INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and to maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are nine categories of workers excluded from coverage under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local levels of government;
- 9) the Red Lake Chippewa Tribe.

TERMS

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and then dividing again by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries have more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the affect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower-paid seasonal workers were laid off.

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salespeople who have no attachment to a specific work site or those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

Second Quarter 1988

Minnesota's economy began its normal second quarter seasonal increase as employment rose 3.8% from the first quarter to about 1,971,974 employees in the second quarter. Since the same quarter in 1987, employment has increase by 64,259 jobs or a 3.4% increase. Total wages were up 7.6% from the same quarter in 1987, and the average weekly wage rose by 4.1% for the same period.

Construction, while showing the expected increase with the warmer weather, lagged behind the pace set in 1987 when an early spring, coupled with some major projects in northeast Minnesota caused employment to boom. This year not only did housing starts drop as mortgage rates climbed, but a long winter caused road and bridge work to begin later. In contrast to the decline in the rest of the State, general construction employment in southern Minnesota rose 3.7% owing more to remodeling of existing homes than to starting new ones according to officials in the area.

Manufacturing experienced the greatest employment increase with 20,189 new jobs since the second quarter of 1987. This growth was not limited to any particular area of the State as all the regions experienced at least 3.0% growth. Food processing and the manufacture of concrete had expected seasonal increases. There was moderate growth in fabricated metal products and in industrial machinery and equipment, but it was limited to the Twin Cities.

