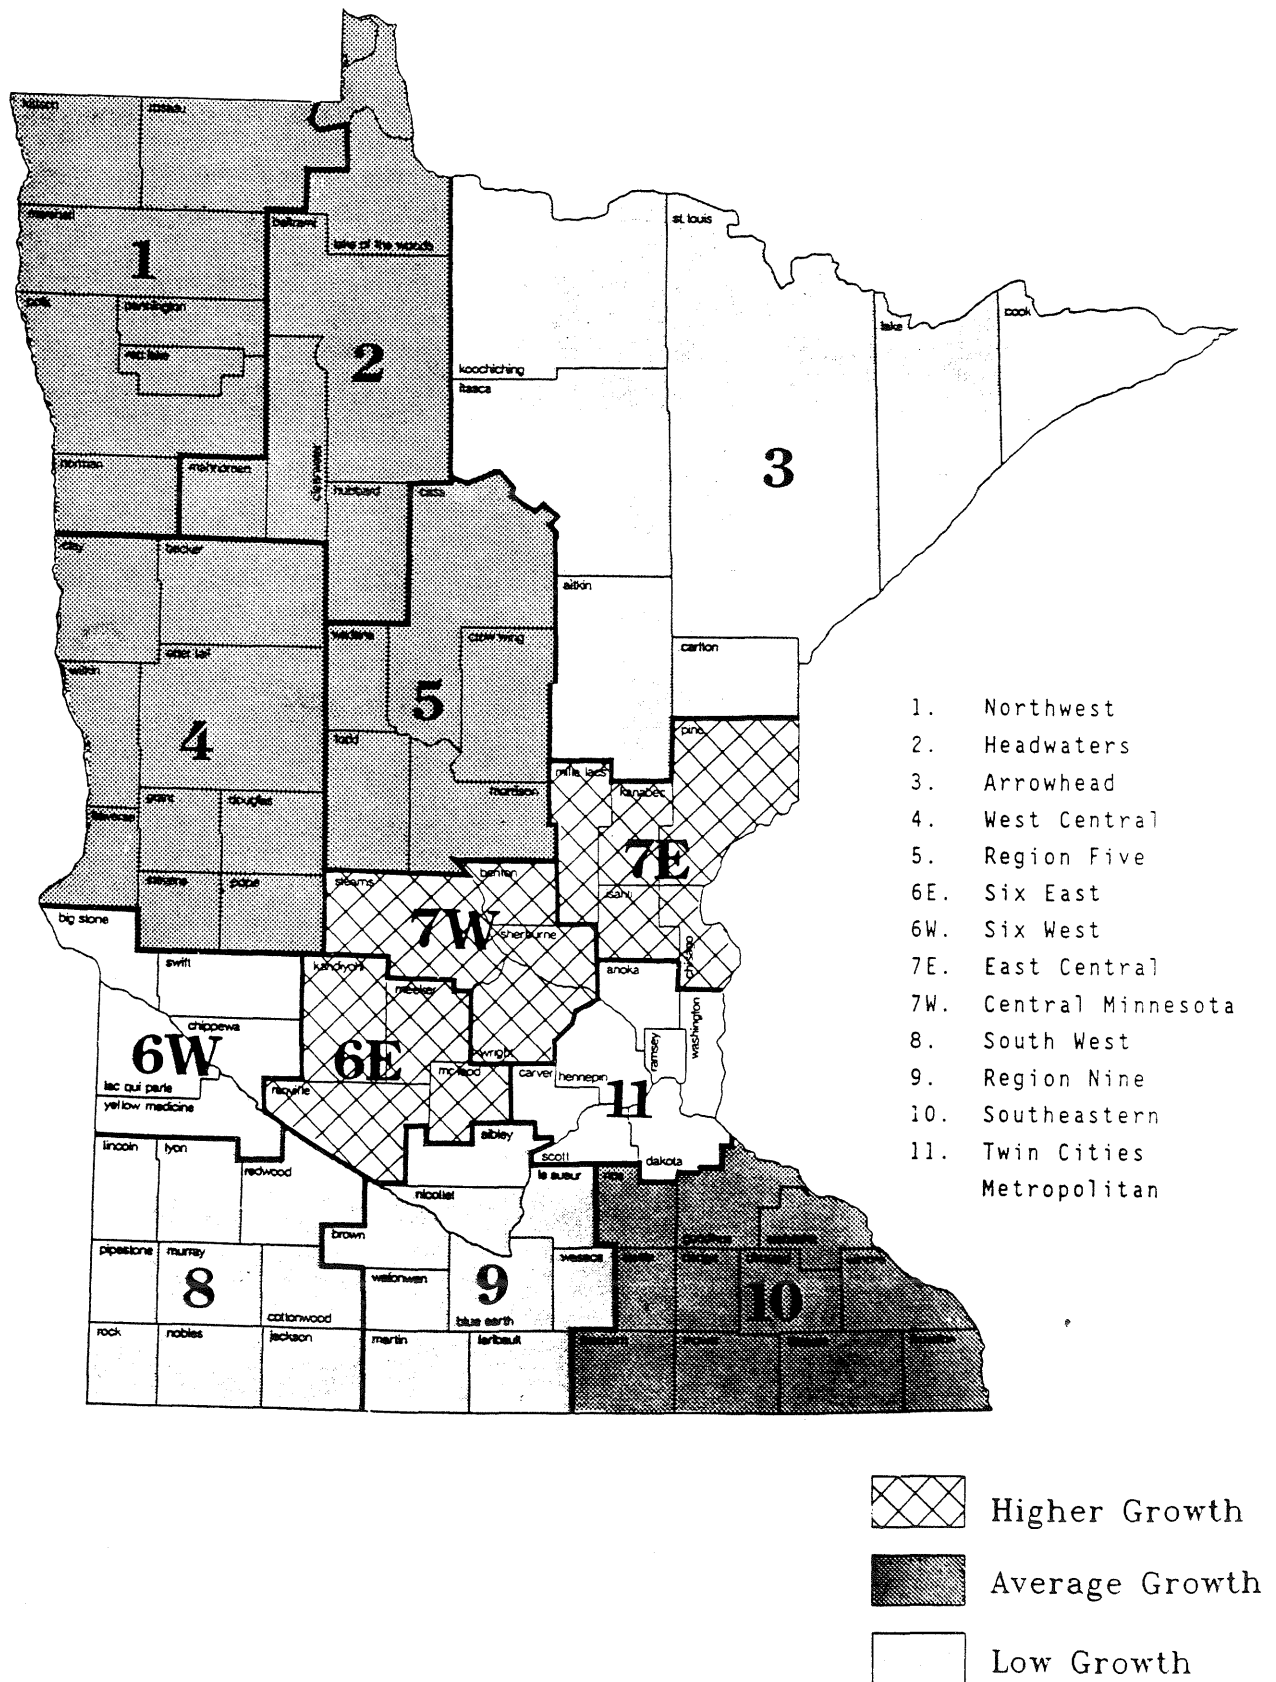

Region 6E is a four county area just west of the Twin City area, whose four largest towns range in size from 4,500 to about 17,000. Manufacturing dominates the economic activity of this region, with over 25 percent of the total employment and 33 percent of the total wages. A significant 877 Manufacturing jobs were added in 1987, a rise of 8.8 percent. The second largest industrial division, Trade, grew by only 109 jobs, while Government, the third largest, added 224 positions and Services added 220. This is the only region in Greater Minnesota in which growth in Government employment was significant in 1987.
