INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and to maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are eight categories of workers excluded from coverage under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local levels of government.

TERMS

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and then dividing again by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries have more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the effect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower-paid seasonal workers were laid off.

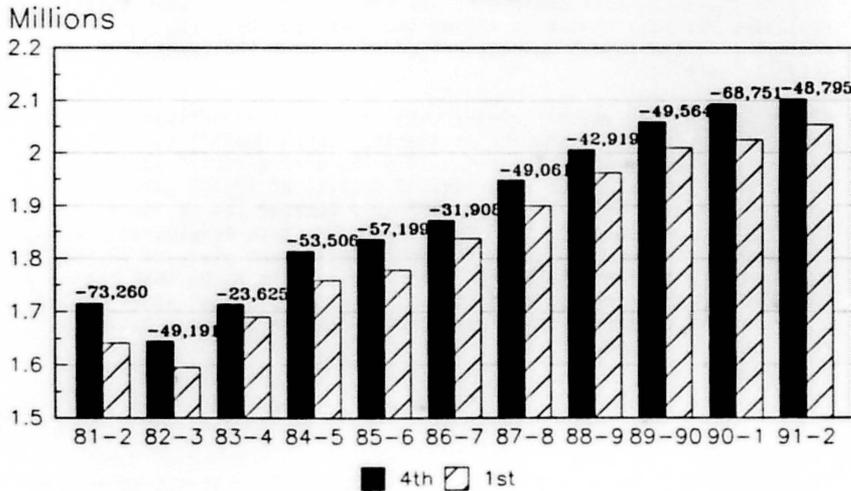

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salespeople who have no attachment to a specific work site or those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

FIRST QUARTER 1992 COVERED EMPLOYMENT

Covered employment in Minnesota in the first quarter of 1992 averaged 2,053,737. This total represents a 2.3 percent decline from the fourth quarter of 1991, a loss of 48,795 jobs. This numerical drop was mainly seasonal in nature, and can be seen in better perspective by examining the comparable periods in the previous ten years. The winters of 1981-82, and 1990-91, which were recessionary years, had job fallbacks significantly greater than 1991-92. The winters of 1983-84 and 1986-87 had significantly less declines. The average loss of jobs due to the changing season over those ten years was 49,898, or 1,100 more than in 1991-92. The graph below compares the fourth quarter to first quarter decline in jobs in 1991-92 with the corresponding periods in the previous ten years.

Employment Change

4th Quarter to 1st Quarter
1981-1992

Of the three largest major industry groups in Minnesota, SERVICES was the only one to show an increase in employment figures from the fourth quarter of 1991, but this increase was on paper only. Each year, a third of the employer file is surveyed for the purpose of verifying industrial and geographic classifications previously assigned. Employers who change their industrial activity or move to a new location have their classifications updated to reflect current conditions. During 1991 a survey was conducted to review the industrial classifications of all employers except those in TRADE, SERVICE or GOVERNMENT. As a result of this survey, some firms were assigned different industrial codes and a net increase of 1,562 employees were assigned to SERVICES, 690 of them from MANUFACTURING. Had this industrial reclassification not occurred, the SERVICE industries would have shown a decline of approximately 500 employees.

MANUFACTURING showed an average of 8,403 fewer workers than in fourth quarter of 1991. Most of this decline was seasonal, with about 935 (11 percent) due to changes in industrial classification. This industry has shown a decline during the comparable period in sixteen out of the last seventeen years, going back to 1975-76. Only in 1985-86, when the economy was recovering from a serious recession, did MANUFACTURING show a slight increase (1,280) from fourth quarter to first. The average decrease in the other years (excluding 1991-92) was 5,740.

TRADE, of course, always declines in employment from its holiday season high in fourth quarter. 1991-92 was no exception, and this industry lost an average of 18,223 employees in the first quarter. This drop was somewhat less than in recent years, but that may be because fourth quarter employment was slightly down, as some retail employers may have chosen to extend the hours of their regular employees in the fourth quarter rather than incur the costs of hiring seasonal help.

Minnesota's winter weather always cuts employment significantly in the CONSTRUCTION industry, showing an average fourth quarter to first quarter drop of 24.4 percent since 1975-76, with a low of 20.4 percent in the winter of 1977-78. The 1991-92 decline of 17,309 jobs (22.1 percent) was well below average, partially because the Halloween and Thanksgiving blizzards of 1991 lowered average total employment during that fourth quarter. First quarter 1992 employment averaged 61,133, the lowest total since 1985, but the sixth year in a row that the CONSTRUCTION industry has managed to maintain employment above 60,000, a figure held before in the first quarter only in the boom building years of 1978-79 and 1979-80.

Changes from First Quarter, 1991

Compared with first quarter of 1991, average employment was up just over 30,000, a 1.5 percent increase. Total wages rose by 6.9 percent to over $12 billion, 636 million and provided an average weekly wage of $473.29.

Excluding the jobs reclassified to other industries, MANUFACTURING lost about 3,000 employees, a drop of 1.0 percent. The heaviest losses came in Industrial Machinery and Equipment (down 2,800 actual jobs), Electrical Equipment (down 1,500), and Fabricated Metal Products (down 1,070), while the only industries to show a significant increase since the first quarter 1991 were Lumber and Wood Products (up 750) and Rubber and Plastics (up 620). Again, these numbers have been adjusted for industry reclassification changes.

Employment in TRADE rose by only 1,400 from the first quarter of 1991, and over 92 percent of that growth was in Wholesale Trade, as Retail figures were stagnant. Without a net gain of 622 as a result of the industry classification survey mentioned above, Retail Trade would actually have lost employment from the first quarter 1991.

The SERVICE industries averaged 528,833 jobs in first quarter of 1992. Discounting the approximately 1,560 net jobs shifted into SERVICES as a result of the industry classification survey, this was an increase of 24,910 over the same period in 1991, a 5.0 percent rise in employment. Over half of the jobs were in Business Services (8,850) and Health Services (5,125). Social Services (2,795) and Amusement and Recreation (2,561) also had significant increases.