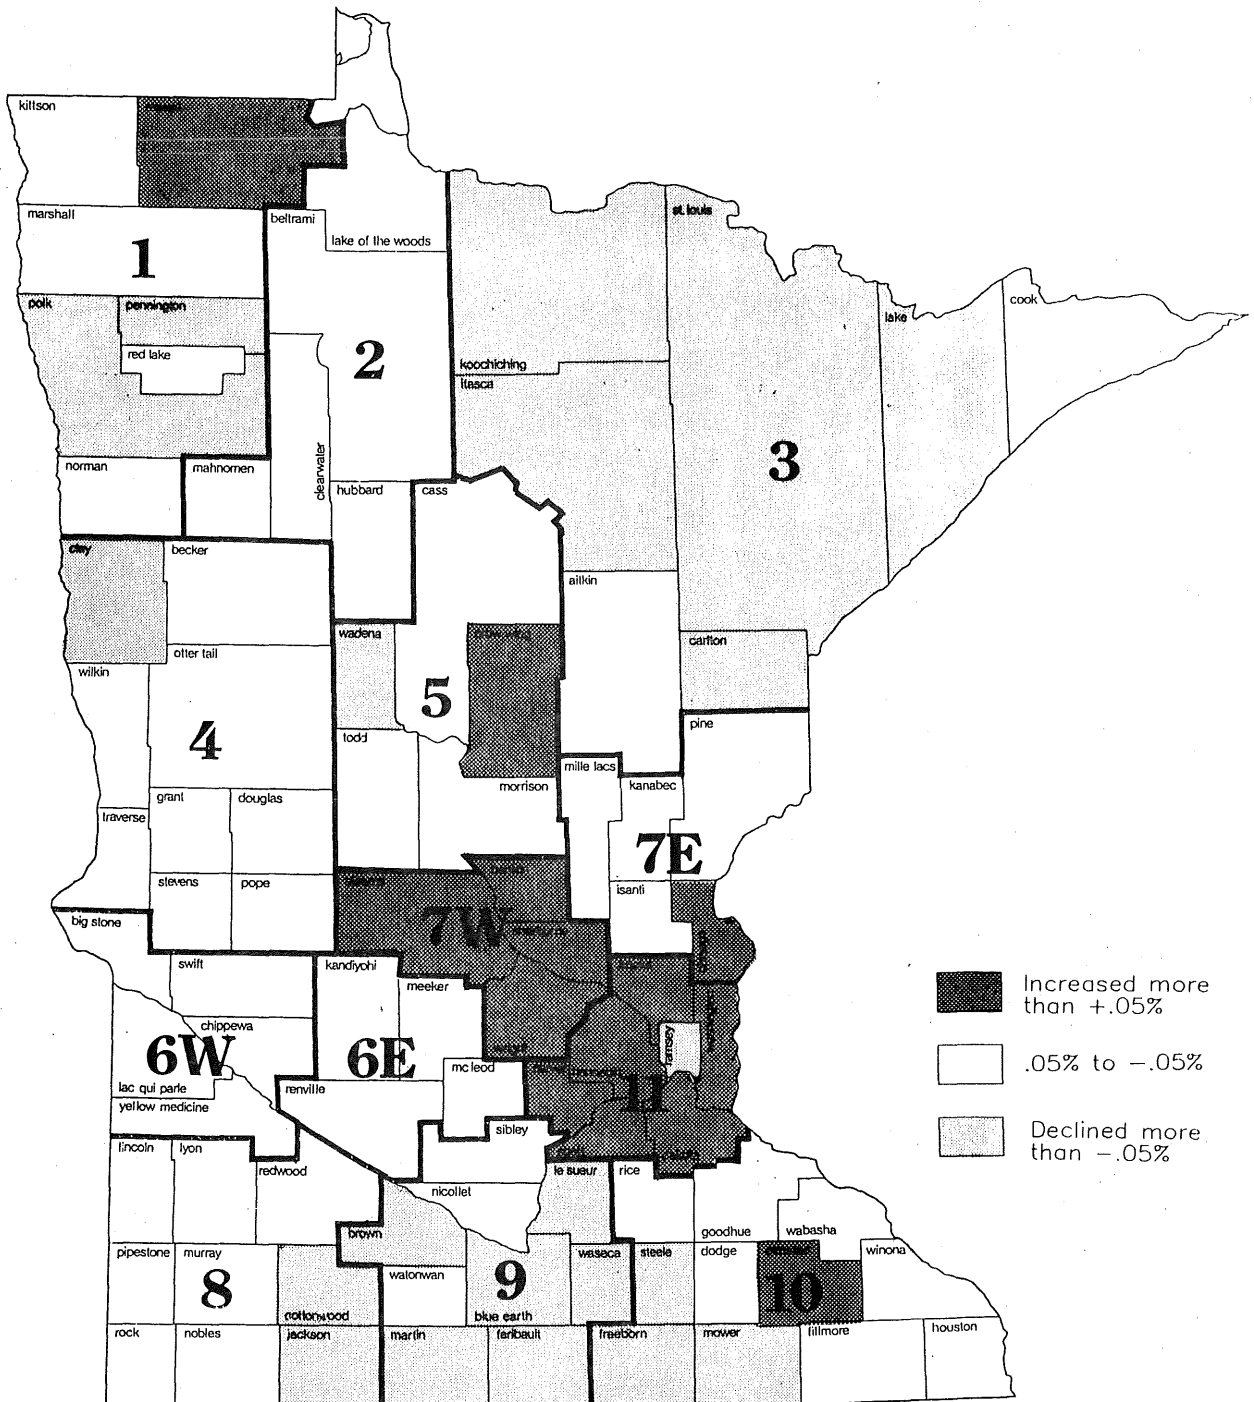

Mining employment has continued the recovery that began in the second quarter of 1987 with a 18.3% increase. The improvement is almost entirely in the Arrowhead Region where iron ore mining added 1,303 jobs.

The Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate industry has only just begun to recover from the stock market crash and savings and loan problems of 1987. The stock market appears to have stabilized, and employment there is no longer eroding. The restructuring of the banking industry and the crisis in the savings and loan industry, however, have caused employment in Depository Institutions to drop 2.5% since the first quarter of 1988.

Trade and Services, the two largest industries in the State, showed employment well ahead of the same quarter last year. Trade, which increased 3.9% since last year, has increases in every industry division but Furniture Stores, which appears to have lost 7% of its employment over the year and 17% of its firms.

