Selection of Regents of the University of Minnesota

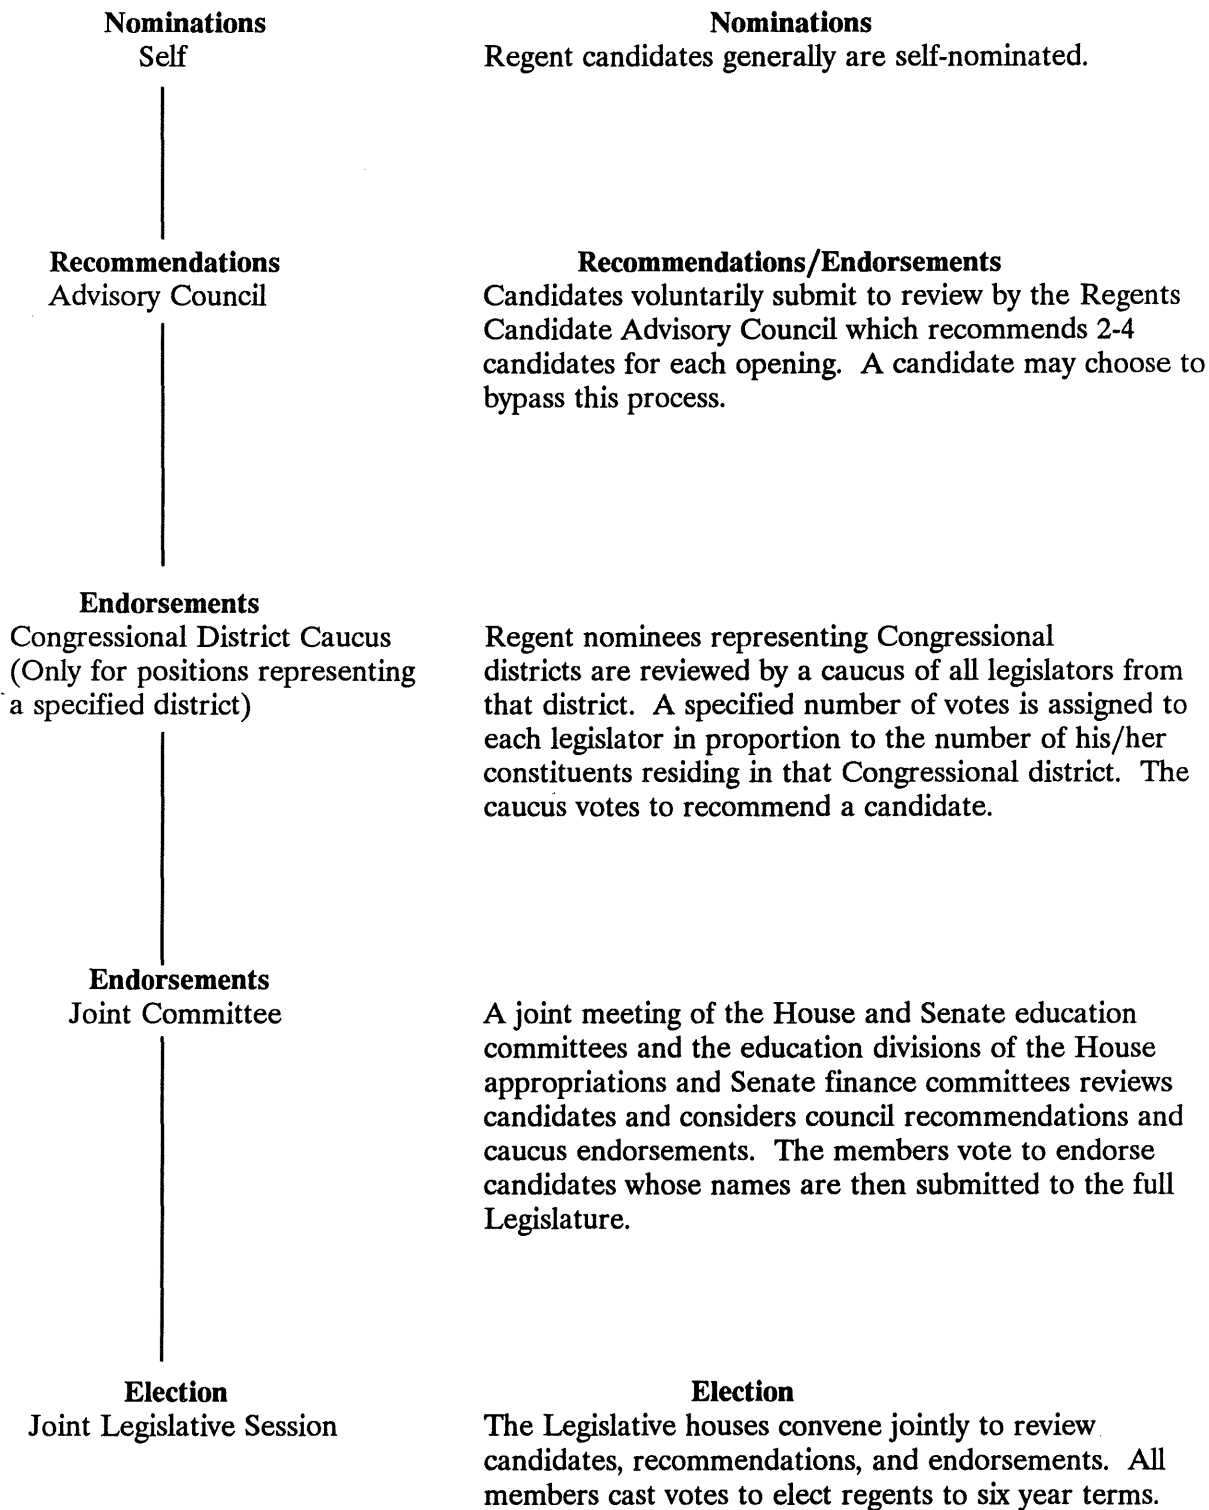

The Board of Regents is the governing body of the University of Minnesota. It is the only governmental body in the state to which members are elected by the Legislature. This information brief describes: the selection process in Minnesota, the Regent Selection Advisory Council, the current members of the board, and the procedures for selecting regents in other states.

Minnesota Selection Process

The Minnesota regent election provisions were established by the Territorial Legislature in 1851 with only slight modifications in modern statutes. These provisions include the following:

- twelve regents are elected by the Legislature to six year terms
- one-third of the board is elected each odd-numbered year
- eight members are elected to represent Congressional districts; four are elected at-large, one of whom must be a student at the time of election
- vacancies prior to the expiration of a term are filled by gubernatorial appointment.

Regent Selection Process

Advisory Council

The 1988 Legislature established a Regent Selection Advisory Council to assist in identifying candidates. Prior to that time, candidates nominated themselves and no screening process existed.

Membership

The advisory council is composed of 24 members: 12 are appointed by the Speaker of the House and 12 by the Senate subcommittee on committees of the committee on rules and administration. Initial members were appointed for 2, 4 or 6 years to provide for staggered terms; later appointments are for six-year terms with one-third appointed each even-numbered year. The following criteria apply to the appointments:

- no more than 1/3 of those appointed may be current or former legislators
- no more than 2/3 of those appointed may belong to the same political party
- political affiliation or activity may not be required for the appointment of any member
- geographical representation must be considered in making appointments.

Duties

The advisory council is charged with two related duties:

- development of two statements -- one describing regents' duties and one outlining criteria to be applied in recommending candidates
- identification and recruitment of qualified candidates for each opening on the board.

The council is required to recommend to the Legislature 2-4 candidates for each opening.

Initial Involvement

The advisory council's first involvement with the selection process was in the 1989 elections. The council received 157 applications, interviewed 48 candidates, and recommended four candidates for each opening. All candidates eventually elected came from the 16 recommended by the council.

Selection in Other States

Minnesota is one of only five states where some or all of the members of the university governing board are selected by the Legislature. In most states the governor appoints the board members, usually with the consent of one or both bodies of the Legislature.

The chart on the following page shows, for each state, the number of regents, the length of terms, and the appointing authority.