The new industry classification codes have moved stores that rent videos from Trade to Services with other rentals. Department Stores had a handsome 7% increase. Because of extensive restructuring of the industry codes in Services, it is difficult to define the growth leaders in the 3.4% increase. Part of it, obviously, is the video rental.

Percent Change State Employment by County 1978 - 1988

10 Year Growth is Mostly In Region 11

A comparison of second quarter employment data over the ten year period 1978 to 1988 shows that the area surrounding Minneapolis and Saint Paul is the fastest growing in the State. The Twin Cities Metropolitan Area (Region 11) continues to increase its dominance of the job market in Minnesota so that it now represents 62.7% of the States's total employment compared to 59.5% in 1978. The only other regions that have increased their share of Minnesota employment during this time are East Central and Central Minnesota, both adjacent to the Twin Cities Met Area.

Both Minneapolis and Saint Paul have diminished in dominance in their counties in the last ten years. In 1978 Minneapolis had 49% of Hennepin County's employment; by 1987 it had fallen to 40%. Saint Paul has seen only a .7% increase in employment since 1978, compared to the State average of 21%. The balance of Ramsey County, moreover, increased 39%. Two factors have contributed to the decline: established employers in the inner city have reduced their employment or gone out of business while new business have chosen to build in the open space out in the county. As a result, St. Paul now has only 67% of Ramsey County's employment. In 1978 it had 73%.

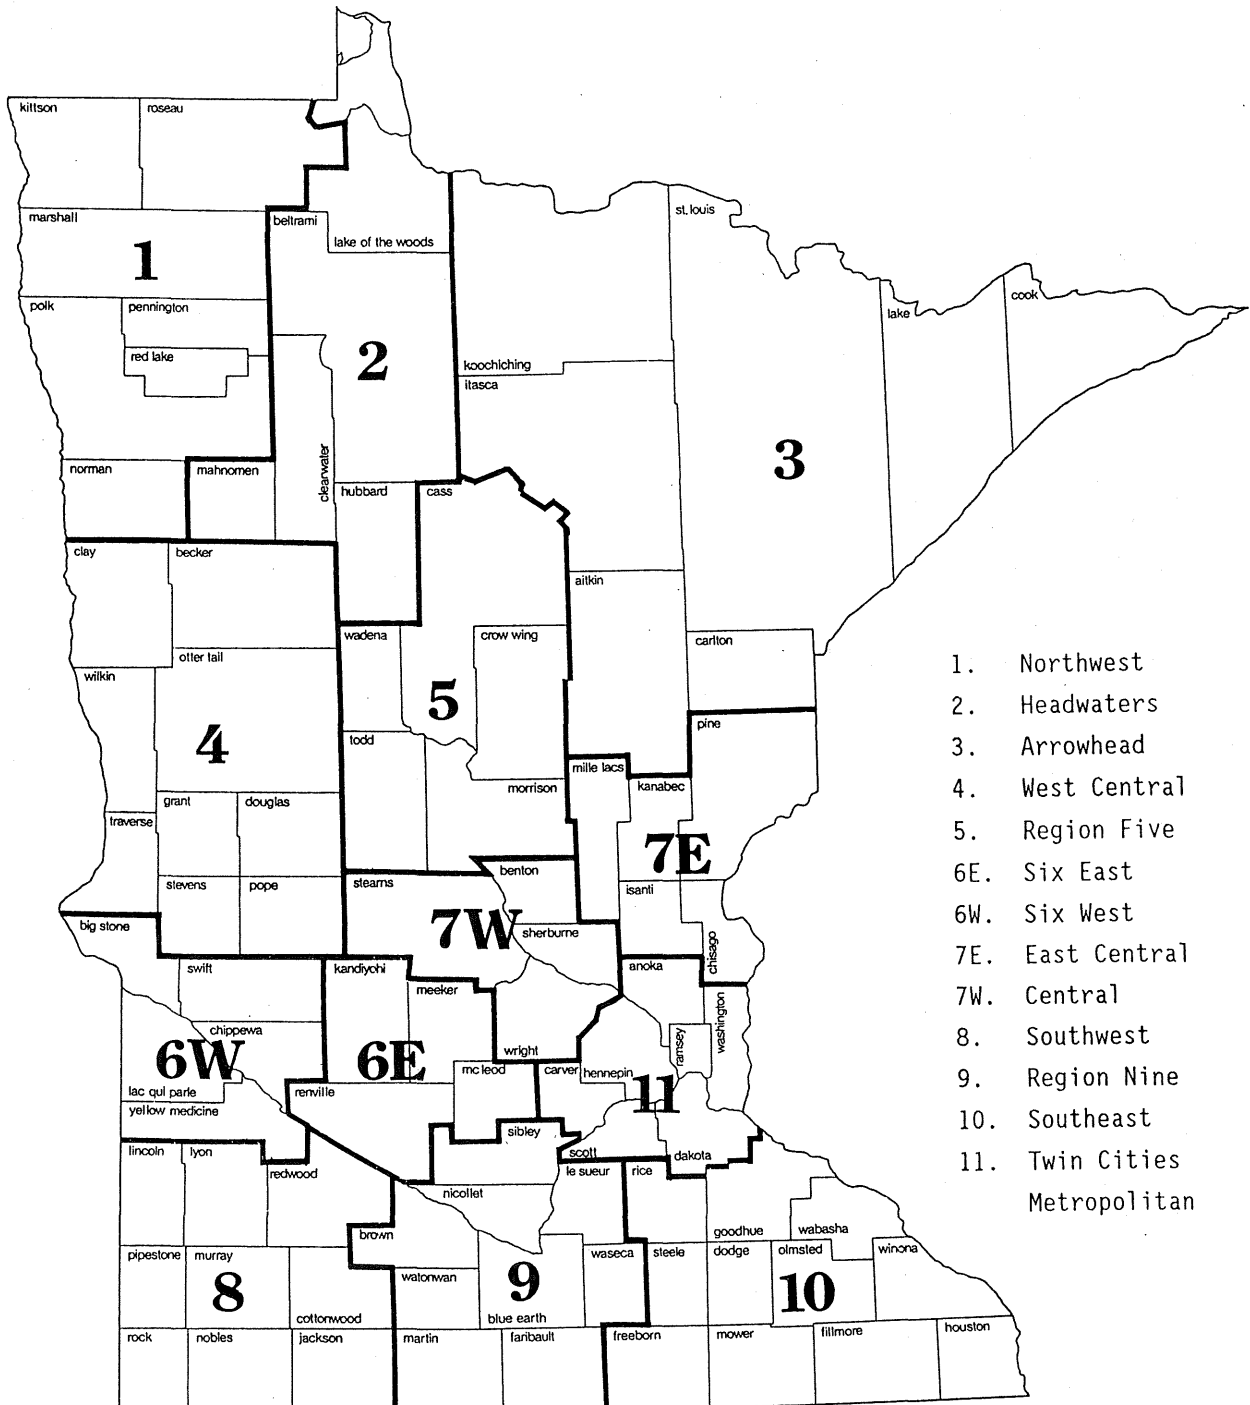

Counties in Greater Minnesota have either grown less or have lost employment over the last ten years. This situation is particularly severe in the Arrowhead where reduced orders for taconite has devastated the mining industry. In south central Minnesota jobs increased by only 1.6%, compared to a total State increase of 21%. Because the population is also declining in this area, it is unlikely jobs will increase there in the foreseeable future. Olmsted County, which is adjacent to this area, continued to grow, concentrating on medical services which have increased by 5,500 jobs since 1978 and the business services and social services necessary to support the growth have doubled their employment since 1978.

The only other bright spot in Greater Minnesota was Roseau and Crow Wing Counties. Manufacturing employment in Roseau County has more than doubled in the last ten years, while Crow Wing County has picked up 4,000 jobs from increased tourism in the area. The resorts in this area not only offer vacations, but have billed themselves as conference centers. Lodging employment has increased 62% as result.
